A claim for compensation by the widow of the purser of a ship which was lost with all hands was resisted on the ground that the purser's remuneration exceeded £250 a year. In addition to his regular wages, at the end of each voyage, whenever everything was reported to be satisfactory, the purser received, at a fixed rate per month, a bonus or extra wages. He also made a profit by the sale on board ship of whisky in nips. He was debited with so much per bottle, & nips were sold at a fixed price which produced a larger sum per bottle than the sum debited. This balance was kept by the purser with the knowledge & consent of his employers:—Held: both the bonus & the profit on the whisky ought to be taken into account in estimating the purser's remuneration.—SKAILES v. BLUE ANCHOR LINE, LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 360; 80 L. J. K. B. 442; 103 L. T. 741; 27 T. L. R. 119; 55 Sol. Jo. 107; 4 B. W. C. C. 16, C. A.

Annotations :—Reld. Brandy v. S.S. Raphael, [1911] 1 K. B. 376; Stephenson v. Rossall Steam Fishing Co. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 677; Williams v. S.S. Maritime, [1915] 2 K. B. 137; G. W. Ry. v. Helps, [1918] A. C. 141.

2176. —— Value of board.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, provides that "workman" does not include any person employed otherwise than by way of manual labour whose remuneration exceeds £250 a year.

Upon a claim for compensation by the widow & children of a ship's captain, who was accidentally killed by a tramcar at a port where his ship was in dock, it appeared that the remuneration of deceased was £216 a year in cash in addition to his board:—Held: in considering whether the remuneration exceeded the limit prescribed by the sect., the test of the money value of the board provided by the owners was not what the captain saved by the arrangement, or, in other words, what he could have boarded himself for, but what the reasonable style of board provided by the owners would have cost him if he had had to purchase it himself.—DOTHIE v. MACANDREW (ROBERT) & CO., [1908] 1 K. B. 803; 77 L. J. K. B. 388; 98 L. T. 495; 24 T. L. R. 326; 1 B. W. C. C. 308, C. A.

Annotations :—Reld. Rosenqvist v. Bowring, [1908] 2 K. B. 108; Skailes v. Blue Anchor Line, [1911] 1 K. B. 360; Poulton v. Kelsall (1912), 106 L. T. 522.

2177. —— ——.]—The captain of a ship was employed under an agreement dated Mar. 13, 1914, to take command at the rate of wages of £20 per month, & it was provided in the agreement that if he kept the ship free of all damage & claims he was to receive a gratuity of £48 per annum, but that if he failed to do so he was to forfeit the gratuity & his remuneration reduced to £16 per month. The ship was lost with all hands on Apr. 12, 1914, & the widow applied on behalf of herself & the other dependants of deceased for compensation under Workmen's same was wrecked. His work included, in addition to running the engine, duties which were a mechanic's:—Held: the manual labour performed by deceased was not merely incidental or accessory to but was the real substantial work for which he was engaged.—WEEKES v. ECHFORD BROTHERS, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 824.—N.Z.

---

q. ——.]—HEWITT r. HUDSON'S BAY Co. (1910), 15 W. L. R. 372; 20 Man. L. R. 126.—CAN.

r. Pit boss.]—TEPPO v. WEST CANADIAN COLLIERIES (1911), 1 W. W. R. 257.—CAN.

Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). In the course of the proceedings the value of deceased's board & accommodation on his ship was assessed at £45 10*s.* per annum, & no question arose as to this :—Held : (1) the captain's remuneration did not exceed £250 a year, & he was therefore a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, & his dependants were entitled to compensation ; (2) in determining the remuneration, regard must be had only to the existing agreement & what had happened under it, & seeing that the ship had been lost, she had not been kept free of damage, & deceased's salary must be taken as £16 per month, which, with £45 10*s.* for board & lodging was less than £250 a year.—WILLIAMS v. MARITIME (OWNERS), [1915] 2 K. B. 137 ; 84 L. J. Ch. 633 ; 112 L. T. 907 ; 31 T. L. R. 218 ; 8 B. W. C. C. 207, C. A.

2178. —— Bonus & perquisites.]—SKAILES v. BLUE ANCHOR LINE, LTD., No. 2175, ante.

2179. —— Bonus or penalty—Dependent on how contract performed.]—WILLIAMS v. MARITIME (OWNERS), No. 2177, ante.

2180. Calculation of statutory limit—Remuneration at higher rate at time of accident—Actual or possible remuneration for year within limit.]—An employee not engaged in manual labour, whose remuneration was at the rate of £10 a month, was given other employment by his employers, in which his remuneration amounted to £24 10*s.* a month. The probable duration of this employment would be about six months after which he was to resume his old work at the former rate of pay. While in this more lucrative employment he met his death by accident, & his dependant claimed compensation :—Held : although his remuneration at the time of his death under his then contract of service was at a rate exceeding £250 a year, as the total amount which he would earn for the year would not exceed that sum, he was not excluded from the definition of "workman" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, & his dependant was entitled to compensation.

If the contract of service is one which may continue for more than a year, & the servant as incident to that contract earns, or but for some circumstance determining his earning power would be able to earn, in a year a sum exceeding £250 he will be within the exception in sect. 13, although at the moment of the accident the remuneration he is actually earning may be at a lower rate than £250 per annum. On the other hand, if the actual or assumed earnings be less than £250 per annum, the man will be a "workman" although at the moment the remuneration he is actually earning is at a higher rate (WARRINGTON, L.J.).—GRIFFITH v. PENRHYN CASTLE (OWNERS), [1917] 1 K. B. 474 ; 86 L. J. K. B. 449 ; 116 L. T. 169 ; 10 B. W. C. C. 111, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Mackay v. S.S. Cramond (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1036 ; Reid v. British & Irish Steam Packet Co., [1921] 2 K. B. 319. Apld. Kerswell v. Perry (1924), 132 L. T. 238. Refd. Round v. Wathen (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 1011.

2181. —— —— Evidence of continuance of higher rate—For period of year.]—The rules in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. 1. (2) (a) as to computing average weekly earnings do not apply to cases under sect. 13 of the Act.

A man, employed otherwise than by way of manual labour, met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. He had only been engaged in the employment, which was of a permanent nature, for a few weeks, & there was evidence that during that period his remuneration had been at a rate exceeding £250 a year, & that during the preceding year men in the same employment had earned on an average more than £250 a year. In proceedings for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) :—Held : the arbitrator had not misdirected himself in holding that it was not proved that if appt. had continued in the employment for a year, his remuneration would have exceeded £250 a year, so as to bring him within sect. 13 of the Act.—THOMSON (W.) & CO. v. MACKAY (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1337 ; 126 L. T. 33 ; 37 T. L. R. 861 ; 14 B. W. C. C. 143 ; sub nom. THOMAS & CO. v. MACKAY, 65 Sol. Jo. 695, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. MACKAY v. CRAMOND (OWNERS) (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1036, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Reid v. British & Irish Steam Packet Co., [1921] 2 K. B. 319. Consd. Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455. Refd. Kerswell v. Perry (1924), 132 L. T. 238.

2182. —— —— —— ——.]—REID v. BRITISH & IRISH STEAM PACKET CO., No. 2173, ante.

2183. —— —— —— ——.]—Resp. to this appeal in Feb. 1922, was engaged by applts. as a foreman for supervision work on the enlarging of the City & South London Tube railway at six guineas a week & was so employed until Nov. 10, 1922, when he was totally incapacitated by an accident during the employment & was paid compensation. Recently applts. refused to continue the payment of compensation on the ground that he was not a workman within the definition of workman in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, but fell within the exception therein mentioned of a person whose remuneration exceeded £250 a year. Up to the time of the accident he had received remuneration amounting to £248 17*s.* 0*d.* The county ct. judge held that at the date of the accident resp.'s remuneration was under £250 a year & awarded him £1 & statutory additions per week :—Held : resp. was within the exception in sect. 13 as he was employed on a contract which but for some untoward incident would have continued for a year & would have been able in that year to earn a sum exceeding £250 a year, & therefore not being a workman within the definition of workman in sect. 13 could not claim compensation under the Act.—KERSWELL v. PERRY & CO., LTD. (1924), 132 L. T. 238 ; 17 B. W. C. C. 198, C. A.

2184. —— Remuneration at lower rate at time of accident—Actual or possible remuneration for year beyond limit.]—GRIFFITH v. PENRHYN CASTLE (OWNERS), No. 2180, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—EMPLOYMENT OF CASUAL NATURE AND OTHERWISE THAN FOR EMPLOYER'S TRADE OR BUSINESS.

A. Employment of Casual Nature.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 3 (2).

2185. Interpretation of "casual"—Not a term of precision.]—KNIGHT v. BUCKNILL, No. 2187, post.

2186. —— ——.]—A woman engaged as a "temporary cook," in the place of a regular cook away on a holiday, for a period of fourteen days with an option to extend it, at a weekly wage & provided with board & lodging, met with injury by accident in the course of her employment. The county ct. judge found that she was not a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), as being in "employment of a casual nature" :—Held: (1) there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection; the word "casual" as used in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is not a term of precision, & is incapable of being exactly defined; (2) where the question, whether the employment is or is not of a casual nature, is reasonably debatable, it must be for the county ct. judge to decide finally as a question of fact.—STOKER v. WORTHAM, [1919] 1 K. B. 499; 88 L. J. K. B. 457; 120 L. T. 426; 35 T. L. R. 225; 63 Sol. Jo. 245; 12 B. W. C. C. 34, C. A.

Sect. 3.—Persons not entitled to compensation: Subsect. 2, A. & B.]

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Williams v. Haigh (1925), 134 L. T. 238. Reld. Hughes v. Walker (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 79.

2187. What amounts to casual labour—Question of fact.]—A jobbing gardener was employed to cut & lop some trees, on the terms that he should be paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a day. He did the work, & was then kept on to level the lawn, & that being done he was told to cut & lop some other trees. He had been working daily in this way for the same employer for five weeks; his wages were paid to him weekly. He was injured by a fall from one of the trees. The county ct. judge found that the employment was of a casual nature: —Held: there was evidence to support the finding.

Casual is here used not as a term of precision, but as a colloquial term . . . when the question is reasonably debatable it must be for the county ct. judge to decide (HAMILTON, L.J.).—KNIGHT v. BUCKNILL (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 245; 6 B. W. C. C. 160, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Smith v. Buxton (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 697. Consd. Stoker v. Wortham, [1919] 1 K. B. 499; Williams v. Haigh (1925), 134 L. T. 238; Hughes v. Walker (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 79.

2188. —— —— .]—STOKER v. WORTHAM, No. 2186, ante.

2189. —— ——.]—A workman was employed to build a wall round the garden of a house which his employer had bought as a speculation. He claimed compensation for injury by an accident suffered in the course of his employment, & the county ct. judge held that the employment was not of a casual nature:—Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—HUGHES v. WALKER (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 79, C. A.

2190. —— Regular employment—On specific work—At specific intervals.]—A washerwoman & charwoman was engaged in washing clothes at the private house of a man & his wife, when she met with an accident to her left hand & was permanently incapacitated. For about eighteen months prior to the accident, which happened on a Tuesday, she had been in the habit of going to the house every Friday & on alternate Tuesdays, for the purpose of washing, & on other days of the week she washed & cleaned for different persons, & also did washing at her own home. She made a claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & the county ct. judge found that she was not in the casual but in the regular employment of the man & his wife, & he made an award in her favour based on her aggregate earnings in the different employments:—Held: there was ample evidence to justify the finding; consequently applt. was a "workman" engaged under "a contract of service" within sect. 13 of the Act, under which the employment was not "of a casual nature," but was periodical & regular; & with regard to the measure of compensation the case was within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., 1 (2) (b).—DEWHURST v. MATHER, [1908] 2 K. B. 754; 77 L. J. K. B. 1077; 99 L. T. 568; 24 T. L. R. 819; 52 Sol. Jo. 681; 1 B. W. C. C. 328, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. Knight v. Bucknill (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 160; Smith v. Buxton (1915), 112 L. T. 893; Stoker v. Wortham (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 457. Mentd. Simmons v. Heath Laundry Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 543.

2191. —— —— —— ——.]—A labourer who had been regularly employed every year for many years to work in the woods on a gentleman's estate during the season for this work, which lasted some two months, for the season, at a weekly wage, was injured by accident in this employment:—Held: the employment was not of a casual nature, & the man was a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, & was entitled to compensation under the Act.—SMITH v. BUXTON (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 697; 112 L. T. 893; 8 B. W. C. C. 196, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Williams v. Haigh (1925), 134 L. T. 238. Reld. Stoker v. Wortham, [1919] 1 K. B. 499.

2192. —— Irregular employment—Arrangement for work not made in advance.]—A man who earned his living by doing odd jobs was employed by the occupier of a private house to clean his windows. He had been so employed at irregular intervals of about six weeks during a period of two years. He was usually sent for when the windows required cleaning, & when he came was paid 6*s.* 6*d.* a day for his work. There was no agreement between the parties for either permanent or periodic employment. While so employed the man met with his death through an accident:—Held: the employment was "of a casual nature"; deceased was therefore not a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13; & consequently the employer was not liable to pay compensation under the Act.—HILL v. BEGG, [1908] 2 K. B. 802; 77 L. J. K. B. 1074; 99 L. T. 104; 24 T. L. R. 711; 52 Sol. Jo. 581; 1 B. W. C. C. 320, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Dewhurst v. Mather, [1908] 2 K. B. 754. Expld. Knight v. Bucknill (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 160. Consd. Smith v. Buxton (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 697. Expld. Hughes v. Walker (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 79. Reld. Bennie v. Reid (1908), 1 B. W. C. C. 324; Blyth v. Sewell (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 476; Gane v. Norton Hill Colliery Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 979. Mentd. Simmons v. Heath Laundry Co. (1910), 79 L. J. K. B. 395.

2193. —— —— ——.]—BOSWELL v. GILBERT (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 251, C. A.

2194. —— —— ——.]—A window cleaner cleaned the windows of a private house for the same employer once a month for four years, when he fell & was killed. No arrangements as to the work were made in advance. The county ct. judge found the employment was of a casual nature:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—RITCHINGS v. BRYANT (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 183, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

2190 i. What amounts to casual labour—Regular employment—On specific work—At specific intervals.]—M'CARTHY v. NORCOTT (1908), 43 I. L. T. 17; 2 B. W. C. C. 279.—IR.

2190 ii. —— —— —— ——.]—Deceased, employed by deft. as cook for a gang, was paid an hourly rate for a certain number of hours per day, with overtime. Deceased perished in a natural disturbance:—Held: as deceased's employment was not continuous there was nothing to show that he was in deft.'s employ at the time of the accident, & therefore deft. entitled to judgment.—YOUNG v. N. Z. SULPHUR CO., LTD., [1917] N. Z. L. R. 189.—N.Z.

2192 i. —— Irregular employment—Arrangement for work not made in advance.]—RENNIE v. REID, [1908] S. C. 1051.—SCOT.

t. —— Temporary postman.]—BOLDEN v. CHASE (1919), 46 N. B. R. 147.—CAN.

2195. —— —— Miscellaneous nature of work.]—KNIGHT v. BUCKNILL, No. 2187, ante.

2196. —— —— Temporary cook.]—STOKER v. WORTHAM, No. 2186, ante.

2197. —— Engagement for specific work—To be completed within stated time.]—The workman was employed to lop the trees of applt. overhanging a road, pursuant to a notice to abate the nuisance caused thereby served on applt. by the local council. The agreement come to was that the workman should receive a wage of 12*s.* a day, the job to be done in three or four weeks. The workman worked for a week, then took a day off to attend to some home affairs, & on resuming next day fell from a bough on to the road & was instantaneously killed. On a claim for compensation by his dependants the county ct. judge held that deceased was a workman within the definition contained in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, & that his employment was not of a casual nature:—Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the findings, & there was no misdirection.—WILLIAMS v. HAIGH (1925), 134 L. T. 238; 18 B. W. C. C. 549, C. A.

2198. Casual nature admitted by applicant.]—D., living in the country as a private gentleman, owned property in Kensington. He contracted with S., whose workshop was in Kensington, to collect rents & do repairs. On the occasion in question, it was necessary to carry out painting work on this property. S., without extra pay, & unknown to D., engaged a man for a short time to help. This man fell from a ladder & was killed. The widow claimed against D. In her evidence she admitted that deceased was only casually employed. The county ct. judge found that deceased was employed by D. through S., who was his agent, but that the employment was casual, & that as D. carried on no trade or business applt. could not recover compensation. Further, he held that if S. were a contractor the case could not come within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 4, because D., the principal, as said, carried on no trade or business. It was argued, on appeal, that the judge should not have decided the case on the ground that the employment was casual, as this point was not raised in resp.'s answer:—Held: the widow's own evidence had put her out of ct., before resps. were called upon, & the judge had no other course except to dismiss the application.—MILES v. DAWE (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 225, C. A.

B. Employment Otherwise than for Employer's Trade or Business.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 3 (2).

2199. What amounts to employment for employer's trade or business—Question of fact.]—The question whether a casual labourer is employed "for the purposes of the employer's trade or business" so as to bring himself within the definition of "workman" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, depends upon the facts of each particular case, & does not turn on the question whether the premises in respect of which the work is done are used solely for business purposes or are used for domestic purposes also.

A farmer, who lived in a small farmhouse on the farm, employed a casual labourer to thatch the roof of the farmhouse. The man fell off the roof & sustained injuries which caused his death. It was a common practice for farmers in the district to do their own thatching. Upon a claim for compensation by the dependants:—Held: there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could find that the deceased man was employed for the purposes of the farmer's trade or business.

(2) It is absolutely clear that the right of the dependants is not in any way directly derived from the man whose death has been occasioned by an accident in the course of his employment: they recover compensation for loss of the benefit which they would have derived from the continuance of his life, & there could be no estoppel by reason of the agreement made between the employer & employee (LORD FINLAY).—MANTON v. CANTWELL, [1920] A. C. 781; 89 L. J. P. C. 73; 123 L. T. 433; 36 T. L. R. 534; 64 Sol. Jo. 477; 13 B. W. C. C. 55, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (2) Reid. Harper v. Dick, Kerr (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1313.

2200. —— Trade or business—Management of own property.]—Deft. owned several houses & was co-owner of three others, which were let to weekly tenants. She collected the rents & generally managed the property, accounting to the other co-owners for rent received on their behalf, but they paid her nothing for so doing:—Held: she was not carrying on the business of an estate agent within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), so as to be liable to compensate a workman whose employment was of a casual nature, & who met with an accident while engaged in doing some repairs to the houses.—BARGEWELL v. DANIEL (1907), 98 L. T. 257, C. A.; revsg., 9 W. C. C. 142.

2201. —— Employment of neighbour by farmer—To cut boundary hedge.]—The garden of a labourer was separated from the adjoining land of a farmer by a hedge on the land of the farmer, & the labourer complained of the height of the hedge. The farmer agreed with the labourer that the latter should cut the hedge & he would pay him 10*s.* for doing it, the farmer to have the poles from the hedge to use in his hop field. While cutting the hedge the labourer met with an accident:—Held: the employment, though of a casual nature, was for the purposes of the farmer's trade or business, & the labourer was a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—TOMBS v. BOMFORD (1912), 106 L. T. 823; 5 B. W. C. C. 338, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Alderman v. Warren (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1442.

2202. —— Repairing or improving business premises.]—Appct. was a rag & bone dealer, who had on certain occasions used his donkey & cart, with which he was accustomed to go about his work, for payment for the purpose of fetching beer for a publican. He did other odd jobs besides his ordinary occupation, & one day he was invited to come into the public-house & take down a stove that was in the bar thereof, which had got out of order, & the chimney of which was smoking. In doing that work he sustained injury by accident, in respect of which he claimed compensation from the publican under Workmen's

---

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

2202 i. What amounts to employment for employer's trade or business—Repairing or improving business premises.]—NEWMAN v. MELLICK, [1908] S. R. Q. 1.—AUS.

2202 ii. —— ——.]—Where a casual workman was employed to assist a slater in repairing the roof of a house used solely for the purpose of business, & was killed by falling from the roof:—Held: his dependants were entitled to compensation, inasmuch as the work he was engaged to assist in doing was, though of a casual nature, for the purposes of the employers' trade or business.—JOHNSTON v. MONASTEREVAN GENERAL STORE CO. (1908), 42 I. L. T. 268; 2 B. W. C. C. 183.—IR.

2202 iii. —— ——.]—A retired doctor

Sect. 3.—Persons not entitled to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, B.; sub-sects. 3, 4 & 5.]

Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, which was followed in due course by a request for arbitration. It was decided by the county ct. judge that, although appct.'s employment by resp. was admittedly of a "casual nature" within the meaning of sect. 13 of the Act of 1906, yet he came within the definition in that Act of a "workman" because that employment was "for the purpose of the employer's trade or business"; & that therefore appct. was entitled to compensation at the rate of half his "average weekly earnings" of 25*s.* per week, being the amount which he obtained from his business of a rag & bone dealer. Resp. appealed:—Held: (1) what appct. was employed to do for resp. was not "for the purposes of the employer's trade or business," for although it might be advantageous thereto that the smoking of the chimney should be prevented & that certain necessary repairs to the stove should be executed, yet it would be an extension of the statutory words to treat them as applicable to such a case as the present; (2) in any event the "average weekly earnings" of appct. in his own business of a rag & bone dealer could not be regarded in ascertaining the compensation payable to him, but only the amount that he realised from odd jobs which he occasionally did under a "contract of service."—ALDERMAN v. WARREN (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1442; 115 L. T. 363; 32 T. L. R. 665; 9 B. W. C. C. 507, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Boothby v. Patrick (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 190. Consd. Manton v. Cantwell, [1920] A. C. 781.

2203. —— ——.]—A man whose ordinary work was that of a grain porter was temporarily employed by a firm of saw millers, timber merchants & contractors for wood work to assist their own workmen in removing a crane to a mill of the employers, to be used there for lifting timber. While so working the man was injured by accident:—Held: he was employed "for the purposes of the employers' trade or business," & he was therefore a "workman" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13, & was entitled to compensation.—BOOTHBY v. PATRICK (PETER) & SON (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 190; 120 L. T. 7; 35 T. L. R. 48; 11 B. W. C. C. 201, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Manton v. Cantwell, [1920] A. C. 781.

2204. —— ——.]—MANTON v. CANTWELL, No. 2199, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—EMPLOYMENT ILLEGAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 3 (3).

2205. General rule.]—If the contract under which a workman is employed is illegal, it is not a contract for service within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13.

A child between thirteen & fourteen years of age was employed to work as "odd boy" with a barge. He was to be paid according to the work he did, & to have his meals when out with the barge. On Sept. 8, 1916, the day of the accident, he started work at 3.30 a.m. He was ordered to drive the horse towing the barge, & was kicked by the horse, & he was severely injured. The county ct. judge found that any contract of service under which the child was working was rendered void by the hours at which he was sometimes required to begin his day's work, as contravening Employment of Children Act, 1903 (c. 45). Such a contract of service could not support a claim for compensation, & he gave his award, therefore, in favour of resps.:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—POUNTENEY v. TURTON (1917), 34 T. L. R. 103; 62 Sol. Jo. 159; 10 B. W. C. C. 601, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. M'Lelland v. Hutchison (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 428.

2206. Offence against Truck Acts.]—KEMP v. LEWIS, No. 2052, ante.

2207. Illegal employment of children.]—POUNTENEY v. TURTON, No. 2205, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—EMPLOYMENT ABROAD.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 35–37.

2208. British employers.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), has no application outside the territorial limits of the United Kingdom, except in the case of seamen & apprentices as provided by sect. 7.

Where an English workman in the employment of English contractors was sent out by them to Malta to work for them there, & met with a fatal accident:—Held: his widow was not entitled to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—TOMALIN v. PEARSON (S.) & SON, LTD., [1909] 2 K. B. 61; 78 L. J. K. B. 863; 100 L. T. 685; 25 T. L. R. 477; 2 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Apprvd. & Distd. Kruse v. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., [1912] A. C. 590. Foll. Schwartz v. India Rubber, Gutta Percha & Telegraph Works Co., [1912] 2 K. B. 299.

2209. —— Accident on voyage to place of employment.]—A workman employed by defts. was directed to proceed at their expense, in a British ship, to Teneriffe to do work upon electric cables there. The ship foundered in the Bay of Biscay & the workman & all on board were lost. His dependants applied for compensation:—Held: Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), had no application to British ships on the high seas except in the case of seamen & apprentices within sect. 7.—SCHWARTZ v. INDIA RUBBER, GUTTA PERCHA & TELEGRAPH WORKS CO., LTD., [1912] 2 K. B. 299; 81 L. J. K. B. 780; 106 L. T. 706; 28 T. L. R. 331; 5 B. W. C. C. 390, C. A.

Seamen.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 1, E., ante.

---

farmed some 215 acres for profit. The swaying of some trees shook the roots, & thereby injured the wall of his haggard. He employed a man casually to lop the trees:—Held: the employment was for the purposes of the employer's trade or business.—COTTER v. JOHNSON (1911), 45 I. L. T. 259; 5 B. W. C. C. 568.—IR.

2202 iv. —— ——.]—M'CANN v. M'DONNELL (1913), 47 I. L. T. 229.—IR.

2202 v. —— ——.]—A casual labourer engaged by a shopkeeper to repair houses disconnected from the shop & occupied by tenants is not employed for the purposes of the trade or business of the employer.—KELLY v. BUCHANAN (1913), 47 I. L. T. 228.—IR.

a. —— Cleaning ship's boiler.]—SPIERS v. ELDERSLIE S.S. CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 1259; 46 Sc. L. R. 893; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 107.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 3.

b. Employment of deserter from army—Employers without knowledge—Contract only voidable.]—A deserter from the army was employed by shipowners, who did not know that he was a deserter, as a marine fireman or trimmer. He was drowned by the loss at sea of the vessel on which he was employed:—Held: his widow was entitled to recover compensation in respect that the contract of employment with her deceased husband was not void but voidable, & had not been avoided at the date of the accident.—M'LELLAND v. HUTCHISON (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 428.—SCOT.

SUB-SECT. 5.—INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS.

2210. Whether workman or independent contractor—Payment by tonnage—Applicant engaging workmen—Employer supplying tools.]—A quarryman was employed under a written agreement that he should be paid a certain sum per ton of material worked, his employers supplying the necessary tools. He engaged & discharged men to work under him. He determined his employment, but resumed it again upon his employers assuring him that he should be compensated in case he was injured by accident:—Held: there was evidence that he was a workman within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & not an independent contractor.—EVANS v. PENWYLLT DINAS SILICA BRICK CO. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 58; 4 W. C. C. 101, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Vamplew v. Parkgate Iron & Steel Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 851; Jones v. Penwyllt Dinas Silica Brick Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 491. Refd. Bagnall v. Levinstein (1906), 76 L. J. K. B. 234.

2211. —— —— ——.]—In an arbitration under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), upon a claim by the dependants of a man who was killed by an accident while at work upon the premises of resps., the evidence was that the deceased man worked for resps. at breaking steel & clearing cinders, that he was paid by tonnage, & that he had five or six working under him whom he employed & paid on his own account:—Held: the county ct. judge was justified in finding that the deceased man was not a "workman" in the employment of resps. within the meaning of the Act.—VAMPLEW v. PARKGATE IRON & STEEL CO., [1903] 1 K. B. 851; 72 L. J. K. B. 575; 88 L. T. 756; 67 J. P. 417; 51 W. R. 691; 19 T. L. R. 421; 47 Sol. Jo. 469; 5 W. C. C. 114, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Jones v. Penwyllt Dinas Silica Brick Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 491.

2212. —— —— —— Under orders of works manager.]—A quarryman, with a partner & six men who worked with him & under him, was employed to obtain stone from a quarry & was killed at work. He received 1*s.* 2*d.* per ton for ordinary stone & a higher payment for building stone. The quarry manager ordered the kind of stone he wished to be obtained, & would have given deceased notice to determine the contract had he been disobeyed. Deceased could work when & where he pleased provided he obtained the necessary stone. All tools belonged to the quarry owners. The horse used also belonged to them, but deceased had to keep & feed it. Deceased had to obey the manager as to where the refuse was put. The county ct. judge found that deceased was a workman under a contract of service with the quarry owners:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—JONES v. PENWYLLT DINAS SILICA BRICK CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 491, C. A.

2213. —— Contract for work at fixed price—Applicant supplying labour & tools.]—Appct. contracted with resp. to supply labour & tools for the purpose of carrying out the bricklaying work on a certain building for the sum of £160. As the work proceeded payments on account were made of about 75 per cent. of the value of the work done. Appct. while working upon the building as a foreman bricklayer was injured by accident:—Held: appct. was a sub-contractor & not a "workman" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & therefore not entitled to compensation under the Act.—SIMMONS v. FAULDS (1901), 65 J. P. 371; 17 T. L. R. 352; 3 W. C. C. 169, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Vamplew v. Parkgate Iron & Steel Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 851.

2214. —— Foreman of work gang—Lump sum payment to gang—Engaged & directed by employer.]—A tree feller, C., was engaged by a bailiff to cut down certain trees. He asked that his son might help him, & also recommended another man. These men, with a further man, were all engaged by the bailiff, & the whole gang worked under the directions of C. The tree fellers were paid a lump sum for the job, which sum was distributed among the gang by arrangement among themselves. The men found some of the tools, the bailiff supplied others. On one occasion the bailiff instructed the men which way to let a tree fall, & after the accident he engaged two new men to take the place of C. The county ct. judge found that C. was not a workman:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—CURTIS v. PLUMPTRE (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 87, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Hughes v. Quinn (1917), 11 B. W. C. C. 420; Bray v. Kirkpatrick (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 493.

2215. —— Liberty as to hours of work.]—A decorator agreed with a builder to paper a house, being erected by the latter. The decorator was to have complete liberty as to hours of work. He made out a bill for the work done by him on the payment of which he gave a receipt. On a claim for compensation for injury by accident, the county ct. judge found that the decorator was under a contract of service with the builder:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—LEWIS v. STANBRIDGE (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 568, C. A.

2216. —— —— Delegation of work not possible.]—A workman was engaged by a firm to break up old metal by means of blasting. He had no regular hours of work; his time of arrival depended on the kind of morning & the work to be done; he could leave when he liked; he pleased himself & did not go to work every day as there was not always work. Having suffered an injury while

---

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 5.

2213 i. Whether workman or independent contractor—Contract for work at fixed price—Applicant supplying labour & tools.]—RAILWAYS COMR. v. RICHARDS, [1911] S. R. Q. 51.—AUS.

2213 ii. —— —— ——.]—POZZI v. AYLEN (1918), 20 W. A. L. R. 104.—AUS.

2213 iii. ——————.]—HUGHES v. QUINN (1917), 52 I. L. T. 21; 11 B. W. C. C. 420.—IR.

c. —— ——.]—A rabbit trapper, having agreed in writing with an employer to do the trapping of rabbits on certain lands for a season, at a fixed payment per couple, the employer supplying the gear & the use of a cottage while so engaged, was injured in the course of his employment:—Held: on the agreement, appct. was an independent contractor.—M'CONNELL v. GALBRAITH (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 968.—IR.

2215 i. —— Liberty as to hours of work.]—BYRNE v. BALTINGLASS RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL & KELLY (1911), 45 I. L. T. 206; 5 B. W. C. C. 566.—IR.

2215 ii. —— ——.]—RYAN v. TIPPERARY NORTH RIDING COUNTY COUNCIL (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 415.—IR.

2215 iii. ——————.]—BRAY v. KIRKPATRICK & SONS (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 493.—IR.

2215 iv. —— ——.]—CROWLEY v. LIMERICK COUNTY COUNCIL, [1923] 2 I. R. 178.—IR.

2215 v. ——————.]—HAYDEN v. DICK (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 150.—SCOT

2215 vi. —— ——.]—CHISHOLM v. WALKER & CO., [1908] S. C. 31; 46 Sc. L. R. 24; 16 S. L. T. 395; 2 B. W. C. C. 261.—SCOT.

2215 vii. ——————.]—EDWARDS & CO. v. LLOYD, [1919] T. P. D. 291.—S. AF.

2216 i. —— —— Delegation of work not possible.]—Held: the nurse was employed under a contract for professional services & not under a contract of service, &, accordingly, was not a workman within Workmen's Compensation Acts.—DOW v. M'NEILL, [1925] S. C. 50.—SCOT.

d. —— Necessity for wages.]—A worker, in order to be entitled to the benefits of Workers' Compensation Act, 1902, must, at the time of the accident in respect of which he claims, have at work, which resulted in total incapacity, he made an application for compensation, & the county ct. judge found that he was a "workman" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the ground that as the contract was one in which it was impossible for him to delegate the work, it was a contract of service:—Held: whether there was power to delegate the work or not was not the correct test; the case must go back for a rehearing for the county ct. judge to consider more fully the question of "control" of the work & workman by the alleged employers.—UNDERWOOD v. PERRY & SON, LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 131, C. A.

Sect. 3.—Persons not entitled to compensation: Subsects. 5, 6, 7, 8 & 9. Sect. 4: Sub-sect. 1.]

2217. —— Accident during work done in spare time—Work obtained through assistance of employer.]—A workman was engaged by the lessee of a theatre to do work which occupied him part of the morning & the whole of each evening. For this he was paid a weekly wage, & given early information as to the movements of theatrical performers, so as to enable him to contract with them for the moving of their luggage to & from the railway station at the beginning & end of each week. While removing luggage in the performance of one of these contracts he met with injury by accident:—Held: he was not under the control of the lessee at the time, or temporarily lent to another, person, but an independent contractor, & therefore, the accident did not arise out of or in the course of his employment.—HUSCROFT v. BENNETT (1914), 110 L. T. 494; 58 Sol. Jo. 284; 7 B. W. C. C. 41, C. A.

2218. —— Assistance given by workman's family—& by hired assistance.]—A workman was employed as a dairyman on the terms of a written agreement which described the parties to it as employer & employee, provided that the latter should (inter alia) manage a herd of forty-five cows, & that several things should be done according to the instructions or desire or directions of the employer. The employer was to give 45*s.* a week with house & garden & certain extras. The employee kept a boy at 3*s.* 6*d.* a week to assist him in the work, & his own two sisters lived with him & helped in the dairy. He paid the boy's wages & boarded him & also paid allowances to, & the board of, his sisters. In proceedings by him for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: on the construction of the agreement, appct. was a "workman" within the Act & not an independent contractor; & expenses of help given by younger members of the family who lived with the workman ought not to be deducted from his wages in the absence of an express contract or proof that he could not earn his wages without their assistance.—ROPER v. HUSSEY-FREKE, [1915] 3 K. B. 222; 113 L. T. 635; sub nom. ROPER v. FREKE, 84 L. J. K. B. 1351; 31 T. L. R. 507; 59 Sol. Jo. 596; 8 B. W. C. C. 604, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156.

2219. —— Description in contract of service—Employer & employee.]—ROPER v. HUSSEY-FREKE, No. 2218, ante.

2220. —— Engagement at weekly wages—Subject to week's notice—Salvage contractor.]—Appct., a man with long experience as a diver & highly skilled in salvage operations, was engaged, under a contract in writing with harbour comrs., "to superintend the work of dispersing" a barge sunk in the harbour, at a salary of £10 a week, the engagement to be determinable by either party giving the other a week's notice, & the comrs. supplying a diver & assistants, boat, diving gear, explosives & all necessary plant. In the course of the operations he fell & injured his back, & was thereby totally incapacitated from work, & claimed compensation:—Held: on the true construction of the contract, appct. was not an independent contractor, but was a "workman" who had entered into a "contract of service" with his employers within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13.—BINDING v. GREAT YARMOUTH PORT & HAVEN COMRS. (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 377; 128 L. T. 743; 16 B. W. C. C. 28, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 6.—MEMBER OF POLICE FORCE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 3 (2).

2221. Police constable acting as fireman—In pursuance of duty—Not within compensation provisions.]—Part of the duty of a police constable was to act as a fireman. He was injured while so acting:—Held: when a police constable in pursuance of any duty under an Act of Parliament acts as a fireman, he is acting as a member of a police force, & is not a "workman" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 13.—SUDELL v. BLACKBURN CORPN. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 227, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—MEMBER OF ROYAL FORCES.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 33.

Reservist in Royal Forces—In civil employment.]—See No. 2078, ante.

---

been engaged under a contract of service with his employer at a remuneration which can be properly described as wages.—CORCORAN v. GREAT FINGALL G. M. CO., LTD. (1907), 9 W. A. L. R. 192.—AUS.

e. —— Housepainter.]—Painter employed to paint a homestead is precluded by Workmen's Compensation Act, s. 10, from recovering compensation for injuries sustained at that work.—SMID v. TOWNSEND (1915), 8 W. W. R. 474.—CAN.

f. —— No exclusive employment.]—A man who had a carting business used to cart stones for a county council. He did the work as & when he liked, being uncontrolled by the council, except that their surveyor told him where the stones were to be placed. He did not work continuously, doing other work when he wished:—Held: he was not a workman within the Act.—RYAN v. TIPPERARY (S. R.) COUNTY COUNCIL (1912), 48 I. L. T. 69; 5 B. W. C. C. 578.—IR.

g. —— ——.]—A man was employed by the road overseer of the county council to draw stones from a quarry, & used for the purpose a horse & cart belonging to his father. There was evidence that he was to get work now & again when there would be work to do, but there was no objection to his working for some one else when he was not wanted badly by the county council:—Held: the man was employed under a contract of service & was a workman with the Act.—O'DONNELL v. CLARE COUNTY COUNCIL (1912), 47 I. L. T. 41; 6 B. W. C. C. 457.—IR.

h. —— ——.]—TAYLOR v. BURNHAM & Co., [1910] S. C. 705.—SCOT.

k. —— Directions as to work given.]—A plumber, called in to execute repairs, was paid by time, the owner of the house supplying the materials. The owner of the house indicated where the defect was, gave some directions to the plumber as to what he was to do, & from time to time during the course of the work visited the place to see what progress was being made. The plumber met with an accident:—Held: the plumber was a servant, & not an independent contractor.—MCNALLY v. FITZGERALD (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 966.—IR.

l. —— Contract to supply ship & crew.]—A man, who had contracted with harbour comrs. to supply a yawl & a crew of four men for pilotage purposes, was drowned whilst putting a pilot on board a vessel:—Held: he was an independent contractor, & his dependants were not entitled to compensation.—WALSH v. WATERFORD HARBOUR COMRS. (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 960.—IR.

m. —— Workgang supervised by foreman.]—M'CREADY v. DUNLOP &

SUB-SECT. 8.—MEMBER OF EMPLOYER'S FAMILY DWELLING IN HIS HOUSE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 3 (2).

2222. Employment by parent—Effect of claim being barred—On claim against principal of parent.]—Resp. a timber merchant, having purchased certain trees in the course of his business, contracted with M. to fell same. M. employed appct., his son, to help him in carrying out his contract with resp., & appct. suffered personal injury in so doing. In proceedings by the son to recover compensation from resp. as principal under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 4, it being admitted that the son had no claim against his father by reason of his being a "member of his employer's family dwelling in his house" within the definition of "workman" in sect. 13 of the Act:—Held: inasmuch as the liability under sect. 4 is a liability on the part of the principal to pay compensation to the "workman employed," & as the son was not a "workman" within the meaning of the Act as between himself & his employer, his father, resp. was not liable as a principal under sect. 4.—MARKS v. CARNE, [1909] 2 K. B. 516; 78 L. J. K. B. 853; 100 L. T. 950; 25 T. L. R. 620; 53 Sol. Jo. 561; 2 B. W. C. C. 186, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Wood v. Wood (1923), 93 L. J. K. B. 538.

2223. Employment by family partnership—One partner resident elsewhere.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 2231, post.

SUB-SECT. 9.—PARTNERS.

2224. No claim between partners—Or by widow of deceased partner.]—A member of a partnership formed for the purpose of working a mine, by arrangement with his co-partners, worked in the mine as a working foreman, & received weekly wages out of the profits of the business. While working in the mine, he met with an accident which caused his death, & his widow thereupon claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), from the surviving partners:—Held: the case contemplated by the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), was that of a workman employed by some other person or persons; deceased having been himself one of the partners in the firm for which he was working, he could not be said to have been employed by them; & therefore the case was not within the Act, & appct. was not entitled to compensation.—ELLIS v. ELLIS (JOSEPH) & Co., [1905] 1 K. B. 324; 74 L. J. K. B. 229; 92 L. T. 718; 53 W. R. 311; 21 T. L. R. 182; 7 W. C. C. 97, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Whelan v. Great Northern Steam Fishing Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 913.

SECT. 4.—PERSONS LIABLE TO PAY COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 5, 48 (2).

2225. Who is an employer—Question of fact.]—Resps. were owners of a threshing machine which they let out on hire to farmers. They were bound by statute to have three men to attend the machine, two to look after the engine & a third as a "road man." At farms the road man acted as assistant in the threshing, being paid for this by the farmer & not by resps. While engaged in the threshing appct., the "road man," was injured, & claimed compensation from resps., who denied liability, stating the farmer was employer. The county ct. judge held resps. were the employers:—Held: the county ct. judge had decided a question of fact, & there was evidence to support his decision.—REED v. SMITH, WILKINSON & Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 223, C. A.

2226. —— ——.]—A workman was drowned while mooring a ship of resps.; he was paid by a stevedore who worked for resps. & other firms. Resps. contended that he was employed by the stevedore & not by them. The stevedore gave evidence that the money was paid through him merely for the convenience of the resps.:—The county ct. judge held that the man was employed directly by resps. & not by the stevedore:—Held: it was a question of fact, & the ct. could not interfere, as there was some evidence to support the decision.—POLLARD v. GOOLE & HULL STEAM TOWING CO., LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 360, C. A.

2227. —— ——.]—Appct. was a pupil at a sea training school learning the work of a stoker. By arrangement with a gas co. the pupils visited the gas works for the purpose of learning trimming & stoking coal, as part of their training, for which they received no remuneration. Subsequently the gas co. having difficulty in obtaining labour, made an arrangement with the school whereby the work required was done by the pupils. Boys were selected by the school authorities, & marched to the work, supervised & marched back by the school instructor. The gas co. paid each boy 6*d.* an hour. During this employment appct. was injured & claimed compensation. He said that he thought this employment was part of his training. The county ct. judge found that this was not so, but that appct. was in the employment, at the time of the accident, & under the control of the gas co. Upon this he made an award in favour of appct. against the gas co.:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—BAGLEY v. GRAVESEND GAS CO. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Co. (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1027.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 8.

n. Employment by parent.]—A son, employed by his father, lived with him, & paid him board & lodging. He was injured while absent for several weeks on his father's business:—Held: he was a "member" of his employer's family, "dwelling in his house," & was therefore not a workman within the Act.—M'DOUGALL v. M'DOUGALL, [1911] S. C. 426; 48 Sc. L. R. 315; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 96; 4 B. W. C. C. 373.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 9.

o. Partnership must be proved.]—A person who owned ten sixty-fourth shares of a trading schooner was employed as master by the managing owner, & met his death while in the course of his employment:—Held: in the absence of any proof of partnership or joint-adventure in a course of trading, the master was a workman & his dependants were entitled to recover compensation from the managing owner.—CARSWELL v. SHARPE, [1910] S. C. 391; 47 Sc. L. R. 335; [1910] 1 S. L. T. 80; 3 B. W. C. C. 552.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 1.

p. Who is an employer.]—The words "an employer" in Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. B. C., 1924, c. 278, s. 12 (3), include any employer who falls within the purview of the Act & is deft. to a workman's action for injuries even though he was not the employer of said workman.—PETER v. YORKSHIRE ESTATE CO., LTD., [1926] 2 D. L. R. 641; [1926] A. C. 513; [1926] 2 W. W. R. 545; affg., [1925] 3 D. L. R. 1193; 36 B. C. R. 71; revsg., [1925] 2 D. L. R. 1213; [1925] 2 W. W. R. 78; 35 B. C. R. 431.—CAN.

q. —— "Undertaker."] — MURRAY v. NORTH BRITISH RY. CO. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 540; 41 Sc. L. R. 383; 11 S. L. T. 746.—SCOT.

r. Landlord of farm let for share of produce—No relation of employer to

Sect. 4.—Persons liable to pay compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B., C. & D.; sub-sect. 4.]

of the roof was no part of the business of the builder, the last clause of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 4 applied, & the builder was not liable to pay compensation.—BUSH v. HAWES, [1902] 1 K. B. 216; 71 L. J. K. B. 68; 85 L. T. 507; 66 J. P. 260; 50 W. R. 311; 4 W. C. C. 33, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Hockley v. West London Timber & Joinery Co. (1914), 112 L. T. 1.

2246. —— Liability only within provision.]—SKATES v. JONES & CO., No. 2239, ante.

2247. —— Erection of station for railway company.]—The erection of a railway station is work "which is merely ancillary or incidental to, & is no part of, or process in, the trade or business" of a railway co. within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 4; & therefore the railway co. are not liable to pay compensation under that Act to the workman of a contractor, who has contracted with them to do such work, in respect of an injury occasioned to the workman in the execution of it.—PEARCE v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO., [1900] 2 Q. B. 100; 69 L. J. Q. B. 683; 82 L. T. 487; 48 W. R. 599; 16 T. L. R. 336; 2 W. C. C. 47, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Knight v. Cubitt (1901), 3 W. C. C. 71; Wrigley v. Bagley & Wright, [1901] 1 K. B. 780.

2248. —— Erection of iron roof for builder.]—BUSH v. HAWES, No. 2245, ante.

2249. —— Fixing wheel to steam engine of factory.]—A firm of engineers contracted with the owners of a cotton spinning factory to put a new driving wheel into the steam engine belonging to the factory. While engaged in the work of fixing the new wheel a workman employed by the engineers met with an accident which caused his death:—Held: the work being merely ancillary or incidental to & no part of or process in the business of the owners of the cotton spinning factory the case did not come within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 4, & therefore a dependant of the deceased workman was not entitled to compensation under the Act against the owners of the cotton spinning factory.—WRIGLEY v. BAGLEY & WRIGHT, [1901] 1 K. B. 780; 70 L. J. K. B. 538; 84 L. T. 415; 65 J. P. 372; 49 W. R. 472; 3 W. C. C. 61, C. A.; on appeal, sub nom. WRIGLEY v. WHITTAKER & SONS, [1902] A. C. 299, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Willmott v. Paton, [1902] 1 K. B. 237; Pattison v. White (1904), 20 T. L. R. 775; Houlder Line v. Griffin, [1905] A. C. 220; Back v. Dick Kerr, [1906] A. C. 325; Spencer v. Harrison (1908), 1 B. W. C. C. 76.

2250. —— Demolition of building for builder.]—A firm of builders entered into a contract with the owner of two adjoining houses in a street, numbered respectively 16 & 17, for the demolition of No. 17 & the erection of a new building on the site of it, & for alterations & repairs to No. 16. The firm habitually entered into contracts for the demolition of buildings & the erection of new buildings on their sites. It was, however, their practice not to execute the work of demolition themselves, but to sub-contract for that work with another person, which they accordingly did with regard to the house No. 17. The two houses respectively, & the party wall common to both, were of a height exceeding thirty feet. An accident happened to a workman employed by the sub-contractor in the demolition of No. 17 in the course of his employment, which caused his death. At the time of the accident No. 17 had been reduced to a height of about eleven feet, excepting the party wall, which was not to be pulled down, & remained standing. On a claim by the workman's widow for compensation for herself & children as dependants on deceased under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge found that the workman was employed in the demolition of a building which at the time of the accident exceeded thirty feet in height, & that the builders were liable to make compensation to his dependants under s. 4 of the Act:—Held: there was evidence to support the county ct. judge's finding as above mentioned; work of demolition was not merely ancillary to their business; & therefore they were liable under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 4.—KNIGHT v. CUBITT & CO., [1902] 1 K. B. 31; 71 L. J. K. B. 65; 85 L. T. 526; 66 J. P. 52; 50 W. R. 113; 18 T. L. R. 26; 46 Sol. Jo. 49; 4 W. C. C. 42, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Bush v. Hawes, [1902] 1 K. B. 216. Refd. Wagstaff v. Perks (1902), 87 L. T. 558; Hartley v. Quick, [1905] 1 K. B. 359.

2251. —— Navigation to destination of lighter—For coal merchants.]—A limited co. carried on the business of coal merchants in various parts of the world, including Cape Verd, &, as incidental to that business, the business of lightermen, & they purchased in England a lighter for use in their business at Cape Verd. By an agreement entered into between the co. & G., G. agreed for a lump sum to navigate the lighter from England to Cape Verd & deliver her into the co.'s hands there, & to provide & pay for the crew, & the co. agreed to pay all demands for insurance, also clearances at the port of departure. B., who was appointed by G. to take command of the lighter, engaged the crew. The boatswain, who was incapacitated by an accident on the voyage, applied against the co. for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the co. in the course or for the purposes of their business had contracted with G. for the execution by or under G. of part of the work undertaken by them & were liable as principals under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 4 (1).—DITTMAR v. SHIP V 593 (OWNERS), [1909] 1 K. B. 389; 78 L. J. K. B. 523; sub nom. DITTMAR v. WILSON, SONS & CO., 100 L. T. 212; 25 T. L. R. 188; 2 B. W. C. C. 178, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Hockley v. West London Timber & Joinery Co. (1914), 112 L. T. 1. Refd. Skates v. Jones, [1910] 2 K. B. 903.

2252. —— Services of lecturer at exhibition—Engaged by licencee of exhibition authorities.]—WAITES v. FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION, No. 2044, ante.

2253. —— Repair of own house for surveyor.]—A surveyor contracted to have his house repaired, & agreed to supervise the work himself:—Held: this was not a contract in the course of or for the purposes of the surveyor's trade or business.—BRINE v. MAY, ELLIS, GRACE & CO. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 134, C. A.

2254. —— Scaling of ship's boiler—For ship owners.]—Where the owners of a steamship entered factory.]—BEE v. OVENS (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 439.—SCOT.

---

h. —— Erection of signals for railway company.]—BURNS v. NORTH BRITISH RY. (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 629.—SCOT.

k. —— Collection & delivery of goods for railway company.]—GREENHILL v. CALEDONIAN RY. (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 736.—SCOT.

l. —— Erection of stone wall in cutting for railway company.]—DUNDEE & ARBROATH JOINT RY. v. CARLIN (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 843.—SCOT.

m. —— Cleaning windows of workshop for firm of tailors.]—DEMPSTER v. HUNTER (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 580.—SCOT.

n. —— Tarring chambers of chemical works.]—ZUGG v. CUNNINGHAM (J. & J.), LTD., [1908] S. C. 827; into a contract with a contractor to scale the boilers of the vessel, & he engaged certain workmen to do the work, the principals not exercising any control over the workmen, it not being their practice to undertake the scaling of the boilers of their steamships themselves, they always employing an independent contractor to do it, the operation that the contractor had contracted to perform for the principals was held not to be work executed " in the course of or for the purposes of " the principal's " trade or business " within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 4 (1), so that the principals were not liable to pay compensation to one of the workmen who was injured by " accident arising out of & in the course of " his employment.—LUCKWILL v. AUCHEN S.S. CO., LTD. (1913), 108 L. T. 52 ; 6 B. W. C. C. 51 ; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 286, C. A.

Annotation :—Apld. Hockley v. West London Timber & Joinery Co. (1914), 112 L. T. 1.

C. Indemnity.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 20–24.

2255. Right of principal to indemnity—On compensation paid to workman—Award of compensation declaring no right to indemnity.]—The contractor for the building of a house sub-let the plastering work to F., who agreed to supply & control the labour for it, the contractor to find the materials & plant for such work. One of F.'s workmen, while engaged in the plastering work, met with an accident, & recovered compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), from the contractor. The contractor appealed from that part of the award so far as it declared that he was not entitled to an indemnity from F. : —Held : allowing the appeal, F. had agreed to execute a substantial part of the work of construction, although only supplying & controlling the labour therefor ; he was consequently an " undertaker " in regard to that part, & he was bound to indemnify the contractor.—WAGSTAFF v. PERKS & SON (1902), 87 L. T. 558 ; 51 W. R. 210 ; 19 T. L. R. 112 ; 47 Sol. Jo. 145 ; 5 W. C. C. 110, C. A.

2256. —— ——.]—Applts. undertook to build a house, & agreed with a sub-contractor that he should slate the roof. A workman employed by the sub-contractor was killed in the course of his employment, & his widow was awarded compensation against applts. as undertakers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37) :—Held : the sub-contractor would have been liable as an undertaker, & applts. were entitled to be indemnified by him against the amount of compensation awarded.—COOPER & CRANE v. WRIGHT, [1902] A. C. 302 ; 71 L. J. K. B. 642 ; 86 L. T. 776 ; 51 W. R. 12 ; 18 T. L. R. 622 ; 4 W. C. C. 75, H. L.

Annotations :—Folld. Wagstaff v. Perks (1902), 87 L. T. 558 ; McCabe v. Jopling & Palmer's Travelling Cradle, [1904] 1 K. B. 222. Refd. Evans v. Cook, [1905] 1 K. B. 53.

2257. —— ——.]—The contractor for the repair of a building exceeding thirty feet in height agreed with a sub-contractor that the latter should supply, fix, & remove four travelling cradles which were used as a scaffolding in the process of repairing the building. During the process of removing the cradles, which the arbitrator found to be a substantial part of the process of repairing the building, one of the sub-contractor's workmen was fatally injured :—Held : the sub-contractor was liable to indemnify the contractor, who had been held liable to pay compensation to the deceased workman's dependants.—MCCABE v. JOPLING & PALMER'S TRAVELLING CRADLE, LTD., [1904] 1 K. B. 222 ; 73 L. J. K. B. 129 ; 89 L. T. 624 ; 68 J. P. 121 ; 52 W. R. 358 ; 20 T. L. R. 119 ; 6 W. C. C. 100, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Plant v. Wright, [1905] 1 K. B. 353.

2258. Mode of recovery—Whether limited to arbitration—High Court action.]—A workman in the employment of a sub-contractor sustained a personal injury by accident under circumstances that entitled him to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37). The undertaker who had contracted to do the whole of the work agreed to pay to the workman during incapacity one-half of his average weekly earnings, & made payments accordingly. In an action brought by the undertaker to recover from the sub-contractor the amount so paid :—Held : there was nothing in the Act which affected the right of pltf. to bring the action in the High Ct.—EVANS v. COOK, [1905] 1 K. B. 53 ; 74 L. J. K. B. 95 ; 92 L. T. 43 ; 53 W. R. 81 ; 21 T. L. R. 42 ; 49 Sol. Jo. 53 ; 7 W. C. C. 41, C. A.

D. Exceptions to Liability.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 6.

2259. Accident occurring elsewhere than in, on, or about premises—Meaning of " about "—Proximity to premises—Accident in public street two miles distant.]—A workman who was employed in connection with certain paving operations by a sub-contractor, his duties being to cart materials for the work, & remove rubbish, while so engaged was accidentally killed in the public street at a distance of two miles from the site of the work :—Held : the accident had not occurred " on, or in, or about premises " on which the principal contractor had undertaken to execute the work, or which were " otherwise under his control or management " within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 4 (4), & consequently the principal was not liable to pay compensation under the Act.—ANDREWS v. ANDREWS & MEARS, [1908] 2 K. B. 567 ; 77 L. J. K. B. 974 ; 99 L. T. 214 ; 24 T. L. R. 709 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 264, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Dittmar v. Ship V 593, [1909] 1 K. B. 389.

2260. No claim maintainable against contractor—Principal not liable.]—MARKS v. CARNE, No. 2222, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—INSURANCE AGAINST LIABILITY.

See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 404–406, 443, Nos. 3195–3203, 3416.

---

45 Sc. L. R. 670 ; 16 S. L. T. 51 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 257.—SCOT.

o. —— Boiler-scaling for shipowner.]—SPIERS v. ELDERSLIE S.S. CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 1259 ; 46 Sc. L. R. 893 ; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 107 ; 2 B. W. C. C. 205.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

2256 i. Right of principal to indemnity—On compensation paid to workman.]—TOPPING v. RHIND (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 666.—SCOT.

p. Liability alternative—Not joint or joint & several.]—The statutory liability of the employer & that of the principal are alternative & neither joint nor joint & several.—HEATH v. OLIVER (1914), 27 W. L. R. 597 ; 6 W. W. R. 305.—CAN.

q. —— ——.]—MEIER v. DUBLIN CORPN. (1912), 46 I. L. T. 236 ; 6 B. W. C. C. 441.—IR.

r. —— ——.]—HERD v. SUMMERS (1905), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 870.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

t. Accident occurring elsewhere than in, on, or about premises—Meaning of " about "—At or near.]—MONAGHAN v. UNITED COLLIERIES (1900), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 149.—SCOT.

SECT. 5.—RIGHT TO COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—PERSONAL INJURY BY ACCIDENT.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1.

2261. Meaning of "accident"—Something fortuitous & unexpected.]—The word "accident" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1, involves the idea of something fortuitous & unexpected.—HENSEY v. WHITE, [1900] 1 Q. B. 481; 69 L. J. Q. B. 188; 81 L. T. 767; 63 J. P. 804; 48 W. R. 257; 16 T. L. R. 64; 2 W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Timmins v. Leeds Forge Co. (1900), 83 L. T. 120. Distd. Walker v. Lilleshall Coal Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 481, 488. Overd. Fenton v. Thorley, [1903] A. C. 443. Consd. Higgins v. Campbell & Harrison, Turvey v. Brintons, [1904] 1 K. B. 328. Reld. Roper v. Greenwood (1900), 83 L. T. 471; Boardman v. Scott & Whitworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 43; Clover, Clayton v. Hughes, [1910] A. C. 242.

2262. —— ——.]—A workman, having a blistered finger, was handling oil & red lead in the ordinary course of his employment, &, in so doing, failed to keep the red lead from the blistered finger, which accordingly became inflamed & was seriously injured:—Held: he had not suffered any injury by "accident" within the rule laid down in Hensey v. White, No. 2261, ante.—WALKER v. LILLESHALL COAL CO., [1900] 1 Q. B. 481, 488; 69 L. J. Q. B. 192; 81 L. T. 769; 64 J. P. 85; 16 T. L. R. 108; 44 Sol. Jo. 117; 2 W. C. C. 7, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Roper v. Greenwood (1900), 83 L. T. 471. Apld. Timmins v. Leeds Forge Co. (1900), 83 L. T. 120. Reld. Boardman v. Scott & Whitworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 43; Higgins v. Campbell & Harrison, Turvey v. Brintons, [1904] 1 K. B. 328.

2263. —— ——.]—TIMMINS v. LEEDS FORGE CO., LTD., No. 2291, post.

2264. —— An untoward event not expected or designed.]—In Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the word "accident" is used in the popular & ordinary sense, & means a mishap or untoward event not expected or designed.

A workman employed to turn the wheel of a machine, by an act of over-exertion ruptured himself:—Held: he suffered an "injury by accident" within the meaning of the Act & was entitled to compensation.

Hensey v. White, No. 2261, ante, overruled.

When personal injury & its cause or causes have been ascertained the question whether such cause on causes amount to an accident within the meaning of the Act is a question of law on which the decision of the county ct. judge is not final; & is not a question of fact on which his decision is not open to appeal (LORD LINDLEY).—FENTON v. THORLEY & CO., LTD., [1903] A. C. 443; 72 L. J. K. B. 787; 89 L. T. 314; 52 W. R. 81; 19 T. L. R. 684; 5 W. C. C. 1, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Higgins v. Campbell & Harrison, Turvey v. Brintons, [1904] 1 K. B. 328. Folld. Brintons v. Turvey, [1905] A. C. 230. Consd. Steel v. Cammell, Laird, [1905] 2 K. B. 232; Wicks v. Dowell, [1905] 2 K. B. 225; Ismay, Imrie v. Williamson, [1908] A. C. 437; Clover, Clayton v. Hughes, [1910] A. C. 242; Kelly v. Auchenlea Coal Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 417; Murray v. Denholm (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 496; Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398; Paton v. Dixon (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 882; Finlay v. Tullamore Union Grdns. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 973. Expld. Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667. Apld. Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1. Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765; Denholme v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378. Reld. Marshall v. East Holywell Coal Co., Gorley v. Backworth Collieries (1905), 93 L. T. 360; Broderick v. L. C. C., [1908] 2 K. B. 807; Fitzgerald v. Clarke, [1908] 2 K. B. 796; Coe v. Fife Coal Co. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 8; Re Etherington & Lancashire & Yorkshire Accident Insce., [1909] 1 K. B. 591; Anderson v. Balfour (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 588; Nisbet v. Rayne & Burn (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 84; Warner v. Conchman (1910), 103 L. T. 693; Borland v. Watson, Gow (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 514; Euman v. Dalziel (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 900; M'Ardle v. Swansea Harbour Trust (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 733; Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 873; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331. Mentd. Sherwood v. Johnson (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 686; Vacher v. London Soc. of Compositors, [1912] 3 K. B. 547; Re Boaler, [1915] 1 K. B. 21.

2265. ——.]—A workman employed in unloading coal from a ship, who was required in the course of his duty to stand by the open hatchway through which the coal was being brought up from the hold, was seized with an epileptic fit while at work, & fell into the hold & was seriously injured:—Held: regard must be had to the proximate cause of the accident resulting in the injury, which was to be found in the necessary proximity of the workman to the hatchway; the accident therefore arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" his employment, & he was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).

It is said that these decisions on the meaning of the word "accident" in insurance policies have no application to the word as used in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & reliance is placed on some observations made in Fenton v. Thorley & Co., Ltd., No. 2264, ante, in the House of Lords. But when those observations are carefully looked at, I think that they do not affect the authority of the insurance cases on the question before us. The point that was there being insisted on was that the remedies under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), were not to be limited by special contracts of insurance, & it was not suggested that what would have been an accident but for such limitations was not an accident under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37); in other words, compensation for an accident might be recoverable under that Act, although an action might not lie under the same circumstances upon an accident insurance policy. If injury is caused by an accident under the narrow standard of construction applied to insurance policies, a fortiori, it is so caused within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37) (COLLINS, M.R.).—WICKS v. DOWELL & CO., LTD., [1905] 2 K. B. 225; sub nom. WILKES v. DOWELL & CO., 74 L. J. K. B. 572; 92 L. T. 677; 53 W. R. 515; 21 T. L. R. 487; 49 Sol. Jo. 480; 7 W. C. C. 14, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Rodger v. Paisley School Board (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 547; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410. Reld. Hughes v. Clover, Clayton, [1909] 2 K. B. 798; Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440; Coyle (or Brown) v. Watson, [1915] A. C. 1; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Mentd. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 848.

2266. Meaning of injury.]—WOODCOCK v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. CO., No. 4085, post.

B. Questions of Law and Fact.

2267. Question of law—Whether facts found constitute an accident.]—FENTON v. THORLEY & CO., LTD., No. 2264, ante.

2268. —— Inference to be drawn from facts found.]—GANE v. NORTON HILL COLLIERY CO., No. 2559, post.

2269. —— ——.]—READ v. BAKER, No. 2632, post.

2270. Question of fact—Whether accident in fact happened.]—On July 31, 1923, a workman was carrying bags of cement upstairs, when, according to his evidence, a bag seemed to twist round his back. He went home & was confined to the house for three months. The county ct. judge, after hearing conflicting medical evidence as to whether the man's condition was due to the accident or not, found that no accident had in fact happened to the workman on July 31, or on any other day :—Held : it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—BAFFA v. MONGIAT (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 163, C. A.

2271. —— Whether accident occurred in course of employment.]—JOHNSON v. TORRINGTON (OWNERS), No. 2277, post.

C. What are Personal Injuries by Accident.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1).

2272. Epileptic fit.]—WICKS v. DOWELL & Co., LTD., No. 2265, ante.

2273. Intrusion of foreign body into eye.]—Whilst a dock labourer was unloading a cargo of bran, some of the bran blew into his eye. There was grit in the bran, & this, by his constantly rubbing his eye, produced an abrasion of the cornea. In the end, his eye had to be removed. The county ct. judge found that the injury was due to an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding.—ADAMS v. THOMPSON (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Bellamy v. Humphries (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 53.

2274. ——.]—Appct. was a youth about nineteen years of age, in the employment of resps. as an apprentice turner. On Sept. 11, 1918, he was engaged in turning a steel piston when a piece of steel flew off & entered his eye. He went to an eye hospital, & it was found that a piece of steel had lodged under his eyelid, & it was removed. He was prescribed for at the hospital & received from the dispensary some drops & a lotion. Appct. attended as an out patient at the hospital for a considerable time, using the drops & the lotion. On Oct. 19, 1918, when appct.'s eye was very much inflamed, he was seen by a doctor, & again on Nov. 1. The doctor had therefore not seen appct. until considerably more than a month after the accident happened to him. Ultimately the eye had to be removed, which took place on Nov. 5. The doctor's view was that, as he could find no mark of any actual injury to appct.'s eye, he was driven to the conclusion that the inflammation must be attributed, not to the foreign body which had undoubtedly been in the eye, but to tuberculosis. The doctor gave evidence however on cross-examination to the effect that he was quite aware that inflammation would follow the presence in the eye of such a foreign body as a piece of steel, but that as he could not find any abrasion on the eye he thought that there was some other cause, such as tuberculosis, for the inflammation.

It was decided by the county ct. judge that the injury to appct.'s eye had resulted in its removal & that it was "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of" appct.'s employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1. Resps. appealed :—Held : there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could come to the conclusion at which he did in favour of appct., the doctor's evidence as to the cause of the inflammation being merely conjectural.—STANSBY v. AYRTON & Co. (1919), 122 L. T. 149 ; 12 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

(b) Nervous Shock.

2275. May amount to accident.]—Nervous shock causing incapacity to work is as much "personal injury by accident" as a broken limb or other physical injury.

A nervous shock caused by the excitement & alarm resulting from a fatal accident to a fellow workman while engaged in the employment :—Held : to be a case of "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—YATES v. SOUTH KIRKBY, ETC. COLLIERIES, LTD., [1910] 2 K. B. 538 ; 79 L. J. K. B. 1035 ; 103 L. T. 170 ; 26 T. L. R. 596 ; 3 B. W. C. C. 418, C. A.

(c) Exposure to Heat, Cold, etc.

2276. Exposure to heat—Furnace.]—A workman, in a weak & emaciated condition, while raking out ashes from under the boiler in the stokehole of a steamship received a heat stroke from the effect of which he died :—Held : this was a case of death by accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—ISMAY, IMRIE & Co. v. WILLIAMSON, [1908] A. C. 437 ; 77 L. J. P. C. 107 ; 99 L. T. 595 ; 24 T. L. R. 881 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 713 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 232, H. L.

Annotations :—Apld. Morgan v. S.S. Zenaida (1909), 25 T. L. R. 446 ; Dotzauer v. Strand Palace Hotel (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 387. Consd. Clover, Clayton v. Hughes, [1910] A. C. 242 ; Eke v. Hart-Dyke, [1910] 2 K. B. 677 ; Warner v. Couchman (1910), 103 L. T. 693. Distd. Karemaker v. S.S. Corsican (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 295. Consd. Kelly v. Auchenlea Coal Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 417 ; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667. Folld. Maskery v. Lancashire Shipping Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 428. Apld. Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 635. Consd. M'Ardle v. Swansea Harbour Trust (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 733. Distd. Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691 ; Dennis v. Mid. Ry. (1921), 90 L. J. P. C. 144. Apld. Harris v. Thomas (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 105. Reid. Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440 ; Lee v. Stag Line (1912), 107 L. T. 509 ; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410.

2277. —— ——.]—A fireman on board ship was seen frequently drinking water while in the stokehole. Soon after he was found to be very ill ; he next became unconscious & died. No post mortem was held, & the medical evidence as to the cause of death was conflicting. The judge came to the conclusion, there being medical evidence to that effect, that the cause of death was cerebral hæmorrhage, caused by the heat & the drinking of excessive quantities of water :—Held : the question as to whether or not the workman did in fact sustain a personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment was one of fact for the judge, & there had not been any misdirection.—JOHNSON v. TORRINGTON (OWNERS) (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 68, C. A.

2278. —— ——.]—An engineer, aged nineteen, employed in the engine-room on a steamship, sailing in the tropics, collapsed from heat stroke, & subsequently died. The temperature of the

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (a).

2273 i. Intrusion of foreign body into eye.]—While engaged in chipping the burs from a steel plate with a cold-chisel, pltf. was injured by a piece of the steel so chipped off, striking him in the eye & destroying its sight :—Held : the injury was an accident within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1902.—NEVILLE v. KELLY BROTHERS & MITCHELL, LTD. (1907), 5 W. L. R. 427 ; 13 B. C. R. 125.—CAN.

a. Poisoned blisters caused by using pick.]—CARR v. PORT-GLASGOW BURGH, [1923] S. C. 844.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (c).

b. Exposure to heat—Workman running upstairs.]—A canvasser & collector, who to get his work done in time had to hurry up many flights of stairs, became overheated & took a chill, which developed into pleurisy, & incapacitated him from work :—

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (c) & (d).]

engine room was 114 degrees Fahrenheit. There was evidence that deceased was physically unsuited to withstand the normal heat of a tropical climate:—Held: the death resulted from an accident arising out of his employment.—MASKERY v. LANCASHIRE SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 428.

Annotations:—Distd. Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691. Refd. Harris v. Thomas (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 105.

2279. —— Sunstroke.]—Appct., an ordinary seaman, while engaged in painting the vessel when she was lying at a port on the coast of Mexico was incapacitated by sunstroke. The medical evidence was to the effect that a seaman painting the outside of a ship is running a greater risk of sunstroke than when employed on deck, because he not only gets the direct rays of the sun, but he also gets the reflected rays from the ship's side:—Held: his injury arose by accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & he was entitled to compensation.—MORGAN v. ZENAIDA (OWNERS) (1909), 25 T. L. R. 446; 2 B. W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Warner v. Couchman, [1911] 1 K. B. 351. Distd. Karemaker v. S.S. Corsican (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 295; Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691. Consd. Harris v. Thomas (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 107. Refd. Davies v. Gillespie (1911), 105 L. T. 494; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Colliery Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 454.

2280. —— ——.]—Appct., while engaged for several hours in superintending the loading the cargo posted on the unsheltered deck of resp.'s vessel at a port in the West Indies, had an attack of sunstroke, which resulted in his being incapacitated for work:—Held: appct. was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), he having by reason of the nature of his occupation been exposed to a greater risk of sunstroke than other persons.—DAVIES v. GILLESPIE (1911), 105 L. T. 494; 28 T. L. R. 6; 56 Sol. Jo. 11; 5 B. W. C. C. 64, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127.

2281. —— ——.]—A seaman employed as a stoker on board a ship died from heatstroke while going through the Red Sea. For four or five days before his death he had complained of the heat, which was admittedly excessive, & although he felt ill he continued working, being persuaded to do so in order to lessen the strain upon his fellow-workers. On the fifth day he collapsed while at work in the stokehold, & was taken up on deck, where he died. Upon an application by his widow against the owners of the ship for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: his death was not the result of an "injury by accident" within the meaning of the Act, & no compensation was payable.—PYPER v. MANCHESTER LINERS, LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 691; 85 L. J. K. B. 1459; 115 L. T. 406; 32 T. L. R. 723; 60 Sol. Jo. 706; 9 B. W. C. C. 580, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Harris v. Thomas (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 105.

2282. Exposure to cold & damp.]—WARNER v. COUCHMAN, No. 2604, post.

2283. ——.]—KAREMAKER v. CORSICAN (OWNERS), No. 2609, post.

2284. ——.]—Upon an application for compensation by the widow of a miner the arbitrator found that, owing to a wreck in the shaft of No. 2 pit where deceased was working, deceased & his fellow workers were ordered to ascend to the surface by the shaft of No. 1 pit, this being the downcast shaft for the air current which ventilated the mine; that they were kept waiting at a mid-landing for an hour & a half until the men who usually ascended by this shaft had been raised, & were exposed to a cold down draft; that as the result of this exposure the deceased caught a chill which brought on pneumonia from which he died:—Held: the death resulted from the exposure consequent on the wreck in shaft No. 2 & there was evidence to support the finding of the arbitrator that deceased sustained an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.—COYLE (OR BROWN) v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1915] A. C. 1; 83 L. J. P. C. 307; 111 L. T. 347; 30 T. L. R. 501; 58 Sol. Jo. 533; 7 B. W. C. C. 259, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Barbeary v. Chugg (1914), 84 L. J. K. B. 504; Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1; Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Refd. Aitken v. Finlayson, Bousfield & Co., (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 918; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Mentd. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Mitchell, [1917] A. C. 592; Janvier v. Sweeney, [1919] 2 K. B. 316; Hambrook v. Stokes, [1925] 1 K. B. 141.

2285. ——.]—A man was employed as a pilot to take a ketch out of harbour. Having piloted her out, he attempted to get into his own boat, towing astern of the ketch, in order to go ashore. He jumped in, alighting somewhere near the bows of the boat, with the result that they went under water, & he was wetted to the thighs. He was pulled aboard the ketch again. He ultimately got ashore in the boat. Subsequently he suffered from sciatica in consequence of this wetting:—Held: he was suffering from injury by "accident" & the accident arose "out of & in the course of" his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—BARBEARY v. CHUGG (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 504; 112 L. T. 797; 31 T. L. R. 153; 8 B. W. C. C. 37, C. A.

2286. ——.]—A man employed as a brusher in a mine was directed by the mine owners to bale out a large quantity of water which had accumulated at the pit's bottom owing to the breakdown of a pump which had occurred five days earlier. He was engaged in this work, which necessitated

Held: there was no accident.—M'MILLAN v. SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 346; 50 Sc. L. R. 220; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 484; 6 B. W. C. C. 345.—SCOT.

2282 i. Exposure to cold & damp.]—An attack of rheumatism, contracted by a workman in the course of his employment, is not an injury by "accident" within the meaning of Workers' Compensation Act, 1902.—SYLLELEDIS v. ARAPAKIS (1909), 11 W. A. L. R. 50.—AUS.

2282 ii. ——.]—A workman was employed in a millrace, where he had to work for a fortnight up to his knees in water. As a result he contracted inflammation of the kidneys & died:—Held: this was a personal injury by accident.—SHEERAN v. CLAYTON (F. & J.) & CO., LTD. (1909), 44 I. L. T. 52; 3 B. W. C. C. 583.—IR.

2282 iii. ——.]—A pump in a wet pit having been stopped in order that a defect might be repaired, water accumulated in the pit bottom & rose to the knees of certain miners, who, in consequence of the rising water, had left their work & were waiting for the cage to take them to the pit-head. One of the miners, in consequence of this immersion, contracted a chill, upon which, after he had done some work on three subsequent days, pneumonia ensued, from which he ultimately died:—Held: this was an accident.—ALLOA COAL CO., LTD. v. DRYLIE (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398.—SCOT.

2282 iv. ——.]—A miner, in order that he might be among the first to ascend the shaft, stood in an accumulation of water at the pit bottom for some thirty minutes instead of waiting on dry ground till his turn to ascend came. Had he waited he might have reached the cage comparatively dry. He had recently often been wetted due to the continual breakdown of pumps. He contracted a chill. Deafness followed as the result & rendered him totally unfit for work:—Held: the incapacity was not due to an injury by "accident."—M'LUCKIE v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1913] S. C. 975; 50 Sc. L. R. 770; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 61; 6 B. W. C. C. 850.—SCOT.

c. —— Twenty-four hour shift—Usual in the employment.]—MAGUIRE his standing up to his chest in water, for eight hours, with the result that he contracted subacute rheumatism. Upon a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the arbitrator found that the rheumatism was caused by the extreme & exceptional exposure to cold & damp to which the man was subjected on the occasion in question & awarded him compensation :—Held : the injury was sustained by accident within the Act.—GLASGOW COAL CO., LTD. v. WELSH, [1916] 2 A. C. 1 ; 85 L. J. P. C. 130 ; 114 L. T. 809 ; 32 T. L. R. 359 ; 60 Sol. Jo. 336 ; 9 B. W. C. C. 371, H. L.

Annotations :—Apld. Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61. Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Refd. Lyons v. Woodilee Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 655 ; Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691 ; Fenton v. Kelvin (Owners), [1925] 2 K. B. 473.

2287. ——.]—A brusher, having finished his night's work, went to the bottom of the pit shaft to be taken to the surface just at a time when the daily statutory inspection of the shaft was beginning. The inspection, which generally took half an hour going down, that morning took an hour owing to the breakdown of the bell wire. During that time the workman was standing about in a strong current of cold air. He contracted a chill & pneumonia intervened, from which he died. The arbitrator found that although the cause of the man's death arose out of & in the course of his employment, nevertheless it was not due to an "accident." He had chosen to break off work so as to bring himself to the bottom of the shaft just at the time that he knew the daily inspection took place, & breakdown of the bell wire was too remote a cause of delay to fill up the chain of causation. He made his award, therefore, in favour of resps. : —Held : it was competent on the evidence for the arbitrator to find that deceased was not injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.—LYONS v. WOODILEE COAL & COKE CO., LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. P. C. 137 ; 117 L. T. 65 ; 61 Sol. Jo. 490 ; 10 B. W. C. C. 416, H. L.

Annotation :—Expld. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765.

2288. ——.]—An engine driver, who had to take out an early train on a bitterly cold morning in Mar., was called late by a fellow workman, employed on night work, who habitually knocked him up on his way home. This was an arrangement between themselves, with which the co. had nothing to do. He had only time to put on his clothes hurriedly, & did not stop to get his overcoat or anything to eat. Insufficiently clad, & without his usual food, he drove his engine, with the result that he contracted a chill, & pneumonia followed from which he died :—Held : there was no accident, & therefore no injury by accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). —DENNIS v. MIDLAND RY. CO. (1921), 90 L. J. P. C. 144 ; 125 L. T. 545 ; 37 T. L. R. 623 ; 65 Sol. Jo. 511 ; 14 B. W. C. C. 71, H. L.

Annotation :—Refd. Hanniffin v. Fitzmaurice (1920), 14 B. W. C. C. 320.

2289. ——.]—A miner, who habitually worked underground, was employed to shovel snow during a blizzard at the top of the colliery tip which was high up on the side of the mountain. After working for about an hour & a half he went into a fireman's hut to warm himself. He & the other workmen were allowed to do this. After leaving the hut, he collapsed & died almost immediately. In arbitration proceedings the county ct. judge found that the death of the man was caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. From this decision the employers appealed on the ground that there was no evidence to support the finding of the judge, that the death was due to doing the heavy work in very severe weather, & that it was not work arising out of the employment. It was contended on behalf of the employers that the man, in doing the work, was doing nothing which would bring a greater risk on him than the risk which the ordinary public would experience :—Held : it was extraordinary to suggest that a man who was by reason of his employment instructed to do the heavy work of shovelling snow on a tip in a blizzard was undergoing exactly the same risk as that of the general public ; the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, & the appeal must be dismissed. —HEWITT v. PARTRIDGE JONES & PATON (JOHN), LTD. (1922), 128 L. T. 238 ; 15 B. W. C. C. 239.

2290. —— Shipwreck.]—FENTON v. KELVIN (OWNERS), No. 2939, post.

(d) Strain.

2291. Rupture.]—A workman was employed by defts. in the work of lifting & removing planks from a stack of timber ; one night there was rain & frost, & the planks became frozen together, the planks lower in the stack being more firmly frozen together than those above ; on the next day the workman began to work in the morning, & lifted & removed planks all day ; about 4 p.m., while trying to lift a plank, he ruptured himself.

The workman claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & the county ct. judge found that the injury was caused by the lifting of the plank, & was an injury by "accident" within the meaning of the Act :—Held : there was evidence of something fortuitous & unexpected upon which the county ct. judge might properly find that the injury was caused by "accident" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).—TIMMINS v. LEEDS FORGE CO., LTD. (1900), 83 L. T. 120 ; 16 T. L. R. 521 ; 2 W. C. C. 10, C. A.

Annotations : Refd. Roper v. Greenwood (1900), 83 L. T. 471 ; Boardman v. Scott & Whitworth (1901), 85 L. T. 502 ; Perry v. Baker (1901), 3 W. C. C. 29.

2292. — —.]—FENTON v. THORLEY & CO., LTD., No. 2264, ante.

2293. Strain caused by lifting weight.]—A woman who was employed as a box maker, was ordered to work upon boxes which were larger & heavier than those upon which she had previously worked. When she had finished some of the boxes & was working upon another, she suffered internal injury from the strain of the unusual exertion. The county ct. judge found that the injury did not arise from an "accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1) :—Held : the judge had properly found that the injury did not arise from an "accident" within the Act.—

---

v. UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, [1920] 27 C. L. R. 570.—AUS.

d. —— Engine driver insufficiently clad on snowy morning.]—Re WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1906, DENNIS v. MIDLAND RY. CO., [1920] 2 I. R. 154.—IR.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (d).

2293 i. Strain caused by lifting weight.] —A workman who merely by an effort in lifting suffers an injury which disables him from working has suffered an injury due to an accident within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. S., 1920.—HEWITSON v. ROBIN HOOD MILLS, LTD., [1924] 1 D. L. R. 206 ; [1924] 1 W. W. R. 143 ; 18 Sask. L. R. 9.—CAN.

2293 ii. ——.]—LOGAN v. JOHNS (1915), 34 N. Z. L. R. 881.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (d), (e) & (f) i.]

ROPER v. GREENWOOD & SONS (1900), 83 L. T. 471; 3 W. C. C. 23, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Boardman v. Scott & Whitworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 43. Dbtd. Fenton v. Thorley, [1903] A. C. 443.

2294. ——.]—It was the duty of a workman employed in a factory to remove the empty yard beams from looms. He had, in the ordinary course of duty, removed such a beam, weighing about 100 lbs., from a loom, & was in the act of lifting it on to his shoulder, when, finding that it was unevenly balanced, he gave it an extra lift up to get it on his shoulder. The sudden strain so caused had the effect of lacerating the muscles on the right side of his back. Before this occurrence he was in good health, & had not found anything wrong with his back. Upon a claim made by him for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge found that he had been injured by an "accident":—Held: the decision of the county ct. judge was correct.—BOARDMAN v. SCOTT & WHITWORTH, [1902] 1 K. B. 43; 71 L. J. K. B. 3; 85 L. T. 502; 66 J. P. 260; 50 W. R. 184; 18 T. L. R. 57; 4 W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Neville v. Kelly & Mitchell (1907), 1 B. W. C. C. 432.

Disease aggravated by accident.]—See Sub-sect. 1, C. (f) iii., post.

(e) Crimes of Violence.

2295. Assault—Stones thrown at engine.]—CHALLIS v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO., No. 2585, post.

2296. —— By employer.]—BLAKE v. HEAD, No. 2591, post.

2297. —— By fellow employee.]—The workman, while employed as a stoker by resp. co. on board their ship, was assaulted without provocation by an African stoker, who was also employed on the ship, while they were both engaged in wheeling barrows of hot ashes, & he claimed compensation for the incapacity resulting from his injuries. The county ct. judge found as a fact that although the assault was an intentioned act on the part of the aggressor, a risk of assault was inherent in the employment, as appct.'s work brought him into contact with this undisciplined African, & made an award in favour of appct.:—Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to justify the finding, & there was no misdirection.—PARKER v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 664; 134 L. T. 137; 18 B. W. C. C. 469, C. A.

2298. Murder or manslaughter—Of bank cashier.]—A cashier, while travelling in a railway carriage to a colliery with a large sum of money for the payment of his employers' workmen, was robbed & murdered. On an application by his widow for compensation:—Held: the murder was an "accident" from the standpoint of the person who suffered from it, & it arose "out of" an employment which involved more than the ordinary risk, & consequently the widow was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—NISBET v. RAYNE & BURN, [1910] 2 K. B. 689; 80 L. J. K. B. 84; 103 L. T. 178; 26 T. L. R. 632; 54 Sol. Jo. 719; 3 B. W. C. C. 507, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Murray v. Denholm (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 496. Apld. Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603. Consd. Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667. Refd. Weekes v. Stead (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1542.

2299. —— By drunken man.]—A carman was in charge of a horse & van which were standing in the street. A man in an intoxicated state approached the van & either touched or was apparently about to touch the horse when the carman warned him that the horse might hurt him. The drunken man then struck the carman a heavy blow, & before he could protect himself a second blow followed which felled him to the ground & caused his death. The assault was entirely unprovoked, & the assailant was subsequently tried & found guilty of manslaughter:—Held: the carman had suffered "injury by accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1.—MITCHINSON v. DAY BROTHERS, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; 82 L. J. K. B. 421; 108 L. T. 193; 29 T. L. R. 267; 57 Sol. Jo. 300; 6 B. W. C. C. 190, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Shaw (Glasgow) v. Macfarlane (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 382; Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729; Weekes v. Stead (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1542; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Refd. Nash v. S.S. Rangatira (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 590; Cooper v. N. E. Ry. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577; Parker v. Federal Steam Navigation Co. (1925), 134 L. T. 137.

2300. —— Of schoolmaster by pupils.]—An assistant master at an industrial school, whilst engaged in the performance of his duties, was assaulted by two of the pupils in pursuance of a preconcerted plan of attack & killed. A dependant of deceased claimed compensation from the managers of the school. The county ct. judge found that some of the boys were unruly & badly disposed & that deceased met his death by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: (1) the death was caused by accident; (2) there was evidence to support the finding of the arbitrator that the accident arose out of the employment.

(3) Construction of the Acts (see No. 2040, ante).—TRIM JOINT DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD OF MANAGEMENT v. KELLY, [1914] A. C. 667; 83 L. J. P. C. 220; 111 L. T. 305; 30 T. L. R. 452; 58 Sol. Jo. 493; 7 B. W. C. C. 274, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. KELLY v. TRIM JOINT DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD OF MANAGEMENT, 6 B. W. C. C. 921, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Expld. Weekes v. Stead (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1542. Consd. Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Reid v. British & Irish Steam Packet Co., [1921] 2 K. B. 319; Parker v. Federal Steam Navigation Co. (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 664. Refd. Shaw (Glasgow) v. Macfarlane (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 382; Clayton v. Hardwick Colliery Co. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 292; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insco. Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 873; Selvage v. Burrell, [1921] 1 K. B. 355; Samuel v. Dumas, [1924] A. C. 431. As to (2) Consd. Reid v. British & Irish Steam Packet Co., [1921] 2 K. B.

2293 iii. ——.]—A workman while engaged in the course of his employment in replacing a derailed coal hutch on the rails severely strained his back:—Held: an injury by accident.—STEWART v. WILSON & CLYDE COAL CO. (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 120.—SCOT.

e. Cerebral hæmorrhage.]—A workman, in the course of his ordinary & usual employment, over-exerted himself & eventually brought on an attack of cerebral hæmorrhage:—Held: an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, s. 1 (1).—M'INNES v. DUNSMUIR & JACKSON, LTD., [1908] S. C. 1021; 45 Sc. L. R. 804; 16 S. L. T. 214; 1 B. W. C. C. 226.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (e).

f. Assault—Gamekeeper injured by poachers.]—A gamekeeper, while in the discharge of his duties, was attacked by poachers & injured:—Held: a personal injury by accident.—ANDERSON v. BALFOUR (1910), 44 I. L. T. 168; 3 B. W. C. C. 588.—IR.

g. Murder or manslaughter—By rioters.]—Where a carter was shot dead at his work on his lorry in a street in a disturbed locality:—Held: death was due to personal injury by accident

319. Refd. Clayton v. Hardwick Colliery Co. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 292; Slade v. Taylor (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65; Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1; Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479; Allcock v. Rogers (1918), 118 L. T. 386; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410.

2301. —— By applicant for employment.]—W., was employed as foreman of the yard of a firm who carried on the business of furniture removers. Among his duties was that of deciding daily & weekly between competing persons for odd jobs. There was evidence that these appcts. for odd jobs contained among them men of a particularly rough class who, if disappointed of work, were likely to express resentment by rough language & rough acts towards the man who refused them. There was also evidence that W. had been assaulted by men to whom he had refused work, & similar evidence of assaults made on them was given by foremen of other yards in the same town. W.'s duty was also to let out vans to persons applying for them; but there was no evidence that he had ever been exposed to assault in connection with the letting out of vans. Among those who applied for odd jobs was S., who came to W. late at night & applied for a van for the next day. S. said that he was coming for the van at 6 a.m., but he did not come till 8.30 a.m., & by that time all the vans had gone out. At 3.30 p.m. S. came to the yard & assaulted W. by striking him on the mouth. They were separated but an hour later S. came back, & when W. had his back turned to him S. hit him twice on the side of the head, & then, as he was falling, struck him again so fiercely that W. died in the hospital two or three days afterwards:—Held: there was evidence to justify the finding that the accident to deceased workman arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" his employment, because there was a special risk of assault upon him which was incidental to that employment; &, therefore, the dependants of the deceased workman were entitled to compensation.—WEEKES v. STEAD (WILLIAM), LTD. (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1542; 111 L. T. 693; 30 T. L. R. 586; 58 Sol. Jo. 633; 7 B. W. C. C. 398, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729. Refd. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577.

(f) Disease.

i. Time and Place of Contraction.

Industrial diseases, see Sect. 22, post.

2302. Necessity for proof of—Lead poisoning.]—A workman, whose employment necessitated the handling of white & red lead, gradually accumulated lead in his system, with the ultimate result that he suffered from lead poisoning, which produced partial paralysis & incapacity for work. On appeal from an award of compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37):—Held: to bring a case within the Act there must be, by reason of sect. 2 (1), an injury by an accident of which notice can be given, & that, since it was not possible to indicate a time at which there was an accident which caused the injury to the workman, he was not entitled to an award under the Act.—STEEL v. CAMMELL, LAIRD & Co., LTD., [1905] 2 K. B. 232; 74 L. J. K. B. 610; 93 L. T. 357; 53 W. R. 612; 21 T. L. R. 490; 7 W. C. C. 9, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Marshall v. East Holywell Coal Co., Gorley v. Backworth Collieries (1905), 93 L. T. 360. Consd. Broderick v. L. C. C., [1908] 2 K. B. 807. Distd. Kelly v. Auchenlea Coal Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 417; Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1. Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Folld. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497. Refd. Eke v. Hart-Dyke, [1910] 2 K. B. 677; Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398.

2303. —— "Beat hand"—"Beat knee."]—One coal miner was incapacitated for work by "beat hand" & another by "beat knee." "Beat hand" is an injury caused by an abscess gradually produced by the jar, friction or pressure to the hand caused by using the pick & "beat knee" is an injury caused by an abscess in the knee gradually developed by long continued kneeling whilst at work. Both are common injuries in the ordinary course of work in a coal mine:—Held: the injuries were not caused by "accident" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).

To be an accident it must be something which is capable of being described as having occurred on a particular date (COLLINS, M.R.).—MARSHALL v. EAST HOLYWELL COAL CO., GORLEY v. BACKWORTH COLLIERIES (1905), 93 L. T. 360; 21 T. L. R. 494; 7 W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47.

2304. —— Sewer gas poisoning.]—Except in the case of the industrial diseases scheduled in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to which, by sect. 8 the provisions of the Act are to apply, unless appct. can indicate the time, the day, & circumstance & place in which the accident has occurred by means of some definite event, a disease cannot be treated as a personal "injury by accident" within sect. 1, sub-sect. 1, of the Act, & appct. is not entitled to compensation.

In July, 1909, a gardener & labourer & caretaker was ordered by his employer to open certain cesspools for the purpose of inspection, & was engaged in such work on four or five different days. Early in Aug. he became unwell, & on Aug. 23 saw a doctor, who thought he was suffering from the smell of paint. In Sept. another doctor saw him, & considered that he was affected with sewer gas poisoning. He died on Oct. 30, 1909, but no notice was given to his employer until Dec. 30. His widow took proceedings for compensation. The application for arbitration gave no date as to when the alleged accident occurred. It was admitted that the man's disease was obscure. The county ct. judge found that it was not possible to give any particular day as the date of the accident, but he decided that the man died from poisoning contracted whilst working on the cesspools, & that the employer was not prejudiced in his defence by want of notice; & he awarded compensation:—Held: (1) the second limb of proviso (a) in sect. 2 (1) of the Act had nothing to do with the prejudice caused to the employer by the want of notice, which was dealt with in the first limb, but said that the want of notice should not be a bar to proceedings for compensation if arising out of his employment.—NOBLE, LTD. v. CARRAGHER (1923), 57 I. L. T. 137.—IR.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (f) i.

h. Necessity for proof of—Fever contracted from handling sewage.]—A workman, in the employment of a board of guardians, as a machinery attendant, contracted typhoid fever from the handling of sewage from time to time. He died shortly after contracting the disease, & his widow claimed compensation from the guardians:—Held: as it was not possible to indicate a time & place at which there was an "accident" which caused the injury to the workman, he was not entitled to an award under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 s. 1 (1).—FINLAY v. TULLAMORE UNION GUARDIANS (1911), 7 B. W. C. C. 973.—IR.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (f) i., ii. & iii.] such want was occasioned by a reasonable cause; & under the circumstances there was "reasonable cause" for not giving the notice; (2) there had not been an accident within the meaning of the Act, the county ct. judge's finding was not sufficient to support his decision, & consequently no compensation was payable.—EKE v. HART-DYKE, [1910] 2 K. B. 677; 80 L. J. K. B. 90; 103 L. T. 174; 26 T. L. R. 613; 3 B. W. C. C. 482, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Martin v. Manchester Corpn. (1912), 106 L. T. 741. Distd. Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1. Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Refd. Warner v. Couchman, [1911] 1 K. B. 351; M'Millan v. Singer Sewing Machine Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 345; Sherwood v. Johnson (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 686; Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398; M'Luckie v. Watson (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 850; Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691; Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 134 L. T. 459.

2305. —— Fever contracted by hospital attendant.]—A porter in a scarlet fever hospital had an attack of influenza & returned to his work on Mar. 22. On Apr. 1 he was in the course of his duty in the scarlet fever wards, & he also cleaned the mortuary for the first time after his return. About three or four hours afterwards he was sick, & for the next three days he was very unwell. On Apr. 5, he was found to be suffering from scarlet fever. As a result of his illness his heart was affected & he suffered from nephritis, & at the date of the application he was totally incapacitated from work. He could not say that there had been in the mortuary shortly before the day he cleaned it any bodies of persons who had died from scarlet fever, but he said that it was very likely there had been:—Held: every hospital nurse or attendant who contracted scarlet fever did not suffer an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment, & as appct. had not satisfied the ct. that there was a particular time, place, & circumstance by means of which the "injury by accident" happened he was not entitled to an award.—MARTIN v. MANCHESTER CORPN. (1912), 106 L. T. 741; 76 J. P. 251; 28 T. L. R. 344; 10 L. G. R. 996; 5 B. W. C. C. 259, C. A.

*Annotations:—Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Refd. Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61.

2306. —— Dermatitis contracted by hairdresser.]—PETSCHETT v. PREIS, No. 2854, post.

2307. —— Blood poisoning.]—Where a workman claims that he has sustained "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, it is not necessary to establish that his total or partial incapacity for work has resulted from the injury in the sense that it was the natural & probable consequence of the injury. It is enough that it resulted from the injury although it was not the sole & unassisted consequence thereof. For, if the injury to some extent caused the incapacity, it is immaterial that some other cause has supervened & increased the incapacity by acting on the incapacity caused by the injury.

Where therefore appct., who was a furnace labourer in the employment of resps., & whose duty it was to fork & screen heaps of iron ore which had been calcined, came to his work on Feb. 18, 1917, with one of his hands cracked by frosty weather & at about 8 p.m. the previously existing cracks became an open wound & bled, & between that hour & 4 a.m. the following morning when appct. ceased work, septic poisoning was set up:—Held: the cause of appct.'s incapacity for work was septic poisoning due to microbes entering the frost cracked hand some time after 8 p.m. on Feb. 18, 1917, & 4 p.m. on Feb. 19, & appct. had accordingly sustained "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment.—SADDINGTON v. INSLIP IRON CO., LTD. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184; 118 L. T. 138; 62 Sol. Jo. 120; 10 B. W. C. C. 624, C. A.

*Annotations:—Folld. Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331. Consd. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279. Refd. Doolan v. Hope (1918), 119 L. T. 14; Comery v. New Hucknall Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 462; Williams v. Graigola Merthyr Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 227.

2308. —— —— Date fixed within reasonable limits.]—A workman employed in handling artificial manure, consisting mainly of bone dust, died from blood poisoning caused by his becoming infected through an abrasion on his leg by certain noxious bacilli, which were present in large numbers in bone dust, but were also found in the air & in other substances, though in a much lesser degree. It did not appear when or how he received the abrasion, & it was impossible to say with certainty when the infection occurred. The arbitrator found, as the result of the medical evidence, that the infection which caused the illness was derived from the poisonous germs contained in the bone dust which deceased handled in the course of his employment, & awarded compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: (1) the fortuitous alighting of the bacilli upon the abraded spot constituted an accident within the Act; (2) there was evidence upon which the arbitrator was entitled to find that the injury arose out of & in the course of deceased's employment; (3) the provisions of the Act as to fixing the date of the accident were satisfied if, having regard to the nature of the particular injury alleged, the date of the occurrence of the accident was reasonably fixed, so as to connect the injury with the accident.—INNES (OR GRANT) v. KYNOCH, [1919] A. C. 765; 88 L. J. P. C. 85; 121 L. T. 39; 35 T. L. R. 392; 63 Sol. Jo. 444; 12 B. W. C. C. 78, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Dennis v. Mid. Ry. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 542. Consd. Burrell v. Selvage (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1340; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331; Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497. As to (2) Consd. Walker v. Wynn, Timmins & Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 122.

2309. —— —— —— ——.]—Where a workgirl has received a series of scratches & cuts on her hands during her work, extending over a period of some months, the combined effect of which is to produce a septic condition incapacitating her from work, it is an injury "by accident" for which she is entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), although the times & places of the several scratches or cuts cannot be fixed & her condition cannot be attributed to any one particular injury.—BURRELL (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD. v. SELVAGE (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1340; 126 L. T. 49; 65 Sol. Jo. 734; 14 B. W. C. C. 158, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. SELVAGE v. BURRELL (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD., [1921] 1 K. B. 355, C. A.

*Annotation:—Distd. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497.

2310. —— Silicosis.]—The workman, a coalminer, had been employed since 1914 in boring rock. In Jan. 1922, he had to give up work on account of breathing trouble. He resumed work on two occasions, but had not been able to work since Apr. 1925. He was found to be suffering from silicosis due to breathing in particles of dust from the silica contained in the rock. Compensation for disablement from silicosis is provided for by the Silicosis Acts, 1918 & 1924, but these Acts admittedly did not apply to the circumstances of this case. The workman sought to recover compensation by contending that his incapacity had resulted from a series of minute accidents the accumulated effect of which had caused disablement from silicosis:—Held: the workman had not been injured by accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, & was not entitled to compensation.—WILLIAMS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, [1926] 1 K. B. 497; 95 L. J. K. B. 676; 134 L. T. 459; 18 B. W. C. C. 535, C. A.

ii. Diseases of Gradual Onset.

2311. Paralysis of leg.]—A workman gradually acquired paralysis of his right leg through the strain of riding a heavy carrier tricycle for his employers. At the end of five years the condition incapacitated him from work:—Held: the paralysis was not a personal injury by accident.—WALKER v. HOCKNEY BROTHERS (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 20, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765.

2312. Blood poisoning caused by continuous pressure of boot.]—The workman claimed compensation for incapacity due to blood-poisoning following a sore foot. His particulars of claim stated "wound on the third toe of left foot, caused by rubbing of boot which had previously become permeated by some bone manure used by resp. on his land." At the hearing of the arbitration, the case he set up differed, & was that he had knocked his toe against a seed drilling machine, & that the wound subsequently became poisoned by the manure which had saturated & dried into his boots some time before. The judge found that the injury sustained by appct. was caused by the pressure of a boot which had become too tight for him, & that this was not an accident, neither did it arise "out of" his employment, & so made an award in favour of resp.:—Held: the award of the county ct. judge was correct.—WHITE v. SHEEPWASH (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 382, C. A.

2313. Eczema caused by chemicals.]—A workman was employed to dip rings into a basin of carbon bisulphide with his fingers. He was affected with eczema, caused gradually by the exposure to fumes or splashes from the chemical. The county ct. judge found that this was not an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—EVANS v. DODD (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 305, C. A.

2314. Heart failure caused by continuous work.]—An officer was superintending loading a ship for several days. The work was practically continuous day & night & very hard. Six days after the ship left port the officer died of heart failure. There was medical evidence that the death was due to heart failure caused by the continuous strain of work. The county ct. judge found that there was no evidence of accident:—Held: there was no misdirection.—BLACK v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 720, C. A.

iii. Disease Aggravated or Accelerated by Accident.

2315. General rule.]—A workman, employed as a smith at the engineering works of applts., was holding a flatter on an anvil for a fellow workman to strike the flat end of the flatter. The fellow workman made a bad stroke & struck the rod or round part of the flatter & jarred the workman's hand, causing it to swell & bringing on gout in the hand. The workman had previously been attended for gout in the hand & elbow by a doctor, who was of opinion that the swollen hand was caused by gout brought on by the jar, & who also certified that the workman was suffering from a weak hand caused partially by the injury:—Held: the injury to the workman was caused by an "accident," & the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1, applied so as to entitle the workman to recover compensation under the Act.—LLOYD v. SUGG & CO., [1900] 1 Q. B. 481, 486; 69 L. J. Q. B. 190; 81 L. T. 768; 16 T. L. R. 65; 2 W. C. C. 5, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Walker v. Lilleshall Coal Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 481, 488. Refd. Roper v. Greenwood (1900), 83 L. T. 471; Timmins v. Leeds Forge Co. (1900), 83 L. T. 120; Boardman v. Scott & Whitworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 43; Higgins v. Campbell & Harrison, Turvey v. Brintons, [1904] 1 K. B. 328.

2316. Workman with aneurism—Rupture due to strain.]—A workman suffering from serious aneurism was employed in tightening a nut by a spanner when he suddenly fell down dead from rupture of the aneurism. The county ct. judge found upon conflicting evidence that death was caused by a strain arising out of the ordinary work of deceased operating upon a condition of body which was such as to render the strain fatal:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & it was a case of "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—CLOVER, CLAYTON & CO., LTD. v. HUGHES, [1910] A. C. 242; 79 L. J. K. B. 470; 102 L. T. 340; 26 T. L. R. 359; 3 B. W. C. C. 275; sub nom. HUGHES v. CLOVER, CLAYTON & CO., 54 Sol. Jo. 374, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440; Hawkins v. Powells Tillery Steam Coal Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 988. Apld. Trodden v. McLennard (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 190. Distd. Spence v. Baird (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 542. Folld. M'Ardle v. Swansea Harbour Trust (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 733. Consd. Maxwell v. Ruabon Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 428. Refd. Barnabas v. Bersham Colliery Co. (1910), 102 L. T. 621; Yates v. South Kirby, etc. Collieries, [1910] 2 K. B. 538; Groves v. Burroughes & Watts (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 185; Beaumont v. Underground Elec. Rys. of London (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 247; Euman v. Dalziel (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 900; Noden v. Galloways, [1912] 1 K. B. 46; Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398; Broforst v. S.S. Blomfield (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 613; Doughton v. Hickman (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 77; Mitchinson v. Day (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 421; Aitken v. Finlayson, Bousfield (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 918; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Kerr (or Lendrum) v. Ayr Steam Shipping Co., [1915] A. C. 217; Woods v. Wilson (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1067; Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh, [1916] 2 A. C. 1; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410; Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765; Treasure v. Cardiff Collieries (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 28; Clark v. Lord Advocate (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 320; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331.

2317. ——— ———.]—A workman, who was fifty years of age, had been employed at resps.' tin sheds for ten years. On Oct. 5, 1914, while shifting tinplates from a pile to a trolly, he stood on the trolly & was pulling a box weighing 2 cwt. towards him with a tool when his hands let go & he fell backwards dead off the trolly on to the floor. His death was discovered by a post-mortem examination to have been caused by rupture of an aneurism of the aorta. Sticking the tool into & drawing the box forward was the easiest part of the work; the heaviest was lifting the boxes when the shed heap had got lower than the heap on the trolly. The medical evidence was to the effect that it was the continued strain of ten years' work & the walls of the arteries gradually getting weaker accounted for the condition of the workman; that the strain in pulling the box forward was quite sufficient to cause the rupture of the aneurism, that being the culminating point; & that the cause of his death was the natural & inevitable termination of his disease, the final burst being practically instantaneous:—Held: there was clearly an "accident" within the meaning of the statutory provision as construed by the House of Lords in Fenton v. Thorley & Co., Ltd., No. 2264, ante, & the facts of the present case were practically indistinguishable from those of Clover, Clayton & Co., Ltd. v. Hughes, No. 2316, ante.—M'ARDLE v. SWANSEA HARBOUR TRUST (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 733; 113 L. T. 677; 8 B. W. C. C. 489, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (f) iii. & iv., & (g).]

Annotation:—Refd. Andrews v. Highley Mining Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 192.

Meaning of "accident."]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, A., ante.

2318. —— No evidence that aneurism caused or accelerated by accident.]—A workman with degenerate arteries, whose work was very heavy, fell out of a railway truck on to his head on the line. He resumed work in three weeks, but shortly afterwards became incapacitated again, & was found to be suffering from an aneurism. He claimed compensation on the ground that the accident had caused or accelerated the aneurism. The judge found that the accident had accelerated the aneurism, basing his finding on the fact, as he said, that a swelling, a symptom of the aneurism, had appeared within four weeks of the accident. In truth, the only evidence as to the swelling was that it appeared seven weeks after the accident, & there was no evidence that the aneurism had been in existence at the time of the accident:—Held: the judge had misdirected himself, & the case must be reheard.—TAYLOR v. BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 130, C. A.

2319. Abnormally sensitive skin—Injury caused by washing with caustic soda.]—A scullion at an hotel was the subject of a disease, erythro-melalgia, affecting his skin, & making it abnormally sensitive. On the day he commenced work he washed up crockery for a number of hours in a tank containing hot water, soft soap, & caustic soda. His hands became greatly inflamed, his nails came off, & he was disabled for four & a half months:—Held: it was an accident; "the mere circumstance that a perfectly healthy man would not have met with it is no answer at all."—DOTZAUER v. STRAND PALACE HOTEL, LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 387, C. A.

2320. Rupture—Aggravated by strain.]—A workman wearing a truss, sufficient to keep an existing hernia up under ordinary circumstances, was employed to attend to a furnace. His duties involved the heavy work of raking, poking, & coaling the fire. He went home to dinner as usual, & appeared to be quite well, but shortly after he returned to work he was found in great pain. He died soon afterwards & medical evidence showed that his death was due to strangulated hernia. The county ct. judge drew the inference that the injury was caused by an accident arising out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference.—SCALES v. WEST NORFOLK FARMERS' MANURE & CHEMICAL CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 188, C. A.

2321. —— ——.]—A brewer's assistant was lifting a heavy cask standing on a shelf five feet from the ground, when he felt a severe internal strain & became faint & sick. He afterwards found that he had ruptured himself. Twenty-two years before he had had a rupture in the same place, for which he wore a truss for many years, but during the last five or six years he had left it off, as he found he could do his work without it. The county ct. judge held that, although there was injury by accident, it did not arise out of the employment, as it was the result of a gradual weakening, & not of any unusual strain:—Held: there was misdirection. "Accident" having been found, the evidence proved that it arose out of the employment.—BROWN v. KEMP (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 725, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331.

2322. Diseased arteries—Apoplexy caused by exertion.]—A fireman, after having been for some time at work shovelling coal & raking fires in the stokehole of a steam ship, had an apoplectic stroke. The medical evidence went to prove that the man was in a diseased condition, & that such a stroke would be likely to be brought on by such exertion. The cy. ct. judge drew the inference that the injury was caused by accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was evidence to support the inference.—BROFORST v. BLOMFIELD (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 613, C. A.

2323. Appendicitis—Death by peritonitis following blow.]—When an arbitrator is sitting with a medical assessor he has a right to act upon the advice of the assessor on matters of medical opinion & medical inference, even if there is no corresponding opinion on the part of the medical witnesses.

A workman was engaged in a lighter in coaling a ship. He was in the act of filling a basket held between his body & a heap of coal when a rush of coal came which either hit him in the stomach or knocked the basket against his stomach, & he was unable to go on with his work. He sat down in great pain, & shortly afterwards went home. He was attended for four days by his own doctor, & was then sent to the infirmary, where an operation was performed, & a perforation of the bowel was discovered. At the same time it was ascertained by the operating surgeons that he had been suffering from chronic appendicitis. Three days afterwards he died from peritonitis, & during a post mortem examination another perforation of the bowel was discovered. The county ct. judge found that the accident caused acute injury to the weakened bowel, & that the injury so caused graudually produced perforation & so accelerated his death. He accordingly made an award in favour of the workman's widow:—Held: there was evidence on which it was competent for the judge to make the award.—WOODS v. WILSON, SONS & CO., LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1067; 113 L. T. 243; 31 T. L. R. 273; 59 Sol. Jo. 348; 8 B. W. C. C. 288, H. L.

2324. Latent tuberculosis—Made acute by accident.]—(1) A workman while in his master's employment, suffered in July a serious accident which affected his brain & general health, & he died in the following Dec. A post mortem examination showed that he died from acute tuberculosis which had been latent for some time, but there was medical evidence that the tuberculosis might have been accelerated or aggravated by his lowered state of vitality due to the accident :—Held : there was evidence on which the county ct. judge could properly find that the death resulted from the accident which set up the disease from which the workman died.

(2) Deceased's wife said that deceased returned home on Oct. 14, & he stated that he had been out that evening & collapsed while out & got wet through :—Held : this statement was not admissible in evidence, & was properly rejected by the county ct. judge.—BEARE v. GARROD (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 717 ; 113 L. T. 673 ; 8 B. W. C. C. 474, C. A.

Annotation :—As to (2) Consd. Sharp v. Loddington Ironstone Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 229.

iv. Particular Diseases.

Industrial diseases, see Sect. 22, post.

Diseases of gradual onset, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, C. (f) ii., ante.

2325. Blood poisoning.]—A miner was employed in hewing coal, & while so employed a piece of coal worked itself into his knee, with the result that blood poisoning set in & the workman died :—Held : his death was the result of an "injury by accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1.—THOMPSON v. ASHINGTON COAL CO., LTD. (1901), 84 L. T. 412 ; 65 J. P. 356 ; 17 T. L. R. 345 ; 3 W. C. C. 21, C. A.

See, also, Nos. 2307-2309, ante.

2326. Anthrax.]—BRINTONS, LTD. v. TURVEY, No. 3799, post.

2327. Enteritis.]—(1) A workman contracted enteritis from inhaling sewer gas in the course of his employment :—Held : this was not a case of "injury by accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1) ; (2) the decision in Brintons, Ltd. v. Turvey, No. 3799, post, is not to be taken as involving the doctrine that all diseases contracted by a workman in the course of his employment are to be regarded as accidents within Workmen's Compensation Acts.—BRODERICK v. LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL, [1908] 2 K. B. 807 ; 77 L. J. K. B. 1127 ; 99 L. T. 569 ; 24 T. L. R. 822 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 219, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Eke v. Hart-Dyke, [1910] 2 K. B. 677. Consd. Kelly v. Auchenlea Coal Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 417. Apld. Martin v. Manchester Corpn. (1912), 106 L. T. 741 ; Finlay v. Tullamore Union Grdns. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 973. Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Refd. Sherwood v. Johnson (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 686 ; Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398 ; Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61.

2328. Cattle ringworm.]—A woman employed as a farm servant to tend & feed calves contracted cattle ringworm, a contagious disease with which the calves were infected, & was thereby incapacitated for work. She claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the ground that she had sustained an "injury by accident." It was admitted that the calves were infected with the disease, which was not an industrial disease within the Act. At the suggestion of the county ct. judge the cross-examination of appct. & her witnesses was reserved. The judge thereupon awarded in favour of the employer on the ground that no injury by accident had been proved :—Held : on appeal, the disease might have been caused by an accident or series of accidents as in Brintons Ltd. v. Turvey, No. 3799, post, & the facts had not been sufficiently ascertained for the determination of the question. If a definite time, place, & occasion could be assigned for the contracting of the disease, & if the occasion were a part, but an unusual part, of the employment, an illness so produced might be deemed an "injury by accident." The case must be remitted to the county ct. for further trial.—SCOTT v. PEARSON, [1916] 2 K. B. 61 ; 85 L. J. K. B. 825 ; 114 L. T. 833 ; 32 T. L. R. 412 ; 60 Sol. Jo. 428 ; 9 B. W. C. C. 229, C. A.

2329. Poisoning from noxious fumes.]—Men were employed by applts. to ladle molten metal into moulds. The shift usually worked for some quarter of an hour & then had to go into the fresh air in order to avoid being poisoned by the noxious fumes that they came into contact with in the course of their work. On Feb. 20, 1920, the fumes were very bad indeed, & one of the workmen complained of feeling ill from that cause. Three days later his doctor certified that he was suffering from lead poisoning, & the man claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8, but subsequently abandoned the claim as his incapacity was not in fact due to lead poisoning or to any industrial disease within that sect. He then, on Aug. 6, gave notice of accident & made a claim for incapacity as the result of an accident on Feb. 20. The county ct. judge found that the great accumulation of gas on Feb. 20 was accidental & that the incapacity from bronchial asthma was the result. He therefore awarded compensation. Upon the point of delay in giving notice he found that on the whole evidence the employers had not been prejudiced. Upon this point there was evidence that the employers knew the full circumstances from the beginning :—Held : there was evidence to support the findings on both the question of accident & notice & no misdirection.—HARRIS v. THOMAS & CO. (1921), 11 B. W. C. C. 107, C. A.

(g) Effect of Previous Injury.

2330. Previous accident—Contributing cause to subsequent accident.]—NODEN v. GALLOWAYS, LTD., No. 2797, post.

2331. —— ——.]—Appct., a collier, had his leg fractured by accident underground on May 6, 1919. He was paid compensation for a time & then returned to work for over a year. On Oct. 13, 1920, he was walking across a common not in the course of his employment, when he trod on a stone & fell, breaking his leg again in the same place. He claimed compensation on the ground that the second accident would not have happened but for the first. The county ct. judge came to the conclusion that long before the second accident, appct. had recovered full capacity, but that there was some weakness remaining after the first accident which contributed to the second accident. He could not, however, find as a fact that the second accidental injury would not have happened but for such weakness, though that was possible. He held that appct.'s incapacity was attributable to the PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (I) iv.

k. Poisoning from noxious fumes — Bad ventilation.]—SCOTLAND v. CANADIAN CARTRIDGE CO. (1919), 45 O. L. R. 586 ; 48 D. L. R. 655 ; 16 O. W. N. 255.—CAN.

l. —— Unexplained presence of fumes—Presumption in favour of workman.]—KELLY v. AUCHENLEA COAL CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 864.—SCOT.

m. Tetanus—From wound in foot of gardener—Foot pierced by nail through boot.]—WALKER v. MULLINS (1908), 42 I. L. T. 168 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 211.—IR.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (g).

n. Previous accident — Hernia — Subsequent strangulation.]—WALKER v. MURRAYS, [1911] S. C. 825 ; 48 Sc. L. R. 741 ; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 448 ; 4 B. W. C. C. 409.—SCOT.

o. —— Wrenched knee — Subsequent broken cartilage.]—A workman, rising from a kneeling position, in which he had been at work, felt a pain in his knee. The cartilage was found to be ruptured. He had wrenched his knee three years before, & been incapacitated for a time, but had thereafter worked without difficulty second accident & not to the accident of May, 1919, & that the fact that the first accident may have contributed to the second accident did not in law render resps. liable to compensate appct. on account of his present incapacity. He accordingly made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support & no misdirection.—ROBERTS v. BROUGHTON & PLAS POWER COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 186, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (g); sub-sect. 2, A. & B. (a) i.]

Annotation:—Folld. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279.

SUB-SECT. 2.—ARISING OUT OF, OR IN THE COURSE OF THE EMPLOYMENT.

A. In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1).

2332. "Out of the employment."]—A workman was injured by a practical joke of his fellow workmen, who placed the hook of a crane in his necktie & lifted him from the ground. The necktie broke & he fell to the ground, receiving serious injuries:—Held: he was not entitled to compensation from his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), as the accident did not arise "out of & in the course of the employment."

The words "out of & in the course of the employment" are used conjunctively, not disjunctively. . . . The words "out of" point, I think, to the origin or cause of the accident; the words "in the course of" to the time, place, & circumstances under which the accident takes place. . . . It must be an accident resulting from a risk reasonably incident to the employment (BUCKLEY, L.J.).—FITZGERALD v. CLARKE (W. G.) & SON, [1908] 2 K. B. 796; 77 L. J. K. B. 1018; 99 L. T. 101; 1 B. W. C. C. 197, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Craske v. Wigan, [1909] 2 K. B. 635. Refd. Murray v. Denholm (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 496; Rodger v. Paisley School Board (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 547; Frazer v. Riddell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 841; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Mentd. Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792.

2333. ——.]—PLUMB v. COBDEN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., No. 2415, post.

2334. ——.]—THOM (OR SIMPSON) v. SINCLAIR, No. 2619, post.

2335. ——.]—DAVIDSON (CHARLES R.) & CO. v. M'ROBB OR OFFICER, No. 2339, post.

2336. ——.]—A workman was employed to proceed by train from A. station to B. station, thence to walk in a public road to a water main, repair the main, & return via B. to A. On the return journey he waited on B. platform for the train. It was a wet & windy morning. The train came in; he went hurriedly across the platform to get into the carriage, slipped, fell, injured his knee, & subsequently died as the result. The platform was an ordinary one & was not specially slippery. In proceedings by the dependant in the county ct. it was admitted that the accident arose in the course of the employment. The county ct. judge held that there being no particular peril upon the platform which could be said to have caused the accident, the accident did not arise out of the employment. This decision was affirmed by the Ct. of Appeal, & a further appeal was made to the House of Lords:—Held: there was a causal relation between the accident & the workman's employment, & therefore the accident, which admittedly happened in the course of the employment, also arose out of the employment.

"Arising out of" no doubt imports some kind of causal relation with the employment; but it does not logically necessitate direct or physical causation. . . . That the accident should have arisen out of his fulfilment of these conditions [of employment] seems to be all that is required to establish the only kind of causation that is demanded. . . . If in the course of his employment a workman meets with injury by an accident which has arisen directly out of circumstances encountered because to encounter them fell within the scope of the employment, compensation may be claimed (LORD HALDANE).—UPTON v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO., [1924] A. C. 302; 93 L. J. K. B. 224; 130 L. T. 577; 40 T. L. R. 204; 68 Sol. Jo. 251; 16 B. W. C. C. 269, H. L.

2337. "In the course of the employment."]—FITZGERALD v. CLARKE (W. G.) & SON, No. 2332, ante.

2338. ——.]—MOORE v. MANCHESTER LINERS, LTD., No. 2547, post.

2339. ——.]—(1) The chief engineer of a ship lying in a part of a public harbour which had been taken over temporarily by the Admlty. & was closed to the public, & to which access was granted only by an Admlty. pass, went ashore on leave for purposes of his own. On returning to the ship after dark he fell from the quay & was drowned:—Held: the control of the Admlty. did not make the quay the provided access to the ship & the accident was not shown to have arisen out of the employment.

"Arising out of the employment" obviously means arising out of the work which the man is employed to do & what is incident to it, in other words, out of his service (LORD FINLAY, C.).

(2) Semble: "In the course of the employment" does not mean during the currency of the engagement, but means in the course of the work which the workman is employed to do & what is incident to it; & absence on leave for the workman's own purposes is an interruption of the employment.

"In the course of the employment" must mean similarly in the course of the work which the man is employed to do, & what is incident to it, in other words, in the course of his service (LORD FINLAY, C.).—DAVIDSON (CHARLES R.) & CO. v.

---

until this occasion, although he at times felt pain when getting up from kneeling:—Held: the workman had suffered injury by accident.—BORLAND v. WATSON, GOW & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 15; 49 Sc. L. R. 10; [1911] 2 S. L. T. 327; 5 B. W. C. C. 514.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

2332 i. "Out of the employment."]—In order for an accident to have been one "arising out of" a workman's employment within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1908, it must have been an accident arising out of the nature of the work itself.—MARTINEAU v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY., [1926] 2 D. L. R. 858; [1926] 2 W. W. R. 113; 22 Alta. L. R. 142.—CAN.

p. —— Wrong & dangerous method of doing work.]—An accident to a workman may be attributable to his adopting a wrong & dangerous method of doing work which could be done safely, & at the same time may be an "accident arising out of & in the course of the employment" in the sense of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, s. 1.—DURHAM v. BROWN BROTHERS & CO., LTD. (1898), 1 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 279; 36 Sc. L. R. 190; 6 S. L. T. 239.—SCOT.

q. Accident occurring elsewhere than in, on or about the work.]—To found a claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, Sask., claimant must show, & this is a question of fact, that he suffered the accident while employed "on, in or about" the "work," & the "work" means something having geographical boundaries.—PATTERSON v. ROURKE, [1923] 2 D. L. R. 328;

M'ROBB OR OFFICER, [1918] A. C. 304; 87 L. J. P. C. 58; 118 L. T. 451; 34 T. L. R. 213; 62 Sol. Jo. 347; 10 B. W. C. C. 673, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. OFFICER v. DAVIDSON (CHARLES R.) & Co. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 480.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Philbin v. Hayes (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 779; Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757; Hewitson v. St. Helens Colliery Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 230; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302; Wilson v. Lyle (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 731. Refd. Heffernan v. Secretary of State for War (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 424; Stevens v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 756; Wilson v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 19; Matthews v. Pomeroy (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 136. As to (2) Consd. Hewitson v. St. Helens Colliery Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 230; Wilson v. Lyle (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 731. Refd. Heffernan v. Secretary of State for War (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 424; Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844; Clark v. Lord Advocate (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 320. Generally, Mentd. Wild v. Brown, [1919] 1 K. B. 134.

2340. ——.]—ST. HELENS COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. HEWITSON, No. 2364, post.

B. Commencement and Termination of Course of Employment.

(a) Where no Means of Conveyance provided by Employer.

i. In General.

2341. Accident on way to or from work—Crossing railway lines—Deviation by workman for own purpose.]—BENSON v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. Co., No. 2379, post.

2342. —— —— User with knowledge of employer.]—A workman employed as a fitter's labourer had the choice of three ways to his employers' works, the shortest way & one most frequently used by the workmen being along a railway track. The employers knew of the use of this way by their workmen, & did not forbid it. The workman, while going to work by this way, was injured by a passing locomotive engine:—Held: the accident arose "out of & in the course of the employment," & although the way taken was dangerous, it was recognised by the employers, & was not a peril added to the employment by the workmen so as to disentitle him to compensation.—FOX v. REES & KIRBY, LTD. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 43; 115 L. T. 358; 9 B. W. C. C. 459, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472.

2343. —— —— User by permission of railway company.]—A colliery workman at the end of his day's work left the colliery & went to catch a train at a railway station about 700 yards away. He left the colliery by a road, & about half way to the station got on to the railway line, & was continuing his way along the line when he was caught by a train & killed. He could have gone all the way to the station by the road, which was a very slightly longer route. The colliery men generally made use of the line in going to & from their work. They used it by permission of the railway co., but this permission was not given at the request of the employers or by arrangement with them:—Held: the accident did not arise either "out of" or "in the course of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—WHITTALL v. STAVELEY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985; 117 L. T. 130; 61 Sol. Jo. 523; 10 B. W. C. C. 298, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. & Distd. Morgan v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefold (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 192. Refd. Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Colliery Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 454.

2344. —— Customary way across employers' property.]—A workman who was proceeding to his employers' works took a route, that he had been the habit of using for many years, along a footpath which ran across a vacant piece of land & then on to a railway line & so on to the works. The property in the vacant piece of land was vested in the employers. While on this footpath, at a distance of little short of a quarter of a mile from the place where the workman was to go, he slipped on some ice & injured his ankle:—Held: the workman had no right to go, & his employers could not confer upon him any right to go, along the railway line; another route existed by which he had ready access to his work; & therefore the accident could not be deemed to have arisen "in the course of" his employment.—GILMOUR v. DORMAN, LONG & Co., LTD. (1911), 105 L. T. 54; 4 B. W. C. C. 279, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Stewart (1912), Ltd. v. Longhurst, [1917] A. C. 249. Distd. Redford v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 850. Refd. Graham v. Barr & Thornton (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 412; Davidson v. M'Robb (or Officer), [1918] A. C. 304.

2345. —— ——.]—A miner, proceeding to his work along a footpath prepared by the employers for the workmen's convenience, slipped on some steps at a point about a mile away from the place of employment. There was evidence that the employers knew the steps were not safe:—Held: the accident did not arise in the course of the employment.—WALTERS v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO. (1911), 105 L. T. 119; 55 Sol. Jo. 579; 4 B. W. C. C. 303, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Fox v. Rees & Kirby (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 43. Distd. Redford v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 850.

2346. —— ——.]—The circumstance that the soil of a footpath which a workman used as a member of the public was vested in his employer was held not to render an injury that he sustained through slipping & falling while passing along the footpath on his way to his employment an "injury by accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 53), s. 1, so as to entitle him to compensation under that Act.—WILLIAMS v. ASSHETON SMITH (1913), 108 L. T. 200; 6 B. W. C. C. 102, C. A.

2347. —— ——.]—The workman, a collier, was walking from his work at the pit & had crossed a bridge over a railway siding of the colliery co., & continued along a footpath over a brickyard which belonged to the employers, when he caught his foot on some obstacle, fell down, & fractured a thigh. The county ct. judge said that the brickyard was not necessarily part of the colliery premises, & the workman had left the admitted place of employment & was walking along the footpath just as any member of the public might walk

---

[1923] 1 W. W. R. 1128; 16 Sask. L. R. 341.—CAN.

r. —— In or about an engineering work.]—CORNEA v. NATIONAL PAVING & CONTRACTING CO. (1916), 33 W. L. R. 462; 9 W. W. R. 1059.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (a) i.

2341 i. Accident on way to or from work—Crossing railway lines—Deviation by workman for own purpose.]—HALEY v. UNITED COLLIERIES, [1907] S. C. 214.—SCOT.

t. —— ——.]—A workman who was employed as haulage man in a coal mine, & whose duties were entirely underground, had finished his work for the day, & was returning homewards by a track at the side of a branch railway belonging to the colliery, when, at a place about 400 yards from the shaft mouth & 280 yards from the colliery office, he was knocked down & killed by a passing engine:—Held the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—GRAHAM v. BARR & THORNTON, [1913] S. C. 513; 50 Sc. L. R. 391; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 180; 6 B. W. C. C. 412.—SCOT.

a. —— Travelling pay allowed—Deviation for own purpose.]—MULLIONS v. ELTHAM, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 697.—N.Z.

b. —— —— Injury on public road.]

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, B. (a) i & ii., & (b).]

along it, & therefore the employers were not liable as the accident did not arise in the course of the employment:—Held: the case must go back for re-trial, as it was not possible to apply the law to it until the questions whether the brickfields were part of the colliery premises & whether the foot-path over them was a public right of way, &, if it was, under what circumstances was the workman using it, had been answered by the county ct. judge.—HARVEY v. WEST CANNOCK COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556, C. A.

2348. —— Postman on way to first pillar box.]—A postman, whose first duty was to collect letters from a certain pillar box at 4 p.m., was on Sept. 6, 1923, riding a bicycle, as he was permitted to do, to the pillar box from his home which was three miles away from that pillar box. He was wearing his uniform & was carrying his keys & postman's bag. He habitually signed on as at 4 p.m., & therefore his week of 40 hours was calculated as from that time. From the time when he left the office at night until he reached the pillar box he was not under any control. At 3.40 p.m., before he reached the pillar box, he met with a street accident which resulted in his death. In arbitration proceedings by the widow the county ct. judge found on the facts that there was no implied contract that the employment should begin when the postman left his house & that in fact it began at 4 p.m. when he reached the pillar box, & that the accident did not arise in the course of the employment. Appct. appealed:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—EVANS v. POSTMASTER-GENERAL (1924), 132 L. T. 137; 40 T. L. R. 856; 69 Sol. Jo. 9; 17 B. W. C. C. 151, C. A.

2349. Commercial traveller—Accident on way home after canvassing.]—DICKINSON v. BARMAK, LTD. (1908), 124 L. T. Jo. 403, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Gilmour v. Dorman, Long (1911), 105 L. T. 54.

ii. Reasonable Interval of Time and Space.

2350. General rule.]—Applt., a workman, while working in resps.' colliery was, for disobedience of orders, suspended from work, pending an inquiry into the matter by the under-manager of the colliery. It appeared that men were not allowed to remain in the workings of the colliery when not at work; & the practice was for a workman who was suspended while at work to go to the pit bottom, i.e., the bottom of the shaft in which the cage worked, by which access to or egress from the mine was obtained. Applt., when he was suspended, went into a place called a "pass-by," at the side of the tramway leading to the pit bottom. While sitting there he was ordered by the deputy to go to the pit bottom. He remained however in the pass-by, where, about two hours later, a fall from the roof took place, by which he was injured. If applt. had gone to the pit bottom as directed, he could not have got out of the mine till the cage went up in the ordinary course, which was later than the time at which the accident happened. Upon a claim by applt. for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of applt.'s employment:—Held: there was evidence upon which he was entitled so to find.

While the workman is leaving the place where he is employed, I think that, for the purposes of this Act, his employment would still continue. But though his employment may continue for an interval after he has actually ceased working, yet there must come a time when he can no longer be said to be engaged in his employment in such a way that an accident happening to him can be said to have arisen out of & in the course of his employment (COLLINS, M.R.).—SMITH v. SOUTH NORMANTON COLLIERY CO., [1903] 1 K. B. 204; 72 L. J. K. B. 76; 88 L. T. 5; 67 J. P. 381; 51 W. R. 209; 19 T. L. R. 128; 5 W. C. C. 14, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Johnson v. Marshall, [1906] A. C. 409.

2351. ——]—GANE v. NORTON HILL COLLIERY CO., No. 2559, post.

2352. Coming to work—Workman crossing railway siding.]—A workman who is injured in a place not under his employer's control while going to or returning from his work is not within the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).

A firm of contractors, under a contract with a railway co. for the widening of their line, were ballasting a siding which was separated from the main line by several lines of rail. The siding could only be reached by walking for a considerable distance through the premises of the railway co., & the workmen were advised by the contractors, with the authority of the railway co., to enter the premises by a gate, from which a path led by the side of the railway to the siding which was being ballasted; it was not necessary, while following this route, to go upon the main line. On a foggy morning, seven minutes before the hour for the commencement of the day's work, a workman in the employ of the contractors, while on his way to his work at the siding, was run over & killed on the main line about 150 yards from the locality of his work:—Held: it was no part of the contract of employment that the employment should include the time taken in getting to & from the work, under the circumstances the contractors owed no duty to the workman while proceeding to his work, & therefore the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment of the workman within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).—HOLNESS v. MACKAY & DAVIS, [1899] 2 Q. B. 319; 68 L. J. Q. B. 724; 80 L. T. 831; 47 W. R. 531; 15 T. L. R. 351; 43 Sol. Jo. 476; 1 W. C. C. 13, C. A.

Annotations:—Dbtd. & N.F. Stewart (1912), Ltd. v. Longhurst, [1917] A. C. 249. Consd. Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Refd. Coldrick v. Partridge, Jones, [1909] 1 K. B. 530; Riley v. Holland, [1911] 1 K. B. 1029; Fox v. Rees & Kirby (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 459; Whittall v. Staveley Iron & Coal Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985; Evans v. Postmaster-General (1924), 132 L. T. 137.

2353. —— Collier crossing foot bridge erected by employers.]—This bridge is one of the expedients for shortening the way of the workmen to their

—BROWN v. UNION S.S. CO., [1925] N. Z. L. R. 246.—N.Z.

c. —— Climbing spiked railings to reach his work when gate locked.]—GIBSON v. WILSON (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 661.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (a) ii.

2350 i. General rule.]—The course of a workman's employment embraces all the time occupied in coming, going, & stopping for any purpose ancillary to his work.—EVANS v. BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTRIC RY. CO. (1914), 29 W. L. R. 435; 7 W. W. R. 121.—CAN.

d. Coming to work—Miner crossing rails belonging to employer.]—MACKENZIE v. COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD. (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 8; 41 Sc. L. R. 6; 11 S. L. T. 350.—SCOT.

e. —— Workman using path provided by employer.]—NICOL v. YOUNG'S PARAFFIN LIGHT & MINERAL OIL CO., LTD., [1915] S. C. 439; 52 Sc. L. R. 354; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 159; 8 B. W. C. C. 395.—SCOT.

f. Leaving work—Workman crossing railway line of employers.]—A workman, employed at a coal mine, work. Apparently, according to the finding of the county ct. judge, this man had got to one of the erections, put up for the express purpose of enabling the workmen to get to the premises. The man was on his way to the premises. I do not agree that his employment only begins at the moment he strikes the coal with his pick. I think the man was really in the employment at the moment he reached the bridge, he was doing something on his masters' behalf, that is to say he was on his way to the colliery for the purpose of working; he was going to get his lamp (LORD HALSBURY, C.). —CROSS, TETLEY & CO., LTD. v. CATTERALL (1905), [1926] 1 K. B. 488, n.; 134 L. T. 135, n.; 18 B. W. C. C. 445, n., H. L.

Annotations :—Expld. Sharp v. Johnson, [1905] 2 K. B. 139; Hoskins v. Lancaster (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 476; Stewart (1912), Ltd. v. Longhurst, [1917] A. C. 249. Consd. Davidson v. Officer (1918), 87 L. J. P. C. 58; Harvey v. West Cannock Colliery Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556; Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Refd. Nicol v. Young's Paraffin Light & Mineral Oil Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 395.

2354. —— Collier passing through iron gate on employers' premises.]—Each case must depend upon its own facts as to the reasonable interval of time & space during which a workman's employment lasts. It must not be taken that the protection of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), extends to workmen on any part of the employers' property.

Appct., a collier, who was employed at resps.' colliery, in order to get to his work had to pass through an iron gate which was on resps.' premises, & which was 100 yards from the lamp room where appct. had first to go. While appct. was passing through the iron gate it slammed & caught & injured him :—Held : the accident arose out of & in the course of appct.'s employment, & he was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—HOSKINS v. LANCASTER (1910), 26 T. L. R. 612; 3 B. W. C. C. 476, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Williams v. Assheton Smith (1913), 108 L. T. 200.

2355. Leaving work—Leaving ship for dock side.]—A seaman discharged at the end of a voyage, had for the purpose of going ashore to descend by a ladder fixed to his employers' ship berthed at a floating stage, known as a dolphin, in the river Thames in order to step on the dolphin. It was moored in the river quite close to the ship & at a distance of 33½ feet from the quay, with which it was connected by a permanent bridge. In so doing the seaman fell from the dolphin into the river & was drowned :—Held : the dolphin was a structure forming part of the dock premises, & the seaman had "landed" from the ship; & that being so the accident did not arise "in the course of" the seamen's employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, & therefore his dependant was not entitled to recover compensation under that Act.—COOK v. MONTREAL (OWNERS) (1913), 108 L. T. 164; 29 T. L. R. 233; 57 Sol. Jo. 282; 6 B. W. C. C. 220, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1915] A. C. 51; Stewart (1912), Ltd. v. Longhurst, [1917] A. C. 249. Consd. Davidson v. M'Robb (or Officer), [1918] A. C. 304. Refd. Harvey v. West Cannock Colliery Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556.

2356. —— ——.]—A seaman on board a ketch, which was lying in W. harbour, was employed in unloading the cargo. When the ketch was at W. he slept on shore. After his work for the day was finished he left the ketch by a plank, one end of which rested on the ketch & the other on a rung of an iron ladder permanently fixed to the quay & belonging to the harbour authorities. Whilst ascending the ladder he slipped & fell into the harbour & injured his foot. The county ct. judge found that the ladder was the proper means of access to the ketch & that the accident arose out of & in course of the employment :—Held : there was evidence to support this finding.—WEBBER v. WANSBOROUGH PAPER CO., LTD., [1915] A. C. 51; 84 L. J. K. B. 127; 111 L. T. 658; 30 T. L. R. 615; 58 Sol. Jo. 685; 7 B. W. C. C. 795, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. Davidson v. M'Robb (or Officer), [1918] A. C. 304; Harvey v. West Cannock Colliery Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556. Refd. Barbeary v. Chugg (1915), 112 L. T. 797; M'Lean v. Macbrayne (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 687; Stewart (1912), Ltd. v. Longhurst, [1917] A. C. 249.

2357. —— ——.]—A carpenter, who was employed in repairing a barge lying in dock, after finishing his day's work started on a dark night to walk along the quay to the dock gates, but fell off the quay & was drowned. The dock was private property & was not open to the public, but the man's employers & their workmen had leave to pass through the dock on their way to & from the barge. A claim for compensation by the widow was disallowed by the county ct. judge on the ground that at the time of the accident the relationship of master & servant had ceased :—Held : inasmuch as the man was on the dock premises solely by virtue of his contract of service, the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment.—STEWART (JOHN) & SON (1912), LTD. v. LONGHURST, [1917] A. C. 249; 86 L. J. K. B. 729; 116 L. T. 763; 33 T. L. R. 285; 61 Sol. Jo. 414; 10 B. W. C. C. 266, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. LONGHURST v. STEWART (JOHN) & SON (1912), LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 803, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Spencer v. Liberty (Owners) (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1381. Consd. Blake v. Ramsay (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 500; Whittall v. Staveley Iron & Coal Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985. Distd. Davidson v. M'Robb (or Officer), [1918] A. C. 304. Consd. Harvey v. West Cannock Colliery Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556; Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Refd. Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 121 L. T. 258; Simpson v. Bolsover Colliery Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 173; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302; Wilson v. Lyle (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 731. Mentd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 495.

(b) Where Means of Conveyance provided by Employer.

2358. Railway owned by employer—Use optional.]—DAVIES v. RHYMNEY IRON CO., LTD. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 329; 2 W. C. C. 22, C. A.

Annotations :—Folld. Walters v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 89. Apprvd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Refd Coldrick v. Partridge, Jones, [1910] A. C. 77; Parker v. Pout (1911), 105 L. T. 493; Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26.

2359. —— Used by direction of employer.]—An engine cleaner, who had been employed by a railway co. at their station at K., was directed by his employers to work in a new engine shed at H., about four miles distant. The workman, who lived near K., was conveyed by the railway co.

---

had finished his day's work, & was proceeding home along a private line of railway occupied by the colliery, when he was run over & killed at a point 230 yards distant from the place where he worked :—Held : the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment of the workman within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, s. 1 (1).—CATON v. SUMMERLEE & MOSSEND IRON CO. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 989.—SCOT.

g. —— By an unusual way.]—The mere fact that a workman at the time the accident occurs is leaving his employer's works by a way other than that usually used, does not preclude an arbitrator from finding that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, s. 1 (1).—M'KEE v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO. (1908), 42 I. L. T. 132; 1 B. W. C. C. 165.—IR.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, B. (b).]

free of charge in one of their trains to their station at H., reaching there a short time before the hour for commencing work in the shed, & was taken back free of charge at the end of his day's work. While crossing the line at the station at H. in order to get to his work in the engine shed, & shortly before the hour at which work began, he was killed by a passing train:—Held: the employment of the workman commenced when he got into the train to be conveyed to his work, & not on his arrival at the engine shed, & the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).—HOLMES v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO., [1900] 2 Q. B. 409; 69 L. J. Q. B. 854; 83 L. T. 44; 64 J. P. 532; 48 W. R. 681; 16 T. L. R. 412; 2 W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Consd. Taylor v. MacAlpine & Southern Ry. (1924), 130 L. T. 793. Apprvd. Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302. Refd. Gane v. Norton Hill Colliery Co., [1909] 2 K. B. 539.

2360. ——.]—Where a workman is injured by an accident while being conveyed to his work in a train which is actually the property of his employers, & in which he has no right to be except by virtue of his employment, the employment may be deemed to have commenced & the workman be entitled to compensation, notwithstanding that the use of the train by the workman was not obligatory.—HOWELLS v. POWELL DUFFRYN STEAM COAL CO., [1926] 1 K. B. 472; 95 L. J. K. B. 654; 134 L. T. 129; 70 Sol. Jo. 184; 18 B. W. C. C. 427, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Harvey v. West Cannock Colliery Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 556.

2361. Train provided by agreement with railway company—As implied term of contract of service.]—Where a claim for compensation is made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, it is still as necessary as before to establish that the accident arose not only out of but "in the course of" the employment.

A number of colliers lived about six miles from the colliery in which they were employed. A train, composed of carriages belonging to the employers, but driven by a railway co.'s men, conveyed free of charge the colliers from their home to a platform erected by the employers on land belonging to the railway co., & took them back again. The platform was under the control of the employers & was used exclusively by the colliers, who walked from there along a high road to the colliery, which was about a quarter of a mile away. A collier, whilst waiting on the platform for the return train, was knocked down in a rush for seats, & was killed by the train:—Held: it was an implied term of the contract of service that the trains should be provided by the employers, & that the colliers should have the right, if not the obligation, to travel to & fro without charge; & therefore the employment began when the colliers entered the train in the morning & ceased when they left the train in the evening, & the employers were liable; but it did not follow that every workman was entitled to the protection of the Act whenever an accident happened to him on his way from his home to his employer's place of business.—CREMINS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD., [1908] 1 K. B. 469; 77 L. J. K. B. 326; 98 L. T. 335; 24 T. L. R. 189; 52 Sol. Jo. 146; 1 B. W. C. C. 160, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners), [1910] 2 K. B. 555. Distd. Edwards v. Wingham Agricultural Implement Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 596. Folld. Walton v. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 592. Consd. Morgan v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefold (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 192. Overd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Consd. Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Refd. Gane v. Norton Hill Colliery Co., [1909] 2 K. B. 539; Parker v. Pout (1911), 105 L. T. 493; Williams v. Assheton Smith (1913), 108 L. T. 200; Whitfield v. Lambert (1915), 112 L. T. 803; Longhurst v. Stewart (1912), Ltd., [1916] 2 K. B. 803; Whittall v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 130; Taylor v. McAlpine & Southern Ry. (1924), 130 L. T. 793; Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111.

2362. —— ——.]—A collier, living six miles from the pit where he worked, travelled free of charge to & from his work on a train provided by a railway co. at the instance of the employers. By an agreement the collier indemnified the employers against loss from accident on the journey, & agreed to desist from exercising the privilege of travelling by the train whenever his employers required him to do so. In getting into this train for the journey home the collier was killed by an accident:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—WALTON v. TREDEGAR IRON & COAL CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 592, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Price v. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. (1914), 111 L. T. 688; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59; Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26.

2363. —— —— Accident after leaving train & proceeding to work.]—A collier travelled from home to his work by a special train provided by the railway co. at the cost of the employers, & from the point where he left the train he had to walk some distance to the colliery level. He went by a route which took him across a farmyard, by permission of the farmer, & while crossing the yard on a dark & frosty morning slipped on some ice & fell injuring his right leg:—Held: the employment having begun, according to the decision in Cremins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefold, Ltd., No. 2361, ante, when the workman entered the train, there was no break in it between the time of leaving the train & reaching the pit, as there was no deviation from a usual & recognised route, & therefore the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—MORGAN v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLD, LTD. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 192; 128 L. T. 239; 15 B. W. C. C. 245, C. A.

2364. —— —— No obligation on servant to use train.]—A workman employed at a colliery was injured in a railway accident while travelling in a special colliers' train from his work to his home at M. By an agreement between the colliery co. & the railway co. the railway co. agreed to provide special trains for the conveyance of the colliery co.'s workmen to & from the colliery & M., & the colliery co. agreed to indemnify the railway co. against claims by the workmen in respect of accident, injury or loss while using the trains. Any workman who desired to travel by these trains signed an agreement with the railway co. releasing them from all claims in case of accident, & the colliery co. then provided him with a pass & charged him a sum representing less than the full amount of the agreed fare, & this sum was deducted week by week from his wages:—Held: there being no obligation on the workman to use the trains, the injury did not arise in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).

A workman is acting in the course of his employment when he is engaged "in doing something he was employed to do." Or what is, in other & I think better words, in effect the same thing, namely, when he is doing something in discharge of a duty to his employer, directly or indirectly, imposed upon him by his contract of service. The true ground upon which the test should be based is a duty to the employer arising out of the contract of employment but it is to be borne in mind that the word "employment" as here used covers & includes things belonging to or arising out of it (LORD ATKINSON).

The man is not in the course of his employment unless the facts are such that it is in the course of his employment, & in performance of a duty under his contract of service that he is found in the place where the accident occurs. If there is only a right & there is no obligation binding on the man in the matter of his employment there is no liability (LORD WRENBURY).—ST. HELENS COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. HEWITSON, [1924] A. C. 59; 93 L. J. K. B. 177; 130 L. T. 291; 40 T. L. R. 125; 68 Sol. Jo. 163; sub nom. HEWITSON v. ST. HELENS COLLIERY CO., LTD., 16 B. W. C. C. 230, H. L.

Annotations:—Folld. Taylor v. McAlpine & Southern Ry. (1924), 130 L. T. 793. Consd. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111. Distd. Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Folld. Newton v. Guest Keen & Nettlefolds (1926), 135 L. T. 386. Refd. Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2365. ——— ——— ———.]—The construction of a road from D. to S. was undertaken by the Minister of Transport with a view to affording work for the unemployed in the London area. By an agreement between the Minister of Transport & applts., Sir R. M. & co., the construction of the section of the road S. to the east was placed with Sir R. M. & co. on condition that they should employ only men from the London area. It was agreed that the Minister of Transport should pay the travelling expenses of the men employed & provide the travelling facilities, but Sir R. M. & co. were to give the men at the end of each day's employment a voucher in return for which they would be able to receive a return railway ticket. The Minister of Transport then entered into an agreement with the other applts., the Southern Railway co., to provide trains to carry the men to S., the payment of the fares to be made by the Minister of Transport. The Southern Railway issued workmen's return tickets, printed on the back of which was a condition that the liability of the railway in case of personal injury should be restricted to the sum of £100. The trains by which the employed men travelled could be used by any one who purchased a ticket though he had no voucher. Resp. to this appeal was employed by Sir R. M. & co., & received on Aug. 21, 1922, a workmen's return ticket from London Bridge to S. in exchange for a voucher given to him by Sir R. M. & co. He alighted at M. & some of his fellow workmen were killed, & others injured while attempting to cross the line, & he assisted the railway staff in succouring them, but whilst so engaged they were run into by a train & he received very severe injuries. He applied in Feb. 1923, for compensation, & made the Southern Railway co. third parties to his claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 56), s. 6 (2). The county ct. judge decided that under that sect. & sub-sect. the railway co. were liable to pay to Sir R. M. & co. the whole amount of any compensation awarded against them, notwithstanding the restriction of their liability to £100 as that sub-sect. provided for indemnity; on the claim he awarded compensation of £1 per week with war additions on the ground that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment. Sir R. M. & co. & the third parties both appealed against the decision that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment & the award made:—Held: there being no evidence of contractual obligation on the part of Sir R. M. & co. to provide facilities for the workmen to get to & from the work or on the part of the workmen to make use of the facilities which were provided, & as it had very recently been laid down by the House of Lords that where there was no duty on the part of workmen to use the facilities provided, the employers could not be charged with responsibility during the use of those facilities, this accident did not arise in the course of the employment, there being no contract of employment at all until the workman reached S.—TAYLOR v. MCALPINE & SONS & SOUTHERN RY. CO. (1924), 130 L. T. 793; 17 B. W. C. C. 26, C. A.

2366. ——— ——— ———.]—A colliery labourer was employed by resps. at their colliery. He lived three & a quarter miles from the colliery, which was on a high hill, the road from his house to the colliery being an open mountain road with ponds & bogs along the route. In winter thick fogs hung over the mountain. Resps., over thirty years ago, to enable them to form a shift as early as 7 a.m., provided trains by which the miners could travel to the colliery. These trains were run by the Great Western Railway Co., under an agreement between them & resps. The colliery agent, in evidence, said that the men were expected to travel by these trains. The coaches & platform were owned by resps. On Oct. 18, 1923, the workman, whilst crossing the line about 5.35 a.m. to join one of these trains to travel to the colliery, was knocked down by a light engine, & as a result of the injuries he received, his left leg had to be amputated. The county ct. judge found that the only practicable & reasonable means of access to the colliery for appct. was the train provided by resps., & held that it was therefore the man's duty to travel by this train & consequently that the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: there was no evidence on which it could be found that it was part of the workman's duty to use the train whenever he went to & from the mine, & therefore it formed no part of his contract of employment; the accident consequently did not arise in the course of his employment.

There is no doubt that the test of duty . . . is the accepted basis on which these questions ought to be dealt with (LORD CAVE, C.).—NEWTON v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. (1926), 135 L. T. 386; 70 Sol. Jo. 689; 19 B. W. C. C. 119, H. L.

Annotation: Distd. Howells v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472.

2367. Ticket provided by employers—No obligation on servant to use train.]—The employers, ship scalers, gave a workman a return ticket to the dock railway station, telling him to report himself on board a ship at 7 a.m. in the morning. The workman made use of the ticket. On arriving at the dock he mistook the position of the gangway, & falling between the dock wall & the ship was injured. His day's pay would have begun from the time he reported himself on board the ship. Neither dock, ship, nor gangway were under the control of his employer. The county ct. judge on an arbitration between the workman & the employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), found that the giving of the return railway ticket was merely a gratuitous concession by the employers, & that it was in no way obligatory on the workman to go or to return from his work by train:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—NOLAN v. PORTER & SONS (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 106, C. A.

2367 i. Ticket provided by employers—No obligation on servant to use train.]—M'PHERSON v. REID, M'FARLANE & CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 359.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub sect. 2, B. (b), (c) & (d), & C.]

Annotations:—Consd. Edwards v. Wingham Agricultural Implement Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 596. Apprvd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Howitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Reld. Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26.

2368. Conveyance provided by farmer—To convey newly engaged workman.]—A shepherd newly engaged by a farmer was killed by falling from a waggon which had been sent by the farmer to the shepherd's home, situate several miles from the farm, for the purpose of conveying him with his family & furniture to the cottage that he was to occupy during his employment:—Held: although there was a contract of service between the farmer & the shepherd, the employment of the latter did not commence when he left his home in the waggon belonging to the farmer, but would have commenced at the earliest period of time when he would have entered on his duties as a shepherd if he had not met with the accident which caused his death; therefore, the accident did not arise "out of & in the course of the employment" of deceased. —WHITBREAD v. ARNOLD (1908), 99 L. T. 103; 1 B. W. C. C. 317, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Whitfield v. Lambert (1915), 112 L. T. 803.

2369. Boat provided by employer—Only means of transit.]—A workman, whose only method of getting to & from work was by means of a boat supplied by his employer, was drowned by falling from the boat as he was returning at the usual hour:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—MOLE v. WADWORTH (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 129, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Edwards v. Wingham Agricultural Implement Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 596.

2370. —— ——.]—A workman was employed on an island at yearly wages & board & lodging, & it was part of his contract of service that he should be allowed at reasonable times to cross to the mainland to visit his wife, & be taken across in his employer's boat for that purpose. He met with an accident whilst in the boat on his way home, from the effects of which he died:—Held: the accident arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" the employment, & his widow was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—RICHARDS v. MORRIS, [1915] 1 K. B. 221; 84 L. J. K. B. 621; 110 L. T. 496; 7 B. W. C. C. 130, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26. Reld. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

2371. Bicycle provided by employer—Use by employee not obligatory.]—In a claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by the dependants of a deceased workman, it appeared that he was employed as an engine driver & was paid by the hour, his work consisting in going round from farm to farm with an engine & threshing machine belonging to his employers, to do the threshing, to look after the interests of his employers, & solicit orders from farmers. For these purposes he was supplied by his employers with a bicycle to use in travelling between his work & his home & between the farms in his district. He also had to make up a daily sheet giving the name of the farmer using the machine, & the number of hours worked, lost time, moves, & flagmen. He was not bound to use the bicycle, but the evidence showed that the use of a bicycle was part of the arrangement & a term of the contract of engagement. On Sept. 25, 1912, his work having ended at 6 p.m., he proceeded to go home on his bicycle. On the way home he came into collision with a motor lorry & sustained injuries from which he died the next day:—Held: the employment ended at 6 o'clock & it was not part of his duty to ride home on the bicycle, therefore the accident did not arise in the course of the employment.—EDWARDS v. WINGHAM AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT CO., LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 596; 82 L. J. K. B. 998; 109 L. T. 50; 57 Sol. Jo. 701; 6 B. W. C. C. 511, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Philbin v. Hayes (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 85.

(c) Arrival on Premises before Time of Employment.

2372. General rule.]—A number of the workmen employed on certain building work in the county had to come down from London each day by a train which brought them to the place of employment about twenty minutes before the time fixed for commencing work in the morning. The workmen employed on the works were paid by the hour, & each of them had, within three minutes after the time fixed for commencing work for the day, to deposit a ticket at a ticket office at the entrance of the works. It was to the knowledge of the employers the practice of the men coming from London, on their arrival by the train, to come to the works about twenty minutes before the time fixed for commencing work, &, after depositing their tickets at the ticket office, to go for refreshment to a mess cabin provided by the employers on the works for the supply of necessary refreshment to the workmen employed. One of these workmen, who had come from London one morning, while proceeding to deposit his ticket at the ticket office about twenty minutes before the time fixed for commencing work, sustained injuries through accidentally falling into an excavation on the works near the ticket office:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1.

A reasonable margin must be allowed to the workman for the purpose of getting to the part of the premises where his actual work is to be carried on; & if during that interval he is engaged in doing something which is for the benefit of his employer . . . he is just as much engaged in his employment as if he were engaged in the actual work which he has to do. . . . The moment at which the actual work of the workman begins cannot be taken as the true moment of the commencement of his employment for the purposes of the Act (COLLINS, M.R.).—SHARP v. JOHNSON & CO., LTD., [1905] 2 K. B. 139; 74 L. J. K. B.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (c).

h. Arrival on premises but not at point of work.]—A miner was injured on his way to work. He was on his employers' land but had not reached the point at which his duties commenced, & the accident occurred twenty minutes before the hour at which work started:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—ANDERSON v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 8; 47 Sc. L. R. 3; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 260; 3 B. W. C. C. 539.—SCOT.

506; 92 L. T. 675; 53 W. R. 597; 21 T. L. R. 482; 7 W. C. C. 28, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Hoskins v. Lancaster (1910), 26 T. L. R. 612. Reld. Gane v. Norton Hill Colliery Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 979; Nicol v. Young's Paraffin Light & Mineral Oil Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 395; Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844.

2373. Miner waiting at pit head.]—A miner's employment has commenced when he has obtained his pit-lamp & his "tallies," & is waiting at the pit brow to descend.—FITZPATRICK v. HINDLEY FIELD COLLIERY CO. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 7, C. A.

2374. Lighterman employed to pump barge—Arrival at wharf before tide sufficiently low.]—Appct., who was employed as a lighterman by resp., received instructions from him to take on the early morning flood tide a barge which was lying in the river Thames to the south of midstream off a wharf to a certain place. While waiting until the tide had ebbed sufficiently for him to reach the barge appct. stepped into a boat that was lying on the mud to rest himself. In so doing he slipped with his foot caught under the thwart of the boat, & sustained injuries:—Held: the evidence was sufficient to support the finding that appct. in going to rest in the boat was acting reasonably & within the ambit of his employment; & therefore the accident which befell him arose "out of & in the course of" his employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, entitling him to compensation.—MAY v. ISON (1914), 110 L. T. 525; 7 B. W. C. C. 148, C. A.

(d) Return to Premises for Legitimate Purpose.

2375. After termination of service—Return to obtain tools.]—A workman a few days after leaving his work, obtained leave to go down into the mine to bring up his tools, & while there for that purpose met with an accident. The county ct. judge, in a considered judgment, found that the accident "arose out of & in the course of" the man's employment with the colliery owners, & awarded him compensation. The colliery owners appealed on the ground that the judge had misconceived the facts. Although his finding of fact was that the man was ordered by the manager to fetch his tools, the judge ought to have found on the evidence that he had ceased to be their servant, & had met with the accident while in the mine on his own business. They asked that the case should be remitted:—Held: the employers' request must be refused, as this ct. had no jurisdiction to interfere with the finding of fact.—MOLLOY v. SOUTH WALES ANTHRACITE COLLIERY CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 65, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Riley v. Holland, [1911] 1 K. B. 1029.

2376. —— Return to receive wages.]—Appct., who was employed at resps.' mill, was discharged on a Wednesday. By the usage of the mill the wages were made up to Wednesday & were payable at the mill on Friday. Appct. went to the mill on the Friday for her wages, which were paid her, &, on going down the stairs of the mill, slipped & was injured:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of her employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—RILEY v. HOLLAND (WILLIAM) & SONS, LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 1029; 80 L. J. K. B. 814; 104 L. T. 371; 27 T. L. R. 327; 4 B. W. C. C. 155, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Baird v. M'Graw (1919), 13 B. W. C. C. 394. Reld. Cook v. Ship Montreal (1913), 108 L. T. 164.

2377. Return to receive wages.]—Applt. was employed as a collier by resps., & it was part of his contract of employment that the employers should pay him his wages at their pay office. Applt. left work on Saturday at 5 a.m. At 12.30 p.m. he was going for his wages along a path which had been made by resps. for their workmen, & while going along a railway co.'s line which ran through resp.'s premises he was knocked down by an engine & injured:—Held: he was injured "in the course of the employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1), & was entitled to compensation.—LOWRY v. SHEFFIELD COAL CO., LTD. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 142; 1 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Riley v. Holland, [1911] 1 K. B. 1029. Apld. Baird v. M'Graw (1919), 13 B. W. C. C. 394. Reld. Dothie v. MacAndrew (1908), 98 L. T. 495; Phillips v. Williams (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 143.

2378. Return to settle dispute with employer—No intention to return to work unless dispute settled.]—A collier received his paynote on a Saturday. Being dissatisfied with the amount, he spoke to the manager, who referred him to the under-manager. The latter could not be seen till Monday. The collier came on Monday at mid-day, not intending to resume work unless the dispute was settled in his favour, & saw the under-manager, who did not give in. The collier then proceeded to leave, but was knocked down by a coal waggon & killed:—Held: the accident arose neither out of nor in the course of the employment.—PHILLIPS v. WILLIAMS (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 143, C. A.

C. Interruption of Course of Employment.

Risks incidental to employment.]—See Sub-sect. 3, H., post.

2379. General rule.]—An engine driver in the employ of a railway co. had, in order to commence his day's work, to go in the morning to the co.'s engine shed. His proper route to the engine shed was through a gate opening from the public road on to the railway, & thence by a pathway which did not cross the rails. One morning, on getting through the gate, instead of going along the pathway towards the engine shed, he went in the opposite direction along the railway to a signal box, which stood in the middle of the line with rails on both sides of it, in order to get some information from the signalman for his own purposes. After obtaining the information which he required, he proceeded from the signal box towards the engine shed along the railway. Some time afterwards he was found lying on the line seriously injured, having presumably been run down by an engine, & he subsequently died of his injuries. On a claim for compensation by his dependants against the co. under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37):—Held: the accident could not be said to have arisen out of & in the course of deceased's employment, & therefore the claim for compensation must fail.

I do not think that the protection given by the PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (d).

2376 i. After termination of service—Return to receive wages.]—LASTUKA v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. CO. (1913), 24 W. L. R. 137; 4 W. W. R. 569; 11 D. L. R. 375; 6 Alta. L. R. 59.—CAN.

k. Return to work after receiving wages from pay depôt—Travelling time paid for.]—NELSON v. BELFAST CORPN. (1908), 42 I. L. T. 223; 1 B. W. C. C. 158.—IR.

l. Return to inspect machinery—Voluntary inspection by superintendent outside regular hours.]—PUBLIC TRUSTEE v. CHRISTCHURCH CORPN., [1919] N. Z. L. R. 257.—N.Z.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—C.

m. Miner leaving work to get a drink of water.]—A miner who had left the pithead, where he was working, to get a drink of water, was killed by a runaway hutch when he was returning:—Held: he was killed in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, s. 1 (1).—

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, C. & D. (a) & (b) i.

Act can be confined to the time during which a workman is actually engaged in manual labour, & that he would not be protected during the intervals of leisure which may occur in the course of his daily employment. A workman is not a machine, & must be treated as likely to act as workmen ordinarily would during such intervals: &, as regards any reasonable use which, while on the employer's premises, he may make of moments when he is not actually working, I must not be supposed to say that he would be thereby deprived of the protection of the Act (MATHEW, L.J.).—BENSON v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., [1904] 1 K. B. 242; 73 L. J. K. B. 122; 89 L. T. 715; 68 J. P. 149; 52 W. R. 243; 20 T. L. R. 139; 6 W. C. C. 20, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Robertson v. Allan (Liverpool & London), S.S. Corsican (1908), 98 L. T. 821. Consd. Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co. (1911), 105 L. T. 55. Refd. Dothie v. McAndrew (1908), 98 L. T. 495.

2380. Accident occurring out of working hours.]—A labourer employed upon some works by a contractor while asleep in a hut on the works belonging to the contractor was injured by the hut being blown down by a strong wind. He was engaged upon the terms that he was to be provided with a hut to live in at 2*d.* a day, but he was not by the terms of his service obliged to sleep in the hut:—Held: the accident did not arise "in the course of the employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—PHILBIN v. HAYES (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 779; 119 L. T. 133; 34 T. L. R. 403; 62 Sol. Jo. 519; 11 B. W. C. C. 85, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757. Refd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

2381. Accident occurring in meal time.]—A workman was paid by the hour for the number of hours per week that he was actually engaged on his work, not including the midday dinner hour. During that hour he was at liberty to stay & take his meal on the premises, or to go elsewhere. He stayed on the premises, & sat down to eat his dinner, & while so doing a wall fell upon him, & he was injured. On appeal from the refusal of an application for an award of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37):—Held: during the dinner hour there had been no break in the employment of the workman, & he was entitled to claim compensation.—BLOVELT v. SAWYER, [1904] 1 K. B. 271; 73 L. J. K. B. 155; 89 L. T. 658; 68 J. P. 110; 52 W. R. 503; 20 T. L. R. 105; 48 Sol. Jo. 115; 6 W. C. C. 16, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Brice v. Lloyd, [1909] 2 K. B. 804. Consd. Pope v. Hill's Plymouth Co. (1910), 102 L. T. 632. Apld. Alderidge v. Merry (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 450; Highley v. L. & Y. Ry. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1513. Distd. Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844. Consd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757.

2382. ——.]—MORRIS v. LAMBETH CORPN., No. 2621, post.

2383. ——.]—ROWLAND v. WRIGHT, No. 2596, post.

2384. ——.]—MARTIN v. LOVIBOND (J.) & SONS, LTD., No. 2635, post.

2385. Accident occurring between two employments.]—A workman was engaged to load a van, & was promised employment in unloading it at another place if he would be there by the time the van arrived. He agreed to be there, & started on his bicycle, but on the way met with an accident. The judge held that the employment was continuous, & awarded compensation:—Held: there were two separate & distinct employments; one had ended & the other had not begun. The accident therefore did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—PERRY v. ANGLO-AMERICAN DECORATING CO. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 310, C. A.

2386. Absence with leave—Seaman—Whether employment interrupted.]—DAVIDSON (CHARLES R.) & CO. v. M'ROBB OR OFFICER, No. 2339, ante.

2387. —— —— ——.]—KITCHENHAM v. JOHANNESBURG (OWNERS), No. 2548, post.

2388. Absence without leave.]—WARREN v. HEDLEY'S COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2460, post.

D. Scope of Employment.

(a) Prohibited Acts.

See Sub-sect. 2, E., post.

(b) Added Perils.

i. Necessary or Reasonable Acts.

2389. Workman engaged to load ship—Fixing cross-bars over hatchways after loading completed.]—LYSONS v. KNOWLES (ANDREW) & SONS, LTD., STUART v. NIXON & BRUCE, No. 3433, post.

2390. Leaving ship by means of rope.]—The workman, a riveter working on a ship in dock, was about to go ashore for his breakfast. When he came on deck he found the vessel was being removed to a dry dock, & was already a short distance from the quay. The gangway had been removed, & there was no other means of getting ashore than by slipping down a rope which still held the vessel to the quay. By means of this rope a fellow workman got ashore safely, & appct. attempted to follow him. The rope gave way, & he was thrown against the quay wall & injured:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding of the county ct. judge that the accident "arose out of & in the course of" the man's employment.—KEYSER v. BURDICK & CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 87, C. A.

2391. Lighting temporary stove in cabin during intense cold.]—While resps.' steamship was lying in port in the Black Sea in Feb. 1911, the second engineer, on account of the intensity of the cold, rigged up a stove in his cabin. He had been allowed by the chief engineer to use the stove during the day time, but was forbidden to use it at night, as it was dangerous. On Feb. 9 there was no fire in the stove at 11 p.m.; but apparently the second engineer lit the fire at some period of the night, & he was found dead the next morning, having been asphyxiated by the fumes of the fire. On an application by his dependants for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge held that the accident arose out of & in the course of deceased's employment; he accordingly made an award of compensation:—Held: there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could find as he did.—EDMUNDS v. PETERSTON (OWNERS) (1911), 28 T. L. R. 18; 5 B. W. C. C. 157, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Taylor v. Cripps, [1914] 3 K. B. 989.

KEENAN v. FLEMINGTON COAL CO. (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 164.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (b) i.

n. Workman easing girders outside lift—Crushed by counterweight.]—YOUNG v. STUART (1915), 15 S. R. N. S. W. 435; 32 N. S. W. W. N. 144.—AUS.

o. Boy using machine not forbidden to touch.]—TOBIN v. HEARN, [1910] 2 I. R. 639.—IR.

p. Workman jumping from vehicle in motion—To recover pipe.]—M'LAUCHLAN v. ANDERSON, [1911] S. C. 529; 48 Sc. L. R. 349; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 127; 4 B. W. C. C. 376.—SCOT.

q. —— To recover coat.]—STRONG

2392. Sailor washing clothes in dark alley way.]—A sailor, washing his clothes in a dark alley way, fell down a half-open hatchway & was injured. The county ct. judge found that it was necessary to wash his clothes, & that he was doing it in a reasonable place & manner:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—COKOLON v. KENTRA (OWNERS) (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 658, C. A.

2393. Sailor discharging cargo on gangway—Alteration of position of gangway—Swinging from stern of another vessel to lighten gangway.]—A seaman employed on board a fishing vessel was engaged in discharging fish from it across a gangway resting on a floating pontoon. While he was standing in the middle of the gangway it became necessary to lower the end of it that rested on the pontoon. Instead of walking off the gangway the seaman caught hold of the stem of another vessel which was moored alongside, & swung himself therefrom. While doing so he slipped & fell into the water sustaining such serious injuries that he died:—Held: the accident arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" the seaman's employment.—GALLANT v. GABIR (OWNERS) (1913), 108 L. T. 50; 29 T. L. R. 198; 57 Sol. Jo. 225; 6 B. W. C. C. 9; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 284, C. A.

2394. Window cleaner—Climbing from one sill to another.]—A man employed (inter alia) as a window cleaner at a hotel was cleaning a second floor window on the outside. There was another window 2 feet 2 inches away, which was joined to the first window by a common ledge 9 inches wide. After cleaning the first window the man climbed along the ledge to get to the next window. His fingers slipped, & he fell & was killed. There was no reason why he should not have gone back into the room to get to the other window. He was a competent workman, who had been employed similarly for four years:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—BULLWORTHY v. GLANFIELD (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 191, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Palmer v. Harrods (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1659.

2395. Farm bailiff going round farm buildings at night—Climbing through window to obtain key.]—A farm bailiff, whose practice it was to go round the farm buildings every evening at about 8 o'clock when his day's work was finished in order to see that all was secure, on one occasion after doing so, as usual, went to a neighbouring town for the purpose of shopping, & returned to his home at about 11 o'clock, when he again went round the premises. Being desirous of obtaining the key of one of the buildings, which he had earlier left inside a cowshed, he remembered that the key of the cowshed was in his own house, which was distant about three minutes walk. In order to avoid the walk he vaulted on to the window sill of the cowshed &, leaning through the window, endeavoured to reach the key which he required. In so doing he overbalanced himself & fell upon the floor of the shed, sustaining injuries from which he died:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of deceased's employment. The obtaining of the key was part of his duty, & the fact that he endeavoured to discharge that duty by imprudently taking a short cut did not deprive his dependants of the right to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—PEPPER v. SAYER, [1914] 3 K. B. 994; 83 L. J. K. B. 1756; 111 L. T. 708; 30 T. L. R. 621; 58 Sol. Jo. 669; 7 B. W. C. C. 616, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759.

2396. Driver of motor van—Removal of floor boards to improve working of clutch.]—A workman was employed as a motor van driver. The clutch of his motor was so worn that it was impossible to change the speeds without considerable noise & injury to the gear. He complained of this once or twice, & something had been done to remedy it, but without effect. In order to work the clutch more efficiently & without noise, he removed two boards from the floor of the van. This would have enabled him to press the clutch further down. As he was adjusting his rug, preparatory to moving off, one end of the rug fell through the gap left by the boards which had been removed, & got caught in the shaft, with the result that the man was drawn down & his leg broken. The county ct. judge found that the man had not been guilty of serious & wilful misconduct in removing the boards, & that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—PARTRIDGE v. WHITELEY (WM.), LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 53, C. A.

2397. Workman carrying heavy burden—Obtaining lift in passing cart.]—A builder's handyman was sent to remove a window & to put another in its place at a farm about two miles distant from his employer's yard. He was told to take the window frame there the best way he could. His employer had no horse & trap available to convey the window frame to the farm. The workman started to carry it on his shoulder. On the way he came up with a pony & cart going past his destination. With the driver's permission, he placed the window frame in the cart, & started to climb up himself. The pony bolted & he fell out & was injured. The county ct. judge found that the man was acting reasonably in carrying out his duties, & held the accident arose out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—MULLINGER v. BIDEWELL (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 104, C. A.

2398. Workman waiting for pay—Resting on machinery.]—A workman, who was employed at a rubber machine, knocked off work at about 5.15, as it was too late to finish another batch of rubber before 5.30, when the day's work ended. It was a Friday, & he & the other men had to wait in the works until 5.30 to be paid. He intended to lean or sit upon the stationary part of the machine, but as he was going there, his foot slipped. He threw out his arm to save himself, and it was caught in the revolving rollers of the machine & so badly crushed that it had to be amputated above the elbow. The county ct. judge found that it was the usual thing for men, waiting about such as this, to lean against or sit on this part of the machine, & that the employers knew of it, & never objected; &, further, that it was not an obviously dangerous thing to do. He therefore found that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, & made an award accordingly:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings & no misdirection.—MAYOR v. LEYLAND (BIRMINGHAM) RUBBER CO. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 115, C. A.

---

v. WRIGHT & CO., [1922] S. C. 515.—SCOT.

r. Cleaner of machinery—Cleaning parts outside her duty.]—A woman, part of whose work was to clean certain machinery in a factory, finding the guard removed from another part of the machinery which it was not her duty to touch, proceeded to clean that. While she was cleaning it the machinery started, & she was injured:—Held:

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (b) i. & ii.]

2399. Workmen travelling on employer's cart—Instead of van sent for purpose.]—Resp., a farmer, told appct. to go, on the following day, by tramcar to a certain place where she & some other women would be met by his man with a four-wheeled van in which they would be driven to the field where they were to pick up potatoes. At the appointed place on the following day the women found the van waiting for them. There was also a two-wheeled farm cart, in charge of one of resp.'s men at the same place. This farm cart was also going to the field. One of the women said she would ride to the field in the cart, & the other women all got in after her. The man in charge of the van expostulated with the women, but made no attempt to stop them riding in the cart. He then drove off & the cart followed. Going round a corner the cart upset & appct. was injured. The county ct. judge took the view that the women got into the cart to please themselves & that the accident did not arise out of the employment. He consequently made an award for resp.: Held: upon the admitted facts, the question was one of law. The accident arose out of & in the course of appcts.' employment.—BIRD v. PRICE (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 143, C. A.

2400. Seaman going ashore for own & employer's benefit.]—(1) A seaman, employed on a steam trawler, had been assisting in coaling the vessel in port when, by reason of the condition of the tide, no more work could be done for some hours. The captain ordered a plank to be placed from the ship to the quay so that the hands could go ashore. There was no other means of access to the quay. The seaman fell from the plank to the vessel & died as the result. His object for going ashore was to collect certain money that had been realised, on a previous occasion when the ship was in that port, by the sale of old rope. The crew were entitled to the proceeds of such sale, but the owners had a right to deduct from it the value of any broken crockery. On the occasion in question there was nothing to deduct:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the man's employment.

(2) The seaman in the above circumstances was paid 6*s.* a day & "trip money," commonly called a bonus which was fixed at 6*s.* to be paid whenever the catch for seven days amounted in value to £100:—Held: the "trip money" or "bonus" was really an extra wage paid upon the happening of certain events & was not a share in the profits or gross earnings of the vessel.—DUCK v. NORTH SEA STEAM TRAWLING CO., LTD. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 83, C. A.

2401. Workman resting during interval for meal—Accident while fetching cap of fellow-workman.]—A workman was ordinarily employed as a gas stoker. On the night of the accident he was engaged with others in removing crown bricks which had fallen into a furnace from the roof. Two men at a time went into the furnace, & after being there about five minutes, came out to cool & rest, their places being taken by two others. During this work an interval, though at no stated time, was allowed for food. About 2 a.m. the workman & his mate had come from the furnace for a rest & were told to get their meal, & then come back. They brought their food with them, but before the man went to get his food from the place where he had left it in his coat, his mate asked him if he knew where his cap was. He replied that he thought it was where they had previously been sitting & he would get it for him. While in the act of fetching the cap he fell into an unfenced & unlighted hole & was seriously injured. The county ct. judge found that at the time of the accident the man was acting reasonably within the scope of his employment, & held that the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: the decision was one of fact; there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—BRATTON v. JONAS & COLVER, LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 305, C. A.

2402. Man employed to load cart—Injury while moving cart to suitable position.]—It was a workman's duty to count bags of sawdust delivered for his employer. He was injured while helping to move the cart containing the sawdust. The cart belonged to the person bringing the sawdust, whose duty it was to put the sawdust in a certain shed. The county ct. judge found that the accident arose out of & in the course of the man's employment & made an award in his favour:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—EASTWOOD v. BRUNT (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 48, C. A.

2403. Cleaner employed on sweeping—Injury by picking up & cleaning detonator.]—A man was employed to sweep up & clean an engine house. In the course of this work he swept up a small metal tube. He knew it to be a detonator & that it should not have been in the house, for these detonators were only given out to the shot firers in the mine, one at a time, & were supposed to be used by the shot firer at once. Thinking that it was an empty detonator case, covered with dust, he tapped it on the table to remove the dust, & it exploded, severely injuring his hand. The county ct. judge held that the accident did not "arise out of" the man's employment, & refused to award compensation:—Held: in picking up the detonator the man was acting within his employment, & as it was a perfectly natural thing to do to tap it to remove the dust, this was no evidence that the man was acting outside the sphere of his employment. The accident must be held to have arisen out of & in the course of the employment.—JONES v. YNYSARWED COLLIERY CO. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 111, C. A.

2404. Workman taking meal in shed—Injury from boiling water used for meal.]—Men employed at an oil wharf were allowed to take their meals in a shed close to the engine room. The co. provided a fire & a table & some seats for the men, but no utensils for cooking anything. A workman went to take his tea in the shed &, there being no kettle, he used a large oil can to boil the water for the tea. As he was sitting in front of the fire waiting for the water to boil, the coal in the grate fell in & the can tipped over, & he was scalded by the water that was splashed over his feet & legs. The employers admitted that the accident arose in the course of the man's employment, but they contended that it did not arise out of the employment. The county ct. judge decided against that contention & awarded compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.

Of course, if the risk from which he suffered was the accident arose out of the employment.—GREER v. LINDSAY THOMPSON, LTD. (1912), 46 I. L. T. 89; 5 B. W. C. C. 586.—IR.

---

t. Factory hand making necessary adjustment to machine—After removal from machine.]—BEATTIE v. TOUGH & SONS, [1917] S. C. 199; 54 Sc. L. R. 127; [1917] 1 S. L. T. 27.—SCOT.

a mere risk that any one incurs from taking tea, that is to say that he might drink his tea too hot, or that he might choke himself with too large a piece of bread & butter, or that he might injure himself by cutting himself with a knife in spreading his butter or otherwise using it, I think a difference might very well arise, but taking the facts as agreed in this case, it appears to me that this was a risk incidental to the employment (ATKIN, L.J.).—SMIDMORE v. LONDON & THAMES HAVEN OIL WHARVES, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 114, C. A.

2405. Workman returning to post by improper route—Accident after arrival at proper post.]—A dock labourer, engaged in unloading mutton from a ship, returned to his work by an improper route. After arriving at a point at which he would have had to arrive at had he gone by the proper route he alighted, as was his duty, from a sling of frozen mutton on to a defective hatch cover. The hatch cover broke, & the man fell through & was injured:—Held: (1) as he was obliged to approach the hatch cover by way of the sling of mutton, it was immaterial that he did not come by the proper route to the sling of mutton; (2) as at the time of the accident he was doing what it was his duty to do & acting as he was bound to do, the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment.—READ v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 39, C. A.

2406. Workman crossing elevator to return to duty.]—A workman was employed to handle empty wagons after they had been brought to a high level on a moving elevator. While waiting between the arrival of successive batches of wagons he was entitled to, & did, shelter in a cabin near the bottom of the elevator, from where he had to return to his post beyond the top of the elevator upon the arrival of a wagon. While so returning he crossed the elevator, which was not a necessary act, & slipped & was injured, with the result that a leg had to be amputated. The county ct. judge held that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, inasmuch as he found that the crossing of the elevator was merely a negligent way of returning to his post, & was not an act altogether outside the scope of the man's employment. The employers appealed on the ground that it was no part of the workman's duty to cross the elevator:—Held: it was a question of fact, upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—EDWARDS v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD. (1924), 131 L. T. 7; 17 B. W. C. C. 7, C. A.

2407. Workman mounting cart by hanging ladder.]—Applt. claimed as sole dependant of the deceased workman who had been employed for some years by resp. corpn. as one of their dust collectors & had for some time suffered from hernia, but with some assistance from his mates was able to do the work. When the round was finished & the steam lorry was full the gang employed would ride back in the lorry to the depot to there shoot the rubbish & clean the lorry. The habit of the men was to stop on the way back to the depot some distance from it at a coffee shop, but deceased always then walked on to the depot. The lorry was taken to the depot & emptied & on the way from there to the garage where it had to be cleaned to be used that day for other purposes, came on deceased who endeavoured to clamber on to it by means of one of two swinging ladders used for the purpose, but fell back & was fatally injured. At the time the lorry was only going two & a half miles an hour. Part of the duty of deceased was to help clean the lorry, & if he had not attempted to get into the lorry he would have been late for the job. The county ct. judge found that it was no part of the duty of deceased to hazard that which caused the injury; & the man had left his employment at the time of the accident since he ought to have gone straight to the depot, therefore the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment as the workman had not at the time left his employment as he was employed to go to the garage to help clean the lorry & his attempt to get into the lorry was not of a nature so dangerous as to add a peril not incident or necessary to the employment.—CLARK v. SOUTHWARK CORPN. (1925), 133 L. T. 753; 18 B. W. C. C. 367, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759.

ii. Unnecessary or Unreasonable Acts.

2408. Mines—Labourer acting as collier.]—An accident occurring to a labourer in a mine while he is, without instructions, acting as a collier is not one arising out of & in the course of his employment.—EDWARDS v. INTERNATIONAL COAL CO. (1899), 5 W. C. C. 21, C. A.

2409. —— Passing between trucks unsecured.]—The workmen employed in a colliery were in the habit of going to & from their work across a "jig brow," where tubs were run up & down an inclined plane by means of an endless rope. At the times when the men were expected to cross nothing was done with the tubs, no machinery was in use, a "stop block" was let down to keep the tubs in place, & there was no traffic & no danger. A workman had permission to leave work two hours before the usual time. He came to the "jig brow" & attempted to cross between two tubs before the stop block was down, & in pushing them apart set them in motion, whereby he sustained fatal injuries. There was evidence that if he had waited a minute the stop block would have been put down, or he could have walked round the end of the tubs instead of trying to pass between them. In a proceeding by his widow for compensation:—Held: there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could find that the accident did not arise out of the employment but from an added peril due to the conduct of the servant himself.—BAKER v. BRADFORD (EARL) (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1031; 114 L. T. 1144; 60 Sol. Jo. 493; 9 B. W. C. C. 436, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Senior v. Brodsworth Main Colliery Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1387. Reld. L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Armitstead v. Humber Graving Dock & Engineering Co. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 140; Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery Co. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209.

2410. —— Workman leaving work to relieve nature—Latrine provided by employer.]—Appct. was in the employment of resps. in the fitting shop on the surface of their colliery. On Sept. 29, 1916, while crossing a railway line, he was run over by a train which so injured his right foot that it

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (b) ii.

a. Mines—Workman leaving work to relieve nature—In unauthorised place.]—THOMSON v. FLEMINGTON COAL CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 823.—SCOT.

b. —— Miner getting out at wrong level—Taking circuitous route to work.]—SNEDDON v. GREENFIELD COAL & BRICK CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 362; 47 Sc. L. R. 337; [1910] 1 S. L. T. 145; 3 B. W. C. C. 557.—SCOT.

c. —— Ignorant workman using machinery forbidden to use.]—BURNS v. SUMMERLEE IRON CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 227; 50 Sc. L. R. 164; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 469; 6 B. W. C. C. 320.—SCOT.

d. —— Workman sitting on pulley cover.]—FRASER v. LOCHGELLY IRON

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (b) ii.]

had to be amputated. It appeared that on the day when the accident happened appct. was suffering from diarrhoea, & had occasion to evacuate his bowels several times in the course of the day. At about 4.30 p.m. appct. was desirous of again performing that function. There was a set of privies which was provided by resps. specially for the use of the fitters, which was situated suitably close to the fitting shop where appct. habitually worked. But, instead of going to that sanitary convenience or to any other of the sets of privies provided, appct. went to a place in the open to which it was forbidden for him to go, which was distant about 200 to 300 yards away from the fitting shop, & to arrive at which it was necessary for him to cross many dangerous sidings & lines of railways. That proceeding was directly contrary to the general regulations made by the Home Secretary under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), regulation 111 of which provides as follows: "No person shall relieve his bowels on the surface except in one of the conveniences provided in accordance with the foregoing regulations." Where appct. went there was a tip & on the slopes of that there were trees & bushes growing, which would screen appct. from observation:—Held: the added peril to which appct. exposed himself was not incidental to his employment nor due to the nature thereof: he was consequently acting outside the sphere of his employment; & he was not entitled, & therefore he was not employed, to do things which were unreasonable or which were expressly forbidden.—SENIOR v. BRODSWORTH MAIN COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1387; 117 L. T. 496; 61 Sol. Jo. 676; 10 B. W. C. C. 577, C. A.

2411. —— Workman taking short cut on railway line.]—Appct., a labourer employed by a colliery co., was injured by accident while going to his employer's office, where he had to report before beginning his day's work in the early morning before daylight on Dec. 17, 1920. To get to the office from his home he had to cross a line of railway. His proper route lay along a private road, but for eight months he had been in the habit of taking a short cut by going along a private railway line running into the colliery. He was walking between the rails in the dark when he stumbled on a projecting rail & fell, breaking his leg. There was no evidence of any existing express prohibition by the employers against walking along the railway track, but the use by appct. of the railway track as a road to the office was without the knowledge or consent of the employers. The county ct. judge found that at the time of the accident appct. was in a place where his duties did not require him to be, & was running a risk which was not one of the ordinary risks of the employment. He therefore held that the accident did not arise out of the employment, & made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—JOHNSON v. BELL BROTHERS, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 181, C. A.

2412. Machinery—Unskilled labourer starting machinery.]—A girl, eighteen years of age, acting as she thought in her master's interest, left her work to start an engine, which was in charge of a person who was not present. As she went towards it several of her companions told her she ought not to touch it:—Held: there was evidence that an accident that occurred at the machine did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—LOSH v. EVANS (RICHARD) & CO., LTD. (1902), 51 W. R. 243; 19 T. L. R. 142; 47 Sol. Jo. 158; 5 W. C. C. 17, C. A.

2413. —— Unskilled labourer cleaning machinery.]—A boy, employed to piece broken ends of yarn in a spinning mill, injured himself while cleaning machinery in motion. The judge found as a fact that he was not employed to clean the machinery:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—NAYLOR v. MUSGRAVE SPINNING CO., LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 286, C. A.

2414. —— Workman employed solely on one machine—Injured on another.]—A workman, employed solely to work one machine, scratched her hand on a machine of another sort. It was not explained how she came to be at the other machine. Blood poisoning followed, & she died:—Held: the county ct. judge was not justified in inferring that the accident arose out of the employment.—O'RONIN v. SILVER (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 221, C. A.

2415. —— Workman using shafting improperly.]—A workman, who was employed at a flour mill to stack sacks by manual labour, made an improper use with that object of the revolving shafting of certain machinery which was erected in the mill. He was caught by the shafting & severely injured. The county ct. judge found that what the workman had done was unwise & dangerous & unknown to his employers, & if known would have been forbidden; & that he did not do the act for his own benefit, but in the interests of his employers, as the sacks were thereby raised more expeditiously, & that the employers were liable to pay compensation:—Held: the workman was not entitled to compensation, not because he was acting outside the sphere of his employment, nor because by his conduct he brought on himself a new & added peril, but because he failed to show any circumstance which would justify a finding that the accident arose "out of his employment."

There are prohibitions which limit the sphere of employment & prohibitions which only deal with conduct within the sphere of employment. A transgression of a prohibition of the latter class leaves the sphere of employment where it was & consequently will not prevent recovery of compensation. A transgression of the former class carries with it the result that the man has gone outside the sphere (LORD DUNEDIN).—PLUMB v. COBDEN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., [1914] A. C. 62; 83 L. J. K. B. 197; 109 L. T. 759; 30 T. L. R. 174; 58 Sol. Jo. 184; 7 B. W. C. C. 1, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Carinduff v. Gilmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 981; M'William v. G. N. of Scotland Ry. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 875. Distd. Chilton v. Blair (1914), 111 L. T. 782. Apld. Price v. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. (1914), 111 L. T. 688; Pritchard v. Torkington (1914), 111 L. T. 917; Corbett v. Pitt (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 466. Consd. White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Apld. Baker v. Bradford (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1031; Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1; Herbert v. Fox, [1916] 1 A. C. 405; Gaunt v. Babcock & Wilcox (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 733; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Maydew v. Chatterley-Whitfield Collieries, [1917] 2 K. B. 742 (see 119 L. T. 362); Senior v. Brodsworth Main Colliery Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1387. Consd. Thom (or Simpson) v. & COAL CO. (1920), 57 Sc. L. R. 589. —SCOT.

e. Machinery — Moulder removing loose sand by hand & not by scraper.]—GAUNT v. BABCOCK & WILCOX, LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 733.—SCOT.

f. —— Boy employed as assistant attendant on saw—Injured in saw pit while recovering can of fellow employee.]—A boy, while employed as an assistant attendant at a circular saw, went into the saw pit to recover a can belonging to another employee, & while doing so was injured by the saw. In the Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Apld. Wilson v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 843; Matthews v. McClure (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 510; Brown v. Baton Colliery Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 265. Folld. Moore v. Donnelly, Fife Coal Co. v. Sharp, Same Co. v. Fyfe, [1921] 1 A. C. 329. Apld. Estler v. Phillips (1922), 91 L. J. K. B. 470; Finn v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1923), 131 L. T. 213; Davies v. Gwauncaegurwen Colliery Co., [1924] 2 K. B. 651; Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Laurence, or Wilson, or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225. Consd. Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933; Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325. Apld. Jones v. Tarr, [1926] 1 K. B. 25. Reld. Keen v. St. Clement's Press (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 542; Pepper v. Sayer, [1914] 3 K. B. 994; Smith v. Fife Coal Co., [1914] A. C. 723; Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Blair v. Chilton (1915), 113 L. T. 514; Cooper v. N. E. Ry. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187; Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792; Thorn v. Humm (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1459; Griffiths v. Robins (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 90; Kettle v. McKay & Ryland (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1490; M'Lean v. Macbrayne (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 687; Palmer v. Harrods (1916), 114 L. T. 869; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Collieries (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346; Stevens v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 756; Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001; Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209; Smith v. Russell (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 278; Costello v. Addie's Collieries, [1922] 1 A. C. 164; Rodger v. Fife Coal Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 299; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577; Edwards v. Ocean Coal Co. (1924), 131 L. T. 7; Garrallan Coal Co. v. Anderson (or Devlin) (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 356; Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. v. McFerrin, Kerr v. Dunlop, [1926] A. C. 377.

2416. —— Soap stamper assisting fellow workman with machine.]—A lad, a soap stamper, was supposed to make himself "handy about the place" after he had finished stamping soap. He went to help a fellow workman remove a piece of soap which had jambed in a soap-compressing machine, with the result that his hand & arm were caught & injured in the revolving knives of the machine. He said that he had been ordered to go to the machine, but this was denied by the employers. The county ct. judge disbelieved the boy, & found that he had no right to touch the machines, & consequently found that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—DAVIES v. CROWN PERFUMERY CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 649, C. A.

2417. —— Workman employed to adjust belting—Not using ladder provided.]—A workman employed in a room with machinery driven by belting from revolving shafts in the ceiling, had, as part of his duties, to replace this belting on the pullies attached to the shafting. Ladders were provided for this purpose. Deceased worked with a mate at a machine near a window recess, & on the occasion of the accident tried to replace a shifted belt by climbing on to the sloping window ledge with the help of his mate, though at the time one of the ladders was only 12 feet away. Somehow, not seen by any one, deceased fell from this position fatally injured. The judge visited the place & came to the conclusion that the man did an unsafe thing, & incurred a risk which was not incidental to his employment, & therefore found that he was not injured by accident arising out of his employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—RUSSELL v. MURRAY (A. G.), LTD. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 81, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309. Reld. Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325; Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759.

2418. —— Joiner using planing machine.]—A joiner, engaged in fitting spokes in gun wheels, endeavoured to facilitate his work by obtaining a suitable block of wood on which to rest the wheel. Having found a block he inserted it into a planing-machine at the time unattended, in order to shape it for the purpose for which he wanted it, & in working the machine his hand was seriously injured. The county ct. judge found that, at the employer's works machine men were specially employed, & were the only men allowed to work the machines, & that joiners & others did not in fact do so, & therefore the accident was not caused by a peril incidental to the man's employment, & did not therefore arise out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—ANDERSON v. ARMSTRONG, WHITWORTH & CO., LTD. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 67, C. A.

2419. —— Workman employed at hand press—Assisting at power press.]—A girl was employed to make metal squares by means of a hand press. She was working on the top floor of a factory &, having finished the work she was then engaged upon, went down to the second floor to see the foreman about more work. On the second floor other girls were at somewhat similar work, only using more dangerous machines driven by power. The foreman was not at his usual place at the time & the girl went over & helped another girl who was doing piece work on one of the power presses. She had never used one of these machines before, & somehow injured her hand. The foreman admitted that he had known such help given before & if the girl had finished her own work said he raised no objection. On the other hand, one of the girls called said that whenever anything of the kind was done they took good care the foreman was not about. The county ct. judge, without finding whether the girl had taken on an added risk not within her employment, dealt with the case chiefly on the basis as to whether or not the work done was in the interests of the employer, & then found that the girl was injured when doing work which she was not employed to do & which it was no part of her duty to perform:—Held: apart from the reasons given by the learned county ct. judge there was ample & self-apparent evidence to support the award.

I think we ought to support the award . . . if there are facts which are self-apparent, although county ct. judge has not based his decision upon them (LORD COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—BRINCKMAN v. HARRIS (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 200, C. A.

2420. —— Girl employed on twine spinning machine—Injury while recovering comb.]—A girl, whose duty it was to put bobbins on a twine spinning machine, took her hair down just before the dinner hour & began to comb out the fluff & dust. It was customary for girls to do this & was well known to the employers. While she was thus engaged she accidentally dropped her comb between two of the machines near the driving belt which was running at the time. In stooping to try & recover the comb she caught her hair in the machinery & was very severely injured. On a claim for compensation being heard, the county ct. judge found that when she "put her head into the machine" to get the comb she was not doing anything which arose out of her employment, & awarded for resps.:—Held: the question was really one of fact, & there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—HEATHCOTE v. GRIMSBY CORDAGE CO., LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

---

ordinary performance of his duties he was not required to enter the saw pit:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—ESPIE v. BRITISH BASKET CO., LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 492. —SCOT.

g. Railway—Engine driver returning home along line after warning of danger.]—TODD v. CALEDONIAN RY. CO. (1899), 1 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1047; 36 Sc. L. R. 784; 7 S. L. T. 85.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (b) ii.]

2421. —— Girl employed on screw turner—Injured while recovering screw from beneath machine—Not using means provided.]—A girl was employed as a screw-turner at a lathe which was worked by means of a shaft beneath it. There was a sufficient guard protecting the shaft down to 12 inches from the ground, & rakes were provided for the recovery of any screws which rolled beneath the machinery. On the occasion in question a screw rolled under the machinery, & the girl placed her head between the foot of the guard & the floor in order to reach the screw more easily. The machine was in operation at the time & her hair was caught in the shaft, with the result that she was scalped & totally incapacitated. In proceedings commenced by her in the county ct. the judge, in the course of his judgment, said: "The question in law that I must ask myself is 'was it part of appt.'s employment to hazard, to suffer, or to do that which caused her injury?' The answer must be in the negative. I hold that the accident did not arise out of the employment. Award for resps." Appt. appealed:—Held: it being obvious that the guard was there for the express purpose of protecting workmen from risk, & as rakes were provided for the purpose of recovering screws from beneath the machinery, the girl had, in acting as she did, gone clearly beyond the scope of her employment; the evidence was such as to entitle the county ct. judge to find as he did & the appeal must be dismissed.—FAIRHURST v. HOLLINWOOD SCREW & RIVET CO., LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 683; 16 B. W. C. C. 168, C. A.

2422. Railway—Stoker attempting to board engine in motion.]—A stoker on a locomotive engine was paid by mistake the wages of another man X. He left his engine & went over to an engine which X. was working in order to give him these wages. This engine was travelling at about five miles an hour. The workman attempted to board the engine by grasping the rails at the side of the doorway, missed the step & sustained personal injuries by the wheels of the engine passing over his foot:—Held: the attempt to board the engine whilst in motion was obviously dangerous & wholly unnecessary, & the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—WILLIAMS v. WIGAN COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 65, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2423. —— Workman crossing line—Footbridge provided.]—A deceased workman was employed by a builder. It was part of his duties to go to P. daily to supervise erection of houses there by his employer, who supplied him with a season ticket for the purpose. There were notices at P. station that passengers must cross the line by the footbridge only, but it was proved that large numbers of people crossed over the metals at a point where there was boarding for crossing luggage, & that the railway co. did not object. On the day of the accident, the train by which deceased had come was standing in the station & blocking the ordinary crossing point over the metals. Deceased went to the end of the platform & crossed in front of the standing engine, which concealed from him what was coming on the other side. He was knocked down by an incoming express & killed:—Held: the workman had exposed himself to an added risk which was not incidental to the employment; the accident did not arise out of his employment.—PRITCHARD v. TORKINGTON (1914), 111 L. T. 917; 58 Sol. Jo. 739; 7 B. W. C. C. 719, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Jibb v. Chadwick, [1915] 2 K. B. 94.

2424. —— ——.]—A carter, employed by a firm of contractors, who were engaged upon building operations at several railway stations, was told to go from one station to another to fetch some mortar from the mortar mill there. He was told at the mortar mill that he could not take the mortar without a permit from the foreman. His duty was to remain with his horse & cart, but, instead, he backed them against the railway embankment, left them, & went on the line to see if he could find the foreman. He was then killed by a passing train:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—MORRIS v. ROWBOTHAM (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 157, C. A.

2425. —— —— Crossing under stationary trucks.]—The widow of a workman employed on a railway claimed compensation for the death of her husband. On the day of his death deceased, with other workmen, was under orders to travel by train to a place further down the line to work there. The men arrived at a station where they had to change, &, having some time to wait for the next train, they started to cross the lines to a mess room on the opposite side of the station where they could get hot water for their breakfast, which they had brought with them. On his way to the mess room deceased attempted to pass under the trucks of a standing goods train. The train moved & he was killed. The mess room could have been reached without crossing the lines, but this way took longer, & the men for their own convenience habitually used the way across the lines. The county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of or in the course of the employment:—Held: deceased, in attempting to pass under the trucks, was exposing himself to an added peril & was not acting within the sphere of his employment.—LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO. v. HIGHLEY, [1917] A. C. 352; 86 L. J. K. B. 715; 116 L. T. 767; 33 T. L. R. 286; 61 Sol. Jo. 397; 10 B. W. C. C. 241; revsg. S. C. sub nom. HIGHLEY v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1513, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Senior v. Brodsworth Main Colliery Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1387; Armitstead v. Humber Graving Dock & Engineering Co. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 140. Consd. Stevens v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 756; Wilson v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 843; Woodlee Coal & Coke Co. v. Robertson (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 463. Apld. Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001; Matthews v. McClure (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 510. Distd. Rossiter v. Waterford Port Comrs. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 550. Apld. Brown v. Baton Colliery Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 205; Smidmore v. London & Thames Haven Oil Wharves (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 114. Consd. Davies v. Gwauncaegurwen Colliery, [1924] 2 K. B. 651; Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933; Borley v. Ockendon, [1925] 2 K. B. 325. Reld. Byrne v. Larrinaga S.S. Co. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 1255; Gibbins v. British Dyes (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 716; Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844; Horner v. Wandsworth, Wimbledon & Epsom Gas Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 355; Bird v. Price (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 143; Braine v. Port of London Authority (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 342; Bratton v. Jonas & Colver (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 305; Cook v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 100; Moore v. Donnelly, Fife Coal Co. v. Sharp, Same Co. v. Fyfe, [1921] 1 A. C. 329; Read v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 39; Edwards v. Ocean Coal Co. (1924), 131 L. T. 7; Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Lawrence, or Wilson, or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59; Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2426. —— Entering train in motion.]—A foreman joiner was in the employment of applts., who were builders carrying on business at Rotherham, a short distance from Sheffield, where they had contracts for work. The foreman lived at Rotherham, & applts. provided him with a railway season ticket between the two places. It was his duty to return each evening at a specified time in order to report upon his work. One evening he arrived at Sheffield Station just as the train, by which it was necessary for him to travel in order to keep his appointment at Rotherham, had started. He endeavoured to get into it whilst in motion, fell between the train & the platform, & was killed. Upon a claim by his dependants for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) :—Held : the risk attaching to the attempt to enter a train in motion was not a risk reasonably incidental to deceased's employment ; he had exposed himself to an added risk by doing an unauthorised & illegal act, & the accident did not, therefore, arise out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—JIBB v. CHADWICK, [1915] 2 K. B. 94 ; 84 L. J. K. B. 1241 ; 112 L. T. 878 ; 31 T. L. R. 185 ; 8 B. W. C. C. 152, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Byrne v. Larrinaga S.S. Co. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 1255. Distd. Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2427. —— Driver using rail to trim shovel.]—In order to trim the shovel which was used for stoking a railway engine, & which had become ragged at the edge, the driver & the fireman alighted from the engine as it was standing on a siding waiting to be called on for shunting duty. The fireman held the shovel to one of the rails of a siding adjoining the siding on which the engine was standing as if the rail had been an anvil, while the driver used a hammer & chisel to trim the shovel. While they were thus engaged another engine came along without them seeing or hearing it, which knocked them both down inflicting injuries upon the driver from which he shortly afterwards died. It was not disputed that the position in which the driver so placed himself was extremely dangerous, the rail which was so used as an anvil being one over which engines & vehicles frequently passed. It was no part of the duty of the driver & fireman to trim the shovel. They did it voluntarily. If a shovel was in want of repair, the proper course for the engine drivers & firemen was to return it to the store & either obtain a new one or have the old one made serviceable. But when all that was required was trimming, it had for a considerable time been the usual if not the invariable practice for the drivers & firemen to do the trimming themselves. The dependant of the driver having made a claim for compensation against his employers, it was followed in due course by a request for arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) : —Held : deceased incurred, not a risk incidental to his employment, but a new & added peril by using the running rail as an anvil, it not being a peril which his contract of service either involved or at all obliged him to encounter. Award for resps.—STEVENS v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 756 ; 118 L. T. 792 ; 11 B. W. C. C. 7, C. A.

2428. Surgeon—Voluntary submission to experiment.]—An infirmary received a present of X-ray apparatus. Nobody knew the time for necessary exposure for treatment of ringworm, but a house-surgeon volunteered to have an experimental exposure on his own arm. The result of this was a serious burn :—Held : the accident did not arise out of the employment.—CURTIS v. TALBOT & KIDDERMINSTER INFIRMARY COMMITTEE (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 41, C. A.

2429. Farm labourer returning to farm for pay—Injury while mounting empty cart.]—Appct. was employed on different farms belonging to resp. Having finished his work at one farm, appct. was proceeding to another, about two miles distant by road, for the purpose of receiving his day's pay & to inquire about the work for the next day. Finding an empty cart belonging to resp. returning to the same farm, appct. attempted to get into it, & while so doing an accident occurred to him. Resp.'s workmen not unfrequently returned in such an empty cart, & this fact was known to him :—Held : it was no part of appct.'s contract of service that he should travel to his employer's farm by a cart, whereby he added unnecessarily to the risk of his employer ; & therefore he was not entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—PARKER v. POUT (1911), 105 L. T. 493 ; 5 B. W. C. C. 45, C. A.

2430. Workman returning to work—Loitering in dangerous area.]—Repair work was being done to a ship in dock, &, in consequence, part of the quay was roped off as dangerous, notices being put up to that effect. Men going to the ship to work often went under the ropes & across the dangerous area, as it was the quickest way. Deceased was employed on the ship as a boiler scaler, but had nothing to do with the repair work. After his dinner hour, having signed on at the tally house, he returned by way of this dangerous area. He stood for some minutes within the area watching the repair work, & was killed by a rope, attached to the ship, snapping & hitting him :—Held : the accident did not arise out of the employment.—MURRAY v. ALLAN BROTHERS & CO. (U. K.), LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 215, C. A.

2431. Assistant porter at hospital—Dusting lift.]—An assistant porter at a hospital, whilst ascending in a lift to do cleaning work on the top floor, went up some steps which he had placed in the lift, & sat on the top step for the purpose of dusting the top of the lift. He was crushed between the top step, which projected above the top of the lift, & a beam at the top of the lift shaft. He had never been told to dust the lift. He had helped to grease it before, but only in the presence & under the orders of the head porter, when the lift was at rest :—Held : the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—WHITEMAN v. CLIFDEN (VISCOUNT) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 49, C. A.

2432. Man employed to walk beside traction engine—Injured while attending to lamps.]—A man was employed to walk beside a traction engine to help if necessary, persons in vehicles on the road wishing to pass the engine. He had nothing to do with the engine itself. If the lamps wanted attending to, it was his duty to call the attention of the engine driver to them. One night one of the lamps burnt dimly & the man, by walking sideways when the traction engine was moving, attempted to put it right. He slipped & was fatally injured. The county ct. judge found that it was no part of his duty to touch the lamps & awarded for the employers, on the ground that the accident did not arise out of the employment : —Held : there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—PAYNE v. CURTIS & SON (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 29, C. A.

2433. Porter sent to deliver parcels—No person at place of delivery—Accident while asleep.]—A porter, a man twenty-six years of age & in good health, was sent with a parcel weighing 17 lbs. a distance of some three miles on a very hot day. When he arrived at the house to which he was sent he knocked at the door ; but no one was in, & he sat down on a coping at the top of some steps leading to the door. About half an hour later, he fell off the coping into the area below, & received injuries from which he died a few days later:—Held: the accident did not arise "out of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—KETTLE v. MCKAY & RYLAND (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1490; 115 L. T. 397; 9 B. W. C. C. 544, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (b) ii., & (c).]

2434. Workman travelling by goods lift.]—A workman employed in packing parcels, & in the course of his work required to go from the second floor of the establishment to the ground floor, made use of a lift only intended for carrying parcels from one floor to another, & quite unsuitable for use by a man, in order to descend to the ground floor & return to the second floor. In so doing his head was crushed, & he met his death:—Held: the use of the lift was an added risk & not within the scope of the workman's employment, & his dependant could not recover compensation, as the accident did not arise out of the employment.—PALMER v. HARRODS, LTD. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1659; 114 L. T. 869; 32 T. L. R. 382; 9 B. W. C. C. 291, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Warden v. Enthoven (1916), 116 L. T. 103.

2435. Workman killed by poisonous fumes—Coke fire lit for own convenience.]—A coppersmith was engaged in doing work upon a warship in dry dock. The men worked in shifts of twenty-four hours, with intervals for meals, one of which was between 3.30 a.m. & 4 a.m. The workman & a companion were found dead at 8 a.m. in a confined space on the vessel, death having been caused by asphyxiation from carbon fumes given off by a coke fire the men had lit in a bucket for their own comfort, the weather being very cold at the time:—Held: the death being caused by a peril imported by the workman for his own convenience, & unnecessary for his employment, did not result from injury by any accident arising out of the employment.—ARMITSTEAD v. HUMBER GRAVING DOCK & ENGINEERING CO., LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 140; 120 L. T. 161; 63 Sol. Jo. 114; 11 B. W. C. C. 269, C. A.

2436. Attempt to board tramcar in motion.]—A chief steward of a steamship went ashore to make some purchases for the use of the steamship, & on his way back at night attempted to board a tramcar in motion, but slipped & fell & was severely injured. In his evidence he stated that he believed it was the last car that evening, & that he considered it to be his duty to get on to it if possible, so as to get to the steamship that night:—Held: he had taken upon himself an added risk or peril which was not incidental to his employment, & consequently the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—BYRNE v. LARRINAGA S.S. CO., LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 1255; 120 L. T. 163; 63 Sol. Jo. 114; 11 B. W. C. C. 260, C. A.

2437. ——.]—Applt.'s husband was employed by resps. to supervise the weighing of cotton at their various warehouses in Liverpool. He was allowed by his employers to use the tramcars to get from their head office to a warehouse, from warehouse to warehouse & back to the head office. One day, having concluded his work at a warehouse, he was returning to the head office. In attempting to get on a tramcar which had just started to move from a stopping place he fell & was killed. The regulations of the tramway authority forbade passengers attempting to get on or alight from tramcars in motion. The county ct. judge held that the accident did not arise out of deceased's employment because the act of deceased in attempting to board the tramcar when in motion was an act which he did at his own risk, & his employers were not liable:—Held: the judge had misdirected himself. It being within the scope of the workman's employment to use the tramcar to get from the office to a warehouse & from warehouse to warehouse & back to the office, the mere fact of his trying to get on a tramcar which had just started to move from a stopping place, was not sufficient to support a finding that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment. The case must go back to the judge to find whether on the facts the act of the workman was an act of negligence in doing something which was within the scope of his employment, or an act which in its nature was such as to take the case outside Workmen's Compensation Acts altogether.—GUEST v. GASTON & CO., [1927] 1 K. B. 1; 95 L. J. K. B. 759; 135 L. T. 400; 42 T. L. R. 547; 70 Sol. Jo. 667; 19 B. W. C. C. 237, C. A.

2438. Workman using unlighted path—Lavatory provided by employers.]—A workman employed at works close to the river Thames being desirous while at work at night, of relieving himself, did so in a pail, & went to throw the contents of the pail into the river. The way to the river was dark, &, in doing this, he fell over the quayside & struck his shoulder against a barge lying at the quay, & was incapacitated. There were lavatories provided by the employers some 250 yards from where the man was working, & the way to the

---

2436 i. Attempt to board tramcar in motion.]—A message-clerk who was sent a message by his employers, & had been provided with money to pay his tramway fare, was injured while attempting to board, a short distance from its stopping-place, a car which was moving at the rate of five miles an hour. He acted without invitation & contrary to a notice on the car, of which he was aware:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—WEMYSS COAL CO., LTD. v. SYMON, [1912] S. C. 1239; 49 Sc. L. R. 921; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 127; 6 B. W. C. C. 298.—SCOT.

h. Workman taking circuitous route on ship—Route unlighted & dangerous.]—PASH v. VICTORIAN STEVEDORING & GENERAL CONTRACTING CO. PTY., LTD., [1920] V. L. R. 35.—AUS.

k. ——.]—A mate employed on a dredger elected to cross the vessel by an obviously dangerous, but not prohibited, route, although an alternative & comparatively safe way was available. He was caught between the platform & the mast, & sustained injuries which resulted in his death:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—ROSSITER v. PORT OF WATERFORD COMRS. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 550.—IR.

l. —— Increased rather than added risk.]—READFORD v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., [1921] N. Z. L. R. 40.—N.Z.

m. Manual labourer — Assisting fellow workman outside his ordinary work & without authority.]—FERGUSON v. BRICK & SUPPLIES, LTD. (1914), 27 W. L. R. 70; 5 W. W. R. 1227; 16 D. L. R. 67; 7 Alta. L. R. 337.—CAN.

n. Deliberate adoption of dangerous method of work.]—A workman who, with full knowledge of the risk he is taking, deliberately adopts a dangerous method of doing his work, where there is open to him another method of doing it which is free from risk, cannot impose liability upon his employer for personal injuries resulting entirely from his adoption of the unsafe course.—POWELL v. THOMAS, JAMIESON & MACKENZIE, LTD. (Alta.), [1918] 3 W. W. R. 901.—CAN.

o. —— Application of principle.]—The application of the principle that a worker who, in carrying out his employment, selects a course of action fraught with obvious & unnecessary danger, goes outside of the course of his employment depends not on any previously definable state of facts, but on the circumstances of the particular case under consideration.—TAKLE, ETC. v. BRYANT & SHIEL BROTHERS, [1919] V. L. R. 656.—AUS.

p. Workman collecting coal for van after working hours—When forbidden lavatories was lighted. It was proved that there was a practice among the workmen of relieving themselves in this manner, but it was not established that the practice was known to the employers:—Held: the accident was due to an added risk incurred by the workman & did not arise out of his employment, &, therefore, he was not entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—HORNER v. WANDSWORTH, WIMBLEDON & EPSOM GAS CO. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 355; 120 L. T. 463; 12 B. W. C. C. 21, C. A.

2439. Carter interfering with crane.]—The workman while employed as a carter by resps., who carried on the business of builders, was using a horse & cart in the builder's yard. There was in the yard a large hand crane which was not intended to be used, as at the time it was not sufficiently connected at the base, & a tub of bricks was attached to the arm to prevent it swaying. The workman, having had trouble with his horse when he had to take it near the crane, to prevent further inconvenience attempted to shift the tub on the crane, but in doing so the crane not being steady owing to its base, tilted over, & he was struck on the head, receiving serious injuries, causing total incapacity. The county court judge held that the act of interfering with the crane was outside the scope of the employment, & therefore not within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, & consequently could not come under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7:—Held: whether the act was within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, was in the circumstances a question of fact, & there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection, & therefore Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, did not apply.—HAWKINS v. KENDRICK (W.) & SON (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 325, C. A.

(c) Acting in Emergency.

2440. General rule.]—An accident happening to a workman who, while in his master's employment & on his master's work, does upon an emergency an act in the interests of his master outside the scope of what he was employed to do, & suffers injury while doing the act, is within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).

A fireman employed in a coal-mine was in the course of his duty carrying a report of the state of the mine from the pit's mouth to the office; the horse drawing the tramway truck in which he was riding ran away, & in endeavouring to stop it he fell & was killed:—Held: the accident arose out of or in the course of the workman's employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).—REES v. THOMAS, [1899] 1 Q. B. 1015; 68 L. J. Q. B. 539; 80 L. T. 578; 47 W. R. 504; 15 T. L. R. 301; 43 Sol. Jo. 397; 1 W. C. C. 9, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Jones v. Tarr, [1926] 1 K. B. 25.

2441. Stopping employer's horse.]—REES v. THOMAS, No. 2440, ante.

2442. Altering points to avoid collision.]—Appct., a boy, was employed to grease the wheels of railway trucks. Having greased all that were ready & while waiting for more to come up, he went & sat on a point lever in front of a fire which was a short distance away. Seeing an engine coming up, & thinking that the points were in a wrong position, the boy pulled the lever, but the engine forced the points open, with the result that he was thrown against the engine by the lever & injured:—Held: the county ct. judge was right in finding that the accident arose "out of & in the course of the employment," & the boy had not been guilty of serious & wilful misconduct.—HARRISON v. WHITAKER BROTHERS, LTD. (1899), 64 J. P. 54; 16 T. L. R. 108; 2 W. C. C. 12, C. A.

2443. Endeavouring to drive lion back into cage.]—HAPELMAN v. POOLE, No. 2595, post.

2444. Enemy bombardment—Risk run common to every one.]—COOPER v. NORTH-EASTERN RY. CO., No. 2581, post.

2445. Seaman employed on liner—Protection of passengers from insult.]—Appct. was employed as third baker on board the Ormonde. While the steamer was at Port Said, during an interval in his work of baking, appct. went on deck for fresh air, as he was permitted to do. As he was proceeding up the companion way he heard an Egyptian using very foul language to two English lady passengers who had accidentally brushed against the Egyptian in passing him. The baker told the Egyptian to stop, & threatened to have him turned off the steamer if he did not stop. The Egyptian thereupon drew out a knife & attacked him, & appct. in self-defence used his fists & struck the Egyptian a severe blow in the face. The Egyptian was subsequently turned off the steamer by the master-at-arms. Appct., in striking the Egyptian, cut his knuckles against the Egyptian's teeth. In consequence of this, blood poisoning set in which resulted in total incapacity. On a claim for compensation the judge at the City of London Ct. found that appct.'s incapacity was caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & made an award in his favour:—Held: in protecting a lady passenger committed to his employers' care, from insult, although not doing something which was part of his specific duties, appct. was discharging in this emergency an implied duty upon him as a member of the crew. There was therefore evidence to support the award & no misdirection.—CULPECK v. ORIENT STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 187, C. A.

2446. Act done in aid of workman not fellow employee.]—J., together with G. & S., was employed upon brickwork in a pit belonging to resp., who supplied all the tools. J. was in charge of the job, & being in need of a bricking hammer, sent G. & S. to a neighbouring pit, belonging to H., to fetch a hammer belonging to J.'s brother. S. let G. down H.'s pit. G. found the hammer, but when S. was winding up the bucket, G. was overcome by noxious gas & fell out of it. S. immediately fetched J., who went down H.'s pit to rescue G., but he, too, was overcome by the by foreman.]—LAJOIE v. R. (1921), 20 Exch. C. R. 473; 69 D. L. R. 147.—CAN.

---

q. Workman in front instead of in rear of vehicle—Traction engine.]—M'KEOWN v. M'MURRAY (1911), 45 I. L. T. 190.—IR.

r. —— Lorry.]—REVIE v. CUMMING, [1911] S. C. 1032.—SCOT.

t. Workman swimming river instead of using boat provided.]—GUILFOYLE v. FENNESSY (1912), 47 I. L. T. 19; 6 B. W. C. C. 453.—IR.

a. Canal overseer on railway line—Unnecessarily & without authority.]—M'LAREN v. CALEDONIAN RY. CO., [1911] S. C. 1075.—SCOT.

b. Electrician cleaning apparatus—Without switching off current.]—BROWN v. BATON COLLIERY CO., [1921] S. C. 323.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (c).

c. Adjusting machinery of fellow workman—Though not in charge of machinery.]—M'QUIBBAN v. MENZIES (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 732; 37 Sc. L. R. 526; 7 S. L. T. 432.—SCOT.

d. Rescue of fellow workman in

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (c) & (d).]

gas, & both he & G. lost their lives. J.'s daughter claimed compensation, & the county ct. judge awarded her damages:—Held: (1) in giving the order to G. & S., & in acting as he did, J. had himself stepped outside the sphere of his employment; he exposed himself to risk unconnected with his employment & to which he was not employed to expose himself; G. being at the moment a stranger to the common employer, it was not a case of emergency to a fellow workman so as to render the act of J. an act in the course of his employment; & appct. was not entitled to recover compensation, inasmuch as the accident did not arise out of & in the course of J.'s employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), & was therefore one to which Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, did not apply; (2) Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, did not enlarge the scope of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1.—JONES v. TARR, [1926] 1 K. B. 25; 95 L. J. K. B. 203; 133 L. T. 783; 41 T. L. R. 642; 69 Sol. Jo. 763; 18 B. W. C. C. 386, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Hawkins v. Kendrick (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 325.

(d) Workman Acting for Own Purpose.

2447. Railway—Employee standing on footboard of moving train—To talk to friend.]—The Ct. of Appeal has jurisdiction under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), to entertain an appeal upon questions of law only. A workman in the employment of a railway co. as a platelayer was occasionally engaged in the duty of collecting tickets, & on one occasion, after having completed the collection of tickets, got on to the footboard of a carriage to speak to a passenger. It was found as a fact that he got on to the footboard not for any object of his employers, but only for his own pleasure. In getting off the train after it had started he fell between the platform & the train, & was killed:—Held: the accident did not arise out of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1); to render an employer liable to pay compensation the accident must arise not only "out of," but also "in the course of" the employment, & consequently the railway co. were not liable.—SMITH v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. Co., [1899] 1 Q. B. 141; 68 L. J. Q. B. 51; 79 L. T. 633; 47 W. R. 146; 15 T. L. R. 64; 43 Sol. Jo. 75; 1 W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. McNicholas v. Dawson, [1899] 1 Q. B. 773. Refd. Pomfret v. L. & Y. Ry., [1903] 2 K. B. 718; Dothie v. MacAndrew (1908), 98 L. T. 495; Robertson v. Allan (Liverpool & London), The Corsican (Owners) (1908), 98 L. T. 821; Low & Jackson v. General Steam Fishing Co., [1909] A. C. 523.

2448. —— —— ——.]—A railway porter closed the handle of a carriage door just as the train was starting, & in some manner slipped & fell between the train & the platform & was seriously injured. No one on the platform actually witnessed the accident, but the stationmaster two days afterwards obtained written statements from two passengers to whom the porter had been talking just before the train started. At the arbn. they gave evidence in favour of the workman, inconsistent with those statements, which were in fact put to them in cross-examination. The county ct. judge disbelieved the evidence of appct.'s witnesses, & found that appct. had not discharged the onus of proof which was upon him & that the accident happened by reason of the workman doing something entirely for his own pleasure, & therefore the accident did not arise out of his employment. On appeal it was argued that the facts contained in the statements had influenced the judge's mind:—Held: apart from such statements, which though inadmissible as direct evidence were properly admitted to discredit the witnesses, there was evidence to support the county ct. judge's finding & no misdirection.—PARSONS v. SOMERSET JOINT COMMITTEE OF SOUTH WESTERN & MIDLAND RY. COS. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 532, C. A.

2449. —— Engine driver crossing line to speak with friend.]—An engine driver in charge of his engine left it, &, for a purpose of his own & not in the execution of his duty or in the interest of his employers, crossed a siding. On returning to his engine he was killed by a waggon which was being shunted:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1.

I agree that in all these cases it is incumbent upon the claimant to make out that the accident in respect of which compensation is claimed arose out of & in the course of the injured man's employment, not upon the employers to prove the contrary (LORD MACNAUGHTEN).

It is not that he thereby violated a rule, but that the accident did not arise out of or take place in the course of the employment at all. It took place while for the moment he quitted his employment (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—REED v. GREAT WESTERN RY. Co., [1909] A. C. 31; 78 L. J. K. B. 31; 99 L. T. 781; 25 T. L. R. 36; 53 Sol. Jo. 31; 2 B. W. C. C. 109, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Low (or Jackson) v. General Steam Fishing Co., [1909] A. C. 523; Corlett v. L. & Y. Ry. (1918), 120 L. T. 236. Refd. Mackinnon v. Miller (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 64; Williams v. Wigan Coal & Iron Co. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 65; Evans v. Astley (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 319; Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 848; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Tinker v. Hulse (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 28; Bratton v. Jonas & Colver (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 305.

2450. —— Workman travelling on train provided by employer—Leaving train in motion for own purpose.]—A collier who was riding in a railway train that was provided by his employers for the use of the colliers, under an arrangement with the railway co., attempted to leave it while it was in motion, in violation of the regulations of the railway co., at a distance of about one hundred yards from the colliers' platform, entirely for a purpose of his own, that is to say, to shorten the way to his home. He suffered such injuries as to danger.]—LONDON & EDINBURGH SHIPPING Co. v. BROWN (1905), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 488.—SCOT.

---

e. ——.]—MULLEN v. STEWART & Co., LTD., [1908] S. C. 991; 45 Sc. L. R. 729; 16 S. L. T. 172; 1 B. W. C. C. 204.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (d).

f. General rule.]—An accident occurring to a workman while doing something purely for his personal convenience, & foreign to his duty, is not an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.—SCALZO v. COLUMBIA MACCARONI FACTORY (1912), 17 B. C. R. 201.—CAN.

g. Own purpose—What amounts to.]—In determining whether an accident arose out of & in the course of the employment within Workers' Compensation Act, 1916, s. 5, where a worker is injured while doing something on his employers' premises for his own immediate purpose & benefit, though still under his contract of service, the ct. will consider whether or not he was in the circumstances making a reasonable use of the facilities afforded him for so doing.—CAMPBELL v. NORTHCOTE BRICK Co., LTD., [1921] V. L. R. 133.—AUS.

2449 i. Railway—Engine driver crossing line to speak with friend.]—GOODLET v. CALEDONIAN RY. Co. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 986; 39 Sc. L. R. 759; 10 S. L. T. 203.—SCOT.

h. —— Workman climbing on wagon when returning home.]—MORRISON v. CLYDE NAVIGATION TRUSTEES, [1909] cause " serious & permanent disablement " within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (c):—Held: the contract between the employers & the workman was not to take him from any part of the colliery to any part of the railway line where he might be minded to alight; & the accident to the workman at the place where & at the time when it happened was not an " accident arising out of & in the course of the employment," it being caused by an added peril for his own personal convenience & for nothing else.—PRICE v. TREDEGAR IRON & COAL CO., LTD. (1914), 111 L. T. 688; 30 T. L. R. 583; 58 Sol. Jo. 632; 7 B. W. C. C. 387, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Jibb v. Chadwicke (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1241.

2451. —— —— ——.]—A railway servant who, against the rules of the co., & for his own convenience, jumps out of a train in motion is deliberately taking an added peril which is not within the scope of his employment; & consequently his dependants, in the event of his being fatally injured, are not entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—WILSON v. LONDON & NORTH-WESTERN RY. CO. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 843; 118 L. T. 796; 11 B. W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2452. —— Deviation in returning from latrine.]—Appct., a youth in the employment of resps. on their railway as a crane driver, had the necessity to visit the W.C. On returning therefrom he proceeded along the railway line on the 10 foot way & he stepped across it to the 4 foot way to ask a boy the time. A bale of cotton which was being rolled from a cart on the road with the object of being ultimately loaded on a railway waggon fell & struck appct. while he was standing between the rails. If he had continued on the 10 foot way the accident would not have happened to him:—Held: the terms of appct.'s employment required him to run a risk in passing from the crane to the W.C. & back over a perilous route; the mere fact of his asking the boy the time was not such a departure from the sphere of his employment as to show that he was running a risk that was not part of his employment; & therefore the accident arose " out of " as well as " in the course of " his employment, entitling him to compensation from his employers.—CORLETT v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO. (1918), 120 L. T. 236; 63 Sol. Jo. 115; sub nom. CORBETT v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., 11 B. W. C. C. 293, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Bratton v. Jonas & Colver (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 305.

2453. Seaman—Going ashore for meal.]—Applt.'s husband was employed by resps. to watch trawlers as they lay in Granton Harbour. He was on duty for twenty-five hours, during which time he had to provide his own food; & in connection with his duties it was occasionally necessary for him to be on the quay. In the course of his watch he left the trawlers & went to an hotel which was a short distance away from the harbour, where he got half a glass of whisky & a glass of beer. He was absent a very short time, & on his return to the quay, while descending a fixed ladder attached to the quay to go on board one of the trawlers, he fell into the water & was drowned:—Held: the accident arose " out of & in the course of " the employment of deceased within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for when the accident occurred he had returned to the quay which was the scene or sphere of his duty.—LOW (OR JACKSON) v. GENERAL STEAM FISHING CO., LTD., [1909] A. C. 523; 78 L. J. P. C. 148; 101 L. T. 401; 25 T. L. R. 787; 53 Sol. Jo. 763; 2 B. W. C. C. 56.

Annotations:—Apld. Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 615. Refd. Hewitt v. Ship Duchess, [1910] 1 K. B. 772; Moore v. Manchester Liners, [1910] A. C. 498; Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523; Warren v. Hedley's Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136; Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Braine v. Port of London Authority (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 342.

2454. —— ——.]—An engineer on a ship which was lying in dry dock, after completing his morning's work of getting stores on board, went home to his dinner, & on his return fell into the dry dock, where his dead body was found:—Held: there was no evidence that the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & his dependants were not entitled to compensation.—GILBERT v. NIZAM (OWNERS), [1910] 2 K. B. 555; 79 L. J. K. B. 1172; 103 L. T. 163; 26 T. L. R. 604; 3 B. W. C. C. 455, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Parker v. Black Rock (Owners) (1914), 110 L. T. 520. Refd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757.

2455. —— ——.]—One of the duties of a ship's steward was to victual the ship when in port, at a certain store some three hundred yards away from the quay. The store was within the dock gates. When he went to the store he was permitted to visit his home, which was one & a half miles in a different direction. One morning he left the ship with a list of stores required, went home & breakfasted, & in returning to the stores was killed by a dock engine soon after he had entered the dock gates & when he was about four hundred yards from the store. The accident happened between his home & the store & not between the store & the quay. He had the list of required stores in his hand when knocked down:—Held: the accident did not arise out of or in the course of his employment.—LEE v. ST. GEORGE (OWNERS) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 85, C. A.

2456. —— Going ashore for provisions.]—A fireman on board a steamship went ashore, with leave, to buy provisions for himself. When he endeavoured to return to the ship the night was rough & dark, & he fell off the pier where the ship was supposed to be, though in fact she had been moved, & was drowned. In his contract of service, which was contained in a printed document issued by the Board of Trade, the Board of Trade scale of provisions was struck out & the words " Crew to provide their own provisions " were substituted:—Held: the deceased owed no duty to his employer to go ashore to buy provisions & his death was not caused by accident arising out of his employment.—PARKER v. BLACK ROCK (OWNERS), [1915] A. C. 725; 83 L. J. K. B. 1373; 113 L. T. 515; 31 T. L. R. 432; 59 Sol. Jo. 475; 8 B. W. C. C. 327; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 137, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Apld. Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844. Consd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford,

---

S. C. 59; 46 Sc. L. R. 40; 16 S. L. T. 454; 2 B. W. C. C. 99.—SCOT.

2456*l.* Seaman—Going ashore for provisions.]—MARTIN v. FULLERTON & CO., [1908] S. C. 1030; 45 Sc. L. R. 812; 16 S. L. T. 219; 1 B. W. C. C. 168.—SCOT.

k. —— Going ashore on own business.]—A sailor, returning on board his ship after a trip on shore unconnected with his employment, fell into the water from steps leading from the gangway, of which they formed part, & was drowned:—Held: this was not an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment.—HYNDMAN v. CRAIG & CO. (1910), 44 I. L. T. 11; 4 B. W. C. C. 438.—IR.

l. —— ——.]—M'LEAN v. MACBRAYNE (DAVID), LTD., [1916] S. C. 338; 53 Sc. L. R. 254; [1916] 1 S. L. T. 76.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. (d), (e), (f), (g) & (h), & E. (a).]

[1920] A. C. 757; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Refd. Whitfield v. Lambert (1915), 112 L. T. 803; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304; Newton v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 26.

2457. —— Going ashore to sleep.]—A ship's fireman left his ship lying in the Thames at Deptford on Sunday, & went to his son's house at Poplar, where he slept the night. Early next morning he made his way back towards his ship. On reaching the public quay, St. George's Steps, Deptford, he hailed a waterman, but on descending the steps slipped, fell, & was injured:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—KELLY v. FOAM QUEEN (OWNERS) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523.

2458. —— Finding ship moved—Accident while proceeding to new berth.]—A seaman went ashore with leave for his own purposes. When he returned late at night he found that the ship had meanwhile been moved to another part of the dock; he proceeded to make his way to the ship, along the dock-side, which had many railway lines upon it. He was injured by a train on the docks, about two hundred yards from his ship:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—BIGGART v. MINNESOTA (OWNERS) (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 68, C. A.

2459. Carter—Deviation for refreshment.]—A carter was sent with a horse & cart to deliver a load of sand. Instead of returning to his employers' yard by the nearest & ordinary way, he, for his own purposes, went back by another road, which was only a little farther, & stopped at a public-house to drink. On resuming his journey back, the horse ran away & he was thrown out of the cart & killed:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the man's employment.—EVERITT v. EASTAFF & Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 184, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Dennis v. Taylor (1919), 89 L. J. K. B. 158.

2460. Collier—Leaving work to inquire time.]—A collier was employed to work in a special stall in a mine. At regular intervals a haulier brought trucks to take the coal away. On the night in question the collier commenced work at 11 p.m., & would have had to leave the mine at 7 a.m. The haulier on one occasion seemed late in coming, & the collier walked some distance away to ascertain the time from two other colliers. The time was 4.20 a.m. On his return journey he was killed by a fall of the roof. The county ct. judge found the collier had not gone to see the time in the interests of his employers, & that there was a temporary interruption of the employment. He thereupon held that the accident did not arise out of or in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.

I think if a man for his own purposes deliberately goes away from the place where he was employed, & meets with an accident on the way back before he reaches the point where he should be to do his duty, the judge is justified in finding, primâ facie, that the accident did not arise in the course of his employment (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—WARREN v. HEDLEY'S COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136, C. A.

2461. Injury while hiding provisions on ledge under machine in motion.]—An apprentice, in charge of a printing machine, injured his hand while putting a tin of condensed milk on a ledge in the machine immediately below the running machinery. The practice of keeping things for tea in this place had existed for a long time, but was kept entirely a secret to prevent pilfering by other workmen:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—KEEN v. ST. CLEMENT'S PRESS, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 542, C. A.

2462. Injury while working for outside firm.]—OATES v. TURNER (THOMAS) & Co., No. 2236, ante.

2463. Injury while gossiping with fellow workman.]—Appct., a lad of fifteen, was employed by resps. as a lathe learner at their works. The foreman told him to ask H. for a screw cap required for his lathe. H. was engaged at a lathe close by. H. had not one, but said he thought M. had. M., in fact, had a spare cap, but refused to give it to appct., who then returned to H., & the two had a chat. While the lad was standing talking to H., the latter put a nut in a vice & began chipping it. This act was no part of H.'s employment. A chip of metal from this nut hit appct.'s eye, & the eye had to be removed. The county ct. judge found that the accident happened to appct. while idling away his time talking with another workman, & held that it did not arise out of or in the course of his employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—TINKER v. HULSE & Co., LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 28, C. A.

(e) Workman as mere Licencee.

2464. Agreement that workman should have conveyance to convey luggage to house—Accident while in charge of horse & cart.]—Appct., who was a farm hand, was hired by resp., who was a farmer, to enter resp.'s employment on Nov. 13, 1913. It was a term of the employment that appct. could have a horse & cart to convey his box from the railway station to resp.'s farm. About 12.30 p.m. on the date fixed appct. arrived at the farm, having cycled over from his home, & his box was then at the railway station. Resp.'s wife, having given appct. his dinner, told her boy to show appct. which horse he had to take. The boy pointed out a horse. The appct. harnessed the horse to the cart & proceeded towards the railway station to procure his box. On the way the horse was frightened by a motor, & an accident happened whereby appct. was seriously injured:—Held: appct. in going with the horse & cart, for his box, was not fulfilling any contract by resp., to carry that box from the railway station to the farm; appct. was merely using resp.'s horse & cart with leave & licence as it was agreed that he should be at liberty to do; he was going on his own business & not on resp.'s business, &

2462 l. Injury while working for outside firm.]—CARLTON v. SINCLAIR, LTD., [1914] S. C. 871.—SCOT.

m. Domestic servant drying hair in front of fire.]—CLIFFORD v. JOY (1909), 43 I. L. T. 193; 2 B. W. C. C. 32.—IR.

n. Roadman tending fire of steam roller—Private arrangement with driver.]—M'ALLAN v. PERTHSHIRE C. C. WESTERN DISTRICT (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 783; 43 Sc. L. R. 592; 14 S. L. T. 36.—SCOT.

o. Fish porter—Crossing railway line to make unnecessary inquiries.]—HENDRY v. CALEDONIAN RY., [1907] S. C. 732.—SCOT.

p. Boy ascending by crane—Not in pursuance of any duty.]—RODGERS v. UNITED TURKEY RED CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 906.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (e).

q. Employee on premises of employer during hours of employment but returning from his own business.]—CONYEA v. CANADIAN NORTHERN RY.

therefore the accident did not arise "out of" appct.'s employment having regard to the evidence.—WHITFIELD v. LAMBERT (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1378; 112 L. T. 803; 8 B. W. C. C. 91, C. A.

(f) Workman "Larking."

2465. Boy throwing missile at another boy—Injuring different boy.]—Where an accident happened to a workman, while engaged at his work, through the tortious act of a fellow workman which had no relation whatever to their employment:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).—ARMITAGE v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., [1902] 2 K. B. 178; 71 L. J. K. B. 778; 86 L. T. 883; 66 J. P. 613; 18 T. L. R. 648; 4 W. C. C. 5, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Fitzgerald v. Clarke, [1908] 2 K. B 796. Consd. Murray v. Denholm (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 496. Refd. Pomfret v. L. & Y. Ry., [1903] 2 K. B. 718; Challis v. L. & S. W. Ry., [1905] 2 K. B. 154; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667.

2466. ——.]—Applt., a boy, was employed at resp.'s colliery to pick stones out of coal. Another boy in the same employment threw a stone, as the arbitrator found mischievously & tortiously, which struck applt. in the left eye, & injured it, so that he lost the sight of that eye. There was evidence that the boys employed sometimes threw stones to attract the attention of others, & there was a notice up at the colliery prohibiting the practice. In a proceeding under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was evidence on which the arbitrator might find that the accident arose out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—CLAYTON v. HARDWICK COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 292; 114 L. T. 241; 32 T. L. R. 159; 60 Sol. Jo. 138; 9 B. W. C. C. 136, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1; Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; Read v. Baker, [1916] 1 K. B. 927.

2467. Practical joke by fellow workmen.]—FITZGERALD v. CLARKE (W. G.) & SON, No. 2332, ante.

2468. Boy playing with machine.]—A boy who had charge of the handle of a machine, lifted off the cover over some pinion wheels & played with them, with the result that his hand was caught in the wheels & the end of one of his fingers was torn off. He had orders not to lift the cover or touch the pinion wheels:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.—FURNISS v. GARTSIDE & CO., LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 411, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Cole v. Evans, Lescher & Webb (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 138.

2469. ——.]—A lad, set to clean a machine at rest, was larking with another lad, & accidentally started the machine, thereby injuring himself:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—COLE v. EVANS, SON, LESCHER & WEBB, LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 138, C. A.

2470. Fall from a push.]—A workman went for some purpose to a fellow workman in a workshop; on parting he tapped his friend on the back with a rule & received a push in return, from which he fell & was injured. The county ct. judge found they were larking:—Held: the accident did not arise out of, & in the course of the employment.—WRIGLEY v. NASMYTH WILSON & CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 90, C. A.

(g) Acts Done under Order of Superior.

See Sub-sect. 2, F., post.

(h) Acts in Accordance with Custom or Practice.

See Sub-sect. 2, H., post.

E. Prohibited Acts.

(a) In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).

2471. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).]—WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO. v. M'FERRIN, KERR v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO., No. 2499, post.

2472. Distinction between prohibitions defining what work to be done—& those defining how work to be done.]—The question whether a servant who violates his master's order is or is not acting in the course of his employment depends on whether the order is or is not one limiting or defining the scope of the servant's employment.

A workman was employed as a carpenter, & part of his duty was to sharpen his tools on a grindstone rotated by machinery. He had received orders not to touch the machinery. The band that rotated the grindstone having slipped he endeavoured to replace it, & in doing so was injured. On a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge found that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment of the workman, & negatived serious & wilful misconduct on his part, & made an award in his favour:—Held: the disobedience of the master's order did not of itself prevent the act of the workman from being an act done in the course of his employment, & as it had not been shown that the replacing of the band was an act on the part of the workman so remote from his ordinary duties that it could not fairly be said to be one arising out of & in the course of his employment, the award must stand.—WHITEHEAD v. READER, [1901] 2 K. B. 48; 70 L. J. K. B. 546; 84 L. T.

Co. (1913), 26 W. L. R. 57; 5 W. W. R. 607; 14 D. L. R. 685; 6 Sask. L. R. 55.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (f).

2466 i. Boy throwing missile at another boy.]—BAIRD (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD. v. BURLEY (1908), 45 Sc. L. R. 416; 1 B. W. C. C. 7.—SCOT.

r. Farm labourer pointing gun in fun at domestic servant—Gun carried with authority—Accidental discharge.]—HILLIS v. SHAW (1913), 47 I. L. T. 221.—IR.

t. Horse play.]—A workman in the course of his employment met with an accident caused by his fellow workmen, who at the time were not engaged at their work, but were indulging in horse-play:—Held: the accident was not one arising "out of" the employment.—FALCONER v. LONDON & GLASGOW ENGINEERING, ETC. CO. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 564.—SCOT.

a. Fellow workman grabbing tool in anger from injured workman.]—M'INTYRE v. RODGER & CO. (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 176; 41 Sc. L. R. 107; 11 S. L. T. 467.—SCOT.

b. Ball thrown at nurse by fellow servant—Nurse playing with child at time of injury.]—A domestic servant while engaged in the performance of her duties was struck on the eye by a child's ball playfully thrown at her by a fellow-servant, the child's nurse, with the result that she almost completely lost the sight of the eye:—Held: that the accident arose out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, s. 1 (1).—WILSON v. LAING, [1909] S. C. 1230; 46 Sc. L. R. 843; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 18; 2 B. W. C. C. 118.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (a).

c. General rule.]—An employee in doing an act which is unnecessary & which is to his knowledge expressly forbidden by his employer's rules is acting outside the scope of his employment & cannot recover for injuries received in doing it.—JACKSON v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (Sask.), [1919] 3 W. W. R. 706.—CAN.

d. Distinction between prohibitions

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (a) & (b) i. & ii.]

514; 65 J. P. 403; 49 W. R. 562; 17 T. L. R. 387; 3 W. C. C. 40, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Conway v. Pumpherston Oil Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 392; Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co., [1911] 2 K. B. 747; Chilton v. Blair (1914), 111 L. T. 782; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Gaunt v. Babcock & Wilcox (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 733. Apld. Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Laurence or Wilson or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225.

2473. —— ——.]—BARNES v. NUNNERY COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2489, post.

2474. —— ——.]—PLUMB v. COBDEN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., No. 2415, ante.

2475. Duty of arbitrator—To decide nature of prohibited act.]—A machine minder injured her hand while engaged in her employment, through having it drawn into the moving machinery. The evidence left it doubtful how the accident happened, but the county ct. judge held it did not arise out of the employment, on the ground that she was doing something at the time which was dangerous & was fully aware of her danger:—Held: there must be a new trial, on the ground that the judge had not decided whether there was misconduct within the sphere of the employment, or whether the accident was due to undertaking an added risk not incidental to the employment.—ROGERS v. GARSIDE (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 91, C. A.

(b) Prohibition Limiting Sphere of Work.

i. In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).

2476. Manual labourer—Interfering with machinery.]—A boy was employed in a pottery; his duty was to make balls of clay & hand them to the woman working at a machine, & he was forbidden to interfere in any way with the machinery. He sustained an injury through attempting to clean the machine while the woman was temporarily absent:—Held: the accident did not arise out of or in the course of his employment, & therefore he was not entitled to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).—LOWE v. PEARSON, [1899] 1 Q. B. 261; 68 L. J. Q. B. 122; 79 L. T. 654; 47 W. R. 193; 15 T. L. R. 124; 43 Sol. Jo. 139; 1 W. C. C. 5, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Rees v. Thomas, [1899] 1 Q. B. 1015. Distd. Whitehead v. Reader, [1901] 2 K. B. 48. Apld. Losh v. Evans (1902), 19 T. L. R. 142. Reld. Davies v. Gwaunceagurwen Colliery Co., [1921] 2 K. B. 651.

2477. —— ——.]—A baker in a steam bakery required to have an engine started, in order to mix the dough he had prepared. The man in charge of the engine being absent, he started the engine himself. He had often done so before, & had been forbidden to do so. The machinery caught him up & killed him. The county ct. judge found that he was not employed to touch the engine at all, & that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—MARRIOTT v. BRETT & BENEY, LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 145, C. A.

2478. —— ——.]—A boy was employed as a "box-minder" in woollen mills, & knew it was his duty, if the machine feeding the box was not working properly, to report the matter to the foreman, & not to touch it himself. A warp having slackened in passing over rollers, he endeavoured to tighten it himself with the result that his fingers were caught & crushed in the rollers:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—MCCABE v. NORTH (HENRY) & SONS, LTD. (1913), 109 L. T. 369; 6 B. W. C. C. 504, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Foulkes v. Roberts (1919), 122 L. T. 169.

2479. —— ——.]—A lad was employed to stand behind a machine & take skeins of wool as they came through some rollers & put them in a basket. On the day of the accident, contrary to express orders he went to the front of the machine & picked off the bits of fluff from the rollers. While doing this his hand was drawn in between the rollers & his arm so crushed that it had to be amputated. The county ct. judge found that picking fluff from the front of the rollers was an act outside the sphere of his employment & awarded the employers:—Held: it was a question of fact for the judge, & there was no misdirection.—HOPLEY v. POOL, LORRIMER & TABBERER (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 512, C. A.

2480. Workman dusting switchboard.]—A workman in a power house dusted the switchboard. It was no part of his duty, & he was expressly forbidden to do so. In doing this he fell against the live gear, & sustained injuries:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—JENKINSON v. HARRISON, AINSLIE & CO., LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 194, C. A.

2481. Alleged breach of rules as to shot firing—Accident occurring while loading.]—A quarryman was ramming a cartridge preparatory to blasting. The cartridge exploded prematurely & injured him. The employers alleged that the workman was acting outside the scope of his employment, in breach of certain special rules as to shot-firing. The rules, in fact, related only to the firing of shots, & not to loading. The explosion occurred whilst loading:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—JOYCE v. WELLINGBOROUGH IRON CO. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 126, C. A.

2482. Liftman cleaning & oiling lift.]—A liftman, forbidden to clean or oil the lift, was killed by the lift suddenly starting when he was cleaning & oiling it:—Held: the accident did not arise in the course of the employment.—DOUGAL v. WESTBROOK (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 705, C. A.

2483. Shunter going between moving trucks.]—By a regulation made by a railway co. shunters were forbidden to go between two vehicles, for the purpose of coupling or uncoupling them, until the two had been brought to rest. In breach of this rule a shunter signalled the engine driver to "ease up" one of two corridor carriages for the purpose of coupling them together & got on the line standing by the carriage that was stationary, to await the shunting of the other carriage. He failed to allow for the projecting gangway, which struck him on the head & injured him fatally. The county ct. judge found that the risk he voluntarily ran was, by the regulation referred to, put outside the scope of his employment, & that the regulation had not been waived for safety of workmen—& those defining how work to be done.]—MORREAU v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. CO., [1921] 3 W. W. R. 156; 59 D. L. R. 458.—CAN.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (b) i.

e. Alleged breach of rules as to shot firing—Premature explosion.]—KERR v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 701.—SCOT.

f. Driver of canal boat steering although forbidden to do so.]—A man employed by the owner of a canal boat as driver, who was forbidden by his employer to take part in the steering or management of the boat, was drowned whilst engaged in steering. A boatman who had been temporarily in charge of the horse had deserted a short time before the accident, & the other boatman, who was also the master of the boat, then decided to drive, telling the deceased at the same time to steer:—Held: deceased had, in taking part in the steering of the boat, violated the orders of his employer, & the accident did not arise by any sanction or conduct of the employers, & that, therefore, the accident did not arise out of deceased's employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings & no misdirection. —COOK v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 100, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Mellor v. Ashton (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 128.

2484. Controlling trucks down incline from in front.]—A miner, whose duty it was to take hutches down an incline in a mine, by guiding them down at the side or from behind, attempted to do so by placing himself on the rails in front of them. This was in direct violation of an express verbal prohibition by his employers. He was fatally injured by being crushed between the hutches coming down & some stationary ones lower on the line. The sheriff-substitute held that the breach of this prohibition took the act of the workman outside the scope of his employment & awarded for the employers:—Held: the prohibition was one limiting the sphere of the employment & not one dealing merely with the workman's conduct within the sphere of employment. The accident therefore did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—FIFE COAL CO. v. BRAID (OR LAURENCE, OR WILSON, OR MURRAY) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225; 131 L. T. 513; 40 T. L. R. 555; sub nom. FIFE COAL CO., LTD. v. MCLEAN BRAID (OR LAURENCE, OR WILSON, OR MURRAY), 17 B. W. C. C. 120, H. L.

2485. Bootmaker doing repairs at home & out of hours.]—BORLEY v. OCKENDEN, No. 2573, post.

2486. Miner entering prohibited workings.]—Deceased was a miner, & was asphyxiated in a chamber which he entered to obtain tools that he had left there six weeks before, when working there. The chamber had been marked as a prohibited area. He was at the time of his death working in another chamber with borrowed tools, & could have continued to work with them. The county ct. judge refused to admit evidence of statements of deceased tending to establish that the tools he went to fetch were his own:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment, since deceased entered a prohibited area without leave, & even if the rejected evidence had proved that the tools belonged to deceased, the onus was not discharged of proving that the act of getting them was done for the purposes of & in connection with his employer's trade or business within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).—THOMAS v. PENTREMAWR COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 331, C. A.

Acts done under orders of superior.]—See Sub-sect. 2, G., post.

Acts in accordance with custom & practice.]—See Sub-sect. 2, H., post.

ii. Forbidden Mode of Transit.

2487. Riding on couplings between trams.]—A collier going from one part of a mine to another rode on the coupling between two trams, in breach of the colliery rules. His head was knocked against the roof, & he died from the injuries so received:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—POWELL v. BRYNDU COLLIERY CO. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Price v. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. (1914), 111 L. T. 688.

2488. Trying to board moving train.]—A workman on his way home by a route across his employer's property which he was allowed to take tried to get into one of a train of trucks which was moving up an incline, which was on his way home, & fell between the trucks & was killed. There was a regulation that no one, except the persons in charge of the train, should ride on any moving train on an incline without special leave:—Held: the accident did not arise "out of" or "in the course of" his employment, & his dependants were not entitled to compensation.—POPE v. HILL'S PLYMOUTH CO. (1911), 105 L. T. 678; 5 B. W. C. C. 175, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co. (1911), 105 L. T. 55.

2489. Travelling in tubs in colliery.]—A boy employed at a colliery, noticing that an endless rope having a number of empty tubs attached to it was about to start for a level where his work was, jumped into the front tub with three other boys in order to ride to his work instead of walking as he ought to have done, & in the course of the journey his head came in contact with the roof of the mine & he was killed. It was a common practice for the boys to ride to their work in the tubs, but it was expressly forbidden & the prohibition was enforced as far as possible. Upon a claim by the father for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 55), the county ct. judge found that the accident arose out of deceased's employment:—Held: there was no evidence to justify this finding, & the death was caused by an added peril to which deceased by his own conduct exposed himself, & not by any peril involved by his contract of service.

Nor can you deny him compensation on the ground only that he was injured through breaking rules. But if the thing he does imprudently or disobediently is different in kind from anything he was required or expected to do & also is put outside the range of his service by a genuine prohibition I should say that the accidental injury did not arise out of his employment (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—BARNES v. NUNNERY COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1912] A. C. 44; 81 L. J. K. B. 213; 105 L. T. 961; 28 T. L. R. 135; 56 Sol. Jo. 159; 5 B. W. C. C. 195, H. L.

Annotations:—Folld. Powell v. Bryndu Colliery Co. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 124; Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818; Gallant v. Ship Gabir (1913), 108 L. T. 50; M'Diarmid v. Ogilvy (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 878. Distd. Richardson v. Denton Colliery Co. (1913), 109 L. T. 370. Folld. Sanderson v. Wright (1914), 110 L. T. 517. Apld. Pepper v. Sayer, [1914] 3 K. B. 994; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Herbert v. Fox, [1916] 1 A. C. 405; Palmer v. Harrods (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1659; Maydew v. Chattorley-Whitfield Colliers, [1917] 2 K. B. 742. Folld. Woodlice Coal & Coke Co. v. Robertson (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 463. Consd. Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001. Apld. Matthews v. M'Clure (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 510. Folld. Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209; Brown v. Baton Colliery Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 265. Apld. Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325; Jones v. Tarr, [1926] 1 K. B. 25; Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. v. M'Ferrin, Kerr v. Dunlop, [1926] A. C. 377. Refd. Frith v. S.S. Louisianian, [1912] 2 K. B. 155; Bates v. Mirfield Coal Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 165; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Carinduff v. Gilmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 981; Chilton v. Blair (1914), 111 L. T. 782; M'William v. G. N. of Scotland Ry. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 875; Smith v. Fife Coal Co., [1914] A. C. 723; Baker v. Bradford (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 263; Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Collieries (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346; Stevens v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1918), out of & in the course of the employment.—WHELAN v. MOORE (1909), 43 I. L. T. 205; 2 B. W. C. C. 114.—IR.

---

g. Workman cleaning machinery in motion.]—M'DIARMID v. OGILVY BROTHERS, [1913] S. C. 1103; 50 Sc. L. R. 883; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 113; 6 B. W. C. C. 878.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (b) ii.

h. Riding on hutches in colliery.]—A miner on leaving his work jumped on to a hutch for the purpose of getting a ride to the pit bottom, & was injured by reason of his doing so. By a special rule in force in the mine, of which the miner was aware, miners were for-

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (b) ii. & iii.]

87 L. J. K. B. 756; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577; Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933. Mentd. Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Braine v. Port of London Authority (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 342.

2490. ——.]—Three miners, requiring to leave the mine, walked along the haulage road to get to the pit bottom. Two said they were going to wait for a tub to come along upon which to ride. The third hurried on saying he would wait for the others at the pit bottom. At that time the haulage rope was stationary, but it soon started, & a tub came along on to which the two miners jumped. They had not proceeded far when they heard a cry from the miner in front. They stopped the line of tubs & found the miner lying across the rails injured in such a way as could only reasonably have happened by his riding on a tub & striking his head against the roof which sloped down at that place. There was a tub eleven yards in front of where he had fallen, which had been moving in the same direction. It was against the rules of the colliery to ride on the tubs. From these facts the county ct. judge inferred that the accident was caused by the miner riding on a tub, & therefore held that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: the facts supported the inference.—BATES v. MIRFIELD COAL CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 165, C. A.

2491. ——.]—MAYDEW v. CHATTERLEY-WHITFIELD COLLIERIES, LTD., [1917] 2 K. B. 742; 86 L. J. K. B. 1353; 117 L. T. 460; 10 B. W. C. C. 548, C. A.; sub nom. MEYDEW v. CHATTERLEY WHITFIELD COLLIERIES, 61 Sol. Jo. 645; on appeal, sub nom. MAYDEW v. CHATTERLEY-WHITFIELD COLLIERIES, LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 360, H. L.

2492. ——.]—The injured workman was a miner in the employment of applts. He finished his shift at about 2 p.m. & hurried on his way to the pit bottom. He was found lying with his back injured between the up & down sets of hutch rails on an incline in the colliery, leading up from his working place to the pit bottom, by two fellow workmen who were also walking towards the pit bottom & were a little further up the incline & turned back on hearing him shout. No one saw him sustain the injury. Immediately before he was found a rake of loaded hutches had passed the spot where he was found. On the morning after the accident some of the stone dust on the timbers of the incline was found to be rubbed off in such a way as could have been done by a man riding on a loaded hutch. The arbiter found upon the facts that the workman was riding on one of the loaded hutches contrary to express regulations, & that the accident did not arise out of his employment. He stated that he was forced to the conclusion by the workman's evidence that he had committed deliberate perjury in denying that he had been riding on the hutch:—Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding & there was no misdirection.—WATSON (JOHN), LTD. v. BROWN (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 419, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Garallan Coal Co. v. Anderson (or Devlin) (1926), 42 T. L. R. 747.

2493. Assistant at motor garage—Riding on motor cycle.]—A workman was engaged by a cycle maker to look after his shop & do small repairs on the premises. He was expressly forbidden to use machines out of the shop. He was insured as a cycle repairer & not as a driver, of which fact he was aware. He had some physical weakness in his legs. One day a customer brought a motor cycle to the shop to be repaired. The workman, having repaired it, took it out of the shop, & was riding it back to the customer's house when he was run into by a motor omnibus & killed. It was not a case of emergency:—Held: deceased was not acting within the scope of his employment, & the accident did not therefore arise "out of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—LEGGETT v. GIBBONS (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 980; 114 L. T. 830; 9 B. W. C. C. 354, C. A.

2494. Shunter riding on buffers.]—(1) A workman employed as a shunter upon his employer's private railway was seriously & permanently injured by falling from the buffer of a waggon upon which he was improperly riding. His duty when waggons were being moved was to walk in front of them & keep a look out, & a notice to that effect was posted on the employer's engine shed. On the occasion of the accident, at the conclusion of some shunting operations, four waggons were being pushed by an engine towards the engine shed, when the workman instead of walking in front of the train, climbed upon the buffer of the leading waggon & sat there till he fell & was run over. Upon a claim for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge found that the accident arose in the course of & out of the employment:—Held: the man, in sitting on the buffer, was acting outside the sphere of his employment, & therefore the accident did not arise out of his employment.

(2) An arbitrator ought to distinguish clearly between his rulings on law & on fact, & cannot by finding in the words of the statute secure for a finding on a pure question of law, or on a question of mixed law & fact, that unassailability which belongs only to a finding on a question of pure fact.—HERBERT v. FOX (SAMUEL) & CO., LTD., [1916] 1 A. C. 405; 85 L. J. K. B. 441; 114 L. T. 426; 32 T. L. R. 261; 60 Sol. Jo. 237; 9 B. W. C. C. 164, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Palmer v. Harrods (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1659. Consd. Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352. Apld. Maydew v. Chatterley-Whitfield Collieries, [1917] 2 K. B. 742. Consd. Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Laurence, or Wilson, or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225. Apld. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. v. M'Ferrin, Kerr v. Dunlop, [1926] A. C. 377. Refd. Gibbins v. British Dyes (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 716; Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001; Moore v. Donnelly, Fife Coal Co. v. Sharp, Same v. Fyfe, [1921] 1 A. C. 329; Phillips v. Estler (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 138. As to (2) Consd. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1; Thomson v. Anderson (or Scrimgeour) (1921), 91 L. J. P. C. 87. Refd. Longhurst v. Stewart (1912), Ltd., [1916] 2 K. B. 803; Cole v. De Trafford, [1917] 1 K. B. 911; Slater v. Maconochie (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Américaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160; Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co. v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co., [1924] A. C. 406; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Generally, Refd. Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691. Mentd. Sanatorium v. Marshall (1916), 32 T. L. R. 477.

2495. Colliers riding on trams—Employed in coupling & uncoupling.]—A lad of seventeen was employed underground in a colliery as a "shackler," his duties as such being to join trams together into a "journey" after they had been brought up from the coal face. Working in the same part of the colliery was a man employed as a bidden to ride on hutches:—Held: the injury was not caused by an accident arising out of the employment.—KANE v. MERRY & CUNNINGHAME, LTD., [1911] S. C. 533.—SCOT.

k. ——.]—JARDINE v. STEEL CO. OF SCOTLAND, LTD., [1926] S. C. 913.—SCOT.

l. Boy travelling by prohibited lift.]—M'DAID v. STEEL, [1911] S. C. 859.—SCOT.

'rider," his duties being to go up & down with the trams from the coal face. Applt., at one time having nothing to do, left the place where his work was & where he was alone authorised to be, & went down to the coal face. He attempted to do the rider's work & bring up a loaded tram, but met with a severe accident. The county ct. judge found that he was acting outside the scope of his employment, & the accident therefore did not arise out of his employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the award, & no misdirection.—HOWELL v. BEDWAS NAVIGATION COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 10, C. A.

2496. —— ——.]—A miner, whose duty was to couple & uncouple trucks on a haulage road, was killed while riding on a truck. No statutory prohibition applied to his case, but the employers at a late stage of the proceedings alleged, & tendered evidence of, a verbal prohibition given by them against riding on trucks, & this evidence was admitted & accepted by the county ct. judge. An adjournment was offered but was refused by appt.'s advisers. The county ct. judge found that the prohibition limited the sphere of the man's employment, & therefore held that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: (1) the Ct. of Appeal would not interfere with the discretion of the county ct. judge in admitting evidence of an allegation, although raised only at a late stage of the proceedings, where the discretion had been judicially exercised; (2) there was evidence to support the findings of fact, & no misdirection in law.—LEIVERS v. BARBER, WALKER & CO. (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933; 131 L. T. 12; 40 T. L. R. 361; 68 Sol. Jo. 457; 17 B. W. C. C. 38, C. A.

2497. —— Employed in filling.]—On Aug. 1, 1922, a workman, who was employed to fill trams with stones, at a tip, & for that purpose only, acted without instructions on a certain occasion as rider & proceeded with the journey of trams from the tip towards the level. He was last seen before the accident half seated upon the tram & half walking. It was contrary to the colliery instructions for men other than riders to sit upon the trams unless specially instructed to go with the trams in the absence of the rider. On the occasion in question the tram went off the lines & the workman was found dying alongside the tram, with his foot caught in the hitching rope, & he died soon afterwards. The dependant instituted proceedings for compensation in the county ct. & the county ct. judge found that deceased had exceeded his instructions & that the accident did not arise in the course of his employment. The dependant appealed:—Held: in view of the evidence adduced before the county ct. judge it was open to him to form the conclusion that the workman had taken it upon himself to accompany the tram & the ct. ought not to interfere with his finding; there appeared to be no evidence of any emergency justifying the man in going outside his duty & that point ought not to be raised as it had never been taken before the county ct. judge; & the appeal should be dismissed.—WATKINS v. CWMGWRACH & EMPIRE COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 602; 16 B. W. C. C. 67, C. A.

iii. Breach of Regulations relating to Mines and Quarries.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).

2498. Shot firing—Miner doing work of shot firer—Connecting cable with charge—Premature firing by shot firer.]—The use of explosives in a mine was regulated by statutory rules, which provided that every charge should be fired by a specially appointed shot firer, & that, where the firing was done by electricity, it was the duty of the shot firer himself to connect the cable, first, with the charge, &, thereafter, with the firing apparatus, after seeing that all persons in the vicinity had taken shelter. A duly appointed shot firer, in breach of these regulations handed the cable to a miner for the purpose of having it connected with the charge, &, without waiting until this had been done & without ascertaining that all persons in the vicinity had taken shelter, connected the cable with the firing apparatus. He then fired the shot, & the miner, who had connected the cable with the charge & had not had time to retire to a place of safety, was injured by the explosion:—Held: the essential cause of the accident was not the unauthorised assumption by the miner of the shot firer's duty, but the premature firing by the shot firer, & there was evidence to support the finding of the arbitrator that the injury to the miner arose out of & in the course of his employment.—SMITH v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD., [1914] A. C. 723; 83 L. J. P. C. 359; 111 L. T. 477; 30 T. L. R. 502; 58 Sol. Jo. 533; 7 B. W. C. C. 253, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Coltness Iron Co. v. Baillie (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 295; Rodger v. Fife Coal Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 299.

2499. —— —— ——.]—(1) In M'Aulay's case a miner, who was engaged with a fireman & another miner in firing by electricity a series of shots in a mine, coupled the cable to the detonator of the next shot in breach of a statutory regulation, which provided that the coupling should be done by the person specially authorised in writing by the manager to fire the shot. The only person so authorised was the fireman, & the miner had no authority or duty to touch the cable. The result of his act was that the shot exploded & he was killed:—Held: the operation of coupling being the work of the skilled fireman, the unskilled man had no right to meddle with it, & if he meddled he was doing something which he was not engaged to do, & entirely outside the scope of his employment. The accident, therefore, did not arise out of his employment, & Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7 [see, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2)], had no application.

The result of this sect. is, in my opinion, not doubtful. It does not either repeal or amend the radical provisions of the principal Act, that the accident to entitle the workman to compensation

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (b) iii.

2498 i. Shot firing—Miner doing work of shot firer—Connecting cable with charge—Premature firing by shot firer.]—RODGER v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 299.—SCOT.

2498 ii. —— —— ——.]—M'AULAY v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 680.—SCOT.

m. —— —— Premature return to site.]—WADDELL v. COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD. (1913), 50 Sc. L. R. 29.—SCOT.

n. —— —— ——.]—M'KENNA v. NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO., LTD., [1916] S. C. 1; 53 Sc. L. R. 1; [1915] 2 S. L. T. 234; 9 B. W. C. C. 411.—SCOT.

o. —— —— ——.]—SMITH v. RUSSELL, LTD., [1921] S. C. 335.—SCOT.

p. —— —— ——.]—SLOAN v. SHOTTS IRON CO., LTD., [1922] S. C. 294; 59 Sc. L. R. 253; [1922] S. L. T. 270; 15 B. W. C. C. 300.—SCOT.

q. —— —— —— Employer's regulation extending scope.]—ARDEN COAL CO., LTD. v. M'INTOSH (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 320.—SCOT.

r. —— —— —— Prohibition restricted to actual firer.]—Two miners applied lights to fuses & thereafter retired to places of safety. One shot must arise out of, & in the course of, his employment, but it does introduce a far-reaching, though artificial, consideration which prevents a certain class of evidence being available to show that the accident did not arise out of the employment being any longer in force (LORD DUNEDIN).

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (b) iii.]

(2) In M'Ferrin's case a miner was seriously & permanently disabled as the result of returning to a shot hole from which he had fired a shot within the period during which persons were by statutory regulations prohibited from approaching the shot hole. The arbitrator came to the conclusion that the workman was entitled to the benefit of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, in respect that he had returned to the shot hole for the purpose of his employer's business:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment & was by sect. 7 still deemed to have done so notwithstanding the fact that the workman when injured was acting in breach of the prohibition.—WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO. v. M'FERRIN, KERR v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO., [1926] A. C. 377; 95 L. J. P. C. 130; 135 L. T. 164; 42 T. L. R. 397; 19 B. W. C. C. 1, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. MCFERRIN v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD., M'AULAY v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO., LTD., 18 B. W. C. C. 630, 680.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759; Hawkins v. Kendrick (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 325. As to (2) Consd. Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759. Distd. Hawkins v. Kendrick (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 325.

2500. —— Shot missing fire—Premature return to site.]—By special rules made under Quarries Act, 1894 (c. 42), where a shot has apparently missed fire, no person is to go near the place until after the lapse of half an hour. A quarry foreman had successfully fired two charges, but the third missed fire. After waiting only a quarter of an hour he went up to the fuse, & was proceeding to recharge it, in breach of the regulations, when the delayed explosion took place & killed him. There was evidence that his act was not only an offence under Quarries Act, but a very dangerous thing to do:—Held: the county ct. judge was right in holding that the accident did not arise out of the employment. The risk was one prohibited by the employment.—MATTHEWS v. POMEROY (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 134, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209. Mentd. Cook v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 100.

2501. —— —— ——.] — In considering the right to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the question whether a prohibition limits the sphere of employment or deals only with conduct within the sphere of employment is not determined by the mere fact that the prohibition is statutory. A miner in the course of his employment fired a shot by means of a fuse & detonator & retired to a place of safety. The shot missed fire. In contravention of the Explosives in Coal Mines Order of Sept. 1, 1913, para. 3 (a), made under the Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 61, he returned to the place of the shot in less than one hour, & the shot blew off in his face & permanently disabled him. A miner who was working in a certain level with another was sent by his colleague to get brattice nails. He went to a disused part of the mine which was fenced off by a railing containing the words "No road" & was killed by poison gas. Brattice nails were procurable in an easily accessible part of the mine. The General Regulations of July 10, 1913, made under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 86, provided, by clause 4, subject to certain qualifications & exceptions which did not apply, that no workman should go into any part of the mine other than that part in which he worked, &, by clause 9, that no person should without authority pass beyond any fence or danger signal:—Held: in each case the contravention of these mining regulations took the miner outside the sphere of his employment, & consequently the injury did not arise out of & in the course of his employment.

No distinction can logically be drawn between a prohibition founded on statute & one imposed by the employer to regulate the employment. It is no doubt true that a statutory prohibition would usually be more notorious & more authoritative. Nor can it be made the subject of waiver or of informal modification (LORD BIRKENHEAD, C.).—MOORE (A. G.) & CO. v. DONNELLY, FIFE COAL CO. v. SHARP, FIFE COAL CO. v. FYFE, [1921] 1 A. C. 329; 90 L. J. P. C. 49; 124 L. T. 578; 37 T. L. R. 198; 65 Sol. Jo. 219, 239; 13 B. W. C. C. 458, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Cook v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 100. Consd. Smith v. Russell (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 278. Distd. Coltness Iron Co. v. Baillie, [1922] 1 A. C. 170. Apld. Costello v. Addie Collieries, [1922] 1 A. C. 164; Hawkridge v. Howden Clough Collieries (1923), 128 L. T. 786. Consd. Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Laurence, or Wilson, or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225. Distd. Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325. Reld. Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209; Sloan v. Shotts Iron Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 300; Rodger v. Fife Coal Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 299; Finn v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1924), 131 L. T. 213; Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759; Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. v. M'Ferrin, Kerr v. Dunlop, [1926] A. C. 377.

2502. —— —— ——.]—A shot misses fire within the meaning of para. 3 (a) of the Explosives in Coal Mines Order of Sept. 1, 1923, if a naked light is applied to the fuse & the shot does not explode at the usual time, & the regulation applies where the man who applies the light to the fuse bonâ fide believes that he has not succeeded in igniting it. If therefore he approaches the shot-hole within the prohibited time, & the shot explodes & injures him, he commits a breach of the regulation the injury does not arise out of his employment.—COSTELLO v. ADDIE (R.) & SONS COLLIERIES, LTD., [1922] 1 A. C. 164; 91 L. J. P. C. 72; 126 L. T. 609; 38 T. L. R. 266; 66 Sol. Jo. 248; 15 B. W. C. C. 19, H. L.

Annotation:—Reld. Coltness Iron Co. v. Baillie (1921), 91 L. J. P. C. 75.

2503. —— —— ——.]—WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO. v. M'FERRIN, KERR v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO., No. 2499, ante.

2504. —— —— —— Prohibition restricted to actual firer.]—Para. 3 (a) of the Explosives in Coal Mines Order of Sept. 1, 1913, which provides that "if a shot misses fire the person firing the exploded, & one of the miners thereupon returned to the coal face & received injuries from the explosion of the second shot, which resulted in serious & permanent disablement. By so returning the workman was acting in contravention of certain statutory orders:—Held: the act of the miner in returning had been "for the purposes of his employers' trade or business," & although he had committed a breach of statutory orders, he was by virtue of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, s. 7, entitled to compensation.—M'FERRIN v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD. (1926), 18 B. W. C. C. 630.—SCOT.

t. —— ——.] — KERR v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 701; 48 Sc. L. R. 646; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 446; 4 B. W. C. C. 397.—SCOT.

a. —— Workman ramming charge.]—LYNCH v. BAIRD (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 271.—SCOT.

b. —— Drilling into misfired hole.]—VILLAGE DEEP, LTD. v. STANTON'S shot shall not approach or allow any one to approach the shot hole " until after a given interval, applies only to the person who actually fires the shot.

Accordingly, where a father, who was engaged along with his two sons in a blasting operation, loaded & stemmed the shot hole & inserted the fuse, to which a light was applied by one of his sons, &, believing that the fuse had not been effectually lighted, approached the shot hole within the prohibited period for the purpose of lighting the fuse afresh, & the shot exploded & injured him :—Held : in approaching the shot hole he had not violated any statutory regulation & was not acting outside the scope of his employment, & he was therefore entitled to compensation.—COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD. v. BAILLIE, [1922] 1 A. C. 170 ; 91 L. J. P. C. 75 ; 126 L. T. 611 ; 38 T. L. R. 267 ; 66 Sol. Jo. 249 ; 15 B. W. C. C. 25, H. L.

Annotation :—Consd. Morgan v. Evans, [1926] 2 K. B. 74.

2505. —— —— —— Employer's regulation extending scope.]—By the Explosives in Coal Mines Order of Sept. 1, 1913, made under the Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), " If a shot misses fire . . . the person firing the shot shall not approach, or allow any one to approach the shot hole " until a specified interval of time has elapsed. By a notice put up in resps.' colliery the words were added " & no person shall in such circumstances, on any pretext, return to the place " before the expiration of the prescribed interval of time. Applt., who was employed in the mine, was aware of this notice, &, in breach of the prohibition, went to the place where an attempt had been made to fire a shot before the expiration of the prescribed time, & the shot exploded, & he was seriously injured :—Held : the employers might make a regulation of their own in addition to the statutory regulation, & it was binding upon their workmen, & therefore, applt. was acting outside the scope of his employment in going to the place, & was not entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—M'INTOSH v. ARDEN COAL CO. (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 264 ; 131 L. T. 321, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. ARDEN COAL CO., LTD. v. M'INTOSH (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 320.

2506. —— —— Attempt to drill out stemming.]—A miner employed to get coal by pick or shot firing, on arriving at the coal face, saw a hole already drilled & stopped with stemming & the charred remains of a fuse. He proceeded to remove the stemming with a view to laying a fresh shot in the same hole when an explosion occurred which caused his death. The hole had been charged two days before, but the shot had missed fire. The use of explosives at the mine was regulated by statutory regulations made under the Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), which provided that when a hole had been charged no part of the stemming should be removed, & that if a shot misfired a second charge should not be placed in the same hole. Upon a claim for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by the widow of deceased :—Held : deceased, in disobeying the statutory regulations, was acting outside the sphere of his employment, & consequently his death was not caused by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.—BOURTON v. BEAUCHAMP, [1920] A. C. 1001 ; 89 L. J. K. B. 1205 ; 123 L. T. 606 ; 13 B. W. C. C. 90 ; sub nom. BURTON v. BEAUCHAMP & BEAUCHAMP, 64 Sol. Jo. 601, H. L.

Annotations :—Expld. Gordon v. Fife Coal Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 523. Apld. Whiddett v. Chislet Colliery Co. (1920), 124 L. T. 14 ; Cook v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 100 ; Smidmore v. London & Thames Haven Oil Wharves (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 116. Followed Moore v. Donnelly, Fife Coal Co. v. Sharp, Fife Coal Co. v. Fyfe, [1921] 1 A. C. 329. Consd. Davies v. Gwauncaegurwen Colliery, [1924] 2 K. B. 651. Distd. Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325. Refd. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. v. McFerrin, Kerr v. Dunlop, [1926] A. C. 377.

2507. —— Failure to retire to place of safety.]—A workman, P., was engaged with another man, J., in blasting in resps.' quarry. J. fired the fuse & then both men retired some distance off to await the explosion, but P. was killed by a fragment of rock caused by the explosion. The widow claimed as a total dependant. The employers contended that deceased had infringed a rule made by them under Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872 (c. 77), s. 24, by not taking himself to a place of safety, & so had placed himself outside the scope of the employment. The rule provided that " the persons firing the shots shall station themselves out of the way of danger." There was nothing in the rule to show what a place of safety was, nor the distance to which the men should retire. The county ct. judge held that the rule as it restricted the rights of workmen to compensation should be construed strictly, & it was J. & not deceased who fired the shot. He found that deceased was protecting himself against the effect of the firing & not firing the shot, & made an award in favour of the widow :—Held : this was not such a breach of the rule as to take the case outside the scope of the employment. There was therefore no misdirection, & evidence to support the finding.—PRITCHARD v. VOTTY & BOWYDD SLATE QUARRIES CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 209, C. A.

2508. Using naked light.]—A workman employed in resps.' colliery struck a match to light his pipe, after finishing a meal at the customary knock off in the middle of his shift, & an explosion of gas followed, by which he was killed. To have or strike a match in the mine was an offence under the Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), ss. 32, 35, & this was known to deceased man :—Held : his death was not caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—ROBERTSON (OR CAMPBELL) v. WOODILEE COAL & COKE CO., LTD. (1920), 89 L. J. P. C. 79 ; 123 L. T. 113 ; 64 Sol. Jo. 374 ; 13 B. W. C. C. 51, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. WOODILEE COAL & COKE CO., LTD. v. ROBERTSON (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 463.

Annotations :—Refd. Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001 ; Moore v. Donnelly (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 424. Mentd. Gordon v. Fife Coal Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 523.

2509. Relighting safety lamp.]—MOORE (A. G.) & CO. v. BARKEY, No. 2651, post.

2510. Crossing uncovered space of shaft bottom.]—Where a workman meets with a fatal accident whilst doing something which the law prohibits him from doing, & prohibits his employer from ordering him to do, & which his employer has not

---

EXECUTOR, [1910] T. P. D. 726.—S. AF.

c. Using naked light — Near explosives.]—DAILLY v. WATSON (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1044.—SCOT.

d. —— ——.]—DONNACHIE v. UNITED COLLIERIES, LTD., [1910] S. C. 503.—SCOT.

e. Breach of regulation — Accident not necessarily taken outside scope of employment.]—AUSTIN v. COAL CLIFF COLLIERIES, LTD. (1919), 19 N. S. W. L. R. 186 ; 36 N. S. W. W. N. 74.—AUS.

f. —— ——.]—Where a workman, though in breach of a statutory regulation, is nevertheless acting within the sphere of his employment, the accident arises out of the employment. —GORDON v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD., [1920] S. C. 747 ; 57 Sc. L. R. 616. —SCOT.

g. Holing — Failure to erect sprags.]

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (b) iii. & iv.]

in fact ordered him to do, it is not an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).

W. was an onsetter engaged to attend to the gates at the bottom of a mining shaft. There was an east & a west gate, & usually an onsetter at each, but on the occasion in question W. was attending to both gates. The cage came down inside an enclosed space in the shaft, & onsetters wishing to pass to one or other gate could do so by going round outside the enclosed cage space, either to north or south. They were forbidden by No. 22 of the Regulations made under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), to cross the uncovered space of the shaft bottom, under the cage, except for the purpose of working in the shaft bottom, or to work there unless the cages were stopped. W. crossed from the west to the east gate, & attempted to return across the forbidden shaft bottom. Noticing that a sumph board was loose, he took a mallet to knock it into its place, which it was part of his duty to do, &, while doing so, was killed by the descending cage. He had himself signalled for the cage to come down, but had apparently forgotten it:—Held: on the principle stated above, the accident was not one arising out of & in the course of the employment.—WHIDDERT v. CHISLET COLLIERY, LTD. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1209; 124 L. T. 14; 13 B. W. C. C. 157, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Morgan v. Evans, [1926] 2 K. B. 74.

2511. ——.]—(1) By Reg. 22 of the General Regulations, dated July 10, 1913, made under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50): "No person shall attempt to go on or across the uncovered space of the shaft bottom, except for the purpose of working in the shaft bottom, & no person shall be allowed to work in such space unless the cages are stopped":—Held: "stopped" referred to such a stoppage as was necessary for the safety of the men, i.e., a stoppage for the purposes of the work, & not to a casual stoppage in circumstances in which motion might be resumed at any moment & without notice.

(2) The onus is on the workman to prove he was acting for the purpose of his employer's trade or business.—GARRALLAN COAL CO. v. ANDERSON (OR DEVLIN), [1927] A. C. 59; 19 B. W. C. C. 356; sub nom. GARALLAN COAL CO., LTD. v. ANDERSON (OR DEVLIN), 42 T. L. R. 747, H. L.

2512. Riding on tubs.]—A miner, whose ordinary occupation was that of a repairer in the employment of a colliery co., was, on Dec. 1, 1922, working in the co.'s mine. An accident happened to him on that date while he was riding on one of the tubs which were used in the charcoal seam of the colliery in which he was working. At the time of the accident he was using his left arm to steady some pieces of timber which were on the top of the train, &, at a time when his arm was above the timber which was resting on the train, his arm came into contact with the roof of the seam with the result that it was injured & had to be amputated. In arbn. proceedings it was contended by resp. co. that when he met with this accident he was (a) acting in a manner prohibited by Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 43, & (b) acting outside the scope of his employment, because he was disregarding a prohibition which limited the scope or sphere of his employment & which precluded him from benefiting under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The deputy county ct. judge found appct. had not established that he was one of the class of persons who was entitled to ride on a train in the discharge of his duties; that his purpose in riding on the train was that of keeping timber on the train, & that resps. were entitled to an award in their favour. The workman appealed. Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 43, exempts from the statutory prohibition from riding on tubs "(a) a person travelling on a set or train for the purpose of detaching or attaching tubs from or to the haulage rope, if that set or train is not proceeding at a higher speed than three miles an hour:—Held: (1) the man, who was travelling on the train with a view to executing repairs which had to be done in the course of his duty, was travelling on it for the purpose of getting to the point, with the timber, where the repairs had to be done, & he had the duty of attaching & detaching tubs, & was a person travelling on the journey in question, "for the purpose," & came within the exception; when the deputy county ct. judge was finding that the man was riding in order to secure the timber from falling, that finding was not sufficient, unless he found as a fact that that was the only purpose for which he was riding; the deputy county ct. judge, in coming to the conclusion that the man rode on the truck in order to secure the timber from falling because it was not adequately secured, was coming to a conclusion not of fact only, but of mixed law & fact; & he should have come to the conclusion that the workman was a person within the category & a person relieved or excepted from the statutory prohibition; (2) there was on the totality of evidence nothing upon which the deputy county ct. judge could have found that there was in fact such a definite enforcement of the supposed additional domestic prohibition as would have prevented the case from being in that respect governed by the case of Richardson v. Denton Colliery Co., Ltd., No. 2560, post, & the appeal must be allowed.—WILLIAMS v. CLEEVES WESTERN VALLEYS ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD. (1924), 131 L. T. 231; 17 B. W. C. C. 97, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Morgan v. Evans, [1926] 2 K. B. 74.

iv. Being in Unauthorised Place.

Wilful & serious misconduct, see Sub-sect. 5, post.

2513. Workman remaining on premises after order to leave.]—SMITH v. SOUTH NORMANTON COLLIERY CO., No. 2350, ante.

2514. Taking meals in prohibited spot.] — A workman employed at certain works climbed on to a hot water tank in the building to eat his supper. The tank was only partially covered in. On returning to his work the man fell into the tank & was scalded to death. The workmen were not allowed on the tank:—Held: the accident did not arise "out of the employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & compensation was not recoverable under that Act. —BRICE v. EDWARD LLOYD, LTD., [1909] 2 K. B. 804; 79 L. J. K. B. 37; 101 L. T. 472; 25

—O'HARA v. CADZOW COAL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 439.—SCOT.

h. Opening gate fencing — When cage not opposite gate.]—UNITED COLLIERIES v. M'GHIE (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 808.—SCOT.

k. —— ——.]—GEORGE v. GLASGOW COAL CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. (H. L.) 1.—SCOT.

l. Whether knowledge of rules material.]—DOBSON v. UNITED COLLIERIES, LTD. (1905), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 241.—SCOT.

m. Breach prior to but not causing accident.]—PRATIES v. BROXBURN OIL CO., [1907] S. C. 581.—SCOT.

L. L. R. 759; 53 Sol. Jo. 744; 2 B. W. C. C. 26, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Pope v. Hill's Plymouth Co. (1910), 102 L. T. 632. Distd. Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co., [1911] 2 K. B. 747. Folld. Barnes v. Nunnery Colliery Co., [1912] A. C. 44. Distd. Carinduff v. Gilmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 981. Consd. L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Senior v. Brodsworth Main Colliery Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1387. Distd. Redford v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 850. Apld. Davies v. Gwauncaegurwen Colliery, [1924] 2 K. B. 651. Reld. Williams v. Wigan Coal & Iron Co. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 65; Revie v. Cumming (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 483; Pritchard v. Torkington (1914), 111 L. T. 917; Sanderson v. Wright (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 141; Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729.

2515. Workman sent to a specified place—Proceeding to another.]—A workman employed as a potman, whose duty it was, amongst other things, to run messages, was sent by his employer to Hatton Garden for a postal order. He failed to get one there & went on to the General Post Office, some half a mile further. Here he slipped on a banana skin & injured himself. The county ct. judge held that this was not an accident arising out of & in the course of the workman's employment, as he had exceeded his duty:—Held: there was evidence to support this finding.—SMITH v. MORRISON (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 161, C. A.

2516. Miner entering prohibited area.]—H., a collier, was employed to drill a hole into a stall below to let out an accumulation of gas; the entrance to the stall from below had been blocked with cross boards to show that it was unsafe in accordance with Colliery Special Rules. In defiance of these rules & in breach of an express order by the overlooker, H. entered the stall from below to ascertain the direction of the drill, with the result that he was suffocated by the gas:—Held: the accident arose "out of" the employment, & H.'s dependants were entitled to compensation.—HARDING v. BRYNDDU COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1911] 2 K. B. 747; 80 L. J. K. B. 1052; 105 L. T. 55; 27 T. L. R. 500; 55 Sol. Jo. 599; 4 B. W. C. C. 269, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Parker v. Hambrook (1912), 107 L. T. 249. Consd. Jackson v. Denton Collieries Co. (1914), 110 L. T. 559. Apld. Foulkes v. Roberts (1919), 122 L. T. 169. Reld. Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Sanderson v. Wright (1914), 110 L. T. 517; Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 79; Moore v. Donnelly, Fife Coal Co. v. Sharp, Fife Coal Co. v. Fyfe, [1921] 1 A. C. 329.

2517. ——.]—A collier ordered to cut a road in the colliery left his work & went to cut coal in a part of the mine where it was forbidden by special rule to cut any. He thereby undermined some props, & caused a fall, which killed him:—Held: the accident did not arise out of nor in the course of the employment.—WEIGHILL v. SOUTH HETTON COAL CO., LTD., [1911] 2 K. B. 757, n.; 4 B. W. C. C. 141, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co., [1911] 2 K. B. 747. Folld. Parker v. Hambrook (1912), 107 L. T. 249. Distd. Jackson v. Denton Colliery Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 92. Reld. Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818.

2518. ——.]—A collier went to get coal at a stall, in which the props had been removed, & where he had been expressly told by the foreman not to go. He was there killed by a fall of coal:—Held: (1) the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.

(2) It is the bounden duty of a county ct. judge to take a sufficient note in workmen's compensation cases (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—TOMLINSON v. GARRATT'S, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 489, C. A.

2519. ——.]—A collier left his place of work to go & relieve nature in an untimbered "goaf." It was a practice of the colliers to go into the timbered goaf, but they were prohibited from going into the untimbered part. The man was found crushed by a fall of stone, his head being about 15 inches from the last prop & turned towards his working place. The judge found that the man had voluntarily taken upon himself the risk of doing what he was prohibited from doing, & that appct., dependant, had not discharged the onus of proving that the accident arose out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings.—COOK v. MANVERS MAIN COLLIERIES, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 696, C. A.

2520. ——.]—A coal miner was at work in a mine hewing coal at a spot in a gallery known as the "horse level." The under manager, seeing there was danger there from a threatened fall of stone, directed the miner & others working with him to move from the horse level a few yards into an adjoining gallery running at right angles into the horse level & get the coal there. While the miner was working a stone fell on him, causing injuries resulting in permanent incapacity. It was proved that at the time of the accident the miner was not working where directed by the under manager, but in the horse level. On an application by the workman for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the workman had been guilty of disobedience of orders in not working where directed; the orders went only as to the method in which the work was to be done & not to limit the sphere of the employment; & inasmuch as the workman was about the work he was employed to do, though in an improper manner, the accident was one arising "in the course of the employment" so as to entitle him to compensation.—JACKSON v. DENTON COLLIERIES CO., LTD. (1914), 110 L. T. 559; 7 B. W. C. C. 92, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 79.

2521. —— Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 43 (1).]—A number of workmen employed at a colliery having knocked off work after completing a night shift, walked along the main haulage road & congregated together near the foot of an incline, the haulage cable being in motion all the time. Some loaded trucks which were being hauled up the incline broke loose & injured one man & killed another. The county ct. judge found that the men congregating there while the cable was still working was a practice which had been adopted for some time & was known to the pit officials. But it was a practice which the men knew to have been prohibited. There were notices warning the men against being on the haulage way contrary to the regulations made under above sect. The employers contended that the accident was not one arising out of the employment, on the ground that the men were on the haulage road in breach of a verbal prohibition by the management, & of the regulations made by above sub-sect. The county ct. judge found that the verbal prohibition had not been enforced, & held that the statutory prohibition did not refer to the particular part of the haulage road on which the men were at the n. Locomotive craneman in wrong crane bay.]—MILLER v. NORTH BRITISH LOCOMOTIVE CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 698; 46 Sc. L. R. 755; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 509; 2 B. W. C. C. 80.—SCOT.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (b) iv.

2516*l*. Miner entering prohibited area.]—CONWAY v. PUMPHERSTON OIL CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 660; 48 Sc. L. R. 632; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 440; 4 B. W. C. C. 392.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (b) iv., & (c).]

time, therefore the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment & he made an award in favour of appcts. :—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—RUCK v. STOCKINGFORD COLLIERY CO., LTD., MOORE v. SAME (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 221; 128 L. T. 353; 67 Sol. Jo. 96; 15 B. W. C. C. 219, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Hawkridge v. Howden Clough Collieries Co. (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 642.

2522. —— ——.]—Appct., a boy of eighteen, was employed as a miner in resp.'s colliery. On Apr. 29, 1922, after working on a night shift, he was walking along a haulage road while the haulage rope was in motion. He slipped & fell, & his ankle was caught between the haulage rope & the wall, & he was injured. The employers denied liability on the ground that they had forbidden workmen to use that road, & that appct. had acted contrary to the provisions of above sub-sect., which prohibits workmen from walking along a haulage road while the haulage rope is in motion except "where there is provided on one side of the road a clear space of at least two feet in width between the tubs & that side of the road. . . ." The county ct. judge found that the employers had not enforced the prohibition, that there was not a clear space of two feet between the haulage rope & the side of the road along the whole length of the haulage road, though there was such a space where the accident occurred, that appct. must be deemed to know the law & had acted in breach of the statutory prohibition, & was not, therefore, entitled to compensation as the accident did not arise out of the employment :—Held: the requirement as to space applied to the whole length of the haulage road, the award must be upheld on the true construction of the statutory regulations, & there was no misdirection.—HAWKRIDGE v. HOWDEN CLOUGH COLLIERIES CO., LTD. (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 642; 128 L. T. 786; 67 Sol. Jo. 401; 16 B. W. C. C. 55, C. A.

2523. Employment to get flints—Particular trench forbidden.]—A workman who was employed to dig up flints in a certain hollow or quarry for the purpose of road making was forbidden to do so in a deep trench in the quarry on account of the danger that there was of the earth falling in. Nevertheless he went into the trench to work because the flints were more abundant there & his rate of pay depended upon the quantity of flints that he dug up. While so engaged the earth fell in & smothered him :—Held: deceased workman was not merely doing what he was instructed to do in a forbidden manner, but was doing something outside the sphere of his employment & for his own benefit; & therefore the accident did not arise "out of & in the course of" his employment.—PARKER v. HAMBROOK (1912), 107 L. T. 249; 56 Sol. Jo. 750; 5 B. W. C. C. 608, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2524. Intoxicated seaman ordered to his room—Accident in another part of ship.]—The second mate of a ship was ordered by the captain to go to his room, as he was intoxicated & not fit for work. Instead of doing so, he went aft in the opposite direction to speak to some one on a personal matter, & fell down an open hatchway :—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—HORSFALL v. JURA (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 213, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Nash v. S.S. Rangatira (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 590.

2525. Seaman returning to ship to sleep—Sleeping on board forbidden.]—A seaman, while returning to his ship at the quay side, met with an accident, which resulted in death. Seamen had been expressly forbidden to sleep on board when in port, other accommodation having been found for them. The accident happened at 11 p.m. :—Held: (1) the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.

(2) County ct. judges ought to state the basis of their judgment (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).

(3) Evidence of important facts omitted from the judge's notes should not be supplied by affidavit, but should be agreed between the parties (per CUR.).—GRIGGS v. GAMECOCK (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

2526. Employee killed on railway line—No authority to cross.]—A messenger boy, employed at a goods station, crossed the lines at night for some unexplained reason, contrary to rules, & was killed. The county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment :—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—MCGRATH v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 251, C. A.

2527. Girl leaving machine to see fellow worker.]—A young girl working at a sweetmeat machine, believed that she heard a fellow worker at the next machine, a few feet off, call & ask her to come to her. She did so at once, without asking why she was wanted, & in some manner she could not explain, caught her hand in the cogs of the next machine, & severely injured it. She had no business as far as her work went, at the next machine :—Held: there was no emergency to take her from her proper work, & the accident did not arise out of the employment.—CHINNICK v. POTTER & CLARK, LTD. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 320, C. A.

2528. Workman leaving duty—For dangerous part of premises.]—A man was employed to fill skips with ore. When a skip was full it was his duty to call for a crane to lift it. If the call was not answered, it was his duty to find the crane boy. The crane travelled across a structure which was placed over a street in order to connect two parts of the employers' premises. This structure, although termed a "bridge," was only designed to carry the travelling crane. One dark evening the man called for the crane, got no reply, went up on to the "bridge" to find the crane boy, & fell through a trapdoor in the "bridge" to the street below & was injured. Workmen were forbidden to go on to the "bridge"; but the man was ignorant of this prohibition, & honestly believed that he ought to go on to the "bridge." It was obviously dangerous to go on the "bridge" at the time. The man ought to have hailed the crane boy from a safe position near the "bridge" :—Held: the accident did not arise "out of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).

If a risk is not in fact imposed by the employment, a workman's mistaken belief that it is imposed will not make it a risk of the employment.—WARDLE v. ENTHOVEN & SONS, LTD. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; 116 L. T. 103; 33 T. L. R. 123; 61 Sol. Jo. 170; 10 B. W. C. C. 79, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Finn v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1924), 131 L. T. 213; Borley v. Ockenden (1925), 133 L. T. 72; Guest v. Gaston (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 759.

2529. Messroom boy—Descending shaft without authority.]—A mess room boy, employed to run errands, take messages, wait on workmen, & generally do anything the foreman told him to do, was ascending a ladder from the bottom of a deep shaft, when he slipped & fell, injuring himself. There was a conflict of evidence as to whether it was in any circumstances the boy's duty to descend the shaft. The county ct. judge said that he disbelieved the boy's statement, & believed the evidence of resps. that the boy had been warned & ordered not to descend the shaft. He therefore found that it was no part of the boy's duty to go down the shaft, & held that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—JEFFERY v. MOWLEM & Co. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 266, C. A.

2530. Taxi-cab driver—Plying for hire in prohibited area.]—A taxi-cab driver, during an afternoon upon which, by arrangement with her employer, she was off duty, drove some fares in her cab outside the area for which the cab was licensed, against the orders of her employer, & in breach of the statutory petrol regulations. When returning, she met with an accident & was severely injured, her right arm having to be amputated:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—DENNIS v. TAYLOR (1919), 89 L. J. K. B. 158; 121 L. T. 296; 12 B. W. C. C. 171, C. A.

2531. Sweeper in goods yard—Working in prohibited area.]—A man was employed by a railway co. to sweep their yard & goods warehouse. Several lines of rails ran through the yard, & it was his duty to sweep between the lines, but to stand clear of them when trucks were being run over them. On June 10, 1918, a capstan man in the employ of defts. gave notice to the man that he was going to run trucks into the yard, which notice the man acknowledged. The first truck was sent in, & the capstan man stated that he saw the man apply the brake to it, which was not a part of his duty, & then leave the yard. A second truck was then sent down on another line, & shortly afterwards the man was found sitting on the ground, having sustained injuries from which he died. Upon a claim by his widow for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge decided that, as soon as the workman received the warning from the capstan man, the line of rails to be used was put outside the sphere of deceased's employment, & that as the last act he was seen to do was to apply the brake to the first truck, which was not within the scope of his duties, the accident did not arise out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1). He accordingly made an award in favour of resps.:—Held: as deceased man had been seen to leave the yard after applying the brake to the first truck, the latter act was not the last act that he was seen to do; while it was improper for him to be on the line which was being used for shunting trucks, he might, in pursuance of his duties as sweeper, have intended to cross that line while the trucks were at rest in order to sweep in another place; the facts had not been fully ascertained, & there must be a new trial.—DAWSON v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1177; 121 L. T. 263; 12 B. W. C. C. 161, C. A.

2532. Entry into prohibited area.]—DAVIES v. GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY, No. 2572, post.

(c) Prohibitions limiting Mode of Work.

2533. Touching machinery in motion—Replacing band.]—WHITEHEAD v. READER, No. 2472, ante.

2534. —— Oiling.]—A workman was employed to oil machinery. He was strictly forbidden to oil it when it was in motion. He had been seen to do so, & warned against the practice. He did so again, & received severe injuries, from which he died:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—MAWDSLEY v. WEST LEIGH COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 80, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818. Distd. M'Diarmid v. Ogilvy (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 878. Apld. Chilton v. Blair (1914), 111 L. T. 782; Sanderson v. Wright (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 141. Distd. Herbert v. Fox, [1916] 1 A. C. 405. Foll. Phillips v. Estler (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 138. Reid. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101; Baker v. Bradford (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1031; Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 131 L. T. 12; Upton v. G. C. Ry. [1924] A. C. 302.

2535. —— Cleaning.]—Resp. was employed by applts. to work at a machine, & it was part of his duty to clean the machine when necessary. Workmen were expressly forbidden to clean machines when in motion, & resp. was aware of this rule. He did clean his machine while it was in motion, & was seriously injured in consequence:—Held: he was acting within the scope of his employment although disobediently, & he was entitled to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—ESTLER BROTHERS v. PHILLIPS (1922), 91 L. J. K. B. 470; 127 L. T. 73; 15 B. W. C. C. 291, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. PHILLIPS v. ESTLER BROTHERS (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 138, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933. Reid. Ardon Coal Co. v. M'Intosh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 320; Rodger v. Fife Coal Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 299; Fife Coal Co. v. Braid (or Laurence or Wilson or Murray) (1924), 93 L. J. P. C. 225; Finn v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1924), 131 L. T. 213.

2536. ——.]—A boy employed by a builder & contractor in doing odd jobs had asked to be put on a machine & was instructed to feed a planing machine with planks, the thickness of which had to be reduced, & to take them out at the other end. He was warned not to touch the machine if anything went wrong with it, but to report the matter to the foreman. The machine having stuck the boy tried to get the plank out of it by a method he had seen other workmen use, but in so doing accidentally restarted it & seriously injured his fingers. The county ct. judge found that the accident was caused, not by the boy doing anything outside the scope of his employment, but by the disregard of a general prohibition in the course of doing work within the scope of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—FOULKES v. ROBERTS (1919), 122 L. T. 169; 12 B. W. C. C. 370, C. A.

2537. Collier entering dangerous seam.]—HARDING v. BRYNDDU COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2516, ante.

2538. Collier riding on footboard of train provided by employers.]—A collier on his way to the colliery in a train provided for the men by the employers, when near the station & before the o. Elevator operator—Starting elevator from outside.]—A workman employed to operate an elevator is acting within the scope of his employment when he starts it when on the outside, although expressly warned not to do it.—WESTERN TRUST CO. v. WILLOUGHBY & DUNCAN (1914), 29 W. L. R. 818; 7 W. W. R. 569.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E. (c).

p. Brakeman passing between cars to couple.]—WRIGHT v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. Co., [1923] 1 D. L. R. 371; 16 Sask. L. R. 367; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 120.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, E. (c) & (d), & F.]

train had stopped, got out of the carriage on to the footboard so as to be ready to jump off as soon as the train arrived at the stopping place. He fell off & lost both hands. The county ct. judge held that he was riding in the train in the course of his employment, & therefore, although he was guilty of wilful misconduct, the injury being permanent, he was entitled to compensation:—Held: this decision must be affirmed.—WATKINS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 818; 5 B. W. C. C. 307, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Frazer v. Riddell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 841. Distd. Price v. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. (1914), 111 L. T. 688. Apld. Sanderson v. Wright (1914), 110 L. T. 517. Consd. Pritchard v. Torkington (1915), 111 L. T. 917. Refd. Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Woodilee Coal & Coke Co. v. Robertson (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 463.

2539. Servant riding instead of leading horse.]—A groom was thrown from a horse which he was exercising, & which, there was some evidence, he had been told to lead, but not to ride. The horse threw him, & he lost the sight of one eye & suffered other injuries. The county ct. judge found that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—WRIGHT v. SCOTT (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 431, C. A.

2540. Employee crossing railway line—Though prohibited by railway company.]—Deceased was employed as a traveller by resps., who were dealers in scrap iron. It was his duty to go to various railway stations in different parts of the country to examine the scrap iron which was to be consigned to his employers, & to give directions as to what was to be done with the goods. In the course of his work he went, as he had gone on many previous occasions, to the goods yard at a certain station belonging to a railway co. At that station there were several lines, & the yard was so constructed as to admit of a man crossing from one side to the other, but he could go round by the end of the stop blocks & so avoid danger. It was contrary to the rules & regulations of the railway co. to cross the yard while shunting operations were going on. On the day of the accident complained of, the goods for resps. were on the other side of the yard, & deceased went round by the end of the stop blocks. On coming back from where he had seen the goods, he attempted to cross one of the railway lines & in doing so he was caught between the buffers of two waggons & killed:—Held: even although deceased might have been guilty of "serious & wilful misconduct" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (c), yet that circumstance was immaterial inasmuch as the accident which occurred to him resulted in his death; & dependants of deceased were no less entitled to compensation than if he had been one of the servants of the railway co. who had in the course of his duty crossed the line while shunting operations were in progress & met with his death, the accident having been caused by a risk incident to the employment.—SANDERSON v. WRIGHT (HENRY), LTD. (1914), 110 L. T. 517; 30 T. L. R. 279; 7 B. W. C. C. 141, C. A.

2541. Sitting at work instead of standing.]—(1) If an accident occurs through a workman doing his work in a wrong way it may be an accident arising out of his employment within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Resp. was employed by applts. to attend to a rolling machine. It was his duty to stand at the machine, but he chose, in disobedience to the rules, to sit on the guard, & in consequence his foot was caught in the rollers & seriously injured. The accident would not have happened if he had remained standing:—Held: the accident arose out of his employment, & he was entitled to compensation.

(2) Construction of the Acts (see No. 2041, ante).—BLAIR & CO., LTD. v. CHILTON (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1147; 113 L. T. 514; 31 T. L. R. 437; 59 Sol. Jo. 474; 8 B. W. C. C. 324, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. CHILTON v. BLAIR & CO., LTD. (1914), 111 L. T. 782, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Partridge v. Whiteley (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 53. Distd. Baker v. Bradford (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1031; Herbert v. Fox, [1916] 1 A. C. 405. Consd. Clarke v. Anderson & Andersons (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 74. Refd. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101; Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61; Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352; Maydew v. Chatterley-Whitfield Collieries, [1917] 2 K. B. 742; Bourton v. Beauchamp, [1920] A. C. 1001; Leivers v. Barber, Walker (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 933; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2542. Firing charge without orders.]—One of the duties of a miner employed as a "pikeman" was to bore & charge holes for blasting, &, after waiting for the fireman's word, to light the fuses he had laid, & fire the holes. He bored & charged two holes, & then, without waiting for further instructions from the fireman, who was temporarily absent, fired both holes, & was killed by the explosion of the second:—Held: the prohibition he had disobeyed was not one limiting the sphere of employment but related to an act within that sphere, & the accident therefore arose out of his employment.—CORBETT v. PITT (H. S.) & CO. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 466, C. A.

2543. Crossing table in front of circular saw.]—Resps. were timber merchants. For cutting up the timber they had a circular saw, against which the wood to be sawn was pressed by a moving table, to which it was fastened down, worked by machinery. A lad helped the foreman sawyer to work the machine. The foreman said he would have his tea, & left the saw running, telling the lad to "clear up" while he was away. Some pieces of wood had to be cleared away on the opposite side of the table, & instead of going round he crossed the table. For some reasons unknown, the lever which held the table stationary became released, & the lad was pushed up against the saw & both feet were so injured that they had to be amputated. The county ct. judge rejected the employers' contention that, in crossing the table while the saw was running, the lad incurred a risk wholly outside his employment, & found that the accident arose out of employment & awarded him compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—CLARKE v. ANDERSON & ANDERSONS (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 74, C. A.

2544. Girl tending machine with hair down.]—Appct., a girl of sixteen years old, was employed by resps. to take full bobbins off the frames & replace them with empty ones. When the bobbins were not full, she was told to go to a place called the "broad alley," to wait until she was required. While waiting there she sat on a skip with her back leaning against the frame of the machine, & her hair, which was down her back, was caught in the moving machinery & she was injured. There were typewritten notices in the mill prohibiting girls from wearing their hair down their backs, & the employers alleged that the girls had been warned against the practice. The county ct. judge, however, on a claim for compensation being made, found that this girl had not received adequate warning & had not seen the notices, & that in fact it had been her custom to wear her hair in this way when working. He further found that although the girl was doing something in a wrong way she was not doing anything outside the scope of her employment, & he therefore made an award in her favour:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings & no misdirection.—MATTHEWS v. MCCLURE & SONS, LTD. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 510; 124 L. T. 10; sub nom. MCCLURE & SONS, LTD. v. MATTHEWS, 13 B. W. C. C. 221, C. A.

(d) Ambiguous Instructions.

2545. Workman entitled to compensation.]—A painter was engaged with his mate in painting a furnace from a scaffold on a gantry about 100 ft. above the ground. Owing to the proximity to the gantry of explosion doors, from which poisonous fumes escaped, when the furnace was in full blast, notices were placed in conspicuous places prohibiting workmen from working on the furnace without permission. The painter had for three days been prohibited from continuing his painting on the furnace. On the fourth day he delayed going up for about three hours, & ascended the furnace with his mate about 10 a.m. He subsequently fell to the ground & was killed. In arbn. proceedings commenced by the widow, the county ct. judge, at a late stage, admitted evidence by the mate that deceased man had told him that he had, on the previous evening, asked the furnace manager to allow him to continue his work on the following day, & that the manager had said that he would make arrangements for deceased workman to go up on the following morning. The county ct. judge found that the man went up in the bonâ fide belief that he had permission; & that in view of the ambiguity of the instructions, the employers could not be heard to say, when the workman adopted one of the courses, that those were not the instructions given. He therefore made an award in favour of the dependant:—Held: the evidence was admissible as evidence of a declaration or statement in the course of his duty; the facts justified the county ct. judge in making the award; & the appeal must be dismissed.—FINN v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD. (1924), 131 L. T. 213; 17 B. W. C. C. 69, C. A.

F. Seaman Leaving or Returning to Ship.

2546. Fall from ladder between quay & ship.]—Applt.'s husband was employed by resps. to watch trawlers as they lay in Granton Harbour. He was on duty for twenty-five hours, during which time he had to provide his own food; & in connection with his duties it was occasionally necessary for him to be on the quay. In the course of his watch he left the trawlers & went to an hotel which was a short distance away from the harbour, where he got half a glass of whiskey & a glass of beer. He was absent a very short time, & on his return to the quay, while descending a fixed ladder attached to the quay to go on board one of the trawlers, he fell into the water & was drowned:—Held: the accident arose "out of & in the course of" the employment of deceased within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for when the accident occurred he had returned to the quay which was the scene or sphere of his duty.

Qu.: must a party claiming compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), prove affirmatively not only that the accident causing the injury happened during the workmen's employment, but also arose out of & in the course of his employment; & if the facts proved are equally consistent with the existence or non-existence of these essential conditions, must appct. fail.—LOW (OR JACKSON) v. GENERAL STEAM FISHING CO., LTD., [1909] A. C. 523; 78 L. J. P. C. 148; 101 L. T. 401; 25 T. L. R. 787; 53 Sol. Jo. 763; 2 B. W. C. C. 56, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Hewitt v. Ship Duchess, [1910] 1 K. B. 772. Expld. Moore v. Manchester Liners, [1910] A. C. 498. Consd. Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 615. Reld. Sneddon v. Greenfield Coal & Brick Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 557; Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523; Warren v. Hedley's Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Braine v. Port of London Authority (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 342.

2547. ——.]—(1) M. was a fireman employed on board a steamship. While that steamship was lying off Brooklyn, M. went ashore with leave for his own purposes to buy certain articles that he wanted. He arrived back at the quayside after midnight, & in climbing up the ladder which connected the ship with the quay he fell into the water & was drowned:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of M.'s employment, & therefore, his widow was entitled to claim compensation.

(2) An accident befalls a man "in the course of" his employment, if it occurs while he is doing what a man so employed may reasonably do within a time during which he is employed, & at a place where he may reasonably be during that time (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—MOORE v. MANCHESTER LINERS, LTD., [1910] A. C. 498; 79 L. J. K. B. 1175; 103 L. T. 226; 26 T. L. R. 618; 54 Sol. Jo. 703; 3 B. W. C. C. 527, H. L.; revsg., [1909] 1 K. B. 417, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Low (or Jackson) v General Steam Fishing Co., [1909] A. C. 523; Watson v. Sherwood (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 462. Distd. Hewitt v. Ship Duchess, [1910] 1 K. B 772. Expld. Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523. Consd. Spencer v. Liberty (Owners) (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1381; Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304; Howitson v. St. Helens Colliery Co. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 230. Expld. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Reld. Bender v. S.S. Zent, [1909] 2 K. B. 41; Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 455; Halvorsen v. Salveson (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 519; Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] A. C. 417; Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792; Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1915] A. C. 51. As to (2) Consd. Low (or Jackson) v. General Steam Fishing Co., [1909] A. C. 523; Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] A. C. 417. Expld. M'Lauchlan v. Anderson (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 376. Consd. Parker v. Ship Black Rock, [1914] 2 K. B. 39; Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304. Reld. Smith v. Fife Coal Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 435; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Espie v. British Basket Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 492; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

2548. Fall from gangway leading to ship.]—A sailor, having been absent on leave, was returning to his ship, when he fell into the water. There was no evidence whether he had ever reached the gangway which led from the wharf to the ship & was well lighted:—Held: the accident arose in the course of, but not out of the employment, & no compensation was payable.—KITCHENHAM v. JOHANNESBURG (OWNERS), [1911] A. C. 417; 80 L. J. K. B. 1102; 105 L. T. 118; 27 T. L. R. 504; 55 Sol. Jo. 599; 4 B. W. C. C.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—F.

2548 1. Fall from gangway leading to ship.]—The workman, an engineer, was returning to his ship to attend to the boilers on a dark night. He mistook the gangway to the tier of boats next to his proper tier for his own gangway, & fell therefrom & was drowned:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—WILSON v. LYLE (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 731.—SCOT.

q. Fall when jumping from pier to ship—Return to duty.]—KEARON v.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, F., G. & H.]

311, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. KITCHENHAM v. JOHANNESBURG (OWNERS), LEACH v. OAKLEY STREET & Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 523, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Biggart v. S.S. Minnesota (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 68. Consd. Booth v. Leeds & Liverpool Canal Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 434; Craig v. S.S. Calabria (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 932; M'Crae v. Renfrew (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 898; Parker v. Ship Black Rock, [1914] 2 K. B. 39; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Apld. Spencer v. Liberty (Owners) (1917), 86 L. J. K. B 1381. Consd. Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304. Refd. Amys v. Barton (1911), 105 L. T. 619; Greene v. Shaw (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 573; Halvorsen v. Salvesen (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 519; M'Laren v. Calc. Ry. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 492; Refuge Assce. v. Millar (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 522; Martin v. Lovibond (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 243; Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1915] A. C. 51; Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 848; M'Lean v Macbrayne (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 687; Blake v. Ramsay (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 500; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59; Wilson v. Lyle (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 731.

2549. Fall passing from ladder to rail of ship.]—A seaman had returned to his ship. He had passed over a gangway from the wharf, & had one foot on the rail of the ship & the other on a ladder leading from the rail to the deck, when he overbalanced & fell over the side of the ship & was drowned:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the workman's employment.—CANAVAN v. UNIVERSAL (OWNERS) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 355, C. A.

2550. Fall from pier—While waiting for boat.]—The master of a ship, which was lying in Bangor Roads owing to stress of weather during a trading voyage from Liverpool to Penmaenmawr & back, went on shore in the evening &, after staying at an hotel for an hour, returned to the pier & hailed his ship to send a boat. Before the boat reached him he fell off the pier & was drowned. It was not proved that he went ashore on the ship's business, but it was proved that he had a right to be on shore. His dependants claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the accident did not arise out of deceased's employment.—FLETCHER v. DUCHESS (OWNERS), [1911] A. C. 671; 81 L. J. K. B. 33; 27 T. L. R. 508; 55 Sol. Jo. 598; 4 B. W. C. C. 317; sub nom. HEWITT v. DUCHESS (OWNERS), 105 L. T. 121, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Halvorsen v. Salvesen (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 519; Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523.

2551. —— Bringing boat to return to ship.]—The mate of a barge went ashore, though under no obligation to do so, with the captain, who had to purchase provisions. He moored the boat they had used to the end of a floating pier. On returning in the evening the captain told the mate to go on the pier, get the boat, & bring it round to him at a landing stage. The night was dark, & no lights were permitted on or near the pier. He went on to the pier, but there was some doubt on the evidence whether he actually reached the boat or not. A splash was heard & he fell into the water & was drowned. The county ct. judge drew the inference that deceased had reached the boat & was therefore within the ambit of his employment, & the accident arose out of & in course of that employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference.—HARMAN v. CROW & Co. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 88, C. A.

2552. Fall from steps of jetty—Not property of employers.]—A ship's carpenter went on shore by leave & on his return, going up steps, which were part of a jetty which was not the property or under the control of the shipowners, the hand rail broke & he fell into a small boat in the water underneath the jetty. On a claim for compensation the county ct. judge made an award in favour of the employers on the ground that the accident did not arise in the course of the employment; that the jetty was not the property of nor under the control of the employers; & that the workman, though returning to his ship, had not reached it & was in effect still on land:—Held: it was not possible to say there was no evidence on which the county ct. judge could come to the conclusion he did come to, & the award must stand.—LASHBROOK v. TIMES SHIPPING CO. (1923), 129 L. T. 403; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 209; sub nom. LASHBROOK v. TIMES SHIPPING CO., LTD., ALCOCK v. TIMES SHIPPING CO., LTD., 16 B. W. C. C. 63, C. A.

G. Acts done under Orders from Superior.

2553. General rule.]—The master of a steam trawler proceeding upon a fishing voyage was warned by the Admlty., of an enemy's mine field, & directed to steer a roundabout course which would avoid it. In spite of these instructions he steered an easterly course directly through the mine field towards his fishing ground. While the vessel was in the mine field he saw some mines, which he buoyed, & then steered southward to warn some war ships, which he saw in that direction, of the mines. While on this course the vessel struck another mine, & was blown up. The chief engineer was severely injured by the explosion, & claimed compensation. He was unaware of the Admlty. instructions:—Held: the injury was caused by "accident," &, as it happened while the engineer was carrying out the lawful orders of the master, it arose out of & in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).

If a person is put over a subordinate employee, that employee is not at liberty in matters within the scope of the employment of the subordinate to disobey orders given to him by the superior & we cannot encourage any argument that if in those circumstances an accident arises the employer is not liable (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—RISDALE v. KILMARNOCK (OWNERS), [1915] 1 K. B. 503; 84 L. J. K. B. 298; 112 L. T. 439; 31 T. L. R. 134; 59 Sol. Jo. 145; 8 B. W. C. C. 7, C. A.

2554. Sphere of employment enlarged—Instruction by engineer to put machine in order.]—A machine for cutting tin lids, at which the workgirl was employed, jambed by reason of a piece of tin sticking in the machinery. She reported it, as was her duty, to the engineer in charge, who wrongly told her to see to it herself as he could not come then. While she was trying to remove the piece of tin she was seriously injured as the result of a fellow workgirl, who knew what was being done, interfering with & starting the machine by putting her foot on the treadle for some unknown reason:—Held: the scope of the employment had been enlarged by the direction of the engineer, & the accident arose out of & in the course of that employment.—GEARY v. GINZLER &

KEARON (1911), 45 I. L. T. 96; 4 B. W. C. C. 435.—IR.

r. Fall from quay — Returning with own provisions—Employment on ship in port with liberty to go ashore.]—CRAIG v. CALABRIA (OWNERS) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 932.—SCOT.

t. Fall when jumping from ship to quay—Leaving ship in breach of regulations.] — DURIE v. ANCHOR-DONALDSON LINE, [1926] S. C. 228.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—G.

a. Sphere of employment enlarged —Roadman instructed to cut bracken for bedding.]—COLLINS v. OPOTIKI COUNTY, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 747.—N.Z.

CO., LTD. (1913), 108 L. T. 286; 6 B. W. C. C. 72, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Risdale v. S.S. Kilmarnock (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 7.

2555. —— Instruction to "go & find a job."]—The workman, a boy of fourteen, was employed as a truck boy on a machine for cutting & making tops of packing cases, his duty being to push trucks of wood from the machine to the stack yard. He had nothing to do with the machine itself. Whilst waiting for a truck to be filled for him to move, one of his employers, seeing him apparently idle, told him to "go & find a job." He accordingly got a short stick & endeavoured to clear out the blower of the machine, which had become choked with chips, & in so doing slipped, & putting out his hand to save himself brought it in contact with the rotary saw of the machine & was seriously injured. On an application by him for compensation the county ct. judge held that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment :—Held : the direction by the employer to "go & find a job" must be taken to have meant that appct. was to do something which, although it was not within the scope of the employment was boys' work & was not improper for him to do; what appct. did was within that direction; & accordingly the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—LANE v. LUSTY (W.) & SON, [1915] 3 K. B. 230; 84 L. J. K. B. 1342; 113 L. T. 615; 8 B. W. C. C. 518, C. A.

2556. —— Instruction to use lift after forbidden hours.]—A lad worked on the top story in a building in which there was a lift. There was an old notice posted up to the effect that coal should only be taken up in the lift before 9 a.m. In the afternoon the lad was told to get some coal. He went downstairs & found a boy who helped him to fill a bath with coal & put it in the lift; & then he asked the man in charge of the lift to send it up & got into the lift himself. On the way up his foot was injured in some way by the lift. The county ct. judge held that the injury was due to an accident arising out of the lad's employment: —Held : there was no misdirection & the award was right.—MARSHALL v. RODGERS (JOSEPH) & SONS, LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 588, C. A.

2557. —— Instruction by foreman to assist fellow employee.]—A steel dresser worked near a bandsaw at which a young woman was employed. On June 12, 1918, he helped her, at her request, to remove a blunt saw & put in a sharp one, & then to set her job, the steel casting to be worked being too heavy for her. While helping her further he overbalanced & was thrown against the saw, losing the first three fingers & part of the little finger of his right hand. His & the girl's evidence was that the assistant foreman had told him to help the girl in any difficulty, but the assistant foreman said he had told the girl to get the workman's help only in cleaning sand off the castings, & that if she was in difficulties in connection with her work at the saw she was to get a sawyer's help :—Held : the workman had been obeying the instructions of the assistant foreman in helping the girl, & therefore the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, so that the workman was entitled to compensation.—CARS v. VICKERS, LTD. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 408; 120 L. T. 465; 12 B. W. C. C. 27, C. A.

H. Acts in accordance with Usage or Practice.

2558. Mines—Using sump shaft instead of ladder.]—The proper & safer way to proceed from a lower to a higher level of a mine was by a ladder, though the miners habitually used a sump shaft provided for raising metals. At the time of the accident a miner was leaving by way of the sump shaft :—Held : there was evidence that the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment, & was not due to serious & wilful misconduct.—DOUGLAS v. UNITED MINERAL MINING CO., LTD. (1900), 2 W. C. C. 15, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Harding v. Brynddu Colliery Co. (1911), 80 L. J. K. B. 1052.

2559. —— Miners leaving by usual route.]—(1) Where in a case under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the facts are either found or admitted, the only question to be decided is the inference to be drawn from those facts, which is a question of law, & it is open to the Ct. of Appeal in such a case to review the conclusion at which the county ct. judge has arrived, & to say whether it is or is not wrong in point of law, & whether or not he has misdirected himself.

(2) The employment of a workman is not limited to the moment when he reaches the place where he is to begin his work, & to the moment when he ceases that work. It includes a reasonable interval of time & space.

(3) A collier left his work, after coming up from the pit, by a route which crossed on the level some lines of rail belonging to & under the control of his employers. At the time the workman tried to cross there were some trucks standing on the line, & he tried to get under them; as he was doing so the trucks moved, & he was seriously injured. The county ct. judge found on the facts that there were three ways by which the workman might have gone home, but the way he went by was the shortest, was always used by all the workmen who lived in the same direction as appct., & was so used with the knowledge & consent of the employers :—Held : the accident arose out of & in the course of appct.'s employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1.—GANE v. NORTON HILL COLLIERY CO., [1909] 2 K. B. 539; 78 L. J. K. B. 921; 100 L. T. 979; 25 T. L. R. 640; 2 B. W. C. C. 42, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61. As to (2) Refd. Hoskins v. Lancaster (1910), 26 T. L. R. 612. As to (3) Distd. Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners), [1910] 2 K. B. 555; Popo v. Hill's Plymouth Co. (1910), 102 L. T. 632. Foll. Nicol v. Young's Paraffin Light & Mineral Oil Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 395; Fox v. Rees & Kirby (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 43. Apld. Longhurst v. Stewart (1912), Ltd., [1916] 2 K. B. 803. Distd. L. & Y. Ry. v. Highley, [1917] A. C. 352. Consd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Refd. Brice v. Lloyd, [1909] 2 K. B. 804; Phillips v. Williams (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 143; Cook v. Ship Montreal (1913), 108 L. T. 164; Webber v. Wansborough Paper Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 615; Usher's Wiltshire Brewery v. Bruce, (1914), 6 Tax Cas. 399; Baker v. Bradford (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 1031; Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 848; Palmer v. Harrod's (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 291; Senior v. Brodsworth Main Colliery Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 496; Whittall v. Staveley Iron & Coal Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985; Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304; Gibbins v. British Dyes (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 180; Stevens v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 756; Horner v. Wandsworth, Wimbledon & Epsom Gas Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 355; Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757; Bratton v. Jonas & Colver (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 305; Brown v. Baton Colliery Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 265; Howells [1924] 2 W. W. R. 660.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—H.

b. Mines — Drawer letting down loaded hutch without waiting for pony driver.]—BAIRD (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD. v. ROBSON (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 925.—SCOT.

c. Workmen climbing between cars when leaving work.] — MACKENZIE v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. CO., [1926] 1 D. L. R. 1; [1926] S. C. R. 178; affg., [1925] 3 D. L. R. 621; [1925] 2 W. W. R. 393; 19 Sask. L. R. 448; affd., [1924] 3 D. L. R. 47;

d. Workmen exchanging work.] — A workman was employed as a "barrow-man" by the consignee of a cargo, in the unloading of a ship. Other men working at the unloading were employed by a ship-broker,

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, H. & I.]

v. Powell Duffryn Steam Coal Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 472. Generally, Reld. Wilmerson v. Lynn & Hamburg S.S. Co. (1913), 109 L. T. 53.

2560. —— Miners riding on trucks.] — A collier met his death by accident while riding on a tub between the pit bottom & his place of work. By the special rules of the colliery, riding on tubs was forbidden except where permitted by the manager or "under-looker," but there was no evidence that deceased knew of the prohibition. Such permission had been given as to certain parts of the mine, through the fireman on duty there, but not as to the part where the accident happened. There was evidence that it was the regular practice of men returning from the night shift in this part of the mine to ride on tubs when they could. By a special rule it was part of the fireman's duty to see that the rules were obeyed; but he, finding the practice existing when he was put on duty in that part of the mine, & believing that it had been authorised before he came, never interfered with it:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—RICHARDSON v. DENTON COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1913), 109 L. T. 370; 6 B. W. C. C. 629, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Williams v. Cleeves Western Valleys Anthracite Collieries (1924), 131 L. T. 231. Reld. Maydew v. Chatterley-Whitfield Collieries (1917), 117 L. T. 460.

2561. Ship's steward using cargo skid instead of gangway.]—A ship's steward, being at liberty to do so, went on shore when the ship was unloading cargo, & returned about 10 p.m. the same evening, being more or less under the influence of liquor. Instead of using the gangway, as he ought to have done, he came on board by the cargo skid, in stepping from which he slipped & fell into the hold, & was fatally injured. According to the rules, the crew were forbidden to come on board by the cargo skid, but they often did so, especially when they wished to escape observation:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the steward's employment, notwithstanding that he was committing a breach of discipline in using the cargo skid instead of the gangway.—ROBERTSON v. ALLAN BROTHERS & CO. (LIVERPOOL & LONDON), LTD. (1908), 77 L. J. K. B. 1072; 98 L. T. 821; 1 B. W. C. C. 172.

Annotations:—Apld. Low (or Jackson) v. General Steam Fishing Co., [1909] A. C. 523; Hewitt v. Ship Duchess, [1910] 1 K. B. 772; Moore v. Manchester Liners, [1910] A. C. 498. Distd. Barnes v. Nunnery Colliery Co., [1912] A. C. 44. Reld. Pepper v. Sayor (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1756; Davidson v. M'Robb or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304.

2562. Carter giving lift to fellow workman.]—A carter driving towards his employer's yard in the course of his employment, was asked by a fellow workman going in the same direction for a lift. He consented, & stood up to fix a seat at the back of the cart. The horse suddenly moved on & he overbalanced, fell out, & was killed. There was evidence that the employers knew of & permitted the practice of giving lifts:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—EVANS v. HOLLOWAY (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 248, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Brinckman v. Harris (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 200.

2563. Workmen using goods hoist instead of stairs.]—A bricklayer employed in the erection of a large mill was being carried up to his work, with two others, in a hoist, which had been installed for the purpose of lifting materials, when the chain broke & precipitated them to the ground. It appeared from the evidence that the employer told the men to use the staircase & not to go up in the hoist, but the prohibition was generally disregarded, even by the foreman, whose duty it would be to enforce it, & the hoist was constantly used by many of the men:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—MCGUIRE v. GABBOTT (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 555, C. A.

2564. Casual labourer assisting to move machine.]—A farmer employed a proprietor of threshing machines to supply a threshing machine, accompanied by two men to drive & feed it, for the purpose of threshing his corn. It was the practice in the district for several casual labourers to follow a threshing machine in the expectation of being taken on by the various farmers for the threshing. Appct. was one of six men who were thus taken on by the farmer. After the threshing was finished & these men had been paid, they helped the men with the threshing machine to move it off the farm on to the roadway. In doing so appct. was injured, & he brought these proceedings, claiming compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), from the farmer. It appeared from the evidence that the casual labourers always helped to get the threshing machine on to & off the farm, & that it often could not be done without their help. The farmer stated that, when he engaged the threshing machine with two men, he understood he would have to supply the rest of the labour on the farm:—Held: it was part of appct.'s employment by the farmer to help in getting the threshing machine on to & off the farm, & therefore the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment by the farmer, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—NEWSON v. BURSTALL (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 535; 112 L. T. 792; 59 Sol. Jo. 204; 8 B. W. C. C. 21, C. A.

2565. Working machine without guard.]—Appct. was employed to work a cartridge tapering machine, & while so engaged met with an injury to her hand. If there had been a guard on the machine the accident would not have happened. There was a conflict of evidence as to whether a guard was or was not provided by the employers, who asserted that a guard was provided, & that, in working the machine without the guard, appct. had exposed herself to a risk not incidental to her employment, & that the employers were therefore not liable. The county ct. judge went to see the machine himself, & in his subsequent award found, as a fact, that there was no guard, & that appct. had for a long period worked the machine in that condition. He therefore held that the accident arose out of the employment, & accordingly awarded her compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—CROOKS v. GREENWOOD & BATLEY, LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 128, C. A.

2566. Employee using lift.]—A woman went in the course of her employment with four other employees to see a cashier on the floor above where she worked. As they were returning she & three other employees travelled down by a lift descending from the first to the ground floor. It was the custom for employees to use the lift, & there was no effective prohibition against their doing so. The lift ultimately stuck about a yard from the ground floor, & the gate which travelled up as the lift travelled down was then about a foot from the floor of the lift. The three employees scrambled out by this gap to return to work, & this woman was following when the lift started to ascend, & she sustained injuries from which she died:—Held: the accident was not due to an added peril outside the sphere of the woman's employment, but that, as it was her duty to return to work, she was at most trying to do something in the course of her employment in a wrong way. Her dependant was, therefore, entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 38).—GIBBINS v. BRITISH DYES, LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 716; 11 B. W. C. C. 180, C. A.

among them being some "tippers." The "barrow-man" changed places for a time with a "tipper," & met with an accident while at this work. | It was a practice of the men unloading ships at this port so to exchange work, & the practice was known to & not forbidden by the employers:—Held: | the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—HENNEBERRY v. DOYLE (1911), 46 I. L. T. 70; 5 B. W. C. C. 580.—IR.

2567. Carter delivering goods on to customer's premises.]—A driver employed by a general carrier was delivering meat at the shop of a butcher. He carried a box of meat weighing about 70 lbs. into the shop. The butcher's wife, who was the only person in the shop at the time, requested him to put it through to the back, & while attempting to do so with her assistance, the meat slipped out of the box & fell on his leg & broke it. The county ct. judge found that it was customary for carters to deliver or assist in delivering parcels on consignees' premises, & resp. had not given appct. instructions not to carry parcels into shops; but the judge was also of opinion that appct., in complying, of his good nature, with the request of the customer's wife, in going into the back premises had gone outside the scope of his employment, & he therefore made his award in favour of resp.:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding that the man was acting outside the scope of his employment in taking the meat into the back premises, & the accident therefore arose out of & in the course of appct.'s employment.—BUGLASS v. GRAY (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 147, C. A.

2568. Quarry labourer acting as rockman.]—The workman, a quarry labourer, was employed by resps. as a stonemason's helper or attendant. The stonemason had to leave work at 5 p.m. owing to train arrangements, but the workman worked on until 6 p.m. After the stonemason left, the workman went to work at a rubbish heap or tip. While he was so engaged, a fall occurred, & he was pinned between two heavy stones, receiving injuries which resulted in his death. The employers contended that the work at which deceased was engaged when he was injured was outside the sphere of his employment. The work on which he was engaged was rockmen's work. Evidence was given before the county ct. judge, by a number of labourers at the quarry, that labourers were in the habit of working occasionally on the tip, & that the practice was known to, & not objected to, by the officials of the quarry. On this point there was a conflict of evidence, but the county ct. judge came to the conclusion that the practice of the labourers of working occasionally on the tip was common, known to the officials, & not rigorously or effectively forbidden, but was tacitly sanctioned by the quarry officials, & that therefore the work on which the deceased was engaged at the time of the accident was within the scope of his employment. He therefore held that the accident arose out of & in the course of deceased's employment:—Held: this was a question of fact. There was evidence to support the finding of the county ct. judge, & no misdirection.—JONES v. ARENIG GRANITE CO., LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 317, C. A.

2569. Waiting for pay in dangerous place.]—A lad of sixteen was employed at a pit, & one Friday morning, which was pay day, he overslept himself & did not come to work. He, however, went to the pit at about one o'clock to get his pay. Men could not draw their pay without their "pay lines," which had been distributed to them by the foreman during their work that morning. It was necessary for the lad to obtain his pay lines from the foreman personally, as he had not been at work. He therefore looked for & made inquiries for the foreman, but could not find him. One of the men from whom he inquired said that the foreman would soon be coming to give him his pay lines, & so the lad decided to wait near to meet the foreman when he came. The day was wet & cold & he sat on a log near a fire made between some railway lines, a thing which it was quite usual to do & which he had done before. He was seriously injured by a runaway waggon coming down the line owing to the carelessness of workmen further up the line. On a claim for compensation the sheriff-substitute awarded compensation, on the ground that the accident arose out of & in the course of the lad's employment:—Held: when the lad went to the pit to get his pay he was acting in the course of his employment. The accident also arose out of the employment.—BAIRD (W.) & CO., LTD. v. M'GRAW (1920), 89 L. J. P. C. 188; 124 L. T. 38; 64 Sol. Jo. 650; 13 B. W. C. C. 233, H. L.

2570. Workmen climbing over running machine—Prohibition not genuine.]—Spinners employed at a cotton mill, to save themselves going round the mules often climbed over the headstock when the machine was running. Accidents having occurred from this practice the mill owners posted notices throughout the mill to the effect that in the interest of the employees this practice was prohibited, & that if in future an accident happened from this cause to a workman objection would be taken if a claim for compensation was made. Appct. disregarded this notice, & in crossing over the headstock while the machine was running sustained an injury for which he sought compensation. The county ct. judge found on the evidence that the notice was not a genuine prohibition, & that it was disregarded in the presence of the overlooker, who did not attempt to stop it, & he awarded compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—MELLOR v. ASHTON BROTHERS & CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 128, C. A.

2571. Riding on trucks—Prohibition not strictly enforced.]—WILLIAMS v. CLEEVES WESTERN VALLEYS ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 2512, ante.

I. Accidents resulting in Death or Serious and Permanent Disablement.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2), incorporating Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7.

2572. Scope & effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7.]—In contravention of his employers' express orders a workman unnecessarily went into a prohibited area to hang up his coat, & on turning round to return to his proper working place fell into a hole & was fatally injured. His widow claimed compensation, contending that the workman's acts of hanging up his coat & returning towards his work were acts done "for the purpose of & in connection with his employers' trade or business," so that under above sect. the fatal accident was to be deemed to arise out of & in the course of his employment notwithstanding that the workman was acting in contravention of his employers' orders.

The deputy county ct. judge held that the acts were done for the workman's own purposes & not for the purposes of or in connection with his employers' trade or business, so that above sect. did not apply. On the widow's appeal:—Held: the deputy judge's decision was right.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 2, I.; sub-sect. 3, A., B. & C.]

Observations on the limited scope & effect of above sect.

The sect. does not apply to acts merely incidental to the employment.

Qu.: whether above sect. would apply to acts having no casual relation to the accident, or to acts at a workman's home, or to the acts of domestic servants.

Semble, although it would apply to unauthorised or forbidden conduct within the sphere of employment, it would not, as a rule, apply to acts in a prohibited area, such acts being primâ facie altogether outside that sphere.—DAVIES v. GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY, [1924] 2 K. B. 651; 94 L. J. K. B. 229; 132 L. T. 221; 40 T. L. R. 859; 68 Sol. Jo. 882; 17 B. W. C. C. 181, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Borley v. Ockenden, [1925] 2 K. B. 325. Consd. Jones v. Tarr, [1926] 1 K. B. 25. Reld. Clark v. Southwark Corpn. (1925), 133 L. T. 753; Hawkins v. Kendrick (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 325.

2573. ——.]—A lad employed as a finisher of boots in applt.'s bootmaking business, took home, in disobedience of orders a customer's pair of boots in order to execute the necessary repairs to them, his motive being to improve his own skill & so become a repairer, instead of a finisher, of boots at an increased wage. While so working on the boots at home & out of business hours, the lad injured his eye with an awl, with the result that the eye had to be removed. The county ct. judge held that inasmuch as the work was being done for the purposes of & in connection with the employer's trade or business, the case was covered by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, & he awarded compensation:—Held: the act which caused the injury did not arise out of & in the course of the lad's employment at all, & he was not entitled to recover.

Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 7, must be read as one with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1), & the mere fact that the forbidden, or unbidden, act was done by the workman "for the purposes of & in connection with his employer's trade or business" will not entitle him to compensation where the act in question did not arise out of & in the course of his employment at all, so as to bring him in the first instance within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1).—BORLEY v. OCKENDEN, [1925] 2 K. B. 325; 95 L. J. K. B. 35; 133 L. T. 72; 69 Sol. Jo. 365; 18 B. W. C. C. 55; sub nom. BAILEY v. OCKENDEN, 41 T. L. R. 314, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Tarr, [1926] 1 K. B. 25. Reld. Clark v. Southwark Corpn (1925), 133 L. T. 753.

2574. ——.]—JONES v. TARR, No. 2446, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—RISKS INCIDENTAL TO THE EMPLOYMENT.

A. Accidents during Meal Times and Other Intervals.

Interruption of course of employment, see Sub-sect. 2, C., ante.

2575. Workman undertaking unnecessary risk—Taking meal in dangerous place.] — BRICE v. EDWARD LLOYD, LTD., No. 2514, ante.

2576. —— Relieving nature in dangerous place.] —Deceased workman was a labourer employed in the construction of a dock, & at 11 p.m. the night gang, of whom he was one, were ordered to go from one part of the dock to another. They marched in single file, & deceased, who was the last man in the file, intimated to the next man in front that he wanted to stop to ease nature. The others went on, & after a while the next man called out to deceased asking him why he was not coming on. Getting no answer, he went back & found deceased dead, his body having been crushed between the upper & lower parts of a hoist. The structure was so low that deceased must have stooped down to enter. The scene of the accident was amply lighted. The arbitrator found as a fact that the man entered the hoist intentionally, & that it was an unreasonable place for him to go to for the purpose, & that therefore the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: there being evidence to support these findings, the arbitrator was justified in finding that the accident did not arise out of the employment, the risk taken by the workman not being one reasonably incident to the employment.—ROSE v. MORRISON & MASON, LTD. (1911), 80 L. J. K. B. 1103; 105 L. T. 2; 4 B. W. C. C. 277, C. A.

2577. —— ——.]—COOK v. MANVERS MAIN COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 2519, ante.

2578. Canteen provided by employer—Employee injured in public street.]—A munition worker, during an interval allowed by her employers for rest & refreshment, left the actual working premises of the employers in order to go to a canteen. The canteen was provided by the employers for their workers & was some 120 yards from the employers' gates at the opposite side of a public highway. While upon the highway, the worker was run down & killed by a lorry:—Held: although the canteen belonged to the employers, & the worker was properly going there, yet as she was in the street for her own purposes, & not on her employers' business, nor in respect of any duty which she owed to them, the accident did not arise out of or in the course of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1). The fact that the employers, by installing the canteen, had in a sense invited her to go there did not affect the position.—BELL v. ARMSTRONG, WHITWORTH & CO. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844; 121 L. T. 258; 35 T. L. R. 479; 63 Sol. Jo. 533; 12 B. W. C. C. 138, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757. Reld. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

2579. —— Employee injured on steps of canteen.] —A girl employed as a machinist left the works where she was employed, during the dinner hour, as the rules required, & went to a canteen provided by the employers for their women workers in another part of the premises. The canteen & the works were within the same curtilage, but by day the canteen could only be reached by the street. The workers were invited, but were not obliged, to use the canteen. After finishing her dinner the girl was hurrying down a flight of stone

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

2575 i. Workman undertaking unnecessary risk—Taking meal in dangerous place.]—CARINDUFF v. GILMORE (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 981.—IR.

e. Housekeeper killed while resting — Accidental firing of revolver by son of employer.]—CLARK v. ALCOCK (1920), 20 S. R. N. S. W. 419; 37 N. S. W. W. N. 109.—AUS.

f. Workman emptying billycan during spell from work—Fall from steel chimney through opening—Spell authorised by employer.]—Re POLLARD & ADELAIDE ELECTRIC SUPPLY CO., LTD., [1924] S. A. S. R. 396.—AUS.

g. Fall from ladder to deck—While stairs leading from the canteen into the street in order to return to her work when she slipped & broke her ankle. She claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was evidence upon which the arbitrator could find that the injury arose in the course of as well as out of the employment.—ARMSTRONG, WHITWORTH & CO. v. REDFORD, [1920] A. C. 757; 89 L. J. K. B. 495; 123 L. T. 114; 36 T. L. R. 451; 64 Sol. Jo. 388; 13 B. W. C. C. 68, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. REDFORD v. ARMSTRONG, WHITWORTH & CO., 88 L. J. K. B. 850, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Hannifin v. Fitzmaurice (1920), 14 B. W. C. C. 320; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302. Refd. St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

B. Acts of the Enemy.

2580. Floating mine—Injury to seaman on trawler.]—RISDALE v. KILMARNOCK (OWNERS), No. 2553, ante.

2581. Bombardment—By enemy warship—Injury to engine driver.]—An engine driver was attending to his duties on his engine near the Hartlepools when a bombardment of those places by enemy warships commenced, whereupon he left his engine & got under a truck attached to the engine. Two or three minutes afterwards he left the truck & returned to the engine to attend to the injector in order to prevent the boiler tubes from getting burnt. Having done this, he was returning to the truck, when he was struck by a shell & severely injured. Many people were killed & injured by the bombardment:—Held: the accident did not arise "out of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—COOPER v. NORTH-EASTERN RY. CO. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187; 114 L. T. 55; 32 T. L. R. 131; 60 Sol. Jo. 105; 9 B. W. C. C. 129, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663.

2582. —— By enemy aircraft—Workman injured on street in course of employment.]—Applt. was employed by resp. as potman in a public-house, & was directed by his employer to clean a brass plate on the outside of the street door of the house. While he was so engaged a hostile aircraft dropped a bomb in the street & he was injured by the explosion:—Held: there was no evidence that the accident arose out of his employment within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—ALLCOCK v. ROGERS (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 693; 118 L. T. 386; 34 T. L. R. 324; 62 Sol. Jo. 421; 11 B. W. C. C. 149, H. L.

Annotations:—Folld. Knyvett v. Wilkinson (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 722. Refd. Bird v. Keep, [1918] 2 K. B. 692; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577.

2583. —— —— ——.]—On June 13, 1917, deceased was passing along a street, on resps.' business, when an explosive bomb from hostile aircraft fell on the street & he was injured by the explosive force of the bomb. He was removed to hospital & died shortly afterwards. A claim for compensation was made against resps. by the dependants of deceased, which was followed in due course by a request for arbn. under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the ground that the death of deceased had been caused by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment, within the meaning of sect. 1 of that Act:—Held: there was no special danger attaching to the spot to which deceased was sent, the danger of being struck by an explosive bomb from hostile aircraft not being what could properly be called a "street risk" specially attaching persons passing along the street; the risk of being killed by the bomb which injured deceased was precisely common to all who might be at or near the spot at the time, & had no relation to his employment; & the dependants were not, therefore, entitled to compensation.—KNYVETT v. WILKINSON BROTHERS, LTD. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 722; 118 L. T. 476; 11 B. W. C. C. 50, C. A.

2584. —— —— Workman employed on specially dangerous work.]—A workman was killed as the result of a bomb dropped by enemy aircraft on an oil & colour warehouse to which he was sent by his employer in the ordinary course of his employment. His widow applied for compensation. The facts proved before the county ct. judge were that in the case of a fire breaking out upon the premises in which deceased workman met his death dense & suffocating smoke would be produced from the materials stored there; that while he was upon the premises they were wrecked & set on fire by a bomb or bombs from hostile aircraft; & that deceased workman was found in the basement of the premises buried under the wreckage but without any apparent external marks of injury upon him. The county ct. judge held upon the evidence that the workman died of suffocation by smoke; that the employment exposed him to a special risk; & that he met his death by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: there was evidence from which the county ct. judge might reasonably & properly draw the conclusions of fact at which he arrived.—BIRD v. KEEP, [1918] 2 K. B. 692; 87 L. J. K. B. 1199; 118 L. T. 633; 34 T. L. R. 513 62 Sol. Jo. 666; 11 B. W. C. C. 133, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Munro, Brice v. Marten, Munro, Brice v. R., [1920] 3 K. B. 94; Barnett v. Cohen, [1921] 2 K. B. 461; Smith v. G. W. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 237; Re Stollery, Weir v. Treasury Solicitor, [1926] Ch. 284.

C. Assaults.

Workmen larking.]—See Sub-sect. 2, D. (f), ante.

2585. Engine driver—Stone thrown at train by boy.]—Where an engine driver, while driving a train under a bridge, was injured through a stone wilfully dropped on the train by a boy from the bridge:—Held: his injuries were caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1.—CHALLIS v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO., [1905] 2 K. B. 154; 74 L. J. K. B. 569; 93 L. T. 330; 53 W. R. 613; 21 T. L. R. 486; 49 Sol. Jo. 480; 7 W. C. C. 23, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Craske v. Wigan, [1909] 2 K. B. 635. Apld. Nisbet v. Rayne & Burn, [1910] 2 K. B. 689. Consd. Murray v. Denholm (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 496; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667. Distd. Clayton v. Hardwick Colliery Co. (1914), 111 L. T. 788. Refd. Fitzgerald v. Clarke, [1908] 2 K. B. 796; Brice v. Edward Lloyd, [1909] 2 K. B. 804; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603.

---

descending to clock on at close of dinner hour—No payment made for dinner hour.]—GORMAN v. BARCLAY, CURLE & CO., [1926] S. C. 266.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

h. Assault by third party — Cook attacked by hotel customer.]—Applicant was employed as cook at a hotel in which the kitchen & the bar were on the same level, & a customer came out of the bar into the kitchen, where he had no business to be, & made a rush at the cook, who, in trying to avoid him, put her arm through a glass door & was seriously injured:—Held: this was not an accident arising out of the employment.—MURPHY v. BERWICK (1909), 43 I. L. T. 126; 2 B. W. C. C. 103.—IR.

k. —— On workman when rescuing fellow workman from assault.]—COLLINS v. COLLINS, [1907] 2 I. R. 104.—IR.

l. —— Workman overbalanced into molten metal.] — An ironmoulder's helper while engaged at work in a

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 3, C., D. & E.]

2586. Assault by workman on fellow workman.]—A workman for no apparent reason deliberately assaulted a fellow workman, who, in trying to prevent himself falling over a moving rope, swung up his hand which was holding a hammer, & injured the other workman's eye:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the workman's employment.—SHAW v. WIGAN COAL & IRON CO., (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 81, C. A.

2587. ——.]—WEEKES v. STEAD (WILLIAM), LTD., No. 2301, ante.

2588. ——.]—REID v. BRITISH & IRISH STEAM PACKET CO., No. 2173, ante.

2589. ——.]—PARKER v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2297, ante.

2590. Cashier murdered while carrying money.]—NISBET v. RAYNE & BURN, No. 2298, ante.

2591. Assault by master on workman.]—An errand boy was attacked by his employer with a hatchet & seriously injured:—Held: a felonious act done by an employer is not an accident arising out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & therefore the boy was not entitled to compensation under that Act.—BLAKE v. HEAD (1912), 106 L. T. 822; 28 T. L. R. 321; 5 B. W. C. C. 303, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603. Reid. Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667.

2592. Assault by strikers—On workman remaining in employment.]—A workman employed as a storekeeper in M. acted as carter for his employer at a time when the carters of M. were on strike, under a special contract by which the employer agreed to be responsible for any injury which he might sustain. He was on his way home from work & was passing through a market place about seven minutes' walk from his employer's premises, when he was attacked by strikers & seriously injured:—Held: the agreement while enlarging the liability of the employer could not bring within the operation of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an accident which was not in the course of the workman's employment, & an award of compensation under the Act could not be maintained.—POULTON v. KELSALL, [1912] 2 K. B. 131; 81 L. J. K. B. 774; 106 L. T. 522; 28 T. L. R. 329; 5 B. W. C. C. 318, C. A.

2593. Assault by third party.]—MITCHINSON v. DAY BROTHERS, No. 2299, ante.

2594. Schoolmaster of industrial school—Murder by school boys.]—TRIM JOINT DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD OF MANAGEMENT v. KELLY, No. 2300, ante.

D. Attacks by Animals, etc.

2595. Workman employed by lion tamer—Injured in driving back escaped lion.]—A workman was employed by a lion tamer to look after baggage, clean out lion cages, & generally make himself useful, but it was no part of his duty to feed the lions. One afternoon the workman was left in sole charge of the cages of lions, with orders to see that no harm came to them or any one else by reason of their fierceness. One of the lions got out of a cage & into a dressing-room, but there was no evidence to show how this happened. The workman went into the dressing-room & tried to drive the lion back into the cage, when the lion turned on him & killed him. In a claim by the workman's dependants against the employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge dismissed the claim, being of opinion that the facts were consistent only with the deceased having interfered with the lion for some purpose of his own, there being no evidence to support the theory that the lions had fought or that the deceased had acted otherwise on an emergency:—Held: as the deceased had been left in charge, it was his duty to try to get the lion back into the cage, & as he was killed in the discharge of that duty the accident arose "out of & in the course of his employment."—HAPELMAN v. POOLE (1908), 25 T. L. R. 155; 2 B. W. C. C. 48, C. A.

2596. Teamster—Bitten by stable cat.] — A teamster in the course of his employment was eating his dinner in his employer's stable, & while doing so was bitten by a cat belonging to the stable & was seriously injured. Upon an application for compensation under Workmen's compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment.—ROWLAND v. WRIGHT, [1909] 1 K. B. 963; 77 L. J. K. B. 1071; 99 L. T. 758; 24 T. L. R. 852; 1 B. W. C. C. 102, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757. Reid. Craske v. Wigan, [1909] 2 K. B. 635; Smidmore v. London & Thames Haven Oil Wharves (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 116.

2597. Lady's maid sewing on employer's premises—Injury caused to eye in protecting face from insect.]—In the case of a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), for personal injury by accident, it is not enough for appct. to say that the accident would not have happened if he had not been engaged in the employment or had not been in the particular place in which the accident occurred. He must go further, & establish that the accident arose because of something he was doing in the course of his employment or because he was exposed by the nature of his employment to some peculiar danger.

A lady's maid in the course of her employment was one evening engaged in sewing in her employer's nursery. The electric light in the room was on, & the night being very hot the windows were open. A cockchafer flew in, & the maid in throwing up her hand to protect her face struck her right eye so violently with the bent knuckle of her right thumb that her sight was permanently affected:—Held: the injury was not an accident arising out of her employment, inasmuch as the risk of the occurrence in question was not incidental to the employment as a lady's maid, & she was not placed by reason of her employment in a position of special danger, & therefore she was not entitled to compensation.—CRASKE v. WIGAN, [1909] 2 K. B. 635; 78 L. J. K. B. 994; 101 L. T. 6; 25 T. L. R. 632; 53 Sol. Jo. 560; 2 B. W. C. C. 35, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Warner v. Couchman, [1911] 1 K. B. 351. Folld. Amys v. Barton, [1912] 1 K. B. 40. Expld. Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603. Apld. Kinghorn v. Guthrie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 887; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Chapman v. Ship John W. Pearn (1916), 32 T. L. R. 368. Folld. Griffiths v. Robins (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 90; Fearnley v. Bates & Northcliffe (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1000. Consd. Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Reid. Dotzauer v. Strand Palace Hotel (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 387; Sheehy v. G. S. & W. Ry. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 927; Carinduff v. Gilmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 981; Shaw (Glasgow) v.

---

stooping position using a hammer between his legs & in close proximity to two boxes of molten metal, was struck by an intoxicated stranger, & lost his balance & falling between the boxes sustained injuries by bruising & burning:—Held: the workman was injured by accident arising out of the employment.—SHAW (GLASGOW), LTD. v. MACFARLANE, [1915] S. C. 273; 52 Sc. L. R. 236; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 30; 8 B. W. C. C. 302.—SCOT.

Macfarlane (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 382; Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729; Cooper v. N. E. Ry. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187; Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792. White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663; Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1; Kettle v. McKay & Ryland (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1490; Whittall v. Staveley Iron & Coal Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410.

2598. Farm labourer—Sting of wasp.]—Upon a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it appeared that on Oct. 18 a workman employed by a farmer as engine driver was driving the engine of his master's threshing machine while threshing wheat in a field. It was suggested that while so employed he was stung in the leg by a wasp. There was evidence that his fellow workmen had seen a few wasps close to the engine & that there were none about elsewhere. The workman did not complain of being stung at the time. On the next & the following days he complained of being drowsy & having pain in his leg, & that he was unfit for work, but he continued to work until Oct. 27, when he came home very ill. The doctor saw him on Oct. 28 & 29 & found him suffering from blood poisoning. On the latter day the workman made a statement to the doctor, in the presence of his wife, that his bad leg was caused by the sting of a wasp on Oct. 18. He died on Nov. 1. His widow claimed compensation:—Held: assuming that there was sufficient evidence that the accident occurred in the course of the workman's employment, there was no evidence that his employment exposed him to any such special risk as would enable the ct. to hold that it arose out of his employment, & the claim could not therefore be supported.—AMYS v. BARTON, [1912] 1 K. B. 40; 81 L. J. K. B. 65; 105 L. T. 619; 28 T. L. R. 29; 5 B. W. C. C. 117, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Tucker v. Oldbury U. D. C. (1912), 106 L. T. 669; Beare v. Garrod (1915), 113 L. T. 673; Sharp v. Loddington Ironstone Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 229.

E. Drunkenness—Effect of.

2599. General rule.]—If an accident happens to a workman whilst acting within the scope of his authority & doing an act which it was part of his duty to do, & the accident arises from his doing that act & being thereby exposed to a special risk beyond that of other persons not so engaged, the employer is liable to pay compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), although the workman was doing the act negligently & contrary to rules laid down for his guidance.

If, therefore, a state of facts is proved which brings the workman within this proposition, the fact that he was drunk when the accident happened, or indeed the fact that the proximate cause of the accident was his drunkenness, will not disentitle him, or in the case of death his dependants, from recovering compensation from his employer where death or serious & permanent disablement results.

The workman was engaged by resps. as a stableman, his duty being to chop & mix feed for the horses & convey it to various stables by carts. The loft in which he performed his duty was reached by a vertical ladder, fixed a little distance from the wall, which he had to ascend & descend. In attempting to ascend the latter in the course of his employment the workman slipped & fell sideways, striking his head against a window sill causing injuries from which he died. At the time of the accident deceased was under the influence of drink. On an application by his dependants for compensation:—Held: the accident resulting in the death of the workman, though due to his serious & wilful misconduct, was none the less an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & his dependants were therefore entitled to compensation.—WILLIAMS v. LLANDUDNO COACHING & CARRIAGE CO., LTD., [1915] 2 K. B. 101; 84 L. J. K. B. 655; 112 L. T. 848; 31 T. L. R. 186; 59 Sol. Jo. 286; 8 B. W. C. C. 143, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Scrimgeour v. Thomson (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 303. (See 91 L. J. P. C. 87.) Consd. Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2600. Seaman returning to ship—Accident due solely to intoxication.]—A sailor went ashore without leave on the evening before his ship was due to sail from the port where she was lying. He remained ashore all night. The next morning, the ship's gangways having been taken in, the mooring ropes cast off, & the vessel being still alongside, the sailor returned & was pushed on board in a helpless state of intoxication by two persons who helped him along the quay. He reached the deck on his hands & knees & lay there for a minute or two while the ship was gradually moving away from the quayside. He then attempted to get up, staggered backwards, fell overboard, & was drowned. Upon a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge held that, the sailor having gained his ship, the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment, & he awarded compensation:—Held: on appeal, the sailor had not regained his ship in a condition to perform his duties. The accident was due solely to his intoxication & did not arise out of his employment.—FRITH v. LOUISIANIAN (OWNERS), [1912] 2 K. B. 155; 81 L. J. K. B. 701; 106 L. T. 667; 28 T. L. R. 331; 5 B. W. C. C. 410, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Murphy & Sandwith v. Cooney (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 962; Nash v. S.S. Rangatira, [1914] 3 K. B. 978. Consd. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101. Apprvd. Thomson v. Anderson (or Scrimgeour) (1921), 91 L. J. P. C. 87.

2601. —— ——.]—A sailor who had been on shore with leave returned to his ship at night in a drunken condition & started to mount the gangway from the quay to the ship, holding on to the ropes on either side. When part of the way up he let go with one hand, overbalanced, & fell on to the quay & was killed. The county ct. judge found on the evidence that the primary cause of the accident was the man's drunken condition, but that there were really two concurrent causes for the accident, first, the fact that he was mounting the gangway to return to his employment, & was thereby subjected to a special risk; & secondly, his drunken condition. He therefore held that the accident arose out of the man's employment, & awarded compensation to his dependants:—Held: as the accident was caused by the sailor's drunken condition, it did not arise out of the man's employment & the dependants were not entitled to compensation. It made no difference for this purpose that the accident had

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—E.

m. Seaman ordered from bridge—Found injured at foot of ladder—Accident due solely to intoxication.]—MURPHY v. COONEY, [1914] 2 I. R. 76.—IR.

n. Intoxicated commercial traveller killed at railway station — Returning home from town where no business transacted.]—RENFREW v. M'CRAE, LTD., [1914] S. C. 539; 51 Sc. L. R. 467; [1914] 1 S. L. T. 354; 7 B. W. C. C. 898.—SCOT.

o. Dock labourer ordered to leave work on ship & wait for pay—Found drowned at quayside.]—A dock labourer engaged with others in unloading a ship was seen by the clerk in charge to be worse of drink, & told to leave the work & wait in the shed till his pay was brought him. Within half an happened within the ambit of the employment.—NASH v. RANGATIRA (OWNERS), [1914] 3 K. B. 978; 83 L. J. K. B. 1496; 111 L. T. 704; 58 Sol. Jo. 705; 7 B. W. C. C. 590, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 3, E., F. & G.]

Annotations:—Consd. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101. Refd. Thomson v. Anderson (or Scrimgeour) (1921), 91 L. J. P. C. 87.

2602. —— ——.]—Where the arbitrator, in a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), finds as a fact that the accident was due entirely to the workman's drunken condition, & did not arise out of his employment, he is entitled to refuse on that ground to make an award of compensation.

A ship was lying moored to a quay, & the only access to it was by a ladder which was quite sufficient for the purpose, & was properly secured, & lighted after dark. A member of the crew went ashore with leave for his own purposes, & was found some hours later by two other members of the crew in a dazed condition under the influence of drink. They helped him to the foot of the ladder, & he went up without help, but, in stepping from the ladder to the rail of the bulwark, he, as the arbitrator found, "as the result of his dazed condition due to the liquor which he had consumed," let go of the ladder, & lost his footing, & fell into the water, & was drowned. On these facts the arbitrator found that the accident did not arise out of the employment, & refused to make an award of compensation. He added a note to the case in which he said that the accident "arose entirely out of the man's state of drunkenness":—Held: this was a finding of fact with which the ct. could not interfere.—THOMSON (W.) & Co. v. ANDERSON (OR SCRIMGEOUR) (1921), 91 L. J. P. C. 87; 126 L. T. 386; 86 J. P. 53; 38 T. L. R. 206; 66 Sol. Jo. 169; 15 B. W. C. C. 77, H. L.

2603. Stableman—Falling off ladder in course of duty.]—WILLIAMS v. LLANDUDNO COACHING & CARRIAGE CO., LTD., No. 2599, ante.

F. Forces of Nature.

See Sub-sect. 1 C. (c), ante.

2604. General rule.]—(1) W., in the course of his employment with resp. C., a baker, while delivering bread on a round with a horse & cart was frost-bitten in the hand. The county ct. judge found that there was nothing in the man's employment which exposed him to more than the ordinary risk of cold to which any person working in the open on the day in question was exposed. The county ct. judge held that assuming the injury complained of was an accident, it was not an accident arising out of the employment, & on this ground made his award in favour of the employer:—Held: the county ct. judge, in substance, having found that appct., by reason of his employment, was not specially exposed to the severity of the weather, that was a finding which entitled him to hold that the injury by accident for which compensation was sought did not arise out of the man's employment in the sense that it was a risk incidental thereto.

(2) Now, FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J., who was the judge in the minority in the Ct. of Appeal, stated the law fairly enough, or rather stated what was the point of view with which a judge ought to approach cases of this kind. He said: "It is true that when we deal with the effect of natural causes affecting a considerable area, such as severe weather, we are entitled & bound to consider whether the accident arose out of the employment or was merely a consequence of the severity of the weather to which persons in the locality, & whether so employed or not, were equally liable. If it is the latter it does not arise 'out of the employment,' because the man is not specially affected by the severity of the weather by reason of his employment" (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—WARNER v. COUCHMAN, [1912] A. C. 35; 81 L. J. K. B. 45; 105 L. T. 676; 28 T. L. R. 58; 56 Sol. Jo. 70; 5 B. W. C. C. 177, H. L.; affg., [1911] 1 K. B. 351, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Peel v. Lawrence (1912), 106 L. T. 482; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603. Consd. White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Refd. Davies v. Gillespie (1911), 105 L. T. 494; Karemaker v. S.S. Corsican (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 295; Pierce v. Provident Clothing & Supply Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 997; Amys v. Barton, [1912] 1 K. B. 40; Chandler v. G. W. Ry. (1912), 106 L. T. 479; Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Cooper v. N. E. Ry. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187; Coyle (or Brown) v. Watson, [1915] A. C. 1; Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Collieries (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577.

2605. Risk greater than ordinary—Lightning.]—Where the place & circumstances in which a workman is employed involve a greater than ordinary risk of injury by lightning, such an injury may be considered as caused by an accident arising out of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (1).—ANDREW v. FAILSWORTH INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY, [1904] 2 K. B. 32; 73 L. J. K. B. 510; 90 L. T. 611; 68 J. P. 409; 52 W. R. 451; 20 T. L. R. 429; 48 Sol. Jo. 415; 6 W. C. C. 11, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Morgan v. S.S. Zenaida (1909), 25 T. L. R. 446. Consd. Nisbet v. Rayne & Burn, [1910] 2 K. B. 689; Pierce v. Provident Clothing & Supply Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 997; Warner v. Couchman, [1911] 1 K. B. 351; Cooper v. N. E. Ry. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 187. Refd. Fitzgerald v. Clark, [1908] 2 K. B. 796; Craske v. Wigan, [1909] 2 K. B. 635; Davies v. Gillespie (1911), 105 L. T. 494; Peel v. Lawrence (1912), 106 L. T. 482; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., [1914] A. C. 62; Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729; Trim Joint District School, Board of Management v. Kelly (1914), 111 L. T. 305; Slade v. Taylor (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65; Thorn v. Humm (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1459; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663; Dennis v. White (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1074; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Colliery Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 454; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59.

2606. —— Sunstroke.]—MORGAN v. ZENAIDA (OWNERS), No. 2279, ante.

2607. —— ——.]—DAVIES v. GILLESPIE, No. 2280, ante.

2608. —— Frost-bite.]—WARNER v. COUCHMAN, No. 2604, ante.

---

hour he was found drowned in the water at the quayside:—Held: his death did not result from accident arising out of or in course of his employment.—STEWART v. M'INTYRE, [1916] S. C. 91; 53 Sc. L. R. 62.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

2604 i. General rule.]—In cases of injury due to natural causes a workman, in order to recover compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. S., 1920, c. 210, must show that he was by reason of his employment exposed to greater danger & risk of injury from the elements than that to which persons are ordinarily exposed.—AHLQUIST v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1923] 1 D. L. R. 382; 16 Sask. L. R. 420; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 82.—CAN.

2605 i. Risk greater than ordinary—Lightning.]—A workman engaged on the road during a storm, whose duty was to clean out the gullets to prevent the water flooding the road, was struck dead by lightning:—Held: the death was not occasioned by accident arising out of the employment.—KELLY v. KERRY COUNTY COUNCIL (1908), 42 I. L. T. 23; 1B. W. C. C. 194.—IR.

2608 i. —— Frost bite.]—NIKKICZUK v. MCARTHUR (1916), 24 W. L. R. 674; 10 W. W. R. 712.—CAN.

p. —— Snowslide.]—Re CULSHAW & CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO.,

2609. ——— ———.]—A seaman at work on his ship at Halifax, N.S., sustained frost-bite. The judge found that the workman had not proved that the frost-bite was due to any particular circumstance in connection with his employment, nor that he had been exposed to more risk of frost-bite than is usual in winter at Halifax :—Held : the accident did not arise out of the employment.—KAREMAKER v. CORSICAN (OWNERS) (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 295, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Davies v. Gillespie (1911), 105 L. T. 494 ; Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349 ; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127 ; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Collieries (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346.

2610. —— Exposure to excessive cold.] — HEWITT v. PARTRIDGE JONES & PATON (JOHN), LTD., No. 2289, ante.

G. Ordinary Accidents of Mankind.

2611. General rule.]—SMIDMORE v. LONDON & THAMES HAVEN OIL WHARVES, LTD., No. 2404, ante.

2612. Sprained finger.]—A cotton mill hand preparing to work barefooted, according to the universal custom prevailing in cotton mills, injured the middle finger of his left hand in removing one of his socks :—Held : although the accident arose " in the course of " the employment of the workman within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, it did not arise " out of " it ; & therefore his claim for compensation failed.—PEEL v. LAWRENCE (WILLIAM) & SONS, LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 482 ; 28 T. L. R. 318 ; 5 B. W. C. C. 274, C. A.

Annotation :—N.F. Smidmore v. London & Thames Haven Oil Wharves (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 116.

2613. Giddiness causing fall downstairs.]—The master of a workhouse was sitting on the top of some steps leading to his residence at the workhouse, there being nothing peculiar or particularly dangerous about them, talking to the labour master, when a fit of coughing came on, caused by a disease of his lung, which made him giddy, & he fell down the steps, & received an injury which caused his death a few days afterwards :—Held : the accident did not arise out of his employment, & his dependants were not entitled to compensation.—BUTLER v. BURTON-ON-TRENT UNION (1912), 106 L. T. 824 ; 5 B. W. C. C. 355, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Harder v. Gains (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 866; Kettle v. McKay & Ryland (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1490.

2614. Drinking poisoned water by mistake.]—(1) A seaman on board a ship, which was in harbour in a hot climate, by mistake drank from a tin which he thought contained water a solution of soda & was badly burnt. The solution had been put into the tin by its owner, the boatswain, to clean it. It was the practice of the crew to carry the water obtained from the ship's pump in tins to a cool place & partake of it as required. This practice was sanctioned by the officers, but was not done by their orders. It was quite common for one man to drink water from another man's tin. The seaman found the tin in question in a place where there was sometimes a draught of air through the hawse holes. Upon a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the sheriff-substitute found that the accident arose out of & in the course of the man's employment :—Held : the risk of drinking drugged water out of a tin belonging to another member of the crew was not shown to be reasonably incidental to the seaman's employment, & there was no evidence to support the finding of the sheriff-substitute.

(2) Arbitrators should, on the face of the award, distinguish between their rulings in law & findings of fact.—HUTCHISON v. M'KINNON, [1916] 1 A. C. 471 ; 85 L. J. P. C. 98 ; 114 L. T. 570 ; 32 T. L. R. 283 ; 60 Sol. Jo. 320 ; 9 B. W. C. C. 147, H. L.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1 ; Slater v. Maconochie (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238 ; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59. Generally, Mentd. Larrinagar v. Soc. Franco-Americaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160.

2615. Slip on staircase.] — A carman, in the course of his duty, was coming down an ordinary stone staircase of easy gradient & in good repair from the first floor to the ground floor of Olympia, then used by the War Office, & closed to the public, when he fell on the staircase, & died of the injuries he sustained :—Held : the accident being an ordinary accident of life, was not made a special risk of the employment by the fact that the staircase could not be used by the general public, & the accident did not therefore arise " out of " the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—HARDER v. GAINS (A. E.) & SONS (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 866 ; 114 L. T. 817 ; 9 B. W. C. C. 328, C. A.

2616. Injury by needle—Servant maid mending own dress.]—A girl, employed as a parlourmaid, was sitting in the kitchen occupying her spare time in mending a rent in her dress. Hearing a bell rung by her mistress, she left the darning-needle in her dress & went to answer the bell. In walking to the door she managed in some way to drive the needle into her knee, breaking it off short & causing herself serious injury. The county ct. judge made an award in her favour : —Held : there was no evidence to show that the injury was due to any risk incidental to her employment, & the accident did not therefore arise out of her employment.—GRIFFITHS v. ROBINS (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 90, C. A.

2617. Slip at work — Causing choking.] — A workman employed in a colliery slipped while engaged in his employment. At the moment when he slipped he was eating a Barcelona nut, which choked him, with the result that he died.

The county ct. judge found that the workman's death resulted from an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & awarded compensation to his widow :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—MORGAN v. BETTISFIELD COLLIERY CO. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 52, C. A.

2618. —— Crossing railway platform on return from job.]—UPTON v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO., No. 2336, ante.

LTD. (1914), 26 W. L. R. 619 ; 5 W. W. R. 1092 ; 15 D. L. R. 566 ; 19 B. C. R. 13.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—G.

q. Slip at work—Cook.] — A cook was walking across the kitchen to get water from a tap when she found one of her slippers was falling off her foot. She tried to get it on again, &, in stooping down, fell on her knees & sustained injury :—Held : the accident did not arise out of the employment.—HANNIFIN v. FITZMAURICE (1920), 14 B. W. C. C. 320.—IR.

r. —— Insurance collector.] — A collector for an assurance co., whose duty it was to make a door-to-door collection of premiums, fell upon a stair which he had occasion to use while seeking to collect a premium, & was injured :—Held : the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—MILLAR v. REFUGE ASSURANCE CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 37. —SCOT.

t. Injury to eye by wood splinter when chopping wood—Preparation of own fire to boil food for pigs of employers.] —PIKE v. MURRAY, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 830.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 3, H. & I.]

H. Risks Attaching to Particular Locality.

2619. General rule.]—If the conditions of a workman's employment oblige him to work in a particular place, & expose them to risk of an accident, such accident arises "out of his employment" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), although the nature of the employment in no way conduced to the accident.

Applt. was employed by resp. as a fish worker, & had to work in a shed which was properly constructed & not in any way dangerous. While she was so working the wall of a neighbouring building, which did not belong to resp., fell upon the shed, causing the roof to give way, & applt. was seriously injured:—Held: the accident arose out of her employment & she was entitled to compensation.

My view of the statute is that the expression "arising out of employment" is not confined to the mere "nature of the employment." The expression, in my opinion, applies to the employment as such, to its nature, its conditions, its obligations, & its incidents. If by reason of any of these the workman is brought within the zone of special danger & is injured or killed, it appears to me that the broad words of the statute "arising out of the employment" apply. If the peril which he encountered was not an added peril produced by the workman himself, as in the case of Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co., No. 2415, ante, & Barnes v. Nunnery Colliery Co., No. 2489, ante, in this house, then a case for compensation under the statute appears to arise (LORD SHAW OF DUNFERMLINE).—THOM (OR SIMPSON) v. SINCLAIR, [1917] A. C. 127; 86 L. J. P. C. 102; 116 L. T. 609; 33 T. L. R. 247; 61 Sol. Jo. 350; 10 B. W. C. C. 220, H. L.

Annotations:—Folld. Fearnley v. Bates & Northcliffe (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1000. Apld. Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349; Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Collieries (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346. Consd. Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410. Reid. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479; Whittall v. Staveley Iron & Coal Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 985; Allcock v. Rogers (1918), 118 L. T. 386; Davidson v. M'Robb, or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304; Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844; Smidmore v. London & Thames Haven Oil Wharves (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 114; St. Helens Colliery Co. v. Hewitson, [1924] A. C. 59; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2620. Seizure with fit—Fall into ship's hold.]—A workman was employed in the discharge of coal from the hold of a ship. His duty was to stand on a staging close to the open hold, direct the course up & down of a bucket in which the coal was being discharged, & give the necessary signals to the crane man. While so engaged he was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit, & the result was that he fell into the hold & was seriously injured. It appeared that on previous occasions he had been subject to fits:—Held: the workman's injuries were caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & he was entitled to compensation.—WICKS v. DOWELL & CO., LTD., [1905] 2 K. B. 225; sub nom. WILKES v. DOWELL & CO., 74 L. J. K. B. 572; 92 L. T. 677; 53 W. R. 515; 21 T. L. R. 487; 49 Sol. Jo. 480; 7 W. C. C. 14, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Rodger v. Paisley School Board (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 547. Consd. Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410. Reid. Hughes v. Clover, Clayton, [1909] 2 K. B. 798; Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440; Coyle (or Brown) v. Watson, [1915] A. C. 1; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663; Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 848.

2621. Injury by falling shed—Night watchman.]—Appct. was a watchman in the employment of a borough council, & was employed to watch at night some sewer works, his duty being to look after tools & traffic lamps, & to prevent accidents. There was a watch box for him to sit in. The tools were kept in a shanty which was constructed of scaffold poles, trestles, planks, & a tarpaulin. Upon the night in question there was a fire outside the watch box, but as it was raining appct. lighted a fire in the shanty & proceeded to cook his food there. While so engaged the shanty fell down & injured him. The evidence showed that the workmen were in the habit of having their food in the shanty in the daytime, & there was no evidence that appct. was expressly prohibited from making use of the shanty, though the borough engineer gave evidence that appct. had no business in the shanty at all, & that he would discharge a watchman if he had a fire in the shanty at night. In proceedings to assess compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge found that appct. was not properly in the shanty, having regard to his duties, & that therefore the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: in the absence of a prohibition against appct. using the shanty, the evidence showed that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, & the Act applied.—MORRIS v. LAMBETH CORPN. (1905), 22 T. L. R. 22; 8 W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Brice v. Edward Lloyd, [1909] 2 K. B. 804. Reid. Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners), [1910] 2 K. B. 555; Redford v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 850.

2622. Injury by fall of adjoining wall—Girl employed in particular shed.]—THOM (OR SIMPSON) v. SINCLAIR, No. 2619, ante.

2623. Injury in crossing yard to reach lavatory.]—A woman had to cross a yard which was common to her employer's premises & the adjoining premises of another employer in order to go to the only women's convenience available for her, a. Seizure with fit — Fall into ditch.]—A worker employed in gorse grubbing was seized with a fit while at work by a ditch in which there was water. Falling face downwards he was drowned:—Held: the accident arose out of deceased's employment.—PUBLIC TRUSTEE v. GROOM, [1917] N. Z. L. R. 334.—N.Z.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—H.

b. Railway brakesman run over by train.]—In an action, under Workmen's Compensation Act, to recover damages for the death of a brakesman employed by deft. railway company, who was run over by a train:—Held: death was due to & resulted from a risk reasonably incident to the employment, & so arose "out of" the employment; & it arose "in the course" of the employment, deceased being where he was when the train passed over him in furtherance of his duty.—KENNEDY v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. CO. (1913), 26 W. L. R. 120; 5 W. W. R. 747; 15 D. L. R. 172; 6 Sask. L. R. 286.—CAN.

c. Injury to workman on railway by passing train.]—The risk of being struck by a train or something projecting from the cars on a railway is a risk that a man working on a railway is specially exposed to & is incidental to his employment.—MORTON v. G. T. P. BRANCH LINES CO., [1917] 1 W. W. R. 1125; 10 Sask. L. R. 8.—CAN.

d. Injury to eye by falling mortar.]—A domestic servant was called by her mistress at 6 a.m. As she was in the act of getting up, a bit of mortar from the rendering attached to the slates in the roof of her bedroom fell into her right eye, with the result that she lost the sight of that eye. It was known to her mistress that handfuls of mortar had from time to time fallen from the slates:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—ALDERIDGE v. MERRY (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 450.—IR.

e. Injury by slipping on snow-covered platform.]—BLAKE v. RAMSAY (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 500.—IR.

f. Injury by falling slate.]—During a severe gale an engineer's fitter was engaged in erecting machinery in an open yard near to a building from the roof of which slates were being blown. While stooping to adjust a large piece of machinery he was struck on the head by a falling slate & injured:—Held: the accident arose out of the which was in the adjoining premises. In returning from the convenience she slipped on a small piece of wood lying in the yard, & injured herself severely. The yard was in good repair. The piece of wood had nothing to do with the employment:—Held: the accident arose "out of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—FEARNLEY v. BATES & NORTHCLIFFE, LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1000; 117 L. T. 193; 61 Sol. Jo. 506; 10 B. W. C. C. 308, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349. Refd. Wales v. Lambton & Hetton Colliery Co. (1917), 117 L. T. 454; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410.

2624. Crossing rails on employers' premises.]—A boy going by his usual & proper way to work slipped on a tram rail in his employers' premises, & fell, injuring his face. The tram rails were properly laid & packed:—Held: the accident arose "out of" & "in the course of" the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), inasmuch as it happened on the employers' premises by reason of a peril attached to those premises.—MARSH v. POPE & PEARSON, LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349; 117 L. T. 456; 33 T. L. R. 523; 62 Sol. Jo. 9; 10 B. W. C. C. 566, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577.

2625. ——.]—A miner, who had left the pit & was returning home, but while still on the colliery premises, at an early hour in the morning, when it was quite dark & very frosty, slipped on some ice & fell on a railway siding & injured himself:—Held: although the peril of slipping was a peril to which every one in the country round was liable, yet, inasmuch as it was attached to the particular location in which by the obligation of service the workman was placed the injury resulting therefrom was caused by an accident "arising out of as well as in the course of his employment," & he was therefore entitled to compensation.—WALES v. LAMBTON & HETTON COLLIERIES (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1346; 117 L. T. 454; 33 T. L. R. 504; 61 Sol. Jo. 611; 10 B. W. C. C. 527, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349. Refd. Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410.

2626. Accident when cycling to work along employer's private road.]—Appct., a lad employed at resps.' colliery, used a bicycle to get to & from his work. On the morning of the accident he left his home, & after proceeding along the public road turned down into the co.'s private road some half mile long which led to the colliery. At the colliery end of this road the co. had provided a shed in which their employees' bicycles could be stored. He had nearly reached the shed when he was run into by a man leaving the colliery riding a bicycle.

On a claim for compensation, the county ct. judge found that it was an implied term of the contract of service with the colliery co. that employees should be allowed to ride bicycles along the employers' private road to & from work. He held that the accident arose out of & in the course of appct.'s employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—SIMPSON v. BOLSOVER COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 173, C. A.

I. Streets and Public Places.

2627. General rule.]—Where a workman is sent into the streets on his employer's business, whether habitually or occasionally, & whether on foot or on a bicycle, or on an omnibus or a car, & he meets with an accident by reason of a risk of the streets to which his employment exposes him, the accident arises out of as well as in the course of his employment; & it is immaterial that the risk which caused the accident is one which is shared by all members of the public using the streets under the like conditions.

A boy in the employment of a firm of builders was ordered to go through the streets of London on a bicycle to fetch some plaster. He came into collision with a motor car & was injured:—Held: (1) the accident arose out of the employment; (2) the facts being not in dispute, this was a question not of fact, but of law.

(3) It is the duty of the arbitrator to make definite findings of fact.—DENNIS v. WHITE (A. J.) & Co., [1917] A. C. 479; 86 L. J. K. B. 1074; 116 L. T. 774; 33 T. L. R. 434; 61 Sol. Jo. 558; 10 B. W. C. C. 280, H. L.; revsg., [1916] 2 K. B. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Arkell v. Gudgeon (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1101. Consd. Hefferman v. Secretary of State for War (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 424. Apld. Simpson v. Bolsover Colliery Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 173. Expld. Byrne v. Campbell (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 355. Refd. Harder v. Gains (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 866; Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; Kettle v. McKay & Ryland (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1490; Allcock v. Rogers (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 693; Davidson v. McRobb, or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304; Knyvett v. Wilkinson (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 722; Prophet v. Roberts (1918), 120 L. T. 239; Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410; Armstrong, Whitworth v. Redford, [1920] A. C. 757; Clark v. Lord Advocate (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 320; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302. As to (2) Apld. Marsh v. Pope & Pearson (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1349. Refd. Read v. Baker, [1916] 1 K. B. 927.

2628. ——.]—If a workman while going on an errand for his master, slips & falls in the street & is injured, it is an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), for which he is entitled to compensation. Where, therefore, a woman employed at a dental surgery was sent by her employer on an errand & told to hurry, & while hurrying back slipped on something greasy on the pavement & fell & broke her wrist, it was held the injury was caused by accident arising employment.—ADAMSON v. ANDERSON & Co. (1905), LTD., [1913] S. C. 1038.—SCOT.

---

g. Workman working amid shavings—Injury by fire caused by careless labourer dropping lighted match.]—A ship's carpenter, while at work on board amid shavings & with oily trousers, was severely burned owing to the shavings being set on fire through a shore labourer, who had come on board, lighting a cigarette & throwing down a match:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—MANSON v. FORTH & CLYDE S.S. Co., LTD., [1913] S. C. 921; 50 Sc. L. R. 687; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 475; 6 B. W. C. C. 830.—SCOT.

h. Injury by corrugated iron blown from roof.]—A carter, while leading a horse and lorry out of his employer's yard in the course of his employment, was struck by a piece of corrugated iron blown by a high wind off the roof of a building adjoining employer's yard:—Held: the accident did not arise out of his employment.—KINGHORN v. GUTHRIE, [1913] S. C. 1155; 50 Sc. L. R. 863; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 153; 6 B. W. C. C. 887.—SCOT.

k. Injury on wheeling steps of stairs—By waving hand of fellow servant.]—CLARK v. LORD ADVOCATE, [1922] S. C. 561.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—I.

l. Bicycle accident—Use by weighing supervisor.]—HEFFERNAN v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 424.—IR.

m. —— Use by salesman & collector.]—A salesman & collector, while riding in a street upon a bicycle, in the course of his employment, was kicked on the knee by a passing horse & injured:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment.—M'NEICE v. SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 12; 48 Sc. L. R. 15; [1910] 2 S. L. T. 210; 4 B. W. C. C. 351.—SCOT.

n. —— Use by herd — To & from work.]—A herd employed upon two farms usually went from home to the farms by bicycle, with the sanction of his employer. He was setting out on his bicycle to go to one of the farms one out of & in the course of her employment, & she was consequently entitled to compensation.—ARKELL v. GUDGEON (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 1104; 118 L. T. 258; 62 Sol. Jo. 174; 10 B. W. C. C. 660, H. L.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 3, I.; sub sect. 4, A.]

Annotations:—Refd. Wright & Greig v. M'Kendry (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 410. Mentd. Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2629. Bicycle accident—Whether knowledge of employer material—Use by canvasser.]—A collector & canvasser to an industrial co. whilst riding a bicycle in the course of his employment was knocked down & killed by a tramcar. The fact that he used a bicycle for the purposes of his employment was known to & not forbidden by the co.:—Held: the accident arose out of the employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).—PIERCE v. PROVIDENT CLOTHING & SUPPLY CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 997; 80 L. J. K. B. 831; 104 L. T. 473; 4 B. W. C. C. 242; sub nom. PEARCE v. PROVIDENT CLOTHING & SUPPLY CO., LTD., 27 T. L. R. 299; 55 Sol. Jo. 363, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Greene v. Shaw (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 573. Distd. Butt v. Provident Clothing & Supply Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 18. Consd. Bett v. Hughes (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 362. Distd. Sheldon v. Needham (1914), 111 L. T. 729; Slade v. Taylor (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65. Consd. Thorn v. Humm (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1459; White v. Avery (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 663. Distd. Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; Read v. Baker, [1916] 1 K. B. 927. Expld. Blake v. Ramsay (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 500. Consd. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479. Refd. Karcmaker v. S.S. Corsican (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 295; Rodger v. Paisley School Board (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 547; Edwards v. Wingham Agricultural Implement Co. (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 998; Mitchinson v. Day, [1913] 1 K. B. 603; Martin v. Lovibond, [1914] 2 K. B. 227; Pritchard v. Torkington (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 719; Hadwin v. Shepherd (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 60; Jibb v. Chadwick, [1915] 2 K. B. 94; Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127; Clark v. Lord Advocate (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 320.

2630. —— —— ——.]—A workman employed as an assistant superintendent by a firm of credit tailors was killed by a fall from his bicycle, due to some defect in the machine. It was part of his duty to call on customers, but there was no evidence that the use of a bicycle was in any way necessary to his work; the employers were unaware that he did use it, & would have forbidden it had they known. The fall occurred fifteen minutes after he had made a business call on the bicycle, & five minutes after he had called for a bicycle lamp at his own home, which was on the way back to the office. There was no evidence that he wanted the lamp for business work:—Held: the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the employment.—BUTT v. PROVIDENT CLOTHING & SUPPLY CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 18, C. A.

2631. —— —— Use by branch manager.]—A manager of one branch shop had to take his books for inspection every Saturday to another branch two miles away. He used his bicycle for this purpose at the suggestion of the manager of this other branch. When returning one day after one o'clock, his closing hour, he met with a side slip, fell, & injured himself:—Held: the risk was not one to which he was exposed more than other members of the public, & the accident did not arise out of the employment.—SLADE v. TAYLOR (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Read v. Baker, [1916] 1 K. B. 927. Refd. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479.

2632. —— —— Use by solicitor's clerk.]—A solr.'s clerk had to attend once a week a justices' ct. which was ten miles distant from his employer's office by road. He went to & returned from these cts. sometimes by train & sometimes by his bicycle. His train fares were office expenses. He used his bicycle with the knowledge & without the disapproval of his employer. One day in returning from a ct. on his bicycle, he was run into by a motor car & killed:—Held: the accident did not arise "out of" his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1).

The facts being admitted or not disputed, it becomes a question of law whether or not an accident arises "out of" the employment.—READ v. BAKER, [1916] 1 K. B. 927; 85 L. J. K. B. 869; 114 L. T. 828; 32 T. L. R. 382; 60 Sol. Jo. 402; 9 B. W. C. C. 361, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671.

2633. —— —— Use by visiting nurse.]—Appct. was employed as a visiting nurse by an education committee to visit children at their homes & was required by her employers to ride a bicycle provided by them for that purpose. Her duties necessitated her riding her bicycle from six to ten miles every day along one or other of the roads in her district, & the number of cases she visited averaged about one hundred & twenty a month. Each visit usually occupied only a few minutes. On leaving a house where she had been visiting a child, in attempting to cycle round a cart & horse which were standing across the road, her bicycle "skidded" & one of the wheels became locked in the back wheel of a passing cart, & she was thrown to the ground & seriously injured. The district in which appct.'s work lay was a residential rural district, & the road was an ordinary water-bound macadam road in fairly good condition:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment inasmuch as appct. had failed to prove that it exposed her to exceptional risks beyond those to which ordinary bicycle riders were exposed.—INCE v. REIGATE EDUCATION COMMITTEE, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; 85 L. J. K. B. 1283; 115 L. T. 402; 32 T. L. R. 721; 60 Sol. Jo. 666; 9 B. W. C. C. 595, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Blake v. Ramsay (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 500.

2634. —— —— Use by employee.]—DENNIS v. WHITE (A. J.) & Co., No. 2627, ante.

2635. Running down.]—A brewer's drayman, whose duty it was from 8 a.m. till 8 p.m. to drive round a certain district in London a pair of horses in a dray belonging to his employers for the purpose of obtaining orders for & delivering beer to their customers, at about 2 p.m. left his dray at the side of the road opposite to a public-house, to which he went to get a glass of beer. After an absence of about 2 minutes he left the public-house to return to his dray, & while crossing the road was knocked down by a motor car, receiving injuries which resulted in his death. Upon a claim by his dependants for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was no break in the employment; what the man did was reasonably incident to his employment; he was exceptionally exposed to street accidents; the accident therefore arose out of & in the course of the employment; & the dependants were consequently entitled to compensation.—MARTIN v. LOVIBOND (J.) & SONS, day, when his own dog got in the way & upset him:—Held: the accident arose in the course of but not out of the employment.—GREENE v. SHAW (1911), 46 I. L. T. 18; 5 B. W. C. C. 573.—IR.

---

o. —— Use by coachman—Calling for letters for employers—Drunken person lurching against bicycle.]—BETT v. HUGHES (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 362.—SCOT.

p. Machine-fitter representing em-

LTD., [1914] 2 K. B. 227; 83 L. J. K. B. 806; 110 L. T. 455; 7 B. W. C. C. 243, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Thom (or Simpson) v. Sinclair, [1917] A. C. 127. Reld. Slade v. Taylor (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65; Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1; Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671; Bell v. Armstrong, Whitworth (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 844.

2636. ——.]—A builder's labourer, working on a job in London, was ordered to go, in the breakfast hour, to a shop 100 yards from where he was working to obtain a supply of whitening, & to mix it before he went to his own breakfast. For this purpose he had to cross the road. This he did in a hurry, & was knocked down & injured by an electric tramcar:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—SYMMONDS v. KING (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 189, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Thorn v. Humm (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1459.

2637. ——.]—A woman employed at a shop, had to go every morning over a public level crossing for the keys. She was on one occasion knocked down by a train & injured. On a claim for compensation the county ct. judge found that she incurred no greater risk of this than the general public, & consequently held that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: there was no misdirection.—HADWIN v. SHEPHERD (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 60, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Chapman v. S.S. John W. Pearn (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 224. Expld. Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1.

2638. Servant slipping.]—It does not suffice to say that an accident which befalls a workman arises "out of" his employment as well as "in the course of" it in the sense that but for that employment the workman would not have gone to the spot & met with the accident; but the authorities show that there must be some special risk incidental to the workman's employment that imposes upon him a greater peril than an ordinary person incurs.

Where, therefore, a charwoman was sent to post a letter for her employer, & whilst proceeding to the post office, which was at a distance of about 100 yards from the house where she was employed, she slipped upon some object that was lying on the footpath & broke her leg, it was held that the accident did not arise "out of" as well as "in the course of" her employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1); & she was not entitled to compensation under that Act.—SHELDON v. NEEDHAM (1914), 111 L. T. 729; 30 T. L. R. 590; 58 Sol. Jo. 652; 7 B. W. C. C. 471, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Hadwin v. Shepherd (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 60; Slade v. Taylor (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 65. Apld. Griffiths v. Robins (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 90. Overd. Dennis v. White, [1917] A. C. 479. Expld. Byrne v. Campbell (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 355. Reld. Bett v. Hughes (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 362; Jibb v. Chadwick (1915), 112 L. T. 878; Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101; Upton v. G. C. Ry. (1923), 130 L. T. 577.

2639. ——.]—Appct., who was the skipper of a schooner belonging to the employer, went ashore on the ship's business, & as he walked along the street on his way back to the ship, he slipped on a piece of orange peel & fell & broke his thigh. The county ct. judge held that on the day of the accident, owing to there being fruit stalls in the street & to its being overcrowded, appct. incurred more risk of slipping on orange peel than persons in other streets, & that as he was compelled by his work to return along the street where the accident occurred the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, & he awarded compensation:—Held: as there was nothing peculiarly incidental to the employment that made appct. more liable to accident by slipping on orange peel than any one else the accident did not arise out of the employment, & appct. was not entitled to compensation.—CHAPMAN v. JOHN W. PEARN (OWNER) (1916), 32 T. L. R. 368; 9 B. W. C. C. 224, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Dennis v. White, [1916] 2 K. B. 1. Reld. Ince v. Reigate Education Committee, [1916] 2 K. B. 671.

2640. ——.]—ARKELL v. GUDGEON, No. 2628, ante.

2641. Taxicab driver—Failure to hear sentry's challenge.]—A taxicab driver was employed to drive an officer to a fort guarded by sentries at two o'clock in the morning. The night was windy & rainy. The driver in approaching the fort was challenged by a sentry, but failed to hear the challenge owing to the wind & rain & the noise of the engine of the cab, & he was shot by the sentry. He sought to recover & was awarded by the arbitrator compensation for the accident from his employers:—Held: there was evidence on which the arbitrator could properly find the driver was, from his employment, more exposed to the risk of such an accident as occurred than an ordinary member of the public, & the arbitrator was justified in awarding compensation.—THORN v. HUMM & CO. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1459; 112 L. T. 888; 31 T. L. R. 194; 8 B. W. C. C. 190, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PROOF OF ACCIDENTS ARISING OUT OF AND IN THE COURSE OF THE EMPLOYMENT.

A. Onus of Proof.

2642. Onus on applicant—To show accident arose out of & in course of employment.]—MCNICHOLAS v. DAWSON & SON, No. 2652, post.

2643. —— ——.]—POMFRET v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., No. 2692, post.

2644. —— ——.]—BENDER v. ZENT (OWNERS), No. 2676, post.

2645. —— ——.]—BARNABAS v. BERSHAM COLLIERY CO., No. 2656, post.

2646. —— ——.]—A workman employed in fairly light work in a colliery was taken ill. He went home & died the same day from angina pectoris. The man's heart was found to be in a bad condition of long standing. The medical ployer on tour of inspection with inspector of weighing machines—Slipping on frosty road on journey to a machine.]—WHITE v. AVERY (W. & T.), LTD., [1916] S. C. 209; 53 Sc. L. R. 122; [1915] 2 S. L. T. 374; 9 B. W. C. C. 663.—SCOT.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

2642 i. Onus on applicant—To show accident arose out of & in course of employment.]—The onus of proving on an arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. M., 1913, that the accident complained of arose out of & happened in the course of the injured workman's employment rests upon appct.—GOUSICK v. C. P. R. (Man.), [1917] 3 W. W. R. 807.—CAN.

2642 ii. —— ——.] — M'ADAM v. HARVEY, [1903] 2 I. R. 511.—IR.

2642 iii. —— ——.]—In a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the burden of proving that the accident arose both out of & in the course of the employment rests on appct.—GATTON v. LIMERICK S.S. CO., [1910] 2 I. R. 561.—IR.

2642 iv. —— ——.] — HOLLAND v. COMMUNITY OF CONVENT OF MERCY, NEWPORT (1913), 47 I. L. T. Jo. 29.—IR.

2642 v. —— ——.]—JARVIS v. OTAGO HARBOUR BOARD, [1925] N. Z. L. R. 619.—N.Z.

2642 vi. —— ——.]—In an application under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the onus is on claimant to prove that the accident arose out of & in the course of the workman's employment.—O'BRIEN v. STAR LINE, LTD., [1908] S. C. 1258.—SCOT.

2642 vii. —— ——.] — MILLER v. NORTH BRITISH LOCOMOTIVE CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 698.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, A. & B. (a), (b) & (c).]

evidence was that angina pectoris might be brought on by several causes, & might be due to circumstances which could scarcely be called an accident at all:—Held: though as a matter of conjecture it was probable, it was not proved as a matter of legitimate inference from the facts, that the death was due to an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment.—HAWKINS v. POWELLS TILLERY STEAM COAL CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 988; 80 L. J. K. B. 769; 104 L. T. 365; 55 Sol. Jo. 329; 4 B. W. C. C. 178; sub nom. POWELLS TILLERY STEAM COAL CO., LTD. v. HAWKINS, 27 T. L. R. 282, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440; Euman v. Dalziel (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 900; Stapleton v. Dinnington Main Coal Co. (1912), 107 L. T. 247. Refd. Beaumont v. Underground Electric Rys. of London (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 247; Chandler v. G. W. Ry. (1912), 106 L. T. 479; Kerr (or Lendrum) v. Ayr Steam Shipping Co., [1915] A. C. 217.

2647. —— ——.]—A collier whose work was to lift loaded tubs on to the rails complained of great pain while so employed & went home. He remained in bed there & vomited continually. A week afterwards he was operated on for strangulated hernia, but death ensued. The only evidence which diminished at all the strong probability of the connection between the workman's exertions was that of the doctors who found an abnormal cavity, probably congenital, in the colon, & said that a gangrenous condition might be expected to be set up within a few hours to three days after the rupture, whereas that condition had not existed from the time of ceasing work until that period had passed. The county ct. judge rejected the employers' contention that the hernia was caused by the vomiting & decided that the injury arose by accident out of & in the course of employment:—Held: in cases where the admitted facts gave rise to conflicting inferences of equal degree so that the probability was a matter of conjecture appct. would rightly be required to prove affirmatively the claim made, but where the probabilities were not equal the county ct. judge was entitled to weigh them & draw an inference of fact therefrom & so long as there was evidence to support his finding the ct. had no jurisdiction to question his award.—LANCASTER v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1919), 89 L. J. K. B. 609; 122 L. T. 162; 64 Sol. Jo. 113; 12 B. W. C. C. 400, H. L.

2648. —— To show that he was acting for purpose of employer's trade.]—GARRALLAN COAL CO. v. ANDERSON (OR DEVLIN), No. 2511, ante.

2649. Onus shifted to employer—On proof that applicant engaged in employer's work up to time of accident.]—Where the workman is engaged in his master's work up to his death & the last acts that are known are consistent with the continuance of that work it is for the person who alleges a cessation of his working for his master to prove it (FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J.).—ASTLEY v. EVANS (R.) & CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 1036; 80 L. J. K. B. 731; 104 L. T. 373; 4 B. W. C. C. 209, C. A.; affd. sub nom. EVANS (RICHARD) & CO., LTD. v. ASTLEY, [1911] A. C. 674, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Prosser v. Graham Navigation Collieries (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 42. Refd. Dyhouse v. G. W. Ry. (1913), 109 L. T. 193; Jones v. Canadian Pacific Ry. (1913), 83 L. J. P. C. 13; Warren v. Hedley's Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136; Garrallan Coal Co. v. Anderson (or Devlin) (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 356. Mentd. Southall v. Cheshire County News Co. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 251; Stapleton v. Dinnington Main Coal Co. (1912), 107 L. T. 247; Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818; Wemyss Coal Co. v. Symon (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 298; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co. (1913), 108 L. T. 161; Maxwell v. Ruabon Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 428; Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; Rigling v. Minister of Munitions (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 1.

2650. —— ——.]—(1) A workman was employed on premises through which four sets of railway lines ran from east to west. He was employed on the south side of these rails. In his dinner hour he crossed the lines by the level crossing to the north side in order either to go to the mess room or the lavatory, to either of which places at that time of the day he was entitled to go.

As he was returning to his work, the watchman, who was stationed at the north side of the level crossing, warned him that there was a passenger train due on the line he would have to cross first. He crossed those lines & reached the goods or southern lines, & then was seen to stop at a place of safety quite clear of the passenger train lines. The passenger train passed, & his dead body was found on the line. Although there was no evidence exactly as to how the accident happened the county ct. judge drew the inference that the man was acting in the course of his employment when it happened, & therefore held that it arose out of his employment, & awarded compensation:—Held: there was sufficient evidence to support the inference drawn by the county ct. judge, & no misdirection.

(2) Deceased was engaged on work within his employment up to a moment before his accident, & that being so, the onus was upon the employers to prove that his last act causing the accident was inconsistent with his continuing within his employment.—RIGLING v. MINISTER OF MUNITIONS (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

2651. —— Proof that accident arose in course of employment—Allegation that accident caused by breach of regulation.]—A fireman & a miner acting under his directions, while engaged in clearing gas from a mine, were killed by an explosion by gas. Upon a claim for compensation by the representatives of the miner the arbitrator found that the explosion was due to an attempt to relight the fireman's safety lamp in breach of Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 34 (1) (iii), but that the evidence did not disclose by which of the men the attempt had been made, & he refused compensation:—Held: as it appeared primâ facie that the miner met his death by accident arising out of his employment, the onus lay on the employers of establishing that he had committed a breach of the regulation & that they had failed to discharge that onus; compensation should therefore be awarded.—MOORE (A. G.) & CO. v. BARKEY, [1923] A. C. 790; 93 L. J. P. C. 63; sub nom. BARKEY v. MOORE & CO., 130 L. T. 45; 16 B. W. C. C. 176, H. L.

B. Sufficiency of Proof.

(a) Accidents with Machinery.

2652. Claim successful—Workman drawn into machine.] — The burden of proving that an accident arose out of & in the course of the workman's employment lies on pltf.; but the burden of proving serious & wilful misconduct lies on deft.

2652 1. Claim successful—Workman drawn into machine.]—SEXTON v. HOSFORD (1916), 50 I. L. T. 91.—IR.

q. Claim unsuccessful—Using hoist contrary to orders.]—M'DAID v. STEEL, [1911] S. C. 859; 48 Sc. L. R. 765; [1911] 2 S. L. T. 13; 4 B. W. C. C. 412. —SCOT.

A workman employed by defts. to attend to a steam engine within a shed & to a mortar pan outside the shed worked by the steam engine & used to grind mortar for a building, was seen to start the engine. Very shortly afterwards he was found involved in the machinery, whereby he was killed. The shed had two doors, one of which was safe; the other, a small one, used occasionally for ventilating the shed, was dangerous by reason of proximity to a revolving shaft, & the man had been forbidden to use it. It appeared that the man was approaching the small door when he met with the accident:—Held: there was evidence that the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment.—MCNICHOLAS v. DAWSON & SON, [1899] 1 Q. B. 773; 68 L. J. Q. B. 470; 80 L. T. 317; 47 W. R. 500; 15 T. L. R. 242; 43 Sol. Jo. 312; 1 W. C. C. 80, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Hennessy v. McCabe (1899), 69 L. J. Q. B. 173; Rees v. Thomas (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 539; Fenn v. Miller, [1900] 1 Q. B. 788; Pomfret v. L. & Y. Ry. (1903), 89 L. T. 176; Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2653. ——— ———.]—A boy employed in a shoe factory was in the course of his duty picking up pieces of card from the floor near running machinery, when he became caught in a loose driving belt. He was drawn up to a revolving shaft, & received severe injuries. According to his own evidence he did not touch the belt with his hand all that afternoon, but his shirt sleeve caught in it. The employers' case was that he was playing with the belt, which he had been cautioned not to do. The county ct. judge, after visiting the place of the accident, found that the boy had been caught by his sleeve, & to save himself had instinctively put his hand out & taken hold of the belt, & had so been carried up. He consequently found that the accident arose out of the employment.

The employers argued on appeal that the county ct. judge, not having escaped the workman's evidence as to how the accident happened, was not entitled to suggest a theory of his own:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference drawn by the judge as to how the accident happened, & no misdirection.—DURRANT v. SMITH & CO. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 415, C. A.

2654. Claim unsuccessful—Boy killed by machine in part of workshop where not employed.]—A lad was employed to control a motor engine by means of a switchboard, which was eighteen feet away from the engine. It was also his duty, when so ordered, to clean the engine when it was stationary. The engine was fenced off. Without known reason he left the switchboard & got through the fence when the engine was in motion, & was killed by being caught in a cog wheel:—Held: the dependant had not discharged the onus of proving the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—SMITH v. STANTON IRONWORKS CO. COLLIERIES, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 239, C. A.

2655. ——— Workman using revolving shaft.]—PLUMB v. COBDEN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., No. 2415, ante.

(b) Apoplexy.

2656. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting fit with employment.]—(1) A workman while performing his ordinary duties in the ordinary way had an apoplectic seizure, from which he died shortly after. There was medical evidence that he was in such a state of health that the attack might have been brought on by exertion, or might have come on apart from any exertion on his part. There was no evidence that his work subjected him to any extraordinary strain:—Held: there was no evidence that his death was caused by an accident arising out of his employment, & his employers were not liable to pay compensation to his dependants.

(2) In cases under the Workmen's Compensation Act, as in other cases, the onus of proof of claim rests upon appct. (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—BARNABAS v. BERSHAM COLLIERY CO. (1910), 103 L. T. 513; 55 Sol. Jo. 63; 4 B. W. C. C. 119, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Fennah v. Mid. & G. W. Ry. of Ireland (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440. Distd. Trodden v. McLennard (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 190. Expld. Lewis v. Port of London Authority (1914), 111 L. T. 776. Consd. Maxwell v. Ruabon Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 428. Refd. Euman v. Dalziel (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 900; Lancaster v. Blackwell Colliery Co. (1918), 120 L. T. 3; Andrews v. Highley Mining Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 192. As to (2) Apld. Hawkins v. Powells Tillery Steam Coal Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 988; Kemp v. Clyde Shipping Co. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 861. Refd. Chandler v. G. W. Ry. (1912), 106 L. T. 479; Woods v. Wilson (1913), 29 T. L. R. 726. Mentd. Travers v. Cooper, [1915] 1 K. B. 73.

2657. ——— ———.]—A ship's stoker, while on duty on a ship in the tropics, went into a coal bunker adjoining the stokehold, & was soon afterwards found in a condition of heat apoplexy. Upon the medical evidence the arbitrator found that it might have been caused by the heat of the sun or of the stokehold, & that it was not proved that the fit had been brought on by the work the man had been doing at the time, & that therefore the apoplexy was not caused by accident arising out of the employment:—Held: there was no misdirection.—OLSON v. DORSET (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 658, C. A.

(c) Asphyxiation.

2658. Claim unsuccessful — No evidence that accident arose out of employment.]—A collier was found asphyxiated in a stall where men had been warned not to go because of the gas being dangerous. No explanations was forthcoming as to why he went there. The county ct. judge found that the onus on dependant of proving that deceased met his death by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment had not been discharged:—Held: the question was purely one of fact for the judge & there was no misdirection.—MORGAN v. CYNON COLLIERY CO. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 499, C. A.

2659. ——— ———.]—Deceased, who was a man of regular habits, sober & trustworthy, was a labourer in the employment of resps., & he was last seen alive shortly before noon on Sept. 29, 1917. At night an official on duty at resps.' works noticed a smell of coal gas issuing from a room which was used as the testing room, the door of which he found locked. The smell of gas being so strong, the official entered the room by way of the window, & there he found deceased, who had been obviously poisoned by gas, for close to him was a gaspipe with the gas turned on &

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (b).

2656 l. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting fit with employment.]—BLAKEY v. ROBSON, ECKFORD & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 334.—SCOT.

r. Claim successful—Evidence connecting fit with employment.]—AITKEN v. FINLAYSON BONSFIELD & CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 918.—SCOT.

t. ———.] — A workman in the course of his employment in a bonded store, the floor of which was made of concrete, was seized by a fit & fell, fracturing his skull on the floor, & thereby sustaining injuries which caused his death:—Held: the death was caused by accident arising out of his employment.—M'KENDRY v. WRIGHT & GREIG, LTD., [1919] S. C. 98; 56 Sc. L. R. 39; [1918] 2 S. L. T. 282; 12 B. W. C. C. 410.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (c) & (d).]

escaping. The purpose for which deceased was in the room did not appear. He had no right to be there on a Saturday afternoon. He had not been cleaning the machinery as he had no implements with him. Nor was there any explanation of the door being fastened. The question was whether appct., who was the widow & dependant of deceased, on whom the burden of proof lay, had proved to the satisfaction of the county ct. judge that deceased's death was caused by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment. The judge took the view that he was not judicially satisfied that deceased so met with his death:—Held: it was quite impossible for it to be said that the county ct. judge, having regard to the nature of the evidence before him, ought to have drawn a conclusion different from that which he did.—GRAY v. SOPWITH AVIATION CO., LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 329; 119 L. T. 194; 11 B. W. C. C. 63, C. A.

(d) Blood Poisoning.

2660. Claim successful—Collier—Crushed finger.]—A workman, who was employed in a colliery, died from blood poisoning resulting from an injury to his finger. He was working at night, & on the evening of the accident he left his home, which was just over a mile from the pit, with his finger well. He arrived at the pit with his finger uninjured. He arrived home early next morning with his finger crushed. He continued to work for some days, when blood poisoning set in, & he died. His widow claimed compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), but the county ct. judge held that he was not entitled to draw the inference that the accident arose in the course of his employment, as it might have occurred on the way home:—Held: the judge was at liberty to draw the inference that the accident arose in the course of the employment.—MITCHELL v. GLAMORGAN COAL CO., LTD. (1907), 23 T. L. R. 588; 9 W. C. C. 16, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Rice v. Swansea Vale (Owners) (1910), 102 L. T. 270. Expld. & Distd. Jenkins v. Standard Colliery Co. (1911), 105 L. T. 730. Apld. Wright v. Kerrigan (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 432. Distd. Howe v. Fernhill Collieries (1912), 107 L. T. 508. Consd. Dyhouse v. G. W. Ry. (1913), 109 L. T. 193; Shea v. Wilson, Barnsley (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 633. Reld. McDonald v. Banana (Owners), [1908] 2 K. B. 926; Bender v. Zent (Owners), [1909] 2 K. B. 41; Hawkins v. Powells Tillery Steam Coal Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 988; Wood v. Davis (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 113; Amys v. Barton, [1912] 1 K. B. 40.

2661. —— —— Injured foot.]—On the morning of Aug. 14, 1911, a collier started at his work in his employers' coal mine having made no complaint to any one, nor did any one see him walking as if there was anything the matter with his feet. Later on he came out of the stall where he had been working & complained to the headman that his foot hurt him. The headman found in the stall a piece of rock weighing about three or four pounds, on the floor, which had fallen from the roof during the working hours. On Aug. 19 a doctor examined the foot & found a small wound about half an inch in length of a kind that might have been caused, in the doctor's opinion, by a piece of stone falling on it, &, also, in the doctor's opinion, death was due to tetanus supervening on the wound. A scratch or nearly healed scar of the sole of the foot was also discovered. On Aug. 25 the workman was found to be suffering from tetanus, from which he died the next day.

It was decided by the county ct. judge, giving effect to what was laid down by the House of Lords in Evans (Richard) & Co., Ltd. v. Astley, No. 2693, post, that the more probable conclusion from the evidence was that an accident had happened to deceased arising out of & in the course of his employment, the inference to be drawn therefrom being that the wounds on his foot were caused by the fall of the stone; & that therefore his death was caused by that accident:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding of the county ct. judge.—STAPLETON v. DINNINGTON MAIN COAL CO., LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 240; 5 B. W. C. C. 602, C. A.

2662. —— —— Knee grazed in moving tubs.]—HAYWARD v. WESTLEIGH COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2917, post.

2663. —— Workman re-opening old operation wound.]—A workman who had undergone an operation returned to work before the operation wound was completely healed, with instructions not to strain himself. He worked at the lever of a machine. A fellow workman, noticing that the machine was stopped, looked for the man, & saw that he was talking to the foreman some yards away. It was then seen that blood was flowing freely from the operation wound & soaking into his boots. Septic poisoning followed, & the man died. In the absence of direct evidence as to what had happened, the county ct. judge drew the inference that the wound had burst open through the strain of working the lever, & awarded compensation to the dependants:—Held: there was evidence from which the county ct. judge could draw this inference.—GROVES v. BURROUGHES & WATTS, LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 185, C. A.

2664. —— Bricklayer—Sore on hand.]—A bricklayer in the employment of resps. returned from work on Dec. 27, 1911, with a sore on the back of the thumb of his left hand. The wound appeared to heal, but ultimately blood poisoning ensued in the armpit, & the workman died on Jan. 30, 1912. His dependants claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & evidence was given that injuries such as this were common in the case of bricklayers. The workman was engaged in cutting grooves in a wall, & had to use a hammer & chisel. In doing such work the face of the hammer might slip off the chisel & hit the workman's hand. The medical evidence was that the inflammation started under the man's armpit in the form of an abscess, due to an inflamed gland, & that an injury to the back of the thumb might give rise to this. The doctor was of opinion that the bacillus got into the man through this injury, but he said in cross-examination that he could not say that a dirty condition of the armpit might not have caused the abscess. The county ct. judge drew the inference that the man died from septic poisoning resulting from an injury which arose out of & in the course of his employment, & awarded compensation:—Held: there was evidence from which the county ct. judge might infer that the injury to the workman happened to him while he was at work, & the county court judge was justified in accepting the evidence of the doctor & holding that the workman's death was due to the accident.—FLEET v.

a. Claim successful—Injury to foot.]—CONNELLY v. CROSS & SONS, LTD., [1917] S. C. 164; 54 Sc. L. R. 142; [1917] 1 S. L. T. 40; 10 B. W. C. C. 436.—SCOT.

JOHNSON & SONS (1913), 29 T. L. R. 207; 57 Sol. Jo. 226; 6 B. W. C. C. 60, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Munro, Brice v. Marten, Same v. R., [1920] 3 K. B. 94.

2665. —— Workman handling bone manure.]—A workman was employed for some time before his death in a manure factory & his work consisted in handling & bagging bone manure. He became ill with blood poisoning & subsequently died. It was proved in evidence, on a claim by his widow for compensation, that death was due to infection from germs known as streptococci & staphylococci. Such germs were found to exist in great numbers in the bone dust handled by deceased, but there was evidence that they also existed to a much lesser degree almost anywhere. The point of infection was a scratch on the leg, the origin of which was unexplained. The sheriff-substitute drew the inference & found that the infection was derived from the germs in the bone dust & held that the death consequently resulted from injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding of the sheriff-substitute & no misdirection.

All that is material is that the infection should have been the result of contract at some one particular time, & that this one particular time should have been during the course of the employment. . . . What that particular time was is immaterial so long as it reasonably appears that it was in the course of the employment (LORD BIRKENHEAD, C.).—INNES (OR GRANT) v. KYNOCH, [1919] A. C. 765; 88 L. J. P. C. 85; 121 L. T. 39; 35 T. L. R. 392; 63 Sol. Jo. 444; 12 B. W. C. C. 78, H. L.

Annotations :—Apld. Burrell v. Solvage (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1340. Consd. Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331; Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497. Refd. Dennis v. Mid. Ry. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 542; Walker v. Wynn, Timmins (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 122.

2666. —— Girl finishing shell adaptors—Series of cuts & scratches.]—A girl worked for resps. at a lathe, finishing shell adaptors, & in the course of that work constantly sustained cuts & scratches on her hands. In Mar. 1918, she showed symptoms of blood poisoning from the pus formed in gatherings caused by the cuts. She continued to work until Apr. 27, during which time further cuts & scratches were caused. By that time the poisoning had so got into her system that she had to stop work & became totally incapacitated from arthritis. The county ct. judge found that the last cut of Apr. 27 was an accident, & that the incapacity thus resulted from injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment : —Held : although there was no evidence to support the finding that the incapacity resulted from the cut on Apr. 27, there was conclusive evidence that it resulted from the accumulative effect of the series of accidents met with at her work. It was impossible to hold that because the incapacity was caused not from a particular accident but from a series of accidents that that fact prevented appct. from recovering compensation.—BURRELL (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD. v. SELVAGE (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1340; 126 L. T. 49; 65 Sol. Jo. 734; 14 B. W. C. C. 158, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. SELVAGE v. BURRELL (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD., [1921] 1 K. B. 355, C. A.

Annotation :—Distd. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497.

2667. —— Workman cleaning out tank.]—A workman cut his finger with a knife while at his home & no ill effects appeared. Three days later, while at work, he put his hand into a tank used for cooling & hardening metal & containing foul water which had been there for many years. While groping in the dirt at the bottom of the tank, he felt a sharp pain in his hand. On withdrawing his hand he observed a scaly substance on the finger which he had previously cut, & flicked it away. The finger very soon became poisoned, with the result that he was eventually incapacitated. Evidence was given to the effect that a germ known as streptococcus might have got into his hand at the time when he was searching in the tank. He applied for arbn. & the county ct. judge made an award in his favour :—Held : the evidence, though slight, was sufficient to justify the county ct. judge in coming to a decision that the injury by accident arose in the course of the employment, being due to the germ getting into the workman's hand while he was at work.—WALKER v. WYNN, TIMMINS & CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 122, C. A.

2668. —— Workman cleaning hurricane lamp.]—A workman employed by applts., on Dec. 5, 1923, had worked for two hours before breakfast on the cleaning of a mechanical navvy, part of the duty being to clean a hurricane lamp, & at 8.30, according to evidence given by M., a fellow workman, while having breakfast with M., showed him a nip in the skin of a finger of his right hand which had been wiped & cleaned, but the rest of his hand was very dirty & oily, thereupon M. said, he went & looked at the hurricane lamp which he found had been cleaned, but the glass was broken having a jagged edge which might have caused the injury to the finger. The workman rapidly got worse from the setting up by the cut of septic poisoning, & on Dec. 7 did not go to his work, & on Dec. 22 he died. An inquest was held on Dec. 24 at which the solr. of applts. was present & heard all the evidence as to how the death was brought about. Statutory notice of the accident was not given until Jan. 4, 1924. The widow of deceased workman made an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & on the hearing on May 8 a doctor called on her behalf in cross-examination said that he had asked deceased how he got the cut & deceased said that he had cut himself on his bicycle lamp. The county ct. judge held that the evidence of the doctor as to what deceased said as to the cause of the accident was not admissible, & accepted the evidence of M. in full, & in consequence held that the fair inference to be drawn from the evidence was that the cut on the finger was caused by the broken glass of the hurricane lamp, & therefore the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment &, further, that appct. had discharged the onus of proving that the employers were not prejudiced by the want of notice of the accident, & that there was reasonable cause for its absence & made an award in favour of the widow of £269 2*s.*, the amount being agreed :—Held : the evidence of the doctor elicited on cross-examination clearly relating to the cause of the accident was inadmissible, & there was sufficient evidence to justify the finding that the employers had not been prejudiced by want of notice, & the evidence of M. having been accepted in full it was rightly decided that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment.—SHARP v. LODDINGTON IRONSTONE CO., LTD. (1924), 132 L. T. 229; 17 B. W. C. C. 171, C. A.

2669. Claim unsuccessful—Death from erysipelas of face—Three months after wound on hand.]—At an arbn. there was a dispute between the medical experts as to whether or not a wound in the hand on Apr. 17 could cause erysipelas of the face on July 7. The question was as to whether or not the micro-organisms of erysipelas could have remained latent in the body from Apr. to July. There was no evidence that they had done so, & the doctor for appct. did not swear that in his opinion they had done so. The case was adjourned, & the medical referee sent for. He was merely asked the abstract question, as to whether or not the organisms could have been latent for so long a time. He said it was possible that the organism might have lain dormant & subsequently sprung to life if H. [pltf.] was in a devitalised condition :—Held: there was no evidence to justify the finding that deceased man died from personal injury by accident.—HUGO v. LARKINS (H. W.) & Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 228, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (d), (e) & (f).]

2670. —— Scratch—No evidence of receipt in course of employment.]—A workman in the employment of a colliery co. was engaged on the night shift, & went to his work on the night of Friday, Dec. 9, about eleven o'clock & returned at 7.30 the next morning. He then showed his wife a red patch on his right arm. The wife also noticed a scratch on the right thumb. The man died on Dec. 21 of blood poisoning which, according to the medical evidence, resulted from the scratch on the thumb. Evidence was given that some stone had fallen on the man while he was working on the Friday night, but the medical testimony was to the effect that the red patch on the arm was caused by inflammation from the scratch on the thumb, & that such inflammation would not appear in less than twelve hours after the introduction of the septic poisoning. The county ct. judge held that he was entitled to infer that the scratch was received while the man was at work at the colliery, & therefore the injury & death arose out of & in the course of his employment :—Held: there was no evidence to support such a finding, & the employers were not liable.—JENKINS v. STANDARD COLLIERY Co. (1911), 105 L. T. 730; 28 T. L. R. 7; 5 B. W. C. C. 71, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Reld. Wood v. Davis (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 113; Howe v. Fernhill Collieries (1912), 107 L. T. 508.

2671. —— —— ——.]—A collier was washing on his return from work, when his wife saw a small scratch on his knee & a large lump on his groin. He died in a few days from blood poisoning which started from the scratch. There was no evidence as to how he got the scratch, but there was medical evidence that the scratch could not have caused the lump, if the scratch had only been made on the day the lump appeared. The county ct. judge inferred that the scratch had been caused at work, & that the accident accordingly arose in the course of the employment, & awarded compensation :—Held: there was no evidence to support the inference.—WOOD v. DAVIS (D.) & SONS, LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

Annotation :—Reld. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765.

2672. —— —— ——.]—On Mar. 31 appct. was employed by resps. to clean drums, that had contained red oxide, with turpentine. She alleged that while so at work the thumb of her left hand was poisoned. She worked as usual on Apr. 1 to 5 inclusive, during which time there was evidence that she had a rag on her hand, but did not complain to any one or see a doctor. Apr. 6 & 7 were Easter holidays. On Apr. 8, Easter Sunday, she saw a doctor, who found she was suffering from a septic hand. The medical evidence called by the employers was that had she contracted septic poisoning on Mar. 31, the hand would have become very painful in forty-eight hours. Also red oxide would not set up septic poisoning, & turpentine, although it would make a cut tingle, was antiseptic & would kill germs. No medical evidence was called by the appct. :—Held: there was no evidence to connect the work she was employed at on Mar. 31 with the injury to her hand, & therefore appct. had not discharged the onus of proving any accident within the meaning of the Act.—MILLER v. JENSON & NICHOLSON, LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 621, C. A.

2673. —— Finger cut at home—Work of dirty nature.]—A railway fireman cut his finger at home. Blood poisoning supervened & necessitated the amputation of the finger. The county ct. judge found that the poison germs entered with the dirty oil & coal to which danger the man was specially exposed, & that this was an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment :—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding.—CHANDLER v. GREAT WESTERN RY. Co. (1912), 106 L. T. 479; 5 B. W. C. C. 254, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765.

2674. —— Abscess on knee.]—A collier died of blood poisoning due to an abscess in his knee. There was no evidence as to how the abscess was caused. His work was in a very narrow seam, & necessitated his working on his knees :—Held: there was no evidence of personal injury by accident, arising out of & in the course of the employment.—HOWE v. FERNHILL COLLIERIES, LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 508; 5 B. W. C. C. 629, C. A.

2675. —— Gamekeeper handling dead animals.]—A gamekeeper handled dead animals on July 31, Aug. 2, 3, & 5. The animals he handled on July 31 & Aug. 5 were handled in the course of his employment, but not those on Aug. 2 & 3. The animal he handled on Aug. 5, a dog, was proved to have died from anthrax; there was no evidence as to what the other animals died of. On Aug. 11 he fell ill, & died on Aug. 18. The county ct. judge found that deceased did not die from an accident, & that if he did the accident was not proved to have arisen out of the employment :—Held: the burden of proof was upon appct., & this had not been discharged.—SHERWOOD v. JOHNSON (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 686, C. A.

(e) Disappearance of Seaman at Sea.

2676. Cook lost overboard—In fine weather.]—It is competent for the ct. to draw an inference from the facts proved that the accident causing injury or death did happen "in the course of" & arose "out of" the employment, although no person was present who could give direct evidence how & when the accident happened, but the onus of proof is on appct. in every case, & none the less so because by the death of the workman a greater burden is placed on the dependants of deceased.

While a steamship was on the high seas, the chief cook & baker was lost overboard; the weather was fine at the time, the ship was steady, & there was a four-foot rail & bulwark all round. Deceased was last seen at 5.35 a.m. going aft. His widow applied for compensation under the 2676 a. Cook [lost overboard—In fine weather.]—LYNCH v. CROWN S.S. Co., LTD. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 652.—SCOT.

b. Steersman lost overboard — In fine weather—Onus of proof not discharged.]—ROURKE v. HOLT & Co. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 740.—IR.

Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was no evidence which would enable the ct. to draw the necessary inference that the accident causing death arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" the employment.—BENDER v. ZENT (OWNERS), [1909] 2 K. B. 41; 78 L. J. K. B. 533; 100 L. T. 639; 2 B. W. C. C. 22, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Marshall v. Wild Rose (Owners), [1909] 2 K. B. 46. Folld. Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners), [1910] 2 K. B. 555. Distd. Rice v. Swansea Vale (Owners) (1910), 102 L. T. 270. Consd. Astley v. Evans, [1911] 1 K. B. 1036. Apld. Ayr Steam Shipping Co. v. Lendrum (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 326; Burwash v. Frederick Leyland (1912), 107 L. T. 735. Refd. Rourke v. Holt (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 740.

2677. —— Rough weather.]—The second cook employed on board a steamship left his duties in the galley in the course of a voyage when the ship was rolling heavily, & he was not seen again. He suffered from a disease of the kidneys which would necessitate his going repeatedly to the urinal:—Held: the inference was irresistible that deceased accidentally fell overboard & was drowned; but that, in the absence of any evidence to show how he got out of his galley & fell overboard, there was nothing to take the case out of the region of "mere surmise, conjecture, or guess," which did not suffice to establish dependants' claim for compensation.—BURWASH v. LEYLAND (FREDERICK) & CO., LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 735; 28 T. L. R. 546; 5 B. W. C. C. 663; sub nom. BURWASH v. OXONIAN (OWNERS), 56 Sol. Jo. 703, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Ayr Steam Shipping Co., Ltd. v. Lendrum (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 326.

2678. Fireman lost overboard—Coming on deck in course of duty.]—Where a fireman employed on board a steamship came on deck in order better to perform his duties on returning to the stokehold, namely, for the purpose of obtaining a drink & fresh air, while at work in the course of a voyage in tropical regions & was not afterwards discovered, the inevitable conclusion being that he had lost his life by falling overboard, it was held that the county ct. judge was justified in drawing the inference that the fireman's death was due to an accident arising "out of" & "in the course of" his employment; & that therefore his dependant was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—LEE v. STAG LINE, LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 509; 56 Sol. Jo. 720; 5 B. W. C. C. 660, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Ayr Steam Shipping Co. v. Lendrum (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 326. Refd. Proctor v. S.S. Serbino, [1915] 3 K. B. 344.

2679. —— No reason for being at side of ship.]—A fireman on a steamer at sea left the stokehold during the night at about 1.30 a.m., apparently to get water at the pump, which was on deck. He disappeared & must have gone overboard. His cap & water can were found on deck, but nothing was discovered which threw any light on how he came to go overboard. In proceedings by the widow the county ct. judge found that the accident to deceased arose in the course of his employment, but that there was nothing to take him to the side of the ship, & the probabilities were that he fell overboard while doing something in no way connected with his employment. He found that there was no evidence that the accident arose out of his employment, & in the absence of such evidence he held that appct.'s claim for compensation failed:—Held: there was no misdirection & the award could not be disturbed.—CARNABY v. BROMSGROVE (OWNERS) (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 84, C. A.

2680. Officer lost overboard—In fine weather—Previous complaint of giddiness.]—An officer of a ship, who was on duty on deck, disappeared from the ship in broad daylight, in fine, calm weather. No one saw what happened to him, but there was evidence that not long before he had complained of feeling sick & giddy:—Held: there was evidence from which the ct. might infer that he fell overboard from an accident arising not only "in the course of" but "out of" his employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & his dependants were entitled to compensation under the Act.—SWANSEA VALE (OWNERS) v. RICE, [1912] A. C. 238; 81 L. J. K. B. 672; 104 L. T. 658; 27 T. L. R. 440; 55 Sol. Jo. 497; 4 B. W. C. C. 298; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 47, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. RICE v. SWANSEA VALE (OWNERS) (1910), 102 L. T. 270, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Fleet v. Johnson (1912), 57 Sol. Jo. 226. Folld. Lee v. Stag Line (1912), 107 L. T. 509. Distd. Kerr (or Lendrum) v. Ayr Steam Shipping Co., [1915] A. C. 217. Apld. Proctor v. S.S. Serbino, [1915] 3 K. B. 344; Bird v. Keep, [1918] 2 K. B. 692. Refd. Ayr Steam Shipping Co. v. Lendrum (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 326; Warren v. Hedley's Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136; Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Mentd. Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 307; Smith v. Mid. Ry. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 868; Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206; Munro, Brice v. Marten, Same v. R., [1920] 3 K. B. 94; Smith v. G. W. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 237.

2681. ——.]—A seaman was chief engineer on a steamship & was responsible for the working of all machinery in the ship. He was troubled because there was something wrong with the propeller. On the evening before the ship arrived in port he told the steward to call him before his usual hour & bring him tea. This was done; he got up about 5.40, dressed in his working clothes, & was last seen going to the stern of the ship. His watch would not have begun until 8 o'clock:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference of the county ct. judge that he went to the stern to look at the propeller, & his finding that his death was caused by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906.—SERBINO (OWNERS) v. PROCTOR, [1916] 1 A. C. 464; 85 L. J. K. B. 599; 114 L. T. 431; 32 T. L. R. 280; 60 Sol. Jo. 272; 9 B. W. C. C. 182, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. PROCTOR v. SERBINO (OWNERS), [1915] 3 K. B. 344, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Armstrong v. Gregson (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 468. Refd. Lynch v. Crown S.S. Co. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 652; Spencer v. S.S. Liberty (1917), 117 L. T. 449.

(f) Disease Caused or Accelerated by Injury.

2682. Claim successful—Injury to ribs—Death from pneumonia.]—A healthy & steady workman was employed to pick up cotton waste on the decks of a ship in dock. At 1 p.m. he was sent to work in No. 6 hold; at 3 p.m. he climbed up the ladder of the hold, apparently in great pain, & he was sent home. He was medically attended, & marks were found on his ribs; three days later he developed pneumonia, from which he died. The doctor who attended him attributed the pneumonia to the injury to his sides:—Held: there was evidence that the workman had died from personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.—LOVELADY v. BERRIE (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 62, C. A.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (f), (g) & (h).]

2683. —— —— Death from syncope.]—A miner who had left home in the morning apparently perfectly well, returned complaining of pain in his side, & later a fractured rib was diagnosed. He subsequently died of syncope either brought on or accelerated by the injury. The only admissible evidence of the fact of the accident consisted in a notice of accident he sent to the proper quarter, & the payment two days before his death, of a sum of £1 12*s.* as compensation money to his wife, who called for it. The county ct. judge found that the death resulted from injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—HARLEY v. WALSALL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 86, C. A.

2684. —— Strain at work—Death from paralysis.]—(1) A workman was put to do unusually heavy work. An hour & a half later he was found to be suffering from some injury which necessitated ambulance aid & his removal home. He gave no written notice, but informed the works foreman, at the time the ambulance was brought, that he had fallen & hurt himself while working. He returned to work a fortnight later but complained of pain in his back. Five & a half months later he had to go to the hospital where he remained until he died six months after. The death was due to paralysis from the fracture of one of the lumbar vertebræ. This, according to the medical evidence, might have been caused by the strain of the work & probably happened when he first complained of pain. The county ct. judge drew the inference that the injury from which death resulted was due to accident arising out of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.

(2) Semble: deceased's statements, though evidence of notice, were not admissible as proof of an accident. Notice to the works foreman was notice to the employers.—HEWITT v. STANLEY BROTHERS, LTD. (1913), 109 L. T. 384; 6 B. W. C. C. 501, C. A.

2685. —— —— Death from pneumonia.]—Two workmen were lifting a drill weighing 1½ cwt. when the drill slipped. One of the men on getting back to his home told his wife he had a pain in his side. Two days later the wife called in a doctor. The doctor treated the pain in the man's side as being due to a strain, but there were no objective symptoms of strain. Five weeks later the man died from broncho-pneumonia, & the doctor then expressed the opinion that the man had strained his liver, & that the injury extended ultimately to the lungs. The widow further gave evidence that during the time that the man was ill he was visited by his employer, who asked him what was the matter, & the man said he had strained himself lifting the drill, whereupon the employer gave him £2 "to go on with," & told him that his compensation would amount to 35*s.* per week. This evidence was objected to.

The county ct. judge found that deceased had suffered injury by accident in the way alleged, & that death from broncho-pneumonia had resulted therefrom. He further stated that in coming to this conclusion he did not rely upon deceased's statement to his employer, "except as not being inconsistent with the facts of the case":—Held: there was sufficient evidence to support the findings & no misdirection. The statement was admissible not as direct evidence of the facts therein stated, but as showing the conduct of the employer on hearing such statement, upon which the judge was at liberty to draw inferences of fact.—CHANTLER v. BROMLEY (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 14, C. A.

2686. —— Blow on thigh—Death from osteomyelitis.]—On Apr. 18, 1916, a collier was dragging a rail along, when he backed into a prop, with the result that the rail struck him a blow on the fleshy part of the thigh. He went on working until May 29, although suffering pain in the thigh. He then saw his panel doctor, who treated him for contused tissue. There was at this time no external mark on the man's thigh. He grew worse, & on June 10 a consultant was called in, who diagnosed an obscure disease called osteomyelitis. An immediate operation was attempted, but the man died the next day. No written notice of the accident was given until June 12, although a verbal report of it was given on or about May 29. The panel doctor gave evidence that the disease would be caused by a slight strain or a blow, & should develop within a week, but thought that the disease was probably connected with the accident. The consultant said it was often impossible to discover a cause for the disease. As a rule it appeared within forty-eight hours after an injury, & it could not therefore be attributed in this case to the accident. No evidence was called by the employers to prove that they were prejudiced by the delay in giving notice of the accident; & the consultant was not asked whether he thought he could have diagnosed the disease at an earlier stage:—Held: there was evidence to support a finding by the county ct. judge that the disease was attributable to an accident on Apr. 18 arising out of & in the course of the employment, & there was also evidence from which the county ct. judge could reasonably infer, in the absence of evidence to the contrary by the employers, that the employers were not prejudiced by the failure to give notice of the accident as soon as practicable.—MILLS v. DINNINGTON MAIN COAL CO., LTD. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 231; 116 L. T. 181; 61 Sol. Jo. 202; 10 B. W. C. C. 153, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Howard v. Sun Hill (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 46.

2687. Claim unsuccessful—Alleged accident—Death from pneumonia.]—A workman died of pneumonia. His dependants contended that the pneumonia resulted from lowered vitality caused by an accident to the workman arising out of & in the course of his employment. The only evidence that there had been an accident consisted of several inconsistent statements made by the workman, to various persons, on the day after the alleged accident, which were admitted without objection being taken. The medical referee gave a report that the pneumonia could not have been caused by the alleged accident. The county ct. judge said that he was not bound to surrender his judgment to the medical referee, & held that there had been an accident causing the pneumonia, & so he awarded compensation:—Held: there was no evidence that there had been any accident arising out of & in the course of his employment.

BAIRD (W.) & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 343; 49 Sc. L. R. 278; [1912] 1 S. L. T. 90; 5 B. W. C. C. 542.—SCOT.

h. —— Amputation of foot.]—STRONGE v. HAZLETT (1909), 44 I. L. T. 10; 3 B. W. C. C. 581.—IR.

k. —— Pleurisy.]—M'MILLAN v. SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 346.—SCOT.

l. —— Injury to hand.]—CARR v. PORT-GLASGOW BURGH, [1923] S. C. 844.—SCOT.

—LANGLEY v. REEVE (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 175, C. A.

2688. —— Strain at work—Death from uræmia.] —A collier suffering from Bright's disease told a mate that he had hurt himself, & the mate saw marks of a tub, which deceased had been filling, having come off the rails, though the tub was on the rails. He went home & died in a short time from uræmia, as the post mortem proved. The county ct. judge awarded for the employers, on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence that the man had met with an accident:—Held: the evidence justified the award.—ASHLEY v. LILLESHALL CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 85, C. A.

2689. —— —— Death from intestinal obstruction.]—A man at work called out that he had hurt his back. No one saw what had happened. He was taken home, complaining of pains in the back & stomach. He died a week after, of intestinal obstruction. There was evidence of previous illnesses & pains in the stomach:—Held: the onus of proving an accident had not been discharged.—FARMER v. STAFFORD, ALLEN & SONS, LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 223, C. A.

(g) Eye Injuries.

2690. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting injury with employment.]—A weaver got dust in his eye. He rubbed the eye & an abrasion appeared, into which a microbe, having no special relation to his employment, subsequently entered & set up inflammation causing incapacity. There was no evidence as to when the microbe entered. The county ct. judge assumed the abrasion had been caused by rubbing on account of the dust, but as the microbe might have entered at any time & at any place, he found in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BELLAMY v. HUMPHRIES (J.) & SONS, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 53, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Saddington v. Inslip Iron Co. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331.

2691. —— Injury followed by suicide—No evidence of insanity from accident.]—(1) A workman who injured his eye by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, suffered great pain from it, became depressed, & eventually committed suicide, cannot be held to have been insane without strict evidence that he was in that condition. In the absence of evidence of insanity as the cause of suicide that act will be treated as novus actus interveniens & his death will be held not to be the result of the accident.

(2) Where notice of an accident under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), has been duly given by an injured workman who subsequently dies, no further notice of the accident need be given by his dependants; & where notice has not been given as soon as practicable by the workman the omission cannot be cured by subsequent notice given by his dependants.—GRIMME v. FLETCHER, [1915] 1 K. B. 734; 84 L. J. K. B. 847; 112 L. T. 840; 31 T. L. R. 158; 59 Sol. Jo. 233; 8 B. W. C. C. 69, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Marriott v. Maltby Main Colliery Co. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 349. Reid. Withers v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1916] 2 K. B. 772; Bird v. Keep, [1918] 2 K. B. 692.

(h) Falls from Vehicles.

2692. Claim successful — Railway employee travelling back from work.]—In an arbn. under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the burden is upon appct. to prove that the injury was caused by accident arising "out of" as well as "in the course of" the employment of the workman, & if appct. leaves the case in doubt as to whether those conditions are fulfilled or not, the evidence being equally consistent with their being fulfilled or not fulfilled, he has not discharged the burden of proof.

A workman in the employ of a railway co. was in the course of his employment travelling in an ordinary compartment of a passenger train. Persons travelling in the same compartment gave evidence that they saw him put the window down & place his basket in the rack, standing close to the door with his face towards it, but they did not see him do anything else, until, when the train had travelled three hundred yards only from the place at which he entered it, they hard a crash, & he had disappeared. The workman was found lying close to the rail suffering from injuries which caused his death:—Held: there being evidence that the workman was simply passing as an ordinary passenger might pass, & acting as an ordinary passenger might act, in a train upon a railway, there was evidence on which the county ct. judge was justified in finding that the accident arose "out of" as well as "in the course of" his employment.—POMFRET v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., [1903] 2 K. B. 718; 72 L. J. K. B. 729; 89 L. T. 176; 52 W. R. 66; 19 T. L. R. 649; 47 Sol. Jo. 469; 5 W. C. C. 22, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Mitchell v. Glamorgan Coal Co. (1907), 23 T. L. R. 588. Expld. Fitzgerald v. Clarke, [1908] 2 K. B. 796. Consd. McDonald v. Banana (Owners), [1908] 2 K. B. 926. Mentd. Douglas v. Smith, [1907] 2 K. B. 568; Smith v. G. W. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 237.

2693. —— Brakeman trying to alight.] — A train consisting of an engine & three trucks, which were being pushed by the engine, was in charge of a brakesman, who was riding in the foremost truck. This train overtook another train travelling in the same direction, which consisted of an engine & brakes van, the engine being in front. The two trains proceeded buffer to buffer but were not coupled. After they had passed one set of points, which had been operated by the brakesman in the brakes van, & while they were on the way to another set of points a quarter of a mile off, the brakesman in the truck attempted to climb out of the truck into the brakes van ahead, & while doing so fell & was killed. The trains would have had to pass over the second set of points & then stop, & one of the brakesmen would have had to

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (g).

2690 l. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting injury with employment.]—While several boys in the employment of deft. co. were engaged in a scuffle, during working hours, one of them, pltf., was injured losing the sight of an eye:—Held: the accident was not one arising "out of or in the course of the common employment."—DOYLE v. MOIRS, LTD. (1915), 48 N. S. R. 473.—CAN.

m. Claim successful—Injury caused by flying splinters.]—Claimant was set to work by resps. chipping a casting with a cold-chisel & hammer; a piece of metal from the chisel or casting flew into his eye & damaged it so that the eye had to be removed:—Held: the injury was caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of claimant's employment.—Re MILHOLM & CONATY STACK CO. (1911), 19 W. L. R. 860.—CAN.

n. —— ——.] — HOLLAND v. RUMELY PRODUCTS CO., [1917] 1 W. W. R. 454.—CAN.

o. ——.] — HAZELL v. BURGESS (1915), 35 N. Z. L. R. 132.—N.Z.

p. ——.] — M'GHEE v. SUMMERLEE IRON CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 870; 48 Sc. L. R. 807; [1911] 2 S. L. T. 16; 4 B. W. C. C. 424.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (h).

q. Claim successful — Jumping off car — Master's business.]— YEABSLEY v. KAIKOURA COUNTY, [1918] N. Z. L. R. 313.—N.Z.

r. —— Workman injured in picking up pipe.]—M'LAUCHLAN v. ANDERSON, [1911] S. C. 529; 48 Sc.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (h), (i) & (j).]

alight & raise a lever to allow the trains to pass back over the points in the reverse direction on to a branch line. The brakes van was furnished with a step, whereas the truck had none. The railway & trains were the property of a colliery co. whose servants the men were. The widow of the deceased man claimed compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was evidence from which the arbitrator could infer that deceased was trying to climb into the brakes van with a view to alighting therefrom by the step for the purpose of attending to the points as the train was passing, & the accident arose out of as well as in the course of the employment.—EVANS (RICHARD) & CO., LTD. v. ASTLEY, [1911] A. C. 674; 80 L. J. K. B. 1177; 105 L. T. 385; 27 T. L. R. 557; 55 Sol. Jo. 687; 4 B. W. C. C. 319, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. ASTLEY v. EVANS (R.) & CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 1036, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Wardle v. Enthoven (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 309; Rigling v. Minister of Munitions (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 1. Refd. Southall v. Cheshire County News Co. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 251; Stapleton v. Dinnington Main Coal Co. (1912), 107 L. T. 247; Watkins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1912), 106 L. T. 818; Wemyss Coal Co. v. Symon (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 298; Dyhouse v. G. W. Ry. (1913), 109 L. T. 193; Plumb v. Cobden Flour Mills Co. (1913), 108 L. T. 161; Warren v. Hedley's Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 136; Maxwell v. Ruabon Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 428; Prosser v. Graham Navigation Collieries (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 42; Garrallan Coal Co. v. Anderson (or Devlin) (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 356. Mentd. Jones v. Canadian Pacific Ry. (1913), 33 L. J. P. C. 13.

2694. —— Fall off bicycle riding to work.]—A butcher's canvasser, who rode a bicycle in the course of his work, arrived at his employer's shop on a certain Saturday morning in Sept. 1911, lame, covered with mud, & wheeling the machine. He complained of injury caused by a side slip, & went home, where he rested for two days. He then returned to work, though still suffering slightly from the effects of the fall. By Dec. 26 the pain became worse, & he consulted a doctor. On Jan. 7, 1912, an operation was performed & cancer diagnosed. Notice was given on Jan. 14 to employer's manager by the doctor, who said that, in his opinion, the disease was brought about by the accident, of the happening of which the manager was aware. Two other operations were performed, but the workman died of sarcoma in June. The county ct. judge, sitting with a medical assessor, drew the inference that injury was caused on the Saturday in Sept. 1911, by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment from which the death resulted; that there was reasonable cause for not giving notice until Dec. 26, in that the injury was latent; & that there was evidence that the employers were not prejudiced by any delay in the notice:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference & findings, & no misdirection.—HAWARD v. ROWSELL & MATTHEWS (1914), 111 L. T. 771; 7 B. W. C. C. 552, C. A.

2695. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting accident with employment.]—A carman fell from his van & sustained injuries. He died three weeks later. No evidence was produced to show the connection between the accident & death, the doctor who had attended the man being abroad:—Held: there was no evidence that the death was due to the accident.—HONOR v. PAINTER (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 188, C. A.

2696. —— ——.]—A workman fell from a cart & was injured. He died nine days afterwards. The only medical evidence called was to the effect that there was no connection between the accident & the death. The county ct. judge, however, found that death was due to the accident, & awarded compensation:—Held: the dependant had not discharged the onus of proving that death was due to the accident.—BROWN v. KIDMAN (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 199, C. A.

See, also, Nos. 2707, 2708, post.

(i) Found Drowned.

Seamen leaving or returning to ships.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B. (l), post.

Disappearance of seaman at sea.] — See Sub-sect. 4, B. (e), ante.

2697. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting death with employment.] — An engineer employed on board a steam trawler lying in a harbour basin went on deck, as he said, to cool himself on a very hot night. His dead body was found the next morning in the water just under the rail on the starboard quarter where he was in the habit of sitting in hot weather. There was no evidence how the death happened:—Held: as a matter of fact there was no evidence to show that the engineer's death was caused by an accident arising out of his employment.—MARSHALL v. WILD ROSE (OWNERS), [1910] A. C. 486; 79 L. J. K. B. 912; 103 L. T. 114; 26 T. L. R. 608; 54 Sol. Jo. 678; 3 B. W. C. C. 514; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 409, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Gilbert v. Nizam (Owners), [1910] 2 K. B. 555. Distd. Rice v. Swansea Vale (Owners) (1910), 102 L. T. 270. Consd. Kitchenham v. S.S. Johannesburg, Leach v. Oakley Street, [1911] 1 K. B. 523; Proctor v. S.S. Serbino, [1915] 3 K. B. 344. Refd. Barnabas v. Bersham Colliery Co. (1910), 103 L. T. 513; Moore v. Manchester Liners (1910), 103 L. T. 226; Traynor v. Addie (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 357; Lee v. Stag Line (1912), 107 L. T. 509; Swansea Vale (Owners) v. Rice, [1912] A. C. 238; Kerr (or Lendrum) v. Ayr Steam Shipping Co., [1915] A. C. 217; Davidson v. M'Robb, or Officer, [1918] A. C. 304.

2698. —— ——.]—A sailor was seen at 8 p.m. about to leave his ship, which was at the quay side, to get provisions. Early the next morning he was found drowned in the dock, 10 or 15 feet from the gangway of the ship, & 3 feet from the quay side. His cap was found on the quay, & there was a fresh wind blowing. The county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of his employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—MITCHELL v. SAXON (OWNERS) (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 623, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Parker v. Black Rock (Owners), [1914] 2 K. B. 39.

2699. —— ——.]—A workman, with his mate, was left in charge of a barge moored near a wharf. He left the cabin at 5.30 & was not seen alive again. There was a strong tide at the time, running downstream. He was found drowned 150 feet from the barge, up the river; & although the tide had turned since the man left the barge, the county

---

L. R. 349; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 127; 4 B. W. C. C. 376.—SCOT.

t. —— Fall off engine — Driver intoxicated.] — FRAZER v. RIDDELL (JOHN) & CO. (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 841. —SCOT.

2695 i. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting accident with employment.]—BECHTEL v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. (1916), 33 W. L. R. 426; 9 W. W. R. 1005.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (i).

2697 i. Claim unsuccessful—No evidence connecting death with employment.] —MCINTYRE v. STEWART, [1916] S. C. 91.—SCOT.

a. Claim successful — Crossing & recrossing ford—To & from employment.]—CONNORS v. HALPIN, [1919] N. Z. L. R. 673.—N.Z.

b. —— Engineer falling from tug —In sleeping clothes.]—MACKINNON v. MILLER, [1909] S. C. 373; 46 Sc. L. R. 299; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 65; 2 B. W. C. C. 64.—SCOT.

ct. judge found that the body could not have been carried away by the adverse tide, & awarded for the employers, there being no evidence as to how the workman met with his death:—Held: the dependants had not discharged the onus of proof that the accident was one arising in the course of the employment.—CHARVIL v. MANSER & CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 385, C. A.

2700. —— ——.]—A seaman, returning to his ship, was on a jetty hailing the ship for a boat. He had a parcel of food with him. He fell from the jetty & was drowned. There was no evidence whether he was on shore with leave or not. The county ct. judge found that he had not yet reached the ambit of his employment when the accident happened, & awarded for the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—DIXON v. AMBIENT (OWNERS) (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 428, C. A.

2701. —— ——.]—A waterman, six minutes after leaving a fellow waterman, with whom he had been talking on the wharf, was found drowned 90 yards away & 20 yards from his barge. The county court judge said he was not "satisfied" that the death was due to an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was no misdirection.—BINES v. GUERET (L.), LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 120, C. A.

2702. —— ——.]—A man was employed as a watchman on lighters moored in the river Thames. His duties were twenty-four hours on & twenty-four hours off. He could leave the lighters for the purpose of fetching officials from the shore, & also to pay the wages of his mate if his mate hailed him to do so. For these purposes he was provided with a boat by his employers. On the day of the accident he had been paid his own wages & those of his mate, & in the evening he went ashore & fastened his boat up at the landing steps. He paid his mate & then went home & saw his wife. About 8.15 he left home, & nothing more was known of his movements. The next morning his dead body was found in the water near his boat. The county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of deceased's employment, & made the award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—BRAINE v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 342, C. A.

2703. —— Alleged suicidal tendency following accident.]—A workman was injured in his head by a fall. Traumatic neurasthenia supervened, & gradually became worse. About eight months after the accident he was found drowned in a canal 400 yards from his home. The county ct. judge found that he committed suicide, & that the suicidal tendency was the result of the accident:—Held: there was no evidence to justify the finding.—SOUTHALL v. CHESHIRE COUNTY NEWS CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 251, C. A.

2704. Claim successful—Workman proceeding from one part of works to another.]—A workman in an ironworks went from his furnace to the blacksmith's shop, the route running along a canal bank. Not returning, he was sought for, but not found. Some hours later, he was found drowned in the canal. The county ct. judge, in the absence of direct evidence as to how the man came to be in the canal, inferred that the accident arose out of the employment, & awarded compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference.

Suicide, being a crime, cannot be inferred (FARWELL, L.J.).—FURNIVALL v. JOHNSON'S IRON & STEEL CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 43, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Proctor v. S.S. Serbino, [1915] 3 K. B. 344.

2705. —— Watchman attending to mooring ropes.]—A ship in dock was moored to a jetty. The watchman on board had to attend to the ship & the moorings. He was seen ashore one evening, with a parcel, at a time when he was accustomed to attend to the shore end of the mooring ropes. The next morning he was found drowned in the dock, at a point forty yards from the ship, between the gangway & the shore end of the mooring ropes; the parcel was found between the mooring ropes & the gangway. The county ct. judge, in the absence of direct evidence, drew the inference that the death arose out of the employment, & awarded compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the inference.—RICHARDSON v. AVONMORE (OWNERS) (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 34, C. A.

2706. —— Seaman subject to attacks of nausea & vomiting.]—A steward employed in a steamship of resps., which was lying in a harbour, was seen by the captain lying in his bunk at about 4.30 p.m. partially dressed. The captain told him to prepare tea for the crew before the ship sailed at 6 p.m. He was never seen alive again. His clothing, boots, cap, purse & watch were found on a settee in the saloon out of which his cabin opened, & the next day his body was found in the water dressed only in his underclothing. There were no marks of violence, & death was due to drowning. There was evidence that he was a good-tempered, sober, sociable man, & that he suffered from attacks of nausea & vomiting. In a proceeding by his dependants under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the arbitrator held that he met his death by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: on the facts admitted & proved there was evidence to support such finding.—KERR (OR LENDRUM) v. AYR STEAM SHIPPING CO., LTD., [1915] A. C. 217; 84 L. J. P. C. 1; 111 L. T. 875; 30 T. L. R. 664; 58 Sol. Jo. 737; 7 B. W. C. C. 801, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Taylor v. Clark (1914), 84 L. J. P. C. 14. Folld. Proctor v. S.S. Serbino, [1915] 3 K. B. 344. Apld. Armstrong v. Gregson (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 468; Watson v. Brown (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 419. Refd. M'Kenna v. Niddrie & Benhar Coal Co. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 411; Bird v. Keep, [1918] 2 K. B. 692. Mentd. Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206; Munro, Brice v. Marten, Munro, Brice v. R., [1920] 3 K. B. 94; Smith v. G. W. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 237.

(j) Heart Failure.

2707. Claim unsuccessful—Cause of death unexplained.]—A bus driver was sitting on the box of his bus; a thud was heard, & he was found to have fallen from it; there was no evidence as to how it happened. Conflicting medical evidence as to the cause of death was given, but as to the state of the man's heart it was agreed it was abnormal, & the county ct. judge stated that on the evidence he believed that the man had died from heart failure & not from the fall, & that appct., therefore, had not discharged the onus of proving that the cause of death was a personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of deceased's employment:—Held: the death had not been shown to

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (j).

2707 i. Claim unsuccessful—Cause of death unexplained.]—SPENCE v. BAIRD (W.) & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 343; 49 Sc. L. R. 278; [1912] 1 S. L. T. 90; 5 B. W. C. C. 542.—SCOT.

2707 ii. —— ——.]—RITCHIE v. KERR, [1913] S. C. 613.—SCOT.

2707 iii. —— ——.]—PATON v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., [1913] S. C. 1120; 50 Sc. L. R. 866; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 149; 6 B. W. C. C. 882.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (l), & (m).]

means of access from his barge to the canal bank, had been removed. There was, however, another ready means of access. Three days later his body was found drowned in the canal with the bow rope of another barge, not forming any means of approach to his own, coiled round his arm, & the barge to which the rope belonged was found adrift. The county ct. judge drew the inference that the man had been drowned whilst attempting to use the other barge as a means of access to his own barge :—Held : this was mere surmise & conjecture with no evidence to support it. The accident was not proved to have arisen out of the man's employment.—BOOTH v. LEEDS & LIVERPOOL CANAL CO. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 434, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Nash v. S.S. Rangatira (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 590.

2724. —— ——.]—A fireman on a ship in port at Aberdeen went ashore at about 6.30 p.m. on Dec. 21, 1916, with another seaman. He had no work which required his presence on board until the next day when the ship sailed, but there was evidence that he was a steady, respectable man, who never stayed ashore from his ship at night. The two men went to the theatre, & left again at about 8.30 p.m. with a friend they had met. They then all went & got some drinks, & shortly afterwards started to return to the ship. After they had gone a little way one of the men with the fireman collapsed, & had to be helped along by his friends to the ship, but when they were still some distance from the ship the fireman left them, & turned back saying he was not going abroad at present. He was never seen alive again, but some weeks later his body was found in the dock in which the ship had lain a short distance ahead of where the bow of the ship had been. On an application by the dependants of deceased for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) :—Held : the county ct. judge was not entitled to draw the inference that the man's death was due to an accident arising out of his employment. There was no evidence from which it could be reasonably inferred that the man met with his death in returning to his ship the same night & after he had reached the quayside.—SPENCER v. LIBERTY (OWNERS) (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1381 ; 117 L. T. 449 ; 61 Sol. Jo. 645 ; 10 B. W. C. C. 533, C. A.

(m) Other Accidents.

2725. Claim unsuccessful—Engine driver leaving engine—Found on line.]—While a goods train was standing in a siding, having drawn up there for the purpose of allowing an express train to pass, the engine driver alighted from the engine. Shortly afterwards his body was found on the railway line, he having, it was assumed, been knocked down & killed by a light engine which came alone :—Held : the burden had not been discharged which lay upon appct. for compensation as the sole dependant of deceased of showing that the accident was one which arose " out of & in the course of the employment " of deceased within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1.—DYHOUSE v. GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1913), 109 L. T. 193 ; 6 B. W. C. C. 691, C. A.

2726. —— Injury from object thrown from window—No evidence why or by whom thrown.]—A workman, whilst engaged in work in a mill yard, was struck on the back by the lid of a soap barrel which must have been deliberately thrown out of one of the upper windows of the mill, & could not have fallen from it. There was no evidence to show by whom or for what purpose the lid had been thrown :—Held : there was no evidence that the accident arose out of the employment.—BATEMAN v. ALBION COMBING CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 47, C. A.

2727. —— Strain from work.]—A workman alleged that he had strained himself while carrying a bar of iron. He continued to work for three weeks, after which time he was examined by a doctor. The doctor was of opinion that the pain was consistent with a strain such as the man said he had suffered. The case was referred to specialists whose reports were not submitted to the ct. The only evidence in support of the alleged accident was that of appct. & his mate W. The county ct. judge was not satisfied with the way they gave their evidence. One D., who was present at the time of the alleged accident, & was stated to have heard the workman's complaint, was subpœnaed, as one of appct.'s witnesses but was not called by him, whereupon the solr. for the employers asked the judge to call D. as he was a material witness. The judge assented without formal opposition from workmen's counsel. The judge did not question D., but the employer's solr. did, & elicited from him that he had not heard any complaint at the time when the alleged strain occurred. The judge found that the onus of proving an accident had not been discharged :—Held : apart from D.'s evidence, the workman had not discharged onus of proving an accident, & whether or not D.'s evidence had been wrongly admitted, it was not sufficiently material to have caused a miscarriage of justice, & therefore there was no reason for granting a new trial.—TRIGG v. VAUXHALL MOTORS, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 462, C. A.

2728. —— Stable boy kicked by horse—No duties in stable at time of injury.]—Deceased workman, who was employed as a stable boy by resps. was found in their stable in a dying condition suffering from a kick behind the ear from one of their horses. There was no direct evidence as to how the accident happened, there was evidence that when the boy was found he was clutching in his hand a halter ; that at the time when the

---

WILSON v. LYLE, [1925] S. C. 824.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (m).

g. Claim unsuccessful — Cerebral hæmorrhage.]—FEDERAL GOLD MINE, LTD. v. ENNOR (1910), 13 C. L. R. 276.—AUS.

h. —— Plumber doing another person's work.] — MCMANNAMIN v. CHESTNUT (R.) & SONS, LTD. (1917), 44 N. B. R. 571 ; 37 D. L. R. 302.—CAN.

k. —— Fever.] — COSTANZA v. DOMINION CANNERS, LTD. (1921), 67 D. L. R. 413 ; 51 O. L. R. 166.—CAN.

l. —— ——.] — FINLAY v. TULLAMORE UNION GUARDIANS (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 973.—IR.

m. —— Death caused by falling masonry.]—A., in the course of his employment, was walking on the pavement of a thoroughfare when the parapet of a house which he was about to pass collapsed, & he was killed by the falling masonry. Dependants of deceased claimed compensation from the employer :—Held : the death was not caused by accident arising out of the employment.—COOPER v. HEALY, [1916] 2 I. R. 33.—IR.

n. —— Workman climbing spiked wall.]—GIBSON v. WILSON (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 661 ; 38 Sc. L. R. 450 ; 8 S. L. T. 497.—SCOT.

o. —— Intoxicated seaman — Falling down hold of ship.]—O'BRIEN v. STAR LINE, LTD., [1908] S. C. 1258 ; 45 Sc. L. R. 935 ; 15 S. L. T. 88 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 177.—SCOT.

p. —— Workmen "larking" in mine.]—BURLEY v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1908] S. C. 545.—SCOT.

q. —— Death in prohibited place.] —MILLER v. NORTH BRITISH LOCOMOTIVE CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 698 ; 46 Sc. L. R. 755 ; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 509 ; 2 B. W. C. C. 80.—SCOT.

r. —— Giddiness causing fall in street.]—A school janitor was sent a accident happened the boy had nothing to do with the halter & had nothing to do in the stable; & that the horse was a quiet horse. There was evidence that the foreman of resps.' yard had some time previously had occasion to speak to the boy about hitting the horses with a halter & teasing them. The county ct. judge held that the boy must have done something to the horse, which was a quiet one, to make it kick out, & that at the time of the accident the boy's duties in the stable were over, & accordingly that the accident did not arise out of his employment:—Held: there was sufficient evidence upon which the county ct. judge might come to the conclusions he did.—JOY v. PHILLIPS, MILLS & CO., LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 849; 85 L. J. K. B. 770; 114 L. T. 577; 9 B. W. C. C. 242, C. A.

2729. —— Miner found dead in part of mine where not employed.]—Deceased workman was a shackler working in a coal mine, at the pit bottom. His work consisted in moving coal trams to & from the cages. His dead body was found under a cage, in a part of the mine where he had no business to be, & there was no evidence before the county ct. judge how he got there. When last seen alive, he was at his work in his appropriate position, & his dead body was found soon after. The county ct. judge said that he could not, on the evidence, find that deceased man's death "arose out of the course of his employment," & made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence on which to support the finding & no misdirection.—PROSSER v. GRAHAM NAVIGATION COLLIERIES, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 42, C. A.

2730. —— Railway employee jumping in front of train.]—A workman was employed as a milk checker on a narrow station platform. His duty was to assist in rolling milk-churns. His dead body was found lying between the lines after a train had passed through the station. He was fifty-six years of age, & had been in resps.' employment for years & those working with him on the day of his death observed nothing wrong with him either on that morning or the previous day. He was temperate, happy & cheerful. He was wearing the livery of his employment. The platform was greasy, slippery, & dangerous. The engine of the train struck him on the left side of his head. The fireman of the train which struck deceased gave evidence that he saw deceased take two strides to reach the edge of the platform & jump on the rails. The deputy county ct. judge, on the fireman's evidence, found that the accident did not arise out of the employment & made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—POCOCK v. EDWARDS & SON, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 95, C. A.

2731. —— Miner dying from self-inflicted injuries.]—A workman, B., a miner, went to work as a stallman for the night shift of Feb. 17–18, 1921. He was then in good health, affable, cheerful, jovial & normal. He was seen by another stallman going to his place at the coal face along a short passage. The other stallman left him for a few minutes, & on his return found B. lying on his back with his face towards the coal face. His 7-pound hammer, which appeared not to have been used for any work in the stall, was lying a few inches from the left side of his head with the handle pointing towards the coal face. There was a wound on B.'s forehead from which blood was welling. He was unconscious, but when he had been carried about 350 yards on a stretcher he recovered consciousness, & after being seen by a doctor he got off the stretcher, lit his pipe, sent for his coat, & walked a considerable distance. He was then seen by the undermanager who afterwards gave evidence that at that time he seemed to be out of his mind. He went home & was seen by the doctor twice on that day. The doctor found him quiet & making no complaint. During the night he was restless, & the next morning he cut his throat. The county ct. judge gave the dependant the benefit of two presumptions, viz. (a) that as the workman when last seen before the blow on the forehead was acting not outside the course of his employment there was a presumption that he was within it, & (b) that there was no presumption, in the absence of special facts or circumstances, that the injuries were self-inflicted, but on reviewing the whole of the evidence he held that the wound on the forehead was self-inflicted & dismissed the application for compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings & no misdirection.—BROWN v. KINGSBURY COLLIERIES, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 244, C. A.

2732. Claim successful—Fall from scaffolding.]—A mason's labourer was engaged to clean down the ceiling of an arch of a doorway from the outside. There was some scaffolding erected on the outside of the arch. For some unexplained reason the workman took his pail & brush on to the scaffold. He fell from the scaffold with the brush in his hand, & died from the injuries he received. The county ct. judge drew the inference that getting on the scaffold was for some purpose connected with his employment, & that, in consequence, the accident arose out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: the inference was supported by the evidence.—ROBERTS v. TROLLOP (GEORGE) & SONS & COLLS (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 678, C. A.

2733. —— Fall on concrete flooring.]—A boy, aged seventeen, was employed as a labourer by resp., a firewood merchant. While working on resp.'s premises, he turned round to pick up a sack in the course of his work, slipped, fell, & fractured his skull on the concrete flooring, & sustained injuries from which he died. A fellow workman gave evidence that he did not fall over anything, that his lips & nose were blue, but there was no medical evidence with regard to these symptoms. The boy's mother said in evidence that he never message on a hot day. He fainted in the street from the heat, & fell backwards, striking his head on the pavement, subsequently dying from the effects of the injury:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—RODGER v. PAISLEY SCHOOL BOARD, [1912] S. C. 584; 49 Sc. L. R. 413; [1912] 1 S. L. T. 271; 5 B. W. C. C. 547.—SCOT.

---

t. —— Workman struck by iron sheet—During gale.]—During a severe gale a carter in charge of a horse & lorry within his employer's yard was struck by a sheet of corrugated iron blown from the roof of an adjoining building, & was injured:—Held: the accident did not arise out of the employment.—GUTHRIE v. KINGHORN, [1913] S. C. 1155; 50 Sc. L. R. 863; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 153.—SCOT.

a. Claim successful—Resting place on buffer stop.]—SHEEHY v. GREAT SOUTHERN & WESTERN RY. CO. (1913), 47 I. L. T. 161; 6 B. W. C. C. 927.—IR.

b. —— Farm labourer kicking detonator.]—BYRNE v. CAMPBELL, [1923] 2 I. R. 106; 16 B. W. C. C. 355.—IR.

c. —— Injury by runaway horse.]—DEVINE v. CALEDONIAN RY. CO. (1899), 1 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1105; 36 Sc. L. R. 877; 7 S. L. T. 99.—SCOT.

d. —— Workman helping other workmen.]—GOSLAN v. GILLIES & CO., [1907] S. C. 68.—SCOT.

e. —— Miner's death from scalding.]—SNEDDON v. GREENFIELD COAL & BRICK CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 362.—SCOT.

f. —— Engine driver's fall in permanent way.]—FENNAH v. MIDLAND & GREAT WESTERN RY. OF IRELAND (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 440.—IR.

g. —— Ship's carpenter severely

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 4, B. (m); sub-sect. 5, A. & B. (a).]

suffered from fits. Another witness said that the boy had not had any fits during the eight years he had known him. Deceased boy had been to a special school for defective children. The doctor who made a post mortem examination found a fracture of the skull sufficient to cause death. He found the brain normal & the organs healthy. The deputy county ct. judge made an award in favour of the employers on the ground that there was no evidence of an accident arising out of the employment:—Held: the facts afforded evidence that the accident arose out of the workman's employment. The evidence was more consistent with an accidental fall than a fit, but whether the evidence conclusively established an accident was a question of fact for the arbitrator, & the case must be remitted to the county ct. for a new trial.

The only inference that could be drawn from the evidence was that deceased met with an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment (ATKIN, L.J.).—HUNTER v. SIMNER (1922), 14 B. W. C. C. 327, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Upton v. G. C. Ry., [1924] A. C. 302.

2734. —— Miner killed by explosion of gunpowder.]—A man was employed in a mine as a brusher. His duties included having to fetch gunpowder for blasting & to prepare the hole for the charge, but did not include packing the powder into the hole or firing the shot. While carrying powder, which was loose in a cannister, from the store to a hole for the purpose of blasting, the powder exploded, fatally injuring the man. It was not known what caused the powder to ignite. The place where it happened was about 3 yards or so on the store side of the hole.

The county ct. judge said that the accident could not have happened unless some one had uncovered the powder, &, from the fact that deceased was the only man who had touched the powder, he drew the inference that he had uncovered it for the purpose of charging the hole. He consequently held that the accident did not arise out of the employment:—Held: there was no evidence to support the inference drawn by the county ct. judge. On the evidence, the accident must be held to have arisen out of & in the course of the employment.—PUGH v. DUDLEY (EARL) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 528, C. A.

2735. —— Ship's carpenter falling down hold.]—A workman, employed as a carpenter on board a ship lying in dock & instructed to do certain work at or near a hatchway covering No. 5 hold, was missed, & shortly afterwards was found to have fallen down a hatchway into No. 6 hold, a distance of 50 feet or so from his place of work. The place where he fell was in darkness. There was no direct evidence to show how he got there or what he was doing there, but the county ct. judge found upon evidence as to the habits of men working on ships in port, that the man must have intended to go into a corner to relieve himself, & have fallen down the hold in the dark. He therefore held that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—ARMSTRONG v. GREGSON & CO. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 468, C. A.

2736. —— Strain at work.]—A workman was getting coal with a crowbar & was heard to call. He seemed to be suffering considerable pain internally. He was taken home & continued very ill until his death, which occurred about four months after the date of the accident. Some of his fellow-workmen were told of the accident; but no formal notice was given to the employers until two months after the workman's death. The county ct. judge held that deceased suffered a strain while working which caused his death, & that the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment. He also found that the employers had not been prejudiced by the delay in giving them notice of the accident, & he made an award in favour of the dependant:—Held: both questions were questions of fact, & there was evidence to support the findings of the county ct. judge, & no misdirection.—JOHNSON v. FLORENCE COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 201, C. A.

2737. —— Arsenical poisoning.]—Two workmen were employed as gardeners on a piece of land adjacent to a field where sheep were dipped. The dip used was a preparation containing arsenic, & it was proved that the grass & weeds on the ground where the men worked were discoloured by arsenic from the dip sprayed by the sheep as they shook themselves after being dipped. Both workmen were taken ill about the same time, with symptoms consistent with arsenical poisoning. Both were admitted to hospital, where their illness was diagnosed as arsenical poisoning. In each case the certifying surgeon certified that the workman was suffering from arsenical poisoning. At the hearing before the county ct. judge evidence was given by medical men on behalf of the workmen that the arsenical poisoning from which they suffered had been contracted from contact with arsenic from the sheep dip. The employer called no medical witness, but a research student in toxicology, who said that he was familiar with the symptoms of arsenical poisoning & was associated with many industries in which arsenic compounds were used, & gave evidence to contradict the medical evidence called for the workmen. The county ct. judge found that the poisoning was not due to the nature of the workmen's employment, & that it did not arise out of or in the course of the employment:—Held: (1) on the evidence the inference that the arsenical poisoning was due to the nature of the workmen's employment was conclusive, & there was no evidence to the contrary; (2) the opinion as to a medical matter given by a non-medical witness should not have been admitted.—NIGHTINGALE v. BIFFEN, HEWITT v. BIFFEN (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 358, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 5.—SERIOUS AND WILFUL MISCONDUCT.

A. In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1) (b).

2738. "Serious misconduct"—What amounts burnt.]—MANSON v. FORTH & CLYDE S.S. CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 921.—SCOT.

---

h. —— Displaced cartilage in knee.]—A workman, the cartilage of whose right knee had been previously displaced so often that it was liable to become displaced at any moment without any appreciable extrinsic cause, bent his right leg under him for the purposes of the work which he was doing, & the cartilage was displaced as a result of bending his knee. The work he was doing was ordinary everyday work, & the movement of his leg was usual & ordinary:—Held: the workman had sustained injury by accident, in respect that the displacement was not inevitable or designed, but was accidentally caused.—M'GUIRE v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1924] S. C. 752.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—A.

2738 i. "Serious misconduct"—What amounts to.]—Misconduct is not "serious" merely because the actual consequences in the particular case are to.]—(1) A workman was found fatally injured in a lift on his employers' premises without a load. Upon the lift was a notice that no one was allowed to use it except in charge of a load. There was no evidence as to the circumstances under which the workman entered the lift. In an application for compensation by the widow:—Held: (1) the burden of proving that the workman was guilty of "serious & wilful misconduct" within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), lay upon the employers; (2) there was no evidence of serious & wilful misconduct within the meaning of the Act; & appct. was entitled to compensation.

(3) In the expression "serious & wilful misconduct," the word "serious" applies to the misconduct itself & not to the actual consequences of it & the word "wilful" imports that the misconduct was deliberate & not merely a thoughtless act on the spur of the moment.—JOHNSON v. MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD., [1906] A. C. 409; 75 L. J. K. B. 868; 94 L. T. 828; 22 T. L. R. 565; 8 W. C. C. 10; 70 J. P Jo. 244, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Bist v. L. & S. W. Ry., [1907] A. C. 209. Refd. Bist v. L. & S. W. Ry., [1907] A. C. 209. As to (3) Refd. Casey v. Humphries (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 520. Generally, Refd. Robertson v. Allan (Liverpool & London) (1908), 77 L. J. K. B. 1072; Wemyss Coal Co. v. Symon (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 298. Mentd. Poad v. Scarborough Grdns., [1914] 3 K. B. 959.

2739. "Wilful misconduct"—What amounts to.]—JOHNSON v. MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD., No. 2738, ante.

2740. Onus of proof on employer.]—JOHNSON v. MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD., No. 2738, ante.

2741. Question of fact.]—RUMBOLL v. NUNNERY COLLIERY CO., No. 2743, post.

2742. ——.]—Applt., who was employed at a mid-working in a mine, called to the bottomer at the foot of the shaft to send up the cage. The latter signalled to the engineman to raise the cage. By the system of signalling in use in the mine, the engineman, on receiving a signal to raise the cage, was entitled, unless stopped by a further signal, to raise the cage to the pit head, without stopping at the mid-working. Applt., without ascertaining whether the cage had stopped or not, opened the gate fencing the shaft, pushed his hutch forward, & fell with it down the shaft & was injured. In opening the gate fencing the shaft before the cage was stopped at the mid-working, applt. committed a breach of a rule in operation in the mine. Applt. knew of the rule, & was warned regarding it only a few days before the accident occurred. In an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the arbitrator found that applt. had been guilty of "serious & wilful misconduct" within the meaning of s. 1 (1) (c), of the Act, & was consequently not entitled to compensation:—Held: the question was one of fact for the arbitrator & there was evidence to support his finding.

It is not the province of the ct. to lay down that the breach of a rule is primâ facie evidence of serious & wilful misconduct. That is a question purely of fact to be determined by the arbitrator, who must decide it for himself, & ought not to be affected by artificial presumptions of fact (LORD LOREBURN, C.).—GEORGE v. GLASGOW COAL CO., LTD., [1909] A. C. 123; 78 L. J. P. C. 47; 99 L. T. 782; 25 T. L. R. 57; 2 B. W. C. C. 125, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Casey v. Humphries (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 520; Smith v. Russell (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 278.

B. What Constitutes.

(a) Breach of Statutory Regulations.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (2).

2743. Not necessarily serious & wilful misconduct.]—A breach by workmen of the rules of a coal-mine which are authorised by statute does not necessarily involve serious & wilful misconduct, which is a question of fact to be determined by the arbitrator.—RUMBOLL v. NUNNERY COLLIERY CO. (1899), 80 L. T. 42; 63 J. P. 132; 43 Sol. Jo. 242; 1 W. C. C. 28, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Johnson v. Marshall, [1906] A. C. 409.

2744. Failure to comply with rules under Factory & Workshops Acts.]—Appct. for compensation was a girl of fourteen, who was engaged as a bottler in a soda water factory. While she was at work a bottle exploded in the machine, & a piece of glass struck & injured her right wrist, with the result that she was disabled for fourteen weeks. At the time of the accident she was wearing a glove on her left hand, but had no protection on the right as required by the special rules, under the Factory & Workshop Acts for the bottling of soda water, which were posted up. The employer set up that the accident was due to serious; the misconduct must be serious in itself.—HILL v. GRANBY CONSOLIDATED MINES, LTD. (1906), 12 B. C. R. 118; 4 W. L. R. 104.—CAN.

---

2738 ii. —— ——.]—DARNLEY v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1908), 14 B. C. R. 15; 2 B. W. C. C. 505.—CAN.

2738 iii. ——.]—Action by widow of workman killed in defts.' factory. Deceased was temporarily employed, could speak & understand, but not read & write English, & while so employed, although directed not to touch the elevator, was caught therein & was killed:—Held: the accident arose out of & in the course of the employment, but deceased was guilty of wilful & serious misconduct.—GRANICK v. BRITISH COLUMBIA SUGAR REFINERY CO. (B. C.) (1909), 10 W. L. R. 256.—CAN.

2738 iv. —— ——.]—MURPHY & SANDWITH v. COONEY (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 962.—IR.

2738 v. —— ——.]—Neither disobedience, carelessness, recklessness, nor negligence necessarily disentitle claimant to compensation if the workman, when he was injured, was doing the work for which he was employed.—MILLIN v. FOWLER, [1926] N. Z. L. R. 372.—N.Z.

2738 vi. —— ——.]—CONDRON v. GAVIN, PAUL & SONS, LTD. (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 29; 41 Sc. L. R. 33; 11 S. L. T. 383.—SCOT.

2738 vii. —— ——.]—A miner while riding on the top of a loaded hutch in the mine, in breach of one of the rules in force in the mine, was killed by the fall of a stone from the roof of the tunnel in which the hutch was running:—Held: although the miner was guilty of serious & wilful misconduct, his death was not "attributable" thereto within the Act, & his widow was not barred from claiming compensation.—GLASGOW COAL CO. v. SNEDDON (1905), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 485.—SCOT.

2738 viii. ——.]—Being drunk & unfit to work is serious & wilful misconduct on the part of the workman, within the Act.—M'GROARTY v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., LTD. (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 809.—SCOT.

2738 ix. —— ——.]—WALLACE v. GLENBOIG FIRE CLAY CO., [1907] S. C. 967.—SCOT.

2738 x. —— ——.]—LEISHMAN v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., [1910] S. C. 498; 47 Sc. L. R. 410; [1910] 1 S. L. T. 273; 3 B. W. C. C. 560.—SCOT.

2738 xi. —— ——.]—VICTORIA FALLS POWER CO., LTD. v. LLOYD, N.O., [1908] T. S. 1161.—S. AF.

2738 xii. —— ——.]—Misconduct which is deliberate, systematic, & in breach of orders, may be "serious & wilful misconduct" within the meaning of these words in Workmen's Compensation Act, even though the result be to endanger the safety of the wrongdoer alone, & not that of his fellow-workmen.—BERTHOLDI v. CENTRAL SOUTH AFRICAN RYS., [1910] T. P. D. 141.—S. AF.

2740 i. Onus of proof on employer.]—MOUCHEMORE v. LIGHT (1915), 17 W. A. L. R. 139.—AUS.

2740 ii. ——.]—The burden of proving that an accident is attributable solely to the neglect of a workman is upon his employers.—Re MCALONEY & WESTERN FUEL CO. (B. C.) (1906), 5 W. L. R. 163.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—B. (a).

2743 i. Not necessarily serious & wilful misconduct.]—MITCHELL v. WHITTON, [1907] S. C. 1267.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Right to compensation: Sub-sect. 5, B. (a), (b) & (c), & C.; sub-sect. 6. Sect. 6: Sub-sect. 1.]

appct.'s serious & wilful misconduct in not wearing protective gauntlets on both arms as required by the rules, & as she had been told to do by himself & the forewoman. The county ct. judge found that gauntlets were provided, that appct. knew she had to wear them, but that the forewoman whose duty it was to see that appct. wore them had allowed her to do the work without a gauntlet on her right hand & to disregard the rules, & only verbally told appct. to obey the rules to protect herself with the employer. The county ct. judge therefore held that the defence of serious & wilful misconduct had not been established:—Held: the ct. would not interfere with the decision of the county ct. judge.—CASEY v. HUMPHRIES (1913), 29 T. L. R. 647; 57 Sol. Jo. 716; 6 B. W. C. C. 520, C. A.

Breach of Coal Mine Regulations.]—See Sub-sect. 2, E. (b) iii., ante.

(b) Breach of Employer's Orders.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1) (b), (2).

2745. Leaning across machine in motion.]—Appct. was a lad who worked at a machine used to cut slits in the heads of screws. He had been frequently warned not to put his hand near the wheel while it was in motion. There was no guard on the wheel. A screw having fallen out on to the table before it was cut, he leaned over the machine to pick it up & replace it, & two of his fingers were cut off.

The county ct. judge found that though the lad was negligent, he was not "guilty of serious & wilful misconduct":—Held: the element of wilfulness did not enter at all into what the lad did, as he seemed to have acted on a sudden impulse, & therefore the award could be supported.—REEKS v. KYNOCH, LTD. (1901), 50 W. R. 113; 18 T. L. R. 34; 46 Sol. Jo. 48; 4 W. C. C. 14, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Johnson v. Marshall, [1906] A. C. 409.

2746. Neglect to employ guard to machine.]—A workman was employed in a factory at a circular saw which was driven by machinery. His duty was to hold the wood & guide it when it was being sawn. He was told on several occasions, both by his employer & by the factory inspector, to keep the guard upon the saw when it was in use. The object of the guard was to prevent the wood which was being sawn, if it was jerked up, from being caught by the teeth at the back of the saw & hurled about the workshop, to the danger of those at work there. The workman had worked for several years at circular saws before the guard was invented, & he had a great aversion to using a guard. Upon the day in question he intentionally did not place the guard upon the saw when using it, & the piece of wood which was being sawn jerked up & was hurled by the saw against him, & he was killed. The county ct. judge found that the injury to the workman was not attributable to his serious & wilful misconduct within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (2) (c), & made an award of compensation in favour of his widow:—Held: the injury was caused by the serious & wilful misconduct of the workman, & his widow was not entitled to compensation under the Act.—BROOKER v. WARREN (1906), 23 T. L. R. 201; 51 Sol. Jo. 171; 9 W. C. C. 26, C. A.

2747. ——.]—BREWER v. SMITH (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 651, C. A.

2748. Workmen ordered not to ride in lift without load — Riding without load.] — JOHNSON v. MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD., No. 2738, ante.

2749. Driver leaving engine while in motion to go to tender—In breach of well known rule.]—An engine driver left the foot plate of his engine & went on to the tender while the engine was in motion, in breach of a rule of the railway co. prohibiting the act & well known to him, & was killed by collision with a bridge. In a claim by the widow for compensation the county ct. judge found upon the evidence that there was nothing to justify the driver in going on to the tender at the time in question, & that his act amounted, in fact, to "serious & wilful misconduct," within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & made his award in favour of the co.:—Held: there was evidence upon which the judge might properly find as he did.—BIST v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO., [1907] A. C. 209; 76 L. J. K. B. 703; 96 L. T. 750; 23 T. L. R. 471; 51 Sol. Jo. 444; 9 W. C. C. 19, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. George v. Glasgow Coal Co. (1908), 1 B. W. C. C. 239; Casey v. Humphries (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 520. Reld. Williams v. Llandudno Coaching & Carriage Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 101; Bourton v. Beauchamp & Beauchamp (1919), 121 L. T. 196.

2750. Opening gate fencing shaft before cage stopped.]—GEORGE v. GLASGOW COAL CO., LTD., No. 2742, ante.

2751. Workman touching machine in motion.]—A boy, in disobedience to orders, was cleaning a machine in motion: his right hand was drawn into the machine, & the top joint of the first & third fingers torn off. The county ct. judge held that the injury was attributable to the serious & wilful misconduct of the workman, but that it resulted in serious & permanent disablement, & he therefore awarded compensation:—Held: the injury

---

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—B. (b).

2751 i. Workman touching machine in motion.]—A woman employed in a spinning mill was injured through attempting to clean a teaser card-machine, at which she was working, while it was in motion. It was the rule & practice of the factory, known to the woman that no cleaning of machinery was to be done unless the machinery were stopped:—Held: the injuries to the woman were attributable to her serious & wilful misconduct.—GUTHRIE v. BOASE SPINNING CO., LTD. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 769; 38 Sc. L. R. 483.—SCOT.

2751 ii. ——.]—M'DIARMID v. OGILVY BROTHERS, [1913] S. C. 1103.—SCOT.

2751 iii. ——.]—GAUNT v. BABCOCK & WILCOX, LTD., [1918] S. C. 14.—SCOT.

k. Explosives used contrary to instructions.]—RUSH v. GIBSON (1917), 19 W. A. L. R. 123.—AUS.

l. Riding on loaded cart.]—SMITH v. KALGOORLIE BOULDER FIREWOOD CO., LTD. (1918), 20 W. A. L. R. 54.—AUS.

m. Obedience to orders of "mucker boss."]—CERVIO v. GRANBY CONSOLIDATED MINING, SMELTING & POWER CO. (1910), 15 B. C. R. 192.—CAN.

n. Injury in freight lift.] — Deceased, a foreigner, but able to speak & understand, though not to read or write English, entered the employment of defts. at work in which he had had no previous experience. Before commencing work, a fellow labourer was cautioned by the foreman, in presence of deceased, not to allow the latter to use a freight lift. He nevertheless attempted to use it, & was cautioned not to do so. He was later in the day killed in the lift:—Held: he was not guilty of serious & wilful misconduct.—GRANICK v. BRITISH COLUMBIA SUGAR REFINERY CO. (1910), 14 B. C. R. 251; 15 B. C. R. 198; 44 S. C. R. 105.—CAN.

o. Remaining in place of danger—When blast fired.]—RUDLAND v. SMITH (1917), 50 N. S. R. 434; 33 D. L. R. 536.—CAN.

p. Fall through aperture — Aperture open contrary to notice.]—O'HALLORAN v. CHAMBERS & SON, LTD. (1914), 33 N. Z. L. R. 643.—N.Z.

q. Crossing stream contrary to orders.]—GIBSON v. MCKELVIE, [1925] N. Z. L. R. 351.—N.Z.

r. Injury caused by threshing machine.]—CALLAGHAN v. MAXWELL (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 420; 37 Sc. L. R. 313; 7 S. L. T. 339.—SCOT.

t. Defective condition of hoist — resulted in permanent disablement, & there was evidence on which the county ct. judge could find that the disablement was serious.—HOPWOOD v. OLIVE & PARTINGTON, LTD. (1910), 102 L. T. 790; 3 B. W. C. C. 357, C. A.

2752. ——.]—FOULKES v. ROBERTS, No. 2536, ante.

2753. ——.]—Appct., when working a machine, touched it whilst in motion, contrary to orders, & injured her hand, with the result that the first joint of the index finger of her left hand was amputated. The insurance co., acting on behalf of resps., in reply to a claim made by appct.'s solrs. for damages, stated in a letter dated May 26, 1923, "We are, however, prepared to admit liability under the Workmen's Compensation Acts, & have already instructed our assured to pay thereunder at the rate of £1 13. 11*d.* per week. Unless, therefore, you are prepared to advise your client to accept such weekly payment we must leave you to take what steps you deem advisable in her interests." On July 21, 1923, appct. issued a writ claiming damages for personal injuries in an action by her under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42). The county ct. judge dismissed the action on the ground that pltf. had been expressly forbidden to touch the machine whilst in motion. Application was then made for an award under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), which was refused on the ground that appct. had been guilty of wilful misconduct. Appct. appealed & relied on the letter admitting liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act:—Held: (1) the letter could not be used under the Workmen's Compensation Act proceedings as a complete admission of liability, as its purpose was completed at the date of the writ, & the employers were not estopped from resisting the claim for compensation; (2) the case, must however, go back for further hearing, as it was not shown that the county ct. judge had in mind whether the disablement was serious & permanent within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (c).—MALONEY v. PINK (E. & T.), LTD. (1923), 130 L. T. 500; 16 B. W. C. C. 217, C. A.

(c) Disregard of Warning of Danger.

2754. Collier warned of approaching tram journey.]—A collier whose lamp had gone out & who had been to the lamp station to obtain a light was obliged, in order to get back to where his work was, to pass along a way over which trams were hauled by a rope. On reaching the way he was told that a journey of trams was approaching. He proceeded, & when making for a manhole was injured in consequence of the rope slipping:—Held: there was no evidence of serious & wilful misconduct.—REES v. POWELL DUFFRYN STEAM COAL CO., LTD. (1900), 64 J. P. 164; 4 W. C. C. 17, n., C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. John v. Albion Coal Co. (1901), 65 J. P. 788.

2755. ——.]—A miner proceeding along the main haulage road of the mine when he was warned by a fellow workman to get into a manhole, as a journey of trams was approaching. He disregarded the warning & went on, with the result that he was overtaken by the trams & killed. The county ct. judge found that the accident was attributable to the serious & wilful misconduct of deceased man:—Held: there was evidence to support that finding.—JOHN v. ALBION COAL CO., LTD. (1901), 65 J. P. 788; 18 T. L. R. 27; 4 W. C. C. 15, C. A.

C. Serious and Permanent Disablement.

See Sub-sect. 6, post.

SUB-SECT. 6.—SERIOUS AND PERMANENT DISABLEMENT.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (1) (b), (2).

2756. What amounts to—Loss of finger joint.]—HOPWOOD v. OLIVE & PARTINGTON, LTD., No. 2751, ante.

2757. ——.]—A county ct. judge found the amputation of the top joint of the middle finger of the right hand of a machinist in the joinery trade to be serious & permanent disablement within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2):—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BREWER v. SMITH (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 651, C. A.

2758. ——.]—FOULKES v. ROBERTS, No. 2536, ante.

SECT. 6.—DEATH OR INCAPACITY RESULTING FROM THE INJURY.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

2759. Need not be the natural or probable consequence.]—(1) Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., para. 1 (a), prescribes a scale of compensation payable to the dependants of a workman "where death results from the injury":—Held: the dependants are entitled to compensation on that scale if death results in fact from the injury, even though at the time of the injury it could not be reasonably expected as the probable consequence thereof.

Workman forbidden to ascend thereby.]—LOGUE v. FULLERTON (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1006.—SCOT.

a. Jumping from quay to vessel.]—MARTIN v. FULLERTON & Co., [1908] S. C. 1030.—SCOT.

b. Jumping on train before train stops.]—M'WILLIAM v. GREAT NORTH OF SCOTLAND RY. CO., [1914] S. C. 453.—SCOT.

c. Paperhanger using wrong ladder.]—A workman who had been furnished by his employers with an 8 ft. ladder suitable for the purposes of paperhanging in a certain room, introduced & made use of a 6 ft. ladder, which was unsafe & which he was warned not to use. He was injured by slipping from this ladder:—Held: the action of the workman did not constitute "serious & wilful misconduct."—VERMEULEN v. HEYNE, [1913] App. D. 542.—S. AF.

d. Entering unsafe electric chamber.]—VAN BREDA v. VICTORIA FALLS & TRANSVAAL POWER CO., LTD., [1916] App. D. 325.—S. AF.

PART XIV. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—B. (c).

e. Repeated warnings by employer.]—ROWE v. REYNOLDS (1910), 12 W. A. L. R. 75.—AUS.

f. ——.]—Pltf. was accidentally injured while working for deft. in a machine-shop, under a foreman, applied for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act:—Held: the accident was the result of pltf.'s serious & wilful misconduct, the disobedience of an order in the face of repeated warnings; & the application failed.—CLAYTON v. HANBURY (1914), 27 W. L. R. 893; 17 D. L. R. 384.—CAN.

g. —— Spragging wheels.]—Some boys employed in steel works were allowed an interval of half an hour for rest between two jobs. During this interval they got into one of a number of waggons that were standing on a steeply inclined line of rails in the yard of the works. After the boys had got into the waggon, the waggons began to move down the incline, & one of the boys jumped off the waggon in order to sprag the wheels. While thus engaged he was caught by the sprag & being thrown under the wheels sustained injuries so that he died. The boys had no occasion to be near the waggons, & had repeatedly been warned not to go near them:—Held: the accident was attributable to the "serious & wilful misconduct" of the boy.—POWELL v. LANARKSHIRE STEEL CO. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1039.—SCOT.

S.ct. 6.—Death or incapacity resulting from the injury: Sub-sects. 1, 2, 3 & 4.]

(2) If the chain of causation is broken by a novus actus interveniens so that the old cause goes & a new one is substituted for it, that is a new act which gives a fresh origin to the after-consequences (COLLINS, M.R.).—DUNHAM v. CLARE, [1902] 2 K. B. 292; 71 L. J. K. B. 683; 86 L. T. 751; 66 J. P. 612; 50 W. R. 596; 18 T. L. R. 645; 4 W. C. C. 102, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Ystradowen Colliery Co. v. Griffiths, [1909] 2 K. B. 533; Taylorson v. Framwellgate Coal & Coke Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 56. Folld. Saddington v. Inslip Iron Co. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184. Refd. Bellamy v. Humphries (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 53; Shaw (Glasgow) v. Macfarlane (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 382; Jones v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 113; Coltness Iron Co. v. Brownlee (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 462. As to (2) Apld. Mutter, Howey v. Thomson (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 424. Consd. Laverick v. Gray (1919), 121 L. T. 289; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331. Apld. Williams v. Gralgola Merthyr Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 227. Consd. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279. Refd. Brown v. Kent, [1913] 3 K. B. 624; Law v. Baird (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 846; Doolan v. Hope (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 671. Generally, Mentd. The Amerika, [1914] P. 167.

2760. —— Must in fact be the result.]—Where a workman receives personal injury from an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & disease ensues which incapacitates him for work, the incapacity may be the result of the injury within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. 1., para. 1 (b), even though it is not the natural result of the injury. The question to be determined on a claim for compensation is whether the incapacity is in fact the result of the injury.—YSTRADOWEN COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. GRIFFITHS, [1909] 2 K. B. 533; 78 L. J. K. B. 1044; 100 L. T. 869; 25 T. L. R. 622; 2 B. W. C. C. 357, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Alloa Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398; Brown v. Kent, [1913] 3 K. B. 624; Saddington v. Inslip Iron Co. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184; Carr v. Port Glasgow, Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331; Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279.

2761. No liability for incapacity not result of injury.]—A workman was being paid compensation under an agreement in respect of an injury, caused by ricking his neck when lifting an iron girder on Oct. 7. He subsequently underwent an operation for middle-ear disease. The employers applied to review & terminate payments, on the ground that the man was no longer incapacitated by injury due to the accident on Oct. 7. The man had himself attributed his condition, when he went to the hospital, to some accident which occurred on Oct. 4, & in evidence he simply referred to an accident in Oct. The medical evidence at the arbitration turned on the man's then incapacity, but all the doctors agreed that it could not be attributed to the accident on Oct. 7. The medical assessor examined the man, & reported that he was still incapacitated as a result of the accident on Oct. 7. Upon this the county ct. judge dismissed the employers' application:—Held: the evidence showed that any incapacity the man was suffering from was not due to the accident of Oct. 7, for which alone the employers had agreed to be liable, but to some other cause, & consequently, the employers' application to review should be granted & payments terminated.—BOOTH v. CARTER (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 106, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CAUSE OF DEATH OR INCAPACITY A QUESTION OF FACT.

2761a. General rule.]—A gas fitter inhaled some coal gas, & three days later suffered from paralysis due to cerebral hæmorrhage, from which he died shortly after. Seven months previously he had had a transient attack of paralysis from the same cause. After his death his widow contended that the death was due to the gas poisoning, but the county ct. judge decided against her:—Held: it was a question of fact for the county ct. judge.—DEAN v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. CO. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 351, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Docherty (1917), 11 B. W. C. C. 311.

2762. ——.]—A workman knocked his elbow at work, & afterwards suffered from eczema in the forearm. On medical evidence the judge found that the eczema was not caused by the knock, & awarded for the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—SWINBANK v. BELL BROTHERS, LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 48, C. A.

2763. ——.]—A workman met with an accident to his arm, he was taken to a hospital, his arm put in splints, & he was sent home. He complained to his wife of pain in the right side the next day, & on the day following he again went to the hospital, where he was retained as suffering from an acute attack of pneumonia from which he died two days later. The county ct. judge, sitting with an assessor, found that death did not result from the injury:—Held: this was a question of fact, & consequently not open to appeal.—CAMERON v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 416, C. A.

2764. ——.]—A workman died four years after an accident. Two doctors attributed the death to the accident; two to other causes. The county ct. judge, taking into consideration the length of time between the accident & death, found that death did not result from the injury:—Held: there was no misdirection.—TAYLORSEN v. FRAMWELLGATE COAL & COKE CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 56, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Comery v. New Hucknall Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 462.

2765. ——.]—A workman applied for arbitration five years after he had burnt his arm in an accident. He had been working at light work but had refused to go back to his old work on the ground that he was still incapacitated as a result of the accident. The county ct. judge, following the answers given to some questions referred to the medical assessor sitting with him, found that, although the man was incapacitated, the incapacity was not the result of the accident:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—HUGGINS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 80, C. A.

2766. ——.]—(1) When a claimant proves an injury by accident, & then a continuous physical condition set up by the injury, & then a further injury which may be the result either of the physical condition or of novus actus interveniens, the onus of proof shifts to the employer to show that the further injury is not the result of the accident, but of novus actus interveniens.

(2) A miner had his back severely crushed by a fall of coal. He received compensation for six months, when he returned to the light work of painting wagons. He did this work regularly for eighteen months. He was then taken ill with tuberculosis of the lungs, & died of this disease just over two years after the accident. His dependants claimed compensation for his death :—Held : the death did not result from the accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. 1 (1) (a).—COMERY v. NEW HUCKNALL COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 462 ; 120 L. T. 456 ; 12 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

2761a l. General rule.]—EUMAN v. DALZIEL & CO., [1913] S. C. 246; 50 Sc. L. R. 143; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 464; 6 B. W. C. C. 900.—SCOT.

2767. ——.]—A fitter, aged thirty, was struck on the right cheek while at work by a broken axle shaft. After having the wound dressed, he returned to work the same day, & remained at work for four months, when he had a stroke & died a few hours later. Death was found by post mortem examination to have been due to hæmorrhage into the brain. The county ct. judge said as a layman he could not account for the man's death apart from the accident, but he accepted the medical evidence for the employers that this accident could in no way be connected with the cause of death. It was alleged that this medical evidence constituted "surprise" & that appct. had no opportunity of rebutting it :—Held : there was no ground for saying that applt. had been taken by surprise. If applt. desired to supplement the evidence, the proper course would have been to have applied to the county ct. judge for an adjournment.

I am not at all satisfied that, looking at the limited jurisdiction given to a Ct. of Appeal in workmen's compensation cases, it would have been possible to order a new trial upon the ground of surprise (LORD DUNEDIN).—GOLDEN v. SWIFT OF COVENTRY, LTD. (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 488 ; 131 L. T. 68 ; 40 T. L. R. 315 ; 68 Sol. Jo. 438 ; 17 B. W. C. C. 1, H. L.

2768. ——.]—A workman met with an accident in Jan., & became incapacitated in July. In Aug. the employers agreed to pay full compensation as from the commencement of the incapacity. On Oct. 14, they sent the workman a copy of a certificate of a medical practitioner that the incapacity was no longer due to the accident, together with a notice of their intention to end the weekly payment. The workman did not send any report disagreeing with the certificate, & the employers ended the payments. The workman applied for arbn., & the county ct. judge found that the incapacity from which the workman was then suffering was not due to the accident, but to a tuberculous condition of the workman :—Held : the employers were not estopped by their recognition of liability & agreement to pay compensation, from ending the weekly payments in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 72), s. 14, & the cause of the incapacity was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—DAVIES v. MIDLAND RAILWAY CARRIAGE & WAGGON CO., LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 69, C. A.

2769. Fraudulent claim.]—It is the duty of a county ct. judge, when sitting as an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to state the grounds of his decision.

A workman injured his eye many years ago & lost the vision entirely. Ten years later he again hurt the same eye with a jet of steam. He received compensation for a few weeks, & did some work. The eye was removed ten months after the alleged injury by the steam, & he claimed compensation for incapacity resulting from such injury. The county ct. judge refused to award compensation, &, at the request of the Ct. of Appeal, stated his reasons to be that he entirely disbelieved the man's statements ; that the injury by steam had in no way affected the man's vision, which had been destroyed many years before ; & that the case was a fraudulent attempt to get money out of the employers :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding.—MARSHALL v. PRICE, WILLS & REEVES (1914), 30 T. L. R. 248 ; 7 B. W. C. C. 385, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 3.—PROOF.

See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 19 et seq.

Admissibility of evidence—Bodily feelings.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 70–71, Nos. 415–417.

—— Admissions.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 80, 81, 82, Nos. 489, 515.

—— Statement in presence of master.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 80, No. 478.

—— Statement by deceased person.] — See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 114, No. 871.

SUB-SECT. 4.—ONUS OF PROOF.

2770. Death or incapacity due to accident—Lies on workman.]—CHARLES v. WALKER, LTD., No. 2805, post.

2771. —— ——.]—COMERY v. NEW HUCKNALL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2766, ante.

2772. —— ——.]—Applt., a domestic servant, cut her finger while slicing bacon in the course of her employment. She was incapacitated & was paid compensation by her employer until her hand was healed. Applt. then took proceedings for compensation & the county ct. judge found that her hand had healed & that she was fit to resume her work. He also found, on the evidence, that if she was incapacitated at all, her incapacity was due to mental defects which were not shown to have been the result of the injury to her finger. He accordingly made an award in favour of the employer :—Held : the onus lay on applt. to show that her incapacity was caused by the accident & she had failed to satisfy that onus ; there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection. —JOY v. MORTON (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 33, C. A.

2773. Existence of novus actus interveniens—Lies on employer.]—Where a workman has been injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & claims compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the onus of proving that the existing incapacity is no longer due to the accident, but is attributable to a novus actus interveniens, such as improper medical treatment owing to an incorrect diagnosis, is on the employer.

A deal carrier met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, causing injury to one of his knees. He was treated at a

---

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 4.

2770 i. Death or incapacity due to accident—Lies on workman.]—BODEAN v. CHAGNON (Que.) (1917), 37 D. L. R. 392.—CAN.

2770 ii. —— ——.]—GRANT v. GLASGOW & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO., [1907] S. C. 187 ; 45 Sc. L. R. 128 ; 15 S. L. T. 585 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 17.—SCOT.

2770 iii. —— ——.]—MALONE v. CAYZER, IRVINE & CO., [1908] S. C. 479 ; 45 Sc. L. R. 361 ; 15 S. L. T. 837 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 27.—SCOT.

2773 i. Existence of novus actus interveniens—Lies on employer.]—REMNANT v. DEMPSKY, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 6122.—N.Z.

2773 ii. —— ——.]—BORLAND v. WATSON, GOW & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 15.—SCOT.

Sect. 6.—Death or incapacity resulting from the injury: Sub-sect. 5, B. (a) & (b); sub-sect. 6.]

Medical evidence was given attributing his incapacity to "stiffness, hernia, prostate, & old age." The county ct. judge said he need not consider whether the accident could have caused partial incapacity since he found that the workman was totally incapacitated by a disease in no way connected with the accident, & made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: this was misdirection; a workman is not disentitled to compensation, during disability from the injury by accident, merely because he becomes totally incapacitated by a disease unconnected with the accident. Case sent back to assess compensation for incapacity, if any, resulting from the injury by accident.—STOWELL v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD. (1923), 128 L. T. 823; 16 B. W. C. C. 46, C. A.

2788. —— ——.] WILLIAMS v. GRAIGOLA MERTHYR CO., LTD., No. 2804, post.

——.]—See, also, Sub-sect. 7, H., post.

2789. Incapacity due to accident ended—Illness supervening.]—A workman fell & injured his back. He received compensation under an award until he was able to do light work, when the compensation was reduced. After some time the employers applied to terminate. There was medical evidence that the man had entirely recovered from the effects of the injury, but that tubercular disease of the lungs & bladder from which the man suffered prevented him working, though it could in no way be connected with the accident. The county ct. judge, sitting with a medical assessor, terminated the liability:—Held: there was sufficient evidence upon which to terminate.—WESTCOTT & LAWRENCE LINES, LTD. v. PRICE (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 430, C. A.

2790. —— ——.]—Upon an application by employers for the termination of a weekly payment made by them on the footing of total incapacity to a workman who had lost an eye by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, the arbiter found that the incapacity had ceased & that the workman was fit to resume his former work; that since the accident incipient cataract had appeared in his other eye; & that the cataract was not due to the accident:—Held: on these findings the arbiter was right in ending the compensation.—HARGREAVE v. HAUGHHEAD COAL CO., LTD., [1912] A. C. 319; 81 L. J. P. C. 167; 106 L. T. 468; 56 Sol. Jo. 379; 5 B. W. C. C. 445, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Law v. Baird (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 846; Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8. Folld. Hart v. Cory, [1916] 1 K. B. 172. Apld. Leverington v. Dodman, [1916] 1 K. B. 964. Consd. Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 701. Apld. Lomax v. Sutton Heath & Lea Green Collieries (1926), 135 L. T. 564. Refd. Dempsey v. Caldwell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 823; Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665; Watson v. Beardmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 913; Wardell v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 124; Baynton v. Manganese Bronze & Brass Co. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 59.

2791. —— ——.]—The workman, a fitter, met with an accident. Some hot sparks flew into his eye. A doctor who saw him a month after the accident said that his eye was then practically well. Later, his eye became worse, & he was seen from time to time by the doctor, who treated him. The doctor stated in evidence that the condition of his eye on those later occasions pointed to some constitutional disease. Another doctor who examined appct.'s eye five months after the accident, said that the condition of the eye at that time was consistent with the accident. The medical assessor who advised the county ct. judge was of opinion that the injury from which appct. was suffering was not the result of the accident. The county ct. judge found as facts that appct. met with a slight accident to his eye arising out of & in the course of his employment; that he had recovered from the effects of that accident, & that the incapacity from which he was suffering was not caused by the accident. He made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings, & no misdirection.—TUCKER v. MANGANESE BRONZE & BRASS CO. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 38, C. A.

2792. —— Inflammation in second eye following injury to first.]—A workman met with an accident in his employers' colliery whereby he lost the use of one of his eyes. Compensation was accordingly paid to the workman by the employers. Several months afterwards the workman was employed again by the same employers, not in the mine but on its surface. About a year later the workman applied for an award of compensation. Upon that application the county ct. judge made a suspensory award of 1*d.* per week, the employers not objecting to an award of that nature. The workman went back to work again as a collier until the sight of his uninjured eye became affected & he had to take work on the surface of the mine once more. Ultimately he applied for a review of the weekly payment of 1*d.* The county ct. judge, sitting with a medical referee, found that, although the workman was suffering from inflammation of the optic nerve of the uninjured eye, yet there was no connection between that & the accident that had originally occurred; that the workman was not therefore suffering from incapacity for work as a result of that accident; & that there could be no review of the weekly payment of 1*d.* The workman appealed:—Held: the county ct. judge was right in declining to review the weekly payment; but if a further injury should arise either by the breaking out of inflammation in the injured eye or by injury to the other eye through sympathy, then under the existing suspensory award it would be open to the workman to apply again for a review.—HART v. CORY BROTHERS, LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 172; 85 L. J. K. B. 116; 114 L. T. 25; 60 Sol. Jo. 89; 9 B. W. C. C. 32, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Leverington v. Dodman, [1916] 1 K. B. 964. Mentd. Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8.

2793. —— ——.]—A collier earning 32*s.* per week lost his right eye in 1915 & received compensation, but in 1916 was again employed by his former employers as a dataller at 42*s.* per week, so that no compensation was payable. He continued as a dataller until Oct. 1925, when he had to cease work owing to the loss of the sight of his other eye from disease in no way connected with the accident. At that time the average earnings of a collier were 55*s.* per week & those of a dataller 43*s.* 9*d.* per week. The county ct. judge held he was entitled to half the difference between the average weekly earnings of a dataller & those of a collier, namely 5*s.* 7½*d.* a week:—Held: Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (3), no compensation was payable prior to Oct. 1925, & the employers could not be made liable thereafter by the happening of an event in no way connected with the employment.—LOMAX v. SUTTON HEATH & LEA GREEN COLLIERIES, LTD. (1926), 135 L. T. 564; 19 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

(b) Particular Cases.

2794. Debilitated condition due to accident—Rendering bronchitis fatal.]—A workman met with an accident. After recovering from the direct effects of the accident, he did not regain his normal health, but continued in a weak & debilitated state. He eventually died thirteen months after the accident from bronchitis following influenza. The county ct. judge found that the bronchitis proved fatal because of the condition to which the accident had reduced deceased, & that death resulted from the injury:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—THOBURN v. BEDLINGTON COAL CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 128, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Comery v. New Hucknall Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 462.

2795. Incapacity impossible from illness alone.]—A workman met with an accident in the course of & arising out of his employment which made it necessary to remove a cartilage from his knee. After the operation, which appeared successful, he caught scarlet fever while in a provincial hospital & was removed to an isolation hospital. While he was there, the wound became unhealthy & suppurated. Another operation was then found necessary which caused the knee to become permanently stiff & immovable. There was evidence that the scarlet fever alone could not have caused the incapacity, if there had been no accident, but that it had aggravated the effects of the accident:—Held: the incapacity was caused by the accident, & the workman was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—BROWN v. KENT (GEORGE), LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 624; 82 L. J. K. B. 1039; 109 L. T. 293; 29 T. L. R. 702; 6 B. W. C. C. 745, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Saddington v. Inslip Iron Co. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184. Foll. Laverick v. Gray (1919), 121 L. T. 289. Distd. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279. Refd. Comery v. New Hucknall Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 462. Mentd. Marshall v. Clayton & Shuttleworth, [1919] 1 K. B. 509.

2796. Lapse of time—Death from tuberculosis—Two years after accident.]—COMERY v NEW HUCKNALL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2766, ante.

Nervous diseases.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, C. (b), ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—TWO ACCIDENTS.

2797. Claim in respect of first accident—Whether second accident result of first.]—In 1902 a workman employed by applts. was injured by an accident which resulted in the loss of the index finger of his right hand. He was totally incapacitated for work for six months, during which period he received compensation. He was then given lighter work by applts. at his original wages. In 1920, while still in the same employment, he met with a further injury to his hand, which according to medical evidence was not the result of the original accident. Being again totally incapacitated for work, he claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in respect of the accident of 1902. The county ct. judge held that the accident of 1902 was a contributing cause of the incapacity & awarded compensation:—Held: on appeal, the county ct. judge had taken a wrong view of the law, & the workman was not entitled to compensation in respect of the original accident.—NODEN v. GALLOWAYS, LTD., [1912] 1 K. B. 46; 81 L. J. K. B. 28; 105 L. T. 567; 28 T. L. R. 5; 55 Sol. Jo. 838; 5 B. W. C. C. 7, C. A.

Annotations:—Appld. Roberts v. Broughton & Plas Power Colliery Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 186. Foll. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279.

2798. ——— ———.]—A charwoman claimed compensation for an injured knee alleged to have been caused by a fall on her employers' office staircase. She informed the caretaker the same day that she had slipped & twisted her leg. She, however, was able to do some further work, sweeping, before she left the office. The next day she went to work but limped, & on returning home she fell on her own staircase & fractured her knee cap. No notice whatever was given to the employers until three weeks later, when it was alleged that the fracture at home was the result of the fall at the office. The county ct. judge found that this was in fact so. He also found that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay in notice:—Held: there was evidence to support the first finding, but none to support the second.—HODGSON v. ROBINS, HAY, WATERS & HAY (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 232, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279.

2799. — — ———.]—The workman, a miner, met with an accident on July 4, 1924, by which his right knee was injured & he was incapacitated from work. He received full compensation until Aug. 19, 1921, when he returned to work. He continued in employment until Apr. 6, 1925, on which date he slipped at his home & injured the same knee. He was unable to work for nine weeks, & claimed compensation. The county ct. judge found that although the workman had a knee liable to slip, the second accident was not directly caused by the first, & the man's disability resulted from this second accident. He accordingly made an award in favour of the employers, holding that the accident causing the incapacity did not arise out of & in the course of the man's employment:—Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—HUTCHINSON v. KIVETON PARK COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1926] 1 K. B. 279; 95 L. J. K. B. 531; 134 L. T. 423; 18 B. W. C. C. 508, C. A.

2800. —— Termination of injury caused by first accident—Workman as well as before second accident.]—A workman was permanently injured. His employers paid him compensation for some time, & then gave him light work. He had another accident, & had to give up the light work. The employers paid further compensation for some months, & then stopped. The county ct. judge found that the man was as well as he had been when he was working at the light work previously, & terminated the payments:—Held: there was misdirection, & the case must be remitted to decide what incapacity remained from the original injury.—WILKINSON v. FRODINGHAM IRON & STEEL CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 200, C. A.

2801. Claim in respect of second accident—Incapacity must be caused by second accident.]—A carman ten years ago received a blow on the temple which injured his eye so much that he could only perceive hand movements in front of it, rendering it useless for many purposes. On June 22, 1909, this same eye was struck by his horse's tail & inflammation ensued. The eye was removed in hospital. The county ct. judge awarded compensation, holding that his incapacity

---

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 6.

2797 i. Claim in respect of first accident—Whether second accident result of first.]—BOYD v. NAPIER HARBOUR BOARD, [1919] N. Z. L. R. 353.—N.Z.

2797 ii. —— ———.]—GILMOUR v. GARRALLAN COAL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 736.—SCOT.

Sect. 6.—Death or incapacity resulting from the injury: Sub-sects. 6 & 7, A., B. & C. (a) & (b).]

for work was caused by the second injury. On appeal it was contended for the employer that the medical evidence showed that the eye was removed owing to the first injury, & that therefore the incapacity did not arise from the second accident: —Held: the county ct. judge's decision was correct.—MARTIN v. BARNETT (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 146, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—NEW CAUSE SUPERVENING.

A. In General.

2802. Old cause must cease—Substituted cause giving fresh origin to after consequences.]—DUNHAM v. CLARE, No. 2759, ante.

2803. Old cause continuing—New cause equally resulting in incapacity.]—A workman who has brought himself within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by proving that he has sustained personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & that incapacity has resulted from the injury, is not disentitled to compensation under the Act by reason of some supervening infirmity, not due to the accident, which has equally resulted in his incapacity. —HARWOOD v. WYKEN COLLIERY CO., [1913] 2 K. B. 158; 82 L. J. K. B. 414; 108 L. T. 283; 29 T. L. R. 290; 57 Sol. Jo. 300; 6 B. W. C. C. 225, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. McNally v. Furness, Withy, [1913] 3 K. B. 605. Distd. Lomax v. Sutton Heath & Lea Green Collieries (1926), 135 L. T. 564. Refd. Lewis v. Wrexham & Acton Collieries (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 518; Ling v. De Dion Bouton, [1920] 1 K. B. 88; Murray v. Portland Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 262; Stowell v. Ellerman Lines (1923), 128 L. T. 823.

2804. —— ——.]—A miner was receiving treatment for sub-cutaneous cellulitis, miner's beat knee, an industrial disease numbered 19 in the extended Sched. III. of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). His wife applied a poultice of cow manure to the knee. Two days later, the knee being worse, the patient's doctor, in ignorance of the application of the poultice of cow manure, lanced the knee. Tetanus set in & the patient died. In arbitration proceedings commenced by the widow the county ct. judge found that the death was due to tetanus germs, from the manure poultice, which had entered the knee through the opening made by the lance. He found also that there was no evidence that the condition of the knee, which made lancing advisable, was brought about by the manure poultice, the only effect of the poultice being to produce germs on the knee. He, therefore, held that the death was caused by the disease within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8, & that it must therefore be treated as having been caused by an accident arising out of & in the course of the man's employment, & he made an award in favour of appct. The employers appealed:—Held: applying the test applicable in cases where there is a novus actus interveniens, laid down by LORD COLLINS in Dunham v. Clare, No. 2759, ante, the facts did not establish a new cause of death in the sense that the old cause was removed & a new cause substituted; the act of the wife did not put an end to the old cause, but supervened; the county ct. judge had properly directed himself, & the appeal must be dismissed.—WILLIAMS v. GRAIGOLA MERTHYR CO., LTD. (1924), 132 L. T. 227; 69 Sol. Jo. 9; 17 B. W. C. C. 202, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B 279.

—— ——.]—See, also, Sub-sect. 5, B. (a), ante.

B. Death from Surgical Operation.

2805. Death under anæsthetic—Cause of death must be proved.]—A workman received an injury in the course of his employment which necessitated the amputation of one of his fingers. He was put under anæsthetics & the finger was amputated. As he was recovering from the effects of the anæsthetic the surgeons decided to remove a bad tooth of which the workman had complained; further anæsthetics were administered, & an unsuccessful attempt was made to remove the tooth. The workman was then removed to a ward, & shortly afterwards he died. In a claim for compensation by his widow the county ct. judge held on the evidence that the workman died from failure of respiration caused by the administration of an anæsthetic, that it was at least as probable that his death resulted solely from a spasm induced by an attempt to swallow oozing blood in his mouth as that it resulted from the anæsthetic administered for the first operation, & consequently that the widow had not discharged the onus which rested upon her of proving that the workman's death resulted from his injury by the accident. He therefore refused to award compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The widow appealed: —Held: the county ct. judge had arrived at a right conclusion.—CHARLES v. WALKER, LTD. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 609; 2 B. W. C. C. 5, C. A.

2806. —— Test whether operation a reasonable step—To obviate consequences of accident.]—Where a workman is injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & death ensues from an operation consequent thereon, the test of the question whether death was caused by the accident so as to entitle his dependants to compensation is whether in the circumstances the operation was a reasonable step to be taken to obviate the consequences of the accident.

A workman met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment whereby his hand was badly lacerated. A competent surgeon proposed, instead of amputating the hand by means of a double operation, to graft skin on it which would completely preserve the hand. An anæsthetic was properly administered at each stage of the operation, but on the second occasion death unexpectedly ensued. Upon an application by the widow under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge found that death was caused not by the accident, but by the administration of the anæsthetic, & held that the employers were not liable:—Held: the county ct. judge had misdirected himself in not applying his mind to the question whether deceased had acted reasonably, & the widow was entitled to compensation.—SHIRT v. CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., [1909] 2 K. B. 51; 78 L. J. K. B. 528; 100 L. T. 740; 25 T. L. R. 451; 53 Sol. Jo. 430; 2 B. W. C. C. 342, C. A.

C. Refusal to Undergo Surgical Operation.

(a) In General.

2807. Right to compensation after refusal—Continued incapacity due to refusal.]—A seaman on board ship, having injured his finger as the result of an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, refused to undergo a slight operation proposed by the ship's doctor. After his discharge he was compelled to have his finger amputated. Upon an application by him for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge found that appct. acted unreasonably in refusing to submit to the operation proposed by the ship's doctor, but, having regard to the conflict of medical testimony, was unable to come to any conclusion upon the question whether the operation would have saved the finger:—Held: the employers had failed to discharge the onus which lay upon them of proving that the loss of the finger was due not to the accident, but to the refusal to submit to the operation, & appct. was entitled to compensation.—MARSHALL v. ORIENT STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., [1910] 1 K. B. 79; 79 L. J. K. B. 204; 101 L. T. 584; 26 T. L. R. 70; 54 Sol. Jo. 64; 3 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Bower v. Meggitt & Jones (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 463. Consd. Saddington v. Inslip Iron Co. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 184. Refd. Walsh v. Lock (Newland) (1914), 110 L. T. 452; Marshall v. Clayton & Shuttleworth, [1919] 1 K. B. 509; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331; Fitzwilliam's Collieries v. Crossley (1925), 133 L. T. 495.

2808. —— —— Depends on reasonableness of refusal.]—The question whether a workman who has met with an accident & refuses to submit to a surgical operation is entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), beyond the period when he might have been expected to recover from the effects of the accident if he had submitted to the operation depends on the question whether his refusal is in the circumstances reasonable; & where the operation is of a serious character, & the workman, in good faith, follows the advice of his own doctor, whose honesty & competency are not impeached, he cannot be said to be acting unreasonably, although on the balance of the medical testimony given at the hearing the county ct. judge may find that the operation was one which might reasonably & properly have been performed.—TUTTON v. MAJESTIC (OWNERS), [1909] 2 K. B. 54; 78 L. J. K. B. 530; 100 L. T. 644; 25 T. L. R. 482; 53 Sol. Jo. 447; 2 B. W. C. C. 346, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Marshall v. Orient Steam Navigation Co., [1918] 1 K. B. 79. Consd. O'Neill v. Brown (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 428. Refd. Higgs & Hill v. Unicume, [1913] 1 K. B. 595; Walsh v. Locke (Newland) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 117; Fitzwilliam's Collieries v. Crossley (1925), 133 L. T. 495.

2809. —— —— ——.]—The refusal by a workman to undergo a surgical operation must be reasonable, or he will not be entitled to continue to receive compensation from his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—PADDINGTON BOROUGH COUNCIL v. STACK (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 402, C. A.

2810. Onus of proof—Continued incapacity due to refusal.]—MARSHALL v. ORIENT STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2807, ante.

2811. —— ——.]—In proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the burden of proof is on the employer to show that the workman's incapacity is due to his unreasonable refusal to undergo a surgical operation which might materially improve his condition.—FIFE COAL CO. v. CANT (1920), 90 L. J. P. C. 69; 124 L. T. 545; 65 Sol. Jo. 204; 13 B. W. C. C. 449, H. L.

2812. —— Reasonableness of refusal.]—EARL FITZWILLIAM'S COLLIERIES v. CROSSLEY, No. 2815, post.

(b) Reasonableness of Refusal.

2813. Question of fact.]—A workman, after being for some long period in receipt of compensation, refused to undergo an operation. On an application to review, the employers' doctors were unanimous as to the advisability & as to the strong probability of the success of the suggested operation. The workman called two doctors, whose opinions disagreed:—Held: the finding of the county ct. judge that this workman was not unreasonable, was a fact which could not be upset on appeal.—RUABON COAL CO. v. THOMAS (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 32, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Walsh v. Locke (Newland) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 117.

2814. ——.]—A bricklayer's labourer injured his hand. In June, 1914, he was awarded 7*s.* a week as partially incapacitated from a stiff finger & told that a slight operation would cure him. He made no attempt to have the operation. In Aug. he was called to the colours & received the pay, & his wife the separation allowance of a soldier.. In Jan. 1915, the employers applied for an order to terminate the payment of 7*s.* a week on the ground that the man had recovered, or alternatively if not that he was unreasonable in not undergoing the operation. The county ct. judge found in favour of the employers on both grounds & terminated the payments:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—DOLAN & SON v. WARD (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 514, C. A.

2815. ——.]—The workman as the result of an accident on Apr. 11, 1922, had the little finger of his left hand amputated & received a weekly payment as compensation. In May, 1924, a reference was made to the medical referee, who reported that the workman was able to do certain work on the screens but not his old work as boilersmith, that the incapacity was due to the accident, that there remained a painful scar on the stump & "he will need a small surgical operation to remove this incapacity." The employers asked for a review, & at the hearing in Nov. 1924, & again in Jan. 1925, medical advisers of the workman said an operation would do no good, & the workman for that reason declined to undergo it. The employers alleged that the continued incapacity of the workman was due to his unreasonable refusal to undergo the operation. The county ct. judge found that the employers had failed to prove that the refusal of the workman to undergo an operation was unreasonable, but after making an award of a weekly payment of 4*s.* 6*d.* suspended the payments until further order in view of the medical referee's report which, by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (15), was said to be final:—Held: the certificate of the

---

v. MUTTER, HOWEY & CO., [1913] S. C. 619.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 7.—C. (a).

2807 i. Right to compensation after refusal—Continued incapacity due to refusal.]—O'NEILL v. ROPNER & CO. (1908), 42 I. L. T. 3; 2 B. W. C. C. 334.—IR.

2807 ii. —— ——.]—DONNELLY v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1908] S. C. 536; 45 Sc. L. R. 394; 15 S. L. T. 799; 1 B. W. C. C. 95.—SCOT.

2807 iii. —— ——.]—O'NEILL v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 653; 50 Sc. L. R. 450; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 210; 6 B. W. C. C. 428.—SCOT.

Sect. 6.—Death or incapacity resulting from the injury: Sub-sect. 7, C. (b), D., E., F. & G.]

medical referee was not final & conclusive in so far as it dealt with matters of cure. There was evidence to support the finding that the refusal to undergo the operation was not unreasonable & there was therefore no proper ground for suspending the weekly payments.

There is no authority for suspending the payment of compensation even when the workman does unreasonably refuse to have an operation. The true inference in such a case is that the incapacity is due, not to the accident, but to the refusal of the operation, & the proper course in such a case is not to suspend, but to terminate the compensation (ATKINS, L.J.).—EARL FITZWILLIAM'S COLLIERIES v. CROSSLEY (1925), 133 L. T. 495; 18 B. W. C. C. 109, C. A.

2816. Operation attended by risk.]—Incapacity may none the less result from an injury, should the workman refuse to undergo a surgical operation which, though attended with risk, would probably be successful.—ROTHWELL v. DAVIES (1903), 19 T. L. R. 423; 47 Sol. Jo. 470; 5 W. C. C. 141, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Tutton v. S.S. Majestic, [1909] 2 K. B. 51. Distd. Warneken v. Moreland, [1909] 1 K. B. 184.

2817. Reasonable & safe operation.]—Where a workman refuses to undergo a reasonable & safe operation which will relieve or remove his incapacity, his continued inability to work at his trade is the result of his refusal of remedial treatment, & not the result of the original accident, & consequently he is not entitled to further compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—WARNCKEN v. MORELAND (R.) & SON, LTD., [1909] 1 K. B. 181; 78 L. J. K. B. 332; 100 L. T. 12; 25 T. L. R. 120; 53 Sol. Jo. 134; 2 B. W. C. C. 350, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Tutton v. S.S. Majestic, [1909] 2 K. B. 54. Apld. Marshall v. Orient Steam Navigation Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 79; Walsh v. Lock (Newland) (1913), 110 L. T. 452. Reld. Amys v. Barton (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 117; Higgs & Hill v. Unicume (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 369; Stride v. Southampton Gas Light & Coke Co. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1449.

2818. Workman following his doctor's advice—In good faith—Balance of medical testimony other way.]—TUTTON v. MAJESTIC (OWNERS), No. 2808, ante.

2819. —— Cure not guaranteed.]—A workman was injured & claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), making no reference to the Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42). Later he returned to work, and at the instance of his employers he signed a receipt for £35 "in full settlement of all claims which I may have under the Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42) . . . & in full discharge of all claims . . . arising out of the said accident." The actual money paid at the time was only £17 10*s.*, & the balance which had been paid after was found by the arbitrator as a fact to have been wages. He then again broke down in health, filed a request for arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & refused to undergo an operation. The employers pleaded accord & satisfaction evidenced by the receipt, & further contended, that if the receipt took effect under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the matter had been "settled by agreement," if under Employer's Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), the man had "taken proceedings independently of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (b)." They also alleged that the man had been unreasonable in refusing to undergo the operation of trephining. This was recommended by his own doctor, who, however, could not guarantee the cure:—Held: the workman had not been unreasonable in refusing to undergo the operation.—HAWKES v. COLES (RICHARD) & SONS (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 163, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433.

2820. Doctors unanimous—As to success & safety of operation—"Guarantee of success."]—A miner crushed the middle finger of his right hand, & his employers paid him voluntary compensation for nine months. The finger healed but remained stiff, & the man was unable to handle his pick properly. After an unsuccessful operation to join a broken tendon, & a course of massage without permanent result, he was advised to have the finger amputated at the knuckle joint. It was asserted by all the doctors consulted that this would soon enable him to do his old work again. The doctors were unanimous that the operation was a simple one, without risk & with little pain. In view of the inefficacy of the previous medical treatment, the man refused to follow the doctors' advice, unless he had a "guarantee of success" of the operation, which was denied him. The employers then stopped the payment of compensation. The county ct. judge found that the workman's refusal was reasonable:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding.—WALSH v. LOCK & CO. (NEWLAND), LTD. (1913), 110 L. T. 452; 7 B. W. C. C. 117, C. A.

D. Neglect to Follow Medical Advice.

2821. Question of fact—Whether incapacity result of accident or neglect.]—Whether present incapacity for work results from the injury or from neglect of medical or surgical advice, is a question of fact.—SMITH v. CORD TATON COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1900), 2 W. C. C. 121, C. A.

2822. —— Whether neglect unreasonable.]—A workman with an injured hand was advised by his own doctor that he could not recover the use of it, but the employers' doctor advised that he ought to exercise it, & that he would soon recover if he did so. He did not exercise it, & the employers applied for a review of the weekly payments, on the ground that the incapacity was due not to the injury but to the unreasonable conduct of the man in not exercising the hand. The county ct. judge held that the man had not behaved unreasonably, & dismissed the application to review:—Held: the question was one of fact, & there was evidence to support the decision.—MOSS & CO. v. AKERS (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 204, C. A.

2823. Effect of unreasonable neglect—Terminates incapacity from accident.]—WRIGHT v. SNEYD COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 3188, post.

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 7.—C. (b).

2816 i. Operation attended by risk.]—PRICE v. ASHBURTON BOROUGH, [1916] N. Z. L. R. 870.—N.Z.

2816 ii. ——.]—SWEENEY v. PUMPHERSTON OIL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 972.—SCOT.

2817 i. Reasonable & safe operation.]—SHEA v. O'NEILL & O'NEILL (1920), 54 I. L. T. 117.—IR.

2817 ii. ——.]—ANDERSON v. BAIRD (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 373.—SCOT.

n. Workman following his doctor's advice.]—GRACIE v. CLYDE SPINNING CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 630.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 7.—D.

2822 i. Question of fact—Whether neglect unreasonable.]—DUNNIGAN v. CAVAN & LIND, [1911] S. C. 579; 48 Sc. L. R. 459; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 274; 4 B. W. C. C. 386.—SCOT.

2823 i. Effect of unreasonable neglect—Terminates incapacity from accident.]—GORMLEY v. BRISBANE TRAMWAYS

E. Improper Medical Treatment.

2824. Arm badly set—Duty of arbitrator—To consider whether incapacity due to improper treatment.]—A workman's forearm was broken by accident. He had it set by a bonesetter, who did the work so negligently that there was a vicious union, the bones being united, but overlapping & at a bad angle, preventing use of wrist. The man being for this reason still incapacitated, the employers requested him to have the arm broken again & reset. This he refused. Employers applied for review on the ground that the incapacity was no longer due to the injury, but either to the workman's unreasonable refusal of operation, or to the negligence of the bonesetter. The county ct. judge found the workman's refusal was reasonable, &, without deciding the point as to the negligence of the bonesetter, dismissed the application :—Held : this point should be decided ; rehearing ordered.—HUMBER TOWING CO., LTD. v. BARCLAY (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 142, C. A.

Annotations :—Folld. Rocca v. Jones (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 101. Consd. Lakey v. Blair (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 58.

2825. ——.]—A workman broke his arm, fracturing his radius at the wrist. His employers sent him to the hospital. The arm was only bandaged & put in a sling. He went back to work the next day & continued for about nine weeks. A bad union of the bone resulted & the employers dismissed him for not doing his work properly. He then claimed compensation, but the employers, by their answers, generally denied liability. At the hearing they set up the defence that the man's incapacity was due to bad medical treatment at the hospital & not to the accident. The county ct. judge, with the advice of a medical assessor, decided in favour of the employers on this point. The workman appealed on the ground that the question before the county ct. judge was as to degree of incapacity, & that the point of bad medical treatment being taken, he had the right to a new trial on the ground of surprise :—Held : (1) this question of bad medical treatment having been raised at the trial, & no application made for adjournment, the point of surprise could not be raised on appeal ; (2) there was also evidence to support the finding as to the cause of incapacity.—ROCCA v. JONES (STANLEY) & CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 101, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Lakey v. Blair (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 58.

2826. Failure to discover fracture.]—A foreman was working upon a scaffolding. One of the supports broke & he injured his knee. He attended a local hospital for some weeks with little improvement. He was then X-rayed at a London hospital, when a fracture was discovered & suitable treatment administered. It was argued (inter alia) that any incapacity, at the time of arbitration, was due to improper medical treatment at the local hospital, & not to the accident. The county ct. judge found that the condition was not due to improper or insufficient treatment, & that the incapacity was due to the accident which had arisen out of & in the course of the man's employment, & awarded in the favour of the workman :—Held : there was evidence to support the award.—HARRISON v. FORD (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 420, C. A.

2827. ——.]—BOWER v. MEGGITT & JONES, No. 2773, ante.

2828. Unnecessary amputation.]—A workman met with an accident which injured his great toe, not causing a wound, but much pain & inflammation. For two years he remained under the care of his doctor, the incapacity continued, & the inflammation recurred at intervals. The case was referred by doctors on both sides to a specialist, who reported that the workman was, in his opinion, almost fit to return to work. A fortnight later the man's own doctor, who took a much more serious view of the case, amputated the toe. There was medical evidence that amputation was unnecessary & inadvisable. The county ct. judge found that the existing incapacity was due to the operation, which was unnecessary & improper, & not to the original accident :—Held : there was evidence to support his finding, & no misdirection. —LAKEY v. BLAIR & CO., LTD. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 58, C. A.

Onus of proof.]—See Nos. 2770–2773, ante.

F. Insanity.

2829. Not caused by accident Does not affect question of compensation.]—A riveter lost the sight of one eye by an accident. Six months later he became insane & went into an asylum for seven months. Immediately he came out he got wages of 33*s.* 9*d.* a week, though not riveting work. The county ct. judge found that the insanity had nothing to do with the accident. He also found that, but for his insanity, the man would have been able to earn something at the date he entered the asylum, & reduced the compensation from £1 to 10*s.* a week as from that date. The workman appealed on the ground that he was entitled to £1 a week whilst in the asylum :—Held : the amount of compensation is within the discretion of the county ct. judge.—SLATER v. BLYTH SHIPBUILDING & DRY DOCKS CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 193, C. A.

2830. Evidence as to cause of insanity must be admitted.]—WESTMINSTER BRYMBO COAL & COKE CO., LTD. v. EVANS, No. 3171, post.

G. Suicide.

2831. General rule.]—In order to show that suicide has been caused by injury resulting from accident so as to give a claim for compensation it is necessary to prove that the suicide was caused by insanity & that the insanity was the direct result of the accident, not an indirect result caused

---

CO., LTD., [1909] S. R. Q. 329.—AUS.

2823 ii. —— ——.]—The action or neglect of appct. only affects the liability of the employer, if it has aggravated the injury so that the condition of appct. is no longer due to the injury caused by the accident, but arises from such neglect or unreasonable conduct on his part.—POWELL v. CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO. (1915), 32 W. L. R. 218 ; 23 D. L. R. 57 ; affd. 34 W. L. R. 32 ; 10 W. W. R. 107.—CAN.

2823 iii. ——.]—Appct. for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. B. C. 1911, is not entitled to compensation beyond the date when he neglected to follow the instructions of his medical advisers which would, if followed, have effected a cure.—GORGNIGIANI v. WELCH (B. C.), [1918] 3 W. W. R. 797.—CAN.

2823 iv. ——.]—On an application to review, there was medical evidence that the incapacity a work-girl was suffering was due to the wasting of her arm, which had been injured by accident. This was entirely due to her not exercising the arm. If she exercised the arm, she would recover her capacity. Upon this the arbitrator terminated the payment of compensation :—Held : there was evidence to support the award.—SIMPSON v. BYRNE (1913), 47 I. L. T. 27 ; 6 B. W. C. C. 455.—IR.

2823 v. —— ——.]—Held : an employer was not bound to continue weekly payments to an injured workman when the continuance of his incapacity was due to his neglect to comply with certain simple medical directions which had been given to him.—DOWDS v. BENNIE & SON (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 268 ; 40 Sc. L. R. 219 ; 10 S. L. T. 439.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 7.—F.

o. Onus of proof.]—The onus of proving that the insanity was due to the accident lies upon the workman. —BROWNLEE v. COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD., [1917] S. C. 409.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C., D. & E. (a) i.]

A workman was injured on July 12. He saw his employer the same evening, but did not mention the accident. He alleged that on the following day he sent notice by messenger. On July 23, he again saw his employer, but said nothing about compensation. He alleged that on Aug. 6 he again sent notice by registered post. On Aug. 12, a solr. sent formal notice on his behalf. The employer denied having received any but the last notice. The county ct. judge found that notice of the accident had not been given as soon as practicable after the happening thereof, & that it had not been established that the employer had not been prejudiced by the delay:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—LEACH v. HICKSON (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 153, C. A.

2851. —— ——.]—SANDERSON v. PARKINSON & SONS, LTD., No. 2881, post.

2852. —— ——.]—A miner hurt his hand. He complained to the manager the next day, but the manager was too busy to attend to him. The employer's doctor saw & reported on the hand four days after the accident. He did not again see the manager until a fortnight after the accident. Compensation was then refused on the ground that the injury had been increased by a fall outside a public-house on the evening of the accident. The fall was admitted, but the injury denied. Written notice was given some days later. The county ct. judge found that written notice had not been given as soon as practicable & the workman had not discharged the onus of proving that the employers had not been prejudiced by the delay:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—MURPHY v. SHIREBROOK COLLIERY, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 237, C. A.

2853. —— ——.]—The widow of deceased workman claimed compensation for the death of her husband. The only evidence of accident was that deceased said to the employers' engineer that "a week or two ago" he had hurt himself by a chip of brick hitting him. Next day he had acute inflammation of the private parts where it was alleged the clip had hit him. He died three weeks later of septic poison. No written notice was given until a week after death:—Held: (1) notice had not been given as soon as practicable; & (2) there was no evidence that the employers had not been prejudiced.—HUNT v. HIGHLEY MINING CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 716, C. A.

2854. —— ——.]—A hairdresser's assistant entered the service of an employer in Oct. On Jan. 17 his hands began to tingle & smart, and he subsequently lost his nails. He was advised by a doctor, in Feb., that he was suffering from dermatitis, & he alleged that this was due to an injurious ingredient added to the dry shampoo. He left the service on Mar. 30. The only notice which was given was contained in two letters sent to the employer on Apr. 1 & 28 respectively. He alleged that the injury was due to accident on Jan. 17; & the county ct. judge awarded compensation:—Held: there was no evidence of an accident at a definite time & place, & even if there had been the application should be dismissed, as no notice was given as soon as practicable.—PETSCHETT v. PREIS (1915), 31 T. L. R. 156; 8 B. W. C. C. 44, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61.

2855. —— ——.]—On Sept. 17, 1916, a workman's finger was struck by a small piece of screw head. He picked out the burr. There was no blood or wound or anything that could then in the ordinary sense be called an accident. The injury appeared to be quite trivial. He continued work for three days, when he had to stop, & consulted a doctor. This doctor first attributed his incapacity to influenza, but soon after stated that he was suffering from blood poisoning. On Oct. 24 he sent a letter to the employers stating that he had contracted blood poisoning while in their employment. There was nothing in the letter to show that the man attributed the blood poisoning to the injury of Sept. 17. The doctor who had first attended him, died in Jan. 1917, & a new doctor was called in who traced the blood poisoning to the injury of Sept. 17. Thereupon, on Jan. 5, formal notice was sent to the employers. The county ct. judge found that notice had been given as soon as practicable, & stated that, if not, there was reasonable cause for the delay, & the employers had not been prejudiced. He also drew the inference that the blood poisoning was the result of the injury on Sept. 17, & found the same to be an accident within the meaning of the Act:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings & no misdirection.—WHITE v. FORD MOTOR CO. (ENGLAND), LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 334, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Aldridge v. Warwickshire Coal Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 439.

2856. —— —— Question of fact.]—On Feb. 29, 1924, the workman performed a piece of work involving unusual muscular exertion. He complained of pain that evening, but continued to work until Mar. 29, when he was advised by a doctor to go to hospital. He was admitted to hospital on Apr. 28, & was operated on for hernia, but died on May 6. Notice of the accident was given on Mar. 31. The county ct. judge held that notice had been given as soon as was reasonably practicable & that the employers were not prejudiced by not having had notice earlier:—Held: it was a question of fact & there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—FEARNLEY BROTHERS v. RICHMOND (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 81, C. A.

2857. —— —— Realisation by workman of condition.]—A girl of fifteen, on Jan. 22, 1925, while employed by resps., knocked some bobbins off the creel, one of which dropped on her nose causing it to bleed, but she continued at work after going to her superintendent, who wiped her nose. Her nose swelled & was treated by her mother with poultices, but she did not have to leave work until Mar. 12, 1925; she then went to a doctor, who found the wound was septic. She was able to return to work on Mar. 30, 1925. On a claim for compensation for the loss of wages during her absence the county ct. judge, without deciding at what date notice ought to have been given of the accident, said that the girl admitted that she knew from notices posted in the workroom she should have immediately reported any accident, whether slight or serious, & if she had done so she would have had treatment to render the small wound aseptic, & held that there was no reasonable cause for the delay in giving notice & the employers were prejudiced by want of proper notice:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding that notice should have been given immediately.

Notice to be given as soon as practicable must

WEAVING CO. (1911), 45 I. L. T. 74. —IR.

b. Seven days' notice — From what date calculated.]—POTTER v. MCCANN (1908), 16 O. L. R. 535; 11 O. W. R. 417.—CAN.

a. Notice given under wrong Act.]—LAWRENCE v. KELLY (1909), 11 W. L. R. 347.—CAN.

be given as soon as the workman realises his condition entitles him to compensation for injury by accident. This date not having been found, it was impossible to say whether the employers would have been prejudiced at that time.—ALBISON v. NEWROYD MILL, LTD. (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 667; 134 L. T. 171; 18 B. W. C. C. 474, C. A.

2858. Failure of workman to give notice—Subsequent death—Notice by dependants invalid.]—GRIME v. FLETCHER, No. 2691, ante.

Delay in giving notice—Whether employer prejudiced in defence.]—See Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) ii., post.

D. Service of Notice.

See Workmen's Compensation Acts, 1923 (c. 42), s. 28; 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2859. On whom—Servant of employer—Cashier.]—A workman, an ostler, was injured after working for eight days, & as a result he was away from work for two or three weeks, & a year & a half later he died from the effects of the accident. He gave no written notice of the accident. A man described as a clerk & cashier of the employers, a colliery co., knew of the accident shortly after it occurred, visited the workman when he was ill at his home, paid him full wages when he was away, a strike was in progress, & appointed & paid a substitute for that period:—Held: (1) verbal notice to the cashier was notice to the employer, & (2) there was evidence that the employers were not prejudiced in their defence by the want of written notice of the accident. The inability of the employer to give notice to their insurance co. is not relevant, as it does not prejudice their defence to the workman's claim.—BUTT v. GELLYCEIDRIM COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 44, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Kirk v. Lochgelly Iron & Coal Co. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 696. Refd. Snelling v. Norton Hill Colliery Co. (1913), 109 L. T. 81; Wassall v. Russell (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1606. Generally, Refd. Pimm v. Clement Talbot (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 565.

2860. —— —— Foreman.]—HEWITT v. STANLEY BROTHERS, LTD., No. 2684, ante.

2861. —— —— ——.]—A workman alleged he sustained an accident to his knee on Friday, June 27, 1913. He went about, apparently well, until Wednesday, July 2, when he became incapacitated. On that day he wrote to the foreman, informing him of the accident. There was a rule of the shop that all accidents should be reported to the foreman. The judge found upon conflicting evidence that the notice was received. The foreman apparently did not inform the employers. No formal notice was given the employers until Nov. 14, 1913. The man had been away for several weeks earlier in the year for a bad knee due to footballing. The judge found that the want of notice was excused as he considered that the man must have mistaken the foreman for the proper person to give notice to; & that there was no prejudice, or, if there was, it was due not to any default of the workman, but to the failure of the foreman to inform his employers of the accident:—Held: there was no evidence that the foreman was the proper person to receive notice under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), or that the workman thought he was such person, or that the employers were not prejudiced.—PIMM v. CLEMENT TALBOT, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 565, C. A.

2862. —— —— ——.]—A sheet metal worker showed several cuts on his hand to his insurance doctor on Mar. 8. The doctor treated him, & suggested he could claim compensation for accident. He showed the hand to his foreman on Mar. 13. The cuts did not heal, & he again saw the doctor, complaining of blood poisoning on Mar. 20. The next day the workman's brother informed the foreman that he could not come to work. He ultimately went to a hospital, & was still under treatment for poisoning, & totally incapacitated from work. No written notice was given until June 4. The county ct. judge held that notice should have been given on Mar. 8, or at latest Mar. 21, that the foreman was not a proper person to whom to give notice, & that the workman had not proved the employers not to have been prejudiced by the delay. He consequently awarded in favour of the employers:—Held: there was no misdirection.—PLUMLEY v. EWART & SON, LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 464, C. A.

2863. —— —— Measurer & storekeeper.]—An injured workman informed a measurer & a storekeeper of his accident at the time, but gave his employers no notice until he was cured, four months after the accident. The employers did not hear of the accident till then. The county ct. judge found that the measurer was a proper person to receive verbal notice of the accident on behalf of the employers, & that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay in written notice:—Held: there was no evidence to support the findings.—JACKSON v. VICKERS, LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 432, C. A.

2864. —— —— Time-keeper.]—A dock labourer slightly injured his leg. He went on working for four days, when the wound became septic. He poulticed it, but, as it did not get better, he reported it to the timekeeper a week after the accident. Written notice was not given until a fortnight after the accident. The county ct. judge found that the workman, in reporting to the timekeeper, had given notice to the proper person as soon as practicable, & awarded compensation:—Held: there was misdirection.—BRADY v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 680, C. A.

2865. —— Overman—Agent for both parties.]—STEVENS v. INSOLES, LTD., No. 2880, post.

2866. —— Master of ship.]—THE RIGEL, No. 2066, ante.

2867. —— Sub-contractor.]—GRIFFITHS v. ATKINSON, No. 2923, post.

2868. By whom—Person other than workman—Workman's father.]—STEVENS v. INSOLES, LTD., No. 2886, post.

2869. —— ——.]—HOWARTH v. CLIFTON & KERSLEY COAL CO., LTD., No. 2901, post.

E. Want of or Inaccuracy in Notice—Whether Proceedings Maintainable.

(a) Employer Not Prejudiced in Defence.

i. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2870. General rule.]—HAYWARD v. WESTLEIGH COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2917, post.

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (a) i.

2870 i. General rule.]—Notice may be dispensed with where there is reasonable excuse for the want thereof, the employer not being prejudiced thereby.—ARMSTRONG v. CANADA ATLANTIC RY. CO. (1902), 22 C. L. T. 379; 4 O. L. R. 560.—CAN.

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) i. & ii.]

2871. Absence of prejudice must be found in fact.]—LEACH v. HICKSON, No. 2850, ante.

2872. ——.]—HODGSON v. ROBINS, HAY, WATERS & HAY, No. 2798, ante.

2873. ——.]—HUNT v. HIGHLEY MINING CO., LTD., No. 2853, ante.

2874. ——.]—A stage carpenter complained to a superior workman of having run a splinter into his left hand. The next evening his right hand was painful & swollen. He saw a doctor who advised an operation. He died in the hospital after the operation about a fortnight after the complaint as to the splinter. The employers were given notice of the post mortem, but no notice of the accident was given until a fortnight after the death. There was very contradictory evidence, at the hearing of a claim by dependants, as to which arm was in fact poisoned. The doctor said it was the right arm, but the county ct. judge did not accept this evidence, & found it to be the left arm. He also found that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay in giving notice, & that death was due to blood poisoning in the left arm resulting from the accident of piercing the finger of the left hand with the splinter:—Held: there was no evidence that death resulted from an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment, nor that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay in giving notice.—FORD v. GAIETY THEATRE CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 197, C. A.

2875. ——.]—A labourer injured his left arm &, after receiving compensation, was put on to very light work by his employers. He was told, on one occasion, to move some tools, &, in doing so, he alleged, he ricked his injured shoulder. He was, at that time, being medically attended for the first accident. He stated, at the hearing, that he told the ganger this the same day, & said that he would have to stop work. The ganger, however, was not called. As a matter of fact, the man worked on for four more days, to the end of the week, &, on being paid off, made some complaint then to the employers' agent, but it was not definite what the complaint was. The man gave written notice of the alleged second accident three & a half weeks after it was alleged to have occurred. The medical evidence at the hearing was to the effect that he was suffering no incapacity from the alleged second accident. The county ct. judge found that there was the alleged second accident, & that the man was totally incapacitated therefrom:—Held: without deciding the question of accident or incapacity the award must be set aside, as there was no evidence that the employer was not prejudiced by the delay in giving notice.—LACEY v. MOWLEM (JOHN) & CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 135, C. A.

2876. ——.]—Appct. on June 26, 1914, met with an accident in the course of his employment, which resulted in his losing the sight of one eye. No notice of the accident was given to the employer until July 6. In proceeding for compensation the county ct. judge found that there was no evidence before him on which he could find that the employer was not prejudiced in his defence by the want of notice, & dismissed the application:—Held: the proviso in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (a), that the want of notice shall not be a bar to proceedings in the cases there mentioned only applies when there is an express finding in the proceedings "that the employer is not . . . prejudiced in his defence by the want," & in the absence of such finding the appeal must be dismissed.—MILLER v. RICHARDSON, [1915] 3 K. B. 76; 84 L. J. K. B. 1366; 113 L. T. 609; 8 B. W. C. C. 439, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Burvill v. Vickers (1915), 114 L. T. 29; Plumley v. Ewart (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 464.

2877. Liability of employer to notify insurance company.]—BUTT v. GELLYCEIDRIM COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2859, ante.

2878. Existence of prejudice independent of notice—Effect of absence of notice.]—HOWARTH v. CLIFTON & KERSLEY COAL CO., LTD., No. 2901, post.

Sufficiency of notice.]—See Nos. 2843–2845, ante.

Delay in receipt of notice.]—See Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) ii., post.

ii. Delay in Receiving Notice.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2879. Whether employer prejudiced in defence—Employer's knowledge of accident—Informal notice.]—A waitress was injured by accident in June, 1910. She told her employer the same day. No effects of the accident were apparent until she fell ill in Aug., & she did not know until Nov. that the illness was an effect of the accident. Notice under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was not given until Nov. or Dec. 1910. The county ct. judge found that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—EATON v. EVANS (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 82, C. A.

2880. ——.]—A workman met with an accident in a colliery. There was a special rule in the collieries that accidents were to be reported before leaving the mine. His father, in his presence, told the overman & an undermanager, who happened to pass, & the overman wrote down the particulars in a book supplied by the employers for the purpose. The workman returned to work, cured, in eighteen days. He claimed compensation, & the employers objected that they had not had notice of the accident, & that they were prejudiced by the absence of notice. The county ct. judge found that the employers were prejudiced, & awarded for them:—Held: the entry of the particulars in the book by the overman was written notice by the workman to the employers in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2, as the overman was in that instance agent for both parties.

Semble: there was no evidence of prejudice.—STEVENS v. INSOLES, LTD., [1912] 1 K. B. 36; 81 L. J. K. B. 47; 105 L. T. 617; 5 B. W. C. C. 164, C. A.

2881. ——.]—A lad, a painter, left off work because he felt ill on July 15, 1912. On Aug. 13 he consulted a doctor who sent him to bed, & he did not get up until Dec. The doctor told the lad to leave everything alone & not to worry about business. In Dec., as soon as he could get out, the lad went to the employers & told them all about his illness, saying that the doctor thought it was lead poisoning. The employers' secretary wrote this down. The lad subsequently became worse, & on Feb. 11, 1913, his solr. made a formal claim for compensation, & on Feb. 13 the certifying surgeon gave his certificate that the boy was suffering from lead poisoning, & stating that the disablement commenced in the last week of July, 1912. The certificate was appealed against by the employer, but the medical referee dismissed the appeal. On the application for compensation the county ct. judge found (1) that notice of the accident was given as soon as practicable after the happening thereof; (2) that a claim for compensation was in fact made within six months of the time of the accident; (3) that in any case failure to give notice, if any, did not prejudice the employers in their defence; & (4) that if his previous findings were not justified, delay in notice & claim was occasioned by reasonable cause:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings.—SANDERSON v. PARKINSON & SONS, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 648, C. A.

2871 b. Notice of objection by defendant—Time for.]—CAVANAGH v. PARK (1896), 23 A. R. 715.—CAN.

2882. ——.]—A workman, engaged in lifting heavy weights, suddenly felt that he had strained himself. He had suffered from slight rupture three years before, & he now informed his foreman that this rupture had come down, & that he would consult his doctor. Having done so, & hearing that he would have to undergo an operation, he informed his employer, who agreed to make a weekly payment of half wages. He paid these while the workman was in hospital, but subsequently, at the hearing, stated they were only intended as a loan. Written notice was not given until four months after the accident. The county ct. judge found that the employer had been informed of the accident as soon as practicable, & had not been prejudiced by the delay in giving written notice:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—RALPH v. MITCHELL (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 678, C. A.

2883. ——.]—The following are the facts as found by the county ct. judge. A workman dropped a heavy weight on to his foot, on July 27, 1910. He went on working for two days, & then knocked off for a week on account of the pain in his foot. He returned & worked till Sept. 24. His foot was very painful, & he had to give up work altogether. He was treated for rheumatism in his foot, which was thought to be causing the pain. On Sept. 17 & on Sept. 25 it was found that he had gangrene in the foot, & he was sent to a hospital on Oct. 19. Three weeks afterwards his foot was amputated below the ankle, & five weeks later his leg was amputated below the knee. No statutory notice was given to the co. The secretary of the co. paid the man full wages, 30*s.* for the first week after he finally stopped work, 20*s.* for the second week, & 10*s.* per week subsequently, & was given full information of the man's progress. The county ct. judge found that the employers knew of the injury as soon as was practicable after the happening thereof, that they had not been prejudiced by want of statutory notice, & that there was reasonable cause for not giving it. He awarded full compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—STINTON v. BRANDON GAS CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 426, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197.

2884. ——.]—HARRIS v. THOMAS & CO., No. 2329, ante.

2885. ——.]—FENTON v. KELVIN (OWNERS), No. 2939, post.

2886. —— Question of fact.]—Towards the end of Mar. 1915, a workman suffered great pain in his hand, which appeared to be caused from a wound. His daughter bathed & bandaged his hand daily, before he went to work. A month later the man saw a doctor who told him he was suffering from septic poisoning & gave a certificate that the man was unfit for work. The certificate was sent to the employers & notice given. The man did no work after that date, & died a month after from blood poisoning. The county ct. judge was not satisfied on the evidence that the injury to the hand was an injury received at his work, but without deciding the question whether the injury arose out of & in the course of the employment, he found that the employers were prejudiced by the delay in giving notice as soon as practicable, & made his award in their favour on that ground:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—JONES v. THOMAS (RICHARD) & CO., LTD. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 237, C. A.

2887. ——.]—A workman injured his finger. He told a man who was working with him, & went to the first aid room & had it bandaged. A doctor later attended him for sore finger & whitlow. After this he made several attempts to work, but failed. Five weeks after the accident the workman saw the manager & told him of the accident. A claim for compensation was then made & the county ct. judge found that the first time the employers knew or should have known of the accident was when the manager was told by the workman five weeks after the accident. The judge also said that he was not satisfied by the evidence that the employers were not prejudiced by the workman's omission to give notice of the accident:—Held: the question was one of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—HOWARD v. SUN HILL, LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 46, C. A.

2888. ——.]—JOHNSON v. FLORENCE COAL & IRON CO., LTD., No. 2736, ante.

2889. ——.]—DAY v. BERNARDES (G.) & SON, No. 2900, post.

2890. ——.]—FEARNLEY BROTHERS v. RICHMOND, No. 2856, ante.

2891. —— Voluntary payment of compensation.]—TURNBULL v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3013, post.

2892. —— Notice after death of workman.]—FORD v. GAIETY THEATRE CO., LTD., No. 2874, ante.

2893. ——.]—HUNT v. HIGHLEY MINING CO., LTD., No. 2853, ante.

2894. ——.]—HAYWARD v. WESTLEIGH COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2917, post.

2895. ——.]—A joiner, while at work on Feb. 19, cut his thumb slightly. He bandaged it, but treated the accident as trivial. The wound had not healed on Mar. 10, when he accidentally hit his thumb again & re-opened the wound. Two days later there was evidence that it looked bad to a fellow workman. A week later the man went to his doctor, feeling very ill. The doctor found an open sore on the thumb, with inflammation, indicating blood poisoning. A few days later another doctor was called in, but the man's condition was hopeless, & he died on Mar. 27. No notice was given to the employers till after his death. The county ct. judge held that the failure to give notice after the original accident would be fatal to the claim, but, assuming that this accident was too trivial for notice, the condition caused by the second was such that notice should have

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (a) ii.

2884 i. Whether employer prejudiced in defence—Employer's knowledge of accident.]—QUIST v. SERPENT RIVER LOGGING CO. (1912), 23 O. W. R. 151; 4 O. W. N. 159; 7 D. L. R. 463.—CAN.

c. ——.]—STRONGE v. HAZLETT (1909), 44 I. L. T. 10; 3 B. W. C. C. 581.—IR.

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) ii. & iii.]

been given immediately after Mar. 10, or, at the very latest, on Mar. 19, & that the employers were prejudiced by want of notice:—Held: there was evidence to support the county ct. judge's findings, & no misdirection.—TAYLOR v. NICHOLSON & SON (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 114, C. A.

2896. —— ——.]—BURVILL v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 2919, post.

2897. —— —— Sudden death from heart failure —No application by employers for post-mortem.]—(1) A workman was taken ill while at work, & died within a few hours. Notice of the death was not given to the employers for nine days. Deceased man had then been buried, & there was no post mortem examination. In a proceeding by his widow for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it was contended on her behalf that death was caused by heart failure brought on by a strain in the course of his work, & on behalf of the employers that death resulted from another cause independent of his work, & that in any case notice of the accident had not been given as soon as practicable, as required by sect. 2 (1) of the Act. The arbitrator found that death was caused by heart failure, resulting from a strain in his work; that notice of the accident had been given as soon as was reasonably practicable under the circumstances; & that in any case the employers had not been prejudiced in their defence by the delay; & he made an award in favour of appct.:—Held: assuming that notice had not been given as soon as practicable, there was evidence on which the arbitrator could find that the employers were not thereby prejudiced in their defence.

In order to succeed in setting aside the finding of the . . . arbitrator . . . applt. has got to show either that there was no evidence at all on which the arbitrator could reasonably proceed or that on the face of his award there is a mistake in law (LORD HALDANE).

(2) The finding of the arbitrator cannot be set aside unless there is no evidence or the circumstances are such that no reasonable man could come to the conclusion to which he came. LORD LOREBURN points out in Hayward v. West Leigh Colliery Co., Ltd., No. 2917, post, that the arbitrator in coming to a decision should look at all the matters before him without a presumption one way or the other (LORD PARMOOR).—LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. v. KIRK (1916), 86 L. J. P. C. 61; 115 L. T. 642; 33 T. L. R. 31; 61 Sol. Jo. 41; 10 B. W. C. C. 1, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (1) Reid. Graham v. Christie (or Fleming) (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 486.

2898. —— ——.]—JOHNSON v. FLORENCE COAL & IRON CO., LTD., No. 2736, ante.

2899. —— Immediate notice of no benefit to employer.]—MILLS v. DINNINGTON MAIN COAL CO., LTD., No. 2686, ante.

2900. —— ——.]—D., who was a waterside labourer, on Aug. 28, 1923, applied for a job & was taken on by resps. (now applts.) to assist in the unloading of a ship. The unloading was completed on Aug. 31, but on that day, whilst stowing tree trunks from the ship into a barge, D. caught his right ring finger in a piece of wire from a runner hook which drew a little blood, but he continued his work, telling the foreman who had asked him about it, that it would be all right. He applied next day for a job but was not successful. His finger becoming swollen he went on Sept. 4 to his panel doctor, who did not inquire & was not told the cause of the injury, & having treated the injury sent him later to Guy's Hospital, where he was an out patient until Sept. 10 when he was sent to the R. Infirmary where he had his finger amputated, & was discharged on Oct. 17. On Oct. 18 he gave notice of the accident & the loss of the finger to applts., alleging that he had not given notice before because he was unaware by whom he had been employed as the jobs being often only for a day, workmen did not trouble to find out who employed them, & in his evidence said that he feared the loss of a job if he said anything. On an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), applts., relying upon sect. 2 (1) (a), (b), of the Act, denied liability on the ground that they were prejudiced in their defence by notice not having been given to them as soon as practicable after the happening of the accident. They alleged that they were unable to get evidence from his fellow workmen, who, being casual labourers, could not be traced, & that they had had no opportunity to instruct their own doctor to examine the finger so that he might have formed an opinion as to the cause of the injury which might have happened from various causes. The judge made an award of 35*s.* a week to appct., whose evidence satisfied him that resps. had not been prejudiced by the want of notice at the proper time. Resps. had not proved that they were prejudiced as, if they had had notice of the accident at the time, they could have done nothing more than was in fact done:—Held: the county ct. judge had accurately applied the law as laid down in the House of Lords as to whether the employers were prejudiced by want of notice as soon as practicable, & as to the onus of proof of such prejudice, so that it became a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—DAY v. BERNARDES (G.) & SON (1924), 131 L. T. 397; 17 B. W. C. C. 62, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Sharp v. Loddington Ironstone Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 229.

2901. —— Notice to authorised official—Failure of official to inform employer.]—A miner, blind in one eye, while working in the pit sustained injury by accident to the other eye. No one saw the accident, & its result at first was trivial, but later, owing to poisoning, it became more serious. The workman himself gave no formal or other notice to any person, but one of his fellow workmen, who had called upon him, informed the fireman, an official to whom notice of accidents was required by the Coal Mines Regulations to be given, that appct.'s absence from work was due to his having met with an accident in the course of his employment. The fireman did not note or report this, & the employers were in fact unaware for more than three months that an accident had happened The county ct. judge found that they were not, on these facts, prejudiced in their defence by the absence of the notice required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2:—Held: (1) there was evidence upon which the judge could properly so find & no misdirection; the notice required need not be given by the workman himself, & if received by a proper official, the fact that he does not report it can make no difference to the workman's rights; (2) the question whether or not the employers were prejudiced was a question independent of notice; there might be a complete absence of prejudice even though they should receive no notice at all until the claim was actually made.—HOWARTH v. CLIFTON & KERSLEY COAL CO., LTD. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1249; 124

L. T. 45; 64 Sol. Jo. 635; 13 B. W. C. C. 179, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Day v. Bernardes (1924), 131 L. T. 397; Sharp v. Loddington Ironstone Co. (1924), 132 L. T. 229.

2902. —— Date when workman's condition becomes serious—Not found.]—ALBISON v. NEWROYD MILL, LTD., No. 2857, ante.

iii. Onus of Proof.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 58), ss. 14, 15.

2903. On workman.]—The notice of the accident which is to be given to the employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), must be in writing. Under proviso (a) of sub-sect. 1 the onus lies on the workman of showing that the employer has not been "prejudiced in his defence by the want, defect or inaccuracy" of any such notice.—HUGHES v. COED TALON COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1909] 1 K. B. 957; 78 L. J. K. B. 539; 100 L. T. 555; 2 B. W. C. C. 159, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Eaton v. Evans (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 82. Apld. Ing v. Higgs (1914), 110 L. T. 442. Reid. Butt v. Gellycedrim Colliery Co. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 44.

2904. ——.]—TIBBS v. WATTS, BLAKE, BEARNE & CO., LTD., No. 2931, post.

2905. ——.]—A workman was discharged from his employment on Oct. 2, 1909. On Oct. 11 he saw a doctor, & was found to be suffering from rupture. On Oct. 13 he gave his employers written notice of an accident which, he said, had occurred on July 14, 1909, & on Oct. 22 he was examined by the employers' doctor in the presence of his own. The man's doctor admitted that it was possible that the rupture commenced at some date earlier than July 14. The workman had not given to the employers written notice of the accident before Oct. 13, but it appeared that he had complained to a man under the foreman, the "leading hand" from whom he took orders, that he had "strained himself":—Held: the workman had not discharged the onus that was upon him of proving that the employers were not prejudiced in their defence by the want of notice.—HANCOCK v. BRITISH WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CO. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 210, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Dalgiesh v. Gartside (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 535.

2906. ——.]—A workman claimed compensation in respect of an alleged injury to his ankle. He had said nothing at the time of the alleged injury, & had walked home. He swore that he had sent notice the next day to the foreman carpenter under whom he worked. This the foreman denied. The job finished on the day of the alleged accident, & all the men were paid off. Formal notice was given two months later. The county ct. judge found that, though the notice had not been given as soon as practicable, the workman had discharged the onus of showing that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding.—BURRELL v. HOLLOWAY BROTHERS (LONDON), LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 239, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Dalgiesh v. Gartside (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 535. Reid. Egerton v. Moore, [1912] 2 K. B. 308.

2907. ——.]—EGERTON v. MOORE, No. 2940, post.

2908. ——.]—MURPHY v. SHIREBROOK COLLIERY, LTD., No. 2852, ante.

2909. ——.]—WEBSTER v. COHEN BROTHERS, No. 2930, post.

2910. ——.]—A cotton operator, on Nov. 24, cut his thumb badly. There was a clear written notice posted up requiring all accidents to be reported at once to the overseer. The workman knew of this rule & had acted upon it on three former occasions when he had injured himself. On this occasion he went to find the overseer, but he was away, & the hand was shown to & attended by the first aid man. On the next day & on the following day, the workman was attended to by the same man, who then told him to use some plaster, & that it would be all right. He continued at work for a month, but the wound gave him increasing pain all the time until at last he consulted a doctor. The wound was then found to be in a septic condition. Written notice of the accident was given four days later. The county ct. judge found that the workman had not discharged the onus of proving that resps. were not prejudiced by the delay in giving notice:—Held: there was no misdirection.—DALGIESH v. GARTSIDE & CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 535, C. A.

2911. ——.]—A fish porter alleged that he pricked his finger with a fish bone when gutting fish. He continued to work for a week. He felt pain in his arm three or four days after the alleged accident, but attributed it to rheumatism. Eight days after the alleged accident, as his arm was very painful he went to the hospital, where he was told that the prick was the cause of the trouble. He there had to undergo an operation for blood poisoning due to the pricked finger. He was discharged from the hospital a fortnight after the alleged accident, but gave no notice until a week later. At the hearing the employer's witnesses were unable to remember what work was done on the morning of the accident. The county ct. judge found that the employer had been prejudiced by the delay in giving notice as these witnesses' memories were bad owing to the lapse of time between the accident & inquiry after notice was given:—Held: the workman had not discharged the onus of proving that the employer had not been prejudiced by the delay in giving notice.—UNGAR v. HOWELL (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 36, C. A.

2912. ——.]—Appct. was employed by resp. in a hop garden. On Feb. 18, 1913 he was using a heavy beadle for driving piles into the ground, but he had to drop it as he felt that he injured himself. He suffered pain in his left side, but he continued to work till Mar. 14. He made no communication at all to resp. relating to his injury, & although there was a change of his work, & it was of a lighter description, the change was not due in any respect to what had happened on Feb. 18. In Mar. appct. consulted his doctor who advised him to go to a hospital. On May 23, he was discharged from the hospital, & it was not until June 23, that he gave any notice of the accident which was alleged to have taken place on Feb. 18. The ailment from which appct. was found to be suffering was weakness of heart consequent upon strain continuing for some time thereon. It was a strain, however, which without appct. being conscious of it might certainly have been due not to any one single occurrence which could be called an "accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but to a course

---

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (a) iii.

2903 i. On workman.]—The onus of establishing that the employer has not been prejudiced lies on the claimant in those cases where notice has not been given as soon as practicable.—RAVEN v. TEMBY (1914), 16 W. A. L. R. 196.—AUS.

2903 ii. ——.]—The onus lies on a workman of showing that his employer has not been prejudiced by the workman's failure to give due notice of the accident.—SHEARER v. MILLER (1899), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 114.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, E. (b) i. & ii., & (c) i. & ii.]

of the injury:—Held: there being no notice given of either accident, there was no mistake made by the workman within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), to excuse the want of any notice. The claim was therefore barred.—ALDRED v. ROSCOE (J.) & SONS (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 352, C. A.

ii. Other Reasonable Cause.

See Sub-sect. 1, E. (c), post.

(c) Other Reasonable Cause.

i. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2926. Reasonable cause unconnected with prejudice to employer—Through want of notice.]—EKE v. HART-DYKE, No. 2304, ante.

2927. What amounts to reasonable cause—Conduct of parties—Payment & acceptance of weekly payment.]—An employer may waive his right to notice in writing of the accident by the workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), & such right is in fact waived, where, after verbal notice, the employer pays & the workman accepts a weekly payment during incapacity.—DAVIES v. POINT OF AYR COLLIERIES, LTD. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 157, C. A.

2928. —— Ignorance of law.]—ROGERS v. PASCALL & SONS, No. 2921, ante.

2929. —— Unwillingness to apply for compensation—Fear of unemployment.]—An elderly cripple met with an accident. He gave no notice to his employers, not knowing that he had permanently overstrained his diseased heart, & fearing that, if he obtained compensation, the insurance co. would prevent his being taken back to work on recovery, & intending not to claim compensation if he recovered quickly. Four months after the accident, he learnt for the first time that he was incapacitated for life, & he thereupon gave notice & brought proceedings:—Held: the delay was due to reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2.—BREAKWELL v. CLEE HILL GRANITE CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 133, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197.

2930. —— —— Expectation of recovery.]—On Apr. 3, a workman met with an accident, & though he continued at his work, the injury caused him severe pain daily. In June he had to give up work, & notice of the accident was first given in that month. He did not give notice earlier because he hoped he would get better & would not have to make any claim:—Held: this was not reasonable cause for the delay in giving notice.—WEBSTER v. COHEN BROTHERS (1913), 108 L. T. 197; 29 T. L. R. 217; 57 Sol. Jo. 244; 6 B. W. C. C. 92, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Clapp v. Carter (1914), 110 L. T. 491. Folld. Potter v. Welch, [1914] 3 K. B. 1020. Distd. Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co. (1914), 110 L. T. 441. Consd. Fox v. Barrow Hematite Steel Co. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1327. Apld. Clay v. Sherwood Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169. Consd. Fenton v. Ship Kelvin, [1925] 2 K. B. 473; Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660. Refd. Miller v. Richardson (1915), 113 L. T. 609; Watts v. Vickers (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 177; Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655; Johnson v. Harland & Wolff (1922), 16 B. W. C. C. 164; Albison v. Newroyd Mill (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 807.

—— Injury latent.]—See Sub-sect. 1, E. (c) ii., post.

—— Injury trivial.]—See Sub-sect, 1, E. (c) iii., post.

ii. Injury Latent.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2931. When a reasonable cause.]—When a workman receives an injury arising out of & in the course of his employment, which is not apparent at the time it is received, in consequence of which notice of accident is not given for a considerable time, & no claim for compensation is made within six months of the time when the injury was actually sustained, want of such notice or claim may be due to a reasonable cause, although the onus is upon the workman or his representatives to show that the employer was not prejudiced by failure or delay in giving such notice:—Held: though the onus is on the workman to show that his employers were not prejudiced by want of proper notice or by his failure to make the claim within six months, yet, the fact that the injury was not apparent at the time when it was received, was a reasonable cause for the absence of such notice of claim.—TIBBS v. WATTS, BLAKE, BEARNE & CO., LTD. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 164, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197.

2932. ——.]—A saleswoman in a shop received a shock from a fire which burnt part of the shop. Thinking she was only suffering from temporary nervous derangement she gave her employers no notice of accident, & made no claim for compensation. More than six months after the accident, it was discovered that she was suffering from a serious nervous disease. Some time after this, notice & claim were for the first time given & made. The county ct. judge found that the delay was due to reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & that the employers were not prejudiced by the delay, & awarded for the workman:—Held: there was evidence to support the award.—HOARE v. ARDING & HOBBS (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 36, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Egerton v. Moore, [1912] 2 K. B. 308; Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197. Apld. White v. Ford Motor Co. (England) (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 334. Refd. Breakwell v. Clee Hill Granite Co. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 133; Ellis v. Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 308; Dalgiesh v. Gartside (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 535; Burvill v. Vickers (1915), 114 L. T. 29; Fenton v. Ship Kelvin, [1925] 2 K. B. 473.

2933. ——.]—A workman was injured, but the injury was not apparent at first, & he continued his work for about nine months, when he became incapacitated, & had to undergo an operation. He did not give notice till the day before the operation, & did not claim compensation or bring proceedings for some time after that. The county ct. judge found that his condition was due to the accident, that the employers had not been prejudiced, & that there was reasonable cause for the delay. The employers relied upon Public Authorities' Protection Act, 1893 (c. 61), alleging that

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (c) i.

2928 i. What amounts to reasonable cause—Ignorance of law.]—Ignorance of the law is not a "reasonable excuse."—GIOVINAZZO v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1909), 13 O. W. R. 24, 1200; 19 O. L. R. 325.—CAN.

2928 ii. —— ——.]—Ignorance by a foreigner of his legal rights is neither a mistake nor reasonable cause, within the Act, to serve as an excuse for appt.'s failure to give the notice in time.—Re BRUNO & INTERNATIONAL COAL & COKE CO. (1913), 24 W. L. R. 729; 4 W. W. R. 888; 12 D. L. R. 745; 6 Alta. L. R. 269.—CAN.

d. —— Unwillingness to apply for compensation.]—LIVINGSTONE v. SUMMERLEE IRON CO., LTD., [1922] S. C. 272.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (c) ii.

2931 i. When a reasonable cause.]—RANKINE v. FIFE COAL CO., [1915] S. C. 476; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 213.—SCOT.

proceedings should have been commenced within six months of the accident:—Held: (1) there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could find the delay was reasonable & the employers were not prejudiced; (2) the Public Authorities' Protection Act, 1893 (c. 61), does not apply to proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—FRY v. CHELTENHAM CORPN. (1911), 81 L. J. K. B. 41; 105 L. T. 495; 76 J. P. 89; 28 T. L. R. 16; 56 Sol. Jo. 33; 10 L. G. R. 1; 5 B. W. C. C. 162, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197. As to (2) Consd. Tuckwood v. Rotherham Corpn., [1921] 1 K. B. 526.

2934. ——.]—BREAKWELL v. CLEE HILL GRANITE CO., LTD., No. 2929, ante.

2935. ——.]—SANDERSON v. PARKINSON & SONS, LTD., No. 2881, ante.

2936. ——.]—POTTER v. WELCH (JOHN) & SONS, LTD., No. 4082, post.

2937. ——.]—Where a workman sustained an "injury by accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, which injury fell within the term "latent," it is a "reasonable cause" for his not giving notice of the accident as soon as practicable after the happening thereof, as required by sect. 2 of that Act, where he was unaware that the illness from which he was suffering was attributable to & due to the accident.—THOMPSON v. NORTH EASTERN MARINE ENGINEERING CO. (1914), 110 L. T. 441; 7 B. W. C. C. 49, C. A.

2938. ——.]—WALTERS v. WALL & SONS, LTD., No. 2719, ante.

2939. ——.]—On Feb. 6, 1924, appct., who was one of the crew of a steam trawler, was wrecked off the coast of Iceland. He was exposed to the weather in a leaky boat & remained in his wet clothes for some days, being unable to obtain a change of clothing until Feb. 10. For some time after this appct. felt a certain amount of "shakiness," but no other ill effects from the shipwreck, & he subsequently went on two other voyages to Iceland in another of resps.' trawlers. On his return he felt ill, & found he was afflicted with bladder trouble. He saw a doctor, but was not physically tested or examined by him. He subsequently went for three other voyages, each lasting for about three weeks, & suffered from the same symptoms. On June 12, 1924, he again saw his doctor, who informed him that he was in a very serious condition & ought not to go to sea again. In Oct. he commenced arbitration proceedings, claiming compensation on the ground that he was totally incapacitated by chronic gastritis & haematuria occasioned by the exposure to which he had been subjected to in the shipwreck. He alleged that he had given verbal notice of the accident to the employers on Aug. 1. The employers denied liability on the grounds that the incapacity was not due to the shipwreck & that they had not received notice of the accident as soon as practicable after the happening thereof & were prejudiced in their defence by want of such notice. The county ct. judge found that the events in Iceland constituted an "accident"; that the disease from which appct. was suffering on June 12, & subsequently was the consequential result of the accident; that the claim for compensation was made within six months; that the notice was not given as soon as practicable; & that the employers were in fact prejudiced by the delay in giving notice. He held, however, that appct. was not bound to give notice until he realised the connection of his illness with the accident & the possibility of a claim for compensation, & that looking at all the facts of the case, & particularly having regard to the extreme medical obscurity of the particular case, there was reasonable excuse for appct.'s delay in giving notice:—Held: there was evidence before the county ct. judge on which he could find that it was not until the end of July when appct. communicated with the employers that he realised the connection of cause & effect between the accident & the incapacity from which he was suffering, & there was reasonable cause for the delay in giving notice until that time. Qu.: whether the words "knowledge of the accident" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 10 (2), mean knowledge of the actual occurrence of the accident or knowledge of the accident occasioning injury to a particular workman.—FENTON v. KELVIN (OWNERS), [1925] 2 K. B. 473; 95 L. J. K. B. 316; 133 L. T. 664; 18 B. W. C. C. 328, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Albison v. Newroyd Mill (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 667. Distd. Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660.

2940. —— Delay after appearance of serious symptoms.]—A workman who seeks to obtain the benefit of the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), in respect of failure to give notice of the accident as soon as practicable after the happening thereof, must prove affirmatively that the employer has not been prejudiced thereby, otherwise the circumstances may be such as to lead the ct. to conclude that the mere lapse of time must necessarily have prejudiced the employer in his defence.

A workman who has sustained an injury of such a latent nature that he does not know for some time whether it will have any serious result may make a mistake of fact, within the meaning of "mistake" in the proviso to sect. 2 (1), of the Act, in not giving notice as soon as practicable after the happening of the accident, but so soon as he realises that he is suffering from some ailment upon which he may have occasion to rely as a consequence of the accident, he should give notice to his employer, & his failure so to do, even though it proceed from a desire to do the best for himself or his employer, will not amount to "mistake or other reasonable cause" within the proviso to the sub-sect.

Mistake does not mean mistake of law (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—EGERTON v. MOORE, [1912] 2 K. B. 308; 106 L. T. 663; 5 B. W. C. C. 281, C. A.; sub nom. EDGERTON v. MOORE, 81 L. J. K. B. 696.

Annotations:—Consd. Ellis v. Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 308. Folld. Clapp v. Carter (1914), 110 L. T. 491. Apld. Fenton v. Ship Kelvin, [1925] 2 K. B. 473. Reld. Euman v. Dalziel (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 900; Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197; Albison v. Newroyd Mill (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 667.

2941. —— ——.]—(1) In Mar. 1912, appct. while he was engaged in working for resp. fell from a loft in the stable, & injured his head. He was semi-conscious for a time. He was away from his work for two & a half days. He then returned & continued to work until Oct. 1912. But during all that time he was suffering from headache, which he attributed to the fall that he had had. His mind went off its balance at that date & he became in a condition not to give notice of the accident which had happened to him. It was not until Mar. 1913, that any written notice of the accident was given, or claim for compensation was made, as required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2:—Held: the circumstances of the case were not such as to render applicable the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act,

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, E. (c) ii. & iii.; sub-sects. 2, 3 & 4, A.]

1906 (c. 58), s. 2, there being no mistake or other reasonable cause" on which appct. could rely; &, therefore, he was not entitled to compensation.

(2) Order for costs of appeal made against approved society on their admitting that they had instituted proceedings in the workman's name in accordance with National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2).—CLAPP v. CARTER (1914), 110 L. T. 491; 58 Sol. Jo. 232; 7 B. W. C. C. 28, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Clay v. Sherwood Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169. Refd. Potter v. Welch, [1914] 3 K. B. 1020; Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 49; Zillwood v. Winch (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 60; Fox v. Barrow Hematite Steel Co. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1327. As to (2) Refd. Rushton v. Skey (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1503.

iii. Injury apparently Trivial.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2942. When a reasonable cause.]—POTTER v. WELCH (JOHN) & SONS, LTD., No. 4082, post.

2943. ——.]—HAWARD v. ROWSELL & MATTHEWS, No. 2694, ante.

2944. ——.]—A bricklayer ruptured himself lifting an unusually heavy bucket of cement. He felt pain but thought he had only ricked himself. In a few minutes he was able to go on with his work. On getting home he found a lump the size of a small marble in the place where he had felt the pain. He did not know it was rupture. He went on working some three months without much inconvenience. The rupture then gave him pain. He saw a doctor who ordered him to wear a truss. He said he could not work with a truss, & gave notice of accident, & claimed compensation. The county ct. judge found that the man reasonably did not know that he was suffering from rupture or an injury that was likely to incapacitate him in any way. He found upon this that there was a reasonable cause for the delay in giving notice:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—ZILLWOOD v. WINCH (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 60, C. A.

2945. ——.]—WHITE v. FORD MOTOR CO. (ENGLAND), LTD., No. 2855, ante.

2946. ——.]—HOWARTH v. CLIFTON & KERSLEY COAL CO., LTD., No. 2901, ante.

2947. ——.]—In July, 1918, a workman met with a slight injury to his eye, but continued to do his work. This injury set up inflammation, & he was seen from time to time by two medical men, who took the view that the eye might get well again, & that an operation would not be necessary. Some ten months after the accident, the eye being no better, he was advised to go into hospital & have it removed. The eye was removed, & immediately on his coming out of hospital he gave notice to his employers of the accident & made a claim for compensation. The county ct. judge found as a fact that the delay in giving notice had not prejudiced the employers in their defence, & that in the circumstances there was reasonable cause for not giving notice or making the claim earlier. Accordingly he awarded the compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the findings, & no misdirection.—DOBSON v. ANGLO-SAXON PETROLEUM CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 95, C. A.

2948. ——.]—ATKISON v. NEWROYD MILL, LTD., No. 2857, ante.

2949. —— Possibility of serious development.]—(1) If a workman who has been injured by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, has reason to believe that, although he is apparently well, the accident may be attended with serious consequences, then he must give notice to his employer "as soon as practicable after the happening thereof" as required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1). But it is not necessary for such notice to be given by every workman who has suffered some slight injury such as a scratch on his finger.

(2) Where, however, a workman sustained what was apparently only an abrasion on the palm of his hand, but, although his hand gradually got worse, he continued working at his employment for some days after the happening of the accident & he delayed in giving notice thereof to his employers until he was found to be suffering from septic poisoning:—Held: in the circumstances of the case the county ct. judge had come to a perfectly right conclusion in deciding that the delay was not brought within the exception "mistake or other reasonable cause," & the employers were thereby "prejudiced in their defence."—SNELLING v. NORTON HILL COLLIERY CO. (1913), 109 L. T. 81; 6 B. W. C. C. 506, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Dalgiesh v. Gartside (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 535; Potter v. Welch, [1914] 3 K. B. 1020; Eydmann v. Premier Accumulator Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 121; Fox v. Barrow Hematite Steel Co. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1327. As to (2) Apld. Eydmann v. Premier Accumulator Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 121. Consd. Wassall v. Russell (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1606.

2950. —— Delay after serious developments.]—On Thursday, Aug. 20, 1914, a miner, while working in his employment, was struck in the eye by a piece of coal. It caused a certain amount of pain & pricking. He stopped work, washed his eye, & did no more work that day, except that he assisted a fellow employee to push tubs. He did not go to work on Friday because of his injury. From Saturday the colliery was closed for a five days' holiday. He first saw a doctor on Monday, Aug. 24. Before seeing the doctor he had treated his eye with a lotion himself. The eye ultimately became septic, & he lost the sight of it. He gave no notice of the accident until Aug. 27. Upon a claim for compensation the original triviality of the injury was alleged as "reasonable cause" for want of notice; it was not contended that the employers were not prejudiced:—Held: there was no "reasonable cause" for the want of notice within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (a), & the claim was therefore barred.—FOX v. BARROW HEMATITE STEEL CO., LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1327; 113 L. T. 528; 8 B. W. C. C. 431, C. A.

2951. —— ——.]—On Wednesday, Sept. 24, 1913, a workman slightly injured a finger while working in his employment. He got it bound up with a rag, but went on working for that & the two following days. On Saturday, Sept. 27, he went to work as usual in the morning, but at 10 a.m. had to cease working, because he could not hold his hammer. He first saw a doctor on Monday morning, Sept. 29, who found that the finger was then in a septic condition, & had been so for some time before. He gave no notice till Monday morning:—Held: as from 10 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 27, there was no reasonable cause for the want of notice, & the employers had been PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (c) iii.

2942 i. When a reasonable cause.]—RANKINE v. ALLOA COAL CO. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 375.—SCOT.

2942 ii. ——.]—FLOOD v. SMITH & LEISHMAN, [1915] S. C. 726.—SCOT.

prejudiced thereby, & the proceedings were therefore barred under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (a).—WASSALL v. RUSSELL (JAMES) & SONS, LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1606; 112 L. T. 902; 8 B. W. C. C. 230, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—LIMITATION OF TIME FOR CLAIM.

See Sect. 8, sub-sects. 3 & 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—CONDITIONS AS TO RESIDENCE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 16; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 66, 67.

2952. Workman enlisting in army—Sent to India with regiment—Whether ceasing to reside within United Kingdom.]—HARRISON (J. & C.), LTD. v. DOWLING, No. 2969, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—MEDICAL EXAMINATION.

A. Examination in First Instance.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 17, 19, 20; Statutory Rules & Orders (1907), No. 505; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 58.

2953. Right of employer to examination—Although no notice given of accident—By workman.]—(1) Where proceedings by a workman for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), are pending the employer may, under Sched. I., clause 3, require the workman to submit himself for examination by a duly qualified medical practitioner, notwithstanding that the workman has not given notice of the accident in respect of which the compensation is claimed.

(2) An arbitrator has no power to make it a condition of an order that a workman shall submit himself for examination by a duly qualified medical practitioner that the employer shall pay the expense of the attendance at such examination of a medical practitioner on the workman's behalf. —OSBORN v. VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, [1900] 2 Q. B. 91; 69 L. J. Q. B. 606; 82 L. T. 491; 16 T. L. R. 333; 2 W. C. C. 130, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Morgan v. Dixon (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 363; Major v. South Kirkby, Featherstone & Hunsworth Collieries, [1913] 2 K. B. 145.

2954. —— Whether limited to one examination.]—(1) Under Sched. I., clause (4), which provides for medical examinations between the accident & the award, the employer is not restricted to one examination only, immediately after notice.

(2) The regulations of the Secretary of State dated June 28, 1907, as to times & intervals at which examinations may be required are made applicable by Sched. I., clause (15), to both clauses (4) & (14) of Sched. I.

(3) A workman was severely injured by an accident arising in the course of his employment. His employers admitted liability & paid him the weekly compensation to which he would have been entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but by arrangement with him, & not under the Act. He was attended by the employers' doctors. At the end of three years upon their doctors' advice the employers stopped payment of the compensation. The workman then commenced proceedings under the Act claiming compensation from the time when the payment was stopped. Thereupon the employers required the workman to submit himself to medical examination at their expense, but the workman refused:—Held: the proceedings must be suspended until the examination had taken place as provided by Sched. I., clause (4), of the Act.—MAJOR v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE & HUNSWORTH COLLIERIES, LTD., [1913] 2 K. B. 145; 82 L. J. K. B. 452; 108 L. T. 534; 29 T. L. R. 223; 57 Sol. Jo. 244; 6 B. W. C. C. 169, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Smith v. Davis, [1915] A. C. 528; Pudney v. France, Fenwick, Smith v. Leach, [1925] 1 K. B. 346. As to (3) Foll. Longhurst v. S.S. Clement (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 218.

2955. —— ——.]—In July, 1911, an accident occurred, & compensation was voluntarily paid until Sept. 16, 1911. The workman was medically examined on more than one occasion on behalf of the employers during this period. Compensation was stopped in Sept. 1912, & the workman filed an application for arbitration, claiming continuation of compensation. The employers requested that he should again be medically examined, but he refused. The county ct. judge found that the refusal was unreasonable, & suspended the proceedings pending examination: —Held: the proceedings were properly suspended. —LONGHURST v. CLEMENT (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 218, C. A.

2956. —— —— Further examination reasonable.]—Para. 4 of Sched. I. of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), which provides that where a workman has given notice of an accident he shall, if so required by the employer, submit himself for examination by a duly qualified medical practitioner, & if he refuses to submit to such examination, that his right to take or prosecute any proceeding under the Act in relation to compensation shall be suspended until such examination has taken place, does not contemplate only one such examination, & after the workman has been examined once the county ct. judge has power to suspend the proceedings if he refuses to submit a further medical examination when such examination appears to be reasonable. Para. 14 of the Sched. applies only to the case of a workman who is actually at the time receiving weekly payments under the Act.—SMITH v. DAVIS (D.) & SONS, LTD., [1915] A. C. 528; 84 L. J. K. B. 1125; 113 L. T. 250; 31 T. L. R. 356; 59 Sol. Jo. 397; 8 B. W. C. C. 313, H. L.

*Annotations:—Mentd. Davies v. Glyncorrwg Colliery Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 339; Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds v. Williams (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 68; Pudney v. France, Fenwick, Smith v. Leach, [1925] 1 K. B. 346.

2957. —— Power of arbitrator to impose condition.]—OSBORN v. VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, No. 2953, ante.

2958. Presence of workman's own medical attendant—Workman not entitled as of right.]—A workman who had given notice of an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), refused to submit himself for medical examination by a medical practitioner provided by his employers except upon the condition that his own medical attendant should be present throughout the examination. There were no special circumstances which required the presence of the medical attendant:—Held: (1) in the absence of special circumstances the workman was not entitled as of right to have his medical attendant present at the examination; (2) whether a request for the presence of the medical attendant was under the circumstances reasonable is question of fact to be determined by the arbitrator under the Act.

• Necessity for certificate.]—Ex p. MARTIN (1923), 23 S. R. N. S. W. 411; 40 N. S. W. W. N. 91.—AUS.

Sect. 7.—Conditions of compensation: Sub-sect. 4, A. & B. Sect. 8: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

The question whether there is a refusal or not, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to submit to an examination is a question of fact, & any reasonable requirement that may be put forward by the workman, such as, for instance, having his own medical man present, ought not & would not by any reasonable arbitrator be held to amount to a refusal to submit to examination (LORD ATKINSON).—MORGAN v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., [1912] A. C. 74; 81 L. J. P. C. 57; 105 L. T. 678; 28 T. L. R. 64; 56 Sol. Jo. 88; 5 B. W. C. C. 184, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (2) Expld. Smith v. Davis, [1915] A. C. 528.

2959. —— Request for presence—Whether reasonable or question of fact.]—MORGAN v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., No. 2958, ante.

2960. Times & intervals of examinations—Regulations of Secretary of State.]—MAJOR v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE & HUNSWORTH COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 2954, ante.

2961. Refusal of workman to submit to examination—Suspension of proceedings.]—MAJOR v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE & HUNSWORTH COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 2954, ante.

2962. — —— ——.]—LONGHURST v. CLEMENT (OWNERS), No. 2955, ante.

2963. — — ——.]—SMITH v. DAVIS (J.) & SONS, LTD., No. 2956, ante.

2964. —— Refusal a question of fact.]—MORGAN v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., No. 2958, ante.

B. While Workman in Receipt of Weekly Payments.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 18, 19, 20; Statutory Rules & Orders (1907), No. 505; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 58.

2965. Refusing or obstructing examination—Refusal of further examination by medical referee—After previous examination by employer's doctor.]—A workman in receipt of weekly payments by way of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), who has at the request of the employer, under Sched. I., clause 11, to the Act, submitted to examination by the employer's doctor, cannot be required by the employer to submit to a further examination by a medical referee appointed under the Act, & he may, if the employer suspends the weekly payments, proceed to arbitration under the Act.—NEAGLE v. NIXON'S NAVIGATION CO., LTD, EDWARDS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD., [1904] 1 K. B. 339; 73 L. J. K. B. 165; 68 J. P. 297; 52 W. R. 356; 20 T. L. R. 160; sub nom. NEAGLE v. NIXON'S NAVIGATION CO., EDWARDS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, HIATT v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, 90 L. T. 49; 6 W. C. C. 140, C. A.

2966. —— What amounts to refusal—Request for presence of own medical attendant.]—A medical man instructed by the employers asked a workman in receipt of weekly payments under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to submit himself to examination. The man answered that he had no objection provided his own medical man was present:—Held: he had not refused to submit himself to examination within the meaning of the Act.—DEVITT v. BAINBRIDGE (OWNERS), [1909] 2 K. B. 802; 78 L. J. K. B. 1059; 101 L. T. 299; 2 B. W. C. C. 383, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Morgan v. Dixon, [1912] A. C. 74.

—— —— ——.]—Compare No. 2958, ante.

2967. —— —— Demand for examination in office of workman's solicitor—& in presence of solicitor.]—A workman in receipt of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was required by his employers to submit himself for examination by a certain duly qualified medical practitioner. The workman refused to do so unless the examination was at his solrs.' office or in his solrs.' presence. The employers repeated their request, but stated that the workman's medical adviser might attend at the examination. The workman again refused unless his conditions were complied with:—Held: on these facts, there was a refusal to submit to examination within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (14).

It cannot be too well known that a solr.'s office is not, in ordinary circumstances, a proper place at which to hold a medical examination of a workman (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—WARBY v. PLAISTOWE & CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 67, C. A.

2968. —— —— Demand for examination at surgery of workman's doctor.]—A workman refused to attend for medical examination at the residence of the employer's medical man, but offered to submit himself to examination at the surgery of his own doctor:—Held: on the facts, there was evidence to support the finding of the county ct. judge that the workman had not refused to submit himself for examination within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (14).—HARDING v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 59, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Warby v. Plaistowe (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 67.

2969. —— What amounts to obstruction—Departure abroad—With territorial regiment.]—A workman, who had met with an accident in the course of his employment was in receipt of co pensation for partial incapacity under an award, enlisted in a Territorial regiment. The employers subsequently applied for a review & termination of the compensation, but, on their writing to the workman's solrs. requiring him to be medically examined, they were told that he was in India with his regiment. Thereupon they applied to suspend the payments of compensation, on the grounds, first, that by going abroad the workman had obstructed his being medically examined; & secondly, that he had ceased to reside in the United Kingdom:—Held: the workman had in no way obstructed the medical examination so as to entitle the employers to a suspension of the compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 14, & he had not ceased to reside in the United Kingdom within the meaning of Sched. I., clause 18, of the Act.—HARRISON (J. & C.), LTD. v. DOWLING, [1915] 3 K. B. 218; 84 L. J. K. B. 1412; 113 L. T. 622; 31 T. L. R. 486; 59 Sol. Jo. 612; 8 B. W. C. C. 544, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

f. Refusing or obstructing examination — What amounts to refusal.]—DAVIDSON v. SUMMERLEE & MOSSEND IRON & STEEL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 991; 40 Sc. L. R. 764; 11 S. L. T. 269.—SCOT.

g. —— What amounts to obstruction—Departure abroad.]—FINNIE v. DUNCAN (1904), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 254.—SCOT.

h. —— —— ——.]—BAIRD v. KANE (1905), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 461.—SCOT.

k. Refusal to comply with medical directions.]—In a case stated under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897:—Held: an employer was not bound to continue weekly payments to an injured workman when the continuance of his incapacity was due to his neglect to comply with certain simple 2970. Time & interval of examinations—Regulations of Secretary of State.]—MAJOR v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE & HUNSWORTH COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 2954, ante.

SECT. 8.—THE CLAIM FOR COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2971. Meaning of "claim for compensation"—Notice of claim for compensation—Not initiation of arbitration proceedings.]—(1) By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 2 (1), proceedings for the recovery under that Act of compensation for an injury shall not be maintainable unless notice of the accident has been given as soon as practicable, & unless "the claim for compensation with respect to such accident has been made within six months from the occurrence of the accident causing the injury. . . ."

A workman who had been injured in the course of his employment sent to his employers within six months a notice of the accident, & also a notice stating that he claimed a certain amount as compensation for the injury received by him. More than six months after the accident he filed a request for arbn. in the county ct.:—Held: the proceedings were in time.

(2) An employer can be an appct. for arbn.

(3) "The claim for compensation" means, not the initiation of proceedings before the tribunal by which the compensation is to be assessed, but a notice of a claim for compensation sent to the workman's employer.

The requirement of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 2 (1), that the claim for compensation is to be made within six months of the accident is fulfilled by a written notice served within the time limited by the injured workman on the employer, referring by date to the accident & stating the amount of compensation demanded.

(4) Construction of the Acts (see No. 2030, ante).—POWELL v. MAIN COLLIERY CO., [1900] A. C. 366; 69 L. J. Q. B. 758; 83 L. T. 85; 65 J. P. 100; 49 W. R. 49; 16 T. L. R. 466; 2 W. C. C. 29, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Leslie v. Robson (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150. As to (2) Refd. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1. As to (3) Refd. Wright v. Bagnall, [1900] 2 Q. B. 240; Oliver v. Nautilus Steam Shipping Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 639; Rouse v. Dixon, [1904] 2 K. B. 628; Thompson v. Goold, [1910] A. C. 409; Stevens v. Thorne, [1916] 2 K. B. 69; King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1; Leslie v. Robson (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150; Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655; Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660; Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. As to (4) Consd. Lowe v. Myers, [1906] 2 K. B. 265; Darlington v. Roscoe, [1907] 1 K. B. 219. Refd. Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 428; Sutton v. G. N. Ry., [1909] 2 K. B. 791; Carolan v. Harrington, [1911] 2 K. B. 733; Taylor v. Cripps (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 623; Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169; King v. Edinburgh Collieries Co. (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 324.

2972. Whether claim must specify any sum.]—POWELL v. MAIN COLLIERY CO., No. 2971, ante.

2973. ——.]—A claim for compensation "as per claim in the Employers' Liability Act" is a valid claim.—LINKLATER v. WEBSTER & SON, LTD. (1904), 6 W. C. C. 50, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Thompson v. Goold (1910), 103 L. T. 81.

2974. ——.]—In making a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), it is not necessary to specify any sum.—THOMPSON v. GOOLD & CO., [1910] A. C. 409; 79 L. J. K. B. 905; 103 L. T. 81; 26 T. L. R. 526; 54 Sol. Jo. 599; 3 B. W. C. C. 392, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Allen v. Hoey (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 424; Coulson v. South Moor Colliery Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 901; Prophet v. Roberts (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 975; Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655.

2975. Erroneous claim—Claim under wrong statute—Employers' Liability Acts.]—LINKLATER v. WEBSTER & SON, LTD., No. 2973, ante.

2976. When claim "made"—Letter duly posted to employers—Presumption of delivery—Rebuttal.]—A claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is not "made" by a workman within sect. 2 of the Act until it has been communicated to the employers; but when a letter making a claim has been properly addressed, stamped, & posted, a presumption arises that it has been delivered, which it is for the employers to rebut.

On & prior to Sept. 18, 1915, a munition worker met with accidents arising out of & in the course of her employment whereby one of her eyes was injured, & after working on for about a fortnight became incapacitated until the following July. On Mar. 22, 1916, the employers received notice of claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but refused to accept it, as it was not made within six months of the accident as required by sect. 2 of the Act. The worker, however alleged that she had posted a notice of claim to the works manager on Dec. 29, 1915. The employers called evidence to show that all letters were received by their correspondence department & sorted & remitted to the various departments, & proved that no such letter had been received by the claims department. No one was called from the correspondence department. The county ct. judge held that a notice of claim had been duly posted to the employers on Dec. 29, 1915, & made an award in favour of the worker without making it clear by the judgment whether he was of opinion that the letter had been received & lost in the correspondence department or lost in the post. He also took the view that in any case the failure to give notice within six months was occasioned by reasonable cause:—Held: (1) there was no ground on which the failure to give notice of claim within six months could be held to be occasioned by reasonable cause; but (2) the county ct. judge must be taken to have decided that the letter had reached the employers' correspondence office & been lost there.—WATTS v. VICKERS, LTD. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 177; 116 L. T. 172; 33 T. L. R. 137; 10 B. W. C. C. 126, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—FORM.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2977. General rule—Form making clear to employer that compensation claimed.]—(1) Appct., having been injured by accident while in deft.'s service, claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). He did not medical directions which had been given him.—DOWDS v. BENNIR & SON (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 268; 40 Sc. L. R. 239; 10 S. L. T. 439.—SCOT.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.

2972 i. Whether claim must specify any sum.]—In order to satisfy the requirements of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, a "claim" for compensation must be a claim for a definite & specified amount, & not merely an intimation of a demand, for compensation.—MAVER v. PARK (1905), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 250.—SCOT.

2972 ii. ——.]—A "claim for compensation" under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, must be a claim for a specific sum, & not merely an intimation of a demand for compensation.—KILPATRICK v. WEMYSS COAL CO., LTD., [1907] S. C. 320.—SCOT.

Sect. 8.—The claim for compensation: Sub-sects. 2, 3 & 4, A.] suggest that he had himself given notice of any claim for compensation under the Act, but his wife gave evidence to the effect that she had written to resp. each week for her husband's wages, & that resp. had paid five weeks immediately after the accident & then stopped payment. During the sixth week she saw resp. at his house & asked him, if he would not compensate appct., whether he would compensate her & the children. He replied she was nothing to him or he to her, but he was sorry for them:—Held: there had been no notice of a claim for compensation under the Act, & appct. was therefore not entitled to an award of compensation.

(2) A claim need not be in formal words, but it must be made in some way which makes it clear to resp.'s mind that a claim for compensation under the Act is being made (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—JOHNSON v. WOOTTON (1911), 27 T. L. R. 487; 4 B. W. C. C. 258, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Reld. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1.

2978. —— ——.]—A workman was injured on Sept. 14, 1920. A letter was written to the employers on Sept. 16 intimating that compensation would be claimed. This was followed by an interview between the employers' insurance co. & appct.'s solr. which showed that the insurance co. were clearly under the impression that a claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was being put forward. Appct. did not make an application for proceedings until July, 1921, & the employers raised the issue that no claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was made within six months of the occurrence of the accident. The county ct. judge made an award in favour of the employers on this point, but also made an alternative award in the event of his being mistaken:—Held: on the evidence, appct. had discharged the onus of showing that it was brought to the mind of the employers that a claim was being made, & there was no evidence to support the award.—CRAIG v. CRYPTO ELECTRICAL CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 71, C. A.

2979. Need not be in writing.]—LOWE v. MYERS (M.) & SONS, No. 3012, post.

2980. Formal words unnecessary.]—JOHNSON v. WOOTTON, No. 2977, ante.

2981. Verbal claim—Interview with employer—By wife of workman.]—JOHNSON v. WOOTTON, No. 2977, ante.

2982. —— ——.]—A workgirl had her finger injured by accident in the course of her employment on Mar. 20, 1920. She became partially incapacitated in consequence. On Aug. 5, 1920, the secretary of a friendly society in which the girl was insured wrote to the employers, notifying them that the society, pursuant to National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (3), "is making advances to Miss Nancy Jacobs . . . an insured person, pending the settlement of her claim against you for compensation or damages. . . ." Appct., in her evidence, spoke of an interview which she had had with her employer after the accident. According to the notes of the county ct. judge that interview was as follows: "I went & saw resp. & showed him a certificate I got from the doctor. He refused to look at it, said, 'I cannot help it in any way because you are not in the Compensation Act.'" The county ct. judge made an award in favour of the employer, saying that he could not hold that the visit to resp., spoken to by appct., was the making of the claim, & that the letter from the secretary of the friendly society only appeared to assume that a claim either had been made, or probably would be made, & he could find no facts from which to infer that the failure to make a claim within six months was due to mistake or to any reasonable cause:—Held: there must be a new trial, as the notes of the county ct. judge appeared to be incomplete.—JACOBS v. MANDELBAUM (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 206, C. A.

2983. Claim by letter—Request for wages.]—A woman engaged as cook at a hospital, living at her own home, injured her knee while at work, & was incapacitated. A fortnight later she wrote to the employers, asking what they would do for her as she had got to find & pay a substitute at her work, & her approved society upon which she was claiming, wanted to know what she was receiving from her employers. Some wages then due to her were subsequently paid. No other claim was made until after the lapse of more than six months:—Held: the letter was a claim for wages due, & not a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & there being no other claim within six months of the accident proceedings to recover compensation could not be maintained.—ABBOTT v. BIGGLESWADE JOINT HOSPITAL BOARD (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 107, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284; King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1.

2984. —— Letter "without prejudice."]—A workman was injured by accident on Feb. 7, 1918, when in the employment of resps. In Sept. 1921, he filed a request for arbitration, claiming compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). On the claim coming on for hearing, the county ct. judge said that no claim had been made within six months of the occurrence of the accident. He declined to accept, as evidence that a claim had been made, a letter marked "without prejudice," & made an award in favour of the employers without hearing further evidence. No other evidence of a claim having been made was tendered:—Held: the learned county ct. judge was right in rejecting the letter marked "without prejudice," & as there was no evidence of any claim having been made within six months, the award was justified.—BISHOP v. CIVIL SERVICE SUPPLY ASSOCN. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 128, C. A.

2985. —— Claiming damages.]—The father of a workman, who on June 14, 1924, when twenty years old, was killed in an accident during his employment, wrote to the employers on June 28, 1924, that he was submitting a claim for £1,500 for the loss of his son, & on June 11, 1925, brought an action in the K. B. Div. for damages, but gave notice of discontinuance of that action on Aug. 28, 1925. On Oct. 15, 1925, he filed a request for arbitration, claiming as a dependant of his son under Workmen's Compensation Acts. The claim for damages was relied upon as sufficient claim under Workmen's Compensation Acts. The county ct. judge found that no claim for compensation had been made within six months from the time of the death of the son, & consequently the claim was barred by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1). It was not suggested that there was any reasonable cause for delay in making a claim under Workmen's Compensation Acts:—Held: the claim for damages contained in the letter of June 28, 1924, was not a claim under Workmen's Compensation Acts, & such claim being out of time was therefore barred.—STAFFORD v. PETTIT (D.), LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 185, C. A.

2986. Printed exception in statutory form—Release by seaman of claims on discharge—Exception of claims under Compensation Acts.]—HARPER v. HARPER, No. 3014, post.

2987. Inquiry of employer by workman—As to likelihood of obtaining compensation.]—PROPHET v. ROBERTS, No. 3020, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—TIME FOR MAKING.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2988. Within six months — Of accident.]—POWELL v. MAIN COLLIERY CO., No. 2971, ante.

2989. ——— ———.]—A workman in 1901 became a member of an accident society, a scheme certified under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3, for five years from 1898, & shortly afterwards met with an accident causing permanent incapacity. In 1903 the scheme expired by effluxion of time, & a new scheme having the same funds was certified; the workman did not become a member of this new scheme, but weekly payments were continued. Under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the scheme was not re-certified. Weekly payments, however, were still made to the workman out of the funds as long as they lasted, but in Nov. 1912, they became completely exhausted. The workman then claimed compensation from the employers:—Held: as the workman had contracted out of the Act, the employers were under no liability to him under the Act. Semble: delay in making a claim would have been sufficient to avoid liability.—HAWORTH v. ANDREW KNOWLES & SONS, LTD. ACCIDENT SOCIETY (1903), 19 T. L. R. 658; 5 W. C. C. 57, C. A.

Annotation:—Expld. Allen v. G. E. Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 243.

2990. ——— ———.]—SANDERSON v. PARKINSON & SONS, LTD., No. 2881, ante.

2991. ——— Of death—Claim by dependant—Claim by workman previously lodged.]—A claim by dependant of deceased workman, being an entirely separate & independent claim from any claim made by the workman before his death, must be made within six months of the death, in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2, notwithstanding that a claim had previously been made by deceased.—WILSON v. MAPLE MILL, LTD. (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 666; 134 L. T. 138; 18 B. W. C. C. 465, C. A.

2992. Unaffected by Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893 (c. 61).]—FRY v. CHELTENHAM CORPN., No. 2933, ante.

2993. Proof that claim within time—Onus on applicant.]—A professional football player was injured when playing, & claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The employers contended that no claim for compensation had been made within six months from the date of the injury. The judge made no finding on that point:—Held: the onus is upon appct. to prove that a claim was made within six months, or if he does not prove this, he must then show that he comes within the proviso of s. 2 (1) (b) of the Act.—ROBERTS v. CRYSTAL PALACE FOOTBALL CLUB, LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 51, C. A.

2994. Industrial disease — Certificate dating further back than six months.]—MOORE v. NAVAL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3033, post.

———.]—See, generally, Sect. 22, post.

2995. Whether limitation formality or technicality.]—PROPHET v. ROBERTS, No. 3020, post.

2996. ———.]—ATHERTON v. CHORLEY COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3030, post.

2997. No obligation to make "as soon as practicable."]—HILL v. HOLLIDAY (L. B.) & CO., No. 3037, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—FAILURE TO CLAIM WITHIN TIME—REASONABLE CAUSE.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

2998. Question of law.]—MOORE v. NAVAL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3033, post.

2999. ———.]—On Jan. 31, 1917, appct., while in the employ of resp. railway co., sustained a rupture. He reported the accident to an official of the co., who told him to get first aid, which he did, & was supplied with a truss. He continued to work for the co., though not doing his usual heavy work, for which he was incapacitated, & the co. paid him his full wages until Apr. 5, 1919, when he was discharged. He then made a claim for compensation, & his application was refused by the county ct. judge on the ground that the claim had not been made within six months from the occurrence of the accident, & that the failure to make a claim was not occasioned by "reasonable cause" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b). The workman appealed:—Held: the function of the arbitrator in such a case was to find the facts, & then to direct himself, as matter of law, whether those facts constituted "reasonable cause" within the sect. It was open to the Ct. of Appeal if they thought that the arbitrator had come to a wrong conclusion of law to reverse his decision & send the case back to him. In the present case the failure to make a claim within six months was, under the circumstances, occasioned by "reasonable cause."

[The employer] ought not to be deprived of the

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.

2988 i. Within six months—Of accident.]—SMOLIK v. WALTERS (1912), 20 W. L. R. 57; 4 Alta. L. R. 179.—CAN.

2988 ii. ——— ———.]—BERGE v. MACKENZIE, MANN & CO. (1915), 31 W. L. R. 936; 24 D. L. R. 575; 8 Alta. L. R. 235.—CAN.

2988 iii. ——— ———.]—ALLEN v. HOEY (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 424.—IR.

2988 iv. ——— ———.]—An application to the sheriff as arbiter under the Act to fix the compensation is itself "a claim for compensation," & if brought within six months of the accident does not require to be preceded by any other form of claim.—FRASER v. GREAT NORTH OF SCOTLAND RY. CO. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 908; 38 Sc. L. R. 653; 9 S. L. T. 96.—SCOT.

2988 v. ——— ———.]—O'NEILL v. MOTHERWELL, [1907] S. C. 1076.—SCOT.

2988 vi. ——— ———.]—A workman who was injured through an accident occurring at 11.30 a.m. Nov. 24, 1908, lodged a claim for compensation with his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, at 5.30 p.m. May 24, 1909. In an application for compensation:—Held: the claim had been made within six months from the accident as required by s. (2) (1) of the Act.—PEGGIE v. WEMYSS COAL CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 93.—SCOT.

2988 vii. ——— ———.]—DEVONS v. ANDERSON (ALEXANDER) & SONS, [1911] S. C. 181; 48 Sc. L. R. 187; [1910] 2 S. L. T. 401; 4 B. W. C. C. 354.—SCOT.

l. ——— Of death.]—FOLEY v. HARDIE & CO., [1923] 2 I. R. 85; 16 B. W. C. C. 350.—IR.

m. ——— ———.]—KYLE v. M'GINTY, [1911] S. C. 589; 48 Sc. L. R. 474; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 272; 4 B. W. C. C. 389.—SCOT.

n. Within one year—Of death.]—CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. v. ROBINSON (1891), 19 S. C. R. 292; revsd. [1892] A. C. 481.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

o. Different cause from cause pleaded.]—BUTT v. EATON (JOHN W.), LTD. (1920), 21 S. R. N. S. W. 390.—AUS.

Sect. 8.—The claim for compensation: Sub-sect. 4, A., B., C. & D.]

protection [given by the Act] unless all the circumstances warrant the conclusion that reasonable cause for not complying with the statute has been proved to exist. I think that the length of time which has elapsed since the expiry of the six months must always be a very material factor in determining whether or not that state of things has been proved to exist (EVE, J.).—HILLMAN v. LONDON, BRIGHTON & SOUTH COAST RY. CO., [1920] 1 K. B. 284; 89 L. J. K. B. 334; 122 L. T. 214; 64 Sol. Jo. 82; 12 B. W. C. C. 323, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Leslie v. Robson (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150. Apld. Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655.

3000. Further delay after reasonable cause established—Whether bar to proceedings.]—PROPHET v. ROBERTS, No. 3020, post.

3001. —— ——.] — HILLMAN v. LONDON, BRIGHTON & SOUTH COAST RY. CO., No. 2999, ante.

3002. —— ——.]—LINGLEY v. FIRTH (THOMAS) & SONS, No. 3035, ante.

B. Mistake—Ignorance of Law.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

3003. Ignorance of law no mistake—Ignorance of statutory right.]—A housemaid injured her knee. She continued to receive her full wage for a year & seven months, being ill for a good part of the time. She was then discharged, & brought proceedings. She had made no claim for compensation & gave as her reason for not having done so that she did not know of the Act of Parliament:—Held: this was not a mistake or other reasonable cause for not making claim.—JUDD v. METROPOLITAN ASYLUMS BOARD (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 420, C. A.

Annotation:—Follid. Leslie v. Robson (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150.

3004. —— ——.]—Appct. had her wrist injured, while in resp.'s employment, on Apr. 11, 1919. She told her employer of the injury, & he gave her advice as to treatment. She continued to do light work with her right hand, & was paid full wages until Aug., when she was informed that she would have to leave. She was paid up to Oct. 6, & left on the following day. On Nov. 2, she went to see a doctor, who told her to go & see her solr., which she did, & on Jan. 26, 1920, she filed a request for arbn. The county ct. judge in his judgment, said: "The only inference to be drawn from the evidence of the doctor & the visit of appct. to her solr., is that up to that time she was not aware she had any rights under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but if she was aware of them, no reasonable ground has been shown for not making the claim within the statutory six months." He therefore made an award in favour of resp.:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—LESLIE v. ROBSON (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150, C. A.

3005. —— ——.]—A workman was injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment on Oct. 13, 1922. He was taken to hospital, where he remained until Nov. 3, 1923. He made no claim for compensation until Nov. 6, 1923. Medical evidence was given that while in hospital appct. was not in a fit state to transact business. The county ct. judge held that in these circumstances there was reasonable cause for his failure to make a claim within six months, & made an award accordingly. The workman stated at the hearing that he was ignorant of the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection. Ignorance of the Act, though not in itself reasonable cause for failure to make a claim, does not necessarily mean there cannot at the same time be reasonable cause on other sufficient evidence.—MAUND v. BARTON (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 131, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Aldridge v. Warwickshire Coal Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 439.

3006. —— Ignorance of statutory requirements.]—While in applt.'s employment, on May 13, 1923, the workman had an accident &, later on, feeling unwell he went to his panel doctor who diagnosed influenza & treated him for that complaint for two weeks; he then said he thought it was lumbago & for five weeks attended him, but then sent him to a surgeon who said he had twisted his back & should have an operation. On Aug. 4, 1923, notice of the accident was given, & on Oct. 5 a bone was removed by operation. No claim for compensation was raised until Nov. 19, 1923, which was six days over the period of six months from the date of the accident within which time the claim had to be made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1). The workman in his evidence said that he thought the delay in making his claim was covered by the notice given of the accident. The county ct. judge found that owing to conflicting medical advice & the conclusion of the workman that all legal requirements had been satisfied there was justification for the delay in making the claim & made an award:—Held: the claim not having been made within the time laid down by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), & there being no reasonable cause shown for the delay within the meaning of sub-clause (b) of that sect., as ignorance of what was required by the Act was not reasonable cause & it had not been shown that the workman was at the material time unfit to transact business, the decision of the county ct. judge was wrong.—ALDRIDGE v. WARWICKSHIRE COAL CO., LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 439; 18 B. W. C. C. 131, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660.

3007. —— Other reasonable cause not excluded.]—MAUND v. BARTON, No. 3005, ante.

C. Absence from United Kingdom.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

3008. Absence a question of fact—Ability of workman to return within time limit.]—A sailor employed on board a ship on the west coast of South America met with an accident in Oct. 1910, as a result of which he sustained a severe wound on the head. The captain took him on shore & had the wound stitched up, but he did not recover,

---

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

3003 1. Ignorance of law no mistake—Ignorance of statutory right.]—A workman failed to make a claim within six months of the accident owing to his ignorance of the existence of the Act:—Held: this was not a mistake or other reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, & he was barred from recovering compensation.—MELVILLE v. MCCARTHY (1912), 47 I. L. T. 57.—IR.

p. Whether mistake reasonable.]—"Mistake" referred to in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1910, s. 12, includes a mistake of law or of mixed law & fact, as well as a mistake of fact, & a mistake having been established no question of the reasonableness of that mistake arises.—MURRAY v. BAXTER (1914), 15 S. R. N. S. W. 171; 32 N. S. W. W. N. 9.—AUS.

& was eventually discharged. He went to various hospitals in America, but in vain, & was sent back to England in Sept. 1912, as a distressed seaman. In Nov., 1912, he made a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & the county ct. judge found that his failure to make a claim within six months was "due to" his absence from the United Kingdom, although he might have returned to England as a distressed seaman in time to make a claim within six months from the date of the accident, as provided by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b):—Held: no distinction could be drawn between the words "due to" used by the judge & the language of the Act "occasioned by"; whether the workman's delay in claiming was occasioned by absence from the United Kingdom or not was a question of fact to be decided by the judge; & appct. ought not to be precluded from obtaining compensation because he had stuck to his work.—DIGHT v. CRASTER HALL (OWNERS), [1913] 3 K. B. 700; 82 L. J. K. B. 1307; 109 L. T. 200; 29 T. L. R. 676; 6 B. W. C. C. 674, C. A.

D. Conduct of Employer.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

3009. Admission of liability by employer—Amount of compensation left open.]—The provision of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 2 (1), which requires the claim for compensation to be made within six months of the occurrence of the accident causing the injury, is not necessarily an absolute bar to proceedings for the assessment of compensation commenced after six months by an injured workman, & the county ct. judge or other arbitrator has jurisdiction to inquire whether there are any circumstances in the case to debar the employer from raising that defence. An agreement arrived at between the parties shortly after the accident that there is a statutory liability on the employer to pay compensation, the amount of compensation being left open for future settlement, is evidence upon which the judge or arbitrator may properly find that the employer is estopped from setting up the defence that the request for arbitration was not filed within six months of the accident.—WRIGHT v. BAGNALL (JOHN) & SONS, LTD., [1900] 2 Q. B. 240; 69 L. J. Q. B. 551; 82 L. T. 346; 64 J. P. 420; 48 W. R. 533; 16 T. L. R. 327; 44 Sol. Jo. 376; 2 W. C. C. 36, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Rendall v. Hill's Dry Docks & Engineering Co., [1900] 2 Q. B. 245. Consd. Luckie v. Merry, [1915] 3 K. B. 83. Refd. Oliver v. Nautilus Steam Shipping Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 639.

3010. Payment by employer—On account of compensation due—No admission of liability.]—A workman having been injured by an accident, his employers paid him weekly through an insurance co. one-half the amount of his wages, taking a receipt which expressed that the money was received "on account of compensation which may be or become due to me under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37)"; the payments continued to be made for ten months after the accident, when they ceased. The workman then filed a request for arbn. in the county ct.:—Held: there being no evidence of any admission on the part of the employers of their liability under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), to pay compensation, they were not estopped from taking the objection that the request for arbn. was out of time.—RENDALL v. HILL'S DRY DOCKS & ENGINEERING CO., LTD., [1900] 2 Q. B. 245; 64 J. P. 451; 48 W. R. 530; 16 T. L. R. 368; 2 W. C. C. 40; sub nom. RANDALL v. HILL'S DRY DOCK & ENGINEERING CO., 69 L. J. Q. B. 554; 82 L. T. 521, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Oliver v. Nautilus Steam Shipping Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 639; Luckie v. Merry, [1915] 3 K. B. 83.

3011. —— ——.]—Semble: notice of injury, payment of compensation, & a request for arbn. do not amount to a claim.

The evidence . . . seemed to be in favour of the view that there was an estoppel (COLLINS, M.R.).—LEE v. CORTONWOOD COLLIERIES CO. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 32, C. A.

3012. —— ——.]—(1) A claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), need not be in writing.

(2) Resps. to an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), by their answer stated as a fact which they desired to bring to the notice of the arbitrator that within a few weeks of the accident they had paid to appct. a certain sum which he had accepted in satisfaction of all claims, & they denied any further liability under the Act. The answer also raised the defence that no claim for compensation was made within six months of the accident. The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that there was no evidence of a claim having been made within the statutory six months:—Held: the statement in the answer as to the payment of compensation was an admission of fact on which appct. was entitled to rely & afforded some evidence of a claim having been made, & the application ought to be remitted to the county ct. judge for a rehearing.—LOWE v. MYERS (M.) & SONS, [1906] 2 K. B. 265; 75 L. J. K. B. 651; 95 L. T. 35; 22 T. L. R. 614; 8 W. C. C. 22, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) & (2) Refd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380.

3013. —— Payment ex gratiâ—While workman incapacitated.]—A workman earning at piece work from £4 to £5 injured his eye. He went into an eye infirmary for about five weeks, & his employers paid him £1 a week for about six months. No memorandum of agreement was recorded. He then resumed work as a time worker, at an average of 39*s.* a week, & compensation was stopped. This lasted for about five months, when he left to better his position. Four months later he again became totally incapacitated by reason of his eye, & claimed compensation. Employers denied liability on the ground that the claim was made out of time, & that they were prejudiced by having received no written notice as soon as practicable:—Held: the employers were estopped from setting up these defences.—TURNBULL v. VICKERS, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 396, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1. Refd. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284.

3014. —— —— ——.]—(1) A seaman met with an accident on board ship while at sea & was incapacitated thereby. On reaching port he signed the usual form of release under M. S. Act, 1894 (c. 60), from all claims for wages or otherwise in respect of the voyage, but by a note on the back of the form he excepted therefrom any claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: this did not operate as a notice of claim under the Act.

(2) The ship was worked on the "thirds" system, under which the master took two thirds of the gross profits, making certain payments & engaging the crew, while the owners took the remaining third. The master knew of the accident

Sect. 8.—The claim for compensation: Sub-sect. 4, D., E. & F.]

& told the workman, who was his brother, to apply to the managing owner, which he did, & for a period of four years from the accident he received from him weekly payments which were made ex gratiâ & without any acknowledgment of liability. The owner having ceased to make payments, the workman commenced proceedings for compensation against the master:—Held: there was "reasonable cause" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), for his failure to make a claim against the master within six months from the occurrence of the accident, & consequently the proceedings were maintainable.—HARPER v HARPER, [1916] 2 K. B. 811; 85 L. J. K. B. 1466; 115 L. T. 360; 9 B. W. C. C. 485, C. A.

3015. —— Wages.]—TURNBULL v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3013, ante.

3016. —— ——.]—On Oct. 31, 1913, appct., a horse keeper, severely injured the fingers of his left hand while in the employ of resp. Next day he told resp., who said, "You can potter about the factory until you are better," & continued to pay him his full wages until June 13, 1914, when he was dismissed for misconduct not connected with the accident. At this time he was nearly doing his old work again. Appct. said that he told resp.'s foreman that his doctor had told him to claim compensation, & that the foreman replied that he should have his wages. Appct. had been seventeen years in resp.'s employment. Appct. made no claim for compensation within the six months prescribed by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), & resp. denied liability on this ground when proceedings were commenced on Dec. 21, 1914:—Held: without deciding that in all cases payment of wages is "reasonable cause" for not making a claim within the prescribed period, the payment of wages, coupled with the other circumstances of this case, was "reasonable cause" for not making the claim within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1), & the employer was therefore liable to pay compensation.—LUCKIE v. MERRY, [1915] 3 K. B. 83; 84 L. J. K. B. 1388; 113 L. T. 667; 31 T. L. R. 466; 59 Sol. Jo. 544; 8 B. W. C. C. 447, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Harper v. Harper, [1916] 2 K. B. 811. Folld. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284. Apld. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1. Consd. Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655; Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660. Reld. Abel v. Estler (1919), 89 L. J. K. B. 164.

3017. —— ——.]—HILLMAN v. LONDON, BRIGHTON & SOUTH COAST RY. CO., No. 2999, ante.

3018. —— ——.]—KING v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3548, post.

3019. Correspondence with regard to threatened claim.]—BURR v. WHITELEY (W.), LTD. (1902), as reported in Ruegg's Employers' Liability & Workmen's Compensation, 8th ed. 469, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Green v. Britten & Gilson, [1904] 1 K. B. 350; Moreton v. Reeve, [1907] 2 K. B. 401.

3020. Legal advice of employer—Against right to compensation—Advice valid at time given.]—A domestic servant, who had been sent out into the street on an errand in Jan. 1914, fell over an obstruction & bruised her elbow. She had tubercular disease in the joint, & the effect of the accident was to aggravate it, but for some time she was able with assistance to do her work. In July, 1914, she was advised to go into the hospital for an operation, & did so, but before going she had an interview with her master, & asked him if he would get her compensation in case her arm got worse. He replied that he could not, as the accident happened in the street. An operation was performed, but the tubercular trouble continued, & two years later, in June, 1916, the arm had to be amputated. In Apr. 1918, appct. was asked to give, & did give a retainer to the solr. of her approved society to make a claim in regard to her "recent" accident. The claim was made, & proceedings were commenced in Aug. 1918:—Held: (1) there was no claim made within six months, the inquiry by appct. of her master was not a claim. The fact that the master might have prevented her from making a claim by giving her advice which was sound in law at the time, was not a reasonable cause for failure to make the claim within the statutory period; (2) the period of limitation of six months is not a mere technicality but is intended as a substantial protection to the employer.

It was contended that statutory requirement of a claim within six months was a mere formality or technicality. I cannot take that view at all . . . The words of the statute [Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58)] create a limitation (DUKE, L.J.).

(3) Though there may be a reasonable cause for not making a claim within six months, yet the claim, in order to be successful, must be made within a reasonable time.—PROPHET v. ROBERTS (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 975; 120 L. T. 239; 11 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111; Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660. As to (2) Apld. Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655. Consd. Aitken v. Hemsley (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 88. Reld. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284.

E. Injury Latent.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

3021. Whether a reasonable cause.]—TIBBS v. WATTS, BLAKE, BEARNE & CO., LTD., No. 2931, ante.

3022. ——.]—FRY v. CHELTENHAM CORPN., No. 2933, ante.

3023. ——.]—HOARE v. ARDING & HOBBS, No. 2932, ante.

3024. ——.]—SANDERSON v. PARKINSON & SONS, LTD., No. 2881, ante.

3025. ——.]—A miner met with an accident while at work on Nov. 21, 1911, which caused a swelling in his groin. After resting for an hour he was able to resume work & the swelling went down by the next day & he was able to go to work as usual. Four months later, & again nine months after that, this swelling reappeared while he was at work, but subsided, & he was able to go on working. Ultimately in Feb. 1914, the swelling

---

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—D.

3015 i. Payment by employer—Wages.]—SMITH v. MCINTOSH (1906), 8 O. W. R. 472; 13 O. L. R. 118.—CAN.

3015 ii. —— ——.]—Mere payment of wages, or part wages, by an employer to an injured workman after the latter has been injured is, by itself, a neutral fact, & is not sufficient to enable the ct. to draw the inference that the workman had "reasonable cause" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for not making a claim within six months of the date of the accident.—LYNCH v. LANSDOWNE (MARQUIS) (1913), 48 I. L. T. 89.—IR.

PART XIV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—E.

3021 i. Whether a reasonable cause.]—MILLAR v. REFUGE ASSURANCE CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 37.—SCOT.

3021 ii. ——.]—ELLIS v. FAIRFIELD SHIPBUILDING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 217; 50 Sc. L. R. 137; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 485; 6 B. W. C. C. 308.—SCOT.

3021 iii. ——.]—RANKINE v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 401.—SCOT.

reappeared & he was incapacitated by a small hernia. Upon an application by the workman for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the employers admitted that the injury was due to accident arising out of & in the course of the man's employment, & waived any question as to notice:—Held: the failure to make a claim for compensation within six months from the accident was occasioned by reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b).—COULSON v. SOUTH MOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 508; 112 L. T. 901; 31 T. L. R. 207; 8 B. W. C. C. 253, C. A.

F. Election of Workman to Remain in Employment.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

3026. Whether a reasonable cause.]—DOBSON v. ANGLO-SAXON PETROLEUM CO., LTD., No. 2047, ante.

3027. ——.]—LINGLEY v. FIRTH (THOMAS) & SONS, No. 3035, post.

3028. ——.]—A workman hit a chisel with a hammer, while he was engaged at work on Apr. 12, 1921. A piece of the chisel flew off & struck him in the eye. He told the foreman, but did not think the result would be very serious, although he was suffering pain at the time He went to a hospital, where he saw a nurse, & returned to work the next day. He was on "short time" during the first fortnight after the accident, not because of his eye but for economic reasons. He returned on Apr. 20 to full work, & worked until July 2. He then left work & attended hospital for some time, after which he resumed work on Nov. 8. His sight then failed & he was operated on for cataract on Dec. 2. According to the medical evidence the cataract was due to the piece of steel which had entered the lens of his eye. No claim was made until Dec. 10, more than six months after the accident. The county ct. judge found that the failure on the part of the workman to make a claim before was due to reasonable cause. In making an award in favour of the workman the judge said: "It is quite clear to me that appct. had never realised the very serious condition of his eye until the operation was made in Dec. Immediately after that operation the notice of claim was given; & therefore I find that there was a reasonable cause for the delay." The employers appealed:—Held: it was impossible to say from the evidence that appct. did not realise that he had suffered a serious accident & there was no evidence of any cause, reasonable or otherwise, for the workman not having made a claim within six months. The workman's right to compensation was therefore barred.—GIBBARD v. TYRER (THOMAS) & CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 236, C. A.

3029. ——.]—In Sept. 1920, a plumber, in the course of his employment, was struck over the left eye by a heavy spanner. He told the charge hand, & the latter sent him to hospital, where the eye was bandaged. This was accepted as sufficient notice of the accident. He resumed work with resps. on the following day. A week afterwards he was, with others, dismissed, owing to slackness of trade. He drew unemployment pay until Dec. 1920. After that time until Feb. 1922, he worked whenever he could get work. The eye was always more or less painful & he could only do special kinds of work because of it. In Feb. 1922, owing to the pain in his eye having become acute, an operation was performed. It was stated on behalf of the employers, that, after leaving their employment in Oct. 1920, they had heard nothing of him until Aug. 1922, when he claimed compensation. The county ct. judge made an award in favour of resps., on the ground that appct. had not satisfied him that his failure to make a claim within six months was occasioned by some reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b). Appct. appealed:—Held: there was no misdirection.—JOHNSON v. HARLAND & WOLFF, LTD. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 164, C. A.

3030. ——.]—On Jan. 30, 1924, the workman, whilst employed as a collier by applts., was injured by a fall of coal which cut his knee. He went to the man in charge of the colliery ambulance, who dressed the wound then & for the next fortnight, when the cut healed. Six weeks after the accident, as his knee was painful, he saw a doctor, who told him there was a loose cartilage & advised an operation, but, being unable to afford the expense, he continued his work. The knee gave him continual pain & was so bad, the workman said, that the slightest knock would cause him to fall. He worked until Jan. 8, 1926, when his knee became so painful that he was obliged to give up work. On Feb. 15, 1926, he for the first time claimed compensation, & in his evidence at the hearing said that he never thought that the injury was serious. The county ct. judge held that sufficient notice had been given of the accident, & that there was reasonable cause within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b), for not making a claim for compensation within six months after the accident, & awarded compensation:—Held: the making of a claim within six months was of substantial importance & not a mere technicality, & there was no evidence to justify the finding of the county ct. judge that there was reasonable cause for the delay in making the claim.—ATHERTON v. CHORLEY COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1926), 135 L. T. 660; 19 B. W. C. C. 314, C. A.

3031. ——.]—The workman, after an accident on Mar. 13, 1924, was in hospital for five months & then rested for nearly two months, when he resumed work with his employer at his old wages. While in hospital & resting afterwards he received from his employer sums of money which, however, were not equal in amount to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Though suffering from stiffness he continued work for a year, when, the job being at an end, he had to leave in Sept. 1925. In Oct. 1925, he gave notice of a claim for compensation from the date of the accident for partial incapacity, alleging that he had been dismissed. He said he knew he could have made a claim for compensation, but had preferred to do the work offered to him. The county ct. judge found that he had not been dismissed, but that his employment came to an end, & held that his claim was out of time & that there was no reasonable cause for his delay in making the claim within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b):—Held: there was evidence to support this finding & no misdirection.—AITKEN v. HEMSLEY (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 88, C. A.

3026 l. Whether a reasonable cause.]—BAIRD & CO., LTD. v. DEMPSTER, [1909] S. C. 127; 46 Sc. L. R. 119; 16 S. L. T. 470; 2 B. W. C. C. 144.—SCOT.

Sect. 8.—The claim for compensation: Sub-sect. 4, G. Sect. 9: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3.]

G. Other Causes.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 14, 15.

Ignorance of statutory rights.]—See Nos. 3003–3005, ante.

3032. Employer not prejudiced—Onus of proof on workman.]—TIBBS v. WATTS, BLAKE, BEARNE & CO., LTD., No. 2031, ante.

3033. Expectation of recovery.]—A collier had suffered from nystagmus for years. He had been advised by his doctor that if he gave up work underground he would get better. In the middle of 1910 his eyesight was getting worse, but, as a strike was threatening which was likely to last long, & he hoped that the spell above ground would cure him, he refrained from claiming compensation or getting a certificate of disablement. He did his full work until the strike, which began on Sept. 3, 1910, & lasted till after the hearing of this case. His eyesight did not get better, & ultimately, on Mar. 7, 1911, he obtained a certificate, which fixed the date of disablement as Sept. 3, 1910. He then gave notice of accident & brought proceedings; the employers objected that notice & claim had not been given & made in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The county ct. judge held that the delay in claim was not due to reasonable cause, & awarded for the employers:—Held: the delay was due to reasonable cause, & the case must be remitted for assessment of compensation.

The only question for us is a question of law, whether the failure to make the claim within the period mentioned was occasioned by reasonable cause (FARWELL, L.J.).—MOORE v. NAVAL COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1912] 1 K. B. 28; 81 L. J. K. B. 149; 105 L. T. 838; 56 Sol. Jo. 70; 5 B. W. C. C. 87, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Ellis v. Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 308; Sanderson v. Parkinson (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 648; Luckie v. Merry (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1388. Reld. Egerton v. Moore, [1912] 2 K. B. 308; Birks v. Stafford Coal & Iron Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 686; Webster v. Cohen (1913), 108 L. T. 197; Harper v. Harper, [1916] 2 K. B. 811; Herbert v. Fox, [1916] 1 A. C. 405. Mentd. Longhurst v. Stewart (1913), Ltd. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 605.

3034. Election to pursue other remedy.] —The admission of liability by an employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), which the employee has refused to accept, is not a "reasonable cause" for the employee's not making a claim under the Act within six months of the accident.

On Aug. 24, 1918, appct., a factory hand, met with an accident in her employment, the first fingers of both hands being injured in a press machine. On Sept. 2, 1918, she claimed compensation under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), or at common law. On Sept. 5, the employers refused to admit liability except under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). On Sept. 11, appct. stated that her claim was not under that Act. On Sept. 14 the employers offered to pay compensation under that Act, & again refused to admit liability under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), or at common law. On Feb. 28, 1919, for the first time appct. claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & on Mar. 17, 1919, took proceedings under that Act. The employers pleaded that the proceedings were not maintainable, as the claim had not been made within six months of the accident:—Held: that there was no "reasonable cause" for the delay within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b), & the proceedings were therefore not maintainable.—ABEL v. ESTLER BROTHERS (1919), 89 L. J. K. B. 164; 121 L. T. 299; 12 B. W. C. C. 184, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Stafford v. Pettit (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 185.

3035. Want of advice.]—Appct. was employed by resps. as a munition worker. In Aug. 1917, while at her work she was injured by a shell falling on her toe. She went to resps.' ambulance room for treatment, & particulars of the accident were duly noted in resps.' accident book. The toe then became septic, but she continued at work, although in pain, until Dec. 1918, when the firm closed down & she was discharged. For the last twelve months of her employment, owing to promotion, she received higher wages than before the accident, & tried to hide from the foreman the fact that she was in pain from the injured toe, because she was afraid she would lose her job. After her discharge she drew unemployment pay for about three months. The injured toe became gradually worse, & was twice operated on, & was subsequently amputated on Feb. 24, 1920. She made a claim for compensation on Feb. 26, 1920. Resps. resisted this on the ground that the claim was not made within six months of the accident. Appct. gave two reasons for the delay in making the claim, that she did not consider the accident to be serious, & that her husband was away & she had no one to advise her. The county ct. judge held that there was "reasonable cause" for not having made the claim within six months, & that being so, further delay in making a claim was no bar to the proceedings:—Held: (1) there was no evidence of any reasonable cause for the delay of more than six months in making a claim; (2) once reasonable cause for six months' delay is established then the question of whether further delay in making a claim is or is not reasonable does not arise.—LINGLEY v. FIRTH (THOMAS) & SONS, [1921] 1 K. B. 655; 90 L. J. K. B. 290; 124 L. T. 442; 37 T. L. R. 149; 65 Sol. Jo. 172; 13 B. W. C. C. 307, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Johnson v. Harland & Wolff (1922), 16 B. W. C. C. 164; Aitken v. Hemsley (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 88; Atherton v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1926), 135 L. T. 660.

3036. Unfitness to transact business.]—MAUND v. BARTON, No. 3005, ante.

3037. ——.]—A workman was injured by accident & four months after the accident the man had to go to hospital. Eight months from the accident he had his arm amputated & remained in hospital for a year, after which he made a claim. The county ct. judge found, after hearing medical evidence, that there was reasonable cause for the claim not having been made during the latter period of the six months in which a claim must be made, owing to the mental inertia of the workman's condition while in hospital:—Held: there being no obligation on the workman to make his claim as soon as practicable, the reasonable cause during the latter period of six months was sufficient to support the finding that the failure to make a claim within six months was occasioned by reasonable cause.—HILL v. HOLLIDAY (L. B.) & CO. (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 897; 19 B. W. C. C. 177, C. A.

q. Infancy.]—GREEN v. HANSEN & YUNCKEN, [1923] V. L. R. 688.—AUS.

3038. Conflicting medical advice—Knowledge of workman.]—ALDRIDGE v. WARWICKSHIRE COAL CO., LTD., No. 3006, ante.

SECT. 9.—ARBITRATION TRIBUNALS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—REPRESENTATIVE COMMITTEE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I., (1), (2), s. 28.

3039. Jurisdiction to decide disputes under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58)—Subject to right of objection—Express agreement with workman not necessary.]—(1) Where there exists under para. 1, sched. II. of above Act, a committee representative of an employer & his workmen with power to settle matters under above Act, which means with the function as incident to its constitution of settling matters under above Act, that is the tribunal to which for the purpose of settling any matter which under above Act is to be settled by arbn. the parties are to resort, subject to the right of either party by notice in writing within the time prescribed by above Act to object; it is not necessary that each individual workman should upon entering the employment have expressly or impliedly agreed to refer any dispute under above Act to such committee.

(2) Semble: the award of such committee upon any matter within its jurisdiction is binding on an infant.

(3) Where the award of such committee relates to a matter required by above Act to be settled by arbn. it is the duty of the registrar of the county ct. on being satisfied as to its genuineness to record it, & the judge has no jurisdiction to review it; but where the award is outside the jurisdiction of the committee there is no obligation to record it.

(4) There is no jurisdiction under above Act to award a lump sum to a workman who is incapacitated by an accident except under par. 17 of sched. I., which is limited to the case where a weekly payment has been continued for not less than six months.

Where, therefore, a workman, who was a minor, met with an accident whereby he lost two fingers, &, after his employers had paid him a weekly sum for five months & had taken him back to work, referred the question of compensation in respect of his permanent injury to a committee representative of the employers & their workmen, & the committee awarded him a lump sum & paid the money into the county ct.:—Held: the county ct. judge was not bound to record a memorandum of the award & the money paid into ct. ought to be paid out to the employers.

The county ct. judge is not a ct. of appeal from the committee. He has no jurisdiction of that kind at all. He is not entitled to treat an award of the committee as though it was simply an agreement between the workman & his employers which he might review under above Act (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., [1910] 2 K. B. 278; 79 L. J. K. B. 987; 102 L. T. 663; 26 T. L. R. 462; 3 B. W. C. C. 317, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. R. v. Templer, Ex p. Howarth, [1912] 1 K. B. 351. As to (4) Consd. R. v. Templer, Ex p. Howarth, [1912] 1 K. B. 351. Generally, Reld. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3040. Award of committee—Whether binding on infant.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3041. —— Whether county court judge can review.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3042. —— ——.]—A county ct. judge has no jurisdiction either under Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1913–1917, r. 85, or any provision of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to set aside an award made by a committee appointed by the Secretary of State under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II., clause 16.—BLAKEY v. SAMUELSON & CO., [1920] 3 K. B. 508; 89 L. J. K. B. 422; 123 L. T. 126; 13 B. W. C. C. 21, C. A.

3043. —— Whether memorandum bound to be recorded—When outside jurisdiction of committee.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

Jurisdiction of committee under scheme.]—See Sect. 21, sub-sect. 1, B., post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AGREED ARBITRATOR.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I. (2).

SUB-SECT. 3.—COUNTY COURT JUDGE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 27; Schedule I., (2), (4).

3044. Position of judge—Sits as arbitrator.]—A county ct. judge sitting to hear an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), is acting as an arbitrator only, & has no jurisdiction to grant a new trial.—MOUNTAIN v. PARR, [1899] 1 Q. B. 805; 68 L. J. Q. B. 447; 80 L. T. 342; 47 W. R. 353; 15 T. L. R. 262; 43 Sol. Jo. 331; 1 W. C. C. 110, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Sutton v. G. N. Ry., [1909] 2 K. B. 791. Apld. Taylor v. Cripps, [1914] 3 K. B. 989. Consd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169. Reld. Bailey v. Plant (1900), 2 W. C. C. 160.

3045. —— ——.]—A county ct. judge sitting to hear an application for compensation under

---

PART XIV. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.

r. Jurisdiction to decide disputes under the Act.]—MURPHY v. CITY OF TORONTO (1918), 41 O. L. R. 156.—CAN.

t. ——.]—Re WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT (B. C.), [1919] 3 W. W. R. 426.—CAN.

a. ——.]—CANADIAN NORTHERN RY. CO. v. WILSON, GIVENS' CASE (Man.), [1919] 3 W. W. R. 742.—CAN.

b. ——.]—WALPOLE v. CANADIAN NORTHERN RY. CO., [1921] 1 W. W. R. 1232.—CAN.

c. ——.]—The Board is the only tribunal competent to decide whether or not a common law action can be maintained by a workman against his employer in respect to personal injury sustained in the course of his employment.—DOMINION CANNERS, LTD. v. COSTANZA, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 551; [1923] S. C. R. 46.—CAN.

d. ——.]—Under Workmen's Compensation Act the Workmen's Compensation Board has exclusive jurisdiction to decide whether or not in the case in question the workman who has been injured is one coming within the Act.—NORMANDIN v. EDMONTON, DUNVEGAN & BRITISH COLUMBIAN RY. CO. & CENTRAL CANADA RY. CO. (Alta.), [1923] 2 D. L. R. 1073; [1923] 2 W. W. R. 411.—CAN.

e. ——.]—WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD v. BATHURST LUMBER CO., [1924] 2 D. L. R. 338; [1924] S. C. R. 216.—CAN.

f. ——.]—PETER v. YORKSHIRE ESTATE CO., LTD., [1925] 2 D. L. R. 1213; [1925] 2 W. W. R. 78.—CAN.

g. Status of Board.]—MCCOLL v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1920] 2 W. W. R. 24; 51 D. L. R. 480.—CAN.

h. Award of Board—Whether conclusive.]—A finding of the Board made upon application of an employer & without notice to the administrator of a deceased workman or to any one else representing his estate or family is not conclusive as to whether such workmen's employment was within the scope of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1918.—MCFAYDEN v. CANADIAN NORTHERN RY. CO. (Alta.), [1921] 3 W. W. R. 807; 62 D. L. R. 632.—CAN.

Sect. 9.—Arbitration tribunals: Sub-sects. 3, 4 & 5.]

Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is acting as an arbitrator only, & has no jurisdiction to make an order for discovery before hearing either by affidavit of documents or by interrogatories.—SUTTON v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO., [1909] 2 K. B. 791; 79 L. J. K. B. 81; 101 L. T. 175; 2 B. W. C. C. 428, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Taylor v. Cripps, [1914] 3 K. B. 989. Consd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169. Reld. Kursell v. Timber Operators & Contractors, [1923] 2 K. B. 202.

3046. —— ——.]—TAYLOR v. CRIPPS, No. 3151, post.

3047. —— ——.]—Proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), were started in a county ct. by a workman who alleged that he had been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. The application was dismissed. Resps. thereupon asked for costs against his approved society on the ground that in truth & in fact the proceedings were not taken by the workman but by the society. The judge ordered the society to pay the costs. The society moved before a judge in chambers for a writ of prohibition, alleging on various grounds that the arbitrator had no jurisdiction to order them to pay the costs:—Held: a county ct. judge when sitting & adjudicating under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is sitting merely as an arbitrator, & inasmuch as the Act provides one remedy only for an error in an award of a judge sitting as an arbitrator under that Act, namely an appeal to the Ct. of Appeal, a writ of prohibition would not lie.—TURNER v. KINGSBURY COLLIERIES, LTD., [1921] 3 K. B. 169; 90 L. J. K. B. 1132; 125 L. T. 625; 37 T. L. R. 713; 14 B. W. C. C. 249.

3048. —— —— But not in individual capacity.]—Where a judge of the county ct. sits as arbitrator under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), he sits in his official capacity as the judge of the county ct. & not in his individual capacity, & a hearing by a deputy ct. judge is the same thing as a hearing by the judge himself. Therefore a matter which has been heard & adjudicated upon by a deputy county ct. judge may be dealt with by the county ct. judge if ordered to be reheard by the Ct. of Appeal.

Appct. had filed a request for arbn., claiming compensation in respect of the death of her son, a lad of seventeen, in the employment of resps. The matter came before the deputy judge at Lambeth county ct. The deputy judge made an award in favour of the employers. The Ct. of Appeal made an order directing that the award of the deputy judge be wholly set aside & that a new trial be had between the parties. The matter then came before the county ct. judge himself, & he took the view that the Ct. of Appeal had no power to order a new trial & that they could not order him to rehear an arbn. which had been heard by another arbitrator. He offered to hear a new arbn., if the parties consented, but as the resps. refused consent, he declined jurisdiction on the ground that he had no power, as county ct. judge, to act:—Held: the Ct. of Appeal had power to send the matter down to the county ct. for a "rehearing" & the order would be amended by substituting that word for "new trial" & the original order would stand subject to that alteration, & the county ct. judge himself was competent to rehear & adjudicate on the matter, notwithstanding the fact that the claim had been heard & an award made by the deputy judge, such award now being wholly set aside.—HUNTER v. SIMNER, [1922] 2 K. B. 170; 91 L. J. K. B. 581; 127 L. T. 342; 66 Sol. Jo. 487; 15 B. W. C. C. 91, C. A.

3049. —— Court of limited jurisdiction.]—STANDING v. EASTWOOD & CO., No. 2058, ante.

Powers & duties of judge.]—See Sect. 20, sub-sect. 6, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—ARBITRATOR APPOINTED BY COUNTY COURT JUDGE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), Sched. I., (3) (8); Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, 31–34.

3050. Duty of arbitrator—To decide questions of fact.]—An arbitrator appointed by a county ct. judge decided that the structure was not a scaffolding & refused to make an award of compensation, but referred the matter to the county ct. judge, who reversed the decision of the arbitrator & awarded the compensation provisionally settled by the arbitrator:—Held: the question whether the structure was a scaffolding or not was a question of fact for the arbitrator.—FERGUSON v. GREEN, [1901] 1 K. B. 25; 70 L. J. Q. B. 21; 83 L. T. 461; 64 J. P. 819; 49 W. R. 105; 17 T. L. R. 41; 45 Sol. Jo. 58; 3 W. C. C. 113, C. A.

Annotation:—Apprvd. Hoddinott v. Newton, Chambers, [1901] A. C. 49.

SUB-SECT. 5.—MEDICAL REFEREE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 12, 19.

3051. Jurisdiction of medical referee—No power to consider.]—TURTON v. EAST BARNSLEY COLLIERY, LTD., No. 3828, post.

3052. Right of parties to copy of referee's report—Liability of employer.]—(1) The parties, other than the injured man, should not be allowed to attend the examination by a medical referee appointed by an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. II. (13).

(2) The report of such a referee is intended for the use of the arbitrator only, but it is in the discretion of the arbitrator to allow the parties to see the report & to take a copy of it.—BOWDEN v. BARROW BROTHERS (1901), 3 W. C. C. 215.

3053. Whether certificate conclusive.]—Employers applied to review payments under a registered agreement, putting in a certificate of a medical referee, obtained in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58),

---

PART XIV. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 5.

3053 i. Whether certificate conclusive.]—Held: where the county ct. judge under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, Sched. II. (15), submits to a medical referee for report any matter which seems material to any question arising in the arbitration, the judge is not bound by the referee's report, but should exercise an independent judgment.—QUINN v. FLYNN (1910), 44 I. L. T. 183; 3 B. W. C. C. 594.—IR.

3053 ii. ——.]—M'AVAN v. BOASE SPINNING CO., LTD. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1048; 38 Sc. L. R. 772; 9 S. L. T. 152.—SCOT.

3053 iii. ——.]—FERRIER v. GOURLAY (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 711.—SCOT.

3053 iv. ——.]—BRYCE v. CONNOR (1904), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 193.—SCOT.

3053 v. ——.]—JOHNSTONE v. COCHRAN & CO. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 854.—SCOT.

3053 vi. ——.]—MCNAUGHTON & SINCLAIR v. CUNNINGHAM, CUNNINGHAM v. MCNAUGHTON & SINCLAIR, [1910] S. C. 980.—SCOT.

3053 vii. ——.]—KING v. UNITED COLLIERIES, LTD., [1910] S. C. 42.—SCOT.

3053 viii. ——.]—ARNOTT v. FIFE sched. I. (15), as proof that the workman was fit to work. The man tendered medical evidence in contradiction, but the county ct. judge rejected it, on the ground that the certificate was conclusive:—Held: the evidence was rightly rejected, the certificate being conclusive.—SAPCOTE & SONS v. HANCOCK (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 184, C. A.

3054. ——.]—A dispute arose as to whether a workman with an injured eye was fit for work. Arbn. proceedings were commenced, & then the parties agreed in writing to submit the question to a medical referee, & abide by his decision. On receiving the report the workman was dissatisfied, & applied to the judge, who dismissed the case on the report of the medical referee, & refused to hear medical evidence tendered by the workman:—Held: the application had been properly dismissed.—RENSHALL v. SPENCER (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 164, C. A.

3055. ——.]—The workman suffered an accident on Mar. 14, 1924, & was paid compensation until the employers obtained a medical certificate that he had completely recovered. The workman then obtained a medical certificate to the effect that he was still incapacitated. Following the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c), the employers applied for the appointment of a medical referee, who on Sept. 24, 1924, certified that the incapacity of the workman was not due to the accident. In arbn. proceedings instituted by the workman the employers objected to medical evidence being given, contradicting the findings in the medical referee's certificate; but the county ct. judge admitted & accepted such evidence & awarded compensation:—Held: the certificate of the medical referee was final & conclusive, evidence to contradict it ought not to have been admitted, & the award must be set aside.—CREWE v. JOHN RHODES, LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 650; 18 B. W. C. C. 303, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Rhodes v. Digby Colliery Co. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796.

3056. —— As to matter of cure.]—EARL FITZWILLIAM'S COLLIERIES v. CROSSLEY, No. 2815, ante.

3057. Ambiguous report—Duty of judge to clear.]—On a disputed medical point the parties agreed to place the matter before an expert & abide by his report. At the hearing before the county ct. judge the report was read, but appeared to be ambiguous. The county ct. judge refused the employers' request to communicate with the medical expert, so that the ambiguity might be removed, & adjourned the case sine die. The employers appealed. The Ct. of Appeal communicated with the medical expert with result that his answer completely cleared the ambiguity, & showed that the employers were entitled to an award, & judgment was accordingly entered:—Held: the county ct. judge should himself have taken steps to clear the ambiguity, & the employers were entitled to appeal.—TOWLER v. BRITISH DYE STUFFS CORPN. (BLACKLEY), LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 34, C. A.

3058. Reference under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 12—Jurisdiction of judge to order—When s. 19 (2) not complied with by employer—Though waiver of objection by consent.]—The workman had been employed by resps. as ladleman at their works & whilst so employed on Feb. 20, 1922, had sustained injury to his head by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & under an agreement dated Feb. 27, 1922, & recorded on Apr. 1, 1922, he was paid 35*s.* per week as compensation as from Feb. 20, 1922, to continue during his total or partial incapacity for work resulting from the accident or until the same should be diminished, increased, or redeemed. Resps., adopting the course prescribed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c), on Oct. 21, 1924, had the workman examined by their doctor who certified he was fit to resume his old work & they gave notice dated Nov. 3, 1924, of that report & of their intention to end the weekly payment. This notice was not given within six days of the doctor's report as required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 14, & sched. I., para. 15, but a medical certificate by the workman's doctor disagreeing with the medical report already given was put in, it was alleged, in order to protect the rights of the workman who denied that resps. could proceed as they stated they would under sect. 14 to refer the matter to a medical referee on the ground that that sect. only applied to payment of compensation made otherwise than under an award or a recorded agreement. The application to refer the matter to a medical referee pursuant to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 15, was then made to the registrar under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 11 (1), it being admitted by both parties that the formalities prescribed by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, should be waived & the registrar decided that having regard to the words "apart from this sect." in proviso (iii.) of sect. 14 there were no grounds for differentiating between a recorded & unrecorded agreement for the purposes of that sect., & that decision on appeal was upheld by the county ct. judge, & an order for reference to a medical referee was accordingly made:—Held: as sect. 14 of itself gave no right to obtain a certificate or refer to a medical referee, the machinery for that being already provided by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 15, as amended by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 11 (1), & the waiver of the formalities required by that paragraph being merely for the purpose of getting a decision of the question raised under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, such waiver could give no jurisdiction to the ct. to decide a matter not in fact before it, & notice of the doctor's report not having been given within the six days as required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 15, the appeal must be allowed.—JAMES v. GROVESEND STEEL & TINPLATE CO., LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 744; 18 B. W. C. C. 405, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Gillett v. Fowler (Leeds) (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 267.

3059. —— Duty of employer to apply.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, does not merely provide machinery whereby an employer may end or diminish weekly payments in cases of incapacity, but has introduced a new

---

COAL CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 1029.—SCOT.

3053 ix. ——.]—M'GHEE v. SUMMERLEE IRON CO., LTD., [1911] S. C. 870.—SCOT.

3053 x. ——.]—JACKSON v. SCOTSTOUN ESTATE CO., [1911] S. C. 564.—SCOT.

3053 xi. ——.]—GRAY v. SHOTTS IRON CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 1267; 49 Sc. L. R. 906; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 146; 6 B. W. C. C. 287.—SCOT.

3053 xii. ——.]—CRUDEN v. WEMYSS COAL CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 534; 50 Sc. L. R. 344; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 100.—SCOT.

3053 xiii. ——.]—In a stated case under Workmen's Compensation Act the opinion of a medical assessor ought not to be included as a finding in fact. The arbitrator, however, is entitled to rely upon that opinion in arriving at a conclusion as to the cause of disablement or death.—CONNELLY v. CROSS & SONS, LTD., [1917] S. C. 164.—SCOT.

3053 xiv. ——.]—WALKER v. CADZOW COAL CO., LTD., [1925] S. C. 395.—SCOT.

Sect. 9.—Arbitration tribunals: Sub-sect. 5. Sect. 10: Sub-sect. 1.]

liability upon the employer to the advantage of a workman.

An employer who under sect. 14 (c) has served a workman with a ten days' notice of his intention to end the weekly payments together with a copy of the medical certificate that the workman has wholly recovered, & has within the ten days received a counter report from the workman's medical practitioner disputing the employer's certificate, must proceed under the sect. to obtain the certificate of a medical referee, & in the meantime may safeguard himself by paying the weekly payments into ct. to abide the result of the certificate of the medical referee or the decision of the judge. If the employer fails to proceed under the sect. after receipt of the workman's counter report, but stops payment & does nothing more, & the workman then goes to arbn., the workman, in spite of the fact that the judge finds that he had wholly recovered at the time of the service of the ten days' notice, will be entitled to recover from the employer the weekly payments as from that date down to the date of the award.

Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, does not say in terms who is to appoint the medical referee, but in practice, it seems to me that it clearly throws that upon the employer, because unless the step of making the application is taken by some one or other, then, under the very words of the sect., the employer has to continue (or may not end or diminish) the weekly payments (SARGANT, L.J.).—DAVIES v. GLYNCORRWG COLLIERY CO., [1925] 2 K. B. 339; 95 L. J. K. B. 42; 133 L. T. 221; 18 B. W. C. C. 86, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Hulmston v. Birkenhead Union (1925), 133 L. T. 757; Gillett v. Fowler (Leeds) (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 267; Ocean Coal Co. v. Davies (1926), 43 T. L. R. 108. Reld. Feeney v. Firbeck Main Collieries, [1926] 2 K. B. 218; Rhodes v. Digby Colliery Co. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796.

3060. —— How far certificate conclusive.]—CREWE v. JOHN RHODES, LTD., No. 3055, ante.

3061. —— ——.]—In Sept. 1917, the workman was certified to be suffering from miner's nystagmus & received full compensation until Mar. 1918, when he worked on the surface & was paid on the basis of partial incapacity. In July, 1924, the employers proceeded under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c), & the matter was referred to a medical referee, who on Aug. 18, 1924, certified that the workman was not then suffering from miner's nystagmus. The employers stopped payment of compensation, & in Dec. 1924, the workman filed a request for arbn. On the hearing in Mar. 1925, the county ct. judge at the request of the parties referred the matter to another medical referee, to whom certain questions agreed upon were put, & he reported on Apr. 15, 1925, that the workman was then suffering from nystagmus, & was thereby incapacitated for work underground, & that his condition was an increased susceptibility to nystagmus & was a continuation of the attack from which he had suffered in Sept. 1917. On the further hearing in Aug. 1925, the county ct. judge was satisfied that though the certificate of Aug. 18, 1924, established that at that time the workman was not actively suffering from nystagmus, yet he was then & at all other material times affected with a proneness to recurrence of the disease, owing to having suffered from it in 1917, & at the date of the hearing & of the certificate of Apr. 15, 1925, he was suffering from the disease in this sense, & awarded compensation:—Held: the certificate given on Aug. 18, 1924, was conclusive only of the matters referred to in it at that time, & was not res judicata between the parties, & therefore the county ct. judge was justified on the certificate of Apr. 15, 1925, in finding that there existed a special susceptibility to the disease & had rightly awarded compensation.—PRENDERGAST v. LANCASTER'S STEAM COAL COLLIERIES, LTD. (1925), 134 L. T. 166; 18 B. W. C. C. 494, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Scahill v. Evan (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 112. Reld. Rhodes v. Digby Colliery Co. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796.

3062. —— Duties of referee.]—A workman, who had been injured by an accident & who was in receipt of a weekly payment for partial incapacity, was examined by a medical practitioner provided by the employers, who certified that the workman had wholly recovered. The workman, within ten days, sent to the employers the report of a medical practitioner disagreeing with the certificate served by the employers. The matter was referred to a medical referee, who, after orally examining the workman & his wife, reported that the workman still suffered from considerable disability, but referred to matters relating to the workman's incapacity that were not mentioned in either of the other medical reports, & stated that certain kinds of work would be beneficial. The employers terminated the weekly payments:—Held: the medical referee is not restricted to differences of opinion between the employers' doctor, but should examine the workman independently of them, & as his report in this case stated that incapacity still continued, employers were wrong in stopping compensation & the workman was entitled to have it continued.—LACEY v. WALLIS & SONS, LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 43, C. A.

Power of judge to refer to.]—See Sect. 11, sub-sect. 6, B., post.

SECT. 10.—THE ARBITRATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 21 (1), Sched. I.

3063. Whether a judicial proceeding.] — An arbn. before a county ct. judge to settle a question of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is a judicial proceeding & therefore an indictment for perjury will lie in respect of false evidence given on oath in a material particular in the course of the arbn.—R. v. CROSSLEY, [1909] 1 K. B. 411; 78 L. J. K. B. 299; 100 L. T. 463; 73 J. P. 119; 25 T. L. R. 225; 53 Sol. Jo. 214; 2 B. W. C. C. 451; 22 Cox, C. C. 40; 2 Cr. App. Rep. 8, C. C. A.

3064. Condition precedent to arbitration—Question must have arisen.]—JONES v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO., No. 3595, post.

3065. —— ——.]—A workman was injured. The employers admitted liability & paid him the maximum compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), namely, £1 per week, together with the 5*s.* per week under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42). While this £1 5*s.* per week was still being paid by the employers, the workman sent to the Registrar to be recorded, under Workmen's Compensation

3063 1. Whether a judicial proceeding.]—Re CESSARINI & HAZELL (1914), 28 W. L. R. 662; 6 W. W. R. 649; 16 D. L. R. 738; 7 Alta. L. R. 134.—CAN.

Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. 11 (9), a memorandum to the effect that the workman agreed to accept, & the employers agreed to pay, the sum of £1 5*s.* weekly during total incapacity, & to pay thereafter during partial incapacity, such weekly sum as may be, failing agreement, settled by arbn. The employers gave notice of objection to the recording of the memorandum on the ground that in fact no such agreement had been entered into. The workman, on Sept. 9, 1919, gave the employers notice that he withdrew the application to record the memorandum & that he would file a request for arbn. On Sept. 11 a request for arbn. was accordingly filed. On Sept. 12 the employers' insurance co. wrote stating that they had no objection to "a memorandum of agreement being filed in suitable terms." The employers objected to the arbn. on the ground that no question had arisen for arbn. The deputy county ct. judge held that a question had arisen & that therefore he had jurisdiction:—Held: there was evidence to support the decision & no misdirection.—GOODE v. SENTINEL WAGGON WORKS, LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 12, C. A.

3066. —— —— As to liability for or amount or duration of compensation.]—Where, a workman having been incapacitated for work by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, his employers had, since the second week after the accident, paid to him, by way of compensation, weekly payments of the full amount mentioned in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., s. 1 (b), & promised to continue to do so during the period of his incapacity; but the workman, nevertheless, filed a request for arbn. in the county ct., & the county ct. judge made an award for compensation in his favour:—Held: under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (3), it was a condition precedent to the jurisdiction of the county ct. judge that a question should have arisen as to the liability to pay, or as to the amount or duration of, compensation under the Act, &, no such question having arisen, the county ct. judge had no jurisdiction to make an award.—FIELD v. LONGDEN & SONS, [1902] 1 K. B. 47; 71 L. J. K. B. 120; 85 L. T. 571; 66 J. P. 291; 50 W. R. 212; 18 T. L. R. 65; 46 Sol. Jo. 66; 4 W. C. C. 20, C. A.

Annotations:—Follod. Jones v. G. C. Ry. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 23. Consd. Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 428. Distd. Barron v. Carmichael (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 436. Reld. Oliver v. Nautilus S.S. Co. (1903), 89 L. T. 318; Payne v. Fortescue, [1912] 3 K. B. 346; Tyne Tees Shipping Co. v. Whilock, [1913] 3 K. B. 642; Rooney v. Hurlock (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 117. Mentd. Smith v. Abbey Park Steam Laundry Co. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 142.

3067. —— —— ——.]—An employer having agreed with a workman to pay him compensation refused to sign a form of agreement. The registrar of the county ct. refused to register a memorandum of agreement having regard to the terms of Workmen's Compensation Rules (1908), r. 42*a* (4) which was an addition to the Rules of 1907. This new rule was in force at the time of the decision of this case, but was afterwards revised & altered. The workman then applied for an arbn. under the Act, & at the hearing the county ct. judge found that, in consequence of the employer's refusal to sign, there was no agreement, & made an award in the workman's favour in the terms of the agreement:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to make an award, as no "question" had arisen as to the liability to pay compensation or as to the amount or duration within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (3).—MERCER v. HILTON (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 6, C. A.

3068. —— —— ——.]—A workman having met with an accident in the course of his employment which for the time being caused total incapacity for work, his employers paid him regularly from the date of the accident 17*s.* 6*d.* a week, being one half of his average weekly earnings. The workman applied under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to have registered a memorandum of an agreement by the employers admitting their liability, & agreeing to pay him 17*s.* 6*d.* a week. The employers opposed on the ground that they had only agreed to pay so long as their own doctor should certify that the workman was wholly incapacitated. The county ct. judge held that the compensation had not been settled by agreement. The workman then applied to have the compensation settled by the judge as arbitrator under the Act:—Held: no question had arisen as to the amount or duration of the compensation which could give jurisdiction to arbitrate, though such a question might arise hereafter if & when the employers claimed to discontinue or diminish their payments.—PAYNE v. FORTESCUE (N.) & SONS, LTD., [1912] 3 K. B. 346; 81 L. J. K. B. 1191; 107 L. T. 136; 57 Sol. Jo. 80; 5 B. W. C. C. 634, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Summerlee Iron Co. v. Freeland, [1913] A. C. 221. Follod. Bedwell v. L. Elec. Ry. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 685; Sampson v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 107. Distd. Cooper v. Wales, [1915] 3 K. B. 210; Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017. Reld. Tyne Tees Shipping Co. v. Whilock (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 1091.

3069. —— —— ——.]—BALDWIN v. ELECTRIC & ORDNANCE ACCESSORIES CO., LTD., No. 3088, post.

3070. When proceedings barred—Existence of effective agreement.]—JONES v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO., No. 3595, post.

3071. —— ——.]—In Jan. 1908, a workman met with an accident, & eventually became totally

---

3066 i. Condition precedent to arbitration—Question must have arisen—As to liability for or amount or duration of compensation.]—GOURLAY v. SWEENEY (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 965.—SCOT.

3066 ii. ——.]—At the date when the petition was presented no dispute had arisen between the parties as to compensation, & the compensation was not in arrears:—Held: the conditions precedent to an arbitration were wanting, & the petition for arbitration was incompetent.—CALEDON SHIPBUILDING, ETC., CO., LTD. v. KENNEDY (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 960; 43 Sc. L. R. 687; 14 S. L. T. 133.—SCOT.

3066 iii. —— —— ——.]—ELLIS v. LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 1278; 46 Sc. L. R. 960; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 224; 2 B. W. C. C. 136.—SCOT.

3066 iv. —— —— ——.]—CRONE v. DONALDSON LINE, [1916] S. C. 532; 53 Sc. L. R. 540; [1916] 1 S. L. T. 373.—SCOT.

3066 v. —— —— ——.]—WELSH v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 807.—SCOT.

k. —— Determination of application to record memorandum of agreement.]—A workman presented an application for warrant to record a memorandum of agreement. While the application was pending he initiated arbitration proceedings in respect of the same accident:—Held: the arbitration should be sisted until the application for the warrant had been determined.—KING v. ARMISTON COAL CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 892.—SCOT.

3070 i. When proceedings barred—Existence of effective agreement.]—Held: the parties having come to an agreement, procedure by arbn. was excluded.—DUNLOP v. RANKIN & BLACKMORE (1901), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 203; 39 Sc. L. R. 146.—SCOT.

3070 ii. —— ——.]—DEMPSTER v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1908] S. C. 722.—SCOT.

3070 iii. —— ——.]—KANE v. STEIN (JOHN G.) & CO., LTD. (1915), 52 Sc. L. R. 689.—SCOT.

3070 iv. —— ——.]—MACELHINNEY v. PORTLAND FORGE CO., LTD. (1922), 16 B. W. C. C. 292.—SCOT.

l. —— —— What amounts to effective agreement.]—As the agreement had not been submitted for the assent of the registrar:—Held: it could not operate as a bar to proceedings for the ascertainment of compensation.—

Sect. 10.—The arbitration: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A. & B.]

incapacitated. He demanded compensation from his employers. Negotiations ensued, in which the employers set up several answers to his claim, but expressed their readiness to pay somewhat less than the half wages, by way of compromise. On the advice of his solrs., the workman accepted this, & a formal agreement was made in May, 1909. A memorandum of this agreement was at once sent to the registrar for record. Some delay occurred, but early in 1910 the registrar refused to record the agreement on the ground that he was not satisfied as to its genuineness. In Apr. 1910, the workman commenced proceedings for compensation. In May, 1910, the employers applied to the judge for an order to record the memorandum of agreement. In Nov. 1910, the judge gave his decision thereon, refusing the order, on the ground that the agreement was not "genuine." Subsequently, the workman's application for compensation was heard, & in Jan. 1911, the judge awarded half wages as compensation. The employers then appealed from the decisions of Nov. 1910, & Jan. 1911:—Held: (1) there was no evidence on which the judge could find that the agreement was not genuine, & the memorandum ought, therefore, to be recorded; consequently all questions had been settled by agreement, & there was no jurisdiction to hear the application for compensation; (2) the two decisions of Nov. 1910, & Jan. 1911, were part of one & the same proceedings, & the employers were entitled to appeal from both by notice of appeal entered within twenty-one days after the later decision. —FOX v. BATTERSEA BOROUGH COUNCIL (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 261, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309. Refd. Hudson v. Camberwell B. C. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 558.

3072. ——— ———.]—A workman brought proceedings for compensation. The employers objected that all questions between the parties had been settled by agreement; the county ct. judge ruled that this was not so, & the case was adjourned for the employers to appeal:—Held: on construction of the correspondence relied on by the employers, there was no agreement, there was therefore a question between the parties, & the county ct. judge had jurisdiction.—BROOKS v. KNOWLES (ANDREW) & SONS, LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

3073. ——— ———.]—SHADDICK v. PALMER'S SHIPBUILDING & IRON CO., No. 3100, post.

3074. ——— ———.]—A workman, a driller, was injured at work. The employers admitted liability, & paid half wages, 17*s.* 1*d.*, as compensation for some time. The workman then filed an original request for arbn., alleging that he was entitled to a higher sum as compensation in view of the fact that he was under a concurrent contract of service at the time of the accident, & also that wages had been increased since. He stated in his particulars that liability had been admitted & compensation at 17*s.* 1*d.* had been paid. The employers filed an answer stating that they were "willing to continue payment of 17*s.* 1*d.* a week under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), as to which no question has arisen." The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that the parties had come to an agreement as to the amount of compensation & liability to pay same under the terms of the Act, & therefore all questions had been settled:—Held: there was evidence to support the judge's finding that all questions had been settled by agreement, & therefore this being an original application & not an application to review, the judge was right in dismissing same.—SMITH v. REDPATH, BROWN & CO., LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 663, C. A.

3075. ——— ———.]—MOAKES v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3090, post.

3076. ——— ———.]—Applt. met with an accident while employed in a factory at a weekly wage of £1 4*s.* 9*d.* The employers admitted liability & paid 15*s* 6*d.* a week compensation for eight months on the basis of total incapacity, which sum was in fact made up of 12*s.* 5*d.* half wages, plus 3*s.* 1*d.* war addition. Applt. then applied to the ct. for increased compensation. The judge found that an agreement had been come to under which resp. paid full compensation & that no question to arbitrate upon had arisen between the parties. He therefore dismissed the application:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—WRIGHT v. MINISTER OF MUNITIONS (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 103, C. A.

3077. ——— Workman satisfied with voluntary payments.]—PLANT v. OLDNALL COLLIERY CO. (1903), 114 L. T. Jo. 284.

Annotation:—Refd. Tyne Tees Shipping Co. v. Whilock (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 1091.

3078. ——— Res judicata.]—A county ct. judge made an award in favour of a workman, whom he found capable & willing to do certain light work, in the following terms: "That the employers do forthwith provide appct., for the period of four weeks, light employment at £1 a week." No objection was taken to this award. The workman was so employed, & was then offered his old work which he refused. On the employers refusing to keep him at the light work or pay compensation, the man commenced entirely new proceedings, in which he claimed for incapacity resulting from the original accident. The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that the questions raised had been dealt with, & finally decided in the first arbitration proceedings: —Held: the second application was properly dismissed, the only proceedings open to the workman being by way of review.—WATTS v. LOGAN & HEMINGWAY (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 82, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Beamish v. Wagon Repairs (1925), 133 L. T. 406.

3079. ——— ———.]—PELLETT v. HOVE CORPN., No. 3958, post.

3080. ——— ———.]—HAYDOCK v. GOODIER, No. 3587, post.

3081. ——— Certificate of recovery served by employer on workman—Failure of workman to send certificate in disagreement.]—In each case the workman met with an accident & received full compensation from his employers, but the weekly payments were not made under an award or recorded agreement. Subsequently the employers received a certificate from a doctor instructed by them that the workman was fit for work. They then served the workman with a copy of the certificate & notice to end the weekly payment within ten days, in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 44. The workman failed to comply with that sect., & sent no certificate disagreeing with the employers' certificate. The employers therefore ended the m. Arbitrator's fees.]—The sched. to Arbn. Act does not apply to arbitrations under Workmen's Compensation Act, & the arbitrator's fee must be dealt with by a practice analogous to that prevailing prior to Arbn. Act on a reference directed by the ct.—CHISHOLM v. CENTRE STAR MINING CO. (1906), 12 B. C. R. 16.—CAN.

---

VINE v. NORTH COAST STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1921), 22 S. R. N. S. W. 1; 38 N. S. W. W. N. 227.—AUS.

weekly payments. The workman instituted arbn. proceedings for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & the employers took the preliminary objection that the workman's right to arbn. was barred. The objection was allowed in the first case but overruled in the second:—Held: (1) the fact that the workman did not exercise the right given to him by that sect. did not deprive him of his ordinary right under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to commence arbn. proceedings for compensation; (2) the sect. applies to weekly payments being made in discharge of liability to pay compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), though made voluntarily & not under any award or recorded memorandum of agreement.—PUDNEY v. FRANCE (WILLIAM), FENWICK & CO., SMITH v. LEACH & CO., [1925] 1 K. B. 346; 94 L. J. K. B. 513; 132 L. T. 430; 41 T. L. R. 83; 69 Sol. Jo. 139; 17 B. W. C. C. 241, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Crewe v. Rhodes (1925), 133 L. T. 650; Davies v. Glyncorrwg Colliery Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 339. Distd. Rhodes v. Digby Colliery Co. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796. Reid. Davies v. Midland Ry. Carriage & Waggon Co. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 69. As to (2) Reid. Lindsay v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 600; Feeney v. Firbeck Main Collieries, [1926] 2 K. B. 218; Lacey v. Wallis (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 43; Ocean Coal Co. v. Davies (1926), 135 L. T. 498.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 12 (3).

—— Workman electing to proceed by action.]—See Sect. 25, post.

—— Workman contracting out of Act.]—See Sect. 26, sub-sect. 1, B., post.

3082. Discretion of judge to refuse to hear claim—Proceedings taken in undue haste.]—ROONEY v. HURLOCK, No. 3087, post.

3083. —— ——.]—BALDWIN v. ELECTRIC & ORDNANCE ACCESSORIES CO., LTD., No. 3088, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHAT IS QUESTION ARISING.

A. In General.

3084. Must exist at time of application.]—A workman was injured. & asked for compensation. His employer wrote offering 10*s.* per week during total incapacity, but the workman insisted that he should agree to pay this sum during total & partial incapacity. The employer refused, & the workman brought proceedings, claiming 12*s.* 6*d.* per week. The employer by his answer admitted liability, & present total incapacity, & submitted to an award for 10*s.* per week during total incapacity, the amount to be paid during partial incapacity to be settled thereafter. Before the hearing the compensation was agreed at 10*s.* per week. The county ct. judge held that no question had arisen, & dismissed the application:—Held: as a dispute was in existence at the time of the application, a question had arisen within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (3), & the application must be heard.—HIGGINS v. POULSON (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 66, C. A.; subsequent proceedings, [1912] 2 K. B. 292, C. A.

3085. ——.]—A workman met with an accident, & was paid compensation on the basis of total incapacity. While such payments were being made his solr. made a request for arbn., alleging that certain questions had arisen which had not been settled by agreement. The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that there were no questions to settle. On appeal, an attempt was made to formulate a case from the correspondence, which had not been raised before the county ct. judge:—Held: the appeal must be dismissed.

Except in case of review, the question must have arisen at the time (SWINFEN EADY, L.J.).—WOODER v. LUSH (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 673, C. A.

3086. May be raised by employer's answer.]—An injured workman gave notice of accident & asked for compensation. The employer replied that compensation would be paid so long as the works' doctor certified incapacity. The workman objected to this limitation. He received no compensation, & neither asked for nor was refused it, further than appears from these facts. He brought proceedings. The employer's answer denied the injuries & the incapacity, & set out the circumstances under which they had offered compensation as above, & the fact that the workman had never applied for compensation. The employer at the hearing raised the point that there was no jurisdiction to hear the application as no question had arisen:—Held: the employer's answer raised a dispute, & the employer could not thereon say there was no question. Had the answer first raised the point that no question had arisen, & then without prejudice thereto denied incapacity, etc., the employer could have raised the point, & he would have been entitled to succeed on that point.—BARRON v. CARMICHAEL (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 436, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Rooney v. Hurlock (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 117. Reid. Hogg v. Vickers (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 229.

B. Liability for Compensation.

3087. Refusal of employer to admit liability.]—(1) A workman while engaged on her employer's business was knocked down & killed by a motor omnibus. The parents of the woman alleged that they were partially dependent on her earnings, & therefore proceedings in respect of the loss caused by the death of their daughter could be instituted under the Workmen's Compensation Act. In the course of an informal conversation between the solrs. acting for the parents & deceased girl's employer, the latter definitely stated that, if proceedings to recover compensation were taken against his client, he should deny that the parents were partially dependent on deceased girl's earnings at all, & suggested that the parents ought to proceed against the motor omnibus co. at common law for damages. Shortly afterwards a letter was received by him stating that the parents had decided to institute proceedings for compensation against the employer, & on the day that letter was received a request for arbn. was filed. The county ct. judge struck out the claim on the ground that no question had arisen, & therefore he had no jurisdiction to hear the claim. He came to that decision as he thought an agreement might have been come to had a reasonable time been given the employer to consider his liability under the Act:—Held: a question had arisen, & the case must be reinstated for hearing.

(2) Where proceedings are taken in undue haste, even though a question may have arisen which had not been settled, & therefore technically it could not be said that proceedings could not properly be brought, it is nevertheless in the discretion of the judge to refuse to hear the claim if he considers the proceedings to have been taken unreasonably (SWINFEN EADY, L.J.).—ROONEY v. HURLOCK (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 117, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Dtd. Baldwin v. Electric & Ordnance Accessories Co. (1919), 122 L. T. 147.

Sect. 10.—The arbitration: Sub-sect. 2, B., C. & D.]

3088. —— Suggested agreement to accept lump sum.]—An injured workman received compensation for some time. He resumed work & compensation was stopped. He then had to cease work altogether owing to his injury, & negotiations were entered into with regard to a settlement. The employers alleged that he agreed to accept £100. On May 1 the workman's solr. wrote, referring to the incapacity & the compensation to which the man was entitled, & also to the "suggested" settlement for £100, & asking for further information to advise upon. This letter was merely acknowledged on May 2 by the employers, & a full reply was not sent until May 9, stating that the workman had "agreed to accept the sum of £100 in final settlement." This crossed a letter from the workman's solr. of the same date to the effect that, as he had not heard further, proceedings would be commenced. On May 13 he wrote in answer to the employers' letter of May 9, insisting on the workman's right to compensation, & asking whether the employers were prepared to pay a weekly sum, or offer a larger sum than £100. Proceedings were commenced on the same, or next, day before any answer was received from the employers. The county ct. judge awarded compensation. On appeal the employers took the points, (a) that no question had arisen giving the judge jurisdiction to hear the case, & (b) if a question had arisen he should have refused to hear it in accordance with the dictum of SWINFEN EADY, L.J., in Rooney v. Hurlock, No. 3087, ante, to the effect that where proceedings are taken in undue haste, even though there is a question between the parties at the time, the judge has discretion to refuse to hear the case:—Held: a question arose when the workman, having asserted his right to weekly compensation, as he did in the letter of May 1, was met by the employers' assertion that their liability to make such payment had been settled by an agreement to take £100. There was jurisdiction to hear the arbn. & make the award.—BALDWIN v. ELECTRIC & ORDNANCE ACCESSORIES CO., LTD. (1919), 122 L. T. 147; 12 B. W. C. C. 305, C. A.

3089. —— Reference to insurance company.]—On Feb. 1, 1924, a workman, when in the employment of resps., was struck on the head by an iron "bloater," whilst engaged in packing aeroplanes. He was absent from his work for several weeks, suffering from traumatic neurasthenia & received compensation. He returned to work on Mar. 17, after which date he ceased to receive compensation. On Mar. 20, he left resps. for the second time, finding that he could work no longer owing to tremblings in the body, legs & arms, & to pains in the head. Ten days later he asked for compensation & was referred by resps. to the insurance co. Having received no communication from the insurance co. he commenced arbn. proceedings in the county ct. Resps., the employers, contended that no question had arisen between the parties. On behalf of appct. it was contended that a question had arisen as the act of referring him to the insurance co. was a refusal to pay compensation. The county ct. judge held that no question had arisen between the parties to the arbn. & dismissed the application:—Held: a question had arisen, & the case must be sent back to the county ct. judge for his decision.—TOOMBES v. HANDLEY PAGE & CO., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 208, C. A.

C. Amount of Compensation.

3090. Under recorded agreement—Computation of amount.]—Appct., while under twenty-one, met with an accident while working in resp.'s colliery in 1907. Liability was admitted & compensation paid till 1911, in which year appct. attained twenty-one. In that year an agreement was made between the workman & his father & the employers, & duly recorded, whereby the employers agreed to find the workman light employment & pay him weekly what he could earn by working pit time at such employment, & in addition half the difference between that sum & what he would have earned at the current wages in the pit if he had remained uninjured. Compensation was paid under this agreement for five years. In 1916 disputes arose between the workman & his employers as to the amount which the workman could earn in the employment provided. The workman applied for a fresh arbn. The county ct. judge dismissed the application, holding that he could not grant a fresh arbn. while there was a recorded agreement on the file, & that the workman's remedy was to apply for leave to issue execution. The workman appealed:—Held: (1) no fresh arbn. could be entered upon while the agreement was on the file; & Workman's Compensation Rules, r. 82, enabled the judge to decide, on the application to issue execution, the question what sum was payable under the agreement; (2) the case was not one for an application to review, as there was no change of circumstance, & the workman did not desire to alter the agreement.—MOAKES v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1917] 1 K. B. 565; 86 L. J. K. B. 454; 116 L. T. 197; 33 T. L. R. 162; 61 Sol. Jo. 217; 10 B. W. C. C. 166, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Beamish v. Wagon Repairs (1925), 133 L. T. 406.

3091. —— Amount not fixed.]—A workman filed with the registrar of the county ct. a form of memorandum stating that in the event of his being thereafter "totally or partially incapacitated from work as a result of his said injuries" he should be entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 55), the amount of such compensation to be ascertained "failing agreement between the parties by arbn. under the said Act." He subsequently lodged a request for arbn. The employers raised the objection that up to the time of the lodging of the request for arbn. no question had arisen as to the amount or duration of the compensation payable:—Held: (1) on the agreement, two questions had arisen, (a) as to the extent of the incapacity, & (b) as to the amount of the compensation, both of which questions might fairly be settled by arbn.; (2) the words "failing agreement" contained in the memorandum did not mean that there must be some attempt to agree which had proved unsuccessful, but they meant "if not settled by agreement."—HOGG v. VICKERS, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 229, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. Beamish v. Wagon Repairs (1925), 133 L. T. 406.

3092. —— ——.]—On July 18, 1923, the workman suffered an injury to his eye while in the employment of resps., & was paid compensation until Sept. 27, 1923, when he returned to do lighter work. On Oct. 26, 1923, an agreement was made declaring the employers liable to pay compensation in the event of the workman sustaining loss in consequence of the accident; the amount, failing agreement, to be fixed in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). A memorandum of this agreement was duly recorded on Nov. 10, 1923. The workman was subsequently only intermittently employed & on Oct. 7, 1924, he commenced original arbn. proceedings claiming compensation. Resps. in their answer made no objection to the form of procedure, but at the hearing took the preliminary objection that the proceedings ought to have been by way of review, & that the county ct. judge had no jurisdiction to hear arbn. proceedings. The county ct. judge dismissed the application & declined to treat the proceedings as a review:—Held: the agreement did not fix a definite weekly sum but left open questions proper to be decided by original arbn. proceedings & the workman was entitled to institute such proceedings. In any case, having regard to the fact that no objection to the procedure was taken by resps. in their answer, they should have been taken to have acquiesced in the form of proceedings instituted by the workman's case remitted.—BEAMISH v. WAGON REPAIRS, LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 406; 18 B. W. C. C. 156, C. A.

3093. Tender of full amount—Demand for costs of notice of arbitration.]—An injured workman was in receipt of half wages when it was discovered that she was a minor, entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (b), to have more than 50 per cent. of her average wages, & then a demand for arbn. was served on resps.

Resps. almost immediately tendered the money, which was not accepted as costs alleged to be due were not also tendered. After hearing the case the arbitrator made an award of costs against resps. Against this resps. appealed:—Held: there was no dispute, & therefore no power to order costs.—SMITH v. ABBEY PARK STEAM LAUNDRY CO., LTD. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 142, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

D. Duration of Compensation.

3094. Conditional admission of liability—Dependent on medical certificate.]—PAYNE v. FORTESCUE (N.) & SONS, LTD., No. 3068, ante.

3095. Admission of liability to date of payment only—Future liability to be determined when application made.]—The employers of a workman, who had been totally incapacitated by an accident, admitted liability under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), tendered the amount of compensation due, as to which there was no dispute, & requested the workman to sign a receipt which contained this clause: "At the first or any subsequent payment liability is admitted only for the compensation to date of payment. Further liability, if any, will be determined week by week, when application is made for payment." The workman objected to this clause on the ground that he was entitled to have an unqualified admission of liability, such as he could embody in a memorandum of agreement for the purpose of recording, & he refused to sign the receipt & initiated arbn. proceedings:—Held: a question had arisen between the parties as to the duration of compensation, & the arbn. was competent.—SUMMERLEE IRON CO., LTD. v. FREELAND, [1913] A. C. 221; 82 L. J. P. C. 102; 108 L. T. 465; 29 T. L. R. 277; 57 Sol. Jo. 281; 6 B. W. C. C. 255, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Babcock & Wilcox v. Pearson (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 841. Distd. Bedwell v. L. Elec. Ry. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 685; Sampson v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 107. Apld. Cooper v. Wales, [1915] 3 K. B. 210. Consd. Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017. Refd. Tyne Tees Shipping Co. v. Whilock, [1913] 3 K. B. 642; Brown v. Baird (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 289; Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309; Lindsay v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 600.

3096. Admission of liability during total incapacity only.]—A workman was incapacitated by accident. His employers admitted liability & were willing to record a memorandum agreeing to pay "during total disablement, the amount of payment for partial disablement, to be settled hereafter." The workman refused to allow this to be recorded & applied to record a memorandum in general terms of agreement to pay compensation during incapacity. The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that no question had arisen. The workman appealed, alleging that there was the question of "duration":—Held: no question had arisen.—SAMPSON v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 107, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cooper v. Wales, [1915] 3 K. B. 210. Refd. Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017.

3097. ——.]—A workman, whilst employed by resps., met with a severe accident to his left hand which caused for the time total incapacity. Resps. offered to pay full compensation during total incapacity. This was declined on the ground that the workman was not prepared to accept an admission limited to total incapacity only. The result was that the compensation offered was not accepted by the workman, & he applied to have the compensation fixed by arbn.:—Held: a question had arisen within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (3), & there was jurisdiction to entertain the application.—COOPER v. WALES, LTD., [1915] 3 K. B. 210; 84 L. J. K. B. 1321; 113 L. T. 637; 31 T. L. R. 506; 59 Sol. Jo. 578; 8 B. W. C. C. 595, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Round v. Wathen (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 1011. Apld. Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017.

3098. ——.]—A work girl was injured while working for applts. The employers at once admitted liability to pay her full compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & they paid her 6*s.* a week, being half her average wages. Correspondence with regard to recording a memorandum of agreement then took place between the solrs. for the parties, with the result that the employers stated that they would consent to a memorandum being filed in the following terms: "The said J. Wathen & Son admit their liability to pay to the said Lily Round the compensation to which she may at any time be entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), in respect of the said injury, & during total incapacity the said J. Wathen & Son admit liability to pay at the rate of 6*s.* per week as from the date of the accident, but the amount of compensation payable during partial incapacity is not now capable of agreement, & must be settled by agreement or by arbn. in accordance with the Act,

2 S. L. T. 396; 9 B. W. C. C. 682.—SCOT.

p. —— ——.] — MURPHY v. FARME COAL CO., [1918] S. C. 659; 55 Sc. L. R. 557; [1918] 2 S. L. T. 8.—SCOT.

q. —— ——.] — BAIRD & CO., LTD. v. MURPHY (1921), 58 Sc. L. R. 611.—SCOT.

Sect. 10.—The arbitration: Sub-sect. 2, D. Sect. 11: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3.]

when total incapacity ceases." Appct. refused to agree to this memorandum being recorded, & applied for arbn., desiring a memorandum or award showing the 6*s.* to be paid until "ended or diminished or redeemed" in accordance with the Act. The county ct. judge held that a question had arisen between the parties within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (3), & that he had jurisdiction to hear the application. Accordingly he made an award for appct. of 6*s.* a week in accordance with Form 24 in the Appendix to the Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, "to continue during the total or partial incapacity of appct. for work, or until the same shall be ended, diminished, increased, or redeemed in accordance with the provisions of the Act":—Held: a question had arisen, & the award was intra vires.—ROUND v. WATHEN & SON (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 1011; 116 L. T. 97; 10 B. W. C. C. 35, C. A.

3099. Refusal to enter into agreement.]—A workman was totally incapacitated by an accident while at work. The employers admitted liability & paid full compensation weekly. The workman asked the employers to enter into an agreement to continue to make the weekly payment during incapacity, so that he might record a memorandum thereof. This they refused to do, & the workman thereupon applied for an award:—Held: no question had arisen.—BELL v. LONDON ELECTRIC RY. CO. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 685, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cooper v. Wales, [1915] 3 K. B. 210; Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017.

3100. ——.]—A workman was totally incapacited by an accident during work. The employers admitted liability & told the man he would be paid £1 a week, the maximum compensation he could claim, week by week, at their pay office. The workman declined to take any money until the employers signed a form showing an agreement to pay compensation in the terms of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), until the same should be ended, diminished, or redeemed, so that a memorandum to that effect could be recorded. The employers refused to admit such an agreement or to sign the form. All they would say was, "We have admitted liability & there is no question." The workman thereupon applied for an award. The county ct. judge awarded for the workman in terms similar to those to which the employers had been asked to agree. The employers contended that the county ct. judge had no jurisdiction as no question had arisen:—Held: though the employers were not compelled to sign any particular form of agreement, the admission of liability made by them did not cover an injured workman's full rights under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & a question had arisen which gave the county ct. judge jurisdiction.—SHADDICK v. PALMER'S SHIPBUILDING & IRON CO. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017; 117 L. T. 259; 61 Sol. Jo. 545; 10 B. W. C. C. 364, C. A.

SECT. 11.—PROCEDURE IN THE ARBITRATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JURISDICTION AS TO PLACE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 27; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 88–90.

3101. Jurisdiction of court of district where accident happened—Accident in England—Employer resident in Ireland.]—HADDOCK v. FISHER & SONS (1900), 2 W. C. C. 43, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hunter v. Städtische Hochseefischerei Gemeinnützige Gesellschaft (1925), 133 L. T. 488.

3102. —— —— Employer resident in Scotland.]—When a workman resident in England is injured by an accident occurring in England, but his employer resides in Scotland, proceedings for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), may be taken in the county ct. of the district in which the accident occurred, & service of the necessary notices may be effected by registered post.—R. v. OWEN, [1902] 2 K. B. 436; 71 L. J. K. B. 770; 51 W. R. 168; 18 T. L. R. 701; 46 Sol. Jo. 617; 4 W. C. C. 150; sub nom. R. v. NEWPORT COUNTY COURT JUDGE, 87 L. T. 298, D. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Hunter v. Städtische Hochseefischerei Gesellschaft, [1925] 2 K. B. 493.

3103. —— —— Foreign employer.]—HUNTER v. STÄDTISCHE HOCHSEEFISCHEREI GESELLSCHAFT, No. 2232, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PARTIES.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 2–7.

3104. Right to bring proceedings in name of workman—Approved society—National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2)—What constitutes neglect or refusal.]—The above sub-sect. enacts that where an insured person appears to be entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & "unreasonably refuses or neglects" to take proceedings to enforce such claim, his approved society may take proceedings in his name & on his behalf. A workman who was injured by an accident & subsequently incapacitated omitted to take proceedings for compensation by reason of his belief that the incapacity was not occasioned by the accident:—Held: by reason of his omission, on good grounds, to take proceedings, the workman did not unreasonably refuse or neglect to take proceedings so as to entitle his approved society to do so in his name.—RUSHTON v. SKEY (GEORGE) & CO., LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 706; 83 L. J. K. B. 1503; 111 L. T. 700; 30 T. L. R. 601; 58 Sol. Jo. 685; 7 B. W. C. C. 508, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Allen v. Francis, [1914] 3 K. B. 1065; Skelton v. Baxter, [1916] 1 K. B. 321. Mentd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

3105. —— —— ——.]—ALLEN v. FRANCIS, No. 3177, post.

3106. —— —— ——.]—A workman having met with an accident, two letters dated Apr. 23, 1914, & May 2, 1914, were written on behalf of an approved society stating that it was purposing to take proceedings for the workman against the employer to obtain compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Proceedings were then brought & at the hearing the secretary of the local branch of the approved society, who was called to give expert evidence, said, in answer to questions put in cross-examination, that his society was an approved society & had taken these proceedings in the name of the workman. He also said that the workman had not refused to take proceedings, but, though anxious to do so, had not the necessary money. The county ct. judge thereupon dismissed the application on the ground that under National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2), an approved society was not entitled to bring proceedings in a workman's name unless he had unreasonably neglected or refused to take them himself. On appeal it was alleged on the workman's behalf that he was not an insured member of the approved society, but was merely a member of it as a trade union, & it was contended that in these circumstances National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2), had no application & that the proceedings were maintainable :—Held : on the evidence as it stood, the county ct. judge was entitled to draw the inference that the workman was insured in the society under National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), & as no case of surprise had been made, & county ct. judge's decision must stand.—BURNHAM v. HARDY (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 714 ; 112 L. T. 837 ; 8 B. W. C. C. 57, C. A.

Annotation :—Mentd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

3107. —— —— ——.]—A boy, who was insured in an approved society, having met with an accident, instructed a solr. & commenced proceedings by his mother as next friend. The solr., however, declined to continue without certain costs being paid. The case was consequently adjourned, whereupon the local agent of his approved society offered the society's help, which was given. The society instructed another solr. to appear on the boy's behalf, but no notice of change of solr. was given. Upon the case coming on for hearing, resps. objected that the solr. had no locus standi, & also that the application had now become that of the approved society. The county ct. judge without hearing any evidence, upheld this contention, dismissed the workman's application, & ordered the approved society to pay the costs :—Held : the case must be remitted to be properly heard. There was no evidence to support the course taken by the judge, & his order must be discharged.

The provision in the National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), is . . . facultative & additional & enable in certain cases the insurance society to sue in the name of the assured against his will, subject to the society's liability to pay costs (PHILLIMORE, L.J.).—DOUGHTY v. ALTHAM COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 298, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

3108. —— Trade union.]—A trade union may help a workman but must not initiate proceedings in his name (per CUR.).—BOBBEY v. CROSBIE & CO. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 856 ; 112 L. T. 900 ; 8 B. W. C. C. 236, C. A. ; revsd. on other grounds, 85 L. J. K. B. 239, H. L.

3109. By whom proceedings brought—Question for judge.]—BURNHAM v. HARDY, No. 3106, ante.

3110. —— ——.]—Where the issue in the county ct. in proceedings for compensation under Workman's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is whether the insured person's claim has been properly taken by him, or has been taken in his name & on his behalf by the approved society, the issue must be determined as between the workman & his employer & the circumstance that the claim had been " maintained " by the approved society does not ipso facto afford a defence to the claim.

In this case the insured person had signed a retainer for the solr., chosen by the approved society, to act for her & had written letters to the effect that she wished her case to be taken up &, though the approved society gave a partial indemnity as to costs & actually found the money for the expenses of proving her case, the county ct. judge found as a fact that the application was made by the insured person herself :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—SKELTON v. BAXTER, [1916] 1 K. B. 321 ; 85 L. J. K. B. 181 ; 114 L. T. 56 ; 32 T. L. R. 130 ; 60 Sol. Jo. 120 ; 9 B. W. C. C. 97, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Mackey v. Monks (Preston), [1918] A. C. 59. Mentd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

Proceedings by dependants & personal representative of dependants.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 2.

SUB-SECT. 3.—CLAIM AND ANSWER.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, 8–18, 20, 25, 28.

3111. Time for filing notice of claim.]—POWELL v. MAIN COLLIERY CO., No. 2971, ante.

3112. —— Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893 (c. 61), not applicable.]—FRY v. CHELTENHAM CORPN., No. 2933, ante.

3113. —— Party claiming indemnity.]—Where undertakers as defined by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & a contractor with them are both made resps. to arbn. proceedings under the Act, the undertakers, if they desire to make a claim in the proceedings to indemnity against the contractor, must, five clear days before the day fixed for proceeding with the arbn., file a notice of their claim as provided by Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1898, r. 19.—APPLEBY v. HORSELEY CO., LTD., [1899] 2 Q. B. 521 ; 68 L. J. Q. B. 894 ; 80 L. T. 855 ; 47 W. R. 614 ; 15 T. L. R. 410 ; 43 Sol. Jo. 568 ; 1 W. C. C. 103, C. A.

Annotations :—Folld. Howard v. Driver (1903), 5 W. C. C. 153. Refd. Gill v. Fortescue (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 577 ; Warburton v. Co-op. Wholesale Soc., [1916] 1 K. B. 906.

3114. Service of notices—Registered post—Employer residing out of jurisdiction.]—R. v. OWEN, No. 3102, ante.

3115. —— —— ——.]—HUNTER v. STÄDTISCHE HOCHSEEFISCHEREI GESELLSCHAFT, No. 2232, ante.

3116. Particulars—Contents of—Nature of injury only need be stated.]—A workman stated in his particulars that the effect of an accident was a rupture on the left side. The judge, sitting with a medical assessor, found that he never had been ruptured but that there had been disabling effects of the accident of which no mention had been made in the particulars & which bore no relation to rupture. The workman then applied for leave to amend his particulars to include these effects. The judge refused & made an award in favour of resps. :—Held : the workman is only required to state the nature of his injury & not its effects ; this was a mere misdescription of the effects, & no amendment was therefore needed.—SIDNEY v. COLLINS, SON & CO. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 433, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Westminster Brymbo Coal & Coke Co. v. Evans (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 47. Refd. Stevens v. Thorne, [1916] 2 K. B. 69 ; Temperton v. Fletcher & Fearnall (1924), 132 L. T. 135.

3117. —— —— ——.]—TEMPERTON v. FLETCHER, SON & FEARNALL, LTD., No. 3990, post.

3118. —— Amendment of—When permissible.]—A workman sustained injury to his thumb. Liability was admitted, & weekly payments were made. The employers then asked him to undergo a course of massage at their expense ; he agreed, & went to the hospital, where, however, he refused to submit to the breaking down of the adhesions under an anæsthetic, which was a necessary preparation for the massage. Later, the employers applied for termination of the weekly payments on the ground that the man had unreasonably refused to have the top joint of his thumb amputated, which they alleged had been advised by his doctors.

Sect. 11.—Procedure in the arbitration: Sub-sects. 3, 4, 5 & 6, A.]

The only refusal that might have been unreasonable, which was proved, was that the workman had refused to have the adhesions broken down under an anæsthetic preparatory to the massage, which was the actual advice given by his doctors. The county ct. judge stated that he thought this refusal was covered by the employers' application, but that to prevent any doubt on this point he would amend the particulars; he then found that the refusal was unreasonable, & terminated the compensation:—Held: the employers having failed to prove the only refusal alleged (amputation) as unreasonable in their particulars, their application failed; they were debarred from raising the question of the other refusal (massage), as it was a distinct issue which had not been raised on the particulars given to the workman, & which was too serious to be imported into the case by amendment at the hearing.—HAYS WHARF PROPRIETORS v. BROWN (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 84, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Miles v. Dawe (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 225.

3119. ——— Power of judge to refuse—Where no dispute.]—STEVENS v. THORNE & CO., No. 3904, post.

3120. Answer — Contents of — Employer not bound to allege malingering.]—A workman received compensation for the loss of the little finger of the right hand. Compensation was stopped, on the advice of the employers' doctor. The workman applied for it to be continued, & the employers, by their answer, stated that they had offered him suitable work, which he had refused, but they did not say that the workman's conduct was unreasonable. The county ct. judge found that the refusal was unreasonable, & dismissed the application. The workman appealed on the ground that, as the answer had not raised the question of unreasonableness, the judge had no power to give a decision upon it:—Held: the appeal must be dismissed; the employer is not bound specifically to allege in his answer that a workman is a malingerer.—POTTS v. GUILDFORD SYNDICATE (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 675, C. A.

3121. —— —— Whether general denial of incapacity sufficient—To raise question of fitness for light work.]—A sailor, who had met with an injury by accident, was paid full compensation at the rate of 17*s.* 6*d.* a week for a period of nearly three years, when the payments stopped on Jan. 9, 1917. The workman then applied for full compensation, & the employers filed an answer stating that the man was not incapacitated & had not been since Jan. 9, 1917, & alternatively, if incapacitated, such incapacity was not the result of the accident. At the hearing medical evidence was given to the effect that the man's incapacity was partly due to his having abstained from doing any work. Appct. admitted that his doctor had advised him to go to work, & there was evidence that he could, had he tried, have found suitable work. The county ct. judge took this evidence into consideration & reduced the amount of compensation to 10*s.* a week, on the ground that appct.'s partial incapacity was in part but not wholly due to his own conduct. Against so much of the award as reduced the compensation the workman appealed, contending that the question of being fit to do light work was not raised by the employers' answer, & the judge had no jurisdiction to consider any such evidence:—Held: the answer filed sufficiently raised the question, & there was ample evidence to support the award & no misdirection.—ROUSE v. HUTCHINSON (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 523, C. A.

3122. —— Effect of failure to file—Discretion of judge to admit evidence or adjourn.]—Where a resp. to an arbn. in the county ct., having failed to file an answer, desires to produce evidence which is not consented to by appct., the judge may, on such terms as he shall think fit, either proceed with the arbn. & allow resp. to avail himself of such evidence, or adjourn the arbn. to enable resp. to file such answer.—SILVESTER v. CUDE (1899), 15 T. L. R. 434: 1 W. C. C. 120, C. A.

3123. —— —— Admission of particulars.]—CHAPMAN v. SMITH, No. 3411, post.

3124. —— —— Workman—Duty of judge to adjourn.]—A boy of fourteen severely injured his hand, losing two fingers & a thumb. After payments had been made for six months the employers applied for a review on the ground that he was able to do light work, which they were ready to offer him. Owing to his having changed his solrs., the workman was not ready with his answer, & asked for an adjournment. The county ct. judge would not adjourn the case, but reduced the compensation by the amount of the wages for the light work offered:—Held: the order of the county ct. should be discharged, & the case remitted for review at a future date, the workman, in the meantime, undertaking to attempt to do the work offered to him.—THORNBER & SONS, LTD. v. DURKIN (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 548, C. A.

3125. —— Amendment of—Not for purpose of denying admission.]—BUCKLEY v. MARCHINGTON & CO., No. 2841, ante.

3126. Effect of neglect of workman to proceed—Right of employer to apply to have question settled.]—POWELL v. MAIN COLLIERY CO., No. 2971, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—APPEARANCE OF PARTIES.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 35.

3127. Right of audience—Solicitor's managing clerk—Discretion of judge.]—At the hearing of an interlocutory application by the employer for the order that the workman should give particulars of incapacity, the workman was represented by the managing clerk of the solr. on the record, himself an admitted solr. The county ct. judge refused to hear him, as not being the proper person to appear in ct.:—Held: the refusal was within the discretion of the judge; for this purpose there is no distinction between interlocutory & final matters.—ROGERS v. HOLBORN METROPOLITAN BOROUGH (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 432, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 5.—EVIDENCE.

3128. Admissibility — Statement of deceased workman.]—HEWITT v. STANLEY BROTHERS, LTD., No. 2684, ante.

3129. ——.]—BEARE v. GARROD, No. 2324, ante.

3130. ——— Made in course of duty.]—FINN v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD., No. 2545, ante.

—— —— As to bodily feelings.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 70, 71, Nos. 415–417.

—— Finding of coroner's inquisition.]—See,

PART XIV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 5.

r. Remission to amend stated case—Power of arbitrator to hear further evidence.]—PARK v. COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 1163; 50 Sc. L. R. 926; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 232; 6 B. W. C. C. 892.—SCOT.

generally, CORONERS, Vol. XIII., pp. 259, 260, Nos. 402–410.

—— Certificate of death.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 323, Nos. 3173–3179.

3131. —— Information given between trial & judgment.]—MCCARTHY v. MELITA (OWNERS), No. 2776, ante.

3132. —— Evidence of allegation raised late in proceedings—Discretion of judge.]—LEIVERS v. BARBER, WALKER & CO., No. 2496, ante.

3133. —— Medical opinion of non-medical witness—Student in toxicology.]—NIGHTINGALE v. BIFFEN, HEWITT v. BIFFEN, No. 2737, ante.

—— Medical text books.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 386, No. 3959.

3134. At what stage of proceedings admitted—Whether after judgment.]—Arbn. proceedings were closed & the county ct. judge pronounced in favour of appct. Certain arguments were then addressed to the judge, & in consequence he recalled appct. & then altered his verbal award in respect to the duration of the compensation awarded, & made payments terminable as from the date of the arbn. The award was then drawn up in this form & signed:—Held: the award as corrected was valid.—HEATH v. HACKNEY MARSHES NATIONAL PROJECTILE FACTORY (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 361, C. A.

—— —— —.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 477–479, Nos. 5029–5050.

3135. What amounts to admission of liability—Allegations not traversed.]—The particulars of an application for arbn. filed by a workman alleged the circumstances of an accident, & that certain payments of compensation had been made by the employers. The employers' answer left everything admitted, except the extent of incapacity & the amount of compensation to be paid. The county ct. judge dismissed the workman's application on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence of accident:—Held: the allegations as to accident not having been traversed by the employers' answer, they must be taken to have been admitted, & therefore there was no necessity for the workman to call evidence on this point.—RUDGE v. YOUNG & SON (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 406, C. A.

3136. —— Letter from insurance company.]—An insurance co. who were contesting a workmen's compensation case as agents for the employer, had written a letter to appct. admitting liability. The letter, however, had not been acted upon, & the county ct. judge decided against the workman on the merits of the case:—Held: without hearing the merits, the letter was an admission of liability binding on the employer.—FRASER v. DRISCOLL (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 264, C. A.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Dutton v. Sneyd Bycars Co., [1920] 1 K. B. 414. Distd. Maloney v. Pink (1923), 130 L. T. 500.

3137. —— ——.]—MALONEY v. PINK (E. & T.), LTD., No. 2753, ante.

3138. —— Letter to parent of workman—Offer to continue voluntary payments.]—A boy received an injury by accident in the course of his employment. His employer, without fully inquiring into the facts, paid compensation for five weeks, & wrote a letter to the boy's father offering, on certain conditions, to continue the payments. At the hearing the county ct. judge found that the accident did not arise out of the employment, but that, in the circumstances, the employer was estopped by his conduct from denying liability:—Held: neither the letter nor the payment of compensation amounted to an estoppel.—HARRISON v. FEATHERSTONE (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 54, C. A.

3139. —— Voluntary payment of compensation.]—HARRISON v. FEATHERSTONE, No. 3138, ante.

3140. —— —— Signature of special receipt forms.]—Appct. was employed by a co., whose undertaking was controlled by the Ministry of Munitions during the war, to manufacture poison gas, & he was incapacitated by gas poisoning on July 5, 1916. At first he continued to receive his full wages, but after about eight weeks he was paid £1 7*s.* 11*d.* a week until Mar. 1917, when he sufficiently recovered to do light work for a colliery co., & he received in addition to his wages in that employment, half the difference between his wages before he was disabled & his then wages. In July, 1918, he again became incapacitated as the result of the poisoning, & he was again paid £1 7*s.* 11*d.* a week until Jan. 8, 1919. Since then he had been paid only 10*s.* a week. On the hearing of a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the employers denied liability on the ground that appct. was suffering from a disease admittedly resulting from his employment, but one not covered by Sched. III. to the Act. It was contended in answer that the employers by their conduct were estopped from denying the case came within the Act, because during the man's incapacity they had required him from time to time to sign a declaration form known as the Munitions Finance Form W.C.A. 3, & he had given receipts on a form issued by the Ministry known as W.C.A. 4; & that payments corresponded in amount to payments recoverable under the Act. The county ct. judge held that the only inference from the above evidence was that the payments were made to appct. as payments due & payable under the Act, & that the co. were estopped from denying that appct. was entitled to an award:—Held: there was no estoppel; it was not competent for master & servant by conduct or agreement to give jurisdiction to the county ct. judge to award compensation otherwise than in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58); a disease not mentioned as an industrial disease in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. III., or in the orders extending the operation of that Sched. could not therefore be brought within the limits of that jurisdiction either by agreement or estoppel.—DUTTON v. SNEYD BYCARS CO., LTD., [1920] 1 K. B. 414; 89 L. J. K. B. 85; 122 L. T. 333; 36 T. L. R. 54; 64 Sol. Jo. 99; 12 B. W. C. C. 345, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111. Reld. Maloney v. Pink (1923), 130 L. T. 500.

—— Failure to file answer.]—See Sub-sect. 3, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—POWERS OF JUDGE OR ARBITRATOR.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I. (4), (6).

3141. Limited to jurisdiction under the Act—Cannot be enlarged by agreement or estoppel.]—STANDING v. EASTWOOD & CO., No. 2058, ante.

PART XIV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 6.—A.

t. Power to make prospective award.]—HALL (R. & H.), LTD. v. BRADY (1913), 47 I. L. T. 211.—IR.

a. Power to order evidence on commission.]—A judge acting as an arbitrator has power to direct the issue of a commission to take the evidence of witnesses in order that the evidence so taken may be used before him as part of the evidence on which to base his

Sect. 11.—Procedure in the arbitration: Sub-sect. 6, A., B. & C.]

3142. —— ——.]—DUTTON v. SNEYD BYCARS CO., LTD., No. 3140, ante.

3143. Power to grant new trial.]—MOUNTAIN v. PARR, No. 3044, ante.

3144. ——.]—A workman made a claim upon his employer for compensation for an injury which he said he had sustained in his employment. The employer denied liability. On the matter coming on for hearing before the county ct. judge, some communications passed between counsel & a settlement was arrived at whereby it was agreed the employer should pay to the workman £50, & costs. The judge made an award "by consent," giving effect to the agreement. After the award was drawn up & signed by the judge, the employers paid the £50 into ct. & paid the agreed costs. Afterwards the workman applied to the judge to set aside the award & order a new trial, on the ground of the inadequacy of the lump sum, & on the ground of a communication made to him by his counsel. The judge ordered that the award be set aside, & that appct. have a new trial:—Held: the judge, after his award had been drawn up & signed, had no power to set it aside.—BROWN v. WHITEHEAD (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 18, C. A.

3145. ——.]—At the trial of an action for compensation for injury the county ct. judge gave judgment for deft. Appct. subsequently applied to the same judge for a new trial, on the ground that he had been taken by surprise, & that he had two witnesses who would give fresh evidence. The judge made an order for a new trial. Deft. appealed:—Held: the defence was sufficiently explicit, & appct. could not impugn it because an issue correctly stated was presented to him in a form which he did not anticipate; he must show not only that he was surprised, but that the surprise had led to an erroneous decision; it was a matter of public importance that litigants should not be encouraged to keep on applying for new trials, & the application should only have been granted on authoritative proof (a) that the evidence would be available, & of a satisfactory character; (b) it would be not merely a contradiction of evidence given before, but of a weighty nature, & such that its absence might presumably have caused a miscarriage of justice; (c) it could not with reasonable diligence have been called at the trial; these features having been lacking at the application, the order must be set aside.—GUEST v. IBBOTSON (1922), 91 L. J. K. B. 558; 126 L. T. 738; 38 T. L. R. 325; 66 Sol. Jo. 298; 15 B. W. C. C. 43, C. A.

3146. Power to alter award—Not after award signed & sealed—Unless accidental slip or omission.]—A county ct. judge has no power to alter his award after it has been signed & sealed unless there has been an accidental slip or omission within Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907–1911, r. 28 (2).

A workman having sustained personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, an agreement for compensation by his employers was recorded. The employers having applied for the review, termination, or diminution of the weekly sum payable to the workman, the county ct. judge reduced the compensation & directed that the employers should pay the costs. After the ct. rose he added a note that on further consideration he directed the award to be without costs, & his signature was placed after that note. In the award as drawn up no costs were awarded to either party. The workman applied that the award might be corrected under Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907–1911, r. 28 (2), by awarding costs to him, on the ground that the award as drawn up differed from that made by the judge at the hearing:—Held: the judge had power to alter his award until it was signed & sealed within Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907–1911, r. 28 (1), but not afterwards.—MOWLEM (JOHN) & CO. v. DUNNE, [1912] 2 K. B. 136; 81 L. J. K. B. 777; 106 L. T. 611; 5 B. W. C. C. 382, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Brown v. Whitehead (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 18.

3147. —— To rectify mistake.]—A workman employed in a colliery ruptured himself while twisting a tub with the object of getting it on to the rails. He obtained an award of full compensation up to a certain date, & a declaration of liability was inserted in the award by mistake. Correspondence ensued between the parties with a view to the rectification of the mistake. In the course of the correspondence the workman notified the employers that he had never been asked for a declaration of liability. The question how the costs of the rectification should be borne being in dispute, the employers appealed, asking for an order that so much of the award as ordered that a declaration of liability of the employers to pay compensation be recorded might be set aside & for an order that the workman should pay the costs of the appeal:—Held: there had evidently been a mistake & the matter might have been put right without recourse being had to the Ct. of Appeal.—WEST v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 174, C. A.

3148. Power to grant discovery or interrogatories.]—SUTTON v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO., No. 3045, ante.

3149. Power to make prospective award—Smaller payments after fixed time.]—BAKER v. JEWELL, No. 3513, post.

3150. —— Payments varying with earnings.]—On an application to review, the county ct. judge awarded to a partially incapacitated workman 10*s.* per week, of two-thirds of the difference between £1 & his actual earnings, whichever sum should be the less:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to make such an award.

The county ct. judge has exceeded his jurisdiction in making his award on the sliding scale (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—NEWHOUSE & CO. v. JOHNSON (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 137, C. A.

3151. Power to order evidence on commission.]—In a claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it appeared that appct. was employed by resp. as an errand boy & was injured by an award.—Re BODNER & WEST CANADIAN COLLIERIES (1912), 22 W. L. R. 765; 3 W. W. R. 529; 8 D. L. R. 462; 5 Alta. L. R. 163.—CAN.

---

b. Power to amend pleadings.]—An arbitrator has the same powers as to amendments of pleadings in proceedings before him as a judge has in a civil action.—MOORE v. CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., LTD. (1910), 15 B. C. R. 391.—CAN.

c. Whether power to state case to judge—After award made.]—An arbitrator has no power, after he has made his award, to submit a question to a judge.—Re LEWIS & GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. CO. (1913), 25 W. L. R. 118; 4 W. W. R. 1246; 13 D. L. R. 152; 18 B. C. R. 329.—CAN.

d. —— Question of law.]—HOBBS & SAMUELS v. BRADLEY (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 744.—SCOT.

e. —— ——.]—MONTGOMERY v. NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO., LTD., [1918] S. C. 181.—SCOT.

f. Power to decide status of dependant — Illegitimate child.]—Whether an alleged dependant occupies the status of an illegitimate child, should be considered & decided in an arbn.—JOHNSTONE v. SPENCER (JAMES) & CO., [1908] S. C. 1015; 45 Sc. L. R. 802; 16 S. L. T. 182; 1 B. W. C. C. 302.—SCOT.

g. —— Widow.]—FIFE COAL CO., LTD. v. WALLACE, [1909] S. C. 682; accident as a result of which his leg had to be amputated. He filed a request for arbn. & applied for an order that he should be examined forthwith before an officer of the ct. at the hospital in which he was being treated. The county ct. judge made an order that he should be examined before the registrar on notice to resp., & that a copy of the examination should be used as evidence at the trial of the arbn. The examination was taken accordingly, but, owing to a misunderstanding, resp. was not represented at it:—Held: the Ct. of Appeal had jurisdiction to entertain an appeal from the order; the judge was sitting as arbitrator & had not all the powers which he exercised as county ct. judge; & he had no power to order evidence to be taken by commission.—TAYLOR v. CRIPPS, [1914] 3 K. B. 989; 83 L. J. K. B. 1538; 111 L. T. 780; 30 T. L. R. 616; 7 B. W. C. C. 623, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

3152. Power to suspend proceedings.]—SMITH v. DAVIS (D.) & SONS, LTD., No. 2956, ante.

3153. Power to award lump sum—By consent.]—HAYDOCK v. GOODIER No. 3587, post.

Power to amend particulars or answer.]—See Sub-sect. 3, ante.

B. To Refer to Medical Referee.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I. (11).

3154. Power to refer to medical referee—Where evidence conflicting.]—A seaman was injured, & claimed compensation. The medical evidence being conflicting, the county ct. judge referred the matter to a medical referee for report under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II. (15). He certified that the man was fit for light work if he wore a truss, but not fit for work as a seaman, or for lifting. On this certificate the county ct. judge awarded compensation on the basis of total incapacity:—Held: the judge was entitled under the regulations so to refer the matter to a referee, & on the latter's tificate was entitled to make the award.—HENRICKSEN v. SWANHILDA (OWNERS) (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 233, C. A.

3155. —— Where death results from injury.]—The power conferred upon a county ct. judge by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II., para. 15, to refer to a medical referee extends to a case where death has resulted from the injury in respect of which compensation is claimed.—CAROLAN v. HARRINGTON & SON, [1911] 2 K. B. 733; 80 L. J. K. B. 1153; 105 L. T. 271; 4 B. W. C. C. 253: sub nom. CARROLAN v. HARRINGTON, 27 T. L. R. 486, C. A.

3156. When reference may be made—Not before opening of case.]—Upon an application by the employers to review, a consent adjournment was applied for. The county ct. judge, without the case being opened, or any evidence being given, granted an adjournment & ordered a reference to the medical referee, who happened to be in ct., so that he might report as to the workman's condition:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to order such reference at this stage of the proceedings.—PEILL & SONS v. PAYNE (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 111, C. A.

3157. Report of referee—For use of arbitrator only—Discretion to allow parties to see.]—BOWDEN v. BARROW BROTHERS, No. 3052, ante.

3158. Examination by referee—Parties not entitled to attend.]—BOWDEN v. BARROW BROTHERS, No. 3052, ante.

Medical referee or arbitration tribunal.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 5, ante.

C. To Appoint Medical Assessor.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I. (5).

3159. Who may be appointed assessor—Not doctor who has already given opinion.]—A medical referee appointed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), having given a certificate that a workman was suffering from a scheduled industrial disease at a certain date, with the addition that he had completely recovered at the date of the certificate, the workman commenced proceedings which raised the same issue as that on which the opinion had been given:—Held: the county ct. judge was not entitled to appoint as his assessor the same doctor who had already given his opinion on the question.—WALLIS v. SOUTTER (ANDREW G.) & CO., LTD. (1915), 59 Sol. Jo. 285; 8 B. W. C. C. 130, C. A.

3160. Right to act on advice of assessor—After examination of workman.]—Conflicting medical evidence was given in an arbn. before a judge sitting with a medical assessor. The judge directed the medical assessor to examine the workman in his private room. On his return, the assessor communicated his opinion privately to the judge, who then said he adopted the view the assessor had advised & found in favour of the employer.

---

46 Sc. L. R. 727; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 509; 2 B. W. C. C. 264.—SCOT.

h. Power to determine validity of discharge—On application to record memorandum.]—HANLEY v. NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 875.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 6. —B.

3154 i. Power to refer to medical referee—Where evidence conflicting.]—CARROLL v. GRAY & SON, [1910] S. C. 700; 47 Sc. L. R. 646; [1910] 1 S. L. T. 373; 3 B. W. C. C. 572.—SCOT.

3154 ii. —— ——.]—GRACIE v. CLYDE SPINNING CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 630.—SCOT.

k. —— Notwithstanding employer's refusal to admit accident.]—MACLEOD v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1925] S. C. 59.—SCOT.

l. —— ——.]—Where the employers of a workman applied for a reference to a medical referee:—Held: such a reference was not rendered incompetent by the fact that the employers did not admit the accident & made their application without prejudice to their right to dispute its occurrence.—M'GEECHAN v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 4.—SCOT.

m. —— Though matters of fact not wholly medical involved.]—A medical referee in deciding a question as to a workman's condition & fitness for employment must necessarily have regard to facts which are not wholly medical.—M'NAUGHT v. GARRALLAN COAL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 351.—SCOT.

n. When reference may be made.]—MACLEOD v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 566.—SCOT.

o. —— Necessity for previous disposal of application by sheriff-clerk.]—CONNELLY v. MANOR POWIS COAL CO., [1926] S. C. 67.—SCOT.

p. Power of further reference—Ambiguous certificate.]—A medical referee's certificate was not clear to the mind of the arbitrator, who held he had no power to ask for an explanation:—Held: an arbitrator is entitled to send back to the medical referee for explanation a certificate which is ambiguous, unintelligible or open to different constructions.—KENNEDY v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD., [1913] S. C. 659; 50 Sc. L. R. 453; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 253; 6 B. W. C. C. 434.—SCOT.

q. —— Certificate incomplete.]—GILHOOLEY v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1924] S. C. 794.—SCOT.

r. —— ——.]—READ v. ANCHOR DONALDSON, LTD., [1926] S. C. 132.—SCOT.

t. Necessity for unambiguous medical report—For submission to medical referee.]—Held: as the medical report obtained by the employers contained no clear & unambiguous statement as to the workman's condition, it did not justify a reference to a medical referee.—CRAMSIE v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD., [1925] S. C. 364.—SCOT.

a. —— ——.]—HOWES v. MOUNT VERNON COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 672.—SCOT.

Sect. 11.—Procedure in the arbitration: Sub-sect. 6, C., D. & E.; sub-sect. 7, A. (a) & (b).]

No objection was taken on behalf of the workman to the examination:—Held: there was no misdirection, & in any event, as no objection had been raised at the hearing, the point was not open to be taken on appeal.—SMITH v. FOSTER (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 498, C. A.

3161. —— Where conflicting medical evidence.]—An apparently perfectly healthy dock labourer of fifty-one years of age was injured in the course of his employment by being struck by a heavy piece of timber on the lower part of the back. He was incapacitated for some three months. He then returned to work for six months, but was never again strong & healthy. He complained of increasing kidney trouble, & was taken to the hospital & operated on for cancer of the kidney. He ultimately died from a clot of blood in his lungs, being the after-effects of a subsequent operation performed in order to heal more effectively the scar caused by the first. There was some conflict of medical evidence as to the possible origin of the cancer. The county ct. judge, sitting with a medical assessor, found that death resulted from the injury by accident:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding; a judge is justified in relying upon the medical opinion of the assessor.—LEWIS v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1914), 111 L. T. 776; 58 Sol. Jo. 686; 7 B. W. C. C. 577, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Jones v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1915), 60 Sol. Jo. 75; Cross v. Connelly (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 436; Earwicker v. London Graving Dock Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 970.

3162. — — ——.]—A workman was injured by accident & was paid compensation for some ten years. The employers then applied to terminate the payments. The application came before the county ct. judge sitting with a medical assessor. There was a conflict of medical opinion between the doctors called for the opposing sides, but the learned judge, after consultation with the medical assessor, accepted the evidence of the employers' doctor, that the man had fully recovered from the effects of the accident, & terminated the payments:—Held: the question was purely one of fact. There was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—FLETCHER & SONS & FEARNELL, LTD. v. COCKELL (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 314, C. A.

3163. — — When opposed to medical evidence.]—WOODS v. WILSON SONS & CO., LTD., No. 2323, ante.

3164. — — — ——.]—BOOTH v. CARTER, No. 2761, ante.

3165. —— ——.]—A county ct. judge, who is sitting with a medical referee as assessor in an arbitration under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is at liberty either to accept or to reject, as he thinks fit, the medical opinion of the assessor, even though directly adverse to that of the doctors who have been called as witnesses, the assessor being entitled to express his medical opinion upon the facts as they have been given in evidence at the hearing of the arbn. & the judge having accepted that opinion is justified in acting upon it.—CARPENTER v. WANDSWORTH CORPN. (1917), 117 L. T. 183; 10 B. W. C. C. 340, C. A.

3166. Liberty to reject advice of assessor.]—CARPENTER v. WANDSWORTH CORPN., No. 3165, ante.

3167. ——.]—PURSEY v. GWYNNES, LTD., No. 3220, post.

3168. Duty of assessor—To assist with medical knowledge—Not to cross-examine witnesses—Nor act as advocate.]—EARWICKER v. LONDON GRAVING DOCK CO., LTD., No. 3192, post.

D. To Adjourn.

3169. Discretion to adjourn—All matters must be taken into consideration.]—A county ct. judge sitting as arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is not acting within his judicial discretion in refusing, without reason assigned, to grant an adjournment for the production of relevant evidence. In such a case a new trial will be ordered.

The question whether there shall be an adjournment of the proceedings in cases arising under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is one which is within the discretion of the county ct. judge before whom such proceedings are pending, & although the Ct. of Appeal has power to interfere with the judge's decision in regard to the granting of an adjournment, it will refrain from doing so unless it appears to them that such discretion has been exercised in a way which shows that all necessary matters have not been taken into consideration, notwithstanding that they may not agree with the judge's decision.—JONES v. S. R. ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1315; 124 L. T. 462; 13 B. W. C. C. 346, C. A.

3170. —— Failure to file answer—Tender of evidence.]—SILVESTER v. CUDE, No. 3122, ante.

3171. —— Tender of evidence prejudicial to employers.]—A miner contracted nystagmus at work, & soon after became insane. He was paid compensation for nystgamus under an award. Later the employers applied to review & diminish the payments on the ground that total incapacity had ceased. The workman simply stated in his answer that the application would be resisted on the ground that there had been no change of circumstances since the award. The county ct. judge at the hearing refused to admit evidence tendered on behalf of the workman to show that the man's insanity was the result of nystagmus. The judge stated that this could not be given in the evidence as the employers had had no notice that such a point was going to be raised. He reduced compensation accordingly:—Held: (1) the judge should have admitted the evidence; (2) or, if prejudicial to the employers to have done so then, he should have adjourned the case at the workman's expense, so that the evidence might be given at a later date when the employers had had an opportunity to prepare to meet it.—WESTMINSTER BRYMBO COAL & COKE CO., LTD. v. EVANS (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 47; 115 L. T. 365; 9 B. W. C. C. 512, C. A.

3172. ——For further evidence.]—In an application for arbn., by the dependant of a deceased workman, medical evidence was given, after the close of appct.'s case, on behalf of the employers, to the effect that a person whose vitality had been lowered was not more susceptible to influenza than a person whose vitality was normal. The county ct. judge expressed his surprise at this evidence & adjourned the case in order that each side might have an opportunity of adducing further evidence on that point. At the adjourned hearing medical evidence was called on behalf of appct. to prove the contrary. This was accepted by the judge, who awarded for appct.:—Held: while it was undesirable for a county ct. judge to express his opinion before the completion of a case, yet if he thought that he could not dispose of a case without more evidence it was a matter of discretion for him to adjourn the case for the purpose of obtaining further evidence. In the present case it could not be said that he did not exercise his discretion judicially &, as there was evidence to support his finding, the finding could not be interfered with.—MORGAN v. SPEEDWELL (OWNERS) (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 226, C. A.

E. To Grant Declaration of Liability.

3173. Power to grant—Though not asked for by either party.]—ASHRODY v. CITY OF EDINBURGH (OWNERS), No. 2063, ante.

3174. —— On application of either party—Time for application—Before evidence called.]—MARSHALL v. CLAYTON & SHUTTLEWORTH, No. 3543, post.

3175. Discretion to refuse.]—MARSHALL v. CLAYTON & SHUTTLEWORTH, No. 3543, post.

SUB-SECT. 7.—DUTIES OF JUDGE OR ARBITRATOR.

A. On Hearing of Application.

(a) In General.

3176. Duty to hear evidence—Whether indirect evidence sufficient.]—Although when acting as arbitrator in cases arising under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), a county ct. judge may, & in many cases ought, to proceed without any direct evidence, & although he may, & in many cases ought to, proceed upon indirect evidence which justifies his drawing an inference, yet there is nothing to justify him in doing that which is merely a balancing of probabilities.—PARRY v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 713, C. A.

3177. —— Before dismissing application.]—(1) On Sept. 5, 1913, a workman met with an accident & applied for sickness benefit to his approved society. The society thought the workman to be entitled to recover compensation from his employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & on Jan. 31, 1914, their solr. wrote to the employer & threatened proceedings. The employer denied liability, & thereupon the society instructed their local solrs. to investigate the case. These solrs. wrote to the employer on Feb. 11, 1914, that they were instructed to act for the workman, & the workman was in fact informed by the society that, if he wished, these solrs. would act for him free of charge in taking proceedings for compensation. On Mar. 26, 1914, the workman signed a retainer of the solrs., & on Mar. 31, 1914, arbn. proceedings were commenced in his name. Before the county ct. judge the point was taken that the proceedings were in fact brought by the society in the workman's name & were not maintainable, as the workman had not unreasonably refused or neglected to take proceedings within National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2). The county ct. judge then asked counsel for appct. for whom it was that he actually appeared, &, on his refusal to answer the question except by producing the retainer, dismissed the application with costs:—Held: the case must go back to be heard. The county ct. judge ought to have heard the evidence & fully ascertained the facts, & ought only to have dismissed the application if he then came to the conclusion that the application was really being brought by the society.

(2) A workman desiring to make a claim against his employer may be helped by his trade union or by his club or approved society (LORD COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—ALLEN v. FRANCIS, [1914] 3 K. B. 1065; 83 L. J. K. B. 1814; 112 L. T. 62; 30 T. L. R. 695; 58 Sol. Jo. 753; 7 B. W. C. C. 779, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169. As to (2) Consd. Burnham v. Hardy (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 714. Refd. Bobbey v. Crosbie (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 856.

3178. —— ——.]—DOUGHTY v. ALTHAM COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3107, ante.

3179. —— Case not to be tried on particulars of claim only.]—The workman, who had been struck by a fellow workman, causing him to fall & injure himself, stated those facts in his particulars of claim for compensation; & his counsel, when asked by the county ct. judge, said he did not desire to add anything to those particulars, whereupon the judge held that no compensation was payable, as the accident did not arise out of the employment. The Ct. of Appeal, when informed that the case had been tried on the particulars of claim only:—Held: the case must be remitted to the county ct. for re-hearing, the costs of the first hearing to abide the result of the re-hearing, as it was quite unsatisfactory for a case, especially of this kind, to be tried on the particulars contained in the claim only, & there would be no costs of the appeal. —LEPPER v. BURNELL & CO. (1924), 132 L. T. 232; 68 Sol. Jo. 882, C. A.

3180. Right to apply personal knowledge.]—CALICO PRINTERS ASSOCN. LTD. v. BOOTH, No. 3795, post.

3181. ——.]—SILCOCK & SONS v. GOLIGHTLY, No. 3296, post.

3182. ——.]—LOCK v. CHATHAM EDUCATION COMMITTEE, No. 3107, post.

3183. ——.]—A workman who was suffering from miner's nystagmus & also from cataract, the latter being due to a mishap for which his employers were not responsible, obtained an award on the basis of total incapacity. On appeal the case was remitted to the county ct. judge to assess compensation on the basis of partial incapacity. The county ct. judge awarded the sum of 5*s.* per week, & in answer to an inquiry by the Ct. of Appeal, intimated that although he had no evidence pointing to the sum of 5*s.* a week, he arrived at that figure by his knowledge of local conditions:—Held: the county ct. judge was entitled to act upon his general knowledge of the labour market, conditions of trade, & similar circumstances, & the figure so assessed could not be interfered with on appeal.—MIDDLETON v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 125, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3184. ——.]—PEART v. BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & CO., No. 2118, ante.

3185. Duty to look at all matters without presumption.]—LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. v. KIRK, No. 2897, ante.

(b) To Take Notes.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 36.

3186. Duty to take notes.]—A county ct. judge must take a proper note of the proceedings in an arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Where it does not appear from the note of any county ct. judge how he arrived at his decision, the ct. of appeal will order a new trial.—GRIFFITHS v. WYNNSTAY COLLIERIES (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 450, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 7. —A. (a).

b. Where workman fit for light work—Duty to determine extent of wage earning capacity.]—SMITH v. PETRIE (1913), 50 Sc. L. R. 749.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 7. —A. (b).

3186 i. Duty to take notes.]—The Ct. of Appeal remitted to the county ct. judge to be re-heard by him a case in which the county ct. judge's note of the evidence, required to be taken by statute, did not contain material findings of fact necessary to enable the ct. to do justice between the parties. —WALSH v. SCANLAN (1914), 48 I. L. T. 234; 8 B. W. C. C. 414.—IR.

Sect. 11.—Procedure in the arbitration: Sub-sect. 7, A. (b), & B. (a) & (b); sub-sect. 8. Sect. 12: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

3187. ——.]—TOMLINSON v. GARRATT'S, LTD., No. 2518, ante.

3188. ——.]—(1) It is the duty of a county ct. judge, under Workmen's Compensation Rules, r. 36, to make a proper note of the evidence given at the hearing of any arbn. proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).

(2) A collier met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & was paid compensation by his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for over a year. They then stopped paying it, & he thereupon commenced proceedings for compensation; but the employers denied liability on the ground that, if the incapacity still continued, it was owing to the man's unreasonable refusal to undergo medical treatment provided & paid for by them. A few months before the employers stopped the payments the man had been advised to undergo the Weir-Mitchell treatment for neurasthenia. The employers agreed to provide it, & the man's solrs., in writing to say that he agreed to submit himself to it, suggested that as he was also advised to have massage for some injury to his back this should be given him at the same time. The employers agreed to this, & the man entered a home for treatment, but on an attempt being made to massage him he left the home. The medical evidence was apparently all in favour of massage, but no note of the evidence was taken by the county ct. judge, who dismissed the application on the ground that the continued incapacity was due to the man's unreasonable refusal to submit to massage:—Held: on the correspondence & admitted facts, there was evidence to support the judge's decision, but as it was not certain that massage would cure the incapacity, there ought to be a suspensory award of a 1*d.* a week.—WRIGHT v. SNEYD COLLIERIES, LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1332; 113 L. T. 633; 8 B. W. C. C. 537, C. A.

3189. —— Whether requested to do so or not.]—BRINE v. CORRY & SON, No. 3933, post.

3190. ——.]—Having regard to the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, r. 34, it is the imperative duty of the county ct. judge to take notes of the evidence in every case arising under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), whether or not there is a request so to do by either party to the proceedings, so that in the event of the case subsequently coming before the Ct. of Appeal that ct. may be able to do justice to the parties.—RAYMAN v. FIELDS (1910), 102 L. T. 154; 26 T. L. R. 274; 3 B. W. C. C. 119, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Taylor v. Ward (Worcester) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 441.

3191. —— ——.]—TURNER v. MILLER & RICHARDS, No. 2103, ante.

3192. —— —— Where question of law raised.]—(1) In proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the duty of the judge under Consolidated Workmen's Compensation Rules, r. 36, where a question of law is raised, to make a note thereof & of the facts in evidence in relation thereto is imperative & independent of any request by the parties.

(2) He is not exempted from the performance of that duty by the fact that in any particular ct. it is the practice for an official shorthand writer to attend & take a note of the proceedings, a transcript of which may be obtained by the parties on payment of the cost thereof. With the consent of the parties, however, the shorthand writer's note may be signed, certified, & adopted by the judge as his own note.

(3) A medical referee, summoned by the judge to sit with him as assessor, is not within his functions in cross-examining witnesses & acting as advocate for one side or the other. His duty is merely to assist the judge as an expert in deciding points upon which the judge cannot be assumed to have knowledge without such assistance.—EARWICKER v. LONDON GRAVING DOCK CO., LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 970; 85 L. J. K. B. 905; 114 L. T. 821; 32 T. L. R. 377; 9 B. W. C. C. 336, C. A.

3193. Power to adopt shorthand note—With consent of parties.]—EARWICKER v. LONDON GRAVING DOCK CO., LTD., No. 3192, ante.

B. As to Award.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 30.

3194. Duty to state reasons.]—An injured collier, after receiving compensation for some time, returned to full work, suffering from flat foot, which, he claimed, was due to the accident. The employers applied for termination of the weekly payments, & tendered evidence that the workman was fit for full work. The workman tendered evidence that flat foot was a disability to a collier. The county ct. judge terminated the payments, without any grounds for his decision:—Held: there was evidence to support the decision. The county ct. judge should state the grounds of his award.—JONES v. TIRDONKIN COLLIERY CO. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 3, C. A.

3195. ——.]—GRIGGS v. GAMECOCK (OWNERS), No. 2525, ante.

3196. ——.]—MARSHALL v. PRICE, WILLS & REEVES, No. 2769, ante.

3197. ——.]—A workman was in receipt of weekly payments under an award. The employers applied for a review & termination, on the ground that the workman had recovered from the effects of the accident. The workman alleged that he was only fit for light work. Evidence was given that for some months since the accident the workman had earned, at light work, from £2 to £3 5*s.* per week. The county ct. judge, without giving any reason, diminished the payments from £1 to 15*s.* per week:—Held: the judge should have stated his findings, but as there was sufficient evidence to support his award the appeal must be dismissed.—ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. LYNCH (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 77, C. A.

3198. Duty to state findings—Of fact.]—HEATHCOTE v. HAUNCHWOOD COLLIERIES, No. 3230, post.

3199. —— Of law & fact.]—(1) It is the duty of the arbitrator to set out his findings upon all the material issues raised in an arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), whether of fact or law, although he need not give his reasons for them.

(2) Semble: the findings need not appear on the face of the award, but should be set out in the arbitrator's reasons for his award.

(3) There is no rule that where a new trial is ordered & the case is remitted it must be sent to another arbitrator.—SLATER v. MACONOCHIE BROTHERS, LTD. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238; 123 L. T. 185; 13 B. W. C. C. 34, C. A.

3200. —— ——.]—Medical evidence showed that a sawyer who had lost the little finger of his left hand, for which he had received compensation for some time, was able to do his old work & that his earning capacity had not been affected. There was some evidence that the man's hand had been slightly injured by a previous accident. The county ct. judge refused to make an award for the compensation to continue, & dismissed the application without making specific findings of fact. The workman appealed on the ground that the judge had not found that the workman was able to earn wages as before the accident in the open market:—Held: the question whether appct. could earn in the open market the same wages as before the accident must have been present to the mind of the judge. It was unfortunate that he had not made a note of the facts found by him, but in the circumstances the ct. would not interfere with his award.

I agree entirely with what was said by LORD ATKINSON in King v. Port of London Authority, No. 3548, post, that in these cases it is very much more satisfactory & very much to be desired that this ct. should have before it the findings of the county ct. judge, the actual findings of fact. . . . If a point of law be raised then there should be a note of the decision on the point of law (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—HARRISON v. MATTHEWS (ERNEST) & Co. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 109, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Slater v. Maconochie (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238.

3201. Duty to distinguish between findings of law & fact.]—HERBERT v. FOX (SAMUEL) & Co., LTD., No. 2494, ante.

3202. ——.]—HUTCHISON v. M'KINNON, No. 2614, ante.

3203. ——.]—KING v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3548, post.

3204. Reasons for findings not necessary.]—SLATER v. MACONOCHIE BROTHERS, LTD., No. 3199, ante.

3205. Whether findings should appear on face of award.]—HUTCHISON v. M'KINNON, No. 2614, ante.

3206. ——.]—KING v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3548, post.

3207. ——.]—SLATER v. MACONOCHIE BROTHERS, LTD., No. 3199, ante.

(b) Form of Award.

See Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 30.

3208. Form 24 not ultra vires.]—In all ordinary cases under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), where a workman has sustained an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, resulting in his total incapacity for the time being, & entitling him to a weekly payment by way of compensation, the arbitrator ought to make his award in accordance with Form 24 in the Appendix to Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, ordering the weekly payments to continue during the total or partial incapacity of claimant for work, or until the payments shall be ended, diminished, increased, or redeemed in accordance with the Act. Form 24 is intra vires & entirely consistent with the policy of the Act.—HIGGINS v. POULSON, [1912] 2 K. B. 292; 81 L. J. K. B. 690; 106 L. T. 518; 28 T. L. R. 323; 5 B. W. C. C. 340, C. A.

Annotation:—Follo. Round v. Wathen (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1011.

3209. ——.]—ROUND v. WATHEN & SON, No. 3098, ante.

3210. Effect of death of judge before signature.]—PELLETT v. HOVE CORPN., No. 3958, post.

SUB-SECT. 8.—MAINTENANCE OF WORKMAN.

3211. Who may help workman—Approved society.]—ALLEN v. FRANCIS, No. 3177, ante.

3212. ——.]—SKELTON v. BAXTER, No. 3110, ante.

3213. —— Trade union.]—ALLEN v. FRANCIS, No. 3177, ante.

3214. ——.]—BOBBEY v. CROSBIE & Co., No. 3108, ante.

SECT. 12.—INCAPACITY AND COMPENSATION THEREFOR.

SUB-SECT 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, generally, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9.

3215. Judge must decide question of capacity—Statutory duty.]—On an application by the employer for a review of an award, the county ct. judge found that the workman honestly believed & acted upon advice given him by two competent doctors, whose bona fides was unimpeached, that he was unfit to do the work offered to him by the employer. The employer's doctors said he could do the work. The judge stated that owing to the conflict of medical testimony, he was unable to come to a satisfactory opinion as to whether or not the workman was or was not able to do this offered work, & made his award in favour of the workman:—Held: the case must be remitted to the judge to decide the question of the workman's capacity, this being his statutory duty.—COWAN v. SIMPSON (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 4, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Jones v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefold (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 113.

Must be result of accident.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, ante.

Not confined to inability to do work done at time of accident.]—See Sub-sect. 7, A., post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—QUESTION OF FACT.

3216. General rule.]—A collier was injured in 1903, & after five months' absence returned to work: some of the work he then did was heavier than his work before the accident. He was dismissed in 1909, & claimed compensation on the ground that the consequences of his injury prevented him from obtaining work. The medical evidence was conflicting, & the case was referred to a medical referee, who reported that the man was fit for full work, but more liable to strains than before the accident. The county ct. judge, on this report, made an award of a penny a week:—Held: the matter was a pure question of fact, & there was evidence to justify the county ct. judge's award.—WELLS v. CARDIFF STEAM COAL COLLIERIES CO., LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 104, C. A.

3217. ——.]—A workman's hand was injured on Dec. 2, 1907. His employers agreed to pay compensation, & a memorandum of this agreement was recorded in May, 1908. After several operations for blood poisoning his little finger was amputated. In Jan. 1910, an application was made by the employers to reduce the weekly payments: the grounds of the application were that the workman had wholly or partially recovered

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 1.

c. Offer by employer to retain workman at same wages—Refusal by workman—Whether excludes right to compensation.]—FRASER v. GREAT NORTH OF SCOTLAND RY. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 908.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 2.

3216 i. General rule.]—Earning capacity is a question of fact from which there is no appeal.—ARNOTT v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD. (No. 2), [1912] S. C. 1262; 49 Sc. L. R. 902; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 143; 6 B. W. C. C. 281.—SCOT.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sects. 2 & 3.]

from the injury, & was then able to work & earn wages. The judge dismissed the application, holding that there was still some incapacity:—Held: on the evidence the decision was correct.—LEEDS & LIVERPOOL CANAL CO. v. HESKETH (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

3218. ——.]—An apprentice boilersmith lost his right eye. After an interval, during which he was in receipt of full compensation, the employers offered to put him on his original work. He refused, & the employers discontinued payments. He commenced proceedings, in the course of which other light work was offered. At the time he was still attending hospital as an out-patient. The county ct. judge awarded the full amount claimed on a basis of total incapacity:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BARRON v. BLAIR & Co., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 501, C. A.

3219. ——.]—A workman met with an accident which cut off the top of a great toe. He was paid full compensation for some three months until able to return to work. He worked for four weeks at 31*s.* a week, & then working longer hours, returned to his original rate of wages, 42*s.* 9*d.* He then filed an application claiming the difference in wages for the first four weeks, & also a declaration of liability, on the ground that, though the injury to the toe had healed, the stump might become painful, & prevent him from working when cold weather set in later in the year. The county ct. judge refused the application, saying that he was not satisfied appct. had made out his case:—Held: it was a question of fact, & there was no ground for altering the award.—WARDELL v. CARGO FLEET IRON CO., LTD. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

3220. ——.]—While working for resps. on May 7, 1916, appct. was injured by a bar of steel falling on his foot. He continued to work for two days, when the foot became so painful that he had to give it up. On a claim for compensation, the employers admitted liability. In Mar. 1917, the man was found a light job, at which he earned some 17*s.* more a week than his average earnings before the accident. He continued at this work for about six months, when the foot again gave him such great pain that he gave the work up. Before the arbitrator he contended that he was wholly incapacitated from work; while the employers' case was that he had quite recovered. The medical assessor gave his opinion that the condition of the foot was such that the man could well do the work which he had been engaged on since the accident, & that it was suitable work for him. The evidence of appct.'s doctor did not directly rebut this, but he stated that the painful condition of the foot was referable to the accident. The arbitrator on these facts awarded appct. 13*s.* 6*d.* on the basis of partial incapacity:—Held: there was evidence upon which the award could be supported, & no misdirection.—PURSEY v. GWYNNES, LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

3221. — —.]—A workman was seriously injured by an accident on July 7, 1916, & compensation was paid him to Jan. 29, 1917, when payments were stopped, the employers offering to find the man light work at his old wages. A request for arbn. was then made, but for various reasons the hearing was delayed & it was not until Dec. 1918, that the case was heard in the county ct.

The county ct. judge was of opinion that, if appct. would try to work the incapacity which he found to be total, would gradually decrease, & acting on that suggestion the workman agreed t try & the employers to find him suitable work a his old rate of wages. Thereupon the county c judge made an award on the basis of total incapacit to the time the man commenced this work & penny a week so long as he was being paid fu wages. The employers appealed from the awar so far as it found total incapacity:—Held: ther was evidence to support the finding & no mi direction.—GRIFFIN v. WHITE (SAMUEL) & Co LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

3222. ——.]—A workman met with injury b accident to his knee, causing sinovitis, &, later o rheumatoid arthritis. He was paid compensatio for some nine months, & then was offered light wor at full wages, which he tried for two days, but gav up, saying he was unable to do it. He then filed a application for compensation on the basis of tota incapacity. The employers submitted to a declara tion of liability, but alleged the workman wa perfectly capable of doing light work, & suggeste malingering. After hearing a great deal of medica evidence the county ct. judge awarded 15*s.* week, & gave appct. his costs:—Held: the orde was properly made, notwithstanding that afte making the award the judge made remarks whic suggested that he considered the employers ha won on the whole.—DONOVAN v. NICHOLSON' WHARVES, LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 256, C. A.

3223. ——.]—In Feb. 1920, a painter was injure through falling off a ladder. The employer pai him compensation on the basis of total incapacit for a time, & then applied for a review on th ground that the workman was then only partiall incapacitated. Medical evidence was given tha the workman could do the ordinary work of a painter, "with limitations, if he could find som one to employ him with such limitations." H could work on the flat, walk on a platform, & g up ladders, but it might not be safe for hi to stand on a ladder for any length of time. Ther was also evidence that the man had tried to fin work as a painter, but failed, & that he ha ceased, since June, 1922, to make efforts to fin employment. The county ct. judge found tha the workman was only partially incapacitated, & ordered a diminution of the weekly payment o compensation:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support th finding, & there was no misdirection.—FOWLER v. MINTON (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 97, C. A.

3224. ——.]—In Dec. 1922, a miner, fifty-two years of age, was certified as being incapacitated by miner's nystagmus. Full compensation was paid until July, 1923. In arbn. proceedings medical evidence was given to the effect that there were many jobs the man was capable of doing, & that they would be beneficial for him. The county ct. judge made an award on the basis of partial incapacity. The workman appealed, on the ground that the county ct. judge had misdirected himself in holding that he was not totally incapacitated:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, &, the county ct. judge having correctly applied the principles laid down in Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., No. 3559, post, there was no misdirection.—WILMOT v. ASKERN COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 17, C. A.

3225. ——.]—The workman, in 1916, suffered an injury to his left eye while working as a miner, for which compensation was received for twelve months, when he was able to return to his work underground. In 1921 he suffered slight injuries to his right eye. In 1923 he gave up his old work on account of nystagmus, but did work as surface man & received compensation. In Aug. 1924, he ceased work on account of trouble with his eyes. On a claim made by him for compensation for the original injury to his left eye, the county ct. judge said he believed appct.'s account of his working under difficulty for years as a consequence of the injury to his left eye, & found that the defect in that eye still existed, & was of a nature to prevent his doing work underground, particularly since the injuries received by his right eye prevented that eye from adequately substituting or helping the other, & made an award on the footing of partial incapacity:—Held: it was a question of fact, & there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—SPEAKMAN v. EVANS (RICHARD) & Co., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 201, C. A.

3226. ——.]—ROBERTS v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3390, post.

3227. Necessity for evidence to support judge's finding.]—A boy, employed as a printer, met with injury by accident to his finger, causing incapacity, for which the employers paid him compensation for some weeks. A month after payments had ceased he applied for an award, alleging continuing incapacity. There was uncontradicted medical evidence that he had completely recovered, & was fit to work. The county ct. judge, however, found that incapacity was still continuing, & made an award in the boy's favour. A fortnight after the award the boy secured work at higher wages than he had previously earned:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding.—BINNS v. KEARLEY & TONGE, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 608, C. A.

Functions of medical assessor.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 5, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—INCLUDES INABILITY TO OBTAIN WORK.

3228. General rule.]—(1) The provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., as to the scale & conditions of compensation do not cut down the right to compensation conferred by sect. 1 (1) of the Act.

(2) "Incapacity for work" in para. 1 (b) of Schedule I. means loss or diminution of wage-earning capacity & includes inability to get work as the result of the injury which the workman has sustained.

A workman lost the sight of his left eye through an accident, but continued to work at his old rate of wages. Many years afterwards he met with a second accident to his left eye which necessitated its removal. On his recovery from the operation he was unable to obtain work in his employment in consequence of his being manifestly a one-eyed man, though his ability to work remained exactly as it was before:—Held: he was entitled to compensation.

(3) Construction of the Acts (see No. 2039, ante).—BALL v. HUNT (WILLIAM) & SONS, LTD., [1912] A. C. 496; 81 L. J. K. B. 782; 106 L. T. 911; 28 T. L. R. 428; 56 Sol. Jo. 550; 5 B. W. C. C. 459, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158. Reld. Macdonald (or Duris) v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co., [1912] A. C. 513. As to (2) Consd. Gray v. Shotts Iron Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 287; Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158; Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8. Apld. Denholm v. Jackson (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 92. Rstd. Macdonald (or Duris) v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co., [1912] A. C. 513; Dempsey v. Caldwell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 823; Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; M'Clure v. M'Neil (1924), 18 B. W. C. C. 585; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97. As to (3) Consd. Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158.

3229. ——.]—A claim was made by an injured collier against an indemnity co. on the liquidation of the employers. The employers had paid compensation up to the date of the liquidation. The indemnity co. contested the claim on the ground that the man's incapacity, if any, was due to his having done no work since the accident. The county ct. judge held, on the medical evidence, that the man had been for some time capable of light work, &, if he had been able to obtain it, his incapacity would have been greatly reduced, if not entirely cured. He found however, that, though the man had honestly tried to find suitable work, he had been unable to do so, & ordered compensation to be paid:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—BONSALL v. MIDLAND COLLIERY OWNERS MUTUAL INDEMNITY CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 613, C. A.

3230. ——.]—For the purpose of assessing compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), in a case of partial incapacity, where the injured workman is actually employed in some suitable employment, primâ facie the amount which he earns in that employment is the measure of what he is able to earn.

A collier, in Sept. 1915, earned 35*s.* a week, & he met with an accident whereby he lost the sight of his left eye. He returned to work in Dec. 1915, with his old employers, but being unable to work underground was given work as a packer & loader, & was paid his old wages until Feb. 1916, when he was discharged for reasons unconnected with the accident. Thereupon he entered the service of another employer as a horse driver at 30*s.* a week, & applied for compensation under the Act. The county ct. judge found that as a packer & loader he might have been earning, owing to the rise in wages due to shortage of labour caused by the war, more than his old wages of 35*s.* a week, & that such work was suitable employment, but he nevertheless awarded him as compensation the whole difference of 5*s.* between what he was actually earning (30*s.*) & his old wages of 35*s.*:—Held: in addition to finding that at a specified suitable employment an injured man was physically able to earn certain wages, it was also necessary to find that he had reasonable opportunities of obtaining such employment. In this case the county ct. judge had made no such finding. If this had been done intentionally, with the view that the man in fact had no reasonable opportunity of obtaining such employment, then the judge was, in his discretion, perfectly justified in awarding the full difference of 5*s.* Though the matter was not clear from the award, yet the award could not be upset, when upon the face of it it was correct, merely upon the assumption that the judge had proceeded on a mistaken understanding of the law.—HEATHCOTE v. HAUNCHWOOD COLLIERIES,

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 3.

3228 i. General rule.]—OSBORNE v. TRALEE & DINGLE RY. (1913), 47 I. L. T. 141; 6 B. W. C. C. 913.—IR.

3228 ii. ——.]—The workman proved that he had been refused work by three different firms in G. because he was a one-eyed man, while the employers proved that three other large engineering firms in that city had in their employment several one-eyed engineers at full wages:—Held: the arbitrator was not entitled to hold on these facts that the workman's wage-earning capacity had not been diminished by the accident.—M'CLURE v. M'NEIL (WILLIAM) & Co., LTD., [1925] S.C. 135.—SCOT.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-secs. 2 & 3.]

from the injury, & was then able to work & earn wages. The judge dismissed the application, holding that there was still some incapacity:—Held: on the evidence the decision was correct.—LEEDS & LIVERPOOL CANAL CO. v. HESKETH (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

3218. ——.]—An apprentice boilersmith lost his right eye. After an interval, during which he was in receipt of full compensation, the employers offered to put him on his original work. He refused, & the employers discontinued payments. He commenced proceedings, in the course of which other light work was offered. At the time he was still attending hospital as an out-patient. The county ct. judge awarded the full amount claimed on a basis of total incapacity:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BARRON v. BLAIR & CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 501, C. A.

3219. ——.]—A workman met with an accident which cut off the top of a great toe. He was paid full compensation for some three months until able to return to work. He worked for four weeks at 31*s.* a week, & then working longer hours, returned to his original rate of wages, 42*s.* 9*d.* He then filed an application claiming the difference in wages for the first four weeks, & also a declaration of liability, on the ground that, though the injury to the toe had healed, the stump might become painful, & prevent him from working when cold weather set in later in the year. The county ct. judge refused the application, saying that he was not satisfied appct. had made out his case:—Held: it was a question of fact, & there was no ground for altering the award.—WARDELL v. CARGO FLEET IRON CO., LTD. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

3220. ——.]—While working for resps. on May 7, 1916, appct. was injured by a bar of steel falling on his foot. He continued to work for two days, when the foot became so painful that he had to give it up. On a claim for compensation, the employers admitted liability. In Mar. 1917, the man was found a light job, at which he earned some 17*s.* more a week than his average earnings before the accident. He continued at this work for about six months, when the foot again gave him such great pain that he gave the work up. Before the arbitrator he contended that he was wholly incapacitated from work; while the employers' case was that he had quite recovered. The medical assessor gave his opinion that the condition of the foot was such that the man could well do the work which he had been engaged on since the accident, & that it was suitable work for him. The evidence of appct.'s doctor did not directly rebut this, but he stated that the painful condition of the foot was referable to the accident. The arbitrator on these facts awarded appct. 13*s.* 6*d.* on the basis of partial incapacity:—Held: there was evidence upon which the award could be supported, & no misdirection.—PURSEY v. GWYNNES, LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

3221. ——.]—A workman was seriously injured by an accident on July 7, 1916, & compensation was paid him to Jan. 29, 1917, when payments were stopped, the employers offering to find the man light work at his old wages. A request for arbn. was then made, but for various reasons the hearing was delayed & it was not until Dec. 1918, that the case was heard in the county ct.

The county ct. judge was of opinion that, if appct. would try to work the incapacity which he found to be total, would gradually decrease, & acting on that suggestion the workman agreed to try & the employers to find him suitable work at his old rate of wages. Thereupon the county ct. judge made an award on the basis of total incapacity to the time the man commenced this work & a penny a week so long as he was being paid full wages. The employers appealed from the award so far as it found total incapacity:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—GRIFFIN v. WHITE (SAMUEL) & CO., LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

3222. ——.]—A workman met with injury by accident to his knee, causing sinovitis, &, later on, rheumatoid arthritis. He was paid compensation for some nine months, & then was offered light work at full wages, which he tried for two days, but gave up, saying he was unable to do it. He then filed an application for compensation on the basis of total incapacity. The employers submitted to a declaration of liability, but alleged the workman was perfectly capable of doing light work, & suggested malingering. After hearing a great deal of medical evidence the county ct. judge awarded 15*s.* a week, & gave appct. his costs:—Held: the order was properly made, notwithstanding that after making the award the judge made remarks which suggested that he considered the employers had won on the whole.—DONOVAN v. NICHOLSON'S WHARVES, LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 256, C. A.

3223. ——.]—In Feb. 1920, a painter was injured through falling off a ladder. The employer paid him compensation on the basis of total incapacity for a time, & then applied for a review on the ground that the workman was then only partially incapacitated. Medical evidence was given that the workman could do the ordinary work of a painter, "with limitations, if he could find some one to employ him with such limitations." He could work on the flat, walk on a platform, & go up ladders, but it might not be safe for him to stand on a ladder for any length of time. There was also evidence that the man had tried to find work as a painter, but failed, & that he had ceased, since June, 1922, to make efforts to find employment. The county ct. judge found that the workman was only partially incapacitated, & ordered a diminution of the weekly payment of compensation:—Held: it was a question of fact, upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—FOWLER v. MINTON (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 97, C. A.

3224. ——.]—In Dec. 1922, a miner, fifty-two years of age, was certified as being incapacitated by miner's nystagmus. Full compensation was paid until July, 1923. In arbn. proceedings medical evidence was given to the effect that there were many jobs the man was capable of doing, & that they would be beneficial for him. The county ct. judge made an award on the basis of partial incapacity. The workman appealed, on the ground that the county ct. judge had misdirected himself in holding that he was not totally incapacitated:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, &, the county ct. judge having correctly applied the principles laid down in Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., No. 3559, post, there was no misdirection.—WILMOT v. ASKERN COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 17, C. A.

3225. ——.]—The workman, in 1916, suffered an injury to his left eye while working as a miner, for which compensation was received for twelve months, when he was able to return to his work underground. In 1921 he suffered slight injuries to his right eye. In 1923 he gave up his old work on account of nystagmus, but did work as surface man & received compensation. In Aug. 1924, he ceased work on account of trouble with his eyes. On a claim made by him for compensation for the original injury to his left eye, the county ct. judge said he believed appct.'s account of his working under difficulty for years as a consequence of the injury to his left eye, & found that the defect in that eye still existed, & was of a nature to prevent his doing work underground, particularly since the injuries received by his right eye prevented that eye from adequately substituting or helping the other, & made an award on the footing of partial incapacity:—Held: it was a question of fact, & there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—SPEAKMAN v. EVANS (RICHARD) & Co., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 201, C. A.

3226. ——.]—ROBERTS v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3390, post.

3227. Necessity for evidence to support judge's finding.]—A boy, employed as a printer, met with injury by accident to his finger, causing incapacity, for which the employers paid him compensation for some weeks. A month after payments had ceased he applied for an award, alleging continuing incapacity. There was uncontradicted medical evidence that he had completely recovered, & was fit to work. The county ct. judge, however, found that incapacity was still continuing, & made an award in the boy's favour. A fortnight after the award the boy secured work at higher wages than he had previously earned:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding.—BINNS v. KEARLEY & TONGE, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 608, C. A.

Functions of medical assessor.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 5, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—INCLUDES INABILITY TO OBTAIN WORK.

3228. General rule.]—(1) The provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., as to the scale & conditions of compensation do not cut down the right to compensation conferred by sect. 1 (1) of the Act.

(2) "Incapacity for work" in para. 1 (b) of Schedule I. means loss or diminution of wage-earning capacity & includes inability to get work as the result of the injury which the workman has sustained.

A workman lost the sight of his left eye through an accident, but continued to work at his old rate of wages. Many years afterwards he met with a second accident to his left eye which necessitated its removal. On his recovery from the operation he was unable to obtain work in his employment in consequence of his being manifestly a one-eyed man, though his ability to work remained exactly as it was before:—Held: he was entitled to compensation.

(3) Construction of the Acts (see No. 2039, ante).—BALL v. HUNT (WILLIAM) & SONS, LTD., [1912] A. C. 496; 81 L. J. K. B. 782; 106 L. T. 911; 28 T. L. R. 428; 56 Sol. Jo. 550; 5 B. W. C. C. 459, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158. Reld. Macdonald (or Duris) v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co., [1912] A. C. 513. As to (2) Consd. Gray v. Shotts Iron Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 287; Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158; Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8. Apld. Denholm v. Jackson (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 92. R3td. Macdonald (or Duris) v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co., [1912] A. C. 513; Dempsey v. Caldwell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 823; Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; M'Clure v. M'Neil (1924), 18 B. W. C. C. 585; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97. As to (3) Consd. Harwood v. Wyken Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 158.

3229. ——.]—A claim was made by an injured collier against an indemnity co. on the liquidation of the employers. The employers had paid compensation up to the date of the liquidation. The indemnity co. contested the claim on the ground that the man's incapacity, if any, was due to his having done no work since the accident. The county ct. judge held, on the medical evidence, that the man had been for some time capable of light work, &, if he had been able to obtain it, his incapacity would have been greatly reduced, if not entirely cured. He found however, that, though the man had honestly tried to find suitable work, he had been unable to do so, & ordered compensation to be paid:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding, & no misdirection.—BONSALL v. MIDLAND COLLIERY OWNERS MUTUAL INDEMNITY CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 613, C. A.

3230. ——.]—For the purpose of assessing compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), in a case of partial incapacity, where the injured workman is actually employed in some suitable employment, primâ facie the amount which he earns in that employment is the measure of what he is able to earn.

A collier, in Sept. 1915, earned 35*s.* a week, & he met with an accident whereby he lost the sight of his left eye. He returned to work in Dec. 1915, with his old employers, but being unable to work underground was given work as a packer & loader, & was paid his old wages until Feb. 1916, when he was discharged for reasons unconnected with the accident. Thereupon he entered the service of another employer as a horse driver at 30*s.* a week, & applied for compensation under the Act. The county ct. judge found that as a packer & loader he might have been earning, owing to the rise in wages due to shortage of labour caused by the war, more than his old wages of 35*s.* a week, & that such work was suitable employment, but he nevertheless awarded him as compensation the whole difference of 5*s.* between what he was actually earning (30*s.*) & his old wages of 35*s.*:—Held: in addition to finding that at a specified suitable employment an injured man was physically able to earn certain wages, it was also necessary to find that he had reasonable opportunities of obtaining such employment. In this case the county ct. judge had made no such finding. If this had been done intentionally, with the view that the man in fact had no reasonable opportunity of obtaining such employment, then the judge was, in his discretion, perfectly justified in awarding the full difference of 5*s.* Though the matter was not clear from the award, yet the award could not be upset, when upon the face of it it was correct, merely upon the assumption that the judge had proceeded on a mistaken understanding of the law.—HEATHCOTE v. HAUNCHWOOD COLLIERIES,

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 3.

3228 i. General rule.]—OSBORNE v. TRALEE & DINGLE RY. (1913), 47 I. L. T. 141; 6 B. W. C. C. 913.—IR.

3228 ii. ——.]—The workman proved that he had been refused work by three different firms in G. because he was a one-eyed man, while the employers proved that three other large engineering firms in that city had in their employment several one-eyed engineers at full wages:—Held: the arbitrator was not entitled to hold on these facts that the workman's wage-earning capacity had not been diminished by the accident.—M'CLURE v. M'NEIL (WILLIAM) & Co., LTD., [1925] S. C. 135.—SCOT.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sects. 3, 4 & 5.]

[1918] A. C. 52; 87 L. J. K. B. 226; 117 L. T. 677; 62 Sol. Jo. 53; 10 B. W. C. C. 647, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Williams v. Oakwood Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 878; Ling v. De Dion Bouton, [1920] 1 K. B. 88. Mentd. Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65.

3231. ——.]—As the result of an accident in 1908 arising out of & in the course of his employment, a workman was injured in such a way as to cause a dislocation of the vertebræ of the neck, with the result that there was pressure on the spinal cord. His condition was such that he had to have a special apparatus to keep his head still as a sudden movement would probably be fatal. By an agreement entered into in June, 1909, the employers agreed to pay to the workman compensation at the rate of £1 a week, so long as he was totally or partially incapacitated for work. Subsequently, in 1915, he was given, from motives of charity, some very light work at a laundry, the proprietor of which was a friend of the workman, & he was paid a weekly wage of 15*s.* but there were no specified duties of fixed hours attached to the position. In 1924 the employers, who alleged that the workman had recovered partial capacity, applied for an order for redemption of the weekly payments of £1, the workman then sought to obtain the additons to weekly payments provided by the Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42), & 1919 (c. 83). In these proceedings the arbitrator found that the workman had since the date of the original accident, i.e., Oct. 1908, been totally incapacitated for work with no earning capacity in the labour market & was therefore entitled to the war additions:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding of total incapacity, & no misdirection, & the war additions were accordingly payable.—DENHOLM (JOHN) & CO., LTD. v. JACKSON (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 92, H. L.

3232. In district where workman lives.]—A workman partially incapacitated by accident was found light work by his employers, & under an agreement received certain compensation. Eighteen months afterwards the employers dismissed him as they were cutting down the number of their employees. The man was unable, on account of his partial incapacity, to find work in the district, & applied for a review on that ground. The sheriff-substitute held that this was no ground for review, & his decision was affirmed by the Ct. of Sessions:—Held: "incapacity for work" included inability to obtain employment in the district where the workman lived, & the occurrence of this inability to obtain work was a relevant change of circumstances entitling the workman to a review.—MACDONALD (OR DURIS) v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., [1912] A. C. 513; 81 L. J. P. C. 188; 106 L. T. 905; 28 T. L. R. 431; 56 Sol. Jo. 550; 5 B. W. C. C. 478, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Gray v. Shotts Iron Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 287; Dyer v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 367. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Dempsey v. Caldwell (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 823; M'Allinden v. Nimmo, [1920] A. C. 39; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97. Mentd. Darroll v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 354.

3233. —— Workman unable to walk to former place of employment.]—A pipe moulder fractured his ankle in 1907. He received £1 a week compensation until 1912 when, on compensation being reduced to 10*s.* a week, he made application for compensation to be increased to the full amount. He complained of pain in his ankle & foot, which prevented him from walking any distance, &, as the place where he had formerly worked was two miles from his home, it was impossible for him to walk there. He was otherwise healthy, & offered to resume his old work if his employers would convey him to & fro, which they refused to do. Medical evidence went to show that the foot was still painful but would improve with use. There was no evidence of the possibility of obtaining work closer home & some evidence of the impossibility of obtaining work at all under the circumstances. The county ct. judge found that the man was totally incapacitated:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BEDDARD v. STANTON IRONWORKS CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 627, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Pearson v. Russell (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 706.

3234. ——.]—COTSON v. RICHARDSON, WESTGATE & CO., LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 243, C. A.

Inability to earn due to state of labour market.]—See Sub-sect. 4, post.

Opportunity of obtaining employment narrowed.]—See Sub-sect. 7, B., post.

See, also, Sub-sect. 8, A., post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—INABILITY TO EARN DUE TO STATE OF LABOUR MARKET.

3235. Whether incapacity within the Acts—Slackness of trade.]—An injured workman in receipt of part wages & reduced compensation was dismissed by his employer owing to slackness of work. He then applied for a restoration of full half wages which were given him by the arbitrator:—Held: the test of simple inability to get work on account of the labour market is wrong, the right test being inability to get work on account of the disability.—DOBBY v. WILSON PEASE & CO. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 370, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, [1911] 1 K. B. 1009. Refd. Woodhouse v. Mid. Ry. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 690.

3236. —— Reduction of number of workmen.]—MACDONALD (OR DURIS) v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., No. 3232, ante.

3237. —— Strike.]—WOODHOUSE v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 3370, post.

3238. —— ——.]—In each case appct. had been injured some years previously by accident arising out of his employment & was partially incapacitated. In Mar. 1921, each was earning higher wages than at the date of the injury, & was therefore disentitled to compensation. On Apr. 1, 1921, a strike was declared whereby appcts. were prevented from earning anything. After the strike was over the men tried to get work at resps.' pits & several other pits, but failed. The county ct. judge awarded compensation for partial incapacity both during the period that the strike subsisted & subsequently:—Held: (1) since no compensation would have been payable in the absence of the strike the loss of earning capacity during the strike was not attributable to the injury & no compensation was payable for this period; (2) whether the loss of earning capacity subsequent to the strike was due to the injury or the disorganised state of the labour

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 4.

d. Whether incapacity due to state of labour market—When arbitrator may rely on his own knowledge.]—In the absence of direct evidence, the arbitrator is entitled to use his knowledge of the labour market in determining the earning capacity of the workman since the accident.—SALMI v. PUBLIC WORKS UNDER SECRETARY (1923), 23 S. R. N. S. W. 515; 40 N. S. W. W. N. 126.—AUS.

e. —— ——.]—DYER v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD. (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 367.—SCOT.

market, or partly to both, was a question of fact upon which there was some evidence to support the finding of partial incapacity for this period, & there was no misdirection.—BROMLEY v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO., LTD., DREW v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO., LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 620; 16 B. W. C. C. 77, C. A.

Annotation :—As to (2) Distd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3239. —— ——.]—Resps., who were employed by applts., a mining co., met with accidents arising out of & in the course of their employment & were paid compensation by applts., & afterwards, having partially recovered, were given light work at wages at least equal to what they had been earning before the accidents, but in consequence of the coal strike of 1926 applts. were obliged to discontinue employing resps. On claims by resps. for compensation the county ct. judge awarded compensation for partial disablement :—Held : although but for the strike resps. would have continued to earn substantial sums, yet, as their loss of the opportunity of light work was caused not by their own act but by that of the workmen who went on strike, the judge's award must be affirmed.—HAMILTON v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD., LEIGH v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD., TIMMIS v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD. (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97; 70 Sol. Jo. 1241, C. A.

3240. —— Threat of strike.]—In a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it appeared that claimant was employed as a wire stripper at 21*s.* 6*d.* a week, & about fifteen months before the accident he & some other labourers were selected to take charge of some new machines. He worked at a particular machine, showed that he was throughly competent to manage it, & earned 37*s.* 6*d.* a week till he met with an accident & lost two fingers of his right hand. He received compensation during incapacity & then wished to return to his employment at the machine which his employers were willing to restore to him. In the meantime the trade union of the wire workers had interfered & insisted that the employers should remove from the machines all workmen who were only labourers, & not skilled workmen & members of the union. The labourers who had been selected to work the machines were therefore relegated to their former positions & wages, & claimant was unable to return to work at his machine :—Held : on a claim by him for compensation, he was not entitled to compensation on the basis of his earning 37*s.* 6*d.* a week, for the fall in his wages was due to the action of the trade union & not to the accident; & in the circumstances & in the absence of evidence of his present position the ct. could do no more than make a declaration of the employers' liability.—THOMPSON v. JOHNSON (RICHARD) & NEPHEW, LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 694; 84 L. J. K. B. 158; 111 L. T. 734; 7 B. W. C. C. 479, C. A.

Annotation :—Apld. Williams v. Oakwood Colliery Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 878.

3241. —— ——.]—A workman, who had been injured by accident & partially incapacitated, was paid full compensation for four years, & then was given light work by his employers at higher wages than he had previously earned. That employment continued for fourteen months. The trade union to which the workman belonged then objected to his being so employed, & the employers were forced, by the threat of a strike, to dismiss him. After his dismissal he did not try for any other work. He claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) :—Held : upon the facts there was no evidence by which to estimate the loss of earnings through partial incapacity, as provided by clause 3 of Schedule I. to the Act. The workman had earned higher wages since the accident, & his incapacity to continue to earn them was due to the action of the trade union, & not to the injury sustained. There was no liability upon the employers to pay for such an incapacity, & only a suspensory award could be made.—WILLIAMS v. OAKWOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 878; 121 L. T. 202; 12 B. W. C. C. 151, C. A.

Annotation :—Reld. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3242. ——.]—In 1917 the workman, sixty-six years of age, was certified to be suffering from miner's nystagmus, & was thereby prevented from earning full wages. Full compensation was paid until 1922, when, compensation having been stopped, the man applied for arbitration, alleging he was totally incapacitated by nystagmus. In the course of the arbitration proceedings evidence was given that he had been struck in the right eye in 1916 by a piece of coal, & subsequently suffered from cataract in that eye which caused some incapacity. Evidence was also given to the effect that there was no connection between the cataract & the nystagmus. Further, it was admitted that the man was able to do work on the surface, & that the employers had in fact employed the man for some time on a farm & he had done other work. It was also admitted that the man could work at the coal face, but it was said that this work was unsuitable as likely to make the nystagmus worse. The deputy county ct. judge did not differentiate between incapacity due to the cataract, for which the employers were not responsible, & incapacity if any due to nystagmus for which they were. He further found that the workman was an "odd lot" in the labour market, & made an award on the basis of total incapacity :—Held : the deputy county ct. judge had misapprehended the meaning of the phrase "odd lot," & the case was sent back for assessment of compensation on a proper basis. It was necessary to discriminate very carefully between loss attributable to the "accident," loss attributable to the cataract which had nothing to do with the "accident," & also loss attributable to the conditions of the labour market.

It would be most unjust that employers, whenever a man is injured &, in consequence of the labour market, does not afterwards obtain work as readily as he would if he had not been injured, should have to pay because the state of the labour market prevents him getting employment (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—MIDDLETON v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 166, C. A.

Annotations :—Reld. Jones v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 172; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; Ray v. Vickers (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 200; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3243. ——.]—CAFFNEY v. CHORLEY COLLIERY CO., No. 3295, post.

3244. Whether incapacity due to state of labour market—Question of fact.]—BROMLEY v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO., LTD., DREW v. STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO., LTD., No. 3238, ante.

SUB-SECT. 5.—NERVOUS CONDITION AS EFFECT OF ACCIDENT.

3245. Incapacity within the Act.]—On an application by an employer under Workmen's

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sects. 5, 6 & 7, A.]

Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (16), to have the weekly payments reviewed, the nervous & mental as well as the physical condition of the injured workman must be taken into consideration in estimating the extent of his recovery & consequent earning capacity. It is not sufficient for the employer to show that the muscular & physical mischief caused by the accident has come to an end.—EAVES v. BLAENCLYDACH COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1909] 2 K. B. 73; 78 L. J. K. B. 809; 100 L. T. 751; 2 B. W. C. C. 329, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Turner v. Brooks & Doxey (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 22; Yates v. South Kirby, etc., Collieries, [1910] 2 K. B. 538; Wall v. Steel (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1599; Withers v. L. B. & S. C. Ry. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 616.

3246. ——.]—The county ct. judge found that an injured workman, after returning to his employment of eighteen months, had refused to continue it, partly from nervousness but partly from reasons unconnected with his physical condition. The judge further found (a) that the refusal to continue work was due to nervousness, which an average reasonable man could overcome; & (b) that the nervousness was the result of the accident:—Held: looking at the whole of the judgment, the judge meant to find that the man was able to work, & therefore the decision in Eaves v. Blaenclydach Colliery Co., Ltd., No. 3245, ante, had no application to the case.

It is impossible for us upon these findings to allow this appeal. But I say again, that the nervous & mental as well as the physical condition must be taken into consideration (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—TURNER v. BROOKS & DOXEY, LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 22, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Yates v. South Kirkby, Featherstone & Hemsworth Collieries (1910), 103 L. T. 170; David v. Windsor Steam Coal Co. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 177; Higgs & Hill v. Unicume, [1913] 1 K. B. 595.

3247. ——.]—A blacksmith's striker sustained serious injury by accident to his back & legs. After the physical injuries had subsided, he was found to be suffering from a form of nervous paralysis of the legs, known as "functional paraplegia." Upon medical evidence that, if the workman could only make a sufficient effort of will to attempt to do some work, he would be able to do so, & would gradually recover, the county ct. judge reduced the compensation from 13*s.* to 10*s.* a week as an "incentive." Upon a further application by the employers a year later, when the evidence showed that the man's condition was, if anything, worse, on the ground that the incapacity, was due to the man's own unreasonable conduct, reduced it to a nominal award. There was no evidence that the man could get or do any work:—Held: on the medical evidence there was total incapacity, for any kind of work from paralysis & no evidence of malingering. The workman was entitled to full compensation. Loss of will power may be just as much the result of an accident as injury with objective symptoms.—STRIDE v. SOUTHAMPTON GAS, LIGHT & COKE CO., LTD. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1449; 32 T. L. R. 680; sub nom. SOUTHAMPTON GAS, LIGHT & COKE CO. v. STRIDE, 155 L. T. 498; 9 B. W. C. C. 555, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Withers v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1916] 2 K. B. 772.

3248. Neurasthenia.]—A collier met with an accident in 1905, from which he recovered & did light work, & a further accident in 1908. After an interval he was again able to do light work, but from 1912 professed to be unable to do any work, & applied to review & increase the weekly payments, which had been reduced to a penny a week. The evidence for the workman was that he was suffering from traumatic neurasthenia, but the employers' doctor said he was a malingerer. The county ct. judge dismissed the workman's application:—Held: he was justified in so doing.—OGDEN v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEARTHERSTONE & HEMSWORTH COLLIERIES, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 573, C. A.

3249. ——.]—A workman injured his back by falling 16 feet. He went to the hospital for a week & then did light work for five weeks. He left this according to his own evidence, because he was unable to continue through pain, & went to an infirmary for three months. Upon discharge he still complained of pain though there was no visible physical injury. The employers admitted that he was incapable of working, though they denied that this was the result of the accident. The county ct. judge found that he was incapacitated from neurasthenia, as a result of the accident:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—MORRIS v. TURFORD & SOUTHWARD (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 606, C. A.

3250. —— Honest belief in incapacity.]—In Mar. 1913, a workman suffered an injury to his head. The wound was completely healed by July, 1913. He was in receipt of compensation for total incapacity from his employers. In Sept. 1914, the employers applied to review on the ground that the man was capable of light work, which they had offered & he had refused. The medical evidence was conflicting. The medical assessor reported that the man could do light work on the level, but that he genuinely believed that he was unable to work. There were no actual physical effects. The county ct. judge found that the man honestly believed that he was incapable of work, & that his condition was due to neurasthenia resulting from the accident, but said that he ought to try & get work, & dismissed the application:—Held: there was evidence to justify the finding of the county ct. judge.—CHARLES WALL, LTD. v. STEEL (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1599; 112 L. T. 846; 8 B. W. C. C. 136, C. A.

3251. —— From brooding over effects of accident —Necessity for evidence in support of such finding.]—MARSHALL v. CLAYTON & SHUTTLEWORTH, No. 3543, post.

3252. Deficiency of will power due to brooding over accident.]—On an application to review & increase a nominal award, the two medical referees of the ct. reported that the workman, who had been injured by an admitted accident, was, as regards his physical condition, able to resume his usual occupation as a moulder. As to his mental condition, they reported that he had brooded so much over his accident that his mind would not allow him to summon up courage to persevere at his usual work:—Held: the county ct. judge was right in finding that the man was not suffering from any incapacity from work which resulted from the injury, but that his inability to work was caused by brooding over the effects of the accident, & that this was not incapacity within the Act.—HOLT v. YATES & THOM (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 75, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Beech v. Bradford Corpn. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 236.

3248 1. Neurasthenia.]—CAMPBELL v. UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD., [1920] N. Z. L. R. 436.—N.Z.

SUB-SECT. 6.—MISCONDUCT.

3253. Disentitles workman to substantial award.]—HILL v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD., No. 3560, post.

3254. —— Right to compensation not gone for ever.]—By an accident a workman lost the use of his left eye. His employers, under a registered agreement, paid him 10*s.* 6*d.* a week during incapacity. He resumed work at his former rate of wages, but was subsequently dismissed for alleged misconduct. On application by the employers to review the agreement, the county ct. judge reduced the weekly payments to one penny, on the ground that the workman had brought about his own dismissal:—Held: though, when a workman employed at an adequate wage vacated his position by reason of his own misconduct, he is not entitled at once to call upon his employer for compensation, yet one act of misconduct does not necessarily deprive him for ever of the right to compensation.—WHITE (W.) & SONS v. HARRIS (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 39, C. A.

3255. What amounts to misconduct—Question of fact.]—A workman injured his hand & four months after said he was still incapacitated. The county ct. judge found the man was shamming:—Held: there was evidence to support his decision, which was on a question of fact.—ROBERTS v. BENHAM (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 430, C. A.

3256. —— Long continued & unnecessary idleness.]—The judge, who sat with a medical assessor, came to the conclusion that if the workman had taken proper steps to obtain exercise which he ought to have taken more than a year before the hearing, he would have recovered from any disability, & that his present state was due only to want of condition arising from long-continued & unnecessary idleness. On appeal it was contended that there was no evidence before the county ct. judge to support his decision:—Held: that there was such evidence.—UPPER FOREST & WORCESTER STEEL & TINPLATE CO., LTD. v. GREY (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 424, C. A.

3257. —— Unreasonable refusal to resume work—Undergoing operation instead of breaking down adhesions by resuming work.]—A workman had the tip of his little finger amputated, after an accident. The wound healed, leaving slight adhesions. After paying compensation for some time, the employers applied for a review. It was admitted that three days before the application to review was heard, another piece of his finger was, under medical advice, amputated. The employers contended that the man would have been fit for work, & that the persistence of the adhesions was due to his unreasonable refusal to resume work, which would have soon broken them down. The county ct. judge upheld these contentions, & reduced the payments to 1*d.* per week:—Held: there was no evidence to support the findings of the county ct. judge.—BURGESS & CO., LTD. v. JEWELL (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 145, C. A.

3258. —— —— Following advice of doctor.]—A workman having met with an accident in the course of his employment, his employers agreed to make him weekly payments by way of compensation. Subsequently they applied under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, for the diminution or termination of the compensation on the ground that he had sufficiently recovered to do suitable work & that he had refused to do it. It appeared that his refusal was based on his doctor's advice, but the medical evidence before the county court judge as to his capacity for work was conflicting. The judge held that, acting on unwise medical advice & the domination of his wife, the workman had behaved in an unreasonable way, although he was not a malingerer; & he terminated the agreement for compensation:—Held: on the findings of fact, that the workman's present condition was not the result of the accident; that he might be acting unreasonably although he was following the advice of his doctor; & that an appeal from the judge must be dismissed.

The county ct. judge ought to have reduced the compensation to 1*d.* a week, so as to allow the conflicting opinions of the doctors to be subjected to the test of actual experiment (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—HIGGS & HILL, LTD. v. UNICUME, [1913] 1 K. B. 595; 82 L. J. K. B. 369; 108 L. T. 169; 6 B. W. C. C. 205, C. A.

3259. —— Muscles softened by loafing.]—A collier was injured in 1907, & received compensation till 1910. His employers then stopped payment. He took proceedings, & the county ct. judge found that he was unfit for the heavy work of a collier, but that his incapacity was due not to the accident, but to his prolonged idleness, his muscles having become soft & unfit for hard work. He accordingly awarded in favour of the employers:—Held: there was evidence upon which the judge could so find.—DAVID v. WINDSOR STEAM COAL CO., LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 177, C. A.

3260. —— Employment left by own accord—Clumsiness due to accident causing complaints.]—A waitress had an injury to her finger, which, becoming stiff, prevented her from working as efficiently as before. She received compensation for some time, & then returned to her old work at her old wages. She could not work as well as before, & her employers complained of her clumsiness. She left this work of her own accord, &, without any attempt to find other work, claimed compensation. The county ct. judge found that she could not work as well as before, & that she was therefore partially incapacitated. He awarded her compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support this finding.—WARD v. MILES (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 182, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—PARTIAL INCAPACITY.

A. Inability to do Former Work.

3261. Opportunity of obtaining employment narrowed.]—A gasworks coal porter in the employment of a gas co. was, in Dec. 1899, injured by an accident, which resulted in the loss of four fingers of his left hand. His weekly wages were 41*s.* 9*d.*, & the co. agreed to pay him £1 a week compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37). In Jan. 1901, the co. offered him employment as a gateman & timekeeper at weekly wages of 27*s.*, which he refused. In Apr. 1901, at the instance of the co., the county ct. judge made an award reducing the weekly amount of compensation to 14*s.* 9*d.* Subsequently the workman accepted the employment which he had previously refused, but in consequence of his refusing to note down the times of arrival of the workmen he was dismissed. The workman thereupon made an application to the county ct. judge to increase the

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 6.

1. Whether deprives workman of right to compensation.]—RIPKA v. GEORGETOWN COLLIERIES, LTD. (Alta.), [1918] 1 W. W. R. 757; 39 D. L. R. 593.—CAN.

g. ——.]—DEVLIN v. CHAPEL COAL CO., LTD., [1915] S. C. 71; 52 Sc. L. R. 83; [1914] 2 S. L. T. 320; 8 B. W. C. C. 357.—SCOT.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sect. 7, A. & B.: sub-sect. 8, A.]

weekly payment of 14*s.* 9*d.*, which was refused. More than a year later a further application was made to increase the weekly payment, when the judge found that the workman had not since the accident been capable of earning wages as a gas-works porter, that he was capable of earning wages as a gatekeeper, timekeeper, watchman, or in any similar work, & that he had made reasonable efforts but had been unable to get such employment. The judge accordingly held that the workman was entitled to have the £1 weekly compensation restored:—Held: the county ct. judge was entitled to find that the workman's opportunity of finding employment had been narrowed in consequence of the accident, & the weekly payment of £1 should be restored.—CLARK v. GAS LIGHT & COKE CO. (1905), 21 T. L. R. 184; 7 W. C. C. 119, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Radcliffe v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 685. Consd. Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, [1911] 1 K. B. 1009. Expld. Thomas v. Nixon's Navigation Co., Tarr v. Cory, Hopkins v. Cory (1917), 117 L. T. 513. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Kear v. Shelton Iron, Steel, & Coal Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 121; M'Clure v. M'Neil (1924), 18 B. W. C. C. 585.

3262. ——.]—An injured unskilled workman, though able to do other work, could not do his former work, & claimed he was entitled to compensation as long as he was disabled from doing his former work:—Held: an unskilled labourer is able to earn when he is capable of working, & the work need not be his former work.

What [the judge] ought to have considered was how far the capacity of the workman to earn wages was impaired by reason of the accident (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—CAMMELL, LAIRD & CO., LTD. v. PLATT (1908), 2 B. W. C. C. 368, C. A.

3263. ——.]—WARD v. MILES, No. 3260, ante.

3264. —— Inability to work at war-time occupation followed at time of accident—Able to follow previous occupation.]—Applt., who had been a cook-housekeeper, entered the employment of resps. as a lathe-hand at munition work, & she injured her thumb, with the permanent result that she could not do munition work. She therefore obtained another situation as a cook, & had no intention of returning to munition work:—Held: the compensation to which applt. was entitled should be based on the difference between her earnings at the time of the accident & her subsequent earnings, & not on the difference between her original earnings as a cook-housekeeper & her earnings as a cook after the accident.—LING v. DE DION BOUTON, [1920] 1 K. B. 88; 88 L. J. K. B. 1312; 121 L. T. 623; 35 T. L. R. 640; 63 Sol. Jo. 723; 12 B. W. C. C. 229, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Buckley v. Marchington (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 169; Donn v. British Oil & Cake Mills (1923), 129 L. T. 680; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3265. —— —— Place occupied by disabled soldier.]—BUCKLEY v. MARCHINGTON & CO., No. 2841, ante.

3266. —— Inability to work at trade given up some time previous to accident.]—DONN v. BRITISH OIL & CAKE MILLS, LTD., No. 3564, post.

3267. —— ——.]—SUMMERS v. GENESE & YOUNG, No. 3563, post.

—— So restricted as to amount to total incapacity.]—See Sub-sect. 8, B., post.

3268. —— Application to unskilled labour.]—CAMMELL, LAIRD & CO., LTD. v. PLATT, No. 3262, ante.

3269. —— ——.]—ROBERTS v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3390, post.

3270. Loss of top joint of thumb—Carrying heavy baskets rendered impossible.]—A workman of sixty-seven years of age lost the top joint of his thumb. After some months' total incapacity he was given light work for six months. He was then asked to resume his former work, which included carrying heavy baskets over his shoulders by ropes. He refused, on the ground, that, owing to the accident, he was unable to grip the ropes. The county ct. judge found he was still partially incapacitated:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—CURRY v. DOXFORD & SONS, LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 19, C. A.

See, also, Sub-sect. 3, ante.

B. Light Work.

3271. Ability to do light work—Question of fact.]—A workman was injured in a colliery & drew compensation for about four years. It was then alleged he was fit for light work, but he said he could not do it on account of pain. The arbitrator found, as a fact, that the workman was exaggerating, & that he could do light work:—Held: there was evidence upon which the arbitrator could so find.—PRICE v. BURNYEAT, BROWN & CO. (1907), 2 B. W. C. C. 337, C. A.

3272. —— ——.]—An injured workman, in receipt of compensation, was examined jointly by his own & the employers' doctors, who reported that he was fit for light work. His employers then offered him light work, but he refused, thinking that the work offered involved some heavy labour. The employers then applied for a review, & the county ct. judge, finding that the man was fit for light work, & that the offer made it perfectly clear that the man would not have to do any heavy labour, reduced the payments to 1*d.* per week:—Held: there was evidence to support the decision.—M'NAMARA & CO., LTD. v. BURTT (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 151, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3273. —— —— ——.]—A workman, employed in engineering works, met with an accident by which he lost the sight of an eye, which was removed. After recovery from the operation his employers offered him work of a lighter character, at which he was able to earn approximately the same wages as before. He tried this for a week, but then abandoned it, because he said it was unsuitable to a one-eyed man as he was afraid of losing the sight of the other eye. The county ct. judge, on an application by the employers, terminated the compensation being paid to him, & made a declaration of liability:—Held: that he was justified in so doing.—HOWARDS v. WHARTON (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 614, C. A.

3274. —— ——.]—A workman had been receiving compensation for some time for a severe compound fracture of both legs, when the employers offered him light work. He tried this for ten days, but alleged that his injuries caused him pain & prevented him from doing it. The employers thereupon stopped compensation & the man applied for an award. He called no medical evidence but relied upon his own statements in the box as to his inability to work. The employers contended the man was able to work, & called two doctors in support of this view. The judge believed the man & awarded compensation:—Held: this was a pure question of fact, & the man's own evidence was sufficient to support the award.—JARMAN v. LEEDS FORGE CO., LTD. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 545, C. A.

3271 b. Ability to do light work—Question of fact.]—ELLIOTT v. CURRY & DODD (1912), 46 I. L. T. 72; 5 B. W. C. C. 584.—IR.

3275. Light work must be suitable.]—A workman, in receipt of full compensation, had so far recovered that the employers offered him light work. He refused this as being unsuitable, & the employers applied to review & diminish the payments. The county ct. judge stopped the case before the question of the evidence as to the suitability of the employment offered was complete, & dismissed the employers' application:—Held: the county ct. judge stopped the case too soon, & there must be a new trial.—ASHMORE, BENSON, PEASE & CO. v. LILLIE (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 89, C. A.

3276. Duty of workman—To try the work offered.]— An injured workman was paid compensation for sixty-one weeks by his employers. Subsequently the employers offered the workman light work, which he refused without attempting to do it. The county ct. judge held that the workman had acted unreasonably in refusing to go & see what the work offered was, & that, if he had accepted the offer & returned to work, by the date of the arbn. he would have been under no disability. He therefore stopped compensation, but made a declaration of liability:—Held: the decision was on a question of fact, & there was evidence to support it.—FURNESS, WITHY & CO. v. BENNETT (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 195, C. A.

3277. —— To attempt to obtain light work.]—On an application by employers to review, it was proved that the workman was fit for light work, but no evidence was given that the man had been offered or could get light work. It was admitted that he had not attempted to get it. The county ct. judge reduced the payments from 15*s.* to 10*s.* per week:—Held: there was evidence on which the reduction could be made.—ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. v. RICHARDS (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 247, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Silcock v. Golightly, [1915] 1 K. B. 748. Refd. Pearson v. Russell (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 706; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307.

3278. —— ——.]—A miner, suffering from nystagmus & receiving compensation so far recovered that the employers considered him fit for light work above ground. They gave him certain work, but after he had tried it for forty minutes his blindness returned & he had to give it up. Subsequently they applied for a review & reduction of compensation. The county ct. judge found that the man was fit for light work but had made no attempt to obtain it. He consequently reduced the compensation from 11*s.* 8*d.* to 8*s.* 4*d.* a week:—Held: there was no misdirection.—WILLIAMS v. RUABON COAL & COKE CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 202, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307.

3279. —— ——.]—SILCOCK & SONS v. GOLIGHTLY, No. 3296, post.

Ability to do only certain exceptional forms of light work—"Odd lot."]—See Sub-sect. 8, B., post.

SUB-SECT. 8.—TOTAL INCAPACITY.

A. In General.

3280. Inability to obtain work—Bonâ fide efforts made.]—CLARK v. GAS LIGHT & COKE CO., No. 3261, ante.

3281. Advised by doctor not to resume former work—Ability to earn at any other work.]—A collier having ruptured himself tried to continue work with a truss, but could not. His doctor advised him to undergo an operation as soon as there was a bed ready for him in the hospital, & until then not to continue his work. The man did no work at all during that time, & claimed compensation in respect thereof. The county ct. judge found that the man acted reasonably upon the advice of his doctor, & awarded full compensation:—Held: the case must go back to decide what the man was able to earn at any other work.—EVANS v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 272, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Heathcote v. Haunchwood Collieries (1916), 116 L. T. 100.

3282. ——.]—A workman, injured in 1911, received weekly compensation for partial incapacity, & after the passing of Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts of 1917 (c. 42) & 1919 (c. 83), was paid the extra percentages authorised by those Acts in cases of total incapacity. At the end of 1919 he rested from work for some time on the advice of his doctor. In Dec. 1919, the weekly payments were redeemed by payment of a lump sum, & no further compensation was paid to him. He claimed that as his resting on the advice of his doctor showed him to be totally incapacitated during the period of such resting, he was entitled to the extra payments authorised by the Acts of 1917 & 1919, which, by sect. 1 of the former Act, are to continue in cases of total incapacity, notwithstanding that the weekly payments have been redeemed. The county ct. judge found that the workman was not totally incapacitated during the period of resting, & made an award in favour of the employers:—Held: it could not be said that a man's resting, upon the advice of his doctor, necessarily implied total incapacity. It was a question of fact for the county ct. judge, in the circumstances of the case, & as there was evidence upon which he could find as he had done, the appeal must be dismissed.—KIRKBY v. HOWLEY PARK COAL & CANNEL CO. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1070; 124 L. T. 43; 13 B. W. C. C. 168, C. A.

Annotation—Refd. Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307.

3283. Inability to resume work due to old age & ill health.]—Appct., who was considerably over sixty years of age, was employed in resps.' collieries. He met with an "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1. Some rock from the roof of the coal mine in which he was working at the time fell down upon him & three of his ribs were broken. The accident totally incapacitated him for work for a while, & he claimed compensation from his employers in respect of the injury, which was followed in due course by a request for arbitration. He was a workman who had been somewhat irregular in his attendance at his work owing to his chronic ill health. He was absent for considerable intervals from time to time. He suffered from various complaints, kidney troubles & others. At the date when the request for arbitration came on to be heard, which was some months after the accident, appct. had recovered in so far as the immediate injury to his ribs was concerned, the bones having reunited. But the effects of the shock & other results thereof had not entirely disappeared. At that date, however, appct. was not totally incapacitated for work by reason of the accident alone. It was decided by the county ct. judge that, having regard to appct.'s advanced age & to his previous history, he was at the date of the application still totally incapacitated for work; but that his incapacity was not then wholly due to the accident, the incapacity being partially due to other causes, namely, the state of his health, including his age. Appct. appealed: —Held: the county ct. judge was not bound to say that because there were some indications or remnants of the effects of the admitted accident, appct. must still be treated as being totally incapacitated for work; & the judge could not be regarded as having wrongly attempted to say that he would not treat appct. as totally incapacitated by reason of the accident, because had there been no accident he would still have been incapacitated through his ill health & advanced age.—LEWIS v. WREXHAM & ACTON COLLIERIES, LTD. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1456; 115 L. T. 367; 9 B. W. C. C. 518, C. A.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sect. 8, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

B. Only Fit for Light Work of Exceptional Character—"Odd Lot."

(a) In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (4).

3284. The definition.]—Where, upon an application by employers for a reduction of the compensation awarded to a driver in their employ on the footing of total incapacity, it was proved that the workman, though unable to resume his occupation of driver, was able to do any form of light work, & that he had applied for various forms of light work without success:—Held: it was competent to the county ct. judge to find that the circumstances had so altered as to justify a reduction.

Inability to earn, for the purposes of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 3, is inability to get employment owing to some incapacity for work personal to the workman, to the exclusion of inability to get employment owing to the state of the labour market, & this construction applies to an application to review as well as to an original application for compensation. Consequently, proof that a workman has made repeated & unsuccessful efforts to obtain suitable employment does not of itself establish a right to compensation on the basis of total incapacity (BUCKLEY, L.J.).

If I might be allowed to use such an undignified phrase I should say that if the accident leaves the workman's labour in the position of an "odd lot" in the labour market, the employer must show that a customer can be found who will take it. For in such a case we are not in truth dealing with fluctuations of the labour market at all. We are dealing with the chance of some one being found who can & will avail himself of the special residue of powers which has been left in the workman, & seeing that it is the result of the accident that the workman has been made dependent on the finding of such a special employer, it is right that those who are liable to pay to him compensation for his loss of earning power should only be allowed to take credit for his partial capacity for work if they can show that it can actually be made productive of remuneration to him (FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J.).—CARDIFF CORPN. v. HALL, [1911] 1 K. B. 1009; 80 L. J. K. B. 644; 104 L. T. 467; 27 T. L. R. 339; 4 B. W. C. C. 159, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Carlin v. Stephen (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 486. Apld. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds v. Winsper (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 289. Consd. Silcock v. Golightly, [1915] 1 K. B. 748. Apld. Ball v. Coulthard (1919), 122 L. T. 164. Expld. Kirkby v. Howley Park Coal & Cannel Co. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1070. Apld. Kear v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 121; Yates & Thom v. Duxbury (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 80; Gaffney v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 1. Consd. Cook v. Severn Canal Carrying Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 286; Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 701; Middleton v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 166; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307. Apld. Harris v. Bellamy's Wharf & Dock (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 93. Expld. Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 135 L. T. 355. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Walton v. South Kirkby, Featherstone & Hemsworth Colliery (1912), 107 L. T. 337; James v. Mordey, Carney (1913), 109 L. T. 377; Osborne v. Tralee & Dingle Ry. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 913; Thompson v. Newton (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 703; Jenkinson v. Steiner (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 571; Pearson v. Russell (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 706; Clay v. Sherwood Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169; Secretary of State for War v. Willoughby (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 120; Sage v. Stothert (1923), 129 L. T. 602; Wilmot v. Askern Coal & Iron Co. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 17; Higgs v. Sloan & Davidson (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 662; United Steel Cos. v. Clarke (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 684.

3285. "Odd lot"—Term to be avoided—Arbitrator should state his findings.]—A collier was struck on the back by a piece of rock falling from the roof of his working, & informed the deputy, but not in such a way as to constitute verbal notice of an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). He was able to work for two or three days, suffering considerable pain, & was then laid up. He consulted a doctor six days after the accident; but the latter thought the workman was suffering from lumbago, & treated him for it for some four months. Eventually, upon his going to a hospital, it was discovered that he had an injury in his back, which would account for his symptoms. No written notice of the accident was given, & no claim for compensation was made within six months. The county ct. judge found that no notice of the accident was given, & that the employers were prejudiced in their defence by the want of such notice, but that appct., for reasons given by him, had reasonable cause for his failure to give notice. He found that appct. was an "odd lot" in the labour market, & awarded him compensation for total incapacity:—Held: there was no evidence to support the finding that appct. had reasonable cause for failing to give notice. The only reasons which could be inferred from his evidence were that he thought he had given sufficient notice to the deputy, & until he consulted the doctor, he thought he would get better & the effect of the accident would pass off, & these reasons were a quite insufficient cause for his failure to give notice.

The expression "odd lot" is a metaphorical expression, the use of which in workmen's compensation cases is to be deprecated. In any case it should never be used by an arbitrator without explaining exactly what he means by it, & stating the findings of fact upon which its use is based.—CLAY v. SHERWOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169; 128 L. T. 232; 15 B. W. C. C. 203, C. A.

3286. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 16.]—The workman in an accident arising out of & in the course of the employment suffered an injury to his foot & was paid full compensation for a year. On an application by the employers to review the weekly payment the workman by his answer stated that if he had so far recovered as to do light work, which was not admitted, he had failed to obtain it owing mainly or wholly to his injuries, & was therefore entitled to continue to be paid on the basis of total incapacity, relying on the provisions of above sect. It was admitted he had taken reasonable steps to obtain light employment & was only able to do light work & he walked with a limp. On the question whether he had failed to obtain light employment as a consequence wholly or mainly of his injuries the county ct. judge's note was silent, but he ordered a continuance of full compensation:—Held: the county ct. judge must be presumed to have found that the inability to secure suitable employment was due wholly or mainly to the injury, & it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding.

I think [above sect.] was not intended to deal with "odd lot" cases (POLLOCK, M.R.).—CROSSLEY BROTHERS, LTD. v. BRUNYEE (1925), 133 L. T. 609; 18 B. W. C. C. 320, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Clarke v. United Steel Cos. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 525.

3287. ——.]—The workman, a coal miner, was injured as the result of an accident in Sept. 1921, by which a condition of arthritis in his left knee already existing was aggravated. The employers paid compensation as for total incapacity from the date of the accident, until July 9, 1925, when they applied for diminution on the ground that the workman was fit for work. The county ct. judge found that the workman was fit for employment of a certain kind, & had been so for more than two years, & that he had made no real attempt to obtain it. He held that the effect of above sect. was to shift the onus from the employers to the workman in cases where some physical earning capacity exists, of proving that he has taken all reasonable steps to obtain employment & did away with considerations as to whether or not the workman's labour was an "odd lot." He accordingly made an award reducing the compensation to twenty shillings per week:—Held: the effect of above sect. did not exclude the doctrine of the "odd lot," the county ct. judge had misdirected himself as to the effect of the sect. & the case must go back for a rehearing.

[Above sect.] was intended for the relief of workmen, & was not intended to take away a view of the law which was operating in their favour (ATKIN, L.J.).—UNITED STEEL COS., LTD. v. CLARKE (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 684; 134 L. T. 456; sub nom. CLARKE v. UNITED STEEL COS., LTD., 18 B. W. C. C. 525, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Meade v. United National Collieries (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 339.

3288. ——.]—Above sect. does not operate so as to throw on a workman who is an "odd lot" the onus of proving that "he has taken all reasonable steps to obtain & has failed to obtain" employment of a certain kind. Where the county ct. judge had treated the workman as coming within above sect. without, apparently, considering whether he was an "odd lot":—Held: the case must be sent back to the county ct. judge for the latter question to be determined.—HIGGS v. SLOAN & DAVIDSON (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 662; 18 B. W. C. C. 449, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Clarke v. United Steel Cos. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 525.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (4).

(b) Findings within Definition.

3289. Great difficulty in finding any employment.]—A workman who was employed as a ship's painter & scaler sustained injury to his left eye, caused by a blow from a rivet. Accordingly he claimed compensation from his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The county ct. judge having heard medical evidence on both sides as to the workman's physical state was not satisfied therewith. He therefore sent the case to the medical referee to report whether the workman was or was not still incapacitated by reason of the condition of his left eye from doing the work of a ship's painter. The report of the medical referee was that there was nothing abnormal in the eye to account for the great defect of vision complained of; that he was inclined to think that the workman had better vision than he would own to; that if the workman's statements were true, the case must be regarded as one of hysterical blindness or his left eye must always have been a defective one; but that if his sight was as he said it was, he was not fit to do his work as a ship's painter, but he could do ordinary painting when he had not to stand on a scaffolding. On this report the county ct. judge found as a fact that the workman was by reason of the accident incapacitated from doing the work of a ship's painter, & that he would have great difficulty in obtaining any employment. Therefore he gave the workman compensation for total incapacity for work on the footing of his average weekly earnings being 45*s.*:—Held: (1) there was sufficient evidence upon which the county ct. judge might arrive at the view at which he did; assuming that the defective vision in the workman's left eye was due to the accident thereto & he was not able to do work involving painting on a scaffolding or on a ladder, it was a case in which the workman was an "odd lot man"; & therefore the decision in Proctor & Sons v. Robinson, No. 3302, post, applied, & not that in Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, No. 3284, ante.

(2) Although the ct. did not require mathematical accuracy in calculating the average weekly earnings of a workman who had been injured by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, a small mistake in the ascertained amount not being sufficient to upset an award, yet where there is a substantial mistake the case must go back to the county ct. judge to assess the compensation to which the workman is entitled.—JAMES v. MORDEY, CARNEY & CO., LTD. (1913), 109 L. T. 377; 6 B. W. C. C. 680, C. A.

3290. Had not the capacity of an ordinary labourer.]—A miner was certified as being incapacitated by miners' nystagmus. After some time his employers gave him light work on the surface, it being admitted that work below ground was unsuitable for him by reason of his nystagmus, but that otherwise he could have obtained such employment. He did this work for about a year & received differences between his then earnings & his earnings before the incapacity, by way of compensation. He was then dismissed, with many other men in no way incapacitated, on account of slackness of trade. There was evidence that he had tried to obtain labouring work elsewhere but had failed. The county ct. judge found that he was in fact capable of doing "quite a number of labouring jobs but not capable of doing any labouring job that might be open," & that this was the result of nystagmus. He thereupon awarded compensation for total incapacity:—Held: the judge had in effect found that the man had not "the capacity of an ordinary labourer" by reason of nystagmus & was therefore an "odd lot." This was a question of fact, &, there being no misdirection, the appeal failed.—KEAR v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 121, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cook v. Severn Canal Carrying Co (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 286. Expld. Foster v. Wharncliffe

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (b), (c) & (d).]

Woodmoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 701; Gaffney v. Chorley Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 1; Middleton v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 166. Refd. Clay v. Sherwood Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 135 L. T. 355.

3291. Driven into lower scale of employment—In which there was no work.]—Appct., an apprentice, had his right thumb injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment on Sept. 12, 1916. His employers paid him compensation for four months. They then gave him work of a less skilled character than that which he did before the accident. In 1917 he joined the army, & was demobilised in 1919. In 1920 he obtained work with another firm, but in Mar. 1921, he was suspended owing to slackness of work. He then filed a request for arbn. & claimed compensation on the basis of partial incapacity. At the hearing, the county ct. judge gave leave to amend the claim & treated it as being made on the basis of total incapacity on the ground that appct., in consequence of the accident, was driven into a lower scale of employment in which there was no work for him. He found on the evidence that he was totally incapacitated, & made his award on that basis. In the Ct. of Appeal the employers took the point that the county ct judge had no power to allow the claim to be amended or to make an award on any other basis than that of partial incapacity, on which basis the claim was originally made:—Held: the point was not open to the employers in the Ct. of Appeal as they did not take it in the county ct.; & on the evidence the county ct. judge was justified in coming to the conclusion that appct. was an "odd lot," & therefore totally incapacitated.—MILLIGAN v. KERR, STUART & Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 203, C. A.

(c) Findings not within Definition.

3292. Skilled workman—Fields of labour not open owing to want of skill in other jobs.]—A workman, in the course of his employment as a boat captain with a canal carrying co., received an injury to one of his legs. The county ct. judge made an award in his favour on the basis of total incapacity, on the ground that his labour was an "odd lot," as "he had not fields of labour open to him owing to his not being skilled in other jobs." The employers appealed:—Held: although it might have been possible for the county ct. judge to arrive at the same conclusion upon a proper direction, his decision could not stand, as the definition of the term "odd lot" upon which his decision was founded was not in accordance with the dictum of FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J., in Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, No. 3284, ante.—COOK v. SEVERN CANAL CARRYING CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 286, C. A.

3293. Ability to do light work—Light work generally.]—CARDIFF CORPN. v. HALL, No. 3284, ante.

3294. ——.]—In 1919, a workman, while engaged in painting a fanlight, fell into guttering 15–20 feet below, breaking both bones of his left leg. An award was made by the deputy county ct. judge on Jan. 15, 1921, on the basis of total incapacity. An application to review & diminish the payments was made by the employer in Oct. 1921. The county ct. judge came to the conclusion that the workman was not an "odd lot" & that he was fit for light work. He reduced the compensation to 15*s.* a week & gave the employers the costs. He also rejected the evidence of an undertaker to the effect that he had refused to take the workman into his employment when he was in search of light work. The workman appealed:—Held: (1) the county ct. judge had evidence before him which justified him in finding that the workman was not an "odd lot"; (2) even if the refusal to admit the evidence of the undertaker was a wrongful refusal, no miscarriage of justice had been caused; & (3) the county ct. judge had acted within his discretion as to costs.—SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR v. WILLOUGHBY (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 120, C. A.

3295. —— ——.]—Appct., a miner, suffered injury to his hand by accident in resps. colliery in 1912, which resulted in the loss of two fingers. He filed a request for arbitration under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but, as the employers found him work in their haulage department, his claim to compensation stood over, & he obtained an order giving him liberty to apply if necessary. From 1913 to 1921 he received better wages than he earned before the accident. In 1921, when the miners' strike took place, he voluntarily left his work to join the strikers. When the strike was over he applied to be reinstated, but resps. were unable to reinstate him, because, owing to the strike & the withdrawal of the safety men from the pits, some of resps.' pits were flooded, causing curtailment of work. On an application for compensation, the county ct. judge found that appct. was an "odd lot" & awarded him compensation on the basis of total incapacity:—Held: on the evidence, appct. was able to do light work, & was not an "odd lot," & the case must go back to the county ct. judge to assess the compensation on the basis of partial incapacity, having regard only to appct.'s loss of earning power brought about by his present physical condition, due to the accident, & not to the present condition of the labour market.—GAFFNEY v. CHORLEY COLLIERY Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 1; 15 B. W. C. C. 158, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Murray v. Portland Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 362. Apld. Bromley v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co., Drew v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co. (1923), 129 L. T. 620. Folld. Newlan v. Meredith & Shephard (1923), 128 L. T. 784. Refd. Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., Farmery v. Same, Bateman v. Same, Goodliffe v. Same, Parry v. Same (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 5; Middleton v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 166; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 135 L. T. 355.

3296. —— With certain exceptions—Field of employment open though a restricted one.]—In 1909 a workman lost his right arm in consequence of an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & received compensation from his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by way of a weekly payment. In 1914 the employers applied for a review of the weekly payment on the ground that the man was able to do light work. Apart from the loss of his arm he was a strong healthy man & not totally incapacitated from earning wages. He had applied once, in 1909, to his employers for light work, which they were unable to give him, & he had since made no effort to get work of any kind. The employers did not adduce any evidence to show what particular kind of light work he could do, nor that he could get work, but that they suggested various kinds of work which were open to him in the place where he lived. The county ct. judge, acting upon his own experience & knowledge of the locality, came to the conclusion that there was open to the man a field of employment, though a restricted one, & that he could get work if he tried; he accordingly reduced the weekly payment:—Held: the county ct. judge was right.—SILCOCK & SONS v. GOLIGHTLY, [1915] 1 K. B. 748; 84 L. J. K. B. 499; 112 L. T. 800; 8 B. W. C. C. 48, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Pearson v. Russell (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 706; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C 307.

3297. —— ——.]—On Dec. 29, 1921, a shipwright in the course of his employment, while at work, fell thirty feet from a staging & sustained severe injuries to his pelvis & spine, from which, however, he made a remarkable recovery. In arbitration proceedings commenced by him in the county ct., medical evidence was given to the effect that he was likely to be unable to do heavy work for about three years from the date of the accident. Another witness said that he was capable of doing "labouring work." The county ct. judge held that he was "partially incapacitated for work only, being capable of doing light work other than such as involves stooping, lifting, or jarring. Even though the whole field of light work is not open to appct., I am of opinion that there are still open to him fields of employment, other than those specially adapted only to quite exceptional cases, dependent on quite exceptional employers, his failure to obtain work in which is due to circumstances unconnected with the accident." The workman appealed:—Held: the county ct. judge was justified, on the evidence, in his decision; it was clear that he had the distinction to be found in Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, No. 3281, ante, clearly in his mind.—SAGE v. STOTHERT (G. K.) & Co., LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 602; 16 B. W. C. C. 74, C. A.

3298. Inability to obtain work.]—In Oct. 1916, appct., a munition worker, was injured by accident. In Aug. 1917, a declaration of liability was recorded, & appct. returned to her old work for some time, until munition work ceased after the armistice. Subsequently the employers offered her work as a lift attendant. She did that & then gave it up, as she said it was unsuitable for her. On Feb. 27, 1919, she filed a request for arbitration. The judge found that the lift work was unsuitable, & gave an award dated Apr. 28, 1919, for the payment of a weekly sum of 10*s.* 4*d.* full compensation for total incapacity. On Jan. 12, 1921, the employers applied for review of the weekly payment. It was proved that since the award on Apr. 28, 1919, she had done no work. There was some dispute as to what efforts she had made to find employment & whether she had been registered at the Labour Exchange. The county ct. judge found that having regard to appct.'s physical condition & to the condition of the labour market, she was an "odd lot" in the labour market, & stated that he was satisfied that he ought not to terminate or diminish the compensation paid to her:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—YATES & THOM, LTD. v. DUXBURY (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 80, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307.

3299. —— Must be result of accident—State of labour market.]—MIDDLETON v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3242, ante.

3300. —— —— Supervening disease.] — A workman was in 1917 certified to be suffering from miner's nystagmus & received full compensation until Aug. 1921. In the proceedings before the county ct. judge for compensation to be continued there was evidence that certain symptoms of dizziness & vomiting of which the workman complained were inconsistent with the continuance of nystagmus, but might be due to gastric trouble. The reasons given by the deputy county ct. judge for his finding in favour of appct. were as follows: "I came to the conclusion on the whole of the evidence that this man is still suffering from the secondary effects of nystagmus, even if he is cured of the disease, which is doubtful, & there being no offer of work made to him by resps., & having regard to the fact that he cannot obtain work at any other colliery by reason of the fact that he has suffered from nystagmus, I hold that his incapacity is total, &, therefore, I awarded him 19*s.* per week, being half his average wages when he was certified as suffering from nystagmus":—Held: the deputy county ct. judge had misdirected himself, & the case must be sent back for proper assessment of compensation on the same basis as that ordered in Middleton v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., Ltd., No. 3242, ante.—JONES v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 172, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 135 L. T. 355.

—— ——.]—See, also, Sub-sect. 4, ante.

3301. Inability to resume old work—No other offer of work.]—Appct., now resp., was employed as an unskilled labourer by applts. & on Feb. 2, 1922, met with an accident arising out of & in the course of that employment causing injury to his right eye. He was taking nails out of logs of wood & his chisel broke & a piece of steel entered his eye. In Apr. his right eye had to be removed. Applts. paid him compensation from the date of the accident until the July 28, 1922, when they considered from the doctor's report he was fit for work & offered him his old work which he refused & made a claim for compensation. The county ct. judge sitting with a medical referee found that the old work was too risky for appct. to do & that no other work except that had been offered him &, that not being suitable, made an award on the ground of total incapacity:—Held: there being no evidence to support the finding of total incapacity the case must go back not for a rehearing but for further hearing for compensation to be assessed on the ground of partial incapacity &, if partia incapacity found, compensation to be assessed in the same manner as pointed out in Gaffney v. Chorley Colliery Company, Ltd., No. 3295, ante. — NEWLAN v. MEREDITH & SHEPHARD, LTD. (1923), 128 L. T. 784; 16 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

(d) Onus of Proof on Employer.

3302. Particular light work workman able to do —Chance of obtaining such work.]—Where, upon an application by employers to reduce the weekly compensation payable to a workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the footing of total incapacity, it was proved that the man was prevented by the accident from doing the full work of an ordinary labourer, but that he could do some light work if he could obtain it, & there was no evidence that he could obtain any suitable employment:—Held: it was incumbent on the employers to show what particular light work the workman could do, & to give some evidence that he had a chance of obtaining that particular kind of work, & in the absence of that evidence reduction ought to be refused.—PROCTOR & SONS v. ROBINSON, [1911] 1 K. B. 1004; 80 L. J. K. B. 641; 3 B. W. C. C. 41, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, [1911] 1 K. B. 1009; Carlin v. Stephen (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 486. Apld. James v. Mordey, Carney (1913), 109 L. T. 377. Dbtd. Pearson v. Russell (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 706; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307. Refd. Walton v. South Kirkby, Featherstone & Hemsworth Colliery (1912), 107 L. T. 337; Osborne v. Tralee & Dingle Ry, Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (d); sub-sect. 9, A. & B.]

(1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 913; Silcock v. Golightly, [1915] 1 K. B. 748; Kear v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 121.

3303. Effect of failure to discharge onus.]—Up to Oct. 1917, appct., a girl under twenty-one years of age, was working as a weaver at a mill, but the mill was then closed, & she entered the employment of resps. at their munition factory. On Apr. 10, 1918, appct. met with "personal injury caused by accident arising out of & in the course of" her employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1. She was cutting rifle rods to length when a piece of steel flew off & alighted in her right eye. The result of the accident was that appct. completely lost the sight of that eye. She had been operated on for squint in her left eye some time before the accident, & she had therefore not only lost the sight of one eye, but found the other imperfect. Appct. was paid compensation by resps. up to Sept. 3, 1918, & she was engaged on the work of gauging shells at their munition factory up to Dec. 21, 1918, when she was discharged therefrom in consequence of the demand for munitions having ceased as the result of the armistice. On being thus discharged, she applied for & received unemployment pay. After Christmas, 1918, appct. went back to work at the mill, which had recommenced to run. She failed, however, to do her work as a weaver, as she was suffering from pain in the left eye & head, & that eye filled with water. It was decided by the county ct. judge that appct. had made genuine attempts to do her work as a weaver; that he accepted the evidence that her left eye filled with water & that she suffered the pain which she described; & that therefore she was no more than an "odd lot" in the labour market, as was described by FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J., in Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, No. 3284, ante, she being unable to obtain any employment in any recognised sphere of occupation; & therefore an award must be made in her favour on the footing that she was totally incapacitated for work:—Held: the county ct. judge had evidence upon which he could come to the conclusion at which he did; & he was therefore quite right in making an award for the full amount of the compensation to which appct. was entitled by reason of her total incapacity for work.—BALL v. COULTHARD (T.) & Co., LTD. (1919), 122 L. T. 164; 12 B. W. C. C. 312, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307.

3304. Employer must discharge onus—Workman abstaining from trying to work.]—Appct. was injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. The evidence was that he could not stand or stoop for any length of time without considerable pain, but that he could do some special jobs if they were found for him. The county ct. judge found that he was incapacitated for his old employment & was unable to compete on equal terms in the labour market, but added that he considered appct. had deliberately abstained from trying to work & made an award on the basis of partial incapacity only:—Held: on the evidence appct.'s labour was an "odd lot" in the labour market; the onus, therefore, of proving that the man could actually obtain work was on the employers, & that onus had not been discharged. The award must be on the basis of total incapacity.—HARRIS v. BELLAMY'S WHARF & DOCK, LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 93, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 42 T. L. R. 490.

3305. —— Of proving special work obtainable.]—When a workman, owing to injuries from an accident, comes into the category of what has been called an "odd lot," fluctuations in, or the state of, the labour market cannot be taken into consideration in assessing compensation, & if the employer does not show that there is special work which in spite of his incapacity he can get, the proper finding is that the man is totally incapacitated by the accident, & the award should proceed on the basis of such total incapacity.—PALMER v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS (CYFARTHFA), LTD. (1926), 135 L. T. 355; 42 T. L. R. 490; 19 B. W. C. C. 164, C. A.

3306. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 16.]—HIGGS v. SLOAN & DAVIDSON, No. 3288, ante.

SUB-SECT. 9.—PROOF OF RECOVERY.

A. In General.

3307. Recovery a question of fact.]—On an application by employers to review, evidence was given that the workman's incapacity had entirely ceased, & that there was no likelihood of recurrence of any condition which would cause incapacity. The man's finger was still slightly bent as a result of the injury. The county ct. judge terminated the payments:—Held: there was evidence on which he could do so.—EDMONDSONS, LTD. v. PARKER (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 70, C. A.

3308. What must be proved—Now able to perform former work.]—An application was made by employers under sect. 16 of schedule I. to the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to review a weekly payment payable to a workman who was a miner & who had been injured by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment. The issue which the employers came to prove was that the workman had entirely recovered from the effects of the injury, & that his incapacity for work by reason of the accident had ceased:—Held: the employers had not affirmatively discharged the onus of proof, which admittedly lay on them, of establishing conclusively their right to a review of the weekly payment, no direct evidence being adduced by them to show that the workman was now able to perform that which was his work at the time of the accident, viz., the hard work of a miner, which was very distinguishable from the light work that he had subsequently been doing.—NEW MONCKTON COLLIERIES CO. v. TOONE (1913), 109 L. T. 374; 57 Sol. Jo. 753; 6 B. W. C. C. 660, C. A.

3309. —— Fit to do his ordinary work.]—A workman was injured by spilling acid on his hand. Compensation was paid until the employers considered the incapacity to have ceased when it was stopped. The man applied for arbn., & at the hearing admitted that he had not tried to get a job, but stated that his hand was still painful. Four doctors were called, but the county ct. judge took no notice of their evidence. He dismissed

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 9.—A.

3307 i. Recovery a question of fact.]—MCNAUGHTON & SINCLAIR v. CUNNINGHAM, CUNNINGHAM v. MCNAUGHTON & SINCLAIR, [1910] S. C. 980; 47 Sc. L. R. 781; [1910] 2 S. L. T. 167; 3 B. W. C. C. 577.—SCOT.

h. Susceptibility to recurrence of disease—Onus of proof—Lies on workman.]—Held: as the workman had recovered from the original attack & as he had failed to discharge the onus which lay on him of proving that his susceptibility to recurrence of the disease was due to that attack, the the application for compensation. The Ct. of Appeal directed a letter to be sent to the judge for a fuller explanation of the reasons for his award, to which the judge replied that he had had a discussion with the doctors, & came to the conclusion that he ought to accept & act on the opinions of two of the doctors, which was "that the workman was fit to do this ordinary work":—Held: the only course open, after the reply given by the county ct. judge, was to dismiss the appeal.—CREIGHTON v. LOWRY (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 250, C. A.

3310. —— —— Subject to some danger.]—An engine driver in a colliery earning £2 a week met with an accident which caused the first finger of his left hand to become permanently stiff. He was paid compensation during total incapacity. Payment was stopped, & he brought proceedings, & was awarded 7*s.* 6*d.* a week on the grounds that although his former employment was too dangerous for him to resume, he was fit for some light work. He tried to obtain light work, but failed & applied for compensation to be increased. The employers submitted to an award of £1 a week. They then offered him different work, but at his old wages. The workman refused this unless the employers would guarantee to pay him his old wages for whatever work they might put him to. They refused to do this & applied to have the payments terminated on the ground that the man could do his full old work. The county ct. judge found that the man could do the old work, but that it would be dangerous for him; & that it was not suitable employment. He declined to reduce the compensation:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—DINNINGTON MAIN COAL CO., LTD. v. BRUINS (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 367, C. A.

3311. Possibility of incapacity—Injured eye may affect other.]—A workman lost the sight of one eye by accident. After recovery he was offered his old work, which he refused, as he did not wish to run the risk of losing the other eye. On application by the employers to terminate, the county ct. judge found that the only future incapacity that might arise from the accident was a possible loss of the other eye from suppuration from the eye, & that this could be avoided by the dead eye being removed by operation. He terminated the payments & refused a declaration of liability:—Held: there was evidence on which the judge could terminate the payments, but the workman was entitled to a declaration of liability.—BRAITHWAITE & KIRK v. COX (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 77, C. A.

3312. Onus of proof—Lies on employer.]—NEW MONCKTON COLLIERIES CO. v. TOONE, No. 3308, ante.

3313. —— —— Not discharged by showing workman earning same or greater wages.]—CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. v. HUGHES, No. 3321, post.

B. Ability to Earn Same or Higher Wages.

3314. Sole test of right to substantial weekly payment.]—The sole test of the right of a workman to a weekly payment under Sched. I., clause (b), of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in respect of partial incapacity for work, is his wage-earning capacity after the accident which caused the injury in respect of which compensation is sought. Where therefore a workman, although put to a different class of work after the accident, receives from his employers the same wages that he previously received from them, he is not entitled to a weekly payment in respect of partial incapacity after his return to work, his right to compensation being limited to a weekly payment in respect of total incapacity, after the second week, during his absence from work occasioned by the accident.

The Act does not give compensation in respect of pain & suffering.—IRONS v. DAVIS & TIMMINS, LTD., [1899] 2 Q. B. 330; 68 L. J. Q. B. 673; 80 L. T. 673; 47 W. R. 616; 1 W. C. C. 26, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Pomphrey v. Southwark Press, [1901] 1 K. B. 86. Refd. Jones v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 140; Nicholson v. Piper (1906), 76 L. J. K. B. 230.

3315. ——.]—A workman injured his eye. He earned £1 10*s.* a week before the accident plus £1 in commission & tips. After the accident he could only earn £1. He claimed £1 as compensation. The county ct. judge disregarded the commission & tips & awarded 10*s.* a week compensation, being the difference between £1 10*s.* earned before the accident & £1 earned afterwards. Soon after this the man was able to earn at similar employment £2 a week, whereupon the employers applied to review & terminate the payments. The county ct. judge, however, awarded 5*s.* a week compensation:—Held: as the man was earning more than his average weekly earnings before the accident, as found in the original application, it was not competent to award any compensation. A declaration of liability was recorded by consent.

The judge said he could not take tips & commission into consideration. . . . That the judge was wrong in saying he could not take into consideration the tips does not render his finding any less an estoppel (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—HAINS & STRANGE v. CORBET (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 372, C. A.

3316. Not conclusive as to absence of incapacity—Loss of earning capacity in open labour market considered.]—Where a workman is injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), has been paid to him by his employers & an application is made to the county ct. judge to terminate the weekly payment on the ground that the workman is able to earn as good wages as he was before the accident, the question is not whether his employers are paying him the same wages as he received before the accident, but whether he is left in such a position that in the open labour market his earning capacity may in the future be less than it was before the accident as the result of the accident.—BIRMINGHAM CABINET MANUFACTURING CO. v. DUDLEY (1910), 102 L. T. 619; 3 B. W. C. C. 169, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Braithwaite & Kirk v. Cox (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 77. Refd. Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1361.

3317. —— ——.]—The workman in 1913, while employed by applts., received an injury by accident, & lost a portion of the index finger of his left hand. The employers paid him compensation until July, 1913, when he again entered their compensation fell to be ended.—DARROLL v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 387; 50 Sc. L. R. 226; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 506.—SCOT.

---

PART XIV. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 9.—B.

3316 i. Not conclusive as to absence of incapacity—Loss of earning capacity in open labour market considered.]—FREELAND v. MACFARLANE (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 832.—SCOT.

3316 ii. —— ——.]—PATERSON v. MOORE & CO., [1910] S. C. 29; 47 Sc. L. R. 30; [1910] 2 S. L. T. 291; 3 B. W. C. C. 541.—SCOT.

3316 iii. —— ——.]—Held: the fact that the workman had received from his employers as high wages as he had earned prior to the accident did not prove that his incapacity had ceased.—KILPATRICK v. WEMYSS COAL CO., LTD., [1922] S. C. 71.—SCOT.

Sect. 12.—Incapacity and compensation therefor: Sub-sect. 9, B.; sub-sect. 10. Sect. 13: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B. (a).]

employment, & continued working for them until June, 1922, but was then discharged owing to the slackness of business. His average weekly earnings in 1913, at the time of the accident, were £1 5*s.*, but when discharged in 1922, they amounted to £3 8*s.* 7*d.* per week. On a claim now made by him for compensation, the county ct. judge having found that he was partially disabled, awarded him 10*s.* a week:—Held: there was evidence of a loss of earning capacity, & the quantum of the award could not be disturbed on appeal.—RAY v. VICKERS, LTD. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 200, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3318. —— —— Revival of right to compensation on fall of wages.]—PORTLAND COLLIERY CO. v. MURRAY, WATSON (J.), LTD. v. QUINN, DIXON (W.), LTD. v. MADDEN, No. 3737, post.

3319. —— Earnings larger after accident.]—The fact that a workman is earning more after the accident than he was before does not entitle the employer to have the payment of compensation ended.—WILSON v. JACKSON'S STORES, LTD. (1905), 7 W. C. C. 122, C. A.

3320. —— Full wages paid.]—A workman lost a finger by reason of an accident. Under an agreement he was paid 16*s.* a week as compensation. On his recovering the partial use of his hand the compensation was reduced to 5*s.* a week. A month later the employers offered him a job at full wages which he accepted, & it lasted for seven months. The employers then applied for a termination on the ground that the man had recovered his full wage-earning capacity. The county ct. judge found that the man was permanently partially incapacitated & refused to alter his former award of 5*s.* a week: Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—WARWICK S.S. CO. v. CALLAGHAN (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 283, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

3321. —— Onus of proof.]—A collier in Jan. 1906, met with an accident which caused permanent injury to his right hand. His employers admitted liability, & by agreement paid him half-wages until Aug. 1908, when they found him light work in the colliery at wages somewhat higher than his old wages. He was first employed as a watchman on the surface, & afterwards as a signalman underground. He had to walk up a high hill to get to the pit, & in Apr. 1910, he gave up work because he was suffering from heart disease & could not walk uphill. In Jan. 1911, he obtained registration of the agreement for compensation. His employers thereupon applied under Schedule I., clause 12, of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), for a review & termination of the weekly payments as from Apr. 1910. It was proved that the heart disease was not caused by the accident & that the man's hand was useless except for some special kind of light work. The county ct. judge declined to terminate the agreement, but slightly reduced the weekly payments:—Held: the burden was on the employers to prove that the workman was not now under any incapacity by reason of the accident, & that burden was not discharged by showing that since the accident he was earning wages equal to or greater than his old wages.—CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. v. HUGHES, [1911] 2 K. B. 738; 80 L. J. K. B. 1307; 105 L. T. 274; 27 T. L. R. 498; 4 B. W. C. C. 291, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. McNally v. Furness, Withy (1913), 109 L. T. 270; Woodhouse v. Mid. Ry., [1914] 3 K. B. 1034; Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmis v. Same (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97.

SUB-SECT. 10.—AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION.

See Sect. 13, post.

SECT. 13.—AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN CASE OF DEATH.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 8.

3322. Judge must find total or partial dependency.]—The county ct. judge awarded a dependant £300 compensation without finding whether dependant was totally or partially dependent:—Held: the case must be remitted for this to be found.—CHEVERTON v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 253, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Healy v. Reilly (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744.

3323. Measure of injury—Prospective loss to be included.]—PEART v. BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & CO., No. 2118, ante.

3324. Effect of waiver of share by widow—Right of children to whole amount.]—GILL v. FORTESCUE (N.) & SONS, LTD., No. 3477, post.

B. Total Dependency.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 8 (2) (i) & (ii).

What amounts to dependency.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 2, C., ante.

3325. General rule.]—On Mar. 10, 1916, a miner who had for many years been in the employment of resps., met with "personal injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment" which proved fatal. Up to June 30, 1915, he was employed on the terms of a conciliation board agreement made between the masters & the trade union representatives of the men, but on that date the agreement was terminated by previous notice. The workman continued to work as usual for fourteen days more, & then, together with the other workmen in the mine, ceased work, & went on strike for one week. The strike was settled by agreement, & the men returned to work on July 22, 1915, at an increased rate of wages:—Held: (1) the strike caused no break in the continuity of the employment by the same employer during the three years preceding the injury, & his absence from work during the week in question was not due to any unavoidable cause; (2) the compensation payable to his dependants was the totality of the earnings during such three years, & not the average weekly wages earned since July 22, 1915, multiplied by 156.—PRICE v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, [1918] A. C. 760; 87 L. J. K. B. 801; 119 L. T. 345; 34 T. L. R. 494; 62 Sol. Jo. 619; 11 B. W. C. C. 154, H. L.

3318 1. —— —— Revival of right to compensation on fall of wages.]—MERRY & CUNINGHAME, LTD. v. BLACK, [1909] S. C. 1150; 46 Sc. L. R. 812; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 16; 2 B. W. C. C. 372.—SCOT.

3326. Where less than three years' employment.] —A workman met with an accident which incapacitated him from work for eleven months; he then went back to work with the same master, being employed on a different class of work & at lower wages. About eighteen months after resuming work he met with a fatal accident arising out of & in the course of his employment: —Held: in ascertaining the workman's average weekly earnings for the purpose of assessing the compensation payable to his dependants under Sched. I., clause 1 (a) (i), of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), regard could only be had to the period of employment between his return to work & the date of the accident, & that, this period being less than three years, the amount of compensation was one hundred & fifty-six times his average weekly earnings during that period.—APPLEBY v. HORSELEY CO., LTD., [1899] 2 Q. B. 521; 68 L. J. Q. B. 892; 80 L. T. 853; 47 W. R. 614; 15 T. L. R. 410; 43 Sol. Jo. 568; 1 W. C. C. 103, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Gill v. Fortescue (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 577; Warburton v. Co-op. Wholesale Soc., [1916] 116 L. T. 107. Mentd. Howard v. Driver (1903), 5 W. C. C. 153.

3327. —— Application of statutory minimum.]—LYSONS v. KNOWLES (ANDREW) & SONS, LTD., STUART v. NIXON & BRUCE, No. 3433, post.

3328. Where break in employment—Latest period of employment only to be regarded—Workman returning to work after accident.]—APPLEBY v. HORSELEY CO., LTD., No. 3326, ante.

3329. —— —— ——.]—(1) In estimating the average weekly earnings under s. 2 (a) of Sched. I. of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the object should be to arrive at the normal rate of remuneration of the injured man at the date of the accident; & where exact computation is impracticable, the ct. for its guidance may have regard to the average weekly amount earned during the previous twelve months by a person in the same grade employed by the same employer, or, failing that, in the same class of employment in the same district.

(2) "Grade" refers to the particular rank in the industrial hierarchy occupied by the workman, & not to his greater or less excellence in that rank; it is a question of fact whether there is a grade to which the workman belongs.

(3) The ct., having found that the workman has a grade, is not bound to adopt the average wages in that grade as the basis of compensation, but may take into consideration the personal capacity of the workman.

(4) In an ordinary case the average weekly earnings are to be calculated by dividing the total earnings of the workman during the relevant period, not by the number of weeks in that period, but by the number of weeks actually worked within that period.

(5) Days in which no work is done & no wages are earned are to be disregarded. But this principle does not apply to cases under s. 1 (a) (i) of Sched. I.

(6) The principle does not apply to cases where the limitation upon the time worked arises from the nature of the employment itself, e.g., the case of a charwoman, where a certain amount of discontinuity is an incident of the employment.

(7) In determining whether there has been any change of employment, "employment by the same employer," for the purpose of Schedule I. means employment in the same grade, & any step up or down from one grade to another is to be regarded as constituting a fresh employment.

(8) In calculating any of the periods mentioned in s. 1 of the Schedule absence due to illness or to causes beyond the control of the workman is to be disregarded; & the employment is to be reckoned as continuous.

(9) A collier, who had partially recovered from an accident for which he was receiving compensation, was offered & accepted light employment under a registered agreement with his employers upon the terms of his submitting to a reduction in the rate of compensation. Six months later he met with a fatal accident in the course of such employment. Upon an application by the widow for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: compensation ought to be calculated solely on the basis of the earnings of deceased from the light employment without taking into account the compensation he received under the agreement.—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., [1908] 1 K. B. 441; 77 L. J. K. B. 236; 98 L. T. 327; 24 T. L. R. 186; 52 Sol. Jo. 146; 1 B. W. C. C. 351, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Edge v. Gorton, [1912] 3 K. B. 360; Barnett v. Port of London Authority, Priestley v. Port of London Authority, [1913] 2 K. B. 115; Godden v. Cowlin, [1913] 1 K. B. 590. Apld. Cox v. Trollope, [1916] 2 K. B. 682; Calver v. Groom & Symonds (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 129; Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455. Refd. Snell v. British Corpn., [1914] 2 K. B. 291; Roper v. Hussey-Freke (1915), 113 L. T. 635; Williams v. Maritime (Owners) (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 633. As to (2) Consd. Jury v. S.S. Atlanta, [1912] 3 K. B. 366; Barnett v. Port of London Authority, Priestley v. Port of London Authority, [1913] 2 K. B. 115; Dalgleish v. Edinburgh Roperie & Sailcloth Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 867. As to (3) Refd. Dobson v. British Oil & Cake Mills (1912), 106 L. T. 922. As to (4) Apld. Anslow v. Cannock Chase Colliery Co., [1909] 1 K. B. 352. Consd. Gill v. Grainger (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 515. Refd. Brandy v. S.S. Raphael (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 217. As to (5) Apld. White v. Wiseman, [1912] 3 K. B. 352. Refd. Anslow v. Cannock Chase Colliery Co., [1909] 1 K. B. 352. As to (7) Folld. Babcock & Wilcox v. Young (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 367. As to (8) Dbtd. Greenwood v. Nall, [1917] A. C. 1. Refd. Price v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1917] 1 K. B. 780. Generally, Refd. Cue v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 3 K. B. 892. Mentd. Hill v. Begg (1908), 99 L. T. 104.

3330. —— —— Absence from illness or accidental injury.]—Employment by the same employer, as defined by para. 2 (c) of Schedule I. of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), means employment in the same grade, which is not interrupted by absence from work due to illness or any other unavoidable cause.

A workman who died from an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment entered into the employment of a firm as a carter more than three years before the injury, but during those three years he was absent from work from time to time for an aggregate period of six months. His absence for the greater part of the period was due to illness or to accidental injury:—Held: upon the construction of para. 1 (a) (i) & para. 2 (c) of Schedule I., he was not in the employment of the same employer during the three years next preceding the injury from which he died, &, therefore, the compensation payable to his dependants was to be calculated, not upon the basis of his actual earnings during the three years, but upon the basis of his average weekly earnings during the period of his actual employment since the last unavoidable interruption.—GREENWOOD

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (a).

3327 i. Where less than three years' employment—Application of statutory minimum.]—FORRESTER v. M'CULLAM (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 650.—SCOT.

3327 ii. —— —— ——.]—LEONARD v. BAIRD (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 890.—SCOT.

Sect. 13 —Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, B. (a) & (b), & C. (a) & (b).]

v. JOSEPH NALL & CO., LTD., [1917] A. C. 1; 86 L. J. K. B. 17; 115 L. T. 723; 33 T. L. R. 43; 61 Sol. Jo. 54; 10 B. W. C. C. 9, H. L.

Annotation :—Folld. Price v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1917] 1 K. B. 780.

3331. What may be taken into account—Not compensation paid for partial incapacity—In respect of previous accident.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3332. —— Not earnings under concurrent contract of service.]—In estimating the compensation to which the dependants of a workman killed by accident are entitled when such workman has worked continuously for three years for the same employer, no account can be taken of the wages earned by him under concurrent contracts with other employers.—BUCKLEY v. LONDON & INDIA DOCKS (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 327, C. A.

3333. —— ——.]—(1) The provision in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 2 (a), that for the purpose of assessing compensation in respect of an accident to a workman "average weekly earnings shall be computed in such manner as is best calculated to give the rate per week at which the workman was being remunerated" means that they are to be computed in the manner best calculated to give the rate of his remuneration under the employer for whom he was working when the accident happened.

(2) A casual labourer who is employed casually by two or more different employers is not employed under concurrent contracts of service within the meaning of Schedule I., clause 2 (b), of the Act.

A workman who was employed by resps. as a casual corn porter met with an accident in the course of his employment. He had been employed by them casually during the three years preceding the accident, & during the year preceding the accident he had also been employed by a shipping firm at such a high rate of pay that his combined earnings for the year averaged over £2 5*s.* a week. The average earnings of a corn porter in the employment of resps. was 30*s.* a week:—Held: the workman's average weekly earnings must be computed by regard to the average weekly earnings of a workman in the same grade under the same employer, but regard must also be had to the man's personal qualification as shown by his high wages with the shipping co. In any case, however, the average weekly earnings could not be computed at more than the maximum sum earned by a man in the same grade under the same employer.—CUE v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, [1914] 3 K. B. 892; 83 L. J. K. B. 1445; 111 L. T. 736; 7 B. W. C. C. 447, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Cox v. Trollope, [1916] 2 K. B. 682; Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455. As to (2) Alpd. Underwood v. Perry (No. 2) (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 257.

(b) Deductions.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 8 (2) (iii).

3334. What may be deducted—Compensation paid to workman between accident & death.]—O'KEEFE v. LOVATT, No. 2092, ante.

3335. —— ——.]—A workman in receipt of compensation from his employers in respect of a serious personal injury after a time returned to his work. Nothing was said as to a continuance of the compensation, & for a time the workman earned rather more than he had done before his accident, though at a different class of work. The workman subsequently died from the effects of the injury. The widow claimed compensation in respect of the death:—Held: (1) the return of the injured workman to his work did not, under the circumstances, warrant the inference of an implied agreement between him & his employers that the compensation should finally cease; (2) the right of the dependants is a separate & independent right given by the statute itself, & which would not be lost by any such arrangement as suggested in the case between the injured workman & the employers, though the compensation received by the workman, either as weekly payments, or as redemption of weekly payments, would have to be deducted.—WILLIAMS v. VAUXHALL COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1907] 2 K. B. 433; 76 L. J. K. B. 854; 97 L. T. 559; 23 T. L. R. 591; 51 Sol. Jo. 552; 9 W. C. C. 120, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (2) Consd. Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433; Robinson v. Consett Iron Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 856. Folld. Manton v. Cantwell (1918), 12 B. W. C. C. 484.

3336. —— Sum paid in redemption.]—WILLIAMS v. VAUXHALL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3335, ante.

3337. —— ——.]—HOWELL v. BRADFORD & CO., No. 2088, ante.

3338. —— Not war additions.]—A miner sustained injuries during his employment which subsequently resulted in his death. At the time of his death he was receiving compensation for his injuries in the form of weekly payments which included the statutory war additions:—Held: these weekly war additions did not fall to be deducted from the sum payable to the miner's dependants on his death.—HUTTON v. COLTNESS IRON CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 349.

3339. From what sum deducted—Maximum compensation payable—Not total amount of wages.]—A workman met with an accident, as a result of which he died, & his widow applied for compensation. His earnings for the three years next preceding the accident amounted to £365 6*s.*, & before his death he had received weekly payments of compensation amounting to £63 13*s.* 8*d.* Appct. was wholly dependent on his earnings. She claimed to be entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 1 (a) (i), to £300 on the ground that the £63 13*s.* 8*d.* compensation ought to be deducted from the total amount of his wages £365 6*s.* received during the last preceding three years, & not from £300 the maximum allowed, the result being that she would receive £300 instead of £236 6*s.* 4*d.* as claimed by the employers:—Held: the words "such sum" from which the compensation already received was to be deducted meant the maximum sum which was payable by the employers, namely the £300, & the widow was entitled to recover £236 6*s.* 4*d.*—ROBINSON v. CONSETT IRON CO., LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 856; 85 L. J. K. B. 1272; 114 L. T. 814; 9 B. W. C. C. 266, C. A.

3340. Application of statutory minimum—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 24 (2)—Not retrospective.]—In Oct. 1920, the workman met with an accident, the injuries received from which caused his death on Apr. 12, 1924. The employers paid him compensation at the full rate from the date of the accident to the date of death, a total sum of £204 5*s.* The employers claimed to be entitled to deduct that sum from the sum of £300 payable at death, but the dependants claimed to be entitled, under above sect. to the minimum sum of £200, & the county ct. judge made an award for that amount:—Held: above sect. did not apply to accidents happening before that Act came into force, & the employers were entitled to deduct the full amount of the weekly payments made.—MOAKES v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1925] 2 K. B. 64; 94 L. J. K. B. 723; 132 L. T. 819; 41 T. L. R. 296; 69 Sol. Jo. 396; 18 B. W. C. C. 100, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Briggs v. Drydon, Talbot v. Vickers, [1925] 2 K. B. 667. Apld. Wood v. Wentworth Silkstone Colliery Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 656. Apprvd. Clement v. Davis (1926), 43 T. L. R. 10.

3341. —— —— ——.] —Above sub-sect., which abolishes the right of the employer to deduct weekly payments made to an injured workman during his lifetime from compensation payable to his dependants upon his death so as to reduce the sum payable to the children of the workman under above Act, sect. 2, or to reduce the amount payable under the principal Act below £200 does not apply to a case where the accident happened before Jan. 1, 1924, when above Act came into force.—CLEMENT v. DAVIS (D.) & SONS, LTD. (1926), 43 T. L. R. 10; 70 Sol. Jo. 1240, H. L.

C. Partial Dependency.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 8 (2) (iv).

3342. Question for county court judge—Quantum of compensation.]—A workman earned 29*s.* a week & paid 20*s.* a week to his mother. The benefit to the mother from other sources of income, viz. from her other sons, was 6*s.* per week, net. The judge, in arriving at what sum was reasonable & proportionate to the injury to the mother by the death of her son, calculated the son's earnings upon a three years' basis at 29*s.* a week & deducted the 6*s.* a week on a like basis:—Held: the amount due to partial dependants is a question of fact in each case.—LITTLEFORD v. CONNELL (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

3343. — — ——.]—In claims for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it is for the county ct. judge to find the quantum of compensation to be awarded, & the Ct. of Appeal will not interfere with his award unless there has been misdirection or no proper exercise of his judicial discretion.—CHEVERTON v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1913), 29 T. L. R. 658; 6 B. W. C. C. 574, C. A.

Annotation: —Apld. Healy v. Reilly (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744.

3344. ——.]—RENNOLDSON v. ELLERMAN WILSON LINE, No. 3353, post.

3345. Power to award maximum.]—HODGSON v. WEST STANLEY COLLIERY, No. 2161, ante.

3346. ——.]—CHEVERTON v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 3343, ante.

3347. —— Not more than amount claimed—On basis of total dependency.]—LLOYD v. POWELL DUFFRYN STEAM COAL CO., LTD., No. 2083, ante.

(b) How Calculated.

3348. What may be taken into account—Funeral expenses.]—The arbitrator, in assessing the amount payable as compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., s. 1 (a) (ii), to a person in part dependent upon the earnings of a deceased workman, is entitled to take into consideration expenses in respect of the workman's funeral.—BEVAN v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS (CYFARTHA), LTD., [1902] 1 K. B. 25; 71 L. J. K. B. 49; 85 L. T. 496; 50 W. R. 98; 4 W. C. C. 110; sub nom. BEAVAN v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS (CYFARTHFA), LTD., 18 T. L. R. 17; 46 Sol. Jo. 29, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. McLean v. Moss Bay Iron & Steel Co., [1909] 2 K. B. 521; Hodgson v. West Stanley Colliery, [1910] A. C. 229; Healy v. Reilly (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744.

3349. —— Cost of maintenance of workman if alive.]—The widow of deceased workman, who met his death through an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, was mainly dependent upon her husband's earnings at the time of his death, but was earning about 2*s.* a week herself. Deceased workman did not appear to have had any source of income other than his wages. The widow claiming compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), against the employers of deceased, a county ct. judge awarded her the sum of £150, being £5 less than the amount of deceased workman's earnings in the same employment during the three years prior to the accident. The employers appealed against the award, on the ground that, in assessing the compensation, the county ct. judge had not complied with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I., s. 1 (a) (ii), which provides that, in cases of partial dependency, the compensation shall be such a sum as may be determined to be reasonable & proportionate to the injury to the dependants, because he had not taken into account the amount which the maintenance of the workman, if alive, would have cost, by way of reduction of the compensation, & that he had therefore misdirected himself:—Held: it was not shown that the county ct. judge had proceeded otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I., s. 1 (a) (ii), & therefore his award was good.—OSMOND v. CAMPBELL & HARRISON, LTD., [1905] 2 K. B. 852; 75 L. J. K. B. 1; 93 L. T. 724; 54 W. R. 117; 22 T. L. R. 4; 50 Sol. Jo. 12; 8 W. C. C. 95, C. A.

Annotations:—Overd. Tamworth Colliery Co. v. Hall, [1911] A. C. 665. Refd. Littleford v. Connell (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 1; Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399.

3350. — — — —.]—The question how far a member of the family of deceased workman was dependent on his earnings within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is a question of fact to be determined by the county ct. judge upon a consideration of all the circumstances of the case.

Upon an application by a father, who claimed compensation under the Act on a footing of partial dependency in respect of the death of a son from an accident at resps.' colliery, it appeared that the son, who lived at his father's house, assisted the father in his trade as a barber. The

---

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (a).

3344 i. Question for county court judge.]—The Ct. of Appeal cannot inquire into the amount of the award when the county ct. judge has awarded a sum within the maximum provided by the statute.—HEALY v. REILLY (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744.—IR.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (b).

3348 i. What may be taken into account—Funeral expenses.]—An arbitrator in fixing compensation for the death of a workman in a claim by partial dependants may competently take into account the outlays which claimants have incurred in medical & funeral expenses.—HUGHES v. SUMMERLEE & MOSSEND IRON & STEEL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 784; 40 Sc. L. R. 602; 11 S. L. T. 61.—SCOT.

3348 ii. —— ——.]—GOURLAY v. MURRAY, [1908] S. C. 769; 15 S. L. T. 1029.—SCOT.

3348 iii. — — ——.]—SMITH v. S. A. SCALE CO., LTD., [1923] C. P. D. 394.—S. AF.

3349 i. —— Cost of maintenance of workman if alive.]—The county ct. judge, in estimating compensation to the dependant, is entitled to take into consideration the amount of the workman's former earnings, & the proportion thereof expended on his maintenance.—O'NEILL v. BANSHA CO-OPERATIVE AGRICULTURAL & DAIRY SOCIETY, [1910] 2 I. R. 324.—IR.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 1, C. (b), & D.; sub-sect. 2, A.] county ct. judge having found that the son's earnings at the colliery were not more than sufficient for the cost of his maintenance, & that consequently the father was not a dependant, the Ct. of Appeal set aside the award & remitted the matter to the county ct. judge to award compensation on the basis that he was not entitled to deduct from the son's earnings the cost of his maintenance:—Held: the county ct. judge was not precluded by law from deducting from the son's earnings the cost of his maintenance; or from taking into account as against the cost of maintenance the pecuniary value of the services rendered by the son to the father in the latter's trade as a barber; & the cause was remitted to the county ct. judge with these instructions.

Osmond v. Campbell & Harrison, Ltd., No. 3349, ante, if & so far as it holds that upon a question of partial dependency the county ct. judge is not entitled to deduct from the earnings of deceased the cost of his maintenance, overd.—TAMWORTH COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. HALL, [1911] A. C. 665; 81 L. J. K. B. 159; 105 L. T. 449; 55 Sol. Jo. 615; 4 B. W. C. C. 313, H. L.; varying S. C. sub nom. HALL v. TAMWORTH COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 341, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Young v. Londonderry Collieries (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 215; Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399. Refd. Ford v. Oakdale Colliery Co. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 127; Healy v. Reilly (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744; Sheldon v. Butterley Co., [1919] 2 K. B. 600; Nash v. McAlpine (1925), 133 L. T. 647.

3351. —— Value of workman's service in father's business.]—TAMWORTH COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. HALL, No. 3350, ante.

3352. —— Compensation paid between accident & death.]—A workman lived for two years after an injury, though totally incapacitated. He then died as the result of the injury. During the period of incapacity he was paid by the employers compensation amounting to £74. He left his father partially dependent. On an assessment of the compensation due to the father, the county ct. judge, in dealing with the amount already paid by the employers, held that he must deduct this amount from the sum of the three years' earnings before the accident in order to arrive at a maximum, & then award such sum as he considered reasonable & proportionate. The three years' earnings less the sum paid amounted to £153, & the judge awarded £75. The employers contended that the £74 paid should be deducted from the £75 awarded:—Held: the method of assessment adopted by the county ct. judge was correct & there was no misdirection.—WHITTAKER v. JOICEY (JAMES) & CO., LTD. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 21, C. A.

3353. —— Probable increase of earnings.]—A youth of eighteen years of age shipped on a steamer as assistant cook at £6 a month, & was drowned owing to the vessel being torpedoed. He had previously earned as much as £2 a week at home, & had handed over the bulk of his earnings to his mother for the support of the family, including himself, the others being partly dependent thereon. In assessing a claim on the ground of partial dependency, the county ct. judge took into consideration the probability of a prospective increase of earnings, if the workman had lived, & awarded £115:—Held: this was a reasonable sum, & the award could not be disturbed. No hard & fast line could be drawn in such a case, & the judge was entitled to take into consideration a probable increase of earnings.—RENNOLDSON v. ELLERMAN WILSON LINE (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 70, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Sheldon v. Butterley Co., [1919] 2 K. B. 600. Consd. Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399.

3354. —— ——.]—A pit boy of fifteen years of age, while working at a colliery, met with a fatal accident. His mother, who had been a widow for eleven years, claimed compensation as being partly dependent on the boy's earnings.

For the twelve months previous to his death he had earned £49 7*s.* 2*d.* Latterly he had been earning 26*s.* a week, which he gave to her, & she herself earned about 17*s.* 6*d.* a week. She paid no rent for the cottage in which they lived alone. The widow was being cross-examined with a view of ascertaining the cost of maintaining the boy, when the county ct. judge stated that he was not being helped much by the cross-examination on that point. An admission was made that the probable earnings of deceased boy, if he had then been alive, would have been about 56*s.* The county ct. judge, in making his award, said that the best he could do in order to arrive at what sum was in the circumstances reasonable & proportionate to the injury was to consider what would have happened in the next few years, & having regard to the admission, & looking to the future, he came to the conclusion that appet. was entitled to £150:—Held: (1) the question was one of fact. There was evidence to support the award & no misdirection.

(2) The county ct. judge's intimation during cross-examination did not amount to exclusion of evidence. The point was not so taken at the hearing, & therefore could not be raised on appeal.—SHELDON v. BUTTERLEY CO., LTD., [1919] 2 K. B. 600; 88 L. J. K. B. 1305; 121 L. T. 351; 12 B. W. C. C. 248, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399.

3355. —— ——.]—A boy, aged fourteen, was killed while working at a colliery. His father claimed compensation as a partial dependant. The father was earning £1 a week; there was a son aged seventeen, who was earning £1 7*s.* 5*d.* a week; & deceased was earning 11*s.* 10*d.* per week, making a total of £2 19*s.* 3*d.* as the total wages of the family. There were also in the family a mother & sister who did not make any contributions. The county ct. judge came to the conclusion that having regard to all the circumstances dependency had not been established, & made an award in favour of resps.:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.

I am not sure that the county ct. judge is entitled 3353 i. —— Probable increase of earnings.]—In a claim by the parents of a deceased boy for compensation as partial dependants, the sheriff-substitute excluded evidence tendered by appets. as to the possible earnings of the deceased subsequent to the accident:—Held: such evidence was admissible & should be considered in assessing compensation.—FRASER v. FAIRFIELD SHIPBUILDING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD., [1919] S. C. 279; 56 Sc. L. R. 138; [1919] 1 S. L. T. 63; 12 B. W. C. C. 447.—SCOT.

3353 ii. —— ——.]—GRIESSEL v. EAST RAND PROPRIETARY MINES, [1910] T. P. D. 1054.—S. AF.

k. —— Loss of old age pension—Occasioned by award.]—NORTH CORINTHIAN GOLD MINES, LTD. v. EGAN (1915), 17 W. A. L. R. 122.—AUS.

l. —— Property left by deceased to dependant.]—The fact that deceased left property devolving upon his widow & son should not be taken into account.—ZURAVINSKY v. CANADIAN NATIONAL RYS. (Alta.), [1924] 2 W. W. R. 203.—CAN.

m. Right of child to nominal damages—Where cared for by relatives.]—A child of a workman, killed in an accident, is entitled only to nominal damages, when it is shown that the child has been cared for by relatives to consider the probable increase in the amount of deceased's contribution when at the time of the death there is no net balance in favour of dependant. . . . My present view is that it is not admissible (SCRUTTON, L.J.).—YOUNG v. LONDONDERRY COLLIERIES (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 215, C. A.; sub nom. PEART v. BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & Co., YOUNG v. LONDONDERRY COLLIERIES, 94 L. J. K. B. 497; 69 Sol. Jo. 123, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Kennedy v. Horden Collieries, Bamford v. Charlaw & Sacristan Collieries, Bevan v. Joicey, [1925] 2 K. B. 438.

3356. Death of dependant before compensation assessed—Amount payable to personal representative—Limited to loss of dependant during life.]—A workman died from injuries received in the course of his employment, in circumstances which gave rise to a liability to make compensation to his dependants. He had two dependants, his widow & a daughter, Lily, aged thirteen. At the time of his death, the widow was seriously ill, & died within four weeks after the death of her husband. A claim was put forward on the basis of partial dependency, by deceased widow's step-daughter, Agnes, as personal representative, for £250 in respect of the dependency of the widow, one moiety of this, i.e. £125, to go to Agnes, & one moiety, £125, to Lily, & a further £50 to Lily as dependant. The judge awarded £250 as compensation, but did not state what sum was to go to Lily. The two sisters agreed that £230 of this sum should be treated as being due to Agnes as personal representative, & should be divided equally between Agnes & Lily, & that Lily should also have £20 as a dependant. An award was then drawn up purporting to give effect to this arrangement by giving Agnes £230 & Lily £20 :—Held : (1) as the widow, being only partially dependant, had died four weeks after the death of her husband & before compensation was assessed, all that the judge could award to her personal representatives was a sum equal to her loss during the four weeks she was live; (2) in awarding so small a sum as £20 to Lily, the judge had obviously had regard to the fact that she was to share in the award of £230 to Agnes. The case was therefore remitted for reassessment of compensation on the basis of the actual loss to the widow during her life, & the true estimated loss to the daughter, Lily.—PHILLIPS v. KERSHAW, LEESE & Co., [1920] 3 K. B. 297; 89 L. J. K. B. 1016; 124 L. T. 11; 36 T. L. R. 710; 64 Sol. Jo. 584; 13 B. W. C. C. 211, C. A.

D. Children's Allowance.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 8 (1) (3).

3357. Who is a "child" for purpose of increased compensation — Illegitimate grandchild.] — An illegitimate grandchild, under the age of fifteen, of a workman who meets with a fatal accident in the course of or arising out of his employment is a "child" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 2, so as to make increased compensation under the sect. payable when such illegitimate grandchild is left wholly or partially dependent upon the workman's earnings.—PRITCHARD v. BETTISFIELD COLLIERY, LTD., [1925] 2 K. B. 284; 95 L. J. K. B. 49; 133 L. T. 448; 41 T. L. R. 551; 69 Sol. Jo. 640; 18 B. W. C. C. 204, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Scott v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1926] 2 K. B. 204. Apld. Faulkner v. Sutton (Owners), [1927] 1 K. B. 207.

3358. —— Illegitimate children of widow—Of whom deceased not father.]—SCOTT v. LONDON & NORTH EASTERN RY. CO., No. 2086, ante.

3359. —— Sister under fifteen.]—FAULKNER v. SUTTON (OWNERS), No. 2167, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—IN CASE OF DISABLEMENT.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9.

3360. General object of Act—Compensation for loss of earnings.]—For several years a workman had been employed during the malting season, usually from Oct. to Mar., by resps. at a wage of £2 a week. For the rest of the year he was employed elsewhere as a farm labourer at 25*s.* a week, with harvest money, about £10. During the malting season of 1917–1918 he was employed by resps., but had only been working for about three weeks when he met with an accident which caused total incapacity.

The county ct. judge decided that the best way of estimating the compensation payable to applt. was to ascertain his total earnings for the year, which he found to be £78, & he awarded him 15*s* a week, plus 25 per cent. war bonus, making a total of 18*s.* 9*d.* a week. Applt. appealed & asked that the compensation should be on the basis of £2 a week & contended that there was nothing to justify the judge taking into account what he received as a farm labourer, because he was not under any concurrent contract of service with another employer :—Held : the dominant object of the Act was to compensate an injured workman for the loss of what he would otherwise have earned but for the accident. Where the terms of the employment made it impracticable to compute the rate of remuneration, an estimate could be made of what he would have received. The award being made on that basis the ct. would not interfere with it.—CALVER v. GROOM & SYMONDS (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 129; 120 L. T. 151; 63 Sol. Jo. 68; 11 B. W. C. C. 228, C. A.

3361. —— Not compensation for pain & suffering.]—IRONS v. DAVIS & TIMMINS, LTD., No. 3314, ante.

3362. Amount in discretion of arbitrator.]—The amount of compensation is in the discretion of the arbitrator subject to the express limitations in sched. I. (1) to the provisions of sched. I. (2).

---

for some time & the indications are of the probable continuance of that situation.—WESTERN TRUST CO. v. WILLOUGHBY & DUNCAN (1914), 29 W. L. R. 818; 7 W. W. R. 569.—CAN.

n. Right of dependant to minimum damages—Though in excess of loss sustained.]—A dependant is entitled to the minimum damages even though such amount is in excess of the loss sustained by the dependant.—ADAIR v. CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES, LTD. (1920), 47 N. B. R. 213; 52 D. L. R. 589.—CAN.

o. Basis of calculation.]—M'ARTHUR v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 727.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2. —A.

3362 l. Amount in discretion of arbitrator.]—SUTTON v. SUTTON (1924), 25 S. R. N. S. W. 35; 42 N. S. W. W. N. 5.—AUS.

p. Basis of assessment.] — SIMMONS v. BRITISH BROKEN HILL PROPRIETARY (1922), 22 S. R. N. S. W. 477; 38 N. S. W. W. N. 228.—AUS.

q. ——.] — HENRY v. MALCOLM (1908), 39 N. B. R. 74.—CAN.

r. ——.]—UHLENBURGH v. PRINCE ALBERT LUMBER CO. (1913), 23 W. L. R. 539; 3 W. W. R. 1146; 9 D. L. R. 639; 6 Sask. L. R. 270.—CAN.

t. ——.] — MARSHALL v. NEW ZEALAND COAL & OIL CO., LTD. (No. 2), [1920] N. Z. L. R. 644.—N.Z.

a. ——.]—TOMPKINS v. NORTHERN S.S. CO., [1925] N. Z. L. R. 465.—N.Z.

b. ——.] — A workman was engaged for a fixed weekly wage. He entered upon his work on a Saturday, & worked for the whole of the following calendar week, at the end of which

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C. (a).]

Where a man earns something but not enough when added to the compensation payable to equal what he was earning before the injury, an arbitrator is not bound to reduce the payments so that the actual loss to the workman shall be borne equally by him & his employer.—ELLIS v. KNOTT (1900), 2 W. C. C. 116, C. A.

B. Total Incapacity.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (2).

3363. Arbitrator not bound to award maximum.]—(1) A man engaged as a casual grain porter met with an accident while employed by a corpn. He was preferentially employed as an able & reliable man by some firms, but not by the corpn. He obtained an average weekly wage of £2 whereas the average weekly wage of casual grain porters was £1 5*s.* The county ct. judge found that there was no grade of preferred casual grain porters & that the man was only entitled to 12*s.* 6*d.* a week compensation, half the average earnings of his grade of casual grain porters:—Held: the county ct. judge ought to have had regard to the personal qualifications & actual earnings of the man as well as the average earnings of his grade, & he was entitled to compensation at £1 a week.

(2) An arbitrator is not bound to award the full half of his average weekly earnings to a workman as compensation for total incapacity, although he cannot give more.—SNELL v. BRISTOL CORPN., [1914] 2 K. B. 291; 83 L. J. K. B. 353; 110 L. T. 563; 7 B. W. C. C. 236, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Cue v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 3 K. B. 892. Reld. Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455.

C. Partial Incapacity.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (3).

3364. Discretion of county court judge.]—A workman employed as a haulier at a colliery was, by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, totally incapacitated for work. Compensation was, by arrangement, paid him by his employers at the maximum rate under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), namely 17*s.* per week, that being 50 per cent. of £1 14*s.*, the amount of his average weekly earnings before the accident. He subsequently so far recovered from the effects of the accident as to be capable of light work, & his employers took him back into their service as a lampman at wages of £1 9*s.* 5*d.* per week, & ceased to pay him compensation. At that time the rate of wages paid to hauliers in the colliery had fallen to £1 9*s.* 5*d.* per week. The workman having filed a request for arbn. in the county ct. to assess compensation under the Act, the county ct. judge refused to award him compensation, giving reasons for so doing which indicated that he might have acted on the view that the amount of the average weekly earnings to be taken as the basis for determining the amount of compensation was subject to variation in accordance with the fluctuations in the rate of wages in the employment subsequent to the accident:—Held: the amount of the workman's average weekly earnings as originally ascertained for the purpose of fixing the maximum compensation was not subject to variation by reason of the fall in the rate of wages paid to hauliers since the accident; & it was a matter for the discretion of the county ct. judge whether he would award to the workman any substantial amount, &, if so, what proportion of the difference between the amount of his average weekly earnings before, & the average amount which he was able to earn after the accident; & the case must therefore be remitted to the county ct. judge for reconsideration.—JAMES v. OCEAN COAL CO., [1904] 2 K. B. 213; 73 L. J. K. B. 915; 90 L. T. 834; 68 J. P. 431; 52 W. R. 497; 20 T. L. R. 483; 6 W. C. C. 128, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Bevan v. Energlyn Colliery Co., [1912] 1 K. B. 63; Woodilee Coal & Coke Co. v. M'Neill, [1918] A. C. 43.

3365. —— Must be exercised with regard to particular circumstances.]—In awarding compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., clauses 1 (b), 2, to workmen partially incapacitated for work, a county ct. judge cannot lay down any general rule as to the amount of compensation which he will award. The judge must exercise his discretion with regard to the circumstances of the particular case.—WEBSTER v. SHARP & CO., LTD., [1905] A. C. 284; 74 L. J. K. B. 776; 92 L. T. 373; 7 W. C. C. 118, H. L.

3366. —— Regard must be had to extraneous circumstances.]—In awarding compensation to a workman for partial incapacity under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 3, the ct. will have regard to extraneous circumstances not personal to the workman.

In 1907 a collier sustained injuries through an accident, & was paid compensation by his employers until Feb. 1911. In Aug. 1911, he commenced proceedings to recover compensation for partial incapacity. Before the accident his average weekly earnings were £2 19*s.* 1*d.*, but now he was only earning £1 12*s.* 7*d.* a week. There was evidence, however, that apart from any accident he would not have been able to earn as much as he was doing in 1907, because colliers' earnings had fallen universally owing to the passing of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1908 (c. 57), which reduced the working hours of miners to eight hours a day:—Held: the fall in wages was a circumstance to which the ct. must have regard in awarding compensation for partial incapacity under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 3.—BEVAN v. ENERGLYN COLLIERY CO., [1912] 1 K. B. 63; 81 L. J. K. B. 172; 105 L. T. 654; 28 T. L. R. 27; 5 B. W. C. C. 169, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Heathcote v. Haunchwood Collieries, [1917] 1 K. B. 450. Apld. Tarr v. Cory, [1917] 2 K. B. 774. Apprvd. Woodilee Coal & Coke Co. v. M'Neill, [1918] A. C. 43. Consd. Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65; Wood v. Wentworth Silkstone Colliery Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 656. Reld. M'Dowell v. M'Gladdery (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 638; Ling v. De Dion Bouton, [1920] 1 K. B. 88.

---

his employment was terminated by his employers in consequence of an injury resulting in total incapacity, & entitling him to compensation:—Held: the fixed weekly wage was the basis for determining the amount of the weekly payment due to the workman as compensation.—BROWN v. CUNNINGHAM, LTD. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 997.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2. —B.

c. What should be considered — Prospective right to pension.]—The compensation payable should be determined without regard to the prospective right of appet. to a pension.—BARRY v. VICTORIAN RAILWAY COMRS., [1916] V. L. R. 686.—AUS.

d. —— General fall of wages since accident.]—JAMIESON v. FIFE COAL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 958.—SCOT.

e. Total incapacity by second accident—Suspension of compensation in respect of first accident.]—M'KINSTREY v. AUCHINLEA COAL CO., LTD. (1919), 57 Sc. L. R. 80.—SCOT.

3367. —— Not bound to reduce payments—Where loss of workman not shared equally by employer.]—ELLIS v. KNOTT, No. 3362, ante.

3368. —— Not bound to award maximum.]—An injured workman who had previously earned 32*s.* 6*d.* per week, earned 25*s.* per week after the accident. He claimed 7*s.* 6*d.* per week, & the judge awarded him 3*s.* 9*d.* :—Held : there was no misdirection, & the judge not being compelled to give the full difference between the earnings before & after the accident, his discretion could not be interfered with.—HUMPHREYS v. CITY OF LONDON ELECTRIC LIGHTING CO. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 275, C. A.

3369. —— —— Where proof of ability of workman to earn more.]—PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY v. GRAY, No. 3384, post.

3370. —— To disregard trivial amounts.]—A railway goods porter, employed at a harbour, was injured by accident, &, after some months' total incapacity, was employed by the day by the same employers at light work as a porters' mess room attendant. He was paid the same wages as previously. Owing to a strike in Dublin causing diminution of traffic, he was out of work on four days, but not consecutively. He made no attempt to obtain work elsewhere on those days & applied for 7*s.* 10*d.* compensation in respect of them, saying that his injury prevented him earning wages elsewhere during this period. The county ct. judge refused to award any compensation & merely granted a declaration of liability :—Held : without deciding whether or not the man was entitled to compensation during this period, & assuming everything in his favour, he would only be entitled to the difference between his average weekly earnings before & after the accident, & the effect of so short a time upon the calculation of his average weekly earnings after the accident was so trivial that the award of the county ct. judge was justified. His non-employment did not arise from incapacity to work owing to his injuries from the accident & he was consequently not entitled to compensation.

Average weekly earnings do not mean a full week of six days as compared with a week of five days. You must take an average of twelve months, if you can (LORD COZENS-HARDY, M.R.). —WOODHOUSE v. MIDLAND RY. CO., [1914] 3 K. B. 1034 ; 83 L. J. K. B. 1810 ; 111 L. T. 1084 ; 30 T. L. R. 653 ; 7 B. W. C. C. 690, C. A.

Annotation :—Apld. Webster v. Harrison, Townsend (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1077.

3371. What should be considered—General fall of wages.]—BEVAN v. ENERGLYN COLLIERY CO., No. 3366, ante.

3372. —— General rise of wages.]—HEATHCOTE v. HAUNCHWOOD COLLIERIES, No. 3230, ante.

3373. —— ——.]—In reviewing the amount of compensation payable under para. 3 of Schedule I. to the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), in the case of partial incapacity, the arbitrator is entitled to take into consideration a general rise of wages, provided that he keeps within the limits fixed by that para. as those within which compensation may be given.—WOODILEE COAL & COKE CO. v. M'NEILL, [1918] A. C. 43 ; 87 L. J. P. C. 17 ; 117 L. T. 674 ; 34 T. L. R. 10 ; 62 Sol. Jo. 7 ; 10 B. W. C. C. 637, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. Ling v. De Dion Bouton, [1920] 1 K. B. 88. Refd. G. W. Ry. v. Helps, [1918] A. C. 141 ; Heathcote v. Haunchwood Collieries, [1918] A. C. 52 ; Port of London Authority v. Gray (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 107 ; Fallens v. Dixon (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 314.

3374. —— Offer of suitable work.]—Where an offer is made by an employer, during the course of arbn. proceedings by an injured workman for the purposes of obtaining compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to take the workman back & find him suitable work, the nature of which should be specified, at his old rate of wages, it is a matter that, notwithstanding that it is declined, ought to be considered & taken into account by the county ct. judge when fixing the weekly payment payable to the workman, it being a saving of expense that it should be so considered inasmuch as, although it may entail an adjournment of the case, the judge has power over the costs & can order the party to pay the costs which were occasioned or necessitated by the adjournment.

In Apr. 1917, appct. met with an accident that seriously affected the sight of his left eye. After he had substantially recovered resps., his employers, in Aug. 1917, took him back to work. The work that he was given to do was that of mixing lime, & making mortar with lime. The effect of the work was that after four or five days appct. found that it began seriously to affect his sound right eye, & he discontinued the work. Thereupon appct. claimed compensation against resps. that was followed in due course by a request for arbn. under Workman's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).

At the hearing before the county ct. judge in Oct. 1916, after the evidence was completed but before the judge delivered his judgment, resps. offered to take appct. back at his old rate of wages & to find him suitable occupation. That offer was not however taken into account by the judge when he made an award in favour of appct. :—Held : in these circumstances the case must go back to be reconsidered.—CROSS v. WHITEHEAD AIRCRAFT CO., LTD. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 702 ; 118 L. T. 790 ; 11 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

3375. —— ——.]—A workman met with an accident to the fingers of his left hand. He was paid compensation, & when he recovered was given work as a lavatory attendant. He worked as an attendant for a year, & then it became necessary for him to work overtime. He drew overtime pay for a short while & then asked that his overtime should be paid at the rate of time & a half, the union rate of pay. This was refused. He then declined to work overtime at all & was discharged. The county ct. judge held that in the open market his earning capacity was only 10*s.* a week, & he awarded him compensation on the basis of partial incapacity :—Held : the material questions whether the work at which he had been employed since the accident was suitable employment, whether the work was still open for him, & whether there was ever an agreement by the employers to pay for overtime had not been considered, & there must be a new trial in order to have those questions decided.—LEACH v. DICK, KERR & CO., LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 135, C. A.

—— —— On review of weekly payments—Offer made in court.]—See No. 3768, post.

3376. Maximum amount—Application of maximum for total incapacity.]—Sched. I., clause 2, of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37),

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2.—C. (a).

3371 i. What should be considered—General fall of wages.]—PERRY & CUNINGHAME, LTD. v. BLACK, [1909] S. C. 1150.—SCOT.

3372 i. —— General rise of wages.]—Held : the fact that there had been a general rise in wages between the date of the agreement & the date of the application did not per se entitle the workman to an increase.—MALCOLM v. SPOWART (THOMAS) & CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 1024 ; 50 Sc. L. R. 823 ; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 141.—SCOT.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 2, C. (a), (b) & (c).]

which provides that in fixing the amount of a weekly payment regard is to be had to the difference between the average weekly earnings of the workman before the accident & the average amount which he is able to earn after the accident, does not operate so as necessarily to cut down the maximum rate of compensation allowed by clause 1 (b) of the Sched.—ILLINGWORTH v. WALMSLEY, [1900] 2 Q. B. 142; 69 L. J. Q. B. 519; 82 L. T. 647; 16 T. L. R. 281; 2 W. C. C. 118, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Webster v. Sharp, [1904] 1 K. B. 218.

3377. —— Whether limited to difference between earnings before & after accident.]—The amount of compensation recoverable is not limited to half the difference between the earnings before & after the accident.—JONES v. LONDON & NORTH-WESTERN RY. CO. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 140, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Edwards v. Alyn Steel Tinplate Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 141.

(b) Average Amount of Earnings after Accident.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (3).

3378. How calculated—Average over twelve months.]—WOODHOUSE v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 3370, ante.

3379. —— Average over whole period.]—A workman commenced work, dealing with acids in the lithographic trade, in Mar. 1918. He became incapacitated from excemetous ulceration & the date when disability commenced was certified as Dec. 6, 1918. He was totally incapacitated from that date until Apr. 1919, when he restarted lighter work & continued until Aug. 1919, when he was again away for a month totally incapacitated. He started work again in Sept. 1919, & continued working. He received full compensation during the periods of total incapacity & claimed compensation during partial incapacity. When he started work in Mar. 1918, the minimum wage was £3 4*s.* 0*d.*; in Apr. it was raised to £3 11*s.* 6*d.*, & in Oct. to £3 19*s.* 0*d.* The workman contended that at the time of disablement his average weekly earnings were therefore £3 19*s.* 0*d.*, but the county ct. judge took the average over the whole period & assessed it at £3 8*s.* 7*d.* When the man restarted work he earned from Apr. 1919, to Aug. about £3 a week; from Aug. to Sept. nothing; from Sept. to Jan. 1920, £3 15*s.* 0*d.*, & from Jan. £1 2*s.* 6*d.* The workman contended that from Apr. 1919, to Aug. he should be compensated on the basis of the difference between £3 & his pre-accident earnings; but the county ct. judge again took the average over the whole period Apr. 1919, to the time proceedings were commenced in Feb. 1920, excluding the month of total incapacity, & found the average to be £3 9*s.* 6*d.* Upon this he held that no compensation was due, & dismissed the application with costs. The employers had submitted to a declaration of liability at the opening of the hearing when it had first been asked for by appct.:—Held: there was no misdirection in the method adopted by the learned county ct. judge in assessing the average weekly earnings either before or after the accident, & the order as to costs was within his judicial discretion.—WEBSTER v. HARRISON, TOWNSEND & CO., LTD. (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1077; 124 L. T. 4; 13 B. W. C. C. 195.

3380. Earnings in independent business included.]—Resp., a workman, met with an accident, & was awarded a weekly payment as compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37). Upon an application by his former employers to review the weekly payment, the county ct. judge refused to take into consideration the earnings of resp. in a business that he had started after the accident. On appeal:—Held: the expression "the average amount which he is able to earn after the accident," in para. 2 of Sched. I. to the Act, is not restricted to earnings in the service of an employer, but includes earnings in an independent business.—NORMAN & BURT v. WALDER, [1904] 2 K. B. 27; 73 L. J. K. B. 461; 90 L. T. 531; 68 J. P. 401; 52 W. R. 402; 20 T. L. R. 427; 48 Sol. Jo. 395; 6 W. C. C. 124, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Calico Printers' Assocn. v. Higham, [1912] 1 K. B. 93. Consd. Duberley v. Mace (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 82; Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65.

3381. —— How value computed.]—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, post.

3382. —— ——.]—A farm teamster was receiving 5*s.* a week compensation for the loss of his left thumb under a recorded memorandum of an agreement to pay the 5*s.* so long as he was not earning more than 10*s.* a week, in which event the amount was to be settled by arbitration. He subsequently left his employment & took a farm of his own of 54 acres, at a rent of £95 per annum, he had (inter alia) eight bullocks & two horses, & employed his father at 13*s.* a week & board & lodging & also a lad. He himself, with his wife as housekeeper to another employer, received free board & lodging at a clergyman's house. On an application by his old employers to diminish the payments, the county ct. judge found he was earning more than 10*s.* a week, & reduced the compensation to 1*d.* a week:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.

When a man is a master, it is very difficult to say what he is capable of earning. All one can say is that, considering the man as doing what he did, what would he have had to pay somebody else for doing that.

The judge must bring with him into court some knowledge of the general course of business dealing with farms large & small (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—DUBERLEY v. MACE (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 82, C.A.

3383. What is amount workman able to earn—Primâ facie actual earnings.]—HEATHCOTE v. HAUNCHWOOD COLLIERIES, No. 3230, ante.

3377 i. Maximum amount—Whether limited to difference between earnings before & after accident.]—In estimating damages, the inability of the injured workman to earn an income equal to that which he has earned in the past must be taken into consideration, & the measure of such damages is the difference between what the workman might have earned if he had not been injured & what he might earn in his injured state.—KERR v. BENELL (1914), 29 W. L. R. 383; 7 W. W. R. 15; 7 Sask. L. R. 78.—CAN.

3377 ii. ——.]—GEARY v. DIXON (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1143.—SCOT.

3377 iii. —— ——.]—PARKER v. DIXON (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1147.—SCOT.

3377 iv. —— ——.]—CORBET v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO. (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 782.—SCOT.

3377 v. ——.]—BRYSON v. DUNN & STEPHEN, LTD. (1905), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 226; 43 Sc. L. R. 236; 13 S. L. T. 697.—SCOT.

3377 vi. —— ——.]—PEARSON v. RUSSELL (ARCHIBALD), LTD., [1916] S. C. 536; 53 Sc. L. R. 377.—SCOT.

i. —— Chances of employment lessened.]—In estimating compensation for the loss of a thumb, consideration must be given to the fact that while claimant is not thereby entirely prevented from carrying on his occupation, his chances of employment in competition with others are lessened, & his earning power consequently reduced.—ROYLANCE v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1908), 14 B. C. R. 20.—CAN.

(c) What is Suitable Employment.

3384. Only arises in estimating possible earnings.]—A workman who had met with an accident & received full compensation for four years, enlisted in the Army under the Derby Scheme, & in 1916 was called up for active service whilst still partially incapacitated. He remained over two years in the Army, from which he was ultimately discharged as medically unfit. Much of his time had been spent in hospital, & his original disability had in fact been aggravated :—Held : in assessing the compensation payable to him during the period he was in the Army, the pay received by him, the cash value of his ration allowance, & the separation allowance paid to his wife must all be treated as weekly earnings, & be deducted from his average weekly earnings before the accident.

The difference between the workman's average weekly earnings before the accident & the amount he is actually earning, in cases of partial incapacity, represents a maximum, which may be reduced if it is proved that he would be able in some suitable employment to earn more than he is in fact earning. The expression " suitable employment " is only used in reference to estimating possible earnings (SWINFEN EADY, M.R.).—PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY v. GRAY, [1919] 1 K. B. 65 ; 88 L. J. K. B. 107 ; 120 L. T. 11 ; 35 T. L. R. 49 ; 63 Sol. Jo. 54 ; 11 B. W. C. C. 206, C. A.

3385. Question of fact.]—A coal miner whilst employed getting coal at the coal face in a colliery met with an accident. A piece of coal flew into his left eye, which became permanently injured. The sight was not destroyed, but the miner was rendered less fitted for his particular work than a one-eyed man. The colliery co. after having paid him compensation for several months, offered him work at the coal face at his old wages. On his declining the offer they ceased their payments, & he thereupon filed a request for arbitration for the determination of the question whether the work offered to him was suitable employment within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 3. The county ct. judge on the medical evidence found that there was an appreciable increase of peril of injury to the remaining eye, & of injury generally, in working at the face with one only available eye. He was therefore of opinion that the work offered was not quite suitable employment, & awarded compensation :—Held : " suitable employment " was a question of fact ; the finding of the county ct. judge meant that the employment was not suitable, although nearly so, thus negativing suitability, & there was evidence to justify the finding, & therefore it could not be interfered with.—EYRE v. HOUGHTON MAIN COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1910] 1 K. B. 695 ; 79 L. J. K. B. 698 ; 102 L. T. 385 ; 26 T. L. R. 302 ; 54 Sol. Jo. 304 ; 3 B. W. C. C. 250, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8. Refd. Dinnington Main Coal Co. v. Bruins (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 367 ; Howards v. Wharton (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 614 ; Law v. Baird (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 846. Mentd. Elliott v. Curry & Dodd (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 584.

3386. ——.]—A lad injured his eye at work necessitating its immediate removal. After an interval he returned to his old employers & was given work, but he had again to go to an eye hospital by reason of the other eye becoming affected. He attributed this to the dusty nature of the work he was doing. He was treated at the hospital & given glasses. He was then offered work stoking a furnace, but this he refused as being unsuitable. The county ct. judge, on an application for compensation, supported this view, & awarded full compensation :—Held : there was evidence to support the finding.—THOMPSON v. NEWTON (JOHN) & CO. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 703, C. A.

3387. ——.]—A workman, who had lost one eye by accident at his employment, was offered his old work as a toolsmith by his employers. He tried to do this but gave it up on the ground that he could not stand the noise of the workshop & the work was not suitable for him. The employers applied to reduce the compensation being paid to the man. The county ct. judge accepted the man's evidence that he could not do the work & refused to reduce :—Held : there was no ground for altering the award.—PENMAN v. SMITH'S DRY DOCKS CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 487, C. A.

3388. ——.]—A steel fettler, twenty-three years of age, met with an accident resulting in the loss of sight to one eye. His employers admitted liability & paid him compensation for a certain period, after which they terminated payment on the ground that he was able to resume his former occupation. The man admitted that he could do his old work, but said that men engaged in this occupation were so liable to be hit in the eye by a piece of flying steel that, having lost one eye already, he ought not to run a risk of losing the sight of his remaining eye, which would render him totally blind. The county ct. judge found as a fact that the work of a steel fettler offered him was suitable work & dismissed the application :—Held : there was no ground for altering the award.—HOUSLEY v. HADFIELDS, LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 497, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Jackson v. Hunslet Engine Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 8.

3389. ——.]—The employers of a man who had lost an eye by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment in their service alleged that his incapacity had terminated, & they ceased to pay compensation to him. He applied for compensation, & the employers offered a suspensory award. The county ct. judge was of opinion that the incapacity had terminated & refused to make any award. The Ct. of Appeal sent the matter back to the judge to make an award & to consider for this purpose whether the work offered to appct. by the employers was suitable. The judge held, on the ground (inter alia) of the unusual risk which would be run by a one-eyed man, that the offered employment was not suitable & awarded full compensation :—Held : on appeal, suitability was a question of fact ; there was sufficient evidence to justify the finding that the work was not suitable without reference to the extra risk ; & semble, under the direction given in the first appeal the learned judge was right in taking the extra risk run by a one-eyed man into consideration ; the award ought to stand ; the ct. could not interfere with it unless there had been a plain misdirection ; & that was not the case.

When several reasons are given for deciding in reference to a question of fact & some of those reasons are indisputable, I do not think we ought to be astute in upsetting the award, even if we think that one of the reasons which the judge assigned may be open to question (LORD COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—JACKSON v. HUNSLET ENGINE

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 2, C. (c), & D.]

Co., LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 8; 85 L. J. K. B. 1213; 114 L. T. 584; 60 Sol. Jo. 386; 9 B. W. C. C. 269, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. Jenkinson v. Steiner (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 571. Mentd. Neilson v. Farme Coal Co. (1915), Ltd. (1915), 12 B. W. C. C. 456; Hart v. Cory, [1916] 1 K. B. 172.

3390. ——.]—The workman while in the employment of applts. as a riveter early in Dec. 1924, met with an accident whereby he lost five-sixths of the vision of one eye & received full compensation until the beginning of Feb. 1925. He was then examined by the doctor of applts., who said that though his eye was thus blurred by the loss of five-sixths of the vision he was nevertheless quite able to do the work of a riveter. The employers offered the man his old work as a riveter &, when he refused it, stopped compensation. Thereupon the workman, who admitted he was able to do a labourer's work made a request for arbn. & claimed the difference between the amount he would earn as a labourer & the amount payable to a riveter. The county ct. judge said he attached no weight to evidence that other one-eyed men were doing the work of a riveter, & found as a fact that such work was not suitable for appct., & awarded compensation accordingly: —Held: it was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding & there was no misdirection.—ROBERTS v. VICKERS, LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 318, C. A.

3391. What must be considered—Exceptional risks.]—EYRE v. HOUGHTON MAIN COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3385, ante.

3392. —— —— One-eyed man.]—JACKSON v. HUNSLET ENGINE CO., LTD., No. 3389, ante.

D. What is Payment, Allowance or Benefit.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 9 (1) (b).

3393. Must be assessable in money.]—A miner was injured by accident arising out of his employment in 1920, & he was paid full compensation under an agreement until the end of 1924, when the employers found him light work at wages less by 10*s.* 6*d.* a week than the wages he would then have been earning if he had returned to his former occupation, wages in which had been reduced. The employers, therefore paid 5*s.* 3*d.* a week compensation. The workman thereupon applied for arbn., & the employers submitted to an award of 5*s.* 3*d.* a week, which they said was the full measure of their liability. The workman sought to take advantage of an agreement made in Oct. 1923, between the workmen's union & two employers' assocns., providing that subject to disputed claims being referred to arbn. between the agents of the men's union & the insurance co., the employers would, as far as possible, provide light work for men who had been injured in their employment, & would pay compensation on the scale provided in the Bill then before Parliament [afterwards passed into law as Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42)].

The county ct. judge made an award of the amount submitted to be paid by the employers, & gave them the costs of the arbn. He held that the agreement applied to the case & brought in the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), & also that the opportunity of employment provided by the agreement amounted to a "payment, allowance, or benefit" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (3), the value of which must be taken into consideration in fixing the compensation:—Held: (1) the case must be remitted to the county ct. judge to be reheard. The agreement not having been recorded was invalid, & could not apply the scale of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), to the compensation payable in respect of an injury happening to a workman before that Act came into operation, & was not a "payment, allowance, or benefit" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 88), sched. I. (3), those words referring only to money, or something capable of being exactly assessed in money value; (2) a mere promise to provide work was incapable of exact valuation; (3) the agreement did not apply to disputed cases, & was an attempt to contract out of the terms of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—WOOD v. WENTWORTH SILKSTONE COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 656; 18 B. W. C. C. 278, C. A.

3394. Sum paid in settlement of claim—Registration of agreement refused.]—The employers after paying compensation for some months gave appct. £10 in full settlement. The county ct. judge refused to register a memorandum of this agreement, & on a subsequent application for compensation, refused to take into account the £10 so paid:—Held: the county ct. judge should have taken into account the £10 received from the employers.—HORSMAN v. GLASGOW NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 27, C. A.

3395. Benefits to seaman—Voluntary payments.]—A seaman sustained serious injuries. He was conveyed to a hospital whilst unconscious, & remained there after his discharge from the ship for fifteen weeks. The shipowners made payments for his maintenance during that period equal to the full weekly compensation for which they were liable. They were not legally compellable to make these payments under M. S. Act, 1894 (c. 60):—Held: such payments were a benefit which the workman received from the employers during the period of his incapacity, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (3), & regard must be had to them in fixing the amount of compensation.—KEMPSON v. MOSS ROSE (OWNERS) (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 101, C. A.

3396. —— Not compulsory payments—Under Merchant Shipping Acts.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 7 (1), the Act is applied to seamen subject to certain modifications including (e), which provides that the weekly payment shall not be payable in respect of the period during which the shipowner is under the M. S. Acts liable to defray the expenses of maintenance of the injured seaman.

In fixing the amount of the weekly payment par. 3 of Schedule I. enacts that "regard shall be had to any payment, allowance, or benefit which the workman may receive from the employer during the period of his incapacity. . . ."

3392 i. What must be considered—Exceptional risks—One-eyed man.]—LAW v. BAIRD (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 846.—SCOT.

3392 ii. —— —— ——.]—BURT v. FIFE COAL CO., LTD. (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 350.—SCOT.

g. —— Suitability having regard to workman's health.]—THOMSON v. WATSON, LTD., [1916] S. C. 23; 53 Sc. L. R. 55; [1916] 2 S. L. T. 246; 9 B. W. C. C. 428.—SCOT.

h. Employment involving Sunday work.]—SMITH v. BEARDMORE & CO., LTD., [1922] S. C. 131; 59 Sc. L. R. 94; [1922] S. L. T. 58; 15 B. W. C. C. 389.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2. —D.

k. Benefits to seaman — Payment of hospital charges by employer.]—A seaman, injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, went to a hospital where he received maintenance & medical treatment, which was subsequently paid

The words "any payment, allowance, or benefit" must be construed with some limitation. For instance, regard must not be had to payment or discharge of debts due from the employer to the workman, nor, in the case of a seaman, to any payment, allowance, or benefit which under the M. S. Acts the employer is bound to give, or which is not received in respect of the seaman's incapacity & in respect of that period of incapacity which is covered by the Compensation Act. The meaning is that the seaman is not to be paid twice over by the overlapping of benefits derived from two separate statutes.

A seaman on a voyage abroad was rendered totally incapable by an accidental injury, & was placed in a foreign hospital. The shipowners, in accordance with their obligations under the M. S. Acts, paid him eight days' wages for the interim between the accident & his discharge, also his medical & surgical expenses in the hospital, & made provision for his maintenance & return to England:—Held: in fixing the amount of the weekly payment under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), in respect of his continued incapacity in England regard must not be had to the payment of the eight days' wages or of the maintenance & other expenses.—MCDERMOTT v. TINTORETTO (OWNERS), [1911] A. C. 35; 80 L. J. K. B. 161; 103 L. T. 769; 27 T. L. R. 149; 55 Sol. Jo. 124; 4 B. W. C. C. 123; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 515, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Porter v. Whitbroad (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 205. Expld. Considine v. McInerney, [1916] 2 A. C. 162. Distd. Watts v. Manchester Corpn., [1917] 1 K. B. 791. Expld. Ashrody v. City of Edinburgh (Owners), [1920] 1 K. B. 301. Consd. Anchor Line (Henderson Bros.) v. Mohad, [1922] 1 A. C. 146; Danish Bacon Co. v. Food Ministry (1922), 91 L. J. K. B. 743. Apld. Smallbone v. Fawcett, Preston, [1922] 2 K. B. 638. Consd. Langford v. Port of London Authority (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 887. Refd. Kempson v. Moss Rose (Owners) (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 101; Buls v. Steamship Teutonic (1913), 109 L. T. 127.

3397. Not payment of debt due from employer to workman.]—MCDERMOTT v. TINTORETTO (OWNERS), No. 3396, ante.

3398. Payments in excess of compulsory compensation.]—Employers paid 28*s.* a week as generous compensation to an injured workman. After having paid this for some time they reduced it to half wages. They paid this for some weeks until the workman's solr. pointed out that certain extras in the shape of "beer & coffee" money had not been included as wages, & that the workman was consequently entitled to slightly higher compensation. The employers admitted the computation & offered to submit to an award on this basis, but they refused to pay arrears on the ground that they had already much overpaid the workman & they were entitled to have these extra payments regarded. The county ct. judge made an award in favour of the empoyers & awarded them costs to be deducted from compensation:—Held: there was no misdirection & the county ct. judge's discretion as to costs had been exercised judicially.—PORTER v. WHITBREAD & Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 205, C. A.

3399. Superannuation allowance & gratuity.]—An attendant at a lunatic asylum employed subject to the regulations of the Civil Service Comrs. was permanently incapacitated by an injury sustained by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & was retired in consequence of his incapacity. He was then aged forty-eight & had been in his employment for twenty years. Under the Superannuation Acts, 1834–1909, he was entitled to expect on retirement at the age of sixty, or before that age in the case of bodily or mental infirmity, a superannuation allowance & a lump sum by way of gratuity calculated on the basis of the number of years which he had served, but he had no legal right to these payments, & on his retirement he duly received a superannuation allowance & gratuity from the asylum authorities. Upon a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the superannuation allowance & gratuity were payments, allowances, or benefits within para. 3 of Schedule I. to which regard should be had in fixing the amount of the weekly compensation.—CONSIDINE v. MCINERNEY, [1916] 2 A. C. 162; 85 L. J. P. C. 168; 114 L. T. 1138; 32 T. L. R. 453; 60 Sol. Jo. 456; 9 B. W. C. C. 390, H. L.

Annotations:—Expld. Watts v. Manchester Corpn., [1917] 1 K. B. 791. Consd. Langford v. Port of London Authority (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 887.

3400. Pension—So far as contributed by employer.]—A fireman in the service of the Manchester Corpn. Fire Brigade met with an accident by which he was permanently incapacitated. The corpn. admitted their liability to pay compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but contended that in fixing the amount of the weekly payment regard ought to be had to a pension to which appct. was entitled under the corpn. superannuation scheme out of the fire brigade fund. This fund was provided partly by the dividends on an invested fund & partly by contributions of the men out of their pay, any deficiency being made up by the corpn. out of the city rate. In an arbn. under the Act:—Held: so far as the pension was provided for by payments made by the corpn. it was "payment, allowance, or benefit" received from the employers which ought to be regarded in fixing the amount of the weekly payment of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. clause 3.—WATTS v. MANCHESTER CORPN., [1917] 1 K. B. 791; 86 L. J. K. B. 669; 116 L. T. 578; 33 T. L. R. 238; 10 B. W. C. C. 191, C. A.

3401. —— ——.]—LANGFORD v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3695, post.

3402. Military pay & allowance.]—PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY v. GRAY, No. 3384, ante.

3403. Not unemployment benefit.]—BALL v. COULTHARD (T.) & Co., LTD., No. 3393, ante.

3404. Not war additions—Payable under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts, 1917, 1919.]—In assessing the amount of the compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 1 (b), payable to an infant workman in the case of total incapacity, the county ct. judge is not entitled to take into consideration the effect of the war additions under the Workmen's Compensation (War Additions) Acts, 1917 & 1919, notwithstanding that the result may be that the weekly payments together with the war additions may exceed the amount of the infant's workman's average weekly earnings before the accident.—SMALLBONE v. FAWCETT, for by the employer on an account rendered by the hospital. The arbitrator found that this payment was a benefit received by the seaman during the period of his incapacity:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—SORENSEN v. GAFF & Co. (1912), 49 Sc. L. R. 896; 6 B. W. C. C. 279. —SCOT.

---

l. Relief from poor-law authorities.]—The amount received by the workman in poor-law relief does not fall to be computed in discharge of the compensation to which he is found entitled.—GILROY v. MACKIE, ETC. (LEITH DISTRESS COMMITTEE), [1909] S. C. 466; 46 Sc. L. R. 325; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 141; 2 B. W. C. C. 269.—SCOT.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 2, D. & E.; sub-sect. 3, A. (a).]

PRESTON & Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 638; 91 L. J. K. B. 933; 128 L. T. 55; 66 Sol. Jo. 693; 15 B. W. C. C. 176, C. A.

3405. Not agreement to provide work.]—WOOD v. WENTWORTH SILKSTONE COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3393, ante.

E. War Additions.

See Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts, 1917 (c. 42), & 1919 (c. 83); Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1; Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 50 (2) & sched. IV.

3406. When payable—Not unless weekly payment made or agreed to be made.]—HAYDOCK v. GOODIER, No. 3587, post.

3407. —— Not in respect of partial incapacity.]—A caretaker was engaged in chopping wood when a piece flew upward into his eye, causing him to lose the sight of one of his eyes. Compensation was paid for some months, but was ultimately discontinued. The caretaker was offered similar work by his employers but could not accept it on the account of dizziness. The county ct. judge found that, having regard to his knowledge of the state of the labour market, & the fact that applt. was incapable of doing the only work offered to him, & that no other work was available, he was entitled to 15*s.* per week on the ground of partial incapacity & war addition at the rate of 11*s.* 3*d.* per week. The workman's counsel admitted in the county ct. that on this finding there was nothing due in respect of "war addition." The employers appealed:—Held: there was ample medical evidence on which the arbitrator could find partial incapacity, & the arbitrator was entitled to apply his own knowledge of the labour market & local conditions that no suitable light work was available. The employers were entitled to have 11*s.* 3*d.* war bonus struck out of the award, but they were not entitled to costs as the workman agreed to the alteration being made in the county ct.—LOCK v. CHATHAM EDUCATION COMMITTEE (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 35, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399.

3408. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1—Compensation redeemed.]—COSTELLO v. BROWN, No. 3777, post.

3409. —— ——.]—On May 15, 1919, appct. was entitled to compensation on the basis of total incapacity, & compensation was paid at the rate of £1 per week together with the addition under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts, 1917 (c. 42), & 1919 (c. 83), until Dec. 21, 1921. On this date the normal weekly compensation of £1 was redeemed for a lump sum payment of £436 16*s.* From that date down to & including Feb. 27, 1924, the war addition of 15*s.* per week was paid but was then stopped. Appct. applied for the payment of this war addition of 15*s.* per week from Feb. 27, 1924, & for the continuance of such payment for so long as the incapacity should be total. The learned county ct. judge held that the war additions ceased to be payable by virtue of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, & made an award in favour of resps.: —Held: nothing in the 1923 Act caused the war additions to cease to be payable where they were payable before the 1923 Act.—TATE v. BRADFORD DYERS ASSOCN., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 209, C. A.

3410. —— Period of partial incapacity intervening.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts, 1917 (c. 42), & 1919 (c. 83), were repealed as from Dec. 31, 1923: "Provided that the addition provided for in the said Acts shall continue to apply to a weekly payment payable to a workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), . . . in respect of total incapacity arising from an accident which occurred on or before the said Dec. 31 so long as the workman remains totally incapacitated. . . ."

Before the repeal of the War Addition Acts a workman was totally incapacitated by an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. At the date of the repeal he was suffering from partial incapacity only, but shortly afterwards he again became totally incapacitated as the result of his injury:—Held: in assessing the compensation payable to him he was entitled under the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, to the war addition provided for by the repealed Acts.—GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO. v. DICKSON, COLTNESS IRON CO. v. DALGLEISH, [1925] A. C. 790; 95 L. J. P. C. 1; 133 L. T. 771; 41 T. L. R. 644; 69 Sol. Jo. 743, 794; 18 B. W. C. C. 411, H. L.

3411. Mention in award not essential.]—A workman filed particulars for arbitration, alleging total incapacity & average weekly earnings of £2 13*s.* No answer was filed by the employer. At the hearing the employer did not appear, but the county ct. judge heard some evidence from appct. as to wages, & then stated that as the claim was admitted he would make an award of 15*s.* a week compensation & war addition under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42): —Held: in the circumstances, the particulars must be taken to have been admitted, & the workman was therefore entitled to £1 per week & war addition under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Acts, 1917 (c. 42), & 1919 (c. 83). The amount of the war addition is recoverable on an award for total incapacity, whether mentioned in the award or not.—CHAPMAN v. SMITH (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 140, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 3.—RULES FOR DETERMINING EARNINGS.

A. What are Earnings.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10.

3412. Actual amount received from employer—Whether in money or kind.]—"Earnings" in Schedule I., clause (1) (a) (i), of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), means the actual amount, whether in money or in kind, which the workman receives from his employers.

The average weekly earnings of a miner, who suffered injury from an accident in the course of

---

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2. —E.

3408 i. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1.—Compensation redeemed.] — TAYLOR & SON v. IRONS, [1924] S. C. 727; 61 Sc. L. R. 507; [1924] S. L. T. 535; 17 B. W. C. C. 375.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—A. (a).

m. Whether incidental advantages included—Workman also contractor.] —Held: the amount of compensation should be calculated upon the man's average weekly wage as a miner, & not upon such wage plus his profit upon his independent contract for working the coal.—LOGAN v. SHOTTS IRON CO., LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 433.—SCOT.

his employment which resulted in his death, were £1 10*s.* 11*d.* a week, but a deduction of 6*d.* a week was made for oil supplied by his employers for the lamp used by the miner in his employment, so that the average amount of money actually received by him from his employers was £1 10*s.* 5*d.* only:—Held: in assessing compensation to the miner's dependants under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the compensation must be computed upon the basis that the miner's average weekly earnings were £1 10*s.* 11*d.* a week.—HOUGHTON v. SUTTON HEATH & LEA GREEN COLLIERIES CO., [1901] 1 K. B. 93; 70 L. J. K. B. 61; 83 L. T. 472; 65 J. P. 134; 49 W. R. 196; 17 T. L. R. 54; 45 Sol. Jo. 59; 3 W. C. C. 173, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Midland Ry. v. Sharpe, [1904] A. C. 349. Refd. Shipp v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., [1913] 1 K. B. 577; Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156.

3413. —— Workman must be properly equipped.]—In estimating the compensation payable to an injured workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the word "earnings" in the Act means the sum the workman receives for his labour when he comes to it properly equipped according to the general understanding & practice in the particular trade.

From the weekly wages of a collier his employers deducted by agreement sums for cleaning lamps, supply of oil, sharpening picks, & checking weights:—Held: his "earnings" under the Act for the purpose of estimating compensation for injury were his full wages without the deductions.—ABRAM COAL CO. v. SOUTHERN, [1903] A. C. 306; 72 L. J. K. B. 601; 89 L. T. 103; 19 T. L. R. 579; 5 W. C. C. 125, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Mid. Ry. v. Sharpe, [1904] A. C. 349. Refd. Shipp v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., [1913] 1 K. B. 577; Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156.

3414. Whether incidental advantages included—Must be capable of appraisement at money value.]—An apprentice sustained an injury to his right hand which prevented his working as a skilled artisan, & the indenture of apprenticeship was cancelled. On an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), he obtained an award of a weekly payment based on his wages for the previous year. He returned to the employment of the same employers as a workman, at weekly wages higher than his wages at the time of the accident, but less than those that would be ordinarily paid to a workman employed on the same class of work, since the injury he had sustained affected his ability to earn full wages. On an application by the employers for the review, & termination of the weekly payment, the county ct. judge dismissed the application, on the ground that the workman was earning less, by a sum equal to the amount of the weekly payment awarded, than if he had had the use of his right hand:—Held: (1) on a review of a weekly payment made by award under the Act, the test to be applied is the difference between the amount of the average earnings before the accident & the average amount which the workman is able to earn after the accident; in the absence of evidence of advantages incidental to the employment, & capable of being appraised at a money value, the earnings before the accident must be determined by the wages received; the county ct. judge was therefore wrong in refusing to review the weekly payment; but the weekly payment should be continued at a nominal amount, in order to preserve the right of appct. to make any further application that might become necessary.

(2) Semble: the value of the tuition given to an apprentice should not be taken into account in arriving at the amount of his average weekly earnings.—POMPHREY v. SOUTHWARK PRESS, [1901] 1 K. B. 86; 70 L. J. Q. B. 48; 83 L. T. 468; 65 J. P. 148; 17 T. L. R. 53; 45 Sol. Jo. 59; 3 W. C. C. 194, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1901), 4 W. C. C. 140. Refd. Edwards v. Alyn Steel Tinplate Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 141; Roper v. Hussey-Freke (1915), 113 L. T. 635.

3415. —— Value of tuition to apprentice.]—POMPHREY v. SOUTHWARK PRESS, No. 3414, ante.

3416. —— Value of use of uniform.]—Where a workman was allowed by his employers to have the use for the purposes of his employment of a uniform, which was provided by them, & the property in which remained in them:—Held: the value to the workman of the use of the uniform formed an element which must be taken into account in estimating his earnings for the purpose of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).—GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO. v. DAWSON, [1905] 1 K. B. 331; 74 L. J. K. B. 271; 92 L. T. 145; 53 W. R. 309; 21 T. L. R. 193; 7 W. C. C. 114, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Dothie v. Macandrow, [1908] 1 K. B. 803; Penn v. Spiers & Pond (1908), 98 L. T. 541; Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65.

3417. —— Value of board & lodging—How calculated—Seaman.]—On a claim for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by a seaman who received a weekly sum in cash & his board & lodging on the ship:—Held: having regard to the circumstances under which an ordinary seaman is necessarily engaged & paid, there is no other practicable test for computing the value to him of the board & lodging provided by the employer than, in the absence of special circumstances, the actual cost of these allowances to the shipowner.—ROSENQVIST v. BOWRING & CO., LTD., [1908] 2 K. B. 108; 77 L. J. K. B. 545; 98 L. T. 773; 24 T. L. R. 504; 1 B. W. C. C. 395, C. A.

3418. Tips—Knowledge of employers—Waiter.]—"Earnings in the employment of the same employer" in respect of which compensation is recoverable under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), need not always come from the employer; & where the employment is of such a nature that the habitual giving & receiving of "tips" is open & notorious, & sanctioned by the employer, the money thus received with his knowledge & approval must be brought into account in estimating the "average weekly earnings" in respect of which compensation has to be awarded.—PENN v. SPIERS & POND, LTD., [1908] 1 K. B. 766; 77 L. J. K. B. 542; 98 L. T. 541; 24 T. L. R. 354; 52 Sol. Jo. 280; 1 B. W. C. C. 401, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Knott v. Tingle Jacobs (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 55. Distd. Huscroft v. Bennett (1914), 110 L. T. 494. Apprvd. G. W. Ry. v. Helps, [1918] A. C. 141. Refd. Craske v. Wigan (1909), 101 L. T. 6; Brandy v. S.S. Raphael, [1911] 1 K. B. 376; Skailes v. Blue Anchor Line, [1911] 1 K. B. 360; Griffith v. Penrhyn Castle (Owners) (1916), 116 L. T. 169; Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65; Wild v. Brown, [1919] 1 K. B. 134.

3419. —— —— Services outside ordinary employment.]—In calculating a workman's average weekly earnings, where the evidence is that he habitually received certain tips to the knowledge of his employers, the county ct. judge is entitled to take them into consideration, even though such tips are given for services outside his ordinary employment.—KNOTT v. TINGLE JACOBS & CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 55, C. A.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, A. (a) & (b), & B. (a).]

3420. —— —— Railway porter.]—For the purpose of assessing the compensation payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to a railway porter who has sustained injuries by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, gratuities or "tips" received by him from passengers whom he has assisted in the execution of his duties, where the practice of giving & receiving tips is open & notorious & is sanctioned by the railway co., are included in his earnings.—GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. v. HELPS, [1918] A. C. 141; 87 L. J. K. B. 230; 118 L. T. 235; 34 T. L. R. 118; 62 Sol. Jo. 120; 10 B. W. C. C. 654, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. HELPS v. GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1006, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Wild v. Brown, [1919] 1 K. B. 134. Refd. Calver v. Groom & Symonds (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 129; Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156; Baker v. Dalgleish S.S. Co., [1922] 1 K. B. 361.

3421. Tips & commission.]—HAINS & STRANGE v. CORBET, No. 3315, ante.

3422. Payments to miner as trade union delegate.]—WILD v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., No. 3472, post.

3423. Payments to miner as inspector of mine.]—WILD v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., No. 3472, post.

(b) Payments by Employer for Special Expenses.

See Workmen's Compensation Act 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (4).

3424. Deduction from miner's wages—Cost of lamp oil.]—HOUGHTON v. SUTTON HEATH & LEA GREEN COLLIERIES CO., No. 3412, ante.

3425. —— Cost of maintenance of working tools, etc.]—ABRAM COAL CO. v. SOUTHERN, No. 3413, ante.

3426. —— Cost of blasting powder.]—In a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), founded upon the average weekly earnings of the workman, it appeared that his work was that of a miner of ironstone, & he formed one of a gang of fifteen men similarly employed. In getting the ironstone it was necessary to remove sand & use gunpowder for blasting. The gang were paid at the rate of 6½*d.* per ton for ironstone plus a bonus of 3¾ per cent., & 2½*d.* per yard for sand with a bonus of 6¼ per cent. From the aggregate of these sums was deducted the value of the powder used by the gang, & the net sum was paid to the ganger, who distributed it amongst the men in proportion to the number of hours they had worked. The employers provided the powder at cost price. The workman claimed 14*s.* 7*d.* per week on the ground that his average weekly earnings had been £1 9*s.* 2*d.*, namely, his share of the full amount due to the gang without deducting anything for powder supplied to them. The employers contended that 3*s.* a week per man for powder ought to be deducted from the wages, & that appct. was only entitled to half of £1 6*s.* 2*d.*:—Held: sched. I., s. 2 (d), of the Act did not apply; the employers had only contracted to pay appct. an aliquot share of the gross earnings of the gang less the value of the powder used by them; & he was only entitled to compensation at the rate of half of £1 6*s.* 2*d.*—SHIPP v. FRODINGHAM IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1913] 1 K. B. 577; 82 L. J. K. B. 273; 108 L. T. 55; 29 T. L. R. 215; 57 Sol. Jo. 264; 6 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156.

3427. —— ——.]—In calculating the average weekly earnings of a miner for the purpose of arriving at the true basis of compensation for accident:—Held: the county ct. judge had properly taken into account a deduction made by the employers before payment of the wages of the average amount of 6*s.* 6*d.* a week for the actual cost price of blasting powder used by the miner, & supplied to him under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), by the employers, the cost of the powder not being part of the earnings.—JONES v. INTERNATIONAL ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES CO., [1919] 1 K. B. 156; 88 L. J. K. B. 361; 120 L. T. 165; 35 T. L. R. 56; 63 Sol. Jo. 83; 11 B. W. C. C. 274, C. A.

3428. Payment to railway guard for lodging away from home.]—A railway guard was paid in addition to his wages a fixed sum whenever his duties required him to lodge away from home. No inquiry was made whether he spent that sum or any sum:—Held: these fixed sums were part of his "earnings" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I.—MIDLAND RY. CO. v. SHARPE, [1904] A. C. 349; 73 L. J. K. B. 666; 91 L. T. 181; 53 W. R. 114; 20 T. L. R. 546; 6 W. C. C. 119, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. SHARPE v. MIDLAND RY. CO., [1903] 2 K. B. 26.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. International Anthracite Collieries Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 156. Refd. Shipp v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., [1913] 1 K. B. 577.

3429. Payment for help of workman's family—Where no express contract.]—ROPER v. HUSSEY-FREKE, No. 2218, ante.

B. Average Weekly Earnings.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10.

3430. General principle of calculation.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3431. ——.]—In estimating for the purpose of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the amount of a workman's "average weekly earnings" the true test is what were his earnings in a normal week, regard being had to the known & recognised incidents of the employment. If work was discontinuous, that is an element which must be taken into account.—ANSLOW v. CANNOCK CHASE COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1909] A. C. 435; 78 L. J. K. B. 679; 100 L. T. 786; 25 T. L. R. 570; 53 Sol. Jo. 519; 2 B. W. C. C. 365, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Calver v. Groom & Symonds (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 129. Refd. White v. Wiseman, [1912] 3 K. B. 352; Griffiths v. Gilbertson (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1312.

3432. Meaning of "average."]—A workman was under an agreement to work for his employers

---

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—A. (b).

3426 i. Deduction from miner's wages—Cost of blasting powder.]—A miner was in the habit of purchasing the explosives which he required for his work from his employers, & the price of these was retained by them from his wages:—Held: in estimating a miner's earnings for the purpose of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, his wages must be taken at the full rate without deducting the cost of the explosives.—MCKEE v. STEIN & CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 38.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

3432 i. Meaning of "average."]—KELLY v. YORK STREET FLAX SPINNING CO., LTD. (1909), 43 I. L. T. Jo. 81; 2 B. W. C. C. 493.—IR.

3432 ii. ——.]—On a claim for compensation by the dependants of a deon the nights of Thursday & Friday in each week, for a period extending over two weeks, & at a fixed rate of wages for each night. During the rest of each week he worked at times for the same employers, when they had work to give him, & at other times for other firms carrying on a similar business to that of the employers. The workman was injured during the third week of his employment under the agreement. He claimed compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & an award was made in his favour based on the weekly wages earned by him in respect of the two nights a week during which he worked under the agreement: —Held: (1) the employment for two nights a week was a continuous one, & the earnings on those two nights were properly taken into account in determining the weekly payment to be made to the applicant; (2) the amount received for casual work done for the same or different employers could not be taken into account in estimating the average weekly earnings of appct.—HATHAWAY v. ARGUS PRINTING CO., [1901] 1 K. B. 96; 70 L. J. Q. B. 12; 83 L. T. 465; 64 J. P. 804; 49 W. R. 113; 17 T. L. R. 42; 3 W. C. C. 177, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Hill v. Begg, [1908] 2 K. B. 802; Cue v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 3 K. B. 892; Price v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1918] A. C. 760.

3433. ——.]—(1) The right to compensation given by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1, is not restricted by the schedule to employments by the week, or for weekly wages, or for two weeks at least. Employment by the day for one or more days is within the Act.

(2) The word "average" in the expression "average weekly earnings" is used loosely & inaccurately in the First Schedule to the Act.

(3) Stevedores were loading a vessel in a dock by means of machinery. The cargo had been put into the hold, & the men employed by the stevedores were "finishing off" by slinging iron beams across the hatchway. The machinery having become entangled, one of the workmen went to disentangle it, was caught by it, & injured so that he died:—Held: the stevedores were occupying a "factory," namely, the machinery, within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 7 (2), & the Factory & Workshop Act, 1895 (c. 37) s. 23 (1) (ii), & deceased was injured in the course of his employment in loading from the wharf, the process of loading not being complete till the hatchway was secured, within the meaning of those Acts.

(4) Where death results from injury & the workman has left dependants, the compensation must be at least £150. It is to be £150 or a sum equal to either the actual amount or the hypothetical amount of his earnings for the three years immediately preceding the accident, not exceeding in any case £300. But if the workman has not served the full period of three years & if you could not find a basis on which to calculate the hypothetical amount, the compensation would, I think, still be £150 (LORD MACNAGHTEN).

(5) Construction of Acts (see No. 2032, ante).—LYSONS v. KNOWLES (ANDREW) & SONS, LTD., STUART v. NIXON & BRUCE, [1901] A. C. 79; 70 L. J. K. B. 170; 84 L. T. 65; 65 J. P. 388; 49 W. R. 630; 17 T. L. R. 156; 45 Sol. Jo. 150; 3 W. C. C. 1, H. L.; revsg., [1900] 1 Q. B. 780; & revsg., [1900] 2 Q. B. 95.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Ayres v. Buckeridge, Wheale v. Rhymney Iron Co., Jones v. Rhymney Iron Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 57. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Cue v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 3 K. B. 892. As to (2) Apld. Ayres v. Buckeridge, Wheale v. Rhymney Iron Co., Jones v. Rhymney Iron Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 57; Bartlett v. Tutton, [1902] 1 K. B. 72. Consd. Giles v. Belford, Smith [1903] 1 K. B. 843. Refd. Watters v. Clover, Clayton (1901), 18 T. L. R. 60; Gill v. Grainger (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 515. As to (3) Apld. Case v. Colonial Wharves (1905), 53 W. R. 514. Refd. Houlder Line v. Griffin, [1905] A. C. 220; Bones v. Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1900), Ltd. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 456. Generally, Refd. Churm v. Dalton Main Collieries, [1916] 1 A. C. 612; Wild v. Brown, [1919] 1 K. B. 134; King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1; Russell v. Corser, [1921] 1 A. C. 351; Howlett v. Shaw, Savill & Albion (1924), 40 T. L. R. 538.

3434. ——.]—On an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), it was proved that appct., a casual dock labourer, who had not been previously employed by resps., was engaged for a day at a certain rate of wages per hour, but subject to discharge on an hour's notice. He met with an accident in the course of that day. The county ct. judge took into consideration the average weekly earnings of a labourer such as appct., taking one week with another, by whomsoever employed, & awarded a weekly payment of half that sum:—Held: this mode of arriving at the amount of compensation to be awarded was erroneous, as it was not based upon the period during which applicant had been in the employment of the same employer as required by the sched. to the Act.—BARTLETT v. TUTTON & SONS, [1902] 1 K. B. 72; 71 L. J. K. B. 52; 85 L. T. 531; 66 J. P. 196; 50 W. R. 149; 18 T. L. R. 35; 46 Sol. Jo. 48; 4 W. C. C. 133, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Case v. Colonial Wharves (1905), 53 W. R. 514.

3435. Mathematical accuracy not required.]—JAMES v. MORDEY, CARNEY & CO., LTD., No. 3289, ante.

3436. ——.]—In a claim by a dependant the only dispute was with regard to the average weekly earnings. Deceased entered his employment on a Monday, pay day was Thursday; he worked over a year & a half, & was killed on a Monday. He had been away for two periods of four days, due to illness. He was paid by the hour. The county ct. judge taking the odd days at the beginning & end of the employment as two full weeks divided the total earnings by the total number of weeks from the beginning to the end of the employment. He made no allowance for what he could have earned during the eight days' absence:—Held: the odd days should not be taken as full weeks, but this was too trivial for appeal, otherwise there was no misdirection.—TURNER v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1913), 29 T. L. R. 404; 6 B. W. C. C. 23, C. A.

---

ceased workman it appeared that he had only been in employment for twenty-six weeks before his death, & that during that period his weekly earnings had varied from £1 2*s.* 7*d.* to 2*s.* 3*d.*:—Held: for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of compensation payable to the dependants, the county ct. judge was bound to calculate the "average weekly earnings" of the deceased workman by dividing the total amount actually earned by him by twenty-six.—GILL v. GRAINGER (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 515.—IR.

3432 iii. ——.]—SMALL v. M'CORMICK & EWING (1899), 1 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 883; 36 Sc. L. R. 700; 7 S. L. T. 35. —SCOT.

3432 iv. ——.]—PEACOCK v. NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 443.—SCOT.

3432 v. ——.]—"Average weekly earnings" mean the total amount actually earned by the workman during his employment divided by the number of weeks during which or part of which he was employed.—FLEMING v. LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 890.—SCOT.

3432 vi. ——.]—NIMMO (J.) CO., LTD. v. MYLES (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 719. —SCOT

3432 vii. ——.]—REYNOLDS v. MUNT, COTTRELL & CO., LTD. (1904), 24 N. Z. L. R. 980.—N.Z.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B. (a) & (b) i. & ii., & (c).]

3437. Effect of fixing by agreement—No power to vary—Though fall in wages.]—JAMES v. OCEAN COAL CO., No. 3364, ante.

(b) Where Computation Practicable.

i. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (1).

3438. Practicability a question for county court judge.]—In a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it appeared that the workman had been in the employment of his employers at wages which averaged £1 15*s.* per week for more than twelve months prior to Dec. 1910, when he left their employment. In May, 1911, he went to Canada, where he received wages averaging £5 3*s.* a week. In Nov. he returned to Bristol & made arrangements to transfer his family to Canada in Apr. 1912. To fill up the time he went back to his employers & worked for them for nine weeks at an average of £1 9*s.* 6*d.* per week. In Feb. he sustained personal injury by accident.

On a question as to the amount of the average weekly earnings of the workman, the county ct. judge held that it was not impracticable to compute the rate of remuneration from the earnings during the period of nine weeks on the basis that appct. was about to leave the country, & awarded 14*s.* 9*d.* per week:—Held: the judge had jurisdiction to compute the average earnings on the footing that the employment of appct. was only of a temporary character, & the appeal must be dismissed.—GODDEN v. COWLIN (W.) & SONS, [1913] 1 K. B. 590; 82 L. J. K. B. 509; 108 L. T. 166; 29 T. L. R. 255; 57 Sol. Jo. 282; 6 B. W. C. C. 154, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Cox v. Trollope, [1916] 2 K. B. 682; Calver v. Groom & Symonds (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 129; Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455.

3439. ——.]—COX v. TROLLOPE (GEORGE) & SONS, No. 3458, post.

3440. ——.]—TWIDALE v. LONDON & NORTH EASTERN RY. CO., No. 3498, post.

ii. How Calculated.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (1).

3441. General rule.]—In order to ascertain the "average weekly earnings" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., s. 1 (b), the total amount earned by the workman during the previous twelve months should be divided by fifty-two.—KEAST v. BARROW HAEMATITE STEEL CO., LTD., Re WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1897 (1899), 63 J. P. 56; 15 T. L. R. 141; 1 W. C. C. 99, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Williams v. Poulson (1899), 16 T. L. R. 42.

3442. ——.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3443. ——.]—ANSLOW v. CANNOCK CHASE COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3431, ante.

3444. ——.]—WHITE v. WISEMAN, No. 3452, post.

3445. ——.]—WEBSTER v. HARRISON, TOWNSEND & CO., LTD., No. 3379, ante.

3446. Short employment—Presumption of continuance.]—WATTERS v. CLOVER, CLAYTON & CO. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 60; 46 Sol. Jo. 67; 4 W. C. C. 138, C. A.

3447. —— ——.]—On an application for an award of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in the case of a workman who had met with his death from an accident occurring in the course of his employment, it was proved that deceased had been promised work for sixty hours a week at a given rate of wages per hour, but that he was liable to be dismissed at an hour's notice. He actually worked for four days, & the accident which caused his death happened on the fourth day. The county ct. judge awarded the maximum compensation on the basis of an employment to work sixty hours a week at the agreed rate of wages per hour:—Held: it was a fair inference from the terms of the engagement that the employment was not casual, but was to continue from week to week; & the county ct. judge was therefore entitled to treat deceased as a person whose standard of wages at the time he met with the accident was sixty hours a week at the agreed rate of wages per hour; & the award must stand.

On an application for an award of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in the case of a workman who had met with an accident in the course of his employment, it was proved that appct. had worked from Wednesday in one week up to & including Wednesday in the next week, & that he then met with an accident which incapacitated him. The county ct. judge awarded a weekly payment calculated on the basis of an employment to work six days a week at the agreed rate of wages per day:—Held: the county ct. judge was not bound to divide the actual sum earned by appct. by two so as to average the amount by reference to the two weeks in which it was earned, but he was entitled on the evidence to arrive at the conclusion that the average weekly earnings of appct. had he had the opportunity of earning wages in two or more weeks, would have been six times the amount of the agreed daily wages, & the award must stand.—AYRES v. BUCKERIDGE, WHEALE v. RHYMNEY IRON CO., JONES v. RHYMNEY IRON CO., [1902] 1 K. B. 57; 71 L. J. K. B. 28; 85 L. T. 472; 65 J. P. 804; 50 W. R. 115; 18 T. L. R. 20; 46 Sol. Jo. 48; 4 W. C. C. 120, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Case v. Colonial Wharves (1905), 53 W. R. 514. Refd. Watters v. Clover, Clayton (1901), 18 T. L. R. 60; Edwards v. Alyn Steel Tinplate Co. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 141.

3448. —— May be reckoned on daily wages.]—AYRES v. BUCKERIDGE, WHEALE v. RHYMNEY IRON CO., JONES v. RHYMNEY IRON CO., No. 3447, ante.

3449. —— Single week may be regarded.]—(1) By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., s. 1 (b), the compensation for an injury under the Act is a weekly payment based upon n. Practicability a question for court.]—Re BARRIE & DIAMOND COAL CO., LTD. (1914), 28 W. L. R. 701; 7 Alta. L. R. 138; 6 W. W. R. 651; 17 D. L. R. 385.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b) i.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b) ii.

3441 i. General rule.]—In calculating the average weekly earnings, the actual earnings for each week should be taken, irrespective of the number of working days in that week.—RUSSELL v. M'CLUSKEY (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1312.—SCOT.

3441 ii. ——.]—In order to ascertain the average weekly earnings of a piece-worker whose ordinary week's work is not a full week's work it becomes necessary to make such a computation as is best calculated to give the rate per week at which the worker was being remunerated, while at work.—AWA v. TAUPIRI COAL MINES, LTD., [1926] N. Z. L. R. 205.—N.Z.

3449 i. Short employment—Single week may be regarded.]—DOYLE v. BEATTIE & SONS (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1166; 37 Sc. L. R. 915; 8 S. L. T. 131.—SCOT.

3449 ii. —— ——.]—Where a work-the average weekly earnings of the workman during the previous twelve months, if he has been so long employed, but if not, then for any less period during which he has been in the employment of the same employer. By sect. 2 (a), "Average weekly earnings shall be computed in such manner as is best calculated to give the rate per week at which the workman was being remunerated. Provided that where by reason of the shortness of the time during which the workman has been in the employment of his employer, or the casual nature of the employment, or the terms of the employment, it is impracticable at the date of the accident to compute the rate of remuneration, regard may be had to the average weekly amount which, during the twelve months previous to the accident, was being earned by a person in the same grade employed at the same work by the same employer, or, if there is no person so employed, by a person in the same grade employed in the same class of employment & in the same district":—Held: it is for the county ct. judge in abnormal circumstances to decide what were the average weekly earnings of the workman, & for that purpose he is entitled to take into consideration the nature of the employment, its terms & duration, & the personal qualifications of the workman; but the question whether upon the facts found by him there are two grades or only one grade of employment may be a question of law upon which an appeal will lie.

(2) In the first of two claims under the Act claimant, an able seaman, who could do ship painting & rigging work, was taken on at the London Docks as an "extra casual labourer," & the next day met with an accident. In the docks labourers were divided into A labourers with permanent employment & B labourers who had admission tickets & got employment after the A labourers. Extra casual labourers had a chance of work after the B labourers & at the same rate of pay.

The county ct. judge held that the B labourers & "extra casual labourers" formed only one grade & awarded compensation having regard to the wages of the B labourers:—Held: the B labourers & the "extra casual labourers" formed or might form separate grades, & the case must be remitted to the county ct. for reconsideration.

(3) In the second claim claimant, a workman whose ordinary occupation of a meat porter had been suspended owing to a strike at the docks, obtained employment at the docks as a strike breaker, being taken on as an "extra" casual labourer each day for twelve continuous days until his accident. He was given a ticket of admission within the dock gates, but the ticket did not ensure actual employment. For his first completed week he earned 26*s.* 10*d.*, & there was every probability that but for his accident he would have been continuously employed until the end of the dock strike, which lasted for some five weeks after the accident. The county ct. judge took the actual earnings of the first completed week as his guide & awarded appct. a weekly payment of 13*s.* 5*d.* during incapacity:—Held: the county court judge, in taking as his guide, in the abnormal circumstances of the case, 26*s.* 10*d.* as the normal wage for a normal six days, had not taken a wrong view of the law, & the award must stand.—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, PRIESTLEY v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, [1913] 2 K. B. 115; 82 L. J. K. B. 353; 108 L. T. 277; 29 T. L. R. 252; 57 Sol. Jo. 282; 6 B. W. C. C. 105, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Snell v. Bristol Corpn. [1914] 2 K. B. 291. Refd. Godden v. Cowlin (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 282; Cue v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 3 K. B. 892; Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455.

3450. What time must be allowed—Days when no work done—Only if incidental to employment.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3451. —— —— ——.]—ANSLOW v. CANNOCK CHASE COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3431, ante.

3452. —— —— Absence due to shortage of work.]—In calculating a workman's average weekly earnings for twelve months before an accident for the purpose of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), weeks in which he had not work enough to employ him for the whole of every day must be taken into account. The average must be obtained by dividing the total wages earned by the number of working weeks in the year, after allowing for recognised holidays & interruptions by fortuitous accidents.—WHITE v. WISEMAN, [1912] 3 K. B. 352; 81 L. J. K. B. 1195; 107 L. T. 277; 28 T. L. R. 542; 56 Sol. Jo. 703; 5 B. W. C. C. 654, C. A.

3453. —— —— Recognised holidays.]—WHITE v. WISEMAN, No. 3452, ante.

3454. —— —— Interruptions by fortuitous accidents.]—WHITE v. WISEMAN, No. 3452, ante.

3455. —— —— Absence due to fluctuations of trade.]—In computing "average weekly earnings" under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., absence from work due to trade fluctuations during a period of war, but arising independently of the war, is not to be excluded as absence due to "unvoidable cause" within Sched. I. (2) (c) of the Act.

Even if the absence from work were due to fluctuations of trade caused by war, it ought not to be excluded, as such fluctuations would not, during a period of war, be abnormal incidents of the employment (WARRINGTON, L.J.).—GRIFFITHS v. GILBERTSON (W.) & CO., LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1312; 113 L. T. 628; 8 B. W. C. C. 548, C. A.

(c) Where Computation Impracticable.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (1).

3456. Question for county court judge.]—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, PRIESTLEY v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3449, ante.

---

man in the course of his employment had earned 16*s.* 2*d.* in the first week, & in the second week had worked for two hours but earned nothing & was then injured:—Held: 16*s.* 2*d.* represented his average weekly earnings.—NELSON v. KERR & MITCHELL (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 893; 38 Sc. L. R. 645; 9 S. L. T. 83.—SCOT.

3449 iii. ——.]—BROWN v. CUNNINGHAM, LTD. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 997; 41 Sc. L. R. 835; 12 S. L. T. 231.—SCOT.

3450 i. What time must be allowed—Days when no work done—Only if incidental to employment.]—Evidence was given at the hearing on behalf of the employers to show that strikes were of such frequent occurrence in the coal mines in the district that they were a normal & recognised incident in the employment. The arbitrator held that in determining the "average weekly earnings" these stoppages should not be considered in estimating the number of weeks of work available for the applicant in the course of the year:—Held: on the question whether cessation from work is an incident of the employment is not a question of law but a question of fact.—COLLINS v. SOUTH GRETA COLLIERY CO., COXHELL v. HEPBURN CO. (1925), 25 S. R. N. S. W. 109; 42 N. S. W. W. N. 16. —AUS.

o. —— Overtime.]—SOUTH AFRICAN RYS. v. MELLETT, N. O., [1916] T. P. D. 596.—S. AF.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c), (d) & (e) i.]

3457. How calculated—General rule—Reference to earnings of person in same grade of employment.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3458. —— —— ——.]—Appct. was employed by resps. as a scaffolder at a wage of 8½*d.* an hour. On Jan. 27, 1916, he met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & was totally incapacitated. At the time of the accident he had been in the employment of resps. for seven weeks, & his average weekly earnings during that period amounted to £1 7*s.* 8½*d.* There was evidence that scaffolders were usually employed for short periods only by different employers, but that they could generally obtain employment throughout the whole year. They worked longer hours in summer than in winter & consequently earned more money. Appct. estimated his average weekly earnings for a year at £1 15*s.* 10*d.* The county ct. judge held that, having regard to the shortness of the time during which appct. had been in resps.' employment & to the fact that the weekly earnings varied in summer & winter, it was impracticable within the proviso to para. 2 (a) of Sched. 1. to the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to compute fairly the rate of appct.'s remuneration by reference to his earnings during the seven weeks' employment, & he accordingly awarded compensation at the rate of 17*s.* 11*d.* a week by reference to the average weekly earnings of a person in the same grade employed in the same class of employment & in the same district: —Held: the words "average weekly earnings shall be computed in such manner as is best calculated to give the rate per week at which the workman was being remunerated" at the beginning of para. 2 (a) were the dominant guiding words of the paragraph & were quite sufficient to justify the county ct. judge in adopting the course he did.—COX v. TROLLOPE (GEORGE) & SONS, [1916] 2 K. B. 682; 85 L. J. K. B. 1652; 115 L. T. 394; 32 T. L. R. 670; 9 B. W. C. C. 524, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Twidale v. L. & N. E. Ry., [1925] 2 K. B. 455.

3459. —— Estimate may be made.]—CALVER v. GROOM & SYMONDS, No. 3360, ante.

3460. What may be taken into consideration—Personal capacity of workman.] — PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3461. —— ——.]—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, PRIESTLEY v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3449, ante.

3462. —— ——.]—CUE v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3333, ante.

3463. —— ——.]—SNELL v. BRISTOL CORPN., No. 3363, ante.

3464. —— Terms & duration of employment.]—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, PRIESTLEY v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3449, ante.

3465. What are earnings of person in same grade of employment—Meaning of grade—Question for judge.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & CO. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3466. —— Earnings of applicant at similar work for previous employer.]—A workman was engaged to break up old metal by blasting. He had no regular hours of work & his employment was rather intermittent. He was injured by an explosion in the course of his work & claimed compensation. The question then arose whether he was a workman within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), or an independent contractor. The county ct. judge found that he was a workman within the meaning of the Act on the ground that the work was such that he could not delegate it to any one else. It was held by the Ct. of Appeal that the judge had applied the wrong test, & that the proper test was the employer's power of control over his work, & the Ct. of Appeal ordered a rehearing. On the rehearing the county ct. judge found that the man was working under a contract of service & affirmed the award.

On the question of the amount of compensation, the judge found that appct. had been working only intermittently for resps. & the employment with them was of a casual nature. He had only earned a small sum while in their employment, but that he had earned £4 10*s.* a week while doing similar work for a previous employer, which work had terminated shortly before the accident. He assessed the compensation on the basis of appct.'s being able to earn a sum of £2 per week, & awarded accordingly a weekly payment of £1. In arriving at this figure the judge regarded the earnings with the previous employer as earnings of a person in the same grade at the same class of employment: —Held: (1) the county ct. judge having considered the question of control, there was evidence to support his finding that the man was employed under a contract of service & therefore a "workman" & there was no misdirection; (2) as regards the scale of compensation, the appct.'s earnings at similar work for his previous employer might properly be regarded as the earnings of a "person in the same grade employed in the same class of employment & in the same district," within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (2) (a), & were therefore a proper basis for assessment of the compensation due to appct. —UNDERWOOD v. PERRY & SON, LTD. (No. 2) (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 257, C. A.

(d) Concurrent Contracts of Service.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (ii.).

3467. Earnings under concurrent contracts to be taken into account.] — RAPHAEL (OWNERS) v. BRANDY, No. 3470, post.

3468. —— Effect of rule providing for exclusive service.]—Where a workman is employed concurrently under two or more contracts of service, they need not be ejusdem generis in order to be "concurrent contracts of service" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 2 (b).

A workman was employed by a railway co. as a platelayer, his hours of work being from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days, except Saturdays, when he finished work at 12 noon. He also worked of an evening as checktaker at a theatre under a contract of service. When the workman was first taken into the railway co.'s employment, he was handed a book entitled "Rules & Regulations for the Guidance of Officers & Men" in this co.'s employment. Rule 1 provided that "persons employed by the co. must devote themselves exclusively to the co.'s services." The workman, having met with an accident while working for the railway co. made a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58): —Held: rule 1, on its true construction, only meant that the workman was to devote himself exclusively to the co.'s service during the actual hours of his employment, by them &, notwithstanding that rule, the workmen's compensation must be computed on the footing that his "average weekly earnings" were the combined earnings in his two concurrent employments in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 2 (b).—LLOYD v. MIDLAND RY. CO., [1914] 2 K. B. 53; 83 L. J. K. B. 330; 110 L. T. 513; 30 T. L. R. 247; 58 Sol. Jo. 249; 7 B. W. C. C. 72, C. A.

3467 l. Earnings under concurrent contracts to be taken into account.]—RIORDAN v. O'NEILL (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 498, n.—IR.

3469. What are earnings under concurrent contract—Teaching music in spare time.]—Appct. was employed in a laundry, at 7*s.* a week wages, where she met with an accident to her hand. She was also earning 3*s.* a week by teaching music in her spare time to a neighbour's children:—Held: (1) appct. was not entitled to compensation under clause 2 (b) of Schedule I. to the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the footing of having entered into "concurrent contracts of service" with two employers, but only under clause 1 (a) on the footing of the weekly wages of 7*s.*

(2) It is for the arbitrator to decide on the circumstances of each particular case whether a professional person is a "workman" within the meaning of the Act, & unless he has misdirected himself the Ct. of Appeal ought not to interfere.

(3) Semble: an usher in a private school, or a teacher in a provided or non-provided school, or a nursery governess, would, under ordinary circumstances, be entitled to claim the benefit of the Act.—SIMMONS v. HEATH LAUNDRY CO., [1910] 1 K. B. 543; 79 L. J. K. B. 395; 102 L. T. 210; 26 T. L. R. 326; 54 Sol. Jo. 392; 3 B. W. C. C. 200, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Brandy v. S.S. Raphael (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 217. As to (2) Refd. Doggett v. Waterloo Taxi-Cab Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 336; Wilmerson v. Lynn & Hamburg SS. Co. (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 1064; Hughes v. Quinn (1917), 11 B. W. C. C. 420. Generally. Mentd. Re Morison (1912), 106 L. T. 731; Scottish Insce. Comrs. v. Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. N. 120; Wray v. Taylor (1913), 109 L. T. 120; University of London Press v. University Tutorial Press, [1916] 2 Ch. 601.

3470. —— Retainer to stoker in Royal Naval Reserve.]—A stoker on board a merchant ship, who was entitled to wages from the shipowners, & also as a stoker in the Royal Naval Reserve to £6 a year as a retainer, was injured by an accident on the ship which disabled him from continuing to serve in the Royal Naval Reserve:—Held: the stoker was entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to compensation from the shipowners not only in respect of his wages but also of the retainer, which must be taken into account as earnings under a concurrent contract of service.—RAPHAEL (OWNERS) v. BRANDY, [1911] A. C. 413; 80 L. J. K. B. 1067; 105 L. T. 116; 27 T. L. R. 497; 55 Sol. Jo. 579; 4 B. W. C. C. 307, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BRANDY v. RAPHAEL (OWNERS), [1911] 1 K. B. 376, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Port of London Authority v. Gray, [1919] 1 K. B. 65.

3471. —— Casual labourer.]—CUE v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3333, ante.

3472. —— Miner acting as trade union delegate.]—A miner was injured at work in circumstances which admittedly entitled him to compensation from the mine owners. In assessing his average weekly earnings, it was contended on his behalf that there should be included, in addition to his weekly wages as a miner, certain payments made to him, during the twelve months prior to the accident, (a) by his union, for carrying out the duties of a branch delegate, he having been elected as such by his branch in accordance with the rules of the union; (b) from a fund, contributed to by his fellow miners, for acting as the person appointed by them to inspect the mine under Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 16 (1); & (c) from a similar fund, for carrying out inspecting work with reference to certain matters arising under the Coal Mines (Minimum Wage) Act, 1912 (c. 2), s. 1 (2). During the time the man was carrying out the above duties he was not paid by the mine owners:—Held: the additional payments could not be included in assessing the miner's average weekly earnings; they were not received under concurrent contracts of service because with regard to (a) there was no relation of master & servant between the delegate & his branch, or his union, & no contract of service therefore existed; with regard to (b) & (c) the miner in carrying out his statutory duties, acted as a skilled expert, was subject to no control, & was therefore also under no contract of service; the payments were not received in respect of any work done in fulfilment of the miner's contract of service with the owners, & the principle of Great Western Ry. Co. v. Helps, No. 3420, ante, did not therefore apply.—WILD v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., [1919] 1 K. B. 134; 88 L. J. K. B. 119; 120 L. T. 143; 35 T. L. R. 51; 63 Sol. Jo. 67; 11 B. W. C. C. 237, C. A.

3473. —— Miner acting as statutory inspector.]—WILD v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., No. 3472, ante.

(c) Break in Employment.

i. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (iii).

3474. How calculated—From commencement of new employment.]—HEWLETT v. HEPBURN & CO., No. 3480, post.

3475. —— ——.]—A workman was employed by a firm of coal-owners from Oct. 3, 1897, to Mar. 31, 1898, when the workman went out on strike & the contract of employment was duly determined by notice. He remained on strike for five months, & on Sept. 12, 1898, again entered the service of the same employers under a fresh contract of employment containing different terms; on Oct. 3, 1898, he was injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment:—Held: the period of employment contemplated by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I. (1) (b), was a substantially continuous employment during which the relation of master & servant substantially existed between the employer & workman, & therefore, in ascertaining the workman's average weekly earnings, regard could only be had to the period of employment between the end of the strike & the date of the accident, the employment before the strike having been duly determined by the act of the parties.—JONES v. OCEAN COAL CO., [1899] 2 Q. B. 124; 68 L. J. Q. B. 731; 80 L. T. 582; 47 W. R. 484; 15 T. L. R. 339; 43 Sol. Jo. 454; 1 W. C. C. 94, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Appleby v. Horseley Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 521. Folld. Giles v. Bolford, Smith, [1903] 1 K. B. 843. Distd. Price v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1917] 1 K. B. 780. Refd. Hathaway v. Argus Printing Co. (1900), 70 L. J. Q. B. 12; Gill v. Fortescue (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 577.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B. (e) i. & ii., & (f) i. & ii., & (g).]

3476. ——.]—A stevedore's labourer became entitled to receive from his employers, who were master stevedores, compensation for injury by accident. He had worked for them irregularly from time to time, according as his services were needed, for the twelve months preceding the accident. He was paid by the hour, it being an understood thing in this kind of employment that he would work overtime, at a larger rate of wages per hour, when required so to do. The county ct. judge found as a fact that he had worked continuously for the same employers for the seventeen days preceding the accident, & that for the eight days preceding that period of continuous work, there had been a break in the employment. He therefore awarded compensation upon the basis of the labourer's average weekly earnings, including therein the amount earned for overtime, during the period of seventeen days, preceding the accident:—Held: there being evidence justifying the finding by the county ct. judge as to the break in the employment, the compensation was assessed upon the right basis.—GILES v. BELFORD, SMITH & Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 843; 72 L. J. K. B. 569; 88 L. T. 754; 67 J. P. 399; 51 W. R. 692; 19 T. L. R. 422; 47 Sol. Jo. 470; 5 W. C. C. 136, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Gill v. Fortescue (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 577.

3477. ——.]—Deceased workman had been employed for three years; one hundred & nineteen weeks by one employer, then twenty-nine weeks by other employers, & then eight weeks by the first employer, when he was killed by accident. A claim for compensation was made on behalf of the children; the widow, who was joined as resp., took no part in this claim as she wished to make a claim under Lord Campbell's Act. The county ct. judge computed the average weekly earnings by treating the one hundred & nineteen weeks as continuous employment & dividing the total amount earned during this period by one hundred & nineteen & multiplying the result by one hundred & fifty-six. He awarded the total thus obtained to the children:—Held: there was misdirection, but the case being settled it should not be remitted. The children were entitled to the whole amount awarded as the widow had waived her rights to any share in the compensation.—GILL v. FORTESCUE (N.) & SONS, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 577, C. A.

ii. What Constitutes Break.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 10 (iii).

3478. Intermittent employment.]—WILLIAMS v. POULSON, No. 3495, post.

3479. ——.]—HUNTER v. SOUTH SHIELDS CORPN., No. 3494, post.

3480. Absence for eleven weeks—Return without fresh engagement.]—Where there has been a break in the employment, the average weekly earnings must be calculated from the commencement of the new employment. If a man is away from work for eleven weeks & returns without any fresh engagement, having left his tools on the job, there is evidence of a break in the employment.

Qu.: must there be a continuity of contractual engagement.—HEWLETT v. HEPBURN & Co. (1899), 16 T. L. R. 56; 2 W. C. C. 123, C. A.

3481. Strike.]—JONES v. OCEAN COAL CO., No. 3475, ante.

3482. ——.]—PRICE v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, No. 3325, ante.

3483. Absence from illness.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & Co. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3484. Change of grade.]—PRICE v. MARSDEN (J.) & SONS, No. 3487, post.

3485. ——.]—PERRY v. WRIGHT, CAIN v. LEYLAND & Co. (1900), LTD., BAILEY v. KENWORTHY, LTD., GOUGH v. CRAWSHAY BROTHERS, CYFARTHA, LTD., No. 3329, ante.

3486. —— As result of injury by accident.]—In Dec. 1908, a collier was injured by accident. In Dec. 1909, he tried to resume his old work as a collier with the same employers, but being unable to do it was given work by them as a ventilation or windroad man, work paid by the day, not piecework. In Jan. 1910, he died from an accident within the meaning of the Act. A county ct. judge held that there had been a break in the continuity of his employment & he assessed the compensation for the dependants upon the basis of his earnings as a windroad man:—Held: the question was one of fact for the county ct. judge, & there being evidence to support it, the ct. would not interfere with his decision.—WILLIAMS v. WYNNSTAY COLLIERIES, LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 473, C. A.

(f) Employment in Different Grades.

i. In General.

3487. Temporary employment in higher grade—Whole earnings to be taken into account.]—(1) The provision in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I. 1 (b), that where total or partial incapacity for work results from an injury, the subject of compensation under the Act, the amount of compensation shall be a weekly payment during the incapacity, after the second week, not exceeding 50 per cent. of the workman's average weekly earnings during the previous twelve months, "if he has been so long employed," means if he has been so long employed in the employment of the same employer.

(2) Where the workman has during the previous twelve months been employed in the employment of the same employer, compensation in case of personal injury must be based upon his average weekly earnings during the whole twelve months, although during the twelve months he may have passed into a higher grade of employment at higher weekly wages.—PRICE v. MARSDEN (J.) & SONS, [1899] 1 Q. B. 493; 68 L. J. Q. B. 307; 80 L. T. 15; 47 W. R. 274; 15 T. L. R. 184; 1 W. C. C. 108, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Williams v. Poulson, Re Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (1899), 63 J. P. 757. Refd. Hathaway v. Argus Printing Co. (1900), 70 L. J. Q. B. 12.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (e) ii.

3483 i. Absence from illness.]—GIBB v. DUNLOP & Co., LTD. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 971; 39 Sc. L. R. 750; 10 S. L. T. 184.—SCOT.

3483 ii. ——.]—CARTER v. LANG & SONS, [1908] S. C. 1198; 45 Sc. L. R. 938; 16 S. L. T. 345; 1 B. W. C. C. 379.—SCOT.

3484 i. Change of grade.]—DALGLEISH v. EDINBURGH ROPERIE & SAIL CLOTH CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 1007; 50 Sc. L. R. 916.—SCOT.

p. Dismissal in one capacity—Entering into employment in another capacity.]—HUNTER v. BAIRD (1904), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 304.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (f) i.

q. Temporary employment in higher grade—What earnings to be taken into account.]—BABCOCK & WILCOX, LTD. v. YOUNG (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 367.—SCOT.

3488. —— ——.]—A workman was employed as a casual labourer for five weeks, when he met with an accident in the course of that employment. Occasionally during that time he had been employed to take the place of a grinder who was ill, for which he received higher remuneration, but he had not been employed as a grinder for fourteen days before the accident:—Held: in considering the amount of compensation to be awarded, the earnings in both capacities should be taken into account.—DOBSON v. BRITISH OIL & CAKE MILLS, LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 922; 5 B. W. C. C. 405, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Edge v. Gorton, [1912] 3 K. B. 360. Folld. Jury v. S.S. Atlanta, [1912] 3 K. B. 366.

3489. —— ——.]—JURY v. ATLANTA (OWNERS), No. 3491, post.

3490. —— ——.]—EDGE v. GORTON (J.), LTD., No. 3493, post.

ii. What is Change of Grade.

3491. Question of law.]—A sailor who had for some time been employed in various capacities & at various rates of wages by applts., who were shipowners, on Feb. 3, 1912, was taken on temporarily as a mate in the place of his son, who had met with an accident. On Feb. 6, while thus employed as mate on board applts.' vessel, he was drowned. Upon an application for compensation by his dependants, the county ct. judge held that the man's "grade" at the time of his death was that of a mate, & he assessed compensation accordingly:—Held: the question of what grade the man occupied was not one merely of fact upon which the decision of the county ct. judge was final, but it was a question of law whether, upon the facts as found, the workman occupied a grade within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (1), (2); the workman was at the time of his death temporarily acting as a mate, & the county ct. judge must ascertain as best he could the "average weekly earnings" of the man, taking into consideration the various rates of his wages.—JURY v. ATLANTA (OWNERS), [1912] 3 K. B. 366; 81 L. J. K. B. 1182; 107 L. T. 366; 28 T. L. R. 562; 56 Sol. Jo. 703; 5 B. W. C. C. 681, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Barnett v. Port of London Authority, Priestley v. Port of London Authority, [1913] 2 K. B. 115; Snell v. Bristol Corpn., [1914] 2 K. B. 291.

3492. ——.]—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, PRIESTLEY v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3449, ante.

3493. Not temporary employment in higher grade.]—A workman was first employed by resps. on May 19, 1911, as a casual carter, his duty being to drive a one-horse cart. On July 27, 1911, he died from the effects of an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. At the date of the accident & for about a fortnight before he had been working for resps. as a casual teamster & receiving a higher wage. Upon an application by dependants of deceased for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge found as a fact that the workman had only been employed temporarily & casually as a teamster, & in calculating the "average weekly earnings" he took into account the total amount of wages earned by the workman, whether as a casual carter or as a casual teamster, from May 19 until his death:—Held: there had been no change of "grade" in the employment of the workman, & the method of calculation adopted by the county court judge was right.—EDGE v. GORTON (J.), LTD., [1912] 3 K. B. 360; 81 L. J. K. B. 1185; 107 L. T. 340; 28 T. L. R. 506; 56 Sol. Jo. 719; 5 B. W. C. C. 614, C. A.

(g) Casual Employment.

3494. General rule—Earnings of workman in same grade to be regarded.]—Appct., having registered at the Labour Exchange as an unemployed man, was given occasional relief by the resp. corpn. under a scheme whereby work was allocated among the unemployed. Appct. was first employed by resp. corpn. under the scheme in July, 1921, & afterwards for periods of one week each on eight occasions in a total period of forty-two weeks. In May, 1922, he was injured by accident in the course of his employment & claimed compensation. The county ct. judge held that the employment had been continuous, & awarded compensation on the basis of the average weekly earnings during the whole period of forty-two weeks, i.e. by dividing the actual amount earned by forty-two:—Held: the county ct. judge had assessed the compensation on a wrong basis; the employment was of a casual nature, & therefore regard should have been had to the average weekly amount earned by a person in the same grade as the injured workman.—HUNTER v. SOUTH SHIELDS CORPN. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 261, C. A.

3495. What may be taken into account—Earnings from other employers.]—A casual dock labourer met with an accident after being in employment for three & a half days. During the previous twelve months he had worked for many employers, & at various times for resp. who had engaged him in every week except four during a long period, but sometimes for only one day. The county ct. judge added together the sums earned in resp.'s employment during the twelve months, divided the total by fifty-two, & awarded 50 per cent. as weekly compensation:—Held: (1) earnings from other employers could not be taken into consideration, & weekly compensation should not be calculated when a workman had been in employment less than a week as if he had been in the employment for two weeks at the same rate of daily wages as he was earning at the time of the accident; (2) there was evidence of continuous employment.—WILLIAMS v. POULSON (1899), 63 J. P. 757; 16 T. L. R. 42; 2 W. C. C. 126, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Giles v. Belford, Smith, [1903] 1 K. B. 843. Refd. Hathaway v. Argus Printing Co. (1900), 70 L. J. Q. B. 12.

3496. —— ——.]—CUE v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3333, ante.

3497. —— ——.]—ALDERMAN v. WARREN, No. 2202, ante.

3498. —— ——.]—Appct. who was a dock labourer, met with an accident whilst in the employment of resps. which resulted in his total incapacity. His employment was of a casual nature: he was employed by the job, but paid daily. Although he worked principally for resps. he was in fact employed from time to time by other employers. In arbn. proceedings in the county ct. to determine the amount of the weekly payment to which appct. was entitled under Workmen's Compensation Acts, a statement was put in showing the payments made by resps. during the twelve months preceding the accident. This statement admittedly showed that in the last seven weeks, during which period he apparently worked for resps. alone, he received from them altogether a sum which, when divided by the number of weeks, gave an average of considerably over £3 per week. It was also admitted that the sum earned during the whole twelve months if divided by the number of days on which he was actually employed by resps. would work out at more than £3 per week, but that if divided by the number of weeks in which he worked for resps. it would give an average of considerably less than £3 per week. It was further admitted that during this period appct. worked for other employers besides resps. & appct. stated in evidence that if the sums received by him from such other employers were added to the amounts received from resps. his average earnings would amount to more than £3 per week. Resps. put in statements showing the amounts paid by them during the same twelve months to two other dock labourers in the same grade as appct. These statements did not show the number of days worked, but the total sum, earned in each case when divided by the number of weeks gave a figure of considerably less than £3. It was, however, admitted that each of these men worked during the twelve months for other employers besides resps. The county ct. judge, being of opinion that he had sufficient material to enable him to compute appct.'s "average weekly earning" without having recourse to the proviso in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (2) (a), held upon the evidence that appct. was being remunerated at the rate of over £3 per week, & made an award for the weekly sum of £1 10*s.*:—Held: the question was one of fact for the county ct. judge; in computing the average weekly earnings he was entitled to take into consideration the wages paid by the other employers besides resps., & there was evidence before him which enabled him to arrive at the conclusion he did.—TWIDALE v. LONDON & NORTH EASTERN RY. CO., [1925] 2 K. B. 455; 95 L. J. K. B. 292; 133 L. T. 442; 18 B. W. C. C. 218, C. A.

Sect. 13.—Amount of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B. (g). Sect. 14: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

3499. —— Not earnings in independent business—Rag & bone merchants.]—ALDERMAN v. WARREN, No. 2202, ante.

3500. —— —— Jobbing gardener.]—Appct. was in the employment of resp. as a jobbing gardener at wages which usually amounted to 10*s.* per week, he being regularly employed at the rate of 5*s.* per day one day per week, but as a rule he did another day's work for the same employer. He had been in that employment for more than twelve months before Feb. 9, 1915, on which date he met with an accident while engaged in trimming a hedge which resulted in the loss of his left eye. Liability on the part of resp. to pay compensation to appct. was admitted. The only question, therefore, to be determined was the amount of the compensation payable to appct. It appeared from appct.'s evidence that he was engaged on various other jobs of a casual nature. But there was no evidence to show that any of such casual employment constituted a true contract of service:—Held: regard must be had only to the wages that appct. earned from resp. for the twelve months previous to the accident; & the fact that his income was increased by earnings derived from work not performed under contract of service could not be taken into consideration.—SALES v. ABBOTT (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1666; 114 L. T. 819; 32 T. L. R. 374; 9 B. W. C. C. 333, C. A.

3501. Employment for short period—Fruit picker.]—A fruit picker was employed in the fruit picking season for three weeks, & had earned 32*s.* 11*d.* when she met with an accident. She had not been employed at all during the previous twelve months, but had picked fruit in the season of the year before that. The county ct. judge estimated the average weekly earnings of a damson picker, earning 11*s.* a day during the season, at 70*s.* a year or 1*s.* 4*d.* a week, & awarded 8*d.* a week compensation. The fruit picker appealed on the ground that the county ct. judge had estimated the earnings in the wrong grade of fruit pickers:—Held: without deciding any question of grade, the judge had made the best estimate possible in the circumstances.—WILLIAMS v. HOLLINGS (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 47, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Bones v. Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1900), Ltd. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 456.

3502. —— Schoolboy employed in holidays.]—A schoolboy, eleven years of age, was employed in the last week of his Christmas holidays, in Dec. 1918, under a permit to his employers to employ schoolboys during their holidays, on a casual job at a wage of 1*s.* a day. He met with an accident on the first day of his employment, by which he lost his left leg. There was no evidence that he had ever earned any money before, or was likely to earn any money again, at similar jobs in his holidays. It was admitted that he also earned 2*s.* a week from a greengrocer. The arbitrator computed his average weekly earnings per annum from the employment at 2*d.* a week, based on a probable duration of employment of one week per annum at 6*s.* a week, making with the 2*s.* a week from the greengrocer 2*s.* 2*d.* a week, which sum he awarded as compensation:—Held: the arbitrator had properly computed the compensation in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 2 (a).—BONES v. ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS (1900), LTD. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 456; 124 L. T. 1; 13 B. W. C. C. 120, C. A.

SECT. 14.—ORDERS AND AWARDS AS TO COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—RETROSPECTIVE ORDERS AND AWARDS.

3503. Whether court has power to make——Application specifying no date for complete recovery—From date prior to hearing of application.]—When an application to review a weekly payment made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), on the ground that the workman's incapacity has ceased, is brought before an arbitrator, he is not bound to treat the agreement for or award of a weekly payment as enforceable up to the time of his decision, but has jurisdiction to inquire whether the incapacity had ceased when the application to review was made, or at any & what subsequent time before the hearing, & to make his award with reference to the date so determined.—MORTON & CO., LTD. v. WOODWARD, [1902] 2 K. B. 276; 71 L. J. K. B. 736; 86 L. T. 878; 66 J. P. 660; 51 W. R. 54; 4 W. C. C. 143, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Charing Cross, Euston & Hampstead Ry. v. Boots, [1909] 2 K. B. 640. Apprvd. Gibson v. Wishart, [1915] A. C. 18. Refd. Upper Forest & Western Steel & Tinplate Co. v. Thomas, [1909] 2 K. B. 631; Ocean Coal Co. v. Davies (1926), 135 L. T. 498.

3504. —— —— Not from date anterior to application.]—An application under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), to record an agreement between a workman who had been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment & his employer for payment of a weekly sum to the workman during incapacity was opposed by the employer on the ground that the man had recovered. The county ct. judge, however, ordered the agreement to be recorded, but granted a stay to enable the employer to apply for a review. The employer by his application to review asked for termination of the weekly payment, the ground alleged in the particulars being that "resp. has completely recovered" from the accident, without specifying any date. The county ct. judge found that the incapacity of the workman had ceased at an antecedent date & ordered that the payment should terminate from that date:—Held: upon an application to review in this form the judge had no jurisdiction to order a review from a date antecedent to the application, & the award ought to be set aside.—UPPER FOREST & WESTERN STEEL & TINPLATE CO., LTD. v. THOMAS, [1909] 2 K. B. 631; 78 L. J. K. B. 1113; 2 B. W. C. C. 414, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Charing Cross, Euston & Hampstead Ry. v. Boots, [1909] 2 K. B. 340. Refd. Gibson v. Wishart, [1915] A. C. 18.

3505. —— —— ——.]—(1) Upon an application under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for a review & termination of a weekly payment payable by way of compensation to a workman who has been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, under an agreement between the employer & the workman, where the ground on which termination is claimed is stated in the particulars to be that the incapacity resulting from the injury has ceased, without specifying any date, it is not competent to the arbitrator to award that the payment shall terminate from a date antecedent to the application to review.

(2) Semble: where the application to review asks in express terms for termination from a definite antecedent date it is competent to the arbitrator to order termination from that date.—CHARING CROSS, EUSTON & HAMPSTEAD RY. CO. v. BOOTS, [1909] 2 K. B. 640; 78 L. J. K. B. 1115; 101 L. T. 53; 25 T. L. R. 683; 2 B. W. C. C. 385, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Bagley v. Furness, Withy, [1914] 3 K. B. 974. Apprvd. Gibson v. Wishart, [1915] A. C. 18. Generally, Mentd. Cory v. Hughes, [1911] 2 K. B. 738; Popple v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., [1912] 2 K. B. 141.

3506. —— Where such order expressly asked for.]—CHARING CROSS, EUSTON & HAMPSTEAD RY. CO. v. BOOTS, No. 3505, ante.

3507. —— ——.]—WILLIAMS v. BWLLFA & MERTHYR DARE STEAM COLLIERIES (1891), LTD., No. 3760, post.

3508. —— ——.]—BRIGGS v. DRYDEN (T.) & SONS, TALBOT v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3752, post.

3509. —— Date of recovery fairly raised.]—Upon an application under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for a review & termination of a weekly payment payable by way of compensation to a workman who had been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, where the issue whether the incapacity has ceased & when is fairly raised, there is jurisdiction to make an order terminating the weekly payment as from a date antecedent to the date of the application for review.—BAGLEY v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO., LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 974; 83 L. J. K. B. 1546; 7 B. W. C. C. 560, C. A.

3510. —— ——.]—A workman was injured by accident in the course of his employment & obtained an award of compensation on the basis of total incapacity. Subsequently, being partially recovered, he was given light work by his employers at reduced wages. The employers on Apr. 15, 1922, filed a request for review of the weekly payment & asked for a diminution, adding that the injured workman had been working for them & receiving wages from Nov. 21, 1921. The deputy county ct. judge ordered diminution from Mar. 6, 1922:—Held: the application to diminish, coupled with the statement that the workman had been earning since Nov. 21, 1921, gave the judge power to diminish the weekly payment as from that date, which on the evidence he should have done.—CHURCH, ASHBY & CO. v. WADDINGTON (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 183, C. A.

3511. —— Payment in fact terminated from antecedent date.]—Where an injured workman who is in receipt of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), completely recovers from his incapacity, & no further payment is made to him thereafter it is competent to the arbitrator, upon an application to review asking for the termination of the weekly payments as from the date of recovery, to terminate the weekly payments as from that date. Semble: the same principle applies to an application to diminish or increase the weekly payments.

Qu.: whether payments made after the date of recovery can be recovered by the employer.—GIBSON (GEORGE) & CO. v. WISHART, [1915] A. C. 18; 83 L. J. P. C. 321; 111 L. T. 466; 30 T. L. R. 540; 58 Sol. Jo. 592; 7 B. W. C. C. 348, H. L.

Annotations:—Folld. Bagley v. Furness, Withy, [1914] 3 K. B. 974. Apld. Church, Ashby v. Waddington (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 183; Talbot v. Vickers, [1925] 2 K. B. 682. Consd. Ocean Coal Co. v. Davies (1926), 43 T. L. R. 108. Refd. Watson v. Beardmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 913. Mentd. Hunter v. Städtische Hochseefischerei Gesellschaft, [1925] 2 K. B. 493; Lindsay v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 600.

3512. —— Necessity for evidence of incapacity during period.]—WILLIAMS v. BWLLFA & MERTHYR DARE STEAM COLLIERIES (1891), LTD., No. 3760, post.

Set off of overpayment.]—See Sub-sect. 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PROSPECTIVE ORDERS AND AWARDS.

3513. Validity of—Jurisdiction of arbitrator—Onus shifted to workman.]—On an application to review weekly payments under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an arbitrator has no jurisdiction to make a prospective award terminating the compensation at a given date. An arbitrator has only jurisdiction to award payments during the incapacity of the workman, & his duty is to ascertain what is the workman's earning capacity at the date of the application & to award accordingly, leaving it to the employer to apply for a reduction in the event of the workman's recovery. A prospective award is also wrong inasmuch as it shifts the onus of proof from the employer to the workman in a way that may be unfair to the workman.

It is not competent for a county ct. judge acting as arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to make a prospective award of so much a week for a certain time, & after that time a smaller sum.—BAKER v. JEWELL, [1910] 2 K. B. 673; 79 L. J. K. B. 1092; 103 L. T. 173; 3 B. W. C. C. 503, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Walton v. South Kirkby, Featherstone & Hemsworth Colliery (1912), 107 L. T. 337. Expld. Evans v. Barrow Hæmatite Steel Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 681. Mentd. Newhouse v. Johnson (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 137; Calico Printers' Assocn. v. Higham, [1912] 1 K. B. 93; Turner v. Lee (1925), 133 L. T. 67.

3514. —— —— ——.]—WALTON v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE, & HEMSWORTH COLLIERY, LTD., No. 3738, post.

r. Order that ought not to be made.]—ALLAN v. SPOWART & CO., LTD. (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 811.—SCOT.

Sect. 14.—Orders and awards as to compensation: Sub-sect. 6, A., B., C. & D. (a) & (b).]

the event of prospective loss, was a question of fact, with the decision of which the ct. could not interfere.—EMMERSON v. DONKIN & Co. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 74, C. A.

3535. —— ——.]—A workman injured one finger in July, 1909, & compensation was paid under a registered agreement. On Nov. 26, 1909, the workman admitted to the employers' doctor that he was able to work, but on Jan. 17, 1910, when the employers applied to terminate the agreement, the tip of the finger was still slightly tender. The arbitrator terminated the compensation, & refused to make a suspensory award:—Held: the decision was on a question of fact, & there was evidence to support it; it was not a proper case for a suspensory award.—GOODALL & CLARKE v. KRAMER (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 315, C. A.

3536. —— ——.]—FURNESS, WITHY & Co. v. BENNETT, No. 3276, ante.

3537. —— ——.]—An injured workman was given light work & part compensation. The compensation was stopped, & he was offered his old work. He brought proceedings for part compensation. The medical referee reported that he was probably able, at the date when compensation was stopped, to do his old work. The county ct. judge therefore gave no compensation, but made a declaration of liability:—Held: there was evidence to support the order.—PARRY v. RHYMNEY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 632, C. A.

3538. —— ——.]—BAYNTON v. MANGANESE, BRONZE & BRASS CO., LTD., No. 3532, ante.

3539. —— ——.]—GRIFFIN v. WHITE (SAMUEL) & CO., LTD., No. 3221, ante.

3540. —— ——.]—WATKINS v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3601, post.

3541. —— Merely because injury severe.]—FOSTER v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., No. 3559, post.

B. Time for Application.

3542. No statutory limit of time—Promptness essential.]—FOSTER v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., No. 3559, post.

3543. As early as possible—Not later than opening case.]—A workman who had admittedly in the course of his employment met with an accident whereby amputation of the second finger of his left hand was necessary, after receiving full compensation, subsequently returned to his employers & was given light work. He worked for a short time & then became incapable of further work by reason of traumatic neurasthenia, in respect of which he claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), during incapacity. Medical evidence was given that the neurasthenia was a consequence of the accident, but it was suggested by one medical witness that appct. might have "brooded" over his troubles & thus aggravated his condition. The county ct. judge found that the workman's condition was due to his having brooded over his troubles & refused to grant compensation. At the conclusion of the judgment appct.'s counsel asked for a declaration of liability, but the judge refused to grant it:—Held: (1) there was no substantial evidence that the neurasthenia was a result of appct.'s alleged brooding, & that there must be a new trial; (2) in regard to the declaration of liability, it was not proper to ask for it at so late a stage in the proceedings. Either party might apply for such a declaration, but should do so at the earliest possible moment, & certainly not later than the opening of the case, so as to give the other party an opportunity of assenting to it or producing evidence.—MARSHALL v. CLAYTON & SHUTTLEWORTH, [1919] 1 K. B. 509; 88 L. J. K. B. 516; 120 L. T. 452; 63 Sol. Jo. 265; 12 B. W. C. C. 47, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Ashrody v. City of Edinburgh (Owners), [1920] 1 K. B. 301. Reid. Baynton v. Manganese, Bronze & Brass Co. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 59; Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 701; Statham v. Oxcroft Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 271.

3544. May be made by either party.]—MARSHALL v. CLAYTON & SHUTTLEWORTH, No. 3543, ante.

C. Form.

3545. Where no incapacity has ensued.]—KING v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, No. 3548, post.

D. When Made.

(a) In General.

3546. May be made by consent.]—A workman with a steel splinter in his eye suffered no serious inconvenience for three & a half years. The splinter was then removed by an operation which did not necessitate the man being absent from work for a full week. He applied for a declaration of liability. The employers opposed this & denied accident; they also pleaded want of notice. The county ct. judge dismissed the application. On appeal a declaration of liability was granted by consent.—MILNE v. PETRIE (JOHN) JUNIOR, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 84, C. A.

3547. May be made on original application—Or on review.]—On a workman's application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), a suspensory award may be made on an original application for compensation as well as on an application to review under Schedule I., clause 16 of the Act. If the workman's application is dismissed without any such suspensory award being made the matter is res judicata & no subsequent application for compensation can be entertained in respect of the same accident, although the workman's capacity for work may have altered in the meantime.

In cases of a permanent physical injury the arbitrator, if satisfied that the workman's incapacity for work has for the time ceased, ought as a general rule, inasmuch as in such a case an incapacity for work due to the injury may supervene at a later time, not to make an award simply terminating the weekly payment, but should make an order keeping alive the employer's liability (KENNEDY, L.J.).—GREEN v. CAMMELL, LAIRD & Co., LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 665; 82 L. J. K. B. 1230; 109 L. T. 202; 29 T. L. R. 703; 6 B. W. C. C. 735, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Watson v. Beardmore (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 913. Reid. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1.

3548. ——.]—A workman, who was practically blind in his right eye from childhood, received a blow in this eye from a sling rope while he was working for resps. This happened on Dec. 18,

PART XIV. SECT. 14, SUB-SECT. 6.—D. (a).

3546 1. May be made by consent.]—BENT COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. O'HARE, CADZOW COAL CO., LTD. v. HASSAN, WATSON (JOHN), LTD. v. FITZPATRICK, SAME v. SCULLION, M'ANDREW & Co., LTD. v. BARKAUSAS, WATSON (JOHN), LTD. v. COLLINS (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 424.—SCOT.

1. Memorandum of agreement not superseded.]—BAIRD (WILLIAM) & Co., LTD. v. M'WHINNIE (1908), 1 B. W. C. C. 109.—SCOT.

2. Whether period subsequent to recording of memorandum.]—FIFE COAL CO., LTD. v. LINDSAY, [1908] S. C.

1915. He reported the facts to the foreman the same day, & again reported it to one of resp.'s agents on Dec. 20, 1915. The eye became inflamed, & he attended hospital for treatment, but continued at his work. The eye got worse, & he had an interview with resps.' superintendent manager, who advised that he should be put on a lighter job. Resps. thereupon gave him lighter work, but continued his pay at the same rate. He continued at this until Mar. 1916, when he resumed his old work at the same wages. In Feb. 1917, he was dismissed for reasons unconnected with the accident, but was able to find work elsewhere at higher wages. He then applied on July 12, 1917, for a declaration of liability against his former employers. At the hearing there was medical evidence to the effect that the accident "would aggravate the condition of the defect in the eye, & precipitate, probably, the necessity of removal." The county ct. judge made an award, granting a declaration of liability, but the Ct. of Appeal set this aside on the ground that there was no evidence to support the award, & no jurisdiction in such circumstances to grant a declaration of liability. The workman appealed to the House of Lords:—Held: (1) though the findings in the county ct. judge's judgment were obscure, it appeared that he had intended to find that there was reasonable probability of future incapacity resulting from the injury; there was evidence to support such a finding & jurisdiction to make the award; (2) without questioning the validity of an award for a declaration of liability or 1*d.* a week compensation, the better order in such cases is "that the arbn. do stand adjourned," reserving to each of the parties liberty to make such further application in the matter as he or they may be advised. Such an order can be made on an original application, or one by way of review, where it is found by the judge that there has been an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment, & though there is no present incapacity for work there is a "reasonable probability that such incapacity may ensue."

(3) In the above circumstances resps. also raised the objection that no claim had been made within six months. The county ct. judge upon this point said, "I think the circumstances disclosed in this case, which I need not elaborate, are such as enable me to afford the relief which is provided by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2 (1) (b)." The Ct. of Appeal held that this was not a finding that the delay was excused for any reason within the Act, & that being the case the claim must fail:—Held: the statement by the learned county ct. judge amounted to a finding that the delay was excused by reasonable cause, & there was evidence to support such a finding; in law the facts proved in this case constituted a reasonable cause for the delay in making a claim.

(4) Arbitrators, in cases of this kind, whether they be county ct. judges or other, should make it clear on the face of their awards what are their rulings on pure questions of fact, what on questions of law & what on mixed questions of law & fact (LORD ATKINSON).—KING v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY, [1920] A. C. 1; 88 L. J. K. B. 889; 121 L. T. 587; 35 T. L. R. 622; 63 Sol. Jo. 661; 12 B. W. C. C. 260, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Foster v. Wharncliffe Woodmoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 701; Statham v. Oxcroft Colliery Co. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 271. As to (2) Folld. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284. Consd. Lomax v. Sutton Heath & Lea Green Collieries (1926), 135 L. T. 564. As to (3) Consd. Hillman v. L. B. & S. C. Ry., [1920] 1 K. B. 284; Lingley v. Firth, [1921] 1 K. B. 655. Reld. Leslie v. Robson (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 150; Fenton v. Kelvin (Owners), [1925] 2 K. B. 473. As to (4) Reld. Harrison v. Matthews (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 109; Slater v. Maconochie (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238.

(b) Possibility of Recurrence of Incapacity.

3549. General rule.]—POMPHREY v. SOUTHWARK PRESS, No. 3414, ante.

3550. ——.]—On an application by an employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16), to have the weekly payments reviewed on the ground that the incapacity no longer existed, there is jurisdiction, in a case where the incapacity, owing to the effects of the original accident, may recur, to suspend instead of ending the compensation by awarding a nominal sum or by making a declaration of continuing liability, & this is the proper course to be adopted in these cases.—TYNRON (OWNERS) v. MORGAN, [1909] 2 K. B. 66; 78 L. J. K. B. 857; 100 L. T. 641; 2 B. W. C. C. 406, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Griga v. Harelda (Owners) (1910), 26 T. L. R. 272; Chapman v. Sage (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 47. Reld. L. & N. W. Ry. v. Taylor (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 11; Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665; Wardell v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 124. Mentd. Birmingham Cabinet Manufacturing Co. v. Dudley (1910), 102 L. T. 619.

3551. ——.]—While at work on board a vessel appct. fell & ruptured himself. He was laid up for a short time & then returned to work. Later, he was medically examined, & the result of that examination was that he was ruptured, but was fit for work if he wore a proper truss & took proper precautions. On an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the county ct. judge refused to award any compensation or to make a suspensory order so as to keep the employers' liability alive:—Held: a suspensory award of 1*d.* a week should have been made so as to preserve the right of the appct. in the event of future trouble arising as the result of his injury.—GRIGA v. HARELDA (OWNERS) (1910), 26 T. L. R. 272; 3 B. W. C. C. 116, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665. Folld. Chapman v. Sage (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 471. Consd. King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1.

3552. ——.]—COX v. BRAITHWAITE & KIRK, No. 3715, ante.

3553. ——.]—GREEN v. CAMMELL, LAIRD & CO., LTD., No. 3547, ante.

3554. ——.]—A workman suffered a rupture from accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. His wife made him a belt with a pad to keep the rupture up, & he continued for some time in the same employment at the same wages. He was subsequently discharged from this employment, & gave evidence that he had found it difficult to get other work, & made a claim for compensation. Medical evidence was given that he was not in a worse condition than before the accident provided he wore an efficient truss. The county ct. judge declined to make an award in appct.'s favour:—Held: the workman having suffered a permanent injury, with a possibility of incapacity in the future if he did not take certain precautions, the county ct. judge should have made a declaration of liability, or a nominal award in appct.'s favour, which would be open to review in the future.—CHAPMAN v. SAGE & CO., LTD. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 471; 113 L. T. 623; 8 B. W. C. C. 559, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. Wardell v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 124; Slater v. Maconochie (1920), 89 L. J. K. B. 1238. Mentd. Higgins v. Higgins (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 1224.

Sect. 14.—Orders and awards as to compensation: Sub-sect. 6, D. (b), (c) & (d). Sect. 15: Sub-sect. 1.]

3555. Conflicting opinions of doctors.]—HIGGS & HILL, LTD. v. UNICUMBE, No. 3258, ante.

No probability of recurrence—Declaration should not be made.]—See Sub-sect. 5, ante.

(c) Earning or Able to Earn Same Wages as before Accident.

3556. Workman in fact earning same or greater wages.]—A workman was employed as foreman in a carpet-weaving factory; his principal duty was to supervise the hands, but he also to the knowledge of his employer used to set up & adjust the machines. While adjusting a machine he received an injury necessitating the amputation of his thumb; he continued however to attend regularly to his work, only absenting himself from the factory for a sufficient time to enable him to have his hand dressed. He was incapacitated by the accident from setting up & adjusting the machines, & his work was afterwards confined to the supervision of the hands. His employer continued to pay his wages at the same rate after as before the accident; but it was admitted that, should he leave his employer's service, his wage-earning power as a foreman in any other factory would be materially decreased: —Held: (1) as the workman had been prevented by reason of the accident from doing a substantial part of the work at which he had previously earned his wages, he had been disabled for two weeks from earning full wages "at the work at which he was employed" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (2) (a); (2) as the workman had hitherto suffered no pecuniary loss, the proper course was to make a declaration of the liability of the employer, leaving the amount & duration of the compensation to be fixed upon an application under sched. I., clause 12, to vary the award, should the workman at any future time be unable by reason of the accident to earn the same wages.

We have ever held that a finding of fact of a county ct. judge binds us & that it is only on a matter of law that there is an appeal; but if a learned county ct. judge decides a fact when there is no evidence upon which he could find it, this is a matter of law, for in such a case he has misdirected himself, & this is law (A. L. SMITH, L.J.).—CHANDLER v. SMITH, [1899] 2 Q. B. 506; 68 L. J. Q. B. 908; 81 L. T. 317; 47 W. R. 677; 15 T. L. R. 480; 1 W. C. C. 19, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Reld. Hewitt v. Hepburn (1900), 44 Sol. Jo. 330; Marshall v. Clayton & Shuttleworth, [1919] 1 K. B. 509; King v. Port of London Authority, [1920] A. C. 1.

3557. ——.]—POMPHREY v. SOUTHWARK PRESS, No. 3414, ante.

3558. ——.]—DUBERLEY v. MACE, No. 3382, ante.

3559. —— Reasonable probability of not being able to earn them in future.]—A miner, in the course of his employment on Sept. 30, 1912, met with an accident, which resulted in the loss of one of his eyes. He was paid compensation during total incapacity until he returned to work in Dec. 1912. He continued in the same employment until Nov. 1921, at wages higher than he had earned before the accident. Nine years after the accident he took proceedings to obtain a declaration of liability against his employers. There was no evidence of any change of circumstances, or that it was reasonably probable that in consequence of the accident incapacity to earn the same wages as he earned before would arise at a later date. The county ct. judge held that inasmuch as no time was limited by the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), or by any case decided thereunder, within which an injured workman must make a claim for a declaration, it was open to him at any time to ask for one; the point at issue was whether the injury he had suffered was such as to render the workman an "odd lot" in the labour market & prevent his obtaining work in the event of his being discharged by the employer in whose service he was at the time of the accident, so that incapacity to earn wages might ensue; upon these grounds he made a declaration of liability against the employers:—Held: (1) he had misunderstood the meaning of the expression an "odd lot." It was not necessary to prove that a man or his labour was an "odd lot" in order to obtain a declaration of liability. If he showed that, although there was no loss of earning capacity at the moment, there was a reasonable probability that he would be wholly or partially incapacitated from earning his old wages in future, he might be entitled to a declaration. It was putting too heavy a burden on the workman to say that the issue was whether he was an "odd lot" or not. But on the evidence in this case the workman was not entitled to a declaration.

(2) The mere fact that there has been a serious injury does not justify a declaration being granted where there is no claim for compensation by reason of the workman being at the time employed at full wages.

(3) There are certain propositions, I think, about which there does not seem to be very much dispute with regard to the declaration of liability. There is no statutory limit of time within which it must be applied for. Also it has been said over & over again, & I do not think anything has ever been said to the contrary, that in ordinary circumstances it should be applied for promptly (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—FOSTER v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., [1922] 2 K. B. 701; sub nom. FOSTER v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., FARMERY v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., BATEMAN v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., GOODLIFFE v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., PARRY v. WHARNCLIFFE WOODMOOR COLLIERY CO., LTD., 92 L. J. K. B. 5; 127 L. T. 771; 38 T. L. R. 729; 66 Sol. Jo. 594; 15 B. W. C. C. 136, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Wilmot v. Askern Coal & Iron Co. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 17; Clarke v. United Steel Cos. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 525. Reld. Clay v. Sherwood Colliery Co. (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 169; Purdie v. Colville (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 307; Palmer v. Crawshay (Cyfarthfa) (1926), 135 L. T. 355.

3560. Capacity to earn same or greater wages—Prevented by own misconduct.]—A workman was partially incapacitated by an accident, & the injury was permanent, but his employers found him work in another capacity at a higher wage than that at which they had employed him before the accident. From this employment he was dismissed by reason of his own misconduct. The workman took proceedings for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), from the employers, but the county ct. judge made his award in favour of the employers on the ground that the workman's incapacity was due to his own misconduct. The workman had asked for substantial compensation & did not ask for a suspensory award of 1*d.* a week:—Held: the workman, though somewhat disabled, had the capacity to earn the same wages as formerly, & was only prevented from doing so through his own misconduct, he was not entitled to a substantial award.—HILL v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 29, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 14, SUB-SECT. 6.—D. (c).

3556 i. Workman in fact earning same or greater wages.]—SMITH v. KAURI TIMBER CO., LTD., [1918] N. Z. L. R. 536.—N.Z.

3556 ii. ——.]—HUSBAND v. CAMPBELL (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1146.—SCOT.

3561. —— Prevented by action of trade union.]—THOMPSON v. JOHNSON (RICHARD) & NEPHEW, LTD., No. 3240, ante.

3562. —— ——.]—WILLIAMS v. OAKWOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3241, ante.

(d) Earning Capacity Narrowed.

3563. Declaration of liability to be made.]—A seamstress, while employed as a seam-presser, lost the top of her sewing finger as the result of an accident which happened in the course of her employment. In arbn. proceedings the county ct. judge made an award in her favour on the footing that she was a seam-presser & a seam-presser only, & omitted to take into consideration the question whether, owing to her inability to use her sewing finger, her earning capacity had been narrowed. No declaration of liability was asked for or made:—Held: while the decision of the county ct. judge ought to be supported, so far as his finding affected her capacity as a seam-presser, he was wrong in saying that there were no grounds for making a declaration of liability, & she was in the circumstances entitled to such a declaration.—SUMMERS v. GENESE & YOUNG (1922), 129 L. T. 11; 16 B. W. C. C. 52, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Donn v. British Oil & Cake Mills (1923), 129 L. T. 680.

3564. ——.]—Appct., who had formerly been a bootmaker, was, in Feb. 1921, accidentally injured while employed as a rollerman by resps., & it became necessary for the tip of his left thumb to be amputated. A declaration of liability was filed. Subsequently an application for compensation was heard & evidence tendered to the effect that the injury prevented the man obtaining his old work as a bootmaker. The county ct. judge treated this evidence as irrelevant, &, upon evidence that the man was neither totally nor partially incapacitated for employment similar to that in which he was engaged at the time of the accident, dismissed the application & made a declaration terminating the liability of the employers:—Held: the county ct. judge was wrong in disregarding appct.'s incapacity for other employment which might be open to him but for his injury. Declaration of liability to continue.—DONN v. BRITISH OIL & CAKE MILLS, LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 680; 16 B. W. C. C. 171, C. A.

SECT. 15.—AGREEMENTS FOR COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

3565. Agreement as bar to other proceedings by workman—Action for damages—Agreement made on behalf of infant—Not to his benefit.]—STEPHENS v. DUDBRIDGE IRONWORKS CO., No. 4070, post.

—— Arbitration.]—See Sect. 10, sub-sect. 1, ante.

3566. Agreement as estoppel of liability by master.]—WILLIAMS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD., No. 3718, post.

3567. Agreement with dependants—Infant dependant—Approval of registrar necessary to validity.]—Where a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is made by dependants some of whom are infants & the employer admits liability, & some one on behalf of the infant dependants enters into a conditional agreement with the employer as to the amount of compensation, the agreement has no validity until it has come before the registrar of the county ct., whose duty it is to consider it on behalf of the infants; but if the money is sent to the registrar for payment into ct. under Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, para. 4, r. 56A, upon a præcipe according to Form 53A, & the registrar signifies his approval by signing a receipt for the money, the agreement becomes binding for all purposes, & the employer is freed from all further liability, & the county ct. judge has no jurisdiction to require his appearance in any further proceedings, e.g. proceedings as to the apportionment of the money in ct.

An agreement as to the amount of compensation payable to dependants under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), ought not to be signed by the dependants' solr. on their behalf.

The employer ought not to be liable for the costs of appearing in a matter in which he has really no concern. In my view the order of the county ct. judge was wrong & the order for payment of costs must be discharged (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1909] 1 K. B. 191; 78 L. J. K. B. 141; 100 L. T. 14; 2 B. W. C. C. 377, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Ware v. Whitlock, [1923] 2 K. B. 418. Refd. Mullholland v. Whitehaven Colliery Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 278.

3568. —— —— Money sent for payment into court—Effect of acceptance by registrar.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3569. —— Signature by solicitor to dependants.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3570. Termination of agreement—On claim for compensation.]—A workman, having been in receipt of full compensation for some months, entered into an agreement with his old employers, to do light work at his former rate of wages, & that in the event of total incapacity recurring his rights under the Act should revive. He again became totally incapacitated, & claimed compensation, which was paid. He was subsequently offered light employment at reduced wages, with half the difference between his former & present wages. This offer he refused, claiming that, according to the terms of the agreement, he was entitled to full wages. The employers maintained that the agreement terminated when the subsequent claim for compensation was made, & that the workman was relegated to his rights under the Act. The county ct. judge upheld the contention of the employers:—Held: the agreement terminated on the recurrence of total incapacity & the claim for compensation being made, & did not afterwards revive.—BRANFORD v. NORTH EASTERN RY. CO. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 84, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 1.

k. Construction of agreement — Whether plaintiff "fit & capable of doing work."]—RUSSELL v. TWIN CITY COAL CO. (Alta.) (1917), 36 D. L. R. 235—CAN.

l. Agreement entered into in mutual error.]—DORNAN v. ALLAN & SON (1900), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 112; 38 Sc. L. R. 70; 8 S. L. T. 265.—SCOT.

m. ——.]—M'GUIRE v. PATERSON & CO., [1913] S. C. 400; 50 Sc. L. R. 289; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 32.—SCOT.

Sect. 15.—Agreements for compensation: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.] 3571. —— Power of judge to terminate.]—TAYLOR v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. CO., No. 3524, ante.

Need not be in writing—Implied agreements.]—See Sub-sect. 2, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—IMPLIED AGREEMENTS.

3572. Validity.]—JONES v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO., No. 3595, post.

3573. ——.]—GODBOLD v. LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL, No. 3578, post.

3574. From what implied—Course of conduct—Payment of compensation.]—PHILLIPS v. VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, No. 3596, post.

3575. —— —— ——.]—The mere payment by an employer of a weekly payment by way of compensation to a workman who has been injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1, does not suffice to establish that an agreement so to do has been come to, a memorandum of which is capable of being recorded pursuant to Sched. 2, s. 9, of that Act.—HARTSHORNE v. COPPICE COLLIERY CO. (1912), 106 L. T. 609; 5 B. W. C. C. 358, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Godbold v. L. C. C. (1914), 111 L. T. 691.

3576. —— —— ——.]—STANDING v. EASTWOOD & CO., No. 2058, ante.

3577. —— —— ——.]—A workman was injured in Aug. 1911, in the course of his employment by the negligent act of a third party. His employers made weekly payments of half wages, 12*s.* 5*d.*, which the man accepted, & for which he gave receipts headed with the words "Compassionate allowances." While in receipt of this he brought an action for damages against third parties, which was heard in Feb. 1912, but failed on the ground that he was in receipt of compensation. The employers still continued the weekly payments of 12*s.* 5*d.* In Apr. 1913, he applied for an award of 15*s.* basing the extra on the allegation that he had a concurrent contract with another employer to work on Sundays at the time of the accident:—Held: there was an implied agreement to accept 12*s.* 5*d.* a week in satisfaction of any claim for compensation.—FERRITER v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 732, C. A.

3578. —— —— ——.]—A workman having been injured by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment, his employers paid a weekly sum representing half his wages to the workman for a time & then discontinued the payment on the advice of their doctor that the workman had recovered from the effects of the accident. The workman subsequently applied to the registrar of the county ct. to record a memorandum of an alleged agreement. The workman sought by recording the memorandum of the alleged agreement to impose upon the employers the burden of showing that circumstances had been changed so that they would be entitled to claim a review of the agreement, which if recorded would have the effect of an award. The employers, however, contended that no such agreement as was alleged had in fact ever been entered into; that the county ct. judge could not make an agreement between the parties; but that the ct. could only record a memorandum of an agreement which had in fact been made:—Held: an agreement within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), need not be in writing, it might be inferred & implied by reason of the conduct of the parties & all the circumstances; but there was no evidence in the present case to support the view that any such document as was sought to be recorded was in fact entered into; & the learned county ct. judge had no jurisdiction to order an agreement to be recorded which was not really an agreement entered into between the parties.—GODBOLD v. LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL (1914), 111 L. T. 691; 7 B. W. C. C. 409, C. A.

3579. —— —— ——.]—SMITH v. REDPATH, BROWN & CO., LTD., No. 3074, ante.

3580. —— —— —— Receipts given by workman.]—MADDEN v. GUEST'S EXECUTORS, No. 3615, post.

3581. —— ——.]—An agreement to pay compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), may be implied from the conduct of the parties & a memorandum thereof recorded, notwithstanding the incapacity is alleged to have ceased.—HUMPHREYS v. LAW LAND BUILDING DEPARTMENT, LTD. (1912), 57 Sol. Jo. 114.

SUB-SECT. 3.—AGREEMENTS FOR LUMP SUM.

A. In General.

3582. Validity—Agreement apart from statutory provisions—Relating to redemption of weekly payments.]—There is nothing in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to prevent an adult workman before entering a claim for an award & before any payment of a weekly sum has been made to him from coming to an arrangement by way of compromise with his employer to accept a lump sum in satisfaction of all claims in respect of an injury occasioned by an accident which has happened to him whilst in the employer's service, & such agreement, if entered into, will be valid although not registered under the Act.

Clause 10 of Sched. II. presupposes that a weekly payment has been made which but for the existence of the agreement to pay a lump sum would have continued, & has no application to a case where no weekly payment has ever in fact been made.—RYAN v. HARTLEY, [1912] 2 K. B. 150; 81 L. J. K. B. 666; 106 L. T. 702; 5 B. W. C. C. 407.

Annotations:—Apld. Hudson v. Camberwell B. C. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 558; Williams v. Minister of Munitions (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1105. Consd. Haydock v. Goodier, [1921] 2 K. B. 384. Overd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309. Refd. Rawlings v. Hodgson (1918), 119 L. T. 137.

3583. ——.]—Under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an adult workman not under a disability is at liberty, before any weekly payment of compensation has been made to him, to agree with his employer to accept a lump sum in satisfaction for his claim to compensation; & upon an application to the county ct. to record such an agreement, neither the registrar nor the county ct. judge has any jurisdiction to refuse to record it upon any of the grounds set out in clause 9 (d) of Sched. II. of the Act, but the registrar must record the agreement on being satisfied of its genuineness.

PART XIV. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 3. —A.

n. Validity—Agreement apart from statutory provisions.]—WATERS v. CAPE & CO., LTD. (Que.) (1916), 23 R. de J. 410.—CAN.

o. —— ——.]—CARR v. IMPERIAL OIL CO., LTD., [1918] 1 W. W. R. 89; 38 D. L. R. 154; 10 Sask. L. R. 429.—CAN.

p. —— ——.]—BROWN (JOHN) & CO., LTD. v. BAIRD (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 289.—SCOT.

Where, therefore, on an application to record such an agreement supported by both the workman & his employers, the registrar refused to record it on the ground of the inadequacy of the lump sum, & referred it to the county ct. judge, who refused to record it on the grounds, that the agreement was tainted with fraud; that the lump sum was inadequate; & that the agreement amounted to contracting out of the Act:—Held: (1) both the registrar & county ct. judge had exceeded the limits of their jurisdiction, & the agreement must be recorded; (2) on the facts there was no evidence of fraud, & no county ct. judge ought to find fraud when it had not been suggested by the opposite side & when the person found guilty of fraud had had no opportunity of defending himself.—HUDSON v. CAMBERWELL BOROUGH COUNCIL (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 558; 116 L. T. 523; 10 B. W. C. C. 400, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Overd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3584. —— —— ——.]—The registrar, under Sched. II., clause (9) (d) of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), cannot refuse to record a memorandum of an agreement to pay a lump sum in satisfaction of all claims under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), if satisfied of its genuineness & that it has not been improperly obtained, upon the ground of the inadequacy of the sum, unless it is to be paid in redemption of a weekly payment, or to a person under legal disability, or to dependants.

The registrar refused to record a memorandum of an agreement to pay a lump sum in satisfaction of all claims under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), on the ground of the inadequacy of the sum. Weekly payments had been made, but not under any agreement, & at the time the agreement to pay the lump sum was entered into all weekly payments had ceased, the parties disputing the weekly amount payable. The workman was of full age & properly advised:—Held: the lump sum was not paid in redemption of any weekly payment, & the registrar had therefore no jurisdiction under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II., clause 9 (d), to refuse to record the memorandum on the ground of inadequacy, & the memorandum must be recorded.—RAWLINGS (H. D.), LTD. v. HODGSON (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 761; 119 L. T. 137; 62 Sol. Jo. 534; 11 B. W. C. C. 73, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Williams v. Minister of Munitions (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1105; Haydock v. Goodier, [1921] 2 K. B. 384. Overd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3585. —— —— ——.]—A workman met with an injury by accident, resulting in total incapacity. The employers admitted liability & paid him 19*s.* 2*d.* a week full compensation for several months after the accident. The workman had by that time sufficiently recovered to do some work, & the employers proposed to pay him 15*s.* a week for the next three months. This led to negotiations for the payment of a lump sum. The employers put forward a sum stated to be "in full settlement & discharge of all claims & demands whatsoever." The workman's solr. tried to obtain a larger sum on the ground, among others, that the registrar & judge would never sanction the sum suggested by the employers as adequate. The amount was slightly raised by the employers, & subsequently accepted by the workman. A memorandum was then sent for record, stating the agreement to be one for the redemption of a weekly payment by a lump sum, & the matter was referred to the judge on the question of adequacy. The judge refused to record on the ground that the sum was inadequate. An application for arbn. was then filed, but before the hearing another memorandum was sent for record, this time setting out the agreement as being one in full discharge, & not one in redemption of a weekly payment, & an answer was filed by the employers in the arbn. proceedings to the effect that all questions had been settled by agreement. The application to record was again referred to the judge by the registrar on the question of adequacy, & the matter was pending at the time of the hearing of the arbn. The judge, considering the sum inadequate, awarded weekly compensation:—Held: the agreement was not one in redemption of weekly payments, but was in respect of an unascertained liability, & being genuine, & not otherwise within Sched. II. (9) (d), should have been recorded by the registrar without reference to the judge. The employers were in no way estopped by the original mistake as to the true construction of the agreement, & were entitled to rely upon it as a complete answer to the workman's claim. The county ct. judge had, therefore, no jurisdiction to entertain the arbn.—WILLIAMS v. MINISTER OF MUNITIONS (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1105; 121 L. T. 341; 12 B. W. C. C. 213, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Haydock v. Goodier, [1921] 2 K. B. 384. Overd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3586. —— —— ——.]—An injured workman received full compensation for some time. On Dec. 15, 1919, payments were stopped, the employers alleging that the workman was no longer incapacitated. After certain negotiations for a settlement the parties ultimately, on May 8, 1920, agreed to a payment of £40 in full discharge of all liability. No weekly payments or compensation had been paid between Dec. 15, 1919, & May 8, 1920. An application was then made to the ct. to record a memorandum of this agreement. The registrar referred the matter to the judge on the ground of the adequacy of the amount, & the judge stated that he considered that the sum agreed upon was inadequate & refused to record the memorandum:—Held: the agreement was not one for the redemption of a weekly payment, & not being otherwise within Sched. II. (9) (d) the memorandum should have been recorded without reference to the amount. The appeal was allowed without costs, & an order made that the memorandum should be recorded.—PARK v. HUDSPITH (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 289, C. A.

3587. —— —— ——.]—A workman having met with an accident in the course of his employment filed a request for arbitration claiming compensation on the ground that he was totally incapacitated by reason of the accident. The employers disputed their liability on various grounds & did not make or agree to make any weekly payment. At the hearing the parties informed the county ct. judge that they had settled the matter for a lump sum of £150. The judge thereupon, at their request, made an award by consent for £150 & agreed costs in full satisfaction of all claims in respect of the injury by accident arising out of & in the course of the employment. Subsequently, on July 7, 1920, the workman, being still incapacitated, filed a further request for arbitration, claiming that notwithstanding the payment to him of the £150 he was entitled to be paid a further sum of 5*s.* per week to Jan. 1, 1920, under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42), & 15*s.* per week after that date under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Amendment Act, 1919 (c. 83). The county ct. judge made an award in the workman's favour. On appeal:—Held: (1) the consent award was not a redemption of a weekly payment, but a compromise of a disputed claim for a lump sum, & was final & therefore put an end to all claims in respect of this accident; (2) as no weekly payment had ever been made or agreed to be made there was no jurisdiction to make an award under War Addition Acts, therefore the workman's claim failed.—HAYDOCK v. GOODIER, [1921] 2 K. B. 384; 90 L. J. K. B. 425; 125 L. T. 71; 37 T. L. R. 381; 65 Sol. Jo. 416; 14 B. W. C. C. 50, C. A.

Sect. 15.—Agreements for compensation: Sub-sect. 3, A. & B.; sub-sect. 4. Sect. 16: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.]

Annotation:—As to (1) Overd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3588. ——— ——— ———.]—(1) An agreement between an injured workman & his employer for the settlement of all claims to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by the payment of a lump sum, apart from the provisions of the Act relating to agreements for the redemption of a weekly payment, is void as being a contracting out of the Act contrary to sect. 3 (1).

(2) It was held in Rawlings, Ltd. v. Hodgson, No. 3584, ante, & in Haydock v. Goodier, No. 3587, ante, that there could not be an agreement for the redemption of weekly payments until the weekly payment had been fixed.... When a workman is suffering from incapacity caused by an accident falling within the Act he becomes ipso facto entitled to a weekly payment, which, though not ascertained as to amount is capable of being immediately ascertained by the process laid down in the statute. I see no reason why the liability to make this ascertainable weekly payment should not be redeemed though the amount has not in fact been fixed (LORD CAVE, C.).—RUSSELL v. RUDD, [1923] A. C. 309; 92 L. J. K. B. 420; 129 L. T. 193; 39 T. L. R. 324; 67 Sol. Jo. 421; 16 B. W. C. C. 358, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111; Feeney v. Firbeck Main Collieries, [1926] 2 K. B. 218. Generally, Refd. Chadbourne v. Barber, Walker (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 147.

B. In Redemption of Weekly Payments

3589. Whether weekly payment must be previously fixed.]—RAWLINGS (H. D.), LTD. v. HODGSON, No. 3584, ante.

3590. ———.]—HAYDOCK v. GOODIER, No. 3587, ante.

3591. ——— Sufficiency of mere liability to pay.]—RUSSELL v. RUDD, No. 3588, ante.

3592. Adequacy of sum.]—A workman in receipt of maximum compensation of 17*s.* 3*d.* per week agreed with his employers to receive the sum of £175 to redeem the liability. The workman was proved to have so far recovered as to be able to do some light work. The judge refused to allow the agreement to be registered, being, apparently, of opinion that it was not a proper sum for the redemption of a permanent payment of 17*s.* 3*d.* per week:—Held: the decision must be overruled, as the judge had, in assuming that 17*s.* 3*d.* was a permanent payment which the employer was under an obligation to pay, misdirected himself, & the memorandum sent for registration must be recorded.—O'NEILL v. ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL CO., LTD. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 434, C. A.

3593. ——— Scale adopted on statutory redemption.]—Appct., a woman aged fifty-nine, met with an accident arising out of & in the course of her employment with resps. which resulted in the loss of her right arm & injury to her left hand. She was paid by resps. a sum of 4*s.* 10½*d.* a week compensation. An application under Sched. I., para. 17, was made by resps. for redemption of this weekly payment by the payment of a lump sum of £113 2*s.* 5*d.* but was withdrawn, & an agreement was entered into between the parties for redemption by the payment of the £113 2*s.* 5*d.* The £113 2*s.* 5*d.* represented the redemption value of 4*s.* 10½*d.* a week calculated on the 75 per cent. basis by Sched. I., para. 17. Resps. applied to the registrar under Sched. II., para. 9 (d), to record a memorandum of this agreement. The registrar refused to do so on the ground that the sum was inadequate & referred the matter to the county ct. judge, who upheld the registrar's view:—Held: on an application under Sched. II., para. 9 (d), to record a memorandum of an agreement the county ct. judge in determining the question of adequacy of amount was not bound by the standard fixed by para. 17 of Sched. I., but the two paragraphs were to be read separately & had different functions, para. 7 dealing with cases of compulsory redemption by the employer & para. 9 with cases of agreement between the parties.—SHARP v. RICHARDSON & CO., [1920] 3 K. B. 152; 89 L. J. K. B. 1050; 13 B. W. C. C. 129, C. A.

3594. Stamp — Necessity for.]—COTTRELL v. HIPPERSON (1912), 134 L. T. Jo. 111.

———.]—See, generally, REVENUE.

SUB-SECT. 4.—REGISTRATION OF AGREEMENTS.

See Sect. 16, post.

SECT. 16.—REGISTRATION OF AGREEMENT AND AWARDS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3595. To what matters applicable—Implied agreements.]—(1) An agreement settling a question under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), may be implied.

(2) A memorandum of an implied agreement may be registered.

(3) Where an effective agreement between the parties subsists, a question does not arise within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), ss. 1, 3, upon one party making a capricious claim against the other.

(4) To found jurisdiction in arbn., a question must have arisen before the request for arbn.—JONES v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 66; 4 W. C. C. 23, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Distd. Hartshorne v. Coppice Colliery Co. (1912), 106 L. T. 609; Phillips v. Vickers & Maxim, [1912] 1 K. B. 16.

3596. ——— ———.]—A workman was injured by an accident in Aug. 1909. His employers, without any proceedings for compensation having been

---

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 1.

q. To what matters applicable — Agreement to pay during incapacity — Effect of offer of suitable work.]—KEEVANS v. MUNDY (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 883.—SCOT.

r. Application to register — Interested parties—Employers only with right to notice—When application signed by workman.]—TONNER v. BAIRD (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 773.—SCOT.

t. Effect of recording — Operation in bar of arbitration proceedings.]— taken, admitted the accident & paid the workman 16*s.* 3*d.* a week, being half his wages, & said that they would continue to do so as long as their own doctor certified that total incapacity continued. In Jan., 1911, the workman applied to have recorded an alleged agreement whereby the employers agreed to pay him the weekly sum of 16*s.* 3*d.* during incapacity caused by the accident. The employers opposed the application on the grounds that no such agreement had been made, & that no question had arisen to give jurisdiction under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (3). The county ct. judge ordered a memorandum of the alleged agreement to be registered:—Held: there was no evidence to support the alleged agreement, & no such agreement could be implied from the fact that the employers had paid compensation & were willing to continue the same so long as their own doctor should certify the incapacity.—PHILLIPS v. VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, [1912] 1 K. B. 16; 81 L. J. K. B. 123; 105 L. T. 564; 5 B. W. C. C. 23, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Hartshorne v. Coppice Colliery Co. (1912), 106 L. T. 609; Payne v. Fortescue, [1912] 3 K. B. 346; Godbold v. L. C. C. (1914), 111 L. T. 691. Refd. Moore v. Pryde (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 384.

3597. S. P. HEALE v. VICKERS, SON & MAXIM (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 22, C. A.

3598. S. P. BARTHOLOMEW v. VICKERS, SON & MAXIM (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 22, C. A.

3599. —— ——.]—HARTSHORNE v. COPPICE COLLIERY CO., No. 3575, ante.

3600. —— Award by committee.] — MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3601. —— Agreement to find suitable work.]—An injured workman received compensation for some time. His employers then stopped payments & wrote a letter to the workman to the effect that, if the man was unable to find work elsewhere, they would provide him with suitable work at his old rate of wages. The workman tried work offered by his employers, but said he could not do it, & consequently applied for compensation to be continued. He asked for the letter to be recorded as a memorandum of agreement. The county ct. judge made an award for compensation to a certain date, with a declaration of liability to follow, but refused to record a memorandum:—Held: there was no misdirection.—WATKINS v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 243, C. A.

3602. —— Agreement to find light work—For men receiving compensation.]—WOOD v. WENTWORTH SILKSTONE COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3393, ante.

—— Agreements invalid unless registered.]—See Sub-sect. 2, post.

3603. —— Collateral documents—Memorandum in addition to award.]—It is not necessary to forward a memorandum if the award itself be sent to the registrar.—BAILEY v. PLANT (1901), 17 T. L. R. 449; 3 W. C. C. 207, D. C.

3604. —— —— Statement as to weekly earnings.]—Where under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9), a memorandum of agreement between employer & workman as to compensaton has been sent to the registrar of the county ct. for registration together with a statement in writing under Workmen's Compensation Rules, rr. 43 (3) & 51 (1), by the workman as to his average weekly earnings, the memorandum is entered on the special register, but it is not the practice to enter the statement. In the event of the statement containing an error, the proper order to make is that it be returned to the party who sent it in for correction; but the judge has no jurisdiction to order the statement to be altered or to order the memorandum recorded to be altered so as to show a rectification of the mistake in the statement.—EDGE v. GREEN (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1011; 119 L. T. 12; 11 B. W. C. C. 32, C. A.

3605. Application to register—Interested parties—Approved society—Workman insured under National Health Insurance Acts.]—BONNEY v. JOSHUA HOYLE & SONS, LTD., No. 3850, post.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 23 (6).

SUB-SECT. 2.—AGREEMENTS INVALID UNLESS REGISTERED.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3606. Compensation to infant.]—An infant, by his father, claimed compensation &, after negotiations for nearly three months, the employers made a voluntary payment, & took a receipt both from the infant & his father in full satisfaction & discharge of all claims. This agreement was left unregistered. The claim was carried to the county ct. but resisted by the employers on the ground that the matter had been settled by agreement, & that the jurisdiction of the ct. had thus been ousted:—Held: the agreement, being unregistered, was no bar to these proceedings.—BATES v. HOLDING (J.) & CO. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 80, C. A.

3607. ——.]—R. v. BURY COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, No. 3638, post.

3608. Compensation to dependant.] — A girl living with her parents gave the bulk of her earnings to her mother. She died from an industrial disease admittedly contracted at her work. The girl's father agreed to accept from the employers, who admitted liability, £10 in respect of such liability. The county ct. judge, on the authority of Ryan v. Hartley, No. 3582, ante, held the settlement binding, although no memorandum of the same had been registered in accordance with the Act, & dismissed the application:—Held: this being a settlement of liability admittedly within the Act, Ryan v. Hartley, No. 3582, ante, did not apply, &, there being no memorandum recorded, the settlement did not relieve the employers of liability under the Act.—MACEY v. EDMONTON MUNITIONS CO., LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 68, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 3.—POWERS AND DUTIES OF REGISTRAR AND JUDGE.

A. Registrar.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3609. Compensation to infants—Power to bind infants—Infant dependants.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3610. —— Decision as validity.]—R. v. BURY COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, No. 3638, post.

LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. v. SINCLAIR, [1907] S. C. 1071.—SCOT.

a. —— Operation in bar of application for further compensation.]—GORMLEY v. SCOTTISH IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1918] S. C. 742; 55 Sc. L. R. 567; [1918] 2 S. L. T. 102; 11 B. W. C. C. 370.—SCOT.

Sect. 16.—Registration of agreement and awards: Sub-sect. 3, A. & B.]

3611. To interfere with award of committee.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3612. To register without reference to judge—Agreement in redemption of weekly payments—If satisfied of genuineness.]—Where there has been an agreement between employer & workman that the employer shall redeem by a lump sum weekly payments of compensation payable to the workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it is primâ facie the duty of the registrar of the county ct. under Sched. II., s. 9, of the Act to record a memorandum of the agreement on being satisfied of its genuineness. If the adequacy of the sum is called in question it is the duty of the registrar, proceeding under proviso (d) to that sect., to inquire whether the sum is adequate. This is so notwithstanding that Form 38 in the Appendix to the Consolidated Workmen's Compensation Rules, July, 1913, indicates that the registrar may refer the matter to the county ct. judge on the mere objection of the workman to the registration of the agreement on the ground of the inadequacy of the sum.—R. v. BOW COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, Ex p. SCOTTISH SHIRE LINE, LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 266; 83 L. J. K. B. 1806; 111 L. T. 277; 7 B. W. C. C. 1001, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Price v. Westminster Brymbo Coal & Coke Co., [1915] 2 K. B. 128.

3613. —— —— On request of employer.]—R. v. THETFORD COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, No. 3052, post.

—— Agreement for sum not in redemption of weekly payments.]—See Nos. 3582–3588, ante.

3614. To inquire into adequacy of sum—Agreement in redemption of weekly payments.]—R. v. BOW COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, Ex p. SCOTTISH SHIRE LINE, LTD., No. 3612, ante.

Refusal to register—Grounds for refusal.]—See Sub-sect. 4, post.

B. Judge.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3615. Foundation of jurisdiction to record agreements—Necessity for existence of agreement.]—The jurisdiction as to recording an agreement to pay compensation to an injured workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), can only exist & be exercised if in truth there is such an agreement. It need not necessarily be in writing, but it may be inferred. An acknowledgment, however, by the workman that a certain sum was paid to him while he was totally incapacitated for work does not constitute in any shape or form an agreement binding the employer or the workman, or justify the ct. in holding that there was an agreement to pay compensation in the full terms of the Act.—MADDEN v. GUEST'S EXECUTORS, [1916] 1 K. B. 76; 85 L. J. K. B. 679; 114 L. T. 19; 32 T. L. R. 74; 9 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Shaddick v. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1017.

3616. Compensation to infant dependants—Approval of registrar — Power to interfere.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3617. Agreement for redemption of weekly payment—Whether agreement ought or ought not to be recorded.]—Where the registrar of a county ct. has refused to register an agreement between an employer & a workman who has been injured in his service, for the redemption of a weekly payment by a lump sum, on the ground of the inadequacy of the sum agreed upon, & has referred the matter to the judge under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II., clause 9 (d), the sole question for the judge is whether the agreement is one which ought or ought not to be recorded. He is not entitled to treat the agreement as a submission by the employer to pay any sum which the judge may, under the circumstances, think reasonable.—MORTIMER v. SECRETAN, [1909] 2 K. B. 77; 78 L. J. K. B. 521; 100 L. T. 721; 2 B. W. C. C. 446, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. M'Vie v. Taylor (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 891.

3618. To treat agreement as submission by employer—To pay sum found reasonable by judge.]—MORTIMER v. SECRETAN, No. 3617, ante.

3619. —— —— Unless parties consent—Consent to be clearly expressed.]—A workman applied to register a memorandum of agreement under which his employer agreed to pay him as compensation a certain sum each week. The judge, under the impression that the parties had agreed to his arbitrating as to the amount of the weekly payments, made an award for a different sum:—Held: on an application to register a memorandum of agreement to pay compensation the judge has no power to alter the amount and to treat that agreement as a submission by the employer to pay any sum the judge thought reasonable. Semble: such jurisdiction may be given by consent, but the consent must be clearly so expressed & should be mentioned in the award.—HALLS v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO. (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 72, C. A.

3620. To treat award by committee as agreement.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3621. To interfere with award of committee.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3622. To register only agreement arrived at.]—A workman was injured & paid full compensation. Four weeks after the accident the workman left with the registrar a memorandum of an agreement. The employers gave notice of objection on the ground that the memorandum provided for the payment of full compensation during total "or partial" incapacity, but no further steps were then taken, & the full payments were continued.

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 3. —A.

3614 i. To inquire into adequacy of sum—Agreement in redemption of weekly payments.]—BAIRD (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD. v. ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 943. —SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 3. —B.

3622 i. To register only agreement arrived at.]—Appt. applied to have a memorandum of agreement recorded, & it appeared that the memorandum included certain terms as to which there was no evidence of any agreement having been arrived at:—Held: the memorandum could not be recorded.—M'GEOWN v. WORKMAN, CLARK & CO., LTD. (1911), 45 I. L. T. 165.—IR.

3622 ii. ——.]—SYRON v. KILMARTIN, [1922] 2 I. R. 164.—IR.

3622 iii. ——.]—Where an agreement in writing has been entered into between an employer & a workman with regard to compensation, it is the duty of the sheriff, if objection is taken, to refuse to record a memorandum which is not in the precise terms of the written agreement. It is not part of his duty to construe the written agreement & then to determine whether the memorandum gives effect to it as so construed.—M'LEAN v. ALLAN LINE S.S. CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 256.—SCOT.

3622 iv. ——.]—MOORE & CO. v. PRYDE, [1913] S. C. 457; 50 Sc. L. R. 302; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 49; 6 B. W. C. C. 384.—SCOT.

Eighteen months later the workman had partially recovered, & was given light work by the employers, who offered to continue the payments on the basis of partial incapacity; this offer being refused, the workman applied to have the agreement recorded. The county ct. judge held that the agreement was to pay full compensation during total incapacity, & refused to register unless the memorandum were altered by striking out the words "or partial," & adding certain other words: —Held: the real agreement between the parties was to pay full compensation during total incapacity. Such an agreement does not imply any agreement to pay the same during partial incapacity.—MAUNDRELL v. DUNKERTON COLLIERIES CO., LTD. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 76, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. M'Carthy v. Stapleton-Bretherton (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 281. Consd. Madden v. Guest's Exors., [1916] 1 K. B. 76.

3623. ——.]—The county ct. judge ordered the recording of a memorandum submitted by the workman, which was different in terms to the agreement made by the employer:—Held: the county ct. judge had power only to record a memorandum of the agreement in fact made between the parties.—LUNT v. SUTTON HEATH & LEA GREEN COLLIERIES, LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 219, C. A.

3624. ——.]—An injured workman, whose wages had been 18*s.* per week, was told that he would be paid 9*s.* per week till he could do light work. He received this for a few weeks, & was then given light work. No further compensation being paid, he sent for record a memorandum of agreement to pay 9*s.* per week during "total or partial incapacity." The employer objected, but the county ct. judge recorded the memorandum:—Held: there was no evidence of any agreement to pay during partial incapacity, & therefore the memorandum ought not to have been recorded.—M'CARTHY v. STAPLETON-BRETHERTON (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 281, C. A.

3625. ——.]—The employers of an injured workman agreed to pay him weekly compensation during "total incapacity." The workman sent a memorandum to the registrar to be recorded, containing the words, "until the same shall be ended, diminished, or increased, by order of ct., or by agreement between the parties." The employers gave notice of objection on the ground that the proposed agreement by the workman contained terms to which they had not agreed. The county ct. judge refused to record:—Held: the memorandum should not be recorded, as it did not in fact correctly set out the agreement made between the parties.—SHORE v. HYRCANIA (OWNERS) (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 207, C. A.

3626. ——.]—GODBOLD v. LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL, No. 3578, ante.

3627. To entertain reference from registrar—Adequacy of sum.]—An agreement for the redemption of a weekly payment by a lump sum was sent to a registrar to record. It appearing inadequate, the registrar, under the powers given him by Sched. II. (9) (d), referred it to the judge. The judge, holding that the sole question for him to decide was whether the agreement had in fact been made, declined to decide the question of adequacy:—Held: the case must go back for the question of adequacy to be decided.—SEGURA (OWNERS) v. BLAMPIED (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 192, C. A.

3628. —— Reference not within powers of registrar.]—HUDSON v. CAMBERWELL BOROUGH COUNCIL, No. 3583, ante.

3629. Where registrar failed to comply with rules—Before reference to judge.]—The parents of a lad who was killed at sea, claimed £150 as compensation. Ultimately they agreed to accept £80, & a memorandum of an agreement to that effect was sent to the registrar to be recorded. The genuineness of the agreement was not disputed. The registrar did not send out notices to the parties required by Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1913–1918, r. 51 (2), asking for further information, nor did he report in writing to the judge under r. 51 (3). He, however, refused to record the memorandum because of some information he had received, and referred the matter to the judge, to whom he verbally gave his reasons for refusing to record. A day was fixed for hearing when respts. took the objection that the judge had no jurisdiction to deal with the matter because the registrar had not complied with the rules. The judge overruled the objection & offered to hear the case on its merits. This being refused he made an order that the agreement should not be recorded, & gave a special direction as to costs:—Held: the order of the county ct. judge should be discharged & the matter remitted to the registrar to be dealt with by him in accordance with the rules.—ROBERTS v. BLOW, RICHARD & CO. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 4, C. A.

3630. To hear oral evidence—Genuineness of agreement disputed.]—HALL v. FRANCOIS CEMENTATION CO., LTD., No. 3650, post.

To refuse registration.]—See Sub-sect. 4, post.

Rectification.]—See Sub-sect. 5, post.

Removal from register.]—See Sub-sect. 6, post.

Costs.]—See Sub-sect. 7, post.

3622 v. ——.]—M'LAUGHLIN v. PUMPHERSTON OIL CO., LTD., [1915] S. C. 65; 52 Sc. L. R. 48; [1914] 2 S. L. T. 306; 8 B. W. C. C. 354.—SCOT.

b. —— Power to add provisions in terms of the Act.]—PEARSON v. BABCOCK & WILCOX, LTD., [1913] S. C. 959.—SCOT.

c. —— ——.]—SCOTT v. SANQUHAR & KIRKCONNEL COLLIERIES CO., [1915] S. C. 520; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 241.—SCOT.

3627 i. To entertain reference from registrar—Adequacy of sum.]—BURNS v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 358; 50 Sc. L. R. 280; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 491; 6 B. W. C. C. 362.—SCOT.

d. —— —— No power to make payment into court of sum paid to workman a condition precedent to hearing.]—M'VIE v. TAYLOR & CO., [1914] S. C. 533; 51 Sc. L. R. 435; [1914] 1 S. L. T. 342; 7 B. W. C. C. 891.—SCOT.

e. To record an oral agreement.]—TRAILL & SONS v. COCHRANE (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1091; 38 Sc. L. R. 848; 9 S. L. T. 183.—SCOT.

f. Concurrent application to record & review—Suspension of warrant to record to await hearing of review.]—M'EWAN v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 436.—SCOT.

g. —— ——.]—M'VEY v. DIXON, LTD., [1910] S. C. 544.—SCOT.

h. Duty to decide validity of discharge of agreement.]—An arbitrator can competently determine the question as to the validity of an alleged discharge of agreement in the application to record the memorandum, & where the parties have joined issue on the question he is bound to determine it.—HANLEY v. NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 875.—SCOT.

k. Recording a judicial act.]—The act of the sheriff in recording a memorandum of agreement under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, is a judicial act.—BROWN v. ORR, [1910] S. C. 526.—SCOT.

l. To record with conditions—Where workman has returned to work at same wages.]—MATTHEWS v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 689.—SCOT.

m. Agreement to pay during total incapacity—Partial cessation of incapacity—Duty of arbitrator to determine before recording.]—SMITH v. PETRIE (1913), 50 Sc. L. R. 749; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 470; 6 B. W. C. C. 833.—SCOT.

n. Arbitration proceedings concurrent with application to record—No power to conjoin processes.]—ARNISTON COAL CO. v. KING, [1913] S. C. 892; 50 Sc. L. R. 685; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 581; 6 B. W. C. C. 826.—SCOT.

o. To suspend recording to await medical reference.]—SOMERVILLE v. BARCLAY, CURLE & CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 246.—SCOT.

Sect. 16.—Registration of agreement and awards: Sub-sect. 4, A. & B. (a), (b), (c) & (d).]

SUB-SECT. 4.—REFUSAL TO REGISTER.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3631. Effect of refusal—Parties relegated to previous rights—Subsequent application for arbitration.]—A judge refused to record a memorandum of agreement for a lump sum settlement, on the ground of inadequacy. The workman then applied for compensation, & the judge, finding that his incapacity was no longer due to the accident, & that the amount in fact paid under the abortive settlement was enough to cover all compensation due for the short period during which the incapacity had been due to the accident, awarded in favour of the employers:—Held: on the refusal to record, the parties were relegated to their previous rights. The judge was entitled to decide the application for compensation freely on the evidence, not being bound, by his previous decision, to award for the workman.—BEECH v. BRADFORD CORPN. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 236, C. A.

3632. Improper refusal—Mandamus to registrar.]—R. v. THETFORD COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, No. 3652, post.

B. Grounds for.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23-25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3633. Request for arbitration filed.]—FIELD v. LONGDEN & SONS, No. 3066, ante.

3634. Accident not arising out of & in course of employment — Compassionate payments — Alleged implied agreement.]—The workman was injured, & was paid compensation for twenty-one weeks. The employers then stopped payment & disputed liability of any kind, including even the occurrence of an accident, & arbitration proceedings brought by the workman terminated in their favour. Subsequently application was made by the workman to the same county ct. judge to have the implied agreement recorded. The judge refused on the ground that he had already found, as a fact, no personal injury by accident arising out of or in the course of his employment was caused to the workman on the date alleged in the particulars, & that the payments were in the nature of a compassionate allowance, & that there was no agreement:—Held: these were findings of fact with which the ct. could not interfere.—TURNER v. BELL (G.) & SONS, LTD. (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 63, C. A.

3635. Award of committee ultra vires.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3636. Applicant not a "workman"—Status previously settled by agreement.]—Appct. met with an accident whilst in the employment of resps. For some time he received £1 a week compensation from resps.' agents, & an agreement was then come to in the form of a receipt as follows: "Received this Mar. 16, 1912, from the Shipping Federation Ltd. on behalf of the owners of the Lloyds the sum of £5 being weekly compensation at the rate of £1 per week from Feb. 10, 1912, to Mar. 16, 1912, inclusive under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), under which Act I elect to claim for personal injury by accident sustained by me on or about Dec. 6, 1911. This weekly payment is to be continued during my total disablement resulting from the accident in accordance with the provisions of the above mentioned Act, the amount of any payment due during partial disablement to be settled hereafter." This was signed by appct., described as a "bargemaster," & sealed by the federation, & bore a sixpenny agreement stamp as well as a penny receipt stamp. The federation stopped payment on the ground that appct. was not a "workman" within the Act. Appct. applied to the registrar to record a memorandum of the agreement, but the latter refused to do so on the ground that appct. was not a workman:—Held: as the genuineness of the agreement was not questioned, no fraud or mutual mistake was alleged, & it was settled by the agreement that appct. was a workman within the Act, the learned judge had no jurisdiction to refuse to record the agreement.—GOODSELL v. LLOYDS (OWNERS), [1914] 3 K. B. 1001; 83 L. J. K. B. 1733; 111 L. T. 784; 30 T. L. R. 622; 7 B. W. C. C. 631, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Dutton v. Sneyd Bycars Co., [1920] 1 K. B. 414.

3637. Death of either party—Workman.]—A workman was in receipt of weekly compensation from his employers for injury by accident. On June 12, 1914, an agreement in writing duly executed by the parties, by which the employers agreed to pay the workman a lump sum of £85 in redemption of all their liability under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was sent to the registrar to be recorded. The registrar thereupon sent out the proper notices, & on June 22, 1914, no notice of objection having been received, recorded the agreement. Meanwhile, on June 18, 1914, before the seven days allowed for sending in notices of objections had elapsed, the workman died, admittedly from causes altogether outside the accident. Neither the registrar nor the employers were aware of his death when the agreement was recorded. There were no dependants. Upon application by the administratrix of deceased workman for leave to issue execution:—Held: the agreement was not conditional until it was recorded & it had been duly recorded despite the death of the workman within the seven days, & it was enforceable as a county ct. judgment by the administratrix under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9).

Sched. I. (19) of the Act does not bar a claim by a legal personal representative to enforce a deceased workman's right against his employer.—PRICE v. WESTMINSTER BRYMBO COAL & COKE CO., [1915] 2 K. B. 128; 84 L. J. K. B. 746; 112 L. T. 905; 31 T. L. R. 219; 59 Sol. Jo. 301; 8 B. W. C. C. 257, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. R. v. Bury County Court Registrar, [1918] 2 K. B. 342.

3638. —— —— Infant.]—An agreement was entered into on behalf of an infant workman for the redemption of a weekly payment of a lump sum, & sent to the registrar to be recorded. Before it was recorded the workman died:—Held: notwithstanding Workmen's Compensation Rules,

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (a).

p. Death of either party — Workman—Infant—Death before curator appointed.] — A minor workman presented an application to have a memorandum of agreement recorded, but he died before a curator ad litem had been appointed. His exor. having been sisted as appct. in his place, the application was refused:—Held: the approval of a curator ad litem was a condition suspensive of the validity of the agreement, & as the condition could not be purified, the application had been rightly refused.—DONALDSON'S EXECUTOR v. SHARP & SONS, [1922] S. C. 566.—SCOT.

1913–1918, r. 44, para. 6. the death of the infant workman did not affect the obligation of the registrar to record the agreement.

The meaning of that rule is that the agreement of a person under a legal disability, such as an infant, is "conditional" in the sense, not that it is of no validity until recorded, but that it is liable to be set aside if it does not satisfy the condition of being for that person's benefit, & that until so set aside it is just as valid as an agreement made by a person of full age.—R. v. BURY COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, [1918] 2 K. B. 342; 87 L. J. K. B. 1154; 119 L. T. 280; 34 T. L. R. 413; 11 B. W. C. C. 431.

Memorandum not expressing agreement arrived at.]—See Nos. 3622–3627, ante.

(b) Agreement not Genuine.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43, 52, 97.

3639. Evidence of want of genuineness—Compensation less than half wages.]—FOX v. BATTERSEA BOROUGH COUNCIL, No. 3071, ante.

3640. —— Payment received not as compensation—Mistake by workman.]—A girl employed in resps.' confectionary department to pack sweets & cover chocolates, contracted eczema & obtained a certificate of disablement by an industrial disease within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). After some correspondence between her approved society & her employers, a request for arbn. was filed on her behalf by the approved society. Meanwhile the girl received a sum of £34 from her employers, which she accepted under the mistaken impression that it represented the full amount of wages due to her. She also received £5 in addition, & signed receipts & a memorandum of agreement which was expressed to be in full settlement of compensation. The employers applied to the registrar to record the memorandum. The registrar refused, & the matter was referred to the judge. The county ct. judge found on the evidence that there was a mistake, & that the agreement was not a genuine agreement. He accordingly refused to record the memorandum:—Held: the county ct. judge was justified in coming to the conclusion that the memorandum was not genuine & ought not to be recorded.—SAWYER v. LIPTON, LTD. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 163, C. A.

3641. No fraud suggested by parties—Finding of fraud by judge.]—HUDSON v. CAMBERWELL BOROUGH COUNCIL, No. 3583, ante.

(c) Inadequacy of Sum.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3642. Award of committee.]—MULLHOLLAND v. WHITEHAVEN COLLIERY CO., No. 3039, ante.

3643. Composition agreement.]—A workman met with an accident to his head in 1909. He got apparently perfectly well, & returned to his work. Two years later he died from the effects of an operation for abscess on the brain.

The dependants claimed compensation, & the employers offered to pay ex gratia £10 to settle the claim. This sum was accepted, & thereupon the employers paid £10 into ct. under Workmen's Compensation Rules. 1907–1912, r. 56 (c). The registrar was not satisfied, as two of the children were minors, that this sum was sufficient, & required the employers, before recording the memorandum, to furnish him with the reports of medical evidence which they had. The dependants had no such evidence. The employers objected on the ground that the reports were privileged. The registrar thereupon referred the matter to the judge, who refused to record the memorandum:—Held: without deciding whether the medical reports were privileged or not, that there was ample evidence on which the registrar could decide the sum offered was inadequate, & the judge refuse to record the memorandum.—JOHNSON v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 322, C. A.

3644. Payment to persons under disability.]—RAWLINGS (H. D.), LTD. v. HODGSON, No. 3584, ante.

3645. Payment to dependants.] — RAWLINGS (H. D.), LTD. v. HODGSON, No. 3584, ante.

3646. Payment of lump sum—In redemption of weekly payments.]—RAWLINGS (H. D.), LTD. v. HODGSON, No. 3584, ante.

—— Not in redemption of weekly payments.]—See Sect. 15, sub-sect. 3, A., ante.

(d) Agreement Exhausted.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3647. Cessation of incapacity—Partial cessation.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. II., s. 8, provides that where the amount of compensation under the Act shall have been ascertained by agreement, a memorandum thereof shall be sent by any party interested to the registrar of the county ct., who, "on being satisfied as to its genuineness," shall record it in a special register:—Held: the registrar could not refuse to record the memorandum merely because owing to altered circumstances the workman was no longer entitled to the amount of compensation fixed by the agreement, but that his only duty was to ascertain whether the memorandum accurately represented the agreement which had been entered into.—BLAKE v. MIDLAND RY., CO. [1904] 1 K. B. 503; 73 L. J. K. B. 179; 90 L. T. 433; 68 J. P. 215; 20 T. L. R. 191; 6 W. C. C. 163.

Annotations:—Folld. Keeling v. Eastwood, Swingler (1904), 68 J. P. Jo. 207. Distd. Popple v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., [1912] 2 K. B. 141.

3648. —— ——.] — KEELING v. EASTWOOD, SWINGLER & CO. (1904), 6 W. C. C. 167; 68 J. P. Jo. 207, D. C.

3649. —— Agreement to pay during total incapacity.]—Where an agreement has been entered into between an employer & a workman, who has been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, for the payment of weekly compensation from the date of the accident & to continue during total incapacity for

---

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (b).

q. Evidence of want of genuineness—Payment above statutory limit immaterial.]—MACDONALD v. FAIRFIELD SHIPBUILDING & ENGINEERING CO. (1905), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 8.—SCOT.

r. —— Ignorant workman—No consideration for final discharge.]—MACANDREW v. GILHOOLEY, [1911] S. C. 448; 48 Sc. L. R. 511; [1911] 1 S. L. T. 92; 4 B. W. C. C. 370.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (c).

3646 i. Payment of lump sum — In redemption of weekly payments.]—In determining the adequacy or inadequacy of a lump sum agreed to be paid in redemption of a weekly payment, the county ct. judge ought not to be guided by the principle laid down in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, sched. I. (17), unless he is satisfied that the incapacity of the injured workman is permanent.—SWANNICK v. CONGESTED DISTRICTS BOARD TRUSTEES (1912), 46 I. L. T. 253; 6 B. W. C. C. 449.—IR.

Sect. 16.—Registration of agreement and awards: Sub-sect. 4, B. (d); sub-sects. 5, 6, 7 & 8. Sect. 17.]

work, the ct. will not direct a memorandum of the agreement to be recorded if at the date of the application to register the total incapacity has ceased.—POPPLE v. FRODINGHAM IRON & STEEL CO., [1912] 2 K. B. 141; 81 L. J. K. B. 769; 106 L. T. 703; 5 B. W. C. C. 394, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Smith v. Petrie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 833. Consd. Hall v. Francois Cementation Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 443. Distd. Hulmston v. Birkenhead Union (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 529. Refd. Goodsell v. Sailing Barge Lloyds, [1914] 3 K. B. 1001; R. v. Thetford County Court Registrar, [1915] 1 K. B. 224.

3650. —— Agreement providing for total or partial incapacity.]—The workman in Nov. 1922, received an injury from an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment by applts., & it was agreed that applts. should pay him £1 a week compensation during his total or partial incapacity. This sum was paid until Apr. 13, 1923, when the employers alleged he was no longer incapacitated. A doctor reported the workman fit for work on Apr. 9, 1923, & on that day the workman applied to the registrar to record a memorandum of the agreement which, however, he refused to do after receiving on Apr. 20 a notice from applts. that they disputed the genuineness of the agreement on the ground that it was no longer subsisting or enforceable as the workman was no longer incapacitated. On the matter coming before the county ct. judge on May 16 he ordered the agreement to be recorded as being a subsisting one on Apr. 9, on the ground that at that date compensation was being paid, & it was admitted that the workman had not returned to work & was not earning any wages, & the county ct. judge then refused to hear medical evidence tendered by applts. as to incapacity. Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1913–1921, r. 50 (c), provided that when the genuineness of an agreement designed to be recorded was disputed before the county ct. judge witnesses might be orally examined in the same manner as on the hearing of an action:—Held: the case must be remitted to the county ct. for re-hearing & evidence to be taken, the county ct. judge having directed his mind to proviso (b) to para. 9 of Sched. II. of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), without considering para. 9 itself or rules 47 (a) (b) & 50 (c) of the Workmen's Compensation Rules. The question whether the right date to consider whether the agreement was a subsisting or enforceable one was the date of the application to record it, namely, Apr. 9, 1923, or the date of the hearing, namely, May 16, 1923, must be raised if necessary to the re-hearing.—HALL v. FRANCOIS CEMENTATION CO., LTD. (1923), 130 L. T. 443; 16 B. W. C. C. 202, C. A.

3651. —— ——.]—H. while employed by applts. on Dec. 4, 1923, had an accident & was thereby totally incapacitated. On Dec. 11, 1923, an agreement was come to as follows: "I agree that this weekly payment is to be continued only so long as I am totally incapacitated for work & that the amount of any payment due in respect of subsequent partial incapacity is to be ascertained as & when a question arises." H. thereafter received 24*s.* 6*d.* a week until Apr. 4, 1925. Applt.'s doctor having examined her on Mar. 17, 1925, reported she was fit to resume her old work, & in pursuance of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 58), s. 14 (c), applts. gave notice, on Mar. 24, 1925, to terminate the weekly payment within ten days, & sent a copy of the doctor's report. In accordance with proviso (i) to sect. 14 (c) of that Act, H. sent a report of her own doctor to applts. stating in effect that she was now partially incapacitated. Neither party continued the procedure under that proviso by applying for the matter to be referred to a medical referee, & no payment into ct. was made by applts. under proviso (ii) to sect. 14 (c). H. then applied to have the agreement recorded under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II., para. 9, & on applts.' objecting that it was a spent agreement as soon as total incapacity ceased, & therefore could not be recorded, the matter came before the county ct. judge, who held that the employers were not entitled to end or diminish the weekly payments, the special procedure under sect. 14 of the Act of 1923 not having been proceeded with, & that therefore the agreement was still in operation, & must be referred to, consequently it was not a "spent" agreement within the meaning of Popple v. Frodingham Iron & Steel Co., No. 3649, ante, & ordered it to be recorded:—Held: though it was admitted total incapacity had ceased, the doctor of H. reported there still existed partial incapacity, & the agreement did not confine itself to dealing with total incapacity but provided further for the contingency of partial incapacity, & therefore it was not a "spent" agreement but was one which could be recorded, & the weekly payment could not be stopped as Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, had not come into complete operation.—HULMSTON v. BIRKENHEAD UNION (1925), 95 L. J. K. B. 529; 133 L. T. 757; 18 B. W. C. C. 378, C. A.

3652. Sum due thereunder paid over—Agreement unenforceable.]—A workman having lost a leg by accident, his employers paid him full compensation for over two years, & then, upon their desiring to redeem by payment of a lump sum, an agreement was entered into between the parties for payment of an amount calculated in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The money was paid over to the workman, who gave a receipt, a memorandum of which was sent to the registrar for record. The registrar refused to record it on the ground that, the money having already been paid, the agreement was unenforceable. The registrar's refusal was upheld by the county ct. judge:—Held: the registrar was bound to record the memorandum. The ct. accordingly made a rule nisi for a mandamus, obtained by the employers, absolute.

The provision of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9), that the memorandum when registered shall be enforceable as a county ct. judgment applies equally whether the memorandum is sought to be enforced by the workman or employer.—R. v. THETFORD COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, [1915] 1 K. B. 224; 84 L. J. K. B. 291; 112 L. T. 413; 8 B. W. C. C. 276.

SUB-SECT. 5.—RECTIFICATION.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3653. Jurisdiction to rectify—Alleged mistake of fact.]—A mill hand, who was born on Feb. 9, 1889, met with an accident on Feb. 8, 1910. Compensation at the rate of full wages, 8*s.* 2*d.* a week was paid her, & a memorandum of the agreement to pay her 8*s.* 2*d.* during total incapacity was recorded on the assumption that she was an infant. The employers then applied to have the register rectified on the ground that the proper compensation should be 4*s.* 1*d.* half wages, the woman really being of full age at the time. The county ct. judge found she was of full age & granted the application:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to rectify in this case.—SCHOFIELD v. CLOUGH (W. C.) & CO. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 417, C. A.

3654. —— Statement accompanying memorandum—Return of statement for correction.]—EDGE v. GREEN, No. 3604, ante.

3655. Memorandum entered without knowledge of workman.]—SAYERS v. MASSON SCOTT & CO. (1905), 49 Sol. Jo. 237.

3656. Memorandum based on erroneous statement—Memorandum containing no error.]—EDGE v. GREEN, No. 3604, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—REMOVAL FROM REGISTER.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 23–25, 44; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 43–52, 97.

3657. Jurisdiction to remove—Application must be within six months.]—A workgirl, who was born on Feb. 9, 1889, met with an accident on Feb. 8, 1910. Compensation at the rate of full wages 8*s.* 2*d.* was paid to her under memorandum of agreement to pay her 8*s.* 2*d.* during total incapacity. The memorandum was recorded on the assumption that she was an infant. The employers having failed in an attempt to get the register rectified on the ground that she was not an infant attempted, two years after the recording of the agreement, to have the record removed on the same ground. The county ct. judge granted the application:—Held: the judge has no power to remove the record, except under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9) (e), & had therefore no jurisdiction in this case.—SCHOFIELD v. CLOUGH (W. C.) & CO., [1913] 2 K. B. 103; 82 L. J. K. B. 447; 108 L. T. 532; 57 Sol. Jo. 243; 6 B. W. C. C. 67, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Ware v. Whitlock, [1923] 2 K. B. 418. Refd. Park v. Anderson (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 403.

3658. —— Agreement obtained by improper means.]—SCHOFIELD v. CLOUGH (W. C.) & CO., No. 3657, ante.

3659. —— Inadequacy of sum—Compensation to infant—Approval of registrar.]—When an agreement for payment of compensation in a lump sum for injury by accident to an infant has been duly recorded by the registrar, after notices have been sent to the parties, & no objection has been taken on the ground of inadequacy of amount, the county ct. judge has no power to remove it from the record under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. 19 (e), or under any general jurisdiction of the county ct., on the ground that in his opinion the compensation agreed on is inadequate.—WARE v. WHITLOCK, [1923] 2 K. B. 418; 92 L. J. K. B. 763; 129 L. T. 595; 67 Sol. Jo. 658; 16 B. W. C. C. 100, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—COSTS.

See Sect. 24, post.

SUB-SECT. 8.—APPEALS.

See Sect. 23, post.

SECT. 17.—ENFORCEMENT OF AGREEMENTS AND AWARDS.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 23; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 82–84, &, generally, COUNTY COURTS, Vol. XIV., pp. 448 et seq.; EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 415 et seq.

3660. Enforceable as county court judgment.]—Where a memorandum of an agreement has been recorded by the registrar of a county ct. pursuant to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9), whereby compensation to a workman is made payable by his employer so long as his total incapacity for work shall last, it may be right to apply to the registrar to enforce that agreement as a county ct. judgment; but if the employer raises the question whether total incapacity has ceased, that being a question which goes to the root of the matter, the registrar cannot direct execution to issue. If, on the other hand, it is admitted by the employer that the total incapacity continues, then on that admission there is his duty to pay compensation which will be enforced by execution.—WARREN v. ROXBURGH (1912), 106 L. T. 554; 5 B. W. C. C. 263, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Jackson v. Rutter (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 464.

3661. ——.]—R. v. THETFORD COUNTY COURT REGISTRAR, No. 3652, ante.

3662. ——.]—PRICE v. WESTMINSTER BRYMBO COAL & COKE CO., No. 3637, ante.

3663. Right to enforce—Passes to personal representative.]—PRICE v. WESTMINSTER BRYMBO COAL & COKE CO., No. 3637, ante.

3664. Execution—Application for leave to issue—Other remedy open.]—SAYERS v. MASSON SCOTT & CO. (1905), 49 Sol. Jo. 237.

3665. —— —— Made ex parte.]—A memorandum of agreement was registered in the county ct. by which the employers agreed to make a weekly payment of compensation to a workman, Ibrahim Said, "during the time of the incapacity of the said Ibrahim Said for work as a result of the accident in accordance with the terms of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58)." The employers ceased their weekly payments under this agreement. Thereupon the workman applied in the county ct. for leave to issue execution. The employers who appeared, tendered evidence to show that the workman was no longer incapacitated at the date when the payments ceased. This evidence was held to be inadmissible, & leave was granted to the workman to issue execution:—Held: the evidence tendered was admissible to show that there had been no default.

Qu.: whether such an application for leave to issue execution can be made ex parte.—IBRAHIM SAID v. WELSFORD (J. H.) & CO., LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 233, C. A.

Annotations:—Follid. M'Dowell v. M'Gladdery (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 638. Refd. Jackson v. Rutter (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 464.

PART XIV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 6.

t. Jurisdiction to remove — Application must be within six months —Workman without knowledge of recording or grounds for removal within time limited.]— PARK v. ANDERSON BROTHERS, [1924] S. C. 1017.—SCOT.

a. —— —— Order competent after time if application within time.]— PATERSON v. ARDROSSAN HARBOUR CO., [1926] S. C. 442.—SCOT.

b. —— Inadequacy of sum — Temporary capacity only contemplated —Permanent incapacity supervening.]— M'GUIRE v. PATERSON & CO., [1913] S. C. 400; 50 Sc. L. R. 289; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 32; 6 B. W. C. C. 370.—SCOT.

c. —— Recovery of workman at time of recording—Order for removal not proper remedy.]—BAIRD & CO., LTD. v. STEVENSON, [1907] S. C. 1259.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 17.

3660 i. Enforceable as county court judgment.]—LAWRIE v. BROWN & CO., LTD., [1908] S. C. 705; 45 Sc. L. R. 477; 15 S. L. T. 981; 1 B. W. C. C. 137.—SCOT.

d. Right to enforce — Effect of resumption of work at full wages— Agreement not enforceable for particular period.]—BEATH & KEAY v. NESS

Sect. 17.—Enforcement of agreements and awards. Sect. 18: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.] 3666. —— —— Question as to capacity of workman raised—Admissibility of evidence for employer.]—IBRAHIM SAID v. WELSFORD (J. H.) & CO., LTD., No. 3665, ante.

3667. —— —— —— Jurisdiction of registrar.]—WARREN v. ROXBURGH, No. 3660, ante.

3668. —— —— Review of amount payable.]—MOAKES v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3340, ante.

3669. Judgment summons—Debtor's Act, 1869 (c. 62).]—The memorandum of the compensation awarded by an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), when recorded in the manner prescribed by Sched. II. (8) of the Act, may be enforced by an order of committal under Debtor's Act, 1869 (c. 62), s. 5.—BAILEY v. PLANT, [1901] 1 K. B. 31; 70 L. J. K. B. 63; 83 L. T. 459; 65 J. P. 52; 49 W. R. 103; 17 T. L. R. 48; 45 Sol. Jo. 57; 3 W. C. C. 209, C. A.

SECT. 18.—PROTECTION OF COMPENSATION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—PAYMENT INTO COURT AND INVESTMENT.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 13, 26, Sched. I. (10), & Sched. II.; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 60–65a.

3670. Jurisdiction of arbitrator to order—For investment on behalf of dependants.]—Where an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), is made by the legal personal representative of a deceased workman or behalf of himself & other dependants of the workman, the county ct. judge or other arbitrator has jurisdiction under Sched. I., clauses 4–7, to order so much of the compensation as is allotted to the dependants to be paid to the county ct. registrar for investment in his name on their behalf, & is not compelled to order it to be paid to the legal personal representative.

In an arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge awarded that a sum payable by employers as compensation for injury to a workman, resulting in death, should be apportioned between the widow who was the legal personal representative of the workman & the two infant sons who were the other dependants of the workman, & that the employers should pay the sum apportioned to the sons to the registrar of the ct., to be invested in his name in the Post Office Savings Bank for their benefit:—Held: on the true construction of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), Sched. I., clauses 4–7, the county ct. judge had jurisdiction to make the order, & was not bound by the first part of clause 4 to order the payment of the full amount of the compensation to the legal personal representative of the workman.—DANIEL v. OCEAN COAL CO., [1900] 2 Q. B. 250; 69 L. J. Q. B. 567; 82 L. T. 523; 64 J. P. 436; 48 W. R. 467; 16 T. L. R. 368; 2 W. C. C. 135, C. A.

3671. Who may make payment—Agents of employer—Other than solicitors.]—Notwithstanding the terms of rule 56*a* & form 43 of Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907–11, where an amount of compensation has been agreed, it can be paid into ct. by other agents of the employers than their solrs., & the præcipe sent with the money may be signed by such agents, e.g. the Shipping Federation.—THOMPSON (G.) & CO., LTD. v. PITT-TAYLOR (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 479.

3672. —— —— ——.]—A memorandum of an agreement as to a lump sum had been recorded in favour of the widow of a deceased workman. A firm of ship owners, the employers, sought to pay the amount into ct. Form 53, which, by Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907–1912, r. 56A (4), must accompany such payment, requires that it shall be signed by the employers or their solrs. In this case the form was signed by "The Shipping Federation, Ltd., as agents for the employers." The registrar refused to accept the amount unless the form were strictly followed with regard to signature, & on the widow levying execution the employers brought an action for damages against the registrar:—Held: the registrar was wrong in refusing the form signed in this way; form 53 was not an inflexible form, & was to be followed only so far as the circumstances of the case would permit.—THOMPSON & CO. v. FERRARO (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 461.

3673. Effect of payment in—Employer freed from further responsibility.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3674. Right to payment out—Not for costs of appealing—Stay granted on payment in.]—On an application in the county ct. by employers to redeem weekly payments to a permanently injured workman, the county ct. judge fixed the amount at £534. The employers, who admitted that at least £355 was due to the workman, obtained a stay pending appeal on paying the £534 into ct. The workman thereupon applied for leave to take out £50 to be used by his solr. in resisting the appeal:—Held: no costs having yet been incurred & the application not being in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (14), it must be refused.—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 381, C. A.

3675. —— Infant dependant—On attaining majority.]—An infant dependant to whom a sum of money has been apportioned as part of the compensation for the death of her father under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is not entitled as of right to have it paid out when she becomes sui juris, but the judge retains unfettered control over the disposal of it for her benefit.—Re GOLDS (1918), 62 Sol. Jo. 424.

3676. —— —— ——.]—Where, in pursuance of a recorded agreement between an infant workman & his employer, a lump sum of money had been paid into ct. under Workmen's Compensation Rules, r. 53, in satisfaction of all claims under the Act in respect of an injury sustained by the workman in the course of his employment:—Held: (1) the workman on attaining twenty-one was absolutely entitled to the fund & to have it paid out to him; (2) an appeal lay to the Ct. of Appeal from the refusal of the county ct. judge to make an order for payment out.—JOHNSTON v. LISTON (H.) & Co., [1920] 1 K. B. 99; 88 L. J. K. B. 1152;

(1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 168.—SCOT.

e. Execution — Application for leave to issue—Question as to capacity of workman raised.]—M'DOWELL v. M'GLADDERY (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 638.—IR.

f. Unrecorded agreement—Enforceable by recording & charging—Oral agreement.]—COCHRANE v. TRAILL (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 794.—SCOT.

g. —— ——.]—DUNLOP v. RANKIN & BLACKMORE (1901), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 203.—SCOT.

h. —— Cannot be subject of arbitration proceedings — But a matter of defence.]—COLVILLE v. TIGUE (1905), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 179.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 1.

k. Agreement with dependants — Sum must be paid into court.]—HARLAND & WOLFF v. RADCLIFFE (1909), 43 I. L. T. 166; 2 B. W. C. C. 374.—IR.

121 L. T. 626; 35 T. L. R. 656; 63 Sol. Jo. 702; 12 B. W. C. C. 224, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—APPORTIONMENT AMONG DEPENDANTS.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 21 (2), 22; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 5, 64.

3677. Jurisdiction of county court judge—To apportion.]—DANIEL v. OCEAN COAL CO., No. 3670, ante.

3678. —— ——.]—A workman was killed by accident, & the employers paid £300 into ct., with an admission of liability. There were two dependants, the widow & an infant child. The county ct. judge did not apportion the compensation between them, but made an order for certain payments to the widow. An agreement was then entered into between the widow & the child's grandfather, whereby the latter should maintain & have the control & custody of the child, & the widow should pay towards maintenance. The widow broke the agreement & obtained the custody of the child, whereupon the grandfather applied to the county ct. judge to vary the order of Sept., on the basis of the agreement. The county ct. judge made an order that the child should be in the custody of the grandfather:—Held: the county ct. judge had no power to deal with the custody of the child, but could only apportion the compensation between the two dependants.—FLEMING v. RORURITE CO., LTD., Re FLEMING (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 176, C. A.

3679. —— Not to give custody of infant.]—FLEMING v. RORURITE CO., LTD., Re FLEMING, No. 3678, ante.

3680. Duty of arbitrator to apportion—Where infant dependants—No power to delegate to trustee.]—Where there are infant dependants, an arbitrator has no power to hand over to trustees the whole of the compensation to be disposed of for the benefit of all the dependants, with power to exclude from time to time such of the dependants as circumstances might in their judgment render expedient; he must make a specific allotment of part of the capital to each dependant.—MANCHESTER v. CARLTON IRON CO., LTD. (1904), 89 L. T. 730; 68 J. P. 209; 52 W. R. 291; 20 T. L. R. 155; 6 W. C. C. 135, C. A.

3681. Agreement to apportion—Effect of disability—Power of registrar to sanction.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3682. Employer not to be brought in.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

3683. Right to re-apportionment—Variation of circumstances—Death of one dependant.]—(1) The death of one of several "dependants" who are beneficiaries under an award under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), constitutes such a "variation of the circumstances" of the other "dependants" as will justify the ct., if it think proper, in altering the award under the provisions of Schedule I., Clause 9 of the statute.

(2) The notice of an application for variation that it is necessary in such a case by Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, r. 58 (3), to serve upon "all persons interested" may be served upon the personal representative of a dead "dependant."

(3) The interest of a "dependant" in compensation awarded him under the Act does not pass to his personal representative on his death as part of his personal estate.—IVEY v. IVEY, [1912] 2 K. B. 118; 81 L. J. K. B. 819; 106 L. T. 485; 5 B. W. C. C. 279, C. A.

3684. Notice of application for re-apportionment—May be served on personal representative of deceased dependant.]—IVEY v. IVEY, No. 3683, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ON BANKRUPTCY OR WINDING UP.

A. Right to Preferential Payment.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 7.

See, generally, BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., pp. 471–480; COMPANIES, Vol. X., pp. 942–946.

3685. Jurisdiction of county court judge—No jurisdiction to order payment by liquidator.]—A workman alleged to have been employed by a co. applied under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 5, for arbn. on the question whether the receiver appointed on behalf of debenture holders of the co. & the liquidator under its voluntary liquidation were liable to pay him as a preferential payment the sum for which a weekly payment of 16*s.* 3*d.* awarded to him before the winding up could be redeemed, & as to the amount of such payment. The county ct. judge made an order for the payment by the receiver & liquidator of a lump sum to the workman:—Held: any question whether this sum was to be paid as a preferential payment was not the subject of an appeal under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), but must be decided in the winding up.

Qu.: whether the county ct. judge had jurisdiction under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 5, to make the order for payment of the amount. HOMER v. GOUGH, [1912] 2 K. B. 303; 81 L. J. K. B. 261; 105 L. T. 732; 5 B. W. C. C. 51, C. A.

3686. Limit of preferential payment—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 19 (2)—Not retrospective.]—Above sub-sect. which came into operation on Jan. 1, 1924, enacted that Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 5 (3), which limited the preferential payment to a workman entitled to compensation on the winding up of the co. which employed him to £100, should cease to have effect. Above sect. is not retrospective, & therefore, where a co. has gone into liquidation before Jan. 1, 1924, the preferential payment of compensation to any injured workman is limited to £100.—Re CLEMMONS ALUMINIUM, LTD. (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 487; 132 L. T. 448; 41 T. L. R. 138; 17 B. W. C. C. 263; [1925] B. & C. R. 61, D. C.

Annotation:—Apprvd. Re Snowdown Colliery Co., South Eastern Coalfield Extension Co. v. Snowdown Colliery Co. (1925), 94 L. J. Ch. 305.

3687. — — —— ——.]—The abolition of the limitation to £100 in the case of a bkpcy. or winding up on the preference accorded to payments of compensation to workmen for injury by accident effected by above sub-sect., is prospective, & not retrospective, & therefore the preference given by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 5 (3), is still limited to £100 where a receiver had been appointed in a debenture holders' action against the co. liable & the compensation had become payable before Jan. 1, 1924, the date when Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), came into operation.—Re SNOWDOWN COLLIERY CO., LTD., SOUTH EASTERN COALFIELD EXTENSION CO., LTD. v. SNOWDOWN COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1925), 94 L. J. Ch. 305; 133 L. T. 451; 41 T. L. R. 326; 17 B. W. C. C. 258, C. A.

What is amount due in respect of compensation.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 474, No. 4276.

Liability of receiver & manager.]—See COMPANIES, Vol. X., p. 793, No. 4982.

Sect. 18.—Protection of compensation: Sub-sect. 3, B.; sub-sect. 4. Sects. 19 & 20: Sub-sect. 1.]

B. Right of Workman where Employer Insured.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 7.

3688. Workman subrogated to rights of employer.]—KNIVETON v. NORTHERN EMPLOYERS' MUTUAL INDEMNITY CO., [1902] 1 K. B. 880; 71 L. J. K. B. 588; 86 L. T. 721; 50 W. R. 704; 4 W. C. C. 37; sub nom. NORTHERN EMPLOYERS' MUTUAL INDEMNITY CO., LTD. v. KNIVETON, 18 T. L. R. 504; 46 Sol. Jo. 432, D. C.

Annotations:—Refd. Daff v. Midland Colliery Owners' Mutual Indemnity Co. (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 1340; Pallin v. Northern Employers' Mutual Indemnity Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 73.

See, further, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 406–408, Nos. 3204–3213.

SUB-SECT. 4.—DEDUCTION AND SET-OFF.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 40.

3689. What may be deducted—Rent—Where assent by workman.]—A workman in receipt of a weekly payment of compensation assented to the rent of his cottage which he held as a tenant of his employers being deducted from it:—Held: it was not necessary for the employers to pay the workman the full sum & then to receive back their rent, as the workman had assented to the deduction.—BROWN v. SOUTH EASTERN & CHATHAM RY. CO. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 428, C. A.

3690. —— Not compensation overpaid.]—Where under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an application is made to reduce as from a definite antecedent date a weekly payment of compensation under a recorded agreement, & a reduction is ordered as from that date, the amount overpaid under the agreement between the date from which the reduction is to take effect & the date of the order cannot be treated as a payment in advance pro tanto of the subsequent reduced weekly payments. Semble: the amount overpaid may be recovered from the workman by action.—HOSEGOOD & SONS v. WILSON, [1911] 1 K. B. 30; 80 L. J. K. B. 519; 103 L. T. 616; 27 T. L. R. 88; 4 B. W. C. C. 30, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Gibson v. Wishart, [1915] A. C. 18.

—— Solicitor's costs.]—See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), Sched. I. (10).

—— Repayments of poor relief.]—See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 41.

—— Advance under National Health Insurance Act, 1924 (c. 38).]—See National Health Insurance Act, 1924 (c. 38), s. 16.

SECT. 19.—PROHIBITION AGAINST ENDING, ETC., WEEKLY PAYMENTS.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 12.

3691. Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14.]—DAVIES v. GLYNCORRWG COLLIERY CO., No. 3059, ante.

3692. —— On jurisdiction of arbitrator to award compensation—After incapacity ceased.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, confers no jurisdiction on the arbitrator to award compensation to an injured workman after the incapacity has ceased.

Where a dispute arises within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c) (i.), as to the cessation of the workman's incapacity & an application is made to refer the dispute to a medical referee, the employer, pending the settlement of the dispute, may, under s. 14 (c) (ii), pay into ct. the weekly payments payable in the meantime, whether the medical reference is allowed or is refused on the ground that the dispute ought to be settled by arbn.

Under an award made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & recorded in May, 1913, in the register of the Sheriff Ct., applts. paid compensation to resp., an injured workman in their employment, until Sept. 8, 1925, when they stopped payment. A dispute having arisen as to the cessation of resp.'s incapacity, applts. applied to refer the dispute to a medical referee, but the application was refused on the ground that the matter ought to be settled by arbn., & applts. then applied for a review. Pending the arbn., resp., under the law of Scotland, charged applts. under the award of May, 1913, for arrears of compensation from Sept. 8, 1925, to the date of the charge. Applts. then raised an action of suspension & consigned in ct. the sum charged for & a further sum for expenses, & had since paid into ct. the subsequent weekly payments. Suspension was refused on the ground that payment into ct., under s. 14 (c) (ii), was not applicable, except where a reference had actually been made to a medical referee:—Held: the suspension ought to be allowed.—NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO. v. DEE, [1927] A. C. 299, H. L.

Annotation:—Consd. Ocean Coal Co. v. Davies, [1927] A. C. 271.

3693. Provisions of Act—Applicable to payments under unrecorded agreement—Or to voluntary payments.]—PUDNEY v. FRANCE (WILLIAM), FENWICK & CO., SMITH v. LEACH & CO., No. 3081, ante.

3694. —— ——.]—The workman was incapacitated by an accident & received full compensation from his employers until his panel doctor certified he was fit for work on Jan. 5, 1925. On that day he took the certificate to the employers, who paid him the weekly payment then due. He signed a receipt for that payment in which it was described as a "final claim." When he was told that the weekly payments would be stopped, he said "All right." He did not go back to his old work, & made no further claim until Aug. 7, 1925. The claim was heard on Nov. 10, 1925, & the county ct. judge found the man was fit for work on Jan. 5, 1925, & he dismissed the claim for

---

PART XIV. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3. —B.

l. Liability of employer transferred to insurance company.]—DISOURDI v. SULLIVAN GROUP MINING CO. & MARYLAND CASUALTY CO. (No. 3) (1909), 14 B. C. R. 273; 2 B. W. C. C. 514.—CAN.

m. ——.]—CRAIG & HANCOCK v. ROYAL INSURANCE CO., LTD. (1915), 49 I. L. T. Jo. 200.—IR.

PART XIV. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 4.

3690 i. What may be deducted—Not compensation overpaid.]—FLYNN v. BURGESS (1914), 48 I. L. T. 132. —IR.

n. What may be subject of set-off —Not expenses awarded employer in application for review.]—ROSEWELL GAS COAL CO. v. M'VICAR (1904), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 290.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 19.

o. Power to terminate payments—Excepted cases—Right of temporary suspension only.]—The employer's right to end or diminish a weekly payment in the excepted cases under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, s. 14, is merely a right to withhold or reduce pro tempore his actual disbursements, & is without prejudice to the question of his liability in the event of the workman establishing that the true state of the facts does not warrant the employer's action.—M'GINTY v. CANADIAN PACIFIC S.S. CO., LTD., ELDER v. HAY (J.) & SONS, LTD., [1925] S. C. 33.—SCOT.

p. Power to suspend payments.]— compensation from that date to the hearing on the ground that payment was stopped by agreement within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 :—Held : there was an agreement within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, & the employers were entitled to stop compensation ; agreement in this sect. means assent & need not be registered.—FEENEY v. FIRBECK MAIN COLLIERIES, LTD., [1926] 2 K. B. 218 ; 95 L. J. K. B. 689 ; 134 L. T. 745 ; 19 B. W. C. C. 33, C. A.

3695. —— Not applicable to payments under pension scheme.]—A workman, aged sixty-one, in the employment of the Port of London Authority, was receiving compensation for total incapacity. Under a pension scheme, to which the Authority & its employees contributed, he would have been entitled to a pension on retiring at the age of sixty-five, or if incapacitated by injury, at such earlier age as he might be superannuated. Until the pension fund reached a certain figure, which had not yet happened, the pensions were to be paid out of the general revenue of the Authority. The workman was superannuated at sixty-one & was thereafter paid the pension & received no compensation. On a claim for compensation the county ct. judge treated the pension as contributed half by the workman & half by the employers, & taking it into consideration on that basis he awarded compensation at the full rate of 35*s.* until the date of the award & then at the rate of 12*s.* 6*d.* a week : Held : (1) the fact that the payments under the pension scheme were made from the general funds of the employers did not, in the circumstances, make the payments purely voluntary on the part of the employers, & the county ct. judge was entitled to exercise his discretion in taking them into consideration on the basis he did ; (2) the judge was right in awarding full compensation until the date of the award, because the pension scheme was not an agreement under which the employers could end or diminish compensation within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 ; (3) the county ct. judge was right in excluding the consideration that the pension to which the workman was entitled at the age of sixty-one was less than that to which he would have been entitled at the age of sixty-five, but if & when the workman attained sixty-five he might be entitled to apply for a review of the compensation.—LANGFORD v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 887 ; 135 L. T. 625 ; 19 B. W. C. C. 253, C. A.

3696. —— Right of workman to resort to arbitration—Procedure not followed.]—PUDNEY v. FRANCE (WILLIAM), FENWICK & CO., SMITH v. LEACH & CO., No. 3081, ante.

3697. —— —— Procedure followed.]—Where the procedure laid down in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c) & the proviso thereto is followed & prosecuted by both parties to a conclusion there is no right to file a subsequent request for arbn., except by way of review where there has been some change of circumstances.—RHODES v. DIGBY COLLIERY CO. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796 ; sub nom. RHODES v. DIGBY COLLIERY CO., LTD., WILSON v. DIGBY COLLIERY CO., LTD., 19 B. W. C. C. 283, C. A.

3698. —— Dispute as to ending of incapacity—Right of master to pay compensation into court.]—NIDDRIE & BENHAR COAL CO. v. DEE, No. 3692, ante.

3699. Failure by employer to adopt procedure—Omission to appoint medical referee.]—DAVIES v. GLYNCORRWG COLLIERY CO., No. 3059, ante.

3700. —— Omission to serve report of medical practitioner.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 (c), is to be read with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (15), & accordingly, the employer must serve the report of a medical practitioner, upon which he relies, within six days from its date, in accordance with the requirements of that paragraph.—GILLETT v. FOWLER (JOHN) & CO. (LEEDS), LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 267, C. A.

3701. —— Right to recover payments made.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14 : "an employer shall not be entitled otherwise than in pursuance of an agreement or arbn. to end or diminish a weekly payment under the principal Act except" in certain cases : Held : an employer is not liable de jure to pay compensation after the termination of incapacity, & though he must continue weekly payments de facto until it has been determined in an arbn. that the incapacity has ceased, he is entitled on such determination to recover back the payments made during incapacity.—OCEAN COAL CO., LTD. v. DAVIES (1926), 43 T. L. R. 108 ; 70 Sol. Jo. 1219, H. L. ; revsg. 19 B. W. C. C. 223, C. A.

3702. Power to terminate payments—After agreement to pay full compensation.]—DAVIES v. MIDLAND RAILWAY CARRIAGE & WAGGON CO., LTD., No. 2768, ante.

SECT. 20.—REVIEW OF WEEKLY PAYMENTS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, generally, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 11.

3703. Only remedy for disputes after arbitration had.]—WATTS v. LOGAN & HEMINGWAY, No. 3078, ante.

3704. May be made without proceedings in court—Implied from conduct of parties.]—A review of weekly payments by the parties themselves may take place. Such a review & an agreement may be implied.

Compensation was paid from Aug. 22 to Sept. 23, when the man returned to work at full wages. This he continued to do till Nov. 16, when he was discharged because the pit was closed. For the next three months he applied for work, but there was none for him to do : Held : there was evidence that on Sept. 23 the weekly payment was reviewed & ended by mutual consent.—BRADBURY

An employer who is applying for review of an award is not entitled, pending review, to suspend a charge under the award.—BENT COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. O'HARE, CADZOW COAL CO., LTD. v. HASSAN, WATSON (JOHN), LTD. v. FITZPATRICK, SAME v. SCULLION, M'ANDREW & CO., LTD. v. BARKAUSAS, WATSON (JOHN), LTD. v. COLLINS (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 424.—SCOT.

q. Application to payments accepted as statutory compensation.]—The prohibition against ending or diminishing weekly payments under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, s. 14, is not limited to payments made under an award or a recorded or immediately recordable agreement, but extends to any payments de facto made by the employer & accepted by the workman as statutory compensation.—LINDSAY v. GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., [1925] S. C. 287.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 1.

3703 i. Only remedy for disputes after arbitration had.]—FIFE COAL CO., LTD. v. LINDSAY, [1908] S. C. 431 ; 45 Sc. L. R. 317 ; 15 S. L. T. 742 ; 1 B. W. C. C. 117.—SCOT.

3703 ii. ——.]—WILSON & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD. v. CAIRNDUFF, [1911] S. C. 647.—SCOT.

r. Date from which review is open—Date of cessation of incapacity.]—GIBSON & CO. v. WISHART (1914), 51 Sc. L. R. 516.—SCOT.

Sect. 20.—Review of weekly payments: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A., B. & C.; sub-sect. 4, A.]

v. BEDWORTH COAL & IRON CO. (1900), 2 W. C. C. 138, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Busby v. Richardson (1901), 3 W. C. C. 54; Webster v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1901), 3 W. C. C. 52.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHAT PAYMENTS MAY BE REVIEWED.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 11.

3705. Compensation awarded by committee representative of workman & employer.] —Where a committee, representative of an employer & his workmen, acting under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. II., para. 1, have decided the amount to be paid weekly to a workman as compensation for an accident, & the workman subsequently desires that the weekly payment may be reviewed, & gives due notice that he objects to the committee holding an arbn. with respect to the review, a county ct. judge has jurisdiction to hear & determine the application to review.—R. v. TEMPLER, Ex p. HOWARTH, [1912] 2 K. B. 444; 81 L. J. K. B. 805; 106 L. T. 855; 28 T. L. R. 410; 56 Sol. Jo. 501; 5 B. W. C. C. 454, C. A.

Annotation :—Expld. Schofield v. Clough, [1913] 2 K. B. 103.

3706. Weekly payments under unrecorded agreement.] —WILLIAMS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD., No. 3718, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—WHEN REVIEW AVAILABLE.

A. Conditions Precedent.

3707. Whether amounting to condition precedent—Existence of dispute between parties.] —A workman having met with an accident within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an agreement was made between him & his employers whereby they admitted liability & total incapacity & agreed to make him a weekly payment as compensation. They subsequently applied for a review of the weekly payments & asked that they should be terminated on the ground that the incapacity of the workman had ceased. The county ct. judge held that no question had arisen between the parties when the application was commenced, therefore he had no jurisdiction to entertain it: Held: the existence of a dispute between the parties was not a condition precedent to an application to review under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 16.—TYNE TEES SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. WHILLOCK, [1913] 3 K. B. 642; 82 L. J. K. B. 1091; 109 L. T. 84; 57 Sol. Jo. 716; 6 B. W. C. C. 559, C. A.

3708. —— Payment being made at time of application.]—On Aug. 18, 1923, S. having met with an accident while in the course of his employment, the employers entered into an agreement with him on Nov. 5, 1923, admitting liability & agreeing to pay him compensation during total incapacity. The workman sufficiently recovered to be able to return to his work on Nov. 24, 1923, when the weekly payment which had been made to him as compensation was stopped. The employers, having commenced arbn. proceedings on Mar. 22, 1924, with a view of terminating or diminishing the compensation agreed to be paid during total incapacity, the workman filed a memorandum of the agreement of Nov. 5, 1923, whereupon the proceedings were adjourned sine die. On July 2, 1924, the employers commenced arbn. proceedings again by way of review to diminish the weekly payment under the agreement on the ground that the workman had returned to work. At the hearing in the county ct. a preliminary objection was taken to the proceedings on behalf of the workman that no case for review had arisen under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 16, which had reference only to a weekly payment in existence. This preliminary objection to procedure was dismissed by the county ct. judge on the ground that the weekly payment under the agreement was only in abeyance, & he awarded the workman 3*s.* 6*d.* a week from Nov. 24, 1923, on the ground that now there was only partial incapacity, & he modified the agreement accordingly & the workman was ordered to pay the costs. The workman appealed against the decision on the preliminary objection:—Held: the employers were entitled to take the proceedings by way of review under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., which referred to a weekly payment which was still in a legal sense in existence, though as under the agreement in the case, in abeyance, as there was a liability in respect of the accident existing at the time of the application to review although the employers at the time were not making any weekly payments.—WOLSELEY MOTORS, LTD. v. SHARP (1925), 133 L. T. 70; 18 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

—— Change of circumstances.] —See Sub-sect. 4, post.

B. Order of Court Terminating Compensation.

3709. Bar to review.] —NICHOLSON v. PIPER, No. 3521, ante.

3710. ——.] —TAYLOR v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. CO., No. 3524, ante.

C. Application of Doctrine of res judicata.

3711. Whether applicable—To question of incapacity of workman—Change of circumstances.]—Upon an application by employers for a review of the weekly sum paid as compensation to a workman in respect of injuries arising from an accident under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), the county ct. judge, acting on the opinion of medical experts that the workman was not incapacitated for work, made an award, ordering the weekly payment to be reduced to a nominal amount. On an application for further review of the payment by the workman, evidence was tendered to show that, since the previous hearing, he had repeatedly applied for employment, & had been unable to obtain it on account of his condition arising from the accident. The county ct. judge refused to entertain the application on the

---

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 2.

t. Weekly payments under unrecorded agreement — Payments discontinued—Agreement recorded.]—LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. v. SINCLAIR, [1909] S. C. 922.—SCOT.

a. —— ——.]—NELSON v. SUMMERLEE IRON CO., [1910] S. C. 360. —SCOT.

b. —— Agreement not acted on for ten years.]—WILSON v. BAIRD & CO., [1923] S. C. 164.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 3. —A.

c. Consignment of payments weekly — Consignment in lump sum of all payments due to date of suspension—Sufficient.]—PENMAN v. CAPRINGTON & AUCHLOCHAN COLLIERIES, LTD., [1926] S. C. 406.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 3. —B.

3709 i. Bar to review.]—CADENHEAD v. AILSA SHIPBUILDING CO., LTD., [1910] S. C. 1129.—SCOT.

ground that the condition of the workman was res judicata, & that there had been no change of circumstances since the previous hearing, so as to give him jurisdiction to review the payment:—Held: the doctrine of res judicata did not apply to the decision of the county ct. judge on the previous hearing, &, there apparently being evidence of a change of circumstances, he ought to entertain the application.—SHARMAN v. HOLLIDAY & GREENWOOD, LTD., [1904] 1 K. B. 235; 73 L. J. K. B. 176; 90 L. T. 46; 68 J. P. 151; 20 T. L. R. 135; 48 Sol. Jo. 130; 6 W. C. C. 147, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Boag v. Lochwood Collieries (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 549. Folld. Cawdor & Garnant Collieries v. Jones (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 59; Thrammere Bay Development Co. v. Brennan (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 403. Apprvd. Mead v. Lockhart (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 398. Apld. Radcliffe v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 685. Distd. Linthorpe Dinsdale Smelting Co. v. Hoy (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 995. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Gibson v. Wishart, [1915] A. C. 18; Dundee, Perth & London Shipping Co. v. Willcock (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 471. Mentd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3712. — — — — — — —.]—After injury by accident an award of £1 per week compensation was made to the injured workman in Feb. 1908. On an application for review in Oct. 1908, the county ct. judge, after hearing the medical evidence, continued the weekly payments of £1. On a further application to review in Mar. 1909, the employers tendered evidence in support of this application which admittedly called in question the accuracy of the medical evidence given in Oct. as to the then condition of the workman. The county ct. judge held that the man's condition in Oct. was res judicata, & refused to admit the evidence:—Held: The evidence must be admitted.—MEAD v. LOCKHART, LTD. (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 398, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Cawdor & Garnant Collieries v. Jones (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 59.

3713. — — — — — — .]—A collier lost the sight of an eye by accident, & compensation was paid for two & a half years under an agreement. Another agreement reducing the amount of compensation was then entered into in Mar. 1908. In Jan. 1909, the employers applied to further reduce the compensation. The workman contended that the amount of his incapacity had been settled once & for all by the agreement of Mar. 1908. The judge held that the man was fit for his work as a miner, & reduced the compensation to 1*d.* a week:—Held: there was evidence before the county ct. judge with regard to the man's condition on which he was entitled to come to such a decision. The workman's contention that his condition was res judicata, & that no change of circumstance had taken place, was bad.—CAWDOR & GARNANT COLLIERIES, LTD. v. JONES (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 59, C. A.

3714. — — — — — — —.]—RADCLIFFE v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 3733, post.

3715. — — — — — —.]—As the result of an accident, a riveter had one eye blinded. He received compensation until the wound had healed &, on an application by the employers to terminate the payments, he was awarded a declaration of liability & payments were stopped. He was at this time quite able to do his old riveting work, & had been offered it by his employers, but had refused, as he was afraid of the remaining eye being injured. His employers found him painting work instead. He was, however, not able to earn his full old wages at the painting work, & applied for an increase of compensation as from the date of the first review on this ground. There was evidence that the employers had repeated their offer to employ him at his old work, but that he had again refused. There was no change in the circumstances since the first review:—Held: the application was misconceived.—COX v. BRAITHWAITE & KIRK (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 618, C. A.; previous proceedings, sub nom. BRAITHWAITE & KIRK v. COX (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 77, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Howards v. Wharton (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 614.

3716. — — — — — —.]—A workman broke his wrist by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. Liability was admitted & compensation paid by agreement. The employers, later, applied to review & diminish the weekly payment, & the county ct. judge awarded the reduced amount of 5*s.* a week. More than two years after the employers applied again to review & terminate the payment on the ground that all incapacity due to the accident had come to an end. The county ct. judge held that he had no power to do so, having made a "final award" of 5*s.* a week:—Held: he had misdirected himself, & the case must be remitted to him for review in accordance with the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. 1. (16).—DUNDEE, PERTH & LONDON SHIPPING CO. v. WILLCOCK (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 471, C. A.

3717. — — — — Payments terminated on previous application.]—NICHOLSON v. PIPER, No. 3521, ante.

3718. — — To question of liability of employer—Admitted under existing decisions—Subsequently reversed in House of Lords.]—In 1918 a lad employed in resp.'s colliery was seriously injured by accident while travelling by a train specially provided for resps.' workmen by contract with the railway co., & had to have his leg amputated. Having regard to the case of Cremins v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, Ltd., No. 2361, ante, the employers admitted liability & paid compensation for a period. In 1923 the House of Lords in St. Helens Colliery Co., Ltd. v. Hewilson, No. 2361, ante, reversed this decision. In 1921 the workman having been discharged owing to the closing of the colliery, & having in the meantime attained the age of twenty-one years, filed an application for arbn.: as to the liability of resps., & as to the amount of the compensation, which he claimed should be increased. The county ct. judge made an award for increased compensation, & held that the question of liability had been settled by agreement:—Held: the application was really one to review a payment under an unrecorded agreement, the question of liability was concluded by such agreement, although not recorded, & it could not be reopened because of a subsequent decision of the House of Lords holding that there was no liability on the employers in a similar case.—WILLIAMS v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 111; sub nom. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. v. WILLIAMS, 18 B. W. C. C. 68, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Davies v. Midland Ry. Carriage & Waggon Co. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 69. Apprvd. & Apld. Feeney v. Firbeck Main Collieries, [1926] 2 K. B. 216.

3719. — — To question of calculation of compensation.]—CROSSFIELD & SONS, LTD. v. TANIAN, No. 3721, post.

3720. — — — — Wrong principle applied in calculating average weekly earnings.]—HAINS & STRANGE v. CORBET, No. 3315, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—CHANGE OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

A. Condition Precedent to Review.

3721. General rule.]—An application under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37),

Sect. 20.—Review of weekly payments: Sub-sect. 4, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

sched. I., clause 12, for the review of a weekly payment cannot be entertained, where there has been no change in the circumstances of the case since the weekly payment was awarded.—CROSSFIELD & SONS, LTD. v. TANIAN, [1900] 2 Q. B. 629; 69 L. J. Q. B. 790; 82 L. T. 813; 48 W. R. 609; 16 T. L. R. 476; 44 Sol. Jo. 591; 2 W. C. C. 141, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Sharman v. Holliday & Greenwood, [1904] 1 K. B. 235; Radcliffe v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 685; Linthorpe Dinsdale Smelting Co. v. Hoy (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 995; Tarr v. Cory, [1917] 2 K. B. 774.

3722. ——.]—A workman lost an eye by accident, & received compensation. When partially recovered he obtained an award of partial compensation, & was given light work. Later on the employers, believing that the incapacity had ceased, applied for a review. The employers' doctor said the man could do his old work, though for fine work he might have to wear glasses. The man said he could not do this work, & his doctor gave evidence that the man's condition was the same as at the time the former award was made. The county ct. judge found there had been no change of circumstances upon which a review could be based, & dismissed the application:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—NORTH EASTERN MARINE ENGINEERING CO. v. DAVISON (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 248, C. A.

3723. ——.]—In 1915 a boy claimed 12*s.* 6*d.* a week compensation for a fractured hip caused by accident in his employment, alleging total incapacity. The employers denied the incapacity & disputed the amount claimed, but consented to an award of 7*s.* 6*d.* a week. At the hearing a doctor gave evidence for the employers that the boy was suffering from coxa vara as the result of rickets. The county ct. judge awarded the boy 12*s.* 6*d.* a week. In 1917 the employers applied to review on the ground that the boy was not now suffering from the effects of the accident. At the hearing the same doctor gave the same evidence as he did in 1915. The arbitrator refused to review on the ground that he was being asked to find that the boy was suffering from coxa vara due to rickets, when by the award of 1915 it had been decided that he was suffering from coxa vara due to accident:—Held: the arbitrator was right, as the same issue was raised by the application to review which had been decided by the award, & there had been no change of circumstances since the award.—LINTHORPE DINSDALE SMELTING CO., LTD. v. HOY (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 995; 117 L. T. 234; 10 B. W. C. C. 350, C. A.

3724. ——.]—MOAKES v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3090, ante.

3725. ——.]—The workman, who was suffering from miner's nystagmus, was in receipt of compensation under a duly recorded agreement dated Apr. 11, 1918. In Apr. 1919, he applied for a review & increase of the weekly payments, & an award was made on the basis of total incapacity. On Mar. 28, 1923, the employers applied for a review & diminution of the weekly payments last awarded, on the ground that the workman no longer suffered the same degree of disability by reason of the nystagmus. The medical evidence did not show any improvement in the workman's physical condition & the application was dismissed by the county ct. judge:—Held: no inquiry could now be made as to whether the award of Apr. 1919, was correct, & as no change of circumstances since then had been proved the appeal must be dismissed.—POPE & PEARSON, LTD. v. GAMBLE (1923), 129 L. T. 684; 16 B. W. C. C. 157, C. A.

3726. ——.]—The workman, a collier, in 1907 lost the sight of his right eye by an accident while employed by resps., & received compensation. In 1913 he returned to his work as a collier receiving higher wages than prior to his accident. On Oct. 28, 1914, a declaration of liability was filed. He continued to work underground as a collier until May, 1925, when his employment was terminated owing to the mine being partially worked out. Alleging that he was unable to work underground in consequence of his injury, which was affecting the other eye also, he applied for a review in Sept. 1925. The county ct. judge referred the matter to a medical referee, who reported that there was nothing wrong with the other eye & that the man was perfectly fit for his work as a collier. Upon this report the judge made an award in favour of resps. The workman in Dec. 1925, twice applied for work in other employments, but was refused. On Mar. 10, 1926, he again applied for a review. On Mar. 17, 1926, resps. offered him work as a collier, but he asked for twenty-four hours to consider the offer, & the place was filled. The county ct. judge held there was no change in the circumstances or the man's condition since the previous award & dismissed the application:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding that there was no change in the circumstances entitling appet. to a review, & no misdirection.—MEADE v. UNITED NATIONAL COLLIERIES, LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 339, C. A.

3727. Case must be heard on merits—Before deciding that condition is not fulfilled.]—Where an application is made by an employer to review a registered agreement, upon the ground that the injured workman is partly or entirely fit for work at the date of the application, it is the duty of the arbitrator to hear such application upon its merits. It is not essential to prove a change of circumstances since the previous application to review.—TIRANMERE BAY DEVELOPMENT CO., LTD. v. BRENNAN (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 403, C. A.

See, also, Sub-sect. 3, C., ante.

B. What Amounts to.

(a) General Principles.

3728. Opinion given by medical witness proving unfounded.]—(1) Where an agreement has been entered into between a workman who has been injured by "accident arising out of & in the course of" his employment, within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), & his employers for payment to him of compensation "during his total incapacity for work," the weekly payment cannot be reviewed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., 16, merely because the total incapacity, which the parties thought would be temporary, has subsequently become permanent by reason of the necessity that the workman should undergo a surgical operation, that not being a "change of circumstances" within the meaning of the authorities.

(2) The meaning of "change of circumstances" is that where an injured workman is awarded compensation on the footing that he is able to do some light work, he being only partially incapacitated, the weekly payment to him can be reversed if it is subsequently proved that that which, according to the medical evidence, was believed to be the fact turns out to have been unfounded. Or, if it can be proved that total incapacity has ceased & that there is only partial incapacity, there can be a review of the weekly payment.

(3) If total incapacity was supposed to exist at the date of the award or the agreement, it is immaterial to consider whether, that which was a matter for doubt at one time has subsequently become a matter of certainty.—SCOTT v. LONG MEG PLASTER CO. (1914), 111 L. T. 773; 7 B. W. C. C. 502, C. A.

Annotation :—As to (1) Refd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309.

3729. Total incapacity ended—Partial incapacity remaining.]—SCOTT v. LONG MEG PLASTER CO., No. 3728, ante.

3730. Supposition of total incapacity at time of award—Supposition subsequently proved to be true.]—SCOTT v. LONG MEG PLASTER CO., No. 3728, ante.

3731. Obtaining affirmative evidence of extent of incapacity—Inability to obtain suitable work.]—On Dec. 7, 1916, a workman was awarded compensation for an injury to the fingers of his right hand on the basis of partial incapacity. On Feb. 14, 1917, he applied by review to increase the compensation on the ground that he had been unable to find any suitable employment. The sheriff-substitute found that the physical condition of the man was the same as at the time of the previous award, but that he had made many attempts to find work, & although he had not completely exhausted his chances of obtaining employment, the difficulty of obtaining it was due to the injury. He increased the compensation :—Held : although the condition of appt.'s hand had not altered since the original application to review, the fact that he was now in a position to give affirmative evidence of his inability to obtain suitable work constituted a change of circumstances that entitled the arbiter to deal with the application, &, there being evidence on which his award could be supported, the ct. had no jurisdiction to interfere with it, & the appeal must be allowed.

It appears to me that the amount may be reviewed if there has either been a change of circumstances, or if further events have put a different complexion on the case (LORD FINLAY).

What is meant by change of circumstances is, that there has been more light thrown . . . upon the results of the injury. . . . The arbiter who pronounced the original judgment may find that the award does not fit the case with the additional light now thrown upon it by experience (LORD SHAW).—M'ALINDEN v. NIMMO (JAMES) & CO., LTD., [1920] A. C. 39; 88 L. J. P. C. 131; 121 L. T. 585; 63 Sol. Jo. 722; 12 B. W. C. C. 293, H. L.

Annotations : —Refd. Fallens v. Dixon (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 314; Portland Colliery Co. v. Murray, Watson v. Quinn, Dixon v. Madden, [1923] A. C. 566; M'Combe v. Bent Colliery Co. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 319.

3732. More light thrown upon results of injury.]—M'ALINDEN v. NIMMO (JAMES) & CO., LTD., No. 3731, ante.

3733. Subsequent experience proving previous decision wrong.]—The amount which an injured workman "is earning or is able to earn in some suitable employment" at the date of an application to review a weekly payment under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), cannot necessarily have been finally determined at any period of time, & cannot therefore be res judicata. The issue on such an application is the same as if it were an original award made at the date of the application to review.

(2) Where subsequent experiment has shown that the previous decision based on expert evidence was wrong, there is a change of circumstances which will justify an application to review the weekly payments.

Although I think it is competent to the county ct. judge to review an award similar to that which was made in June, it is right to add that any such application should be jealously scrutinised, &, further, that great care must be taken not to allow fluctuations of the general labour market to justify a review (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—RADCLIFFE v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., [1910] 1 K. B. 685; 79 L. J. K. B. 429; 102 L. T. 206; 26 T. L. R. 319; 54 Sol. Jo. 401; 3 B. W. C. C. 185, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Distd. Green v. Cammell, Laird, [1913] 3 K. B. 665. Consd. Tarr v. Cory, [1917] 2 K. B. 774. Refd. R. v. Templer, Ex p. Howarth, [1912] 1 K. B. 351; Linthorpe Dinsdale Smelting Co. v. Hoy (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 995. As to (2) Consd. Cardiff Corpn. v. Hall, [1911] 1 K. B. 1009; Ball v. Coulthard (1919), 122 L. T. 164. Refd. Ball v. Hunt, [1912] A. C. 496; Osborne v. Tralee & Dingle Ry. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 913; Kear v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 121; M'Clure v. M'Neil (1924), 18 B. W. C. C. 585.

3734. Calculation based on expenses which have ceased to exist—Family brought to reside near work.]—A workman was in receipt of 17*s.* 5*d.* a week compensation. His employers then gave him light work at Cardiff, some miles from his home, & filed an application to review. The county ct. judge reduced the payments to 13*s.* a week: in arriving at this figure he allowed the man 4*s.* 6*d.* for a week-end ticket & lodging allowance, as he had to live apart from his family during the week. The family then came to live in Cardiff, & the employers filed a further application to reduce on the ground of this change of circumstances. The judge then reduced the payments by a further 2*s.* :—Held : the decision was on a question of fact, & the ct. would not interfere.—TAFF VALE RY. CO. v. LANE (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 297, C. A.

(b) Fluctuations of General Labour Market.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 11 (3).

3735. Whether justifying review.]—RADCLIFFE v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 3733, ante.

3736. —— General rise in wages.]—Upon an application to review a weekly payment in a case of partial incapacity under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 16, the fact that since the last award there has been a substantial alteration in the rate of wages common to the trade in which the workman is employed is one which the arbitrator is not only entitled but bound to take into consideration. Such an alteration is a change of circumstances which gives jurisdiction to entertain an application to review.—TARR v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. [1917] 2 K. B. 774; sub nom. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. v. TARR, CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. v. HOPKINS, 86 L. J. K. B. 1340; 61 Sol.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (b).

3736 i. Whether justifying review—General rise in wages.]—In an application for review an arbitrator is not bound to grant an increase on account, per se, of a general rise in the rate of wages, but he is entitled to take this into account as an element in considering what the workman would probably have earned had he remained uninjured.—MALCOLM v. SPOWART (THOMAS) & CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 1024; 50 Sc. L. R. 823; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 141; 6 B. W. C. C. 856.—SCOT.

3736 ii. —— ——.]—In reviewing the compensation due to a partially disabled miner under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, an arbitrator is

Sect. 20.—Review of weekly payments: Sub-sect. 4, B. (b), (c) & (d).]

Jo. 708; 10 B. W. C. C. 590; sub nom. THOMAS v. NIXON'S NAVIGATION CO., LTD., TARR v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD., HOPKINS v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD., 117 L. T. 513, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Fallens v. Dixon (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 314; M'Combe v. Bent Colliery Co. (1921), 17 B. W. C. C. 349.

3737. —— Fluctuation of wages.]—Where, after a period of total incapacity, an injured workman, having been given light work, is paid compensation in respect of partial incapacity, & then, owing to a general rise in wages, the actual wages earned at the light work exceed his average weekly earnings prior to the accident & payment of compensation is suspended, & ultimately, owing to a further change in the conditions of the labour market, either the wages earned at the light work fall below the pre-accident wages or no light work is available for him, there being no change in the man's physical condition, his right to receive compensation for partial incapacity revives, & the amount of compensation payable must be determined by arbitration, having regard to what the man is competent to earn in the circumstances of the case.—PORTLAND COLLIERY CO. v. MURRAY, WATSON (J.), LTD. v. QUINN, DIXON (W.), LTD. v. MADDEN, [1923] A. C. 566; 92 L. J. P. C. 177; 129 L. T. 746; 39 T. L. R. 579; 16 B. W. C. C. 116, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Fallens v. Dixon (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 314; M'Combe v. Bent Colliery Co. (1921), 17 B. W. C. C. 349. Consd. Hamilton v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co., Leigh v. Same, Timmins v. Same (No. 1) (1926), 43 T. L. R. 97. Refd. Bromley v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co., Drew v. Staveley Coal & Iron Co. (1923), 129 L. T. 620.

(c) Inability to Do or Find Suitable Work.

3738. Compensation reduced on ground of ability to work—Injured man undertaking work—Found to be unfit.]—An injured collier had his compensation reduced to 1*d.* a week. He asked his employers for light work, & they offered him only his old work. He attempted this, but quite failed to do it; it made him ill, & he had to attend a hospital for six months. He applied to have the compensation increased, & gave evidence of the above facts &, in addition, medical evidence that he was unfit for work. The county ct. judge dismissed the application on the ground that there was no change of circumstances:—Held: there was a change of circumstances, & the case must be remitted for assessment of compensation.

It is not competent for a county ct. judge, sitting as arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to prophesy as to how long the incapacity for work of a workman, who has been injured by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, will last, & to anticipate what may happen in the future in the workman's condition. It is for the employer who desires to obtain on the ground of change of circumstances a review of the weekly payment which has been made payable to the injured workman to establish that such change has taken place, & the onus of so proving ought not to be shifted to the workman.—WALTON v. SOUTH KIRKBY, FEATHERSTONE & HEMSWORTH COLLIERY, LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 337; 5 B. W. C. C. 640, C. A.

3739. —— —— ——.]—A riveter lost the sight in his left eye, which was removed. Full compensation was paid for a considerable period. The workman having filed an application, the employers offered to provide him with riveting work which it was thought he could do, & an award was made for full payment up to the date thereof, & a penny a week thereafter. The workman, finding he could not do the work offered, applied for a review, & the county ct. judge restored the payment of full compensation:—Held: the question was one of fact, & there was evidence to support the award.—THAYNE v. GRAY & CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 17, C. A.

3740. Repeatedly refused work on account of incapacity.]—SHARMAN v. HOLLIDAY & GREENWOOD, LTD., No. 3711, ante.

3741. Inability to find suitable work.]—A workman with an injury to his knee recovered sufficiently to be able to resume work, but his knee was liable to break down at any time, & did in fact break down. After a considerable time, during which he did not receive compensation, he took proceedings, & the county ct. judge, on the assumption that his former employers were going to find him work, awarded one penny per week. The former employers refused to find him work, & he was unable to obtain any from anyone else, owing to his having had an accident, & to the chance of his breaking down:—Held: he was entitled to full compensation.—THOMAS v. FAIRBAIRN, LAWSON & CO., LTD. (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 195, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Jones v. New Brynmally Colliery Co. (1912), 106 L. T. 524.

3742. ——.]—A workman in a steel-rolling mill had the sight of one eye impaired by an accident. He received compensation for some time, & the employers then applied to review the payments. Conflicting medical evidence being given as to the state of the man's vision, the judge referred the matter to a medical referee, who reported that the man would see better with glasses, & could do his old work, but did not make it clear that he could work without glasses. The judge on this found that the man was physically able to work, but that, as a man with glasses was unlikely to obtain employment in the steel-rolling mill, he was not commercially "able to earn," & dismissed the application to review:—Held: there was evidence of a change of circumstances, which the judge ought to have considered, & the case must go back to him.—GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. v. WINSPER (1911), 4 B. W. C. C. 289, C. A.

3743. ——.]—A workman lost his eye by an accident, & on recovery applied for arbn. The judge found that he was capable of doing his old work as a boiler maker, & made an award of 1*d.* a week. He then returned to work with the same employers & at the same rate of wages. After he had been working some time he was discharged on the ground of misconduct; it was alleged that entitled to take into consideration a general rise in miners' wages since the date of the accident.—MCNEILL v. WOODILEE, [1918] S. C. (H. L.) 1.—SCOT.

---

3737*l*. —— Fluctuation of wages.]—M'COMBE v. BENT COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 349.—SCOT.

d. —— General reduction of wages.]—A minor, who was in receipt of compensation in respect of partial incapacity at a rate which his employers were willing to continue, claimed an increase of the rate, stating as the sole basis of his claim that there had been a general reduction in wages to the extent of at least 2*s.* per shift:—Held: he had failed to aver relevant grounds for a review of the rate of compensation.—QUILTER v. KEPPLEHILL COAL CO., LTD., [1921] S. C. 905.—SCOT.

e. —— Fall in wages in one occupation—Occupation in which injured man now employed—Not his occupation before accident.]—FALLENS v. DIXON (WILLIAM), LTD. (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 314.—SCOT.

f. —— Strike — Loss of employment.]—HUTCHISON v. CADZOW COAL CO., LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 365.—SCOT.

he was asleep at work. The man tried to get similar employment elsewhere but failed. On an application to review by the workman, the judge increased the payments, finding that the workman had not been guilty of misconduct, &, even when working for his old employers, he could not do his work properly. He also found that the man was, by the loss of his eye, unable to obtain work as a boiler maker elsewhere, & so was put in the position of a casual labourer:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.

There is ample evidence for the judge to say that that which was believed to be probable has been proved by actual experience since not to have come true. This being so, there was ample evidence to justify the judge in saying that the amount of compensation ought to be reviewed (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—BROWN v. THORNYCROFT (J.) & Co., LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 386, C. A.

3744. ——.]—A workman, in receipt of a weekly payment under a consent award, applied for a review & increase, alleging that there had been a change of circumstances since the award, in that he had not been able to obtain the light work that he thought he could do. The county ct. judge held that there had been no change of circumstances since the award, & dismissed the application:—Held: there was evidence to support the decision.—GIARDELLI v. LONDON WELSH S.S. Co. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 550, C. A.

3745. —— In district where workman lives.] —MACDONALD (OR DURIS) v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL Co., No. 3232, ante.

3746. Greater difficulty in finding suitable work—Than was supposed when award made.]—M'ALINDEN v. NIMMO (JAMES) & Co., LTD., No. 3731, ante.

3747. Offer to return to work if paid lump sum.] —A workman met with an accident in Jan. 1917, by which he lost part of the little finger of his right hand. Full compensation was paid for some weeks, after which time the employers, being advised by their doctor that the workman was fit to return to work, offered to reinstate him in his old employment if he would return. The workman on Apr. 9, 1918, through a solr., offered to return to work on condition that he was paid a sum of £200 damages for the injury. The employers refused this & stopped his compensation. The man thereupon commenced proceedings. The employers in the meantime had offered a declaration of liability. The medical assessor sitting with the judge after examining the man's hand reported "that the man would probably be fit for work in the usual course about the end of May." Upon this the county ct. judge made an award of full compensation up to May 31, with a declaration of liability after that:—Held: there was no evidence of any incapacity to support an award for compensation to continue after Apr. 9. —DAVIES v. VICKERS, LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 288, C. A.

3748. No bonâ fide effort to obtain suitable work.] —A workman, who had injured his foot by accident in the course of his employment received a weekly payment by way of compensation from his employers for nearly a year. After offering him light work, which he made no serious attempt to do, they reduced the amount of the compensation. The workman thereupon made an application for full compensation, but the ct. held that the employers were justified in making the reduction. Six months later an application was made by the employers for a further reduction. The deputy county ct. judge decided that since the previous application a change of circumstances had occurred, & that the man had made no bonâ fide effort to perform suitable work which had been offered to him. He therefore ordered that the weekly payment should be further reduced. The workman appealed:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding & no misdirection.—SABEY & SONS v. BAVIN (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 223, C. A.

(d) Ability to Do Light Work.

3749. Offer of light work by employer.]—(1) A workman having sustained an injury received the full amount of compensation for a time, & then the employer offered him some light work which he refused to accept. The employer then applied for a review with the object of diminishing the weekly payments. It was proved that the man was able to do light work, but there was no evidence to show the exact amount of wages he would be able to earn. The county ct. judge, acting partly on his own local knowledge, diminished the payments:—Held: the employer having established a case for a review of the payments, the judge had a discretion to diminish the amount without evidence of the actual sum the workman could earn.

(2) It is quite clear that no appeal can arise on the point as to quantum unless it can be shown that the arbitrator has either misdirected himself in law or that there was no evidence on which he could have acted (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—ROBERTS & RUTHVEN, LTD. v. HALL (1912), 106 L. T. 769; 5 B. W. C. C. 331, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dyer v. Wilsons & Clyde Coal Co. (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 367. As to (2) Apld. Peart v. Bolckow, Vaughan, [1925] 1 K. B. 399. Reld. Duberley v. Mace (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 82; Healy v. Reilly (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 711.

3750. ——.]—An unskilled dock labourer while working at the docks met with a serious accident which rendered him unable to do the full work that he did before. For a considerable time his employers paid compensation to the workman under an agreement with him. Subsequently they offered to take him on as a labourer & give him 8s. a day, & to find him work for four or five days a week, but they warned him that he must not take that as a guarantee by them of perpetual employment. The employers then applied under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 16, sched. I., for an order to review the weekly payment payable to the workman, on the ground that there was a change in the circumstances because of their offer of light work to him:—Held: having regard to the findings of the county ct. judge that the workman was fit for light work, & to the fact that the employers had offered same to him, the judge ought to have required evidence as to the probable amount of the wages which the workman could earn in order to ascertain what alteration should be made in the weekly payment, if any; & the case must go back to the judge.—GRAY, DAWES & Co. v. REED (1913), 108 L. T. 53; 6 B. W. C. C. 13, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (d).

g. Offer of light work by employer—Cessation of total incapacity.]—CARLIN v. STEPHEN & SONS, LTD., [1911] S. C. 901; 48 Sc. L. R. 862; [1911] 2 S. L. T. 19; 5 B. W. C. C. 486.—SCOT.

h. —— Refusal because necessitating change of residence unjustifiable.]—PEARSON v. RUSSELL (ARCHIBALD), LTD., [1916] S. C. 536; 53 Sc. L. R. 377; [1916] 1 S. L. T. 214; 9 B. W. C. C. 706.—SCOT.

Sect. 20.—Review of weekly payments: Sub-sect. 4, C.; sub-sects. 5 & 6.]

C. Burden of Proof.

3751. Lies on master.]—CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. v. HUGHES, No. 3321, ante.

SUB-SECT. 5.—INFANTS.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 11 (2).

3752. Review after attainment of majority—Accrued right under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58)—Repeal of provision by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42)—Effect of Interpretation Act, 1889 (c. 63), s. 39 (2).]—Before Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), came into force a workman under the age of twenty-one years met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & an agreement was recorded by which the employers admitted their liability to pay compensation to the workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), during total or partial incapacity. After the commencement of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), the workman, being then over twenty-one years of age, applied for a review & increase of the rate of compensation payable to him under the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., para. 16:—Held: the workman had an accrued right to a review of the rate of compensation under the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 16, & was therefore entitled, by Interpretation Act, 1889 (c. 63), s. 38 (2), to a review under that proviso even after it had been repealed by sect. 31 of the Act of 1923 & a new proviso "substituted" by sect. 24 (6) of that Act.—BRIGGS v. DRYDEN (T.) & SONS, TALBOT v. VICKERS, LTD., [1925] 2 K. B. 667; 95 L. J. K. B. 275; 133 L. T. 409; 69 Sol. Jo. 610; 18 B. W. C. C. 163, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Wood v. Wentworth Silkstone Colliery Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 656; Clement v. Davis (1926), 43 T. L. R. 10.

3753. —— Effect of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 24 (6).]—The workman was under twenty-one years of age when he was injured by an accident in his employment, in Mar. 1924, & was paid compensation. Some time after Aug. 1924, in which month he attained twenty-one, he applied under proviso to above sub-sect., for a review of the weekly payments he was receiving as compensation for the purpose of obtaining the benefit of the increase provided for by that proviso:—Held: the words "before the workman attains the age of twenty-one years," contained in the proviso substituted by above sub-sect., for the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16), prevented the workman receiving the benefit of that proviso when making an application to review after he came of age.—JONES v. MEIROS COLLIERIES, LTD. (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 754; 135 L. T. 469; 42 T. L. R. 589; 70 Sol. Jo. 707; 19 B. W. C. C. 182, C. A.

3754. "Weekly sum workman would probably have been earning"—Not limited to same employment—Or same employer.]—Upon a review of the weekly payments to a workman who has been injured by an accident entitling him to compensation & who was then under age, if the review takes place more than twelve months after the accident "the amount of the weekly payments may be increased to any amount not exceeding 50 per cent. of the weekly sum which the workman would probably have been earning at the date of the review if he had remained uninjured, but not in any case exceeding £1," as enacted by the proviso to clause 16 of sched. I. of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).

The probable earnings there referred to are not restricted to what the workman would probably have been earning in his actual employment under the same employer, but are left to the discretion & good sense of the county ct. judge upon the evidence.—VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, LTD. v. EVANS, [1910] A. C. 444; 79 L. J. K. B. 954; 103 L. T. 292; 26 T. L. R. 548; 54 Sol. Jo. 651; 3 B. W. C. C. 403, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. EVANS v. VICKERS, SONS & MAXIM, LTD., [1910] 1 K. B. 554, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Clarke, Nicholls & Coombs v. Knox (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 695; Abbey v. Nichols (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 969.

3755. —— Woman discontinuing employment on marriage.]—A girl under twenty-one years of age was employed at wages of 10*s.* 3*d.* a week, & in June, 1917, she met with an accident arising out of & in the course of her employment, & lost the third & fourth fingers & part of the second finger of her right hand. She was paid compensation for some time at 10*s.* a week. She returned to work with the same employers in Jan. 1918, at 10*s.* a week. She had married soon after the accident, & in Apr. 1918, she left her employment at a time when her husband, a sailor, was home on leave. In May, 1918, she took work with other employers, & earned 29*s.* a week for a fortnight as cement tester, & afterwards 39*s.* a week at pushing trolleys loaded with cement. In July, 1918, she gave up this employment as being too heavy for her. Subsequently she commenced proceedings, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), against her original employers for an increase in the compensation of 10*s.* a week said to have been agreed to. At the hearing she said she had not tried to get work recently because now she was married she hoped to have a home of her own. The county ct. judge found that she was only able to earn about 5*s.* a week, & that uninjured she would probably have earned about 30*s.* a week, & he awarded her as compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 16, 50 per cent. of the difference between these two sums, or 12*s.* 6*d.* a week:—Held: (1) there was no evidence on which the county ct. judge could reasonably find that the girl's earning capacity was only 5*s.* a week, & therefore his award must be set aside & an award made in favour of the employers; (2) there was also no evidence on which the county ct. judge could hold that but for the accident the girl would probably be earning 30*s.* a week; &, indeed, on the girl's own evidence she would probably be earning nothing, seeing that she had no intention of going to work because, being married, she intended to look after her own home.—ABBEY v. NICHOLS (JAMES) & SONS, LTD. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 969; 120 L. T. 467; 12 B. W. C. C. 64, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 4. —C.

k. Lies on master — To prove recovery from injuries.]—M'CALLUM v. QUINN, [1909] S. C. 227.—SCOT.

l. —— To show workman could find work.]—M'CLURE v. M'NEIL (WILLIAM) & CO., LTD. (1924), 18 B. W. C. C. 585.—SCOT.

m. Lies on workman — On proof of partial recovery—To show inability to obtain work.]—PRYDE v. MOORE & CO., [1913] S. C. 457; 50 Sc. L. R. 302; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 49.—SCOT.

n. —— —— ——.] — PURDIE v. COLVILLE & SONS, LTD., [1923] S. C. 772.—SCOT.

3756. —— If no accident had happened.]—A factory girl suffered the loss of an eye by accidental injury in 1919. At the time of the accident she was under twenty-one years of age. She was then earning 22*s.* 6*d.* a week, & she received, during the illness caused by the injury, the full compensation to which she was entitled until May, 1920. She was then offered light work by her employers, but refused it. Her compensation was discontinued, & she applied in the autumn of 1920 to the county ct. judge for an award. He came to the conclusion that there was then no present diminution of earning capacity, but that by reason of the loss of the eye there was a risk of future disability, & he made a nominal award of a penny a week, with a declaration of liability. Various events interposed. There was a cessation of employment, & afterwards re-employment. Ultimately, after her discharge from the employment, she again went to the county ct. with an application under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16), for an increase in the amount of the award. This second application was not heard by the judge by whom the former application was heard. The employers met this application with a counter application that the award should be wholly discharged, & the county ct. judge, having heard both applications together, discharged the former award & made an award for resps. Appct. appealed:—Held: the evidence before the county ct. judge did not appear to justify him in giving a decision on the basis that the risk of incapacity had ceased; & with regard to the question of the increase of the weekly payment he did not seem to have considered the earning capacity of the girl, or the difference between her present earning capacity & what might have been her earning capacity if the accident had not occurred. The order should be discharged & the case remitted to him for reconsideration.—BRIGGS v. GANDY BELT MANUFACTURING CO., LTD. (1923), 129 L. T. 760; 16 B. W. C. C. 151, C. A.

3757. "Earnings before accident"—Probable earnings.]—A workman, who was a minor, was injured, & a declaration of the employer's liability was registered. Twelve months later the workman applied for a review under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I (16), on the ground that if uninjured he would "probably be earning" higher wages. The county ct. judge found that he would probably have been earning 4*s.* a week more, & awarded him 2*s.* a week compensation. The employers appealed on the grounds that there was no evidence to support the county ct. judge's award, & that sched. I. (16) must be read as governed by sched. I. (3), so that this workman must not receive compensation which exceeds the difference between the wages before & after the accident:—Held: there was evidence to support the award of the county ct. judge. Sched. I. (16) must be read as an addition to sched. I. (3), & not in subordination to it.

Semble: the correct principle in the case of a minor is to substitute the "probable earnings" for the "earnings before the accident" in reading sched. I. (3).—EDWARDS v. ALYN STEEL TINPLATE CO., LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 141, C. A.

3758. Compensation limited to 50 per cent. of probable earnings.]—A girl aged sixteen earning 6*s.* a week was injured by accident, & received 6*s.* a week compensation. On a review when the girl was just under nineteen, the county ct. judge found that the girl would now have been earning 10*s.* a week had she not been injured. He refused to increase the compensation on the ground that under the proviso to sched. I. (16) of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), he could only award her 50 per cent. of what she would now be earning, i.e. 5*s.* a week:—Held: this decision was right.—AMBRIDGE v. GOOD (1912), 1 L. J. C. C. 69; 5 B. W. C. C. 691, C. A.

3759. Work offered at greater wages than before accident — Declaration of liability.] — A girl of seventeen, employed as a machinist at 6*s.* 10*d.* a week, lost the first & part of the second fingers of her left hand by accident. She was voluntarily paid compensation for three months, when she took domestic service at 5*s.* a week, board & lodging, & compensation was stopped. She left service after three weeks' trial as the work was too hard. She applied for compensation to be continued & was awarded 3*s.* a week. The employers applied, fourteen months after the accident, to review & terminate the payments. At the hearing they offered suitable light work at 8*s.* a week, with a possibility of earning 12*s.* The county ct. judge refused to reduce the amount of compensation, & stated that if the offer of light work had been made earlier the case would have been different. The award in no way purported to be founded on the probable increase of earnings of infant under the proviso in sched. I. (16) of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: there was no evidence to justify awarding the continuance of 3*s.* a week; compensation should have been stopped & a declaration of liability granted.—CLARKE, NICHOLLS & COOMBS, LTD. v. KNOX (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 793; 6 B. W. C. C. 695, C. A.

3760. Date from which increase may be ordered.] A miner, under twenty-one years of age, was certified on Feb. 6, 1911, as being incapacitated from nystagmus. He received compensation paid voluntarily, until Apr. 20, 1911, when he was given surface work, at a slightly higher rate of pay. The compensation was then stopped. On Sept. 23, 1913, two years & seven months after disablement, he applied, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16), proviso, for a review & increase as from Apr. 20, 1911, two & a half years back, & only two & a half months after the disablement. The only evidence as to possible earnings was given by the employers, & related solely to earnings at the date of the application to review, i.e. Sept. 23, 1913. The county ct. judge refused to increase as from Apr. 20, 1911, such date not being twelve months after the disablement. But he increased the compensation as from Feb. 6, 1912, twelve months after the disablement, making his computation upon the evidence of probable earnings on Sept. 23, 1913:—Held: (1) there was no evidence of the possible earning capacity of the workman at the date from which the judge increased the compensation, & the award could not stand; (2) on the construction of the proviso, an increase should be made to commence from the date of review, or prior date if stated in the application.—WILLIAMS v. BWLLFA & MERTHYR DARE STEAM COLLIERIES (1891), LTD., [1914] 2 K. B. 30; 83 L. J. K. B. 442; 110 L. T. 561; 7 B. W. C. C. 124, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Talbot v. Vickers, [1920] 2 K. B. 682.

3761. Concurrent application to review & redeem.]—MORELAND & SONS v. ELEY, ELEY v. MORELAND & SONS, No. 3771, post.

SUB-SECT. 6.—PROCEDURE.

3762. Review may be had on original arbitration —Sufficiency of pleading.]—ROUSE v. HUTCHINSON, No. 3121, ante.

Sect. 20.—Review of weekly payments: Sub-sects. 6 & 7. Sect. 21: Sub-sect. 1, A.] 3763. Whether original arbitration or review appropriate—Recorded agreement for no specified sum.]—BEAMISH v. WAGON REPAIRS, LTD., No. 3092, ante.

3764. Termination of compensation—Must be raised on pleadings.]—A workman, in whose favour a judge made a declaration of liability, applied for a review & restoration of weekly payments. The employers opposed the application, but did not ask for a termination of their liability. The judge terminated the employer's liability:—Held: a judge has no power to terminate liability unless asked to do so by the employers in their answer.—HENSHAW v. FIELDING (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 650, C. A.

3765. —— —— .]—The workman was injured by an accident in Oct. 1922, & was paid compensation under a recorded agreement until Aug. 1921. Upon an application by the employers for review & diminution of the weekly payment, the county ct. judge made an award terminating the payment:—Held: the application being for review & diminution, the county ct. judge was not entitled to terminate the payment, & the case must be remitted for an award of a nominal sum.—WILSON, LOVATT & SONS, LTD. v. JOHNSON (1925), 133 L. T. 662; 69 Sol. Jo. 675; 18 B. W. C. C. 206, C. A.

3766. —— —— Sufficiency of answer.]—In Apr. 1913, employers were ordered to pay appct. 1*d.* a week compensation. Subsequently appct. gave notice of his intention to apply for a review of the award, & the employers thereupon by their answer gave notice that on the hearing of the application they would apply for a termination of their liability. In Sept. 1915, the workman's application was heard. The county ct. judge refused to increase the penny a week, but held he had no jurisdiction to entertain the employers application to terminate, no formal application by them to review their liability having been filed. The employers appealed:—Held: in the circumstances the county ct. judge had jurisdiction to deal with the employers' application & the case must be remitted for him to do so.—PAULIZKY v. WANDSWORTH, WIMBLEDON & EPSOM DISTRICT GAS CO. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 206, C. A.

Concurrent application to review & redeem, see Sect. 21, sub-sect. 1, A., post.

3767. Duty of judge—To hear workman's case.]—GRAY, DAWES & CO. v. REED, No. 3750, ante.

3768. —— To consider offer of suitable work—Offer made in court.]—A workman seriously incapacitated by injury & in receipt of full compensation was offered by his former employers light work at his old wages. The workman refused this offer, & the employers applied to review & diminish the compensation. From the answers of the employers' witnesses, it appeared that the employers were no longer willing to give the man work. At the end of the employers' case, however, & before the workman's case had been opened, counsel for the employers made a formal offer in ct. to employ the injured man in supervising work which would not need physical exertion. The workman's case was then heard. The judge found that the work offered was suitable, but the man had no earning capacity in the labour market. He then said that the original offer was no longer open to the man, & without in any way referring to the offer made in ct., he dismissed the application & refused to diminish the payments:—Held: as the judge had, for some unexplained reason, not taken into account the offer made in ct., which apparently was for full wages, the case must be remitted to the judge to assess compensation, at a reduced rate.—JENKINSON v. STEINER (F.) & Co. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 571, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Cross v. Whitehead Aircraft Co. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 702.

—— —— When assessing compensation for partial incapacity.]—See Nos. 3374, 3375, ante.

SUB-SECT. 7.—ORDER MADE ON REVIEW.

See Sect. 14, ante.

SECT. 21.—REDEMPTION OF WEEKLY PAYMENTS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—STATUTORY REDEMPTION.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 13.

3769. Right to redeem—Absolute right—No discretion in judge to refuse.]—Where a weekly payment under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), has been continued by an employer for not less than six months he has an absolute right, under Sched. I., para. 17, to redeem the liability therefor by a payment as therein provided, & the judge has no discretion to refuse to allow him to do so.—KENDALL & GENT, LTD. v. PENNINGTON (1912), 106 L. T. 817; 5 B. W. C. C. 335, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Costello v. Brown (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 220.

3770. —— Concurrent application to review—Withdrawal of redemption proceedings.]—Where an employer applied, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), for a review in respect of the diminution or redemption or both, of a weekly payment which had been awarded to a workman injured by accident while in his employ:—Held: he was entitled to withdraw the application as to redemption & proceed upon it as to diminution.—GOTOBED v. PETCHELL, [1914] 2 K. B. 36; 83 L. J. K. B. 429; 110 L. T. 453; 30 T. L. R. 253; 58 Sol. Jo. 249; 7 B. W. C. C. 109, C. A.

3771. —— Right of workman to review of payments—Rights co-equal—Priority of employer's application to redeem.]—The rights given to a workman by sched. I., para. 16, & to the employer by sched. I., para. 17, of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), are co-equal rights, & the fact that the employer's application to redeem on the footing of existing facts is prior in date to the application of an infant workman for an increase of compensation does not give the former an absolute indefeasible right to his order.

The claimant, a girl of thirteen, met with an accident in Apr. 1910, which left her right hand useless. Liability under the Act was admitted, & the employers paid her her full wages, 5*s.* 5*d.*

PART XIV. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 1. —A.

o. Right to redeem—Inquiry as to permanency of incapacity.]—In determining whether an employer should be allowed to redeem for a lump sum weekly payments awarded under Workmen's Compensation Act, R. S. A., 1922, c. 176, the first inquiry the ct. should make is to ascertain whether the workman's incapacity for work is permanent.—JENNINGS v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1925] 3 D. L. R. 838; [1925] 2 W. W. R. 622.—CAN.

a week, as compensation. In 1911 an agreement was recorded whereby the employers found her light work at 3*s.* a week, & the compensation was reduced to 2*s.* 5*d.* In Mar. 1912, the employers applied for redemption of their liability. Notice of the application was not properly served on the claimant, but a solr. appeared under protest for her at the hearing of the application for redemption & took the objection of want of service. The claimant applied for an increase of compensation, & both applications came on for hearing on the same day, that of the employers being first in the list. The county ct. judge refused, on the ground of want of service, to hear the application for redemption, & on the application of the claimant increased the compensation to 5*s.* 6*d.* a week with costs of both applications to be paid by the employers:—Held: the defect in service had been waived by the appearance of the solr. for the claimant, but that the employers had no such indefeasible right to have their application for redemption heard first as could prevent the judge from exercising his discretion as he had done. — MORELAND & SONS v. ELEY, ELEY v. MORELAND & SONS, [1916] 1 K. B. 85; 85 L. J. K. B. 250; 114 L. T. 22; 60 Sol. Jo. 59; 9 B. W. C. C. 11, C. A.

3772. Admissions by or on behalf of infants—Reliability.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, post.

3773. Allegations against infants—Must be proved.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, post.

3774. Application to redeem—Defective service on workman—Waiver.]—MORELAND & SONS v. ELEY, ELEY v. MORELAND & SONS, No. 3771, ante.

—— Sum limited by employer.]—See No. 3778, post.

3775. Redemption as completion of employer's liability—Award contemplating future payments.]—(1) The redemption of the weekly payment under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), must be a final & complete settlement of the whole liability of the employer.

(2) An employer is not entitled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 17, to redeem by payment of a lump sum, a weekly payment which does not represent the full compensation due under the Act, but only the balance of liability which remains, after taking into account any benefits or advantages which the workman may receive from the employer, & which may or may not be continued. The true measure of compensation in such a case is the weekly payment plus so much of the benefits & advantages conceded by the employer as will make up the difference between the statutory liability & the agreed weekly payment.

In 1910 a workman employed at a colliery at a weekly wage of £1 16*s.* 4*d.* met with an accident which resulted in lameness, & his employers paid him half wages on the footing of total incapacity until 1913. The workman having then partially recovered, an agreement was made between him & his employers whereby the employers agreed (a) to find him a house, for which he was to pay rent, near the colliery; (b) to find him suitable light work at which he could sit down; (c) to pay him wages at a rate which would enable him to earn £1 7*s.* 6*d.* a week & 8*s.* 10*d.* a week compensation. The workman worked under this agreement till 1916, when the employers applied to the county ct. judge to redeem the weekly payment of 8*s.* 10*d.*:—Held: the payment was incapable of redemption otherwise than by agreement.

Semble: the employers might apply to the county ct. judge either to have the weekly payment reviewed or to have the statutory weekly payment fixed on the footing of there being no agreement, inasmuch as the agreement was incapable of being enforced by either party, & in that case there might be no difficulty in making an order for redemption.—CLAWLEY v. CARLTON MAIN COLLIERY CO., [1918] A. C. 741; 87 L. J. K. B. 920; 119 L. T. 715; 34 T. L. R. 577; 62 Sol. Jo. 728; 11 B. W. C. C. 440, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. CARLTON MAIN COLLIERY CO. v. CLAWLEY, [1917] 2 K. B. 691, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309. As to (2) Refd. Rawlings v. Hodgson (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 73; Russell v. Rudd, [1923] A. C. 309; Lindsay v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 600; Pudney v. France, Fenwick, Smith v. Leach, [1925] 1 K. B. 346; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (1925), 133 L. T. 111. Generally, Refd. Williams v. Minister of Munitions (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1105; Haydock v. Goodier, [1921] 2 K. B. 381; Brown v. Baird (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 289.

3776. To what payments applicable—Payments not representing full compensation—Payments supplemented by benefits.]—CLAWLEY v. CARLTON MAIN COLLIERY CO., No. 3775, ante.

3777. —— Primary payments—Inclusion of war time additions.]—The workman was totally incapacitated in Apr. 1914, & in Oct. 1914, an agreement was filed under which he was to receive £1 per week compensation. He was paid £1 per week with war additions. On Dec. 23, 1923, the employers applied to redeem the payment of the £1 per week, but the hearing did not take place until Feb. 18, 1924. In the meantime Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), had come into operation as from Jan. 1, 1924. Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42), s. 1 (2), provided that the additional weekly sum payable under that Act should, notwithstanding that the primary weekly payment was redeemed subsequently to the commencement of that Act, continue to be payable in the same manner as if that liability had not been redeemed. Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Amendment Act, 1919 (c. 83), merely increased the amount of war addition. By sect. 1 of 1923 Act, the War Addition Acts of 1917 & 1919 were repealed, but it was provided that the additions should continue to apply to a weekly payment in respect of total incapacity arising from an accident which occurred before Dec. 31, 1923, so long as the workman remained totally incapacitated, & the addition should, for all purposes, be treated as if it were part of the weekly payment. The county ct. judge held that there could be redemption in respect only of the primary payment of £1 per week. Appct. appealed on the ground that the weekly payment ought not to be considered as consisting of two sums, the £1 per week & the 15*s.* war addition, but under the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, must be treated as one, & he was consequently entitled to have the 15*s.* per week also redeemed:—Held: under Workmen's Compensation (War Addition) Act, 1917 (c. 42), s. 1 (2), the right of the employer to redeem under Sched. I. (17) was only in respect of the primary weekly payment, & the additional weekly payment was still to continue, even though the liability to make the primary weekly payment was redeemed; & that position remained unaltered by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, having regard to Interpretation Act, 1889 (c. 63), s. 38 (2), (c) & (e), in the case of an application to redeem made before Jan. 1, 1924, & in such a case the workman's privilege to continue to receive the additional 15*s.* per week

Sect. 21.—Redemption of weekly payments: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B. (a), (b) & (c), & C.; sub-sect. 2. Sect. 22: Sub-sect. 1.]

therefore remained. On an application to redeem, made after Jan. 1, 1924, the additional 15*s.* could be redeemed.—COSTELLO v. BROWN (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 220; 132 L. T. 149; 68 Sol. Jo. 813; 17 B. W. C. C. 136, C. A.

B. Sum Payable on Redemption.

(a) In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 13.

3778. Limitation of sum—Contained in application—Jurisdiction of judge to entertain such application.]—It is not competent, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I., clause 13, for employers to apply for redemption of their liability to make weekly payments by way of compensation subject to a limit specified in the application of the sum to be payable for redemption; & a county ct. judge has no jurisdiction to entertain an application so limited.—CASTLE SPINNING CO. v. ATKINSON, [1905] 1 K. B. 336; 74 L. J. K. B. 265; 92 L. T. 147; 53 W. R. 360; 21 T. L. R. 192; 7 W. C. C. 124, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Calico Printers Assocn. v. Booth, [1913] 3 K. B. 652.

3779. Optional award—Deletion of optional words.]—CALICO PRINTERS ASSOCN., LTD. v. BOOTH, No. 3795, post.

3780. Adequacy of sum—Agreement to redeem & statutory redemption—Not in pari materia.]—SHARP v. RICHARDSON & CO., No. 3593, ante.

(b) Incapacity Permanent.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 13.

3781. What is permanent incapacity—Partial incapacity included.]—(1) The words "where the incapacity is permanent" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., para. 17, include partial as well as total incapacity; but the question whether the diminished capacity to work is permanent or not is one which the arbitrator must decide on proper evidence before applying the actuarial method of ascertaining the amount of compensation under the first alternative in para. 17. It does not follow because the physical injury is permanent, as, for example, the loss of a finger, that the diminished capacity to work is necessarily permanent also.

(2) The arbitrator in assessing the commutation of a weekly payment under the second alternative in para. 17 is not determing the compensation to be given for the accident. He has to consider only the amount of the weekly payments, their probable duration, the probability of their being diminished or raised in the future, & the probable extent of such variation, if any, & ought not to be guided by any consideration of what a jury might allow as damages (FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J.).

(3) The words in sched. I., para. 3, "the average weekly amount which" the workman "is earning or is able to earn in some suitable employment or business after the accident," refer to the value of the work which the workman is doing in his own business, that is, the wages which he would have to pay to another for the services which he is himself performing therein (FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J.).

(4) The onus of proving permanent incapacity is on the person alleging it (FARWELL, L.J.).—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, [1912] 1 K. B. 93; 81 L. J. K. B. 232; 105 L. T. 734; 28 T. L. R. 53; 56 Sol. Jo. 89; 5 B. W. C. C. 97, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Calico Printers Assocn. v. Booth, [1913] 3 K. B. 652; Marshall v. Prince, [1914] 3 K. B. 1047. Reid. Howell v. Blackwell's Exors., Blackwell v. Howell (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 293; Kendall & Gent v. Pennington (1912), 106 L. T. 817; Staveley Coal & Iron Co. v. Elson (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 301; Moreland v. Eley, Eley v. Moreland, [1916] 1 K. B. 85; Birmingham Ry. Carriage & Waggon Co. v. Round (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 612; Carlton Main Colliery Co. v. Clawley, [1917] 2 K. B. 691; Sharp v. Richardson, [1920] 3 K. B. 152; As to (4) Dbtd. Calico Printers Assocn. v. Booth, [1913] 3 K. B. 652. Reid. Marshall v. Prince, [1914] 3 K. B. 1047.

3782. —— ——.]—CALICO PRINTERS ASSOCN., LTD. v. BOOTH, No. 3795, post.

3783. —— Incapacity to earn full wages.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, post.

3784. Onus of proof—Whether on party alleging incapacity.]—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, ante.

3785. —— ——.]—CALICO PRINTERS ASSOCN., LTD. v. BOOTH, No. 3795, post.

3786. —— On employers.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, post.

3787. Function of arbitrator—Does not determine compensation for accident.]—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, ante.

3788. Matters for arbitrator's consideration—Degree of permanent incapacity.]—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, ante.

3789. —— ——.]—STAVELEY COAL & IRON CO. v. ELSON (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 301, C. A.

3790. —— ——.]—A workman was totally & permanently incapacitated for work as the result of an accident in 1906, & was awarded compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, (c. 37), at the rate of 16*s.* 1*d.* per week, under which award he had received £179 6*s.* 7*d.* In 1911 the employers applied to have the weekly payment redeemed by a lump sum. The county ct. judge assessed the sum which would have been awarded to the workman by a jury for such an injury at the time of the accident at £300. He then deducted from that sum the £179 6*s.* 7*d.* which the workman had already received in weekly payments, leaving a balance of £120 13*s.* 5*d.*, which he awarded as the lump sum to be paid by the employers in redemption:—Held: this method of computation was wrong.

In computing the lump sum that may be ordered to be paid by an employer, pursuant to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I. (13), in redemption of the liability for a weekly payment that has been continued to a workman for not less than six months, the county ct. judge has not a free hand in the matter, but he must proceed on a correct principle, taking into consideration in determining the present value of future weekly payments, the probability of the workman's recovery, & of his capacity for work either wholly or partially, likewise his age & state

---

PART XIV. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (a).

p. How fixed—Duty of judge—To consider condition & circumstances of workman at time of inquiry.]—In fixing the amount required to redeem the liability of an employer for payment of the weekly compensation awarded under Workmen's Compensation Act (Alta.), the district ct. judge must consider the condition & circumstances of the injured person at the time of the inquiry.—DUTKA v. BANKHEAD MINES (1915), 31 W. L. R. 687; 8 W. W. R. 1041.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (b).

q. Power of arbitrator — To fix lump sum without inquiry as to earning capacity.]—NATIONAL TELEPHONE CO. v. SMITH, [1909] S. C. 1363.—SCOT.

of his health, so that his expectation in life may be ascertained.—VICTOR MILLS, LTD. v. SHACKLETON, [1912] 1 K. B. 22; 81 L. J. K. B. 34; 105 L. T. 613; 5 B. W. C. C. 30, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Rawlings v. Hodgson (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 761. Refd. Calico Printers' Assocn. v. Higham [1912] 1 K. B. 93.

3791. ——.]—(1) Where an application is made by employers to redeem a weekly payment to a workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I., clause 17, on the ground of the permanent incapacity of the workman, the arbitrator must satisfy himself whether the physical condition of the injured workman is stable. The permanent incapacity referred to is the incapacity to earn full wages, & the condition of the workman may be stable & his incapacity permanent although if uninjured he would at some future time in the ordinary course of his employment become entitled to be paid higher wages.

(2) If the incapacity is permanent an infant under clause 17 is in no better position than an adult, & the weekly payment may be redeemed by the payment of a lump sum of such an amount as would purchase an annuity equal to 75 per cent. of the weekly payment, although his probable earnings would be likely to increase if he had remained uninjured.

(3) If the incapacity is not permanent the amount is in discretion of the arbitrator.

(4) On such an application to redeem a weekly payment the burden of proving the permanent incapacity of the workman lies upon the employers.

(5) Admissions by or on behalf of an infant cannot be relied upon, & all allegations against an infant must be proved, in proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), as well as in ordinary judicial proceedings. MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, [1911] 3 K. B. 1017; 81 L. J. K. B. 16; 111 L. T. 1081; 30 T. L. R. 651; 58 Sol. Jo. 721; 7 B. W. C. C. 755, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Carlton Main Colliery Co. v. Clawley, [1917] 2 K. B. 691. Generally, Refd. Moreland v. Eley, Eley v. Moreland, [1916] 1 K. B. 85.

3792. —— Amount of weekly payment—Probable duration & stability.]—CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, ante.

3793. ——.]—VICTOR MILLS, LTD. v. SHACKLETON, No. 3790, ante.

3794. —— Possible damages by jury.] CALICO PRINTERS' ASSOCN., LTD. v. HIGHAM, No. 3781, ante.

3795. —— Personal knowledge of arbitrator—State of labour market.]—A workman met with an accident within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), which resulted in the loss of his left hand. He was awarded 15*s.* 4*d.* a week compensation; & the employers subsequently applied for an arbn. for the redemption of this payment. The county ct. judge held that permanent partial incapacity was proved & awarded that the weekly payments "may be redeemed" on payment by the appts. of £613, namely, 75 per cent. of thirty years' purchase. The workman appealed against the optional form of the award, & the employers appealed on the ground that the judge was not compelled to award that amount, that the incapacity was not permanent, & that the onus of proving that the incapacity was not permanent was not on them:—Held: (1) the judge must make an award for a lump sum which could be enforced as a judgment; (2) the word "may" must be struck out of the award; (3) there was evidence on which the judge was justified in finding that there was permanent partial incapacity.

(1) The county ct. judge was bound to do that which I have not the smallest doubt he did, decide the case according to the evidence brought before him, taking account, as he was entitled to do, of his general knowledge of the labour market (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—CALICO PRINTERS ASSOCN., LTD. v. BOOTH, [1913] 3 K. B. 652; 82 L. J. K. B. 985; 109 L. T. 123; 29 T. L. R. 661; 57 Sol. Jo. 662; 6 B. W. C. C. 551, 556, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) & (2) Expld. Gotobed v. Petchell, [1914] 2 K. B. 36. Generally, Refd. Moreland v. Eley, Eley v. Moreland (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 11.

3796. Basis of computation of sum—Seventy-five per cent. of amount of weekly payment—Infancy of workman immaterial.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, ante.

(c) Incapacity not Permanent.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 13.

3797. Discretion of arbitrator.]—MARSHALL, SONS & CO., LTD. v. PRINCE, No. 3791, ante.

3798. ——.]—An electrician's assistant while at work met with an accident which rendered the little finger of his right hand permanently useless & left the ring finger partially stiff, so that the grip of the hand was impaired. Compensation was paid for about a year, when an application was made by the employers to redeem. Medical evidence was called on either side. The arbitrator found that the condition of his ring finger was likely to improve; that the hand would not prevent him working at a machine, & that there was no reason why he should not at some future date earn the same wages as before the accident. In short he found that there was no permanent loss of capacity, though there was some partial incapacity at the time of the arbitration. Accordingly he awarded £80 as reasonable compensation. The workman appealed, & contended that the incapacity was permanent, & the arbitrator therefore had no alternative but to assess the compensation upon the actuarial basis fixed by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. I. (17), which would have amounted roughly to £220:—Held: there was evidence upon which the county ct. judge could find that the incapacity was not permanent, & that being so the amount of compensation was entirely in his discretion.—BIRMINGHAM RAILWAY CARRIAGE & WAGGON CO. v. ROUND (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 612, C. A.

(C) Payment into Court.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 13; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 65.

SUB-SECT. 2.—REDEMPTION BY AGREEMENT.

See Sect. 15, sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

SECT. 22.—INDUSTRIAL DISEASES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, Sched. III.; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 41.

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.

r. Date of disablement—Date certified & fixed after leaving service—Immaterial if disease contracted during service.]—VICTORIA INSURANCE CO., LTD. v. JUNCTION NORTH BROKEN HILL MINE, [1925] A. C. 354.—AUS. t. —— —— ——.]—KEARY v. RUSSELL (ARCHIBALD), LTD., [1915]

Sect. 22.—Industrial diseases: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.]

Diseases generally—Whether "personal injuries by accidents."]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, C. (f), ante.

3799. Industrial disease as injury by accident—Contraction of anthrax.]—(1) While a workman was employed sorting wool in a factory a bacillus, according to the medical evidence, passed from the wool to the eye of the workman, & infected him with anthrax of which he died:—Held: this was a case of "injury by accident" within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37).

(2) Construction of Acts (see No. 2035, ante).—BRINTONS, LTD. v. TURVEY, [1905] A. C. 230; 74 L. J. K. B. 474; 92 L. T. 578; 53 W. R. 641; 21 T. L. R. 444; 49 Sol. Jo. 445; 7 W. C. C. 1, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. HIGGINS v. CAMPBELL & HARRISON, LTD., TURVEY v. BRINTONS, LTD., [1904] 1 K. B. 328, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Ismay, Imrie v. Williamson, [1908] A. C. 437. Expld. Broderick v. L. C. C., [1908] 2 K. B. 807; Eke v. Hart-Dyke, [1910] 2 K. B. 677. Distd. Chandler v. G. W. Ry. (1912), 106 L. T. 479. Consd. Coyle (or Brown) v. Watson, [1915] A. C. 1. Distd. Pyper v. Manchester Liners, [1916] 2 K. B. 691. Apld. Scott v. Pearson, [1916] 2 K. B. 61. Folld. Innes (or Grant) v. Kynoch, [1919] A. C. 765. Distd. Dennis v. Mid. Ry. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 542. Refd. Steel v. Cammell, Laird, [1905] 2 K. B. 232; Fitzgerald v. Clarke, [1908] 2 K. B. 796; Clover, Clayton v. Hughes, [1910] A. C. 242; Sherwood v. Johnson (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 686; Allon Coal Co. v. Drylie (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 398; Brown v. Watson (1914), 83 L. J. P. C. 307; Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667; Glasgow Coal Co. v. Welsh (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 635; Lyons v. Woodlee Coal & Coke Co. (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 655; Burrell v. Selvage (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1340; Walker v. Wynn, Timmins (1922), 1 B. W. C. C. 122; Carr v. Port Glasgow Burgh (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 331; Hutchinson v. Kiveton Park Colliery Co., [1926] 1 K. B. 279; Williams v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds, [1926] 1 K. B. 497.

3800. Operation of scheme substituted for statutory provisions—Scheme applicable in term to "accident"—Disablement from disease included.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1), where it is certified that a workman is suffering from a disease mentioned in one of the schedules to the Act & is disabled from earning his full wages & the disease is due to the nature of any employment in which he was employed within twelve months before the date of disablement, he is entitled to compensation as if the disease were a personal injury by accident arising out of & in course of the employment. The disablement is to be treated as the happening of an accident. Compensation is recoverable from the employer who last employed the workman during the twelve months before disablement in the employment to the nature of which the disease was due. The date of the disablement is the certified date of its commencement. For more than a year before Jan. 5, 1912, a miner had been in the employment of a firm of colliery owners. He was a member of a scheme, the provisions of which were under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3, substituted for the provisions of that Act. The scheme was by its terms intended to be in substitution for the Act & to provide a fund for the payment of compensation to any member of the scheme in respect of personal injury caused by accident arising out of or in the course of the member's employment. On Jan. 5, 1912, the miner left the employment of the firm. Subsequently he was certified as disabled from earning full wages from a disease of the class described in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1), Jan. 6, 1912, being certified as the date of disablement:—Held: (1) the word "accident" in the scheme had the same meaning as in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & included disablement from disease described in sect. 8 (1); (2) the provisions of the scheme were to be read with those of sect. 8 of the Act, & the firm were liable to pay compensation, notwithstanding that on the date of disablement the miner had left their employment.—LEAF v. FURZE, [1914] 3 K. B. 1068; 83 L. J. K. B. 1822; 111 L. T. 1100, D. C.

3801. —— Scheme construed in conjunction with Act.]—LEAF v. FURZE, No. 3800, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—DISEASES GIVING RISE TO CLAIM FOR COMPENSATION.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, sched. III.; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 41.

Diseases generally, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1 C. (f), ante.

3802. Death or incapacity must result from scheduled disease—Or sequela thereof—Sequela attributable solely to industrial disease—No evidence of attribution.]—Allegation of death due to lead poisoning or its sequelæ. The county ct. judge found that the immediate cause of death was granular kidney; that granular kidney is a sequela of lead poisoning but also a sequela of gout, of alcoholism, heart-pressure, & other complaints. That lead poisoning was not proved to have been the cause of death, but that, on the other hand, the employers had not, having regard to the words of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (2), proved that it was not the cause of death:—Held: a misdirection, as the words of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (2), have no application, unless it is proved that the death resulted proximately or ultimately from the disease, & the onus of proving this, notwithstanding the words of sect. 8 (2), rests upon appct.; sect. 8 (2) presupposes death caused by a disease mentioned in sched. III.; it does not create a liability, but only places the liability upon the right person.—HAYLETT v. VIGOR & CO., [1908] 2 K. B. 837; 77 L. J. K. B. 1132; 99 L. T. 674; 24 T. L. R. 885; 52 Sol. Jo. 741; 1 B. W. C. C. 282, C. A.

3803. —— Extension of schedule by agreement or estoppel—Not permissible.]—DUTTON v. SNEYD BYCARS CO., LTD., No. 3140, ante.

3804. —— Unauthorised treatment by wife of applicant—Novus actus interveniens.]—WILLIAMS v. GRAIGOLA MERTHYR CO., LTD., No. 2804, ante.

3805. —— Disease but not employment scheduled.]—Although in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. III., as extended by the Schedule to the Order of July 30, 1913, "beat hand" is set opposite to the process of mining, yet it is a certifiable disease under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1), in the case of a workman who is not a miner; but in a. Condition precedent to compensation—Medical certificate—Sufficient if produced during arbitration proceedings.]—TAYLOR v. BURNHAM & CO., [1909] S. C. 704; 46 Sc. L. R. 482; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 321; 2 B. W. C. C. 247.—SCOT.

---

S. C. 672; 52 Sc. L. R. 447; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 283; 8 B. W. C. C. 410.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.

b. Death or incapacity must result from scheduled disease—Or sequela thereof—Sequela not scheduled—Found in fact to be consequential to disease.]—DUNN v. SCOTTISH CO-OPERATIVE WHOLESALE SOCIETY, LTD. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 336.—SCOT.

c. Disease but not employment scheduled—Onus on workman to prove disease due to nature of employment.]— such a case the burden is on the workman to show that the disease is due to the nature of the employment.—WILSON v. BLYTH SHIPBUILDING & DRY DOCKS CO., LTD., [1919] 1 K. B. 324; 88 L. J. K. B. 27; 120 L. T. 1; 63 Sol. Jo. 67; 11 B. W. C. C. 173, C. A.

3806. —— General nature of employment—No direct evidence of contraction of disease.]—Where a workman, employed as a foreman of a gang of labourers who were engaged in unloading hides & skins from a ship, died from anthrax, one of the diseases mentioned in the schedule, it was held that the onus of proving that his death was due to the nature of his employment was not shifted to the dependants of the deceased workman notwithstanding that there was no direct evidence to show that he had himself in fact handled any of the hides or skins, & that as the employers had failed to prove that the disablement was not due to the nature of his employment his dependants were entitled to have an award made in their favour.—MEADOWS v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD., [1920] 3 K. B. 544; 89 L. J. K. B. 1234; 124 L. T. 65; 36 T. L. R. 847; 64 Sol. Jo. 698; 13 B. W. C. C. 227, C. A.

3807. —— Presumption of disability therefrom—Employment at or immediately before date of disablement.]—A workman had worked for W. for several years as a lead worker & had contracted lead poisoning, but had not worked for him within twelve months of the disablement. He worked for R. in a lead process for nine days within twelve months of but not "at or immediately before" his disablement as provided in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (2). He died of lead poisoning, & his widow applied for compensation:—Held: the death not coming within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (2), there was no presumption that the disease was caused by the last employment; it was not enough for appel. to prove that her husband had been employed in a lead process within twelve months & that he died of lead poisoning; it must be shown that the disease was caused by the last employment; &, on the facts, the disease had not been contracted in the last employment, & no case had been made against third parties.—DEAN v. RUBIAN ART POTTERY, LTD., [1914] 2 K. B. 213; 83 L. J. K. B. 799; 110 L. T. 594; 30 T. L. R. 283; 58 Sol. Jo. 302; 7 B. W. C. C. 209, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. M'Taggart v. Barr (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 376. Overd. Blatchford v. Staddon & Founds (1927), 43 T. L. R. 424. Refd. Barron v. Seaton Burn Coal Co. (1915), 112 L. T. 897.

3808. —— —— —— ——.]—BLATCHFORD v. STADDON & FOUNDS, No. 3810, post.

3809. Disease contracted more than twelve months before disablement—Employment in same trade within twelve months—Liability of last employer.]—DEAN v. RUBIAN ART POTTERY, LTD., No. 3807, ante.

3810. —— —— ——.]—Applt., a painter, claimed compensation from resps., a firm of builders & house decorators, in respect of disablement caused by lead poisoning. Applt. served in the Navy as a painter until 1918, & during that service contracted the disease of lead poisoning. His last employment was with resps. from Oct. to Dec. 1924, when he left owing to illness. In July, 1925, the certifying surgeon certified that he was then suffering from lead poisoning & was thereby disabled from earning his full wages at the work at which he had been employed. The certificate gave no date for the commencement of the disablement, &, accordingly, by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (4), it was deemed to have commenced at the date of the certificate. The arbitrator was not satisfied that there was anything in the nature of applt.'s employment with resps. that would tend to aggravate or accelerate the process of the disease so as to warrant a finding that his disablement was due to that employment & made an award in favour of resps:—Held: applt. was entitled to compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1), from resps. as being the last employers who had employed him within the twelve months immediately preceding his disablement in the employment to the nature of which the disease was due, i.e. in work of the same character as that to which his disease was due, namely, lead painting, notwithstanding that he failed to prove that his disablement was due to his employment by resps.—BLATCHFORD v. STADDON & FOUNDS (1927), 43 T. L. R. 421, H. L.

3811. Results of surgical operation—Necessitated by disease.]—A workman, by reason of the nature of his work, contracted a disease in his right eye, which had to be removed. After the removal of the eye he obtained a certificate of disablement from a certifying surgeon, who certified that, having personally examined the workman, he was satisfied that "he is suffering from" an industrial disease—namely, ulceration of the corneal surface of the eye due to tar, pitch, etc.—& further certified, under the heading "Symptoms of Disease": "He has lost his right eye as the result of corneal ulceration":—Held: the words of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (2), "suffering from a disease mentioned in the Third Schedule to this Act," i.e. an industrial disease, ought to be construed as including the case of a workman suffering from the results of a surgical operation rendered necessary by the disease, & the certificate complied with the requirements of the Act.—RUSSELL (ARCHIBALD), LTD. v. CORSER, [1921] 1 A. C. 351; 90 L. J. P. C. 77; 124 L. T. 548; 37 T. L. R. 244; 65 Sol. Jo. 239; 13 B. W. C. C. 476, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Dunn v. Scottish Co-op. Wholesale Soc. (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 336. Apld. Starkey v. Clayton (1925), 133 L. T. 612. Consd. Prendergast v. Lancasters Steam Coal Collieries (1925), 134 L. T. 166; Scahill v. Evans (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 112.

SUB-SECT. 3. MEDICAL CERTIFICATE.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43-47, Sched. III.

3812. By whom given—Certifying surgeon under Factories & Workshop Act, 1901 (c. 22)—For district where workman employed—Workman not in district having surgeon.]—Appct., whose home was at Liverpool, was employed by resps. as a boatswain, & whilst painting the ship's hold at sea contracted lead poisoning. He was discharged in New York in Apr. 1908, subsequently returned to Liverpool, & in Jan. 1909, obtained a certificate from the certifying surgeon for the Liverpool district under above Act, that he was disabled by lead poisoning from following his usual employment:—Held: under Workmen's Compensation

---

SCULLION v. CADZOW COAL CO., LTD., [1914] S. C. 36; 51 Sc. L. R. 39; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 271; 7 B. W. C. C. 833.—SCOT.

d. —— —— ——.]—M'TAGGART v. BARR (WILLIAM) & SONS, LTD., [1915] S. C. 224; 52 Sc. L. R. 125; [1914] 2 S. L. T. 430; 8 B. W. C. C. 376.—SCOT.

e. —— —— ——.]—O'NEILL v. WILSONS & CLYDE COAL CO., LTD., [1926] S. C. 680.—SCOT.

Sect. 22.—Industrial diseases: Sub-sect. 3, A., B., C. & D.]

Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (4), para. 1, before appct. could make any claim for compensation in respect of an industrial disease he must get a certificate from the certifying surgeon appointed under above Act, for the district in which he was employed; &, inasmuch as there was no district in which he was employed at the time when he contracted the disease, he could not successfully make a claim.—CURTIS v. BLACK & Co., [1909] 2 K. B. 529; 78 L. J. K. B. 1022; 100 L. T. 977; 25 T. L. R. 621; 53 Sol. Jo. 576; 2 B. W. C. C. 239, C. A.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 44 (3).

3813. —— —— —— Certificate by surgeon where workman resided.]—The workman was examined on Jan. 10, 1924, by Dr. A., the certifying surgeon for the district in which he resided, who was not the certifying surgeon for the district where he was employed. Dr. A. certified that he was not suffering from lead poisoning. The workman applied for a reference to a medical referee, who, on Jan. 30, 1924, dismissed the workman's appeal & certified that he was not suffering from lead poisoning. On Apr. 9, 1924, Dr. P., the certifying surgeon for the district where the workman was employed, certified that he was suffering from lead poisoning & was thereby disabled from earning full wages, & that his disablement began on Jan. 2, 192 . The county ct. judge fixed the rate of compensation payable, but he held that the decision of the medical referee was conclusive & he awarded that no compensation was payable:—Held: Dr. A. not being the certifying surgeon for the district where the workman was employed, his certificate was of no effect & the appeal to the medical referee was not properly founded; the workman, having obtained the certificate of the certifying surgeon for the district in which he was employed, was entitled to compensation at the rate fixed by the county ct. judge.

I see no objection to a workman applying for & obtaining a fresh certificate after a reasonable lapse of time, & in my opinion even if Dr. A.'s certificate had been a proper certificate under the sect. [Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8] there was no reason why the county ct. judge should not have paid attention to Dr. P.'s certificate.—ANDERTON v. MARKHAM HEYWOOD & Co. & EASTWOOD (JAMES) & SONS (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 121, C. A.

3814. —— Chief medical officer of Post Office.]—Under the power now contained in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 44 (3), the Secretary of State made regulations of which the material one was: "In the application of the provisions of the said sect. to telegraphist's cramp, so far as regards a workman employed by the Postmaster-General, the Post Office medical officer under whose charge the workman is placed shall, if authorised to act for the purposes of the said sect. by the Postmaster-General, be substituted for the certifying surgeon."

C., a telegraphist employed by the Postmaster-General, was on the capitation list of the local Post Office medical officer at Grimsby. She complained that she had telegraphist's cramp; in accordance with the regulations of the department, the case was referred to the chief medical officer, who had special knowledge of telegraphist's cramp. The chief medical officer certified that C. was not suffering from telegraphist's cramp. C. obtained a rule nisi for a certiorari to quash the certificate:—Held: (1) the chief medical officer was not the medical officer "under whose charge C. was placed," & he was not entitled to give a certificate; (2) the granting of a certificate was in the nature of a judicial act in respect of which certiorari would lie; (3) an appeal to a medical referee under s. 43 of the Act was not equally beneficial, since the referee's concurrence with the chief medical officer's certificate would be conclusive, whereas the certificate was a nullity; (4) (AVORY, J.) whether an appeal was equally beneficial or not, C. being a party aggrieved, certiorari would go ex debito justitiæ at her instance.—R. v. POSTMASTER-GENERAL, Ex p. CARMICHAEL (1927), 43 T. L. R. 228, D. C.

3815. Disablement antedated beyond six months—Claim by workman after expiration of six months—Whether out of time.]—MOORE v. NAVAL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No 3033, ante.

3816. Certificate of disablement—Certificate of suspension—Not mutually exclusive.]—Appct., a painter, was formerly in the employ of resp. On May 29, 1920, he became ill & consulted his panel doctor, who certified that he was suffering from lead poisoning. On Aug. 12, 1920, the certifying surgeon gave a certificate of suspension under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (ii), that he had suspended appct. from his usual employment on account of his having contracted lead poisoning. Resp. appealed against this certificate to the medical referee, but his appeal was dismissed. Compensation was paid to appct. as from Aug. 12, 1920. On Jan. 20, 1921, appct. obtained from the same certifying surgeon a certificate of disablement under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (i), which stated that he was suffering from dermatitis, the result of lead poisoning, & that the disablement commenced on May 29, 1920. An appeal from this certificate was dismissed by the medical referee on Feb. 4, 1921. Resp. refused to pay further compensation as from that date. In Apr. 1921, appct. commenced arbitration proceedings, & in his particulars of claim he set out both the certificate of suspension & the certificate of disablement. Resp. in his answer alleged that appct. had not since Feb. 4, 1921, been incapacitated from work as the result of lead poisoning or dermatitis. At the hearing evidence was given on behalf of resp. by medical witnesses that appct. was not suffering from lead poisoning or its sequelæ, &, further, that the dermatitis had nothing to do with lead poisoning. The deputy county ct. judge found that appct. was unable to work by reason of lead poisoning from May 29 to Aug. 12, 1920; that he was not incapacitated from work on account of lead poisoning or its sequelæ since Feb. 4, 1921; & that appct. had not satisfied him that dermatitis had any connection with lead poisoning. He held that the certificate of disablement was invalid, as appct., having elected to proceed under sect. 8 (1) (ii), could not revert to the procedure under sect. 8 (1) (i):—Held: (1) the remedies provided by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (i) & (ii) were not alternative in the sense of being mutually exclusive, & appct., having obtained a certificate of suspension under clause (ii), was not precluded from subsequently obtaining a certificate of disablement under clause (i), which fixed the happening of the accident at an earlier date & thereby entitled him to compensation as from that date; (2) the certificate of disablement having certified that appct. was suffering from dermatitis, & no evidence having been adduced by resp. to show that appct. was not then suffering from the same disease as that certified, the deputy county ct. judge was bound by the certificate, & was not entitled to find on the evidence before him that the disease was not in fact that which was certified; therefore the appeal must be allowed & an award made in favour of appct.—ROLLINGS v. THOMPSON, [1922] 1 K. B. 320; 91 L. J. K. B. 301; 126 L. T. 313; 66 Sol. Jo. 107; 14 B. W. C. C. 190, C. A.

Annotation :—Apld. Short v. Parker (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 849.

B. Validity.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, sched. III.

3817. Certificate ambiguous & contradictory—Refusal of arbitrator to act thereon.]—A certifying surgeon certified that a bookbinder was suffering from lead poisoning or its sequelæ, but stated, in his certificate, that there were none of the usual symptoms & that the disease could only be inferred from the man's history of the case. The county ct. judge, with the advice of a medical assessor sitting with him, refused to act on this certificate, on the ground that it was ambiguous & contradictory, & dismissed an application for compensation based upon it :—Held : there was no misdirection, & the judge was entitled to ignore this certificate.—MAPP v. STRAKER & SON, SMITH BROTHERS, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 18, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Chuter v. Ford, [1915] 2 K. B. 113. Dbtd. Russell v. Corser, [1921] 1 A. C. 351. In my own opinion, it is not a judgment which should be followed (LORD SHAW OF DUNFERMLINE).

3818. At variance with finding of medical referee—Date of disablement.]—FROST v. CLANWAY COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3831, post.

3819. Insufficient description of disease.]—A certifying surgeon certified that a workman was suffering from "cataract of right eye" :—Held : the certificate was insufficient, as the term "cataract" alone was not an industrial disease under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—DAVIES v. WERN TINPLATE CO., LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 242, C. A.

Certificate given by wrong certifying surgeon.]—See No. 3813, ante.

C. How far Conclusive.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, sched. III.

3820. As to nature of disease—In absence of appeal to referee.]—B. was a painter employed by C. & Sons, Ltd., & he claimed compensation from them for incapacity caused by lead poisoning contracted by him whilst in their service in 1914. He consulted Dr. Bond, a certifying surgeon under Factory & Workshop Act, 1901 (c. 22), who on Mar. 31, 1915, gave a certificate that appct. was suffering from lead poisoning & its sequelæ & was thereby disabled from earning full wages; that the disablement commenced on Feb. 27, 1915, & that the leading symptoms of the disease were tremors in the arms & hands. There was no appeal to a medical referee. At the hearing of the arbitration Dr. Bond gave evidence confirming his certificate, & he was supported by another doctor. The employers called two doctors who had seen claimant in June, 1915, & they gave evidence that he was not suffering from lead poisoning, but from "Parkinson's disease," which was not an "industrial disease" within the Act. It was suggested that it was open to them to prove that this was so since the date of the certificate, but they admitted in cross-examination that appct. had been suffering from the same disease throughout, so that in effect their evidence was that the certificate was wrong & ought to be disregarded :—Held : the only appeal from the certificate was to a medical referee as provided by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (f), & in the absence of such an appeal the correctness of the certificate could not be disputed; appct. was therefore entitled to compensation.—BEDFORD v. COWTAN & SONS, LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 980; 85 L. J. K. B. 1066; 114 L. T. 861; 32 T. L. R. 410; 9 B. W. C. C. 208, C. A.

Annotations :—Folld. Rollings v. Thompson, [1922] 1 K. B. 329. Refd. Chippendale v. Lytham High Explosives (1918), 120 L. T. 9.

3821. —— No evidence of other disease.]—ROLLINGS v. THOMPSON, No. 3816, ante.

3822. Certificate in fact mistaken—Fresh proceedings on obtaining proper certificate.]—A workman claimed, & was certified after an examination by a certifying surgeon, to be suffering from an industrial disease namely T.N.T., or Trinitrotoluol poisoning. At the arbn. the employers proved that the disease could not possibly have been contracted in their employment as they did not make any trinitrotoluol, but only picric acid. It appeared that the surgeon had made a mistake, & should have certified poisoning by nitrous fumes. The county ct. judge dismissed the application :—Held : the certificate must be deemed to be conclusive, & the award must stand, but fresh proceedings might be initiated upon obtaining a proper certificate.—CHIPPENDALE v. HIGH EXPLOSIVES, LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 143; 120 L. T. 9; 11 B. W. C. C. 221, C. A.

Certificate of recovery—Subsequent certificate of recurrence of disease.]—See No. 3061, ante.

Finding of medical referee.]—See Nos. 3830, 3831, post.

D. Appeal to Medical Referee.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, sched. III.

3823. Only mode of appeal against certificate.]—BEDFORD v. COWTAN & SONS, LTD., No. 3820, ante.

3824. Who may appeal—Last employers.]—The certifying surgeon certified that appct. was suffering from lead poisoning on Apr. 9, 1924. During the twelve months prior to that date appct. had been employed as a painter for the last fortnight by the first resps., M. H. & co., & during the rest of that year by the second resps., J. E. & Sons. Under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (i) (e), notice of the disablement was given to M. H. & co., who did not appeal to the medical referee. Appct. filed his request for compensation against M. H. & co., as resps., but the hearing on June 23 was adjourned to

---

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 3.—B.

f. Non-conformity with statutory requirements.]—A workman received a certificate from a certifying surgeon which stated that he was suffering from paralysis as a sequel to, & a result of, lead-poisoning, & that he was incapacitated as from a certain date, but did not state the work in which the workmen alleged he was employed at or immediately before the date of disablement :—Held : the certificate was invalid as not conforming with statutory requirements.—MARR v. LEADHILLS CO., LTD., [1918] S. C. 815; 55 Sc. L. R. 732; [1918] 2 S. L. T. 170; 11 B. W. C. C. 389.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

g. How far decision conclusive—Not as to employment being cause of disease—Merely displaces presumption in favour of workman.]—M'GINN v. UDSTON COAL CO., LTD., [1912] S. C. 668.—SCOT.

h. —— - — ——.]—WALKER v. CADZOW COAL CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 657.—SCOT.

k. Duty of referee—No obligation to certify extent of disablement.]— enable J. E. & Sons to be joined also as resps. J. E. & Sons then applied for leave to appeal to the medical referee, but were refused by the registrar, & at the hearing on July 21 the county ct. judge directed appct. to serve J. E. & Sons with the certificate of the certifying surgeon to enable them to appeal to the medical referee, & adjourned the case sine die. The workman appealed:—Held: the last employers, who were the persons primarily made liable for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (i) (c), were the only persons who had the right to appeal from the certifying surgeon's certificate to the medical referee under sect. 8 (i) (f), & the case must go back for hearing.—ANDERTON v. MARKHAM HEYWOOD & CO. & EASTWOOD (JAMES) & SONS (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 525; 132 L. T. 233; 69 Sol. Jo. 88; 17 B. W. C. C. 211, C. A.; subsequent proceedings (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 121, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Industrial diseases: Sub-sect. 3, D. & E.; sub-sects. 4 & 5.]

3825. Grounds of appeal—By workman—Not refusal of certificate only.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (iii) (f), if an employer or a workman is aggrieved by the action of a certifying or other surgeon in giving or refusing to give a certificate of disablement of a workman by an industrial disease within the Act, the matter shall be referred to a medical referee, whose decision shall be final. Where the certifying surgeon had given a certificate that a workman was suffering from an industrial disease, but in the certificate fixed the commencement of the disablement at a date which, under the circumstances of the case, precluded the workman from taking proceedings for compensation under the Act:—Held: the workman was "aggrieved" by the refusal of the surgeon to give a certificate within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (iii) (f), & the workman had a right of appeal to the medical referee.—BIRKS v. STAFFORD COAL & IRON CO., [1913] 3 K. B. 686; 82 L. J. K. B. 1334; 109 L. T. 290; 57 Sol. Jo. 729; 6 B. W. C. C. 617, C. A.

3826. —— —— Certificate bearing erroneous date.]—BIRKS v. STAFFORD COAL & IRON CO., No. 3825, ante.

3827. Powers of referee—Fixation of date of disablement.]—BIRKS v. STAFFORD COAL & IRON CO., No. 3825, ante.

3828. —— ——.]—The workman, a collier, on Nov. 7, 1918, was certified to be suffering from miner's nystagmus. He had been working for some months in that year for a colliery co. other than resps. He received compensation on the ground of incapacity through nystagmus from Nov. 1918, up to Aug. 1919, when he started work again & earned the ordinary wages of a man of his class. In Nov. 1919, he entered the employment of resps., & worked for them up to Jan. 1920, when he was again certified by the certifying surgeon to be suffering from miner's nystagmus. The certificate was dated Jan. 30, 1920, but it did not state the date at which the disablement began. Resps. applied for a reference to the medical referee on the grounds (inter alia) that the workman only entered the employment of resps. in Nov. 1919, & that previous to his entering their employment, the workman was suffering from, & had been in receipt of compensation for, nystagmus, & further, that the certificate did not state the date of disablement. The medical referee gave his decision in the terms of the form in the regulations relating to medical references: "I allow the appeal of the East Barnsley Colliery Co., Ltd., against the certificate of disablement granted to Reuben Turton on Jan. 30, 1920." The workman's solr. then sought to have the certificate of the medical referee set aside & the question of liability decided under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). That was refused by resps., & proceedings were instituted for arbn. When the case came before the county ct. judge the preliminary point was taken that the proceedings were not maintainable because the certificate of the medical referee was conclusive, & showed that there was no ground for a claim. To that it was answered that the certificate of the medical referee was invalid either on the ground of uncertainty, or that the medical referee had decided it on grounds on which he had no right to decide it. The county ct. judge, with the consent of both parties, communicated with the medical referee, & was informed by him that he did find that the workman was suffering from nystagmus, but that he had come to the conclusion that resps. were not responsible, as the workman had said, definitely, that when he started work with resps., he had not got over the nystagmus which he had contracted while working for his previous employer. The county ct. judge held that the preliminary objection was bad, & that the arbn. must proceed:—Held: the medical referee had acted on grounds which were beyond his jurisdiction to entertain, & the judge was right in overruling the preliminary objection. The question as to whether a further reference to the medical referee was barred was not decided by reason of the counsel for the workman consenting not to oppose an application for the same if made.—TURTON v. EAST BARNSLEY COLLIERY, LTD., [1921] 1 K. B. 369; 90 L. J. K. B. 267; 124 L. T. 439; 13 B. W. C. C. 292, C. A.

3829. —— Fact of suffering from disease.]—TURTON v. EAST BARNSLEY COLLIERY, LTD., No. 3828, ante.

3830. How far decision conclusive.]—When a workman appeals from the refusal of a certifying surgeon to give him a certificate of disablement from an industrial disease under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (i), & the medical referee allows the appeal & fixes the date of disablement, his decision is final, & is equivalent to the certificate which the certifying surgeon ought in the opinion of the medical referee to have given.—CHUTER v. FORD (J. J.) & SONS, LTD., [1915] 2 K. B. 113; 84 L. J. K. B. 703; 112 L. T. 881; 31 T. L. R. 187; 8 B. W. C. C. 100, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Frost v. Clanway Colliery Co., [1920] 1 K. B. 423. Refd. Bedford v. Cowtan, [1916] 1 K. B. 980.

3831. ——.]—Where the certifying surgeon has given to a workman a certificate that he is suffering from an industrial disease, & is thereby disabled from earning full wages, & that his disablement commenced on a certain date, & the medical referee has allowed an appeal by the employer, his decision is final, & the certifying surgeon cannot validly give a second certificate reasserting the same date of disablement.—FROST v. CLANWAY COLLIERY CO., LTD., [1920] 1 K. B. 423; 89 L. J. K. B. 355; 122 L. T. 298; 36 T. L. R. 56; 12 B. W. C. C. 358, C. A.

3832. ——.]—Where the workman, a baker, has obtained from a certifying surgeon a certificate

---

Neither under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, nor under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, is a certifying surgeon or a medical referee required to certify as to the extent of the disablement.—GILHOOLEY v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1924] S. C. 794; 6 Sc. L. R. 530; [1924] S. L. T. 547; 17 B. W. C. C. 388.—SCOT.

that he is suffering from bakers' dermatitis, & on that certificate the employer, for a time, pays the workman full compensation on the ground that the workman is suffering from dermatitis due to long exposure to dust in the baking industry, an industrial disease for which compensation is payable under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8, & the employer afterwards proceeds under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 14, to have the compensation payable to the workman diminished or stopped, & on no agreement being come to between the employer & the workman with regard to the condition or fitness of the workman for employment, the matter is referred to a medical referee under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 15, there being no dispute that the workman was suffering from dermatitis due to long exposure to dust in the baking industry, the decision of the medical referee on the question submitted to him is final & conclusive & cannot be reviewed by a county ct. judge.—SHORT v. PARKER (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 849; 135 L. T. 528; 19 B. W. C. C. 190, C. A.

3833. —— Consecutive & contradictory certificates—Certificate conclusive as to facts on particular date.]—PRENDERGAST v. LANCASTERS STEAM COAL COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 3061, ante.

3834. —— —— ——.]—A miner was certified suffering from nystagmus in July, 1923, & again in Aug. 1924. In Feb. 1925, the medical referee, on a reference to him under Sched. II. (15), certified that he "is not suffering from miner's nystagmus. He is hypercpic, & has incipient cataract; his condition is such that he is fit for surface work; his incapacity is not due to the accident." Compensation thereupon ceased. In July, 1925, the workman obtained another certificate that he was suffering from nystagmus, & the same medical referee this time confirmed it. The employers, however, resisted payment of compensation on the ground that the previous finding of the medical referee was conclusive. The county ct. judge, however, acted on the final certificate & awarded compensation:—Held: the certificate of the medical referee of Feb. 1925, was only conclusive of the matter at that date but did not preclude the judge from following the certificate given at a later date. The award was therefore right.—SCAHILL v. RICHARD EVANS & Co., LTD. (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 112, C. A.

E. Certiorari to Quash.

See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 412 et seq.

3835. Certificate wrongly given—Whether appeal to medical referee alternative remedy.]—R. v. POSTMASTER-GENERAL, Ex p. CARMICHAEL, No. 3814, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—REPRESENTATION AS TO PARTICULAR DISEASE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, Sched. III.

3836. Representation must be wilful—Declaration signed unread—Mistaken belief as to nature of document.]—In 1913, appct., while in the employment of respts., was incapacitated by miner's nystagmus & received compensation for a time. In 1914 he joined the army. In 1919 he re-entered resp.'s employment, having signed a statement declaring that he had not previously suffered from "nystagmus." He was later again disabled by miner's nystagmus, & claimed compensation. The employers contended that, by the signed statement, appct. had wilfully & falsely represented himself in writing as not having previously suffered from an industrial disease, & so disentitled himself from receiving compensation, by virtue of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (b). Appct. said that he did not read or understand the statement before signing it, & assumed it was the usual signing-on form for obtaining his lamp. The county ct. judge believed appct. & found that the statement though false was not made wilfully. He therefore made an award for the payment of compensation:—Held: it was a question of fact upon which there was evidence to support the finding, & there was no misdirection.—BRINDLEY v. SHELTON IRON, STEEL & COAL CO., LTD. (1923), 128 L. T. 783; 16 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

3837. Doctors differing in diagnosis—Knowledge of workman—Deduced from similarity of symptoms.]—In July, 1922, a workman signed a declaration representing himself as not having previously suffered from nystagmus. In Nov., 1922, he contracted that disease. In July, 1919, after being in the army for some time, he had suffered from eye trouble. He had then been examined by two doctors, both of whom were called, & said that he was not in 1919 suffering from nystagmus, & he was granted a pension for the eye trouble as being caused by army service. The man admitted that he had in 1919 also been examined by a third doctor who had told him that he was suffering from nystagmus, & that, in Nov. 1922, he knew then that he had previously suffered from nystagmus, because he was then suffering from the same symptoms as in 1919. Relying chiefly upon this last admission, the county ct. judge decided that the man was not entitled to compensation, he having wilfully & falsely represented himself in writing as not having previously suffered from the disease, when in fact he had suffered from it & knew that he had:—Held: there was no evidence that the man in fact had suffered from nystagmus before he signed the declaration & therefore no evidence to justify a finding that he had wilfully & falsely represented himself in writing as not having previously suffered from the disease.—MULLINEUX v. FLORENCE COAL & IRON CO. (1923), 129 L. T. 401; 16 B. W. C. C. 88, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 5.—RECOVERY FROM AND RECURRENCE OF DISEASE.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, Sched. III.

3838. Proneness to recurrence — Whether amounting to suffering from disease—Or due to previous attack on natural tendency.]—A collier was predisposed to suffer from nystagmus, an industrial disease within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. III. From two attacks he recovered completely, but his employers then refused to continue his employment on account of the likelihood of the recurrence of the disease. The workman being unable to obtain work, applied for compensation. The county ct. judge found that the man had "in a sense"

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 4.

1. False statement of absence of use of lead in other employments—Claim not barred.]—BURNHAM & Co. v. TAYLOR, [1910] S. C. 705; 47 Sc. L. R. 643; [1910] 1 S. L. T. 362; 3 B. W. C. C. 569.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 5.

m. Proneness to recurrence — Onus of proof on workman.]—DARROLL v.

Sect. 22.—Industrial diseases: Sub-sects. 5 & 6.]

completely recovered from the last attack of the disease, but that his incapacity to get work was the result of the disease & awarded compensation:—Held: there was no evidence that the man's tendency to nystagmus was due to his previous attacks of the disease, as opposed to his natural tendency to this disease, & therefore there was no evidence that his incapacity resulted from his having had the attack of disease or "injury" when at work.—JONES v. NEW BRYNMALLY COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 524; 5 B. W. C. C. 375, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Darroll v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 354. Apld. Garnant Anthracite Collieries v. Rees, [1912] 3 K. B. 372. Refd. Jones v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (No. 1) (1915), 60 Sol. Jo. 75.

3839. —— —— ——.] — On application by employers for a review of a weekly payment under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), it appeared that the compensation had been awarded in respect of an industrial disease, & the county ct. judge held that although appct. was no longer suffering from the disease he was unable to do his former work because of his increased susceptibility to the disease owing to his first attack, & that he was therefore still entitled to compensation:—Held: on this finding, the effects of the accident, that is of the industrial disease, still continued to exist, & appct. was entitled to compensation.—GARNANT ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD. v. REES, [1912] 3 K. B. 372; 81 L. J. K. B. 1189; 1 L. J. C. C. 70; 107 L. T. 279; 5 B. W. C. C. 694, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Darroll v. Glasgow Iron & Steel Co. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 354; Jones v. Guest, Keen & Nettlefolds (No. 1) (1915), 60 Sol. Jo. 75.

3840. —— —— ——.]—A miner who had been incapacitated by an industrial disease, & had been paid compensation, completely recovered, & the compensation was stopped. He then applied for an award as being partially incapacitated owing to increased susceptibility from having once had the disease, & adduced medical evidence to this effect. There was unanimous medical evidence, however, that such susceptibility was also due to a congenital defect from which he suffered. The county ct. judge held that there was no incapacity, & dismissed the application:—Held: there was no misdirection.—JONES v. GUEST, KEEN & NETTLEFOLDS, LTD. (No. 1) (1915), 60 Sol. Jo. 75; 9 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

3841. —— ——.] — PRENDERGAST v. LANCASTERS STEAM COAL COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 3061, ante.

3842. —— ——.]—In 1923 the workman while employed by M. contracted dermatitis, having been working as a baker for fifty years without previously having the disease. After he had recovered he went into the employment, on Aug. 11, 1924, of resps., but was certified to be suffering from dermatitis, the date of that disablement being fixed as commencing from Aug. 27, 1924, & he was paid compensation until Feb. 7, 1925, when resps. stopped the weekly payment in consequence of a report by their doctor that he had recovered. The workman did not proceed in accordance with proviso to sect. 14 (c) of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), but instituted arbitration proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & thereby claimed compensation for partial incapacity. The county ct. judge found that he had entirely recovered from dermatitis but had acquired a proneness to the disease, so that if he returned to this particular work he ran the risk of a recurrence of the disease, & was in consequence incapacitated from work in his particular trade; but he held that because he was not at that moment suffering from the disease, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (i), did not apply, & therefore he was not entitled to compensation:—Held: the case must go back for re-trial as too narrow a view had been taken by the county ct. judge of the meaning of "suffering from disease," & the man might be suffering if incapacitated from employment by the risk of recurrence of the disease due to a former attack, & that incapacity was due to the disease, & having regard to the words in the latter part of the order of the Secretary of State made on Jan. 22, 1923, in pursuance of the power so given by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), amending the order made on Feb. 26, 1918, "unless the judge is satisfied that the disease has been contracted through long exposure in the industry," the county ct. judge must find whether the disease had left a proneness to recurrence & then consider the last part of the order of 1923, & be satisfied whether the disease was contracted through long exposure in the industry.—STARKEY v. CLAYTON & SONS (1925), 133 L. T. 612; 18 B. W. C. C. 346, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Prendergast v. Lancasters Steam Coal Collieries (1925), 134 L. T. 166; Scahill v. Evans (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 112. Refd. Rhodes v. Digby Colliery Co. (1926), 70 Sol. Jo. 796.

3843. Recurrences under different employers—Claim against intermediate employer—Having paid compensation up to recovery—No claim against last employer.]—A workman contracted in 1910 an industrial disease while engaged in building work in the employment of certain employers. He left their service to obtain work of another character. In Jan. 1913, he engaged in the same sort of work which had caused the disease, with Messrs. M., & the disease returned. He left their employment after working for a few days & received compensation from them down to Mar. 1913, when he had recovered from the disease. He then undertook other work, but in June, 1914, he went back to the same sort of work, & got employment with S. & M., & the disease reappeared, & he had to abandon the job. He claimed compensation from Messrs. M., on account of the injury sustained in Jan. 1913. The county ct. judge found that, although he had recovered from the attack of Jan. 1913, the susceptibility to the disease continued, & he awarded compensation to be paid by Messrs. M.:—Held: primâ facie the workman was entitled to recover compensation from S. & M. as his last employers, who ought to have been resps. & might have set up, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (i) (c) (ii), that other employers were liable, but that it was not open to him to make a claim & recover compensation from Messrs. M., as it was not shown that his susceptibility to the disease was contracted while in their employment.—TIMPSON v. MOWLEM (JOHN) & CO., LTD. (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1449; 112 L. T. 885; 8 B. W. C. C. 178, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Meredith v. Ebbw Vale Steel, Iron & Coal Co. (1925), 133 L. T. 641; Starkey v. Clayton (1925), 133 L. T. 612.

3844. Incapacity only as to particular employment—Wherein disease contracted—Compensation

GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD., [1913] S. C. 387; 50 Sc. L. R. 226; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 506; 6 B. W. C. C. 354.—SCOT.

n. Recurrence after settlement for lump sum & return to work—Workman not barred as to future claims for same disease.]—GLANCY v. WATSON (JOHN), LTD., [1915] S. C. 232, n.; 52 Sc. L. R. 279; [1915] 1 S. L. T. 75; 8 B. W. C. C. 391.—SCOT.

for partial incapacity.]—By Statutory Rules & Orders, 1918, made by the Secretary of State under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (6), dated Feb. 26, 1918, it is provided by clause 2 of No. 287, that a workman suffering from dermatitis is not entitled to compensation "if he is disabled only from employment in the particular process in which the disease has been contracted."

Where, therefore, a baker contracted dermatitis in his employment, & the certifying surgeon certified that he was thereby disabled from earning full wages, the workman was awarded compensation during total incapacity. He claimed that he was entitled to further compensation on account of partial disablement. According to the medical evidence, he had recovered, & he was now capable of doing any kind of work except baking, or work which induced excessive perspiration:—Held: having regard to Statutory Rules & Orders, 1918, No. 287, clause 2, he was not entitled to any further compensation.—ALLMARK v. WHITE (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 1081; 129 L. T. 114; 16 B. W. C. C. 8, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Starkey v. Clayton (1925), 133 L. T. 612.

3845. —— —— ——.]—STARKEY v. CLAYTON & SONS, No. 3842, ante.

3846. From when disablement dates—Two certificates of disablement—Whether later certificate marks date.]—The workman was employed as a collier for thirty-eight years, & up to 1920 his eyes were all right, but in June of that year he was certified to be suffering from miner's nystagmus. In Nov. 1920, he was able to return to work underground, & continued to earn full wages as a collier until Nov. 1921, when he was again certified to be suffering from nystagmus, the disablement being certified as from Oct. 29, 1921, & he received full compensation until Nov. 1923, when coloured glasses to the lamps used having been introduced he again worked as a collier, receiving full wages until June 16, 1924, when he was again certified as disabled from nystagmus. From June 16, 1921, he received 30*s.* a week as compensation. In Nov. 1924, he made a request for arbn., claiming that his total incapacity arose from an accident on Oct. 29, 1921, & that therefore under the proviso to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 1, he was still entitled to be paid at the rate of 35*s.* a week under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & War Addition Acts, 1917 & 1919. The employers alleged that the disablement which was to be treated under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (a), as the happening of the accident, occurred on June 16, 1924, & that consequently, the amount of compensation payable was fixed by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (c. 42), s. 4, at 30*s.* a week. The county ct. judge in a reserved judgment, found as a fact that the workman had never recovered from the nystagmus from which he suffered in June, 1920, but that where a workman contracted a disease to which Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8, applied & was thereby disabled, & then recovered or overcame not the disease but the disablement, & returned to the work to which the disablement was due, was again disabled, the fresh disablement was the happening of the accident & that was more clearly so where the workman had, in respect of the later disablement, obtained a fresh certificate in respect of that disablement:—Held: the date of the disablement was a question of fact as to which there was evidence to support the finding, but it was doubtful where two certificates had been given that it followed as a matter of law that the second certificate prevailed & that its date must necessarily be the date of the accident from which the workman could claim compensation.—MEREDITH v. EBBW VALE STEEL, IRON & COAL CO., LTD. (1925), 133 L. T. 641; 18 B. W. C. C. 251, C. A.

SUB-SECT. C.—CONTRIBUTION BETWEEN EMPLOYERS WHERE DISEASE GRADUAL.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), ss. 43–47, Sched. III.; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 41.

3847. Gradual development of disease—While under several employers—Proof of contraction of disease—Partly in one employment, partly in other.]—Where a workman is suffering from an "industrial disease," within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8, due to the nature of the employment in which he was employed within twelve months previous to the date of his disablement from earning full wages, the disease being of such a "nature as to be contracted by a gradual process," & during such period he was employed by other employers in the employment to the nature of which the disease was due, it is not necessary to prove affirmatively that the workman contracted the disease while in the employment of such other employers, but merely that it was contracted partly in the workman's employment at the time of his disablement, & partly in that of his former employers, so that it may be ascertained what proportion of the compensation ought to be borne by the employers respectively.—MALLINDER v. MOORES (J.) & SONS, LTD., [1912] 2 K. B. 124; 81 L. J. K. B. 711; 106 L. T. 487; 5 B. W. C. C. 362, C. A.

—— —— Onus of proof as against last employer.]—See Nos. 3803, 3804, ante.

3848. Contract of service must be proved.]—P., a coach-builder, carried on business in partnership with another. They desired to wind up the business & appointed a trustee under a deed of assignment by which they were to receive the proceeds after paying 20*s.* in the pound to creditors. They were appointed by the trustee, under a clause in the deed of assignment, to help in the winding up. At this time P. entered into a contract of service with a coachpainter, when, after working for three months, he became ill & died three months later of lead poisoning. During this time he had been to the old place for about half an hour every day to help the trustee. He supervised the workmen, paid their wages, & kept a day-book. His dependants claimed compensation against the coachpainter, who in turn claimed contribution under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8 (1) (c) iii), from the trustee as another employer with whom the deceased might have in part contracted the disease. The county ct. judge found that the deceased was under no contract of service with the trustee:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—PEARS v. GIBBONS (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 722, C. A.

3849. How contribution measured—Not merely respective periods of employment—Consideration

---

PART XIV. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.

c. Disease due in part to previous employment within twelve months of disablement—Last employer primarily liable.]—MERRY & CUNINGHAME, LTD. v. M'GOWAN, [1915] S. C. 34; 52 Sc. L. R. 30; [1914] 2 S. L. T. 298; 8 B. W. C. C. 344.—SCOT.

d. Duty of workman to give information to employers—For ascertainment of rights against previous employers.]—DOCHERTY v. RUSSELL of merits of employers.]—A workman claimed compensation from his last employers on the ground that he was suffering from an industrial disease within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 8. He had been employed by five firms as a coal miner within the twelve months. The amount of compensation was agreed, & third party notices were served on the other four firms claiming contribution from them. Three of them agreed to an award against them in amounts proportionate to the length of the respective periods of employment; but the fourth contended that the length of time of employment was immaterial, & claimed that the judge should hold an inquiry & admit evidence with a view to ascertaining the facts & fixing the respective liabilities. The judge refused to do this & made an award on the basis of the length of time of the respective employments:—Held: there was no principle which justified the view that the duty of the arbitrator was merely to work out the arithmetical proportions of the length of time of the employments. He must deal with it as with any other question in the arbn., admit evidence, & consider & distinguish between the respective merits of the employers.—BARRON v. SEATON BURN COAL CO., LTD., [1915] 1 K. B. 756; 112 L. T. 897; 31 T. L. R. 199; 59 Sol. Jo. 315; 8 B. W. C. C. 218; sub nom. BARRON v. SEATON BURN COAL CO., LTD., Ex p. EAST WALBOTTLE COAL CO., LTD., 84 L. J. K. B. 682, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Industrial diseases: Sub-sect. 6. Sect. 23: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.; sub-sect. 2, A & B. (a).]

SECT. 23.—APPEALS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—TO WHAT TRIBUNAL.

A. From Decision of County Court Judge.

3850. General rule—To Court of Appeal.]—(1) When a county ct. judge makes an order upon a matter referred to him by a registrar of the county ct. on his refusal to record a memorandum of agreement under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (a) (d), an appeal from that order lies direct to the Ct. of Appeal & not to the Div. Ct.

(2) Where an agreement is made as to the redemption by a lump sum of a weekly payment to a workman who is an insured person within the meaning of National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), the approved society concerned in the administration of any benefit to which such insured person is entitled under that Act are not "parties interested" for the purposes of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II. (9), & have no locus standi to appear before the county ct. judge & object to the recording of a memorandum of such agreement.

The provision in Consolidated Workmen's Compensation Rules, July, 1913, r. 44 (3), that such an approved society shall for this purpose "be deemed to be parties interested" is ultra vires.—BONNEY v. JOSHUA HOYLE & SONS, LTD., [1914] 2 K. B. 257; 83 L. J. K. B. 541; 110 L. T. 729; 30 T. L. R. 280; 58 Sol. Jo. 268; 12 L. G. R. 358; 7 B. W. C. C. 168, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169. As to (2) Reld. Gormley v. Scottish Iron & Steel Co. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 370; Brown v. Baird (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 289.

3851. ——.]—TAYLOR v. CRIPPS, No. 3151, ante.

3852. —— Writ of prohibition will not lie.]—TURNER v. KINGSBURY COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 3047, ante.

3853. To Divisional Court—Refusal by county court judge to entertain jurisdiction.]—An application was made to a county ct. judge to review an award made by a committee of employers & workmen under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II., para. 1. The judge refused to hear the application on the ground that the award having been made by a committee he had no jurisdiction to review it:—Held: the judge had refused to entertain jurisdiction & an appeal from his decision lay to the Div. Ct. & not to the Ct. of Appeal.—HOWARTH v. SAMUELSON & CO. (1911), 104 L. T. 907; 4 B. W. C. C. 287, C. A.

3854. —— Order for detention of ship—Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 11.]—PANAGOTIS v. PONTIAC (OWNERS), No. 2065, ante.

3855. —— Order to pay sum for compensation in winding up.]—HOMER v. GOUGH, No. 3685, ante.

B. From Decision of Arbitrator appointed by County Court Judge.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. I. (1).

3856. Appeal does not lie direct to Court of Appeal.]—An appeal will not lie direct to the Ct. of Appeal upon the award of an arbitrator appointed by a county ct. judge under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. II. (2).—GIBSON v. WORMALD & WALKER, LTD., [1904] 2 K. B. 40; 73 L. J. K. B. 491; 91 L. T. 7; 68 J. P. 382; 52 W. R. 661; 20 T. L. R. 452; 48 Sol. Jo. 434; 6 W. C. C. 155, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Gray v. Southend Corpn. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 932.

3857. ——.]—Arbitrator, appointed by the judge, awarded £10 as compensation to an injured workman. The workman applied to the Ct. of Appeal to extend the time, which had expired, for appealing from the arbitrator's award:—Held: no appeal lay directly from an appointed arbitrator to the Ct. of Appeal, & therefore the Ct. of Appeal could not entertain this application.—GRAY v. SOUTHEND CORPN. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 932, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—IN RESPECT OF WHAT MATTERS.

A. In General.

See, now, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), sched. II. (4).

3858. As to jurisdiction to entertain proceedings.]—(1) Under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II. (4), an appeal now lies to the Ct. of Appeal from a decision by a county ct. judge on a preliminary question of law, or as to his jurisdiction to entertain proceedings, & not, as formerly, only after an award has been made.

(ARCHIBALD), LTD., [1918] S. C. 115; 55 Sc. L. R. 140; [1918] 1 S. L. T. 2; 11 B. W. C. C. 311.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 1. —B.

q. To Supreme Court.]—No appeal lies from the decision of an arbitrator appointed by a Supreme Ct. judge under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1902, Sched. II., clause 2.—LEE v. CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., LTD. (1905), 11 B. C. R. 323.—CAN.

r. ——.]—Where the award of an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act is filed under Sched. II., paragraph 8, & thereby becomes enforceable as a county ct. judgment, an action to set aside the judgment & execution issued thereon is properly brought in the Supreme Ct.—BRITISH COLUMBIA COPPER CO., LTD. v. MCKITTRICK (1913), 18 B. C. R. 129.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 2. —A.

3858 1. As to jurisdiction to entertain proceedings.]—Workmen's Compensation Act, s. 2 (3), expressly confers upon an arbitrator jurisdiction to

(2) A scheme of compensation certified by the Registrar of Friendly Societies under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3, cannot, unless recertified under the Act of 1906, apply to an accident happening after the commencement of the Act of 1906, though within the six months at the end of which the scheme is declared to be revoked by s. 15.

A scheme providing a fund for the compensation of the servants of a railway co. provided that the fund should be managed by a committee thereby constituted according to rules, not inconsistent with the terms of this scheme, to be framed from time to time by the committee. Rules had been framed containing a contract by the workmen that the Act should not apply, & other provisions held by the ct. not to be in accordance with the scheme. The scheme was certified but the rules were not:—Held: there was no properly certified scheme excluding the Act.—MOSS v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., [1909] 2 K. B. 274; 78 L. J. K. B. 1048; 100 L. T. 747; 25 T. L. R. 466; 2 B. W. C. C. 168, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Taylor v. Cripps, [1914] 3 K. B. 989. Refd. Bonney v. Hoyle, [1914] 2 K. B. 257; Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169. As to (2) Refd. Godwin v. Admiralty Lords Comrs. (1912), 106 L. T. 136.

3859. On preliminary point of law.]—MOSS v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., No. 3858, ante.

3860. Registration of memorandum of agreement.]—In proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), where there is a dispute as to the genuineness of a memorandum of agreement with regard to the amount of compensation payable to the workman, & the matter is referred by the registrar to the judge, if the latter hears evidence, &, as a result, orders the memorandum to be recorded, he is acting in a judicial capacity, & consequently an appeal will lie from his decision under County Courts Act, 1888 (c. 43), s. 120.—JOHNSTON v. MEW, LANGTON & CO., LTD. (1907), 98 L. T. 517; 24 T. L. R. 175; 51 Sol. Jo. 554; 1 B. W. C. C. 133, C. A.

3861. Deduction of costs from compensation.]—A county ct. judge having non-suited a pltf. in an action brought under the Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), was subsequently applied to by pltf. to assess, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (4), the compensation due to him under that Act. The judge did so, & deducted therefrom the costs incurred by defts. owing to pltf.'s bringing the action instead of proceeding under the Act, such costs to include the costs of an unsuccessful appeal against the non-suit in the action under Employers' Liability Act:—Held: the appeal from such order must be to the Ct. of Appeal, & not to a Div. Ct.—WILLIAMS v. ARMY & NAVY AUXILIARY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LTD. (1907), 23 T. L. R. 408; 9 W. C. C. 134.

3862. As to grade of workman.]—JURY v. ATLANTA (OWNERS), No. 3491, ante.

3863. Order for examination of witness.]—TAYLOR v. CRIPPS, No. 3151, ante.

3864. Refusal to pay compensation out of court—On applicant attaining majority.]—JOHNSTON v. LISTON (H.) & CO., No. 3676, ante.

B. Findings of Fact.

(a) In General.

3865. General rule—No appeal on question of fact.]—SMITH v. LANCASHIRE & YORKSHIRE RY. CO., No. 2147, ante.

3866. ——.]—CHANDLER v. SMITH, No. 3556, ante.

3867. ——.]—SIMMONS v. HEATH LAUNDRY CO., No. 3169, ante.

3868. ——.]—Held: the appeal must be dismissed as the decision was on a question of fact.—RAYMAN v. FIELDS (No. 2) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 123, C. A.

3869. ——.]—A workman was injured, returned to work, & received for two years wages slightly less than his average weekly earnings before the accident. He then brought proceedings for compensation & voluntarily left his employer's service. The judge awarded full compensation as from the date he left work, but declined to give any compensation in respect of the difference of wages before that date, on the ground that the workman had accepted the wages in lieu of any compensation. The workman appealed:—Held: there was no point of law taken by the workman, & the appeal failed.—GOFF v. AIRDS, LTD. (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 277, C. A.

3870. ——.]—WHEELER, RIDLEY & CO. v. DAWSON, No. 3523, ante.

3871. ——.]—A workman was injured while weighing cargo on defts.' steamship & claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906. He was an assistant meter & weigher appointed & licensed by the King's Lynn Conservancy Board under statutory authority & subject to certain internal rules & regulations of the Board providing (inter alia) that the employment of the meters & weighers should be in rotation according to a secret rota; that payment for their services according to a prescribed scale should be made by the shipowner to the headman appointed settle "any question as to whether the employment is one to which this Act applies;" & the only way to review the arbitrator's finding thereon is by means of a case submitted under sect. 4 of Sched. II.—DISOURDI v. SULLIVAN GROUP MINING CO. & MARYLAND CASUALTY CO. (NO. 3) (1909), 2 B. W. C. C. 514; 14 B. C. R. 241.—CAN.

---

3858 ii. ——.]—Re BASANTA & CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1911), 18 W. L. R. 353; 16 B. C. R. 304.—CAN.

3860 i. Registration of memorandum of agreement.]—Held: the sheriff, in granting, under the 1906 Act, special warrant to record a memorandum of agreement, the genuineness of which was disputed, was acting in a judicial & not a ministerial capacity, & that appeal by way of stated case was therefore competent.—ADDIE (ROBERT) & SONS, LTD. v. COAKLEY, [1909] S. C. 545; 46 Sc. L. R. 408; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 261; 2 B. W. C. C. C. 437.—SCOT.

t. Order to pay sum exceeding £50.]—An appeal lies from the decision of a police magistrate ordering the payment of compensation under Workers' Compensation Act, 1905, when the person against whom the order is made is or may be liable to pay a sum exceeding £50.—GORMLEY v. BRISBANE TRAMWAYS CO., LTD., [1909] S. R. Q. 329.—AUS.

s. Assessment of compensation after failure of common law action.]—STEWART v. PERTH GENERAL STATION COMMITTEE, [1923] S. C. 356.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (a).

3865 i. General rule—No appeal on question of fact.]—The right of appeal from a decision in the course of proceedings to which Workmen's Compensation Act, Sched. II., art. 4, applies is available only for questioning the determination of the ct. or judge upon some question of law.—BRITISH COLUMBIA SUGAR REFINING CO. v. GRANICK (1910), 44 S. C. R. 105.—CAN.

3865 ii. ——.]—There is no appeal except upon a question of law.—Re CANGEME & ALBERTA COAL MINING CO. (1912), 22 W. L. R. 68; 5 Alta. L. R. 173; 6 D. L. R. 231; 2 W. W. R. 1058.—CAN 3865 iii. ——.]—The sheriff-substitute awarded against a workman on a series of facts found. The workman appealed, & asked that the sheriff-substitute should be ordered to state a case for the opinion of the ct. as to whether the evidence at the hearing did not support a series of facts as set out by the workman contrary to those found by the sheriff-substitute:—Held: there is no appeal on questions of fact.—NELSON v. ALLAN BROTHERS & CO. (UNITED KINGDOM), LTD., [1913] S. C. 1003; 50 Sc. L. R. 820; [1913] 2 S. L. T. 147; 6 B. W. C. C. 853.—SCOT.

Sect. 23.—Appeals: Sub-sect. 2, B. (a) & (b), C. & D.; sub-sect. 3, A. & B.]

by the Board & be distributed by him, subject to certain deductions, amongst the meters & weighers, who were forbidden to receive any direct payment from the shipowner; & that the meters & weighers should act on all occasions under the direction & control of the Port & Harbour Committee of the Board, the committee having power to suspend & the Board having power to dismiss any meter & weigher for offences or irregularity. The employment of meters & weighers was compulsory in the case of shipowners desiring cargo to be weighed or measured within the limits of the port.

It appeared that while at work appct. was subject to the control & direction of the ship's foreman, who, if dissatisfied with the meters & weighers supplied, could stop the work & send to the headman for others. The county ct. judge found that appct. was in the employ of defts. & awarded compensation:—Held: there was sufficient evidence to support the finding & the award must stand.

(2) The function of the Ct. of Appeal in dealing with findings of fact by the county ct. judge acting as arbitrator under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), discussed.

If he misdirects himself in point of law this ct. can interfere. If there is no evidence worthy of the consideration of a jury in support of the decision this ct. can & ought to set it aside. . . . If however there is evidence both ways it is not competent to this ct. to set aside the award of the county ct. judge, even though upon the balance of the evidence this ct. might be inclined to take a different view (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—WILMERSON v. LYNN & HAMBURG S.S. CO., LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 931; 82 L. J. K. B. 1064; 109 L. T. 53; 29 T. L. R. 652; 57 Sol. Jo. 700; 6 B. W. C. C. 512, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Newson v. Burstall & Farrow (1915), 112 L. T. 792.

3872. ——— ———.]—LANCASTER v. BLACKWELL COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2647, ante.

(b) What are Questions of Fact.

3873. Who is a workman.]—SIMMONS v. HEATH LAUNDRY CO., No. 3469, ante.

3874. Existence of relationship of master & servant.]—MOLLOY v. SOUTH WALES ANTHRACITE COLLIERY CO., No. 2375, ante.

3875. ——.]—The findings of fact by a county ct. judge sitting as an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), cannot be set aside if there was evidence to support the findings. The question whether there was evidence is a question of law.

Resps. let out a taxi-cab to applt., who was injured by an accident while he was driving the cab. Upon an application for compensation under the Act there was evidence that the relation of resps. to applt. was that of bailor & bailee of the taxi-cab. & the county ct. judge found as fact that that was the true relation & that ther was no contract of service:—Held: the findin could not be set aside, & applt. was not entitle to compensation.

Quoad the cab, the contract was an ordinar contract of locatio rei. Quoad the public, th relation of the cab driver to the cab owner, wa in my opinion, one of agency (LORD SHAW O DUNFERMLINE).—SMITH v. GENERAL MOTOR CA CO., LTD., [1911] A. C. 188; 80 L. J. K. B. 839 105 L. T. 113; 27 T. L. R. 370; sub nom. BATES SMITH v. GENERAL MOTOR CAB CO., LTD., 55 Sol Jo. 439; 4 B. W. C. C. 249, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Curtis v. Plumptre (1913), 6 B. W. C. C 87; Wilmerson v. Lynn & Hamburg S.S. Co., [1913 3 K. B. 931. Mentd. R. v. Messer (1911), 82 L. J. K. B 913; Komp v. Elisha, [1918] 1 K. B. 228.

3876. Whether accident occurred.]—TURNER v BELL (G.) & SONS, LTD., No. 3634, ante.

3877. Existence of incapacity.]—WARD v. MILES No. 3260, ante.

3878. Cessation of incapacity.] — WHEELER RIDLEY & CO. v. DAWSON, No. 3523, ante.

3879. ——.]—JONES v. ANDERSON, No. 3529 ante.

3880. ——.]—A workman was crushed betweer a handcart & a sand-drier & the right side of his back was injured. The accident resulted in the formation, in the injured portion of the body, of a patch containing a hard nodule about the size of a pea. He received compensation from his employers for several months, during which time he was periodically examined by a doctor on their behalf. Ultimately, as a result of the doctor's report, they stopped compensation. The workman applied for an award, & the county ct. judge, before whom the only question was that of partial incapacity, found that there was no incapacity, & made an award in favour of resps. On appeal the workman alternatively asked for a declaration of liability:—Held: the award, which was made on a pure question of fact, could not be interfered with; & as the question whether the county ct. judge ought to have a declaration of liability, on the ground that the injury might in the future incapacitate the workman to some extent, had not been raised before the county ct. judge, & as no evidence had been directed to that point before him, the Ct. of Appeal could not deal with it.—LEWIS v. LIVERPOOL CORPN. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 55, C. A.

3881. Lessening of incapacity.] — ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. LYNCH, No. 3197, ante.

3882. Question of contributory negligence.]—CUTSFORTH v. JOHNSON, No. 4116, post.

3883. Prejudice from absence of notice.]—LOCHGELLY IRON & COAL CO., LTD. v. KIRK, No. 2897, ante.

3884. Accident arising out of employment.]—THOMSON (W.) & CO. v. ANDERSON (OR SCRIMGEOUR), No. 2602, ante.

3885. ——.]—Where the whole question whether the incapacity is due to accident arising out of

---

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (b).

3877 i. Existence of incapacity.]—DOHARTY v. BOYD, [1909] S. C. 87; 46 Sc. L. R. 71; 16 S. L. T. 429.—SCOT.

3878 i. Cessation of incapacity.]—In an appeal at the instance of the workman against the ending of compensation, the ct. refused to interfere with the sheriff's finding, holding that the question of the workman's recovery was one of fact only, upon which the sheriff's finding was final.—ANDERSON v. DARNGAVIL COAL CO., [1910] S. C. 456.—SCOT.

3883 i. Prejudice from absence of notice.]—Upon an appeal the co. objected that no notice in writing of the accident was given:—Held: the judge's finding, upon the facts & circumstances proved, that the co. were not thereby prejudiced in their defence, being supported by some evidence, the question whether it was the proper finding upon the evidence was not a question of law, & was not open upon an appeal.—Re BARRIE & DIAMOND COAL CO., LTD. (1914), 28 W. L. R. 701; 7 Alta. L. R. 138; 6 W. W. R. 651.—CAN.

3884 i. Accident arising out of employment.]—In an action under Workmen's Compensation Act a finding by the district ct. judge that the accident arose out of pltf.'s employment is not binding upon the Ct. of Appeal, where the relevant & material facts are either found or not disputed; in such a case the question whether the accident arose out of the workmen's employment is a question of law, not of fact.—CAMERON v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1918] 2 W. W. R. 1025; 11 Sask. L. R. 277; 42 D. L. R. 345.—CAN.

& in the course of the employment is one of fact & there is evidence to support the decision of the county ct. judge, his decision is final.—GRANDIN v. GOLDSTEIN (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 116, C. A.

3886. Medical point—Judge sitting with medical assessor.]—The ct. cannot interfere with a finding of fact on a medical point found by a county ct judge sitting with a medical assessor.—REGAN v. CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES, LTD. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 50, C. A.

3887. Who is a dependant.]—PEART v. BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & CO., No. 2118, ante.

C. Quantum of Compensation.

3888. Not matter of appeal.]—HUMPHREYS v. CITY OF LONDON ELECTRIC LIGHTING CO., No. 3368, ante.

3889. ——.]—ROBERTS & RUTHVEN, LTD. v. HALL, No. 3749, ante.

3890. ——.]—MCCARTHY v. MELITA (OWNERS), No. 2776, ante.

3891. ——.]—RAY v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3317, ante.

3892. Power of Court of Appeal to correct slip of arbitrator.]—In estimating the amount of compensation to which an injured workman was entitled, the learned county ct. judge found that the man's capacity to earn was reduced to four-fifths of normal by reason of a condition of the heart unconnected with the accident. He subtracted the amount the man was able to earn, taking into consideration the reduced capacity owing to heart trouble, from the amount the man would have been earning but for the accident, & awarded compensation accordingly. In ascertaining the latter amount, however, he did not take into consideration the reduction of one-fifth due to the heart trouble:—Held: the amounts found by the judge were questions of fact from which there was no appeal, but the omission to deduct the one-fifth from both amounts was a slip, & the county ct. judge's award should be altered accordingly.—HOYLAND BRICK CO. v. WARD (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 327, C. A.

D. Consent Orders.

3893. Cannot be appealed against.]—An injured workman for some months had been in receipt of partial compensation. He then applied for review & increase of the amount. Before this application was filed the employers had filed an application to redeem, although at the date of the application these payments had been continued for only four months. The application for review was heard first & dismissed by the judge, & he then immediately, by consent of the parties, proceeded to hear the application to redeem. He made an award for redemption for permanent partial incapacity based on the rate of compensation which the workman then received. The workman appealed against both orders:—Held: the order for redemption was in the nature of a consent order, & in consequence no appeal would lie from either order.—HOWELL v. BLACKWELL'S EXECUTORS, BLACKWELL v. HOWELL (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 293, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Haydock v. Goodier, [1921] 2 K. B. 384.

SUB-SECT. 3.—GROUNDS FOR GRANTING OR REFUSING.

A. In General.

3894. Award may be supported—On apparent facts—Though not basis of judgment.]—BRINCKMAN v. HARRIS, No. 2419, ante.

3895. —— Award based on several reasons—Some bad.]—JACKSON v. HUNSLET ENGINE CO., LTD., No. 3389, ante.

3896. Decision on applicant's particulars.]—In his application for compensation, the workman stated that he had been struck by a fellow workman, which caused him to fall & injure himself. The county ct. judge asked counsel whether he wished to add anything to these particulars of the claim, & having received an answer in the negative, held that appct. must fail in his claim, as on these particulars the accident did not arise out of, & in the course of, his employment:—Held: the case must be remitted to the county ct. for rehearing with evidence.—LEPPER v. BURNELL & CO. (1921), 132 L. T. 232; 68 Sol. Jo. 882; 17 B. W. C. C. 179, C. A.

Sufficiency of evidence.]—See No. 3871, ante.

B. Wrongful Admission or Exclusion of Evidence.

3897. Wrongful admission.]—A statement made by a deceased workman to a fellow workman as to the cause of his injury is not admissible as there is no duty to make such a statement. Award set aside on the ground that the arbitrator had received evidence of such a statement & that no other evidence justifying the award existed.—WOLSEY v. PETHICK BROTHERS (1908), 1 B. W. C. C. 411, C. A.

3898. ——.]—A painter claimed compensation for a strained heart. The doctor was subpœnaed, but did not attend, & three certificates, though objected to, were admitted in evidence by the judge, who awarded for the workman:—Held: the certificates were inadmissible, & as they must have influenced the mind of the judge, a new trial was necessary.—RICHARDS v. SANDERS & SONS (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 352, C. A.

3899. ——.]—A county ct. judge admitted certain statements by a deceased workman as to the cause of his injury. He said that he himself considered them inadmissible, but allowed them, in order that they might be there in case the Ct. of Appeal should decide to admit them as evidence:—Held: there must be a new trial [before another judge], as the judge's mind must have been coloured by the admission of these statements.—SMITH v. HARDMAN & HOLDEN, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 719, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Shea v. Wilson, Barnsley (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 633.

3900. —— Not resulting in miscarriage of justice.]—TRIGG v. VAUXHALL MOTORS, LTD., No. 2727, ante.

3887 i. Who is a dependant.]—The ct. has no jurisdiction to review or interfere with the determination of the Workmen's Compensation Board that pltf. in an action brought against an employer is a dependant within the Workmen's Compensation Act.—FOSTER v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1926] 4 D. L. R. 46; [1926] 2 W. W. R. 687; 36 Man. L. R. 61; affg., [1926] 2 D. L. R. 836; [1926] 1 W. W. R. 853.—CAN.

3887 ii. ——.] LEGGETT v. BURKE (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 693.—SCOT.

3887 iii. ——.]—ROWHILL COAL CO., LTD. v. SMITH, [1909] S. C. 252.—SCOT.

b. Question of serious & wilful misconduct.]—GLASGOW & SOUTH-WESTERN RY. CO. v. LAIDLAW (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 708.—SCOT.

c. ——.]—CONDRON v. PAUL (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 29.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 2.—C.

3888 i. Not matter of appeal.]—HEALY v. REILLY (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 744.—IR.

3888 ii. ——.]—PANKHURST v. SMITH (1917), 44 N. B. R. 279; 33 D. L. R. 23.—CAN.

Sect. 23.—Appeals: Sub-sect. 3, B., C., D., E., F. & G.]

3901. —— ——.]—WALTHEW v. MUIRHEAD, MACDONALD, WILSON & CO., No. 2777, ante.

3902. Wrongful exclusion—Not resulting in miscarriage of justice.]—SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR v. WILLOUGHBY, No. 3294, ante.

C. Point Not Raised in Court Below.

3903. General rule—Appeal not allowed.]—The employers appealed on several points of law which had not been taken in the ct. below:—Held: the appeal must be dismissed as the points were not taken in the ct. below.—PAYNE v. CLIFTON (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 439, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Stevens v. Thorne, [1916] 2 K. B. 69.

3904. —— ——.]—Upon an appeal from an award in an arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), points of law not taken at the hearing before the county ct. judge cannot be raised in the Ct. of Appeal.

A workman claimed compensation in respect of an injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & in the particulars of his claim described the nature of the injury as "rupture." The employers had paid compensation for eight months & then offered the man light work & reduced compensation. He refused this offer & commenced the proceedings for arbn. At the hearing he further complained of an injury to his back, of which no notice had been given to the employers. The medical evidence proved that the alleged injury to the back was independent of, & not causally connected with, the rupture. The county ct. judge, having heard the evidence, held that the workman was only entitled to a declaration of liability in respect of the rupture, & to this the employers were willing to submit. Appct. then asked for leave to amend his particulars so as to enable him to claim in respect of the injury to the back. The employers objected that as, prior to the arbn., no dispute had arisen as to the alleged injury to the back, the county ct. judge could not allow an amendment in respect of a matter as to which he had no jurisdiction to make an award. The county ct. judge upheld the objection & refused to allow the amendment:—Held: his decision was right.—STEVENS v. THORNE & CO., [1916] 2 K. B. 69; 85 L. J. K. B. 841; 114 L. T. 824; 9 B. W. C. C. 304, C. A.

3905. Power of judge—To order payment of lump sum—In winding up.]—HOMER v. GOUGH, No. 3685, ante.

3906. —— To order private examination by medical assessor.]—SMITH v. FOSTER, No. 3160, ante.

3907. —— To allow amendment of claim.]—MILLIGAN v. KERR, STUART & CO., No. 3291, ante.

3908. Omission to apply for declaration of liability.]—A ship's cook had the index finger of the right hand rendered stiff by an accident. The county ct. judge, on the employers promising to find the man employment, terminated the payments & dismissed the application for compensation. The workman appealed on the ground that there should have been an award of 1*d.* per week or a declaration of liability:—Held: as the question of a declaration of liability had not been raised before the county ct. judge, there was no jurisdiction for the Ct. of Appeal to grant it.—HARLOCK v. COQUET (OWNERS) (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 88, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Stevens v. Thorne, [1916] 2 K. B. 69.

3909. ——.]—A workman met with an accident, the accident was admitted, & he was paid compensation for a month. He then returned to work. Shortly afterwards he complained that he could not work, & claimed compensation on the basis of total incapacity. The medical evidence as to this was conflicting. The judge, sitting with a medical assessor, found that the incapacity had ceased, & dismissed the application.

Though no suspensory award was asked for at the arbn. the workman appealed on the ground that such an award should have been made:—Held: the appeal could not be entertained.—MAUNDER v. HANCOCK (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 648, C. A.

3910. ——.]—LEWIS v. LIVERPOOL CORPN., No. 3880, ante.

3911. Finding of fraud—On no evidence.]—A workman in 1911 met with an accident in his employment, & the employers agreed to pay him 15*s.* a week, the agreement being afterwards recorded. In 1919 they applied to terminate the payments on the ground that the incapacity of the man to work had ceased, & it was proved that for twenty-one weeks he had been working for, & earning wages from, other employers while receiving weekly payments from his old employers. The county ct. judge gave no decision on the question of incapacity, & did not comply with the application by terminating the payments, but he held that resp. had defrauded appcts. to the amount of twenty-one weeks' compensation, & suspended the compensation for that period, & for a further period of five weeks as a contribution towards appcts.' costs of the application. The workman appealed:—Held: (1) it was open to him on the appeal to raise the question as to the jurisdiction of the judge to make the order, although no objection had been taken at the hearing, inasmuch as the jurisdiction had been exercised upon a point not raised by the application, & the workman's counsel had had no opportunity of raising the objection prior to judgment being given; (2) the judge at the hearing had no evidence before him of actual fraud by the workman, & in any case, although he had jurisdiction under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I., clause 16, to end the compensation, or to diminish it, he had no jurisdiction to impound twenty-one weeks of the compensation for the benefit of the employers, still less to impound a further five weeks thereof towards payment of their costs.—KIRK & RANDALL, LTD. v. BOURKE (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1145; 121 L. T. 319; 12 B. W. C. C. 209, C. A.

3912. Objection to exclusion of evidence.]—SHELDON v. BUTTERLEY CO., LTD., No. 3354, ante.

3913. Objection to admission of evidence.]—MCCARTHY v. MELITA (OWNERS), No. 2776, ante.

3914. Whether workman in employment at time of accident.]—THOMSON (W.) & CO. v. MACKAY, No. 2181, ante.

3915. Whether workman acting in an emergency.]—WATKINS v. CWMGWRACH & EMPIRE COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 2497, ante.

D. Surprise.

3916. Whether ground for rehearing—No application for adjournment at original hearing.]—ROCCA v. JONES (STANLEY) & CO., LTD., No. 2825, ante.

3917. —— ——.]—GOLDEN v. SWIFT OF COVENTRY, LTD., No. 2767, ante.

d. Power of judge—To order examination by medical assessor.]—LANE v. LEITCH & SON (1921), 55 I. L. T. 161.—IR.

3918. —— Application for adjournment refused.]—JONES v. S. R. ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD., No. 3169, ante.

E. Absence or Insufficiency of Judge's Note.
See Sub-sect. 4, post.

F. Failure to decide Material Issue.

3919. General rule—No facts found or reasons given.]—A foreman road mender delegated his duties one day to a roadman. Both men were employed by a district council. While the foreman was away, a traction engine truck, supplied by contractors to bring stones for road mending, got stuck in a ditch. One of the contractor's men asked the roadman to help free the truck. The roadman was injured in doing so. He claimed compensation against the district council, & the county ct. judge, without finding any facts or giving any reasons, held that the accident did not arise out of & in the course of the man's employment:—Held: the vital point, as to the foreman's duties & his authority to delegate them, not having been decided, there must be a new trial. SELLER v. BOSTON RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 99, C. A.

3920. —— ——.]—SLATER v. MACONOCHIE BROTHERS, LTD., No. 3199, ante.

3921. —— Obscurity of findings.]—MCNALLY v. BOOTLE JUTE FACTORY CO., LTD., No. 3938, post.

3922. —— ——.]—A workman was injured in 1910, & compensation was paid until he went back to work some time after. He continued at work more or less regularly until Feb. 1920, when his employment came to an end. He had been complaining of his injury, & when his work terminated he applied for compensation. There was a protracted hearing, & several adjournments. The judge then found that the man was suffering from osteo-arthritis & neurasthenia as a result of the accident, & awarded £1 a week compensation on the assumption that the amount the man was entitled to, if liability were found against the employer, was not contested. Counsel for the employer then pointed out that the amount of compensation was in dispute, & that there was no evidence as to whether the man had applied for any work or whether he was unable to get it. The county ct. judge thereupon said he was not going to stultify his award because the man had not applied for work, & that there was sufficient evidence to be found in the shorthand notes to justify his award. On appeal counsel for the workman admitted that there was no evidence that the neurasthenia resulted from the accident:—Held: the judge had not applied the provisions of sched. I., 1 (3) in ascertaining the amount of compensation the workman was entitled to, & the hearing & award were generally so unsatisfactory that there must be a new trial, & this, without casting any reflection upon the judge who tried the case, should be before a different judge.

I think the whole thing should go down for a new trial, because in my opinion the whole of the first trial was unsatisfactory & we intend to do as we have done on several occasions, that is, send it to another judge as the K. B. Div. always considers that it is more satisfactory that a new trial should take place before a new mind (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—POSTMASTER-GENERAL v. BUTLER (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 566, C. A.

3923. Whether continued incapacity due to negligent treatment.]—HUMBER TOWING CO., LTD. v. BARCLAY, No. 2824, ante.

3924. Whether delegation of work to applicant authorised.]—SELLER v. BOSTON RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL, No. 3919, ante.

3925. Whether accident due to added risk.]—ROGERS v. GARSIDE, No. 2175, ante.

3926. Whether suitable work offered.]—The employers of a workman, who had been paid compensation for some time on the footing of total incapacity, considered, on a medical report obtained by them, that the workman had recovered sufficiently to do light work of a particular kind, which they offered to find for him. For a time nothing further was done, & then compensation was stopped. On an application for arbn. having been filed, the employers repeated their offer of work in their answer. Medical evidence was given on both sides before the county ct. judge, but, without dealing with the question whether the particular work offered was suitable or not, the judge decided that appct. was not fit at present to go back to his former work, & made an award in his favour for the payment of full compensation:—Held: the real issue, as to whether the work offered was suitable or not, had not been considered at all. Order for rehearing before another judge.

The issue upon which the parties went to trial not having been decided at all, the inevitable result is that there must be a new trial. The rule that where a new trial is ordered, the case goes before another judge will be followed (SWINFEN EADY, M.R.).—MORPETH v. EYRE SMELTING CO. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 258, C. A.

3927. Whether serious & permanent disablement—Finding of wilful misconduct.]—MALONEY v. PINK (E. & T.), LTD., No. 2753, ante.

G. Other Grounds.

3928. Refusal to await depositions from witnesses abroad.]—A seaman claimed compensation. The ship on which the alleged accident happened had sailed for a foreign port before the employers obtained the evidence necessary to their case from witnesses on board. They sent abroad for depositions of these witnesses. The county ct. judge, after granting adjournments on terms, finally went on with the case without waiting for the depositions:—Held: the case must go back for a rehearing, before another judge.—JESSOP v. MACLAY & M'INTYRE (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 139, C. A.

3929. Direction to counsel to confine argument to one point—Adverse decision on other points.]—At the hearing of an arbitration, counsel for the employers submitted three defences: that the accident did not arise out of the employment; that the injury was not the result of the accident; & that proper notice had not been given. The deputy county ct. judge directed counsel for the workman to confine his reply to the question of notice only. By his award the deputy county ct. judge found in favour of the employers on

---

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3. —F.

3919 i. General rule—No facts found or reasons given.]—On an application by the employers to review & reduce weekly payments of 10s., the employers proved that the workman was earning 8*s.* 3*d.* weekly, this with 10*s.* compensation was within 1*s.* 9*d.* of his original earnings. The arbitrator, without stating facts in support, refused to reduce payments of compensation:—Held: the case must be remitted in respect that no facts appeared to justify continuation of full compensation.—MOORE & CO. v. PRYDE, [1913] S. C. 457; 50 Sc. L. R. 302; [1913] 1 S. L. T. 49; 6 B. W. C. C. 384.—SCOT.

u. Whether earning capacity affected.]—MULLIGAN v. GLASGOW CORPN., [1917] S. C. 450; 54 Sc. L. R. 352; [1917] 1 S. L. T. 230.—SCOT.

Sect. 23.—Appeals: Sub-sect. 3, G.; sub-sects. 4 & 5.]

the first two grounds of defence, & did not specifically decide the question of notice:—Held: there must be a rehearing.—SILK v. ISLE OF THANET RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 539, C. A.

3930. —— ——.]—In an answer to a claim for compensation the employers relied upon two points, that notice had not been given & that the claim for compensation was out of time. At the arbitration the learned judge intimated to the workman's counsel that he did not wish to hear argument on the question of notice, & only wanted the question of claim dealt with. He then reserved his award on the question of claim. Some time later, however, he made his award against the workman on the question of notice, apparently having overlooked what had occurred with regard to this at the hearing, & stated that in view of his decision upon this point it was unnecessary to decide the question of claim:—Held: there must be a new trial for full consideration of all points.—DEMPSEY v. LONDON & SOUTH WESTERN RY. CO. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 224, C. A.

3931. Conflicting findings of fact—Unsupported by evidence.]—A boy was injured by being caught in a moving belt. The belt was used to convey coal to waggons. The boy was employed to pick out dirt or shale from the coal. The evidence was confused & conflicting as to what the boy was actually doing when he became caught in the belt. The county ct. judge made two conflicting findings, one in favour of the workman & the other in favour of the employer. He made an award in favour of the employer:—Held: the findings being conflicting, & neither being supported by evidence, there must be a rehearing.

In cases of this kind, the ct. will not entertain an application for a new trial before another judge unless bias or prejudice is alleged, or the judge expresses the desire not to retry the case (per CUR.).—SAMBROOK v. NEW SHARLSTON COLLIERIES CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 728, C. A.

3932. Examination of applicant by judge in private.]—EARLE'S SHIPBUILDING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD. v. WALKER, No. 3973, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—JUDGE'S NOTES.

Duty of judge to take notes.]—See Sect. 11, sub-sect. 7, A. (b), ante; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, r. 36.

3933. Absence or insufficiency as ground for rehearing—Notes of evidence—Absence of.]—(1) County ct. judges should always take a note in these cases whether they are requested to do so or not.

(2) If there are no notes of the evidence given at the arbitration, the case may be remitted for a rehearing.—BRINE v. CORRY & SON (1905), 7 W. C. C. 130, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Rayman v. Fields (1910), 102 L. T. 154. Consd. Turner v. Miller & Richards (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 305. Refd. Taylor v. Ward, Worcester (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 441. As to (2) Apld. Taylor v. Ward, Worcester (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 441. Refd. Rayman v. Fields (1910), 102 L. T. 154.

3934. —— —— Incompleteness of.]—A boy claimed compensation for injury by accident. It appeared that a machine, upon which he was engaged at work, was suddenly set going. His hand became caught in it & subsequently had to be amputated. The county ct. judge took no complete note of the evidence, & only furnished a short summary of its effect, which left many points, including the actual grounds of his decision, in doubt:—Held: the case should be remitted for a new trial before the same judge. Costs of the first trial & appeal to be costs in second trial.—TAYLOR v. WARD & CO., WORCESTER, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 441, C. A.

3935. —— —— ——.]—A minder was injured by having his hand crushed in the wheels of a spinning-machine, while attempting to clean off some black oil when the machine was in motion. The county ct. judge refused compensation on the ground that there was no need to clean off the black oil, that the man should not, in any event, have attempted to do it while the machine was in motion, & that the accident happened because the man had not replaced a guard on the machine which he had taken off two days previously. The judge's note was very short, & the evidence not at all clear:—Held: there must be a new trial, as the judge's note did not make it clear what the man was doing at the time of the accident, & it was impossible to say whether the accident arose out of his employment or not.—SHAW v. GREENACRES SPINNING CO., LTD. (1915), 8 B. W. C. C. 35, C. A.

3936. —— —— ——.]—JACOBS v. MANDELBAUM, No. 2982, ante.

3937. —— —— Unintelligibility of.]—The judge made an award based on the workman's capacity to earn before the accident, but his notes of the hearing were not clear:—Held: the case must go back to the county ct. judge for a rehearing, on the ground that the notes of the judge were largely unintelligible, but that it was plain that he had misdirected himself on the earning capacity of the workman before the accident.—GELLYCEIDRIM COLLIERY CO., LTD. v. ROGERS (1909), 3 B. W. C. C. 62, C. A.

3938. —— —— ——.]—Obscurity in the findings by a county ct. judge in a case arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was held to be a ground for sending the case back to him for a rehearing.

On Oct. 29, 1915, a girl, who was employed to fill cans of jute from a machine, had her hand caught in the machine, with the result that she sustained serious & permanent injury. She applied for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Her evidence was that about a month before the accident some waste jute fell into the machine, stopping it & breaking some cogs. The foreman then warned her that she would be dismissed if it happened again. On the day of the accident a piece of waste jute again fell into the machine just as she was about to stop it. She at once tried to snatch the waste out of the cogs, & the accident then happened. She knew it was dangerous to do this. She admitted that the waste must have been thrown on to the machine, but said that all the girls near her had denied having thrown it. Her story of the incident a month before the accident was confirmed by another workgirl. At the conclusion of the evidence for appct. the county ct. judge dismissed the application, saying he was unable to accept her story as to the way the accident happened, & that, even on her own story, the accident was due to an added peril, & did not arise out of her employment:—Held: there must be a new trial.

Qu.: whether the warning of the foreman would operate to extend the scope of the girl's employment, so that, if her story were true, the accident would be an accident arising out of the employment.—MCNALLY v BOOTLE JUTE FACTORY

CO., LTD. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 774; 114 L. T. 816; 9 B. W. C. C. 323, C. A.

3939. —— Grounds of decision—Not set out.]—GRIFFITHS v. WYNNSTAY COLLIERIES, No. 3186, ante.

3940. —— —— ——.]—Appt. was injured by accident, & was paid compensation by his employers for about eighteen months on the basis of total incapacity. The employers then reduced the weekly payments of compensation, & appt. thereupon filed a request for arbn., & claimed compensation on the basis of total incapacity. The county ct. judge, without giving any reasons or recording any findings of fact, made an award "in favour of the employers." Appt. appealed, & asked that the award should be set aside, or that there should be a new trial, &, in any case, a declaration of liability:—Held: as there was no note of the findings of fact by the county ct. judge, nor any note of his reasons, & the matter had not been properly investigated, so as to enable the Ct. of Appeal to adjudicate on the matter properly, there must be a new trial.—THOMPSON v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO. (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 75, C. A.

3941. —— Findings of fact Not set out.] In an appeal by the workman from an order of the Ct. of Appeal affirming a decision of a county ct. judge, the question was whether a rule made in accordance with Reg. 25*a* of General Colliery Regulations under powers given in Coal Mines Act, 1911 (c. 50), s. 86, that "no person below ground shall ride upon any tub or contrivance drawn by a horse" so affected the miner's employment that disobedience to the rule was an act on his part outside the sphere of his employment, & an accident which was due to that act was one for which the employer was not liable: Held: there should be a fuller & more specific statement of the facts than was contained in the considered judgment of the county ct. judge, & the Ct. of Appeal were wrong in not directing a new trial. The case was accordingly remitted for a new trial with a special direction as to costs.—MAYDEW v. CHATTERLEY-WHITFIELD COLLIERIES, LTD. (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 360; 119 L. T. 262; 11 B. W. C. C. 171, H. L.; revsg., [1917] 2 K. B. 742, C. A.

3942. —— —— ——.]—THOMPSON v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO., No. 3940, ante.

3943. —— —— —— Evidence otherwise sufficient to support decision.]—ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. LYNCH, No. 3197, ante.

3944. Difficulty in obtaining—Ground for adjournment.]—TAFF VALE RY. CO. v. LANE (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 259, C. A.

3945. Omissions from notes—Not to be supplied by affidavit.]—GRIGGS v. GAMECOCK (OWNERS), No. 2525, ante.

3946. No note taken—Memorandum supplied by judge six months later.]—Appt. was injured in the course of his employment & was lame. He was paid compensation until the injuries healed, after which payment was stopped. He claimed further compensation, but the county ct. judge, while making a declaration of liability, refused to award compensation. Appt. asked for a new trial on the ground that the judge had stopped the case without hearing all the evidence & made his award without giving reasons. The judge took no note at the trial, but six weeks later supplied a memorandum from his recollection, from which it appeared that appt.'s solr. had consented to the hearing being concluded on the terms of the award. A report in a local newspaper stated that the judge had "stopped the case," & appt.'s solr. denied that the judge's memorandum was accurate:—Held: greater weight must be given to the judge's memorandum, & the newspaper report was not necessarily inconsistent with the memorandum. There were no proper materials on which the accuracy of the memorandum could be challenged & the award must stand.—MINES v. SELFE & SONS (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 23, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 5.—APPEAL AGAINST PART OF AWARD.

3947. Acceptance of compensation awarded—Appeal as to costs.]—A workman having sustained personal injury within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), an agreement was recorded whereby his employers admitted liability & agreed to pay compensation. A question having arisen as to the amount to be paid, the workman applied for arbitration. The employers offered to submit to an award of 12*s.* 8*d.* a week, & the learned judge awarded compensation at that rate. He also ordered the employers to pay costs up to the receipt of their submission, & appt. to pay the subsequent costs with a set-off. Appt. accepted the 12*s.* 8*d.* per week & the costs were taxed, but he shortly afterwards appealed from part of the order as to costs:—Held: inasmuch as appt. had accepted & acted upon the award, he could not appeal against it.—JOHNSON v. NEWTON FIRE EXTINGUISHER CO., LTD., [1913] 2 K. B. 111; 82 L. J. K. B. 511; 108 L. T. 360; 6 B. W. C. C. 202, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Jones v. Winder (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 201; Josey v. Vincent (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 474; Ward v. Cundall (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 611. Apld. Harris v. Munitions Minister (1920), 124 L. T. 489. Folld. Reeves v. Smith (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 190.

3948. —— —— ——.]—The employers paid a certain sum into ct. with respect to a claim for compensation, & submitted to an award of 7*s* 6*d.* a week compensation. The workman refused to accept this, but the county ct. judge made an award in accordance with the employer's submission & ordered the costs to be deducted from the compensation, at 3*s.* a week. The workman received several weeks' compensation under this award, the costs being deducted each week, & then appealed on the grounds that the judge had no power to order the costs to be deducted from compensation, & that Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907-1912, r. 18 (7), was ultra vires:—Held: this was an attempt to approbate & reprobate the award, which was indivisible, & the appeal must be dismissed.—STROEWER v. AEROGEN GAS CO. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 576, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Strange v. Davis Gas Stove Co. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 111.

3949. —— —— ——.]—The county ct. judge, on an application to review, awarded less compensation than the employers had offered to pay & made no order as to costs. The workman received compensation on this basis under the award, but appealed on the question of costs:—Held: this was an attempt to approbate & reprobate the award, & the appeal must be dismissed.—JOSEY v. VINCENT (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 474, C. A.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 4.

3941 i. Absence or insufficiency as ground for rehearing—Findings of fact—Not set out.]—The Ct. of Appeal remitted to the county court judge to be re-heard by him a case in which the county court judge's note of the evidence, required to be taken by statute, did not contain material findings of fact necessary to enable the ct. to do justice between the parties.—WALSH v. SCANLAN (1914), 48 I. L. T. 234; 8 B. W. C. C. 414.—IR.

Sect. 23.—Appeals: Sub-sects. 5 & 6, A. (a) & (b), B., C., D., E., F. & G.]

3950. —— ——.]—In arbitration proceedings an award was drawn up in a particular way by consent & the costs taxed. Appct. desired to appeal on the question of costs:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction to entertain such an appeal. —WARD v. CUNDALL (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 611, C. A.

3951. — — Appeal against termination of compensation.]—A nursemaid was in receipt of 10*s.* a week in respect of an injury by accident. The employers stopped compensation when they considered her incapacity had ceased. She commenced arbitration proceedings & the employers paid £15 into ct. with a denial of liability. The county ct. judge found that, at the date of hearing, the nursemaid was no longer incapacitated. He, however, awarded her £9 5*s.* as compensation from the date payments were stopped to the date when he found incapacity ceased. She accepted the £9 5*s.* but appealed against the award:—Held: in support of a preliminary objection, this was an attempt to approbate & reprobate the award & the appeal must be dismissed.—JONES v. WINDER (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 204, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Strange v. Davis Gas Stove Co. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 111. Folld. Ward v. Cundall (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 611. Apld. Harris v. Munitions Minister (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1312. Folld. Reeves v. Smith (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 190.

3952. —— Appeal as to quantum.]—A workman died as the result of a fall while at work & his mother claimed compensation as being totally dependent on his earnings of £1 a week. The county ct. judge made an award of £100 in her favour. She was paid the money, & costs were taxed. She, however, appealed against the award on the ground that on the basis of £1 a week earnings she ought to have received at least £156:—Held: this was an attempt to approbate & reprobate the award, & the appeal must be dismissed.—STRANGE v. DAVIS GAS STOVE CO., LTD. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 111, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Harris v. Munitions Minister (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1312.

3953. —— Appeal against award of partial incapacity.]—A workman was injured by accident. The employer admitted liability & was paying the man 12*s.* 6*d.* a week compensation when the man applied to review & increase the payments to 35*s.* per week on the basis of total incapacity. The county ct. judge made an award for the payment to him of 17*s.* 6*d.* per week, & ordered the employer to pay the arrears, making up the payments of 12*s.* 6*d.* per week to 17*s.* 6*d.* per week. Payments under this award were consequently made by the employer & accepted by the workman, but the workman appealed against the award on the ground that the award should have been for total incapacity. A preliminary objection was, however, taken in the Ct. of Appeal that this was an attempt by the workman to approbate & reprobate the award:—Held: the preliminary objection prevailed & the appeal must be dismissed.—HARRIS v. MINISTER OF MUNITIONS (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1312; 124 L. T. 489; 13 B. W. C. C. 324, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Reeves v. Smith (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 190.

3954. —— ——.]—A workman was injured by accident in the course of his employment. He claimed compensation & the county ct. judge made an award in his favour on the basis of partial incapacity. There was some delay in drawing up the award, but on the day following that on which the award was made, but before it was drawn up, the employers sent the workman a cheque covering five weeks' payments under the award. They asked for a receipt & informed the workman that they would send him a cheque every four weeks in future. The cheque was cashed & the workmen's solr. said that he would send a formal receipt after seeing the award. In due course the employers sent a second cheque, covering four weeks' payments under the award. In the meantime a notice of appeal against the award on the ground of inadequacy was served on the employers, & the workman's solr. returned the employers' second cheque together with a cheque for the amount of their first cheque which had been cashed:—Held: the workman had approbated the award by the acceptance of the first payment & the return of the money by the workman's solr. came too late. The appeal therefore failed.—REEVES v. SMITH (S.) & SONS (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 190, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 6.—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.

A. Time for Appealing.

(a) When Time Begins to Run.

See R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 20, & 59, r. 12.

3955. From time of signing award—Not from date of delivery.]—CLAYTON v. JONES' SEWING MACHINE CO., LTD., [1908] W. N. 253, C. A.

3956. Two decisions forming part of one proceeding—From date of last decision.]—FOX v. BATTERSEA BOROUGH COUNCIL, No. 3071, ante.

(b) Extension of.

See R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 20, & 59, r. 16.

3957. Who may grant—Not county court judge.]—On Feb. 22, 1923, the county ct. judge ordered a memorandum of agreement of settlement for a lump sum to be recorded on the assumption that he had no jurisdiction to consider the adequacy of the sum. Russell v. Rudd, No. 3588, ante, which ultimately showed that such jurisdiction existed, was not decided until Mar. 20, 1923, after the time for appeal from the judge's order had expired. On Apr. 11 an order was made by the county ct. judge on the application of the workman, extending the time for entering an appeal. On Apr. 27, notice of appeal against the award of Feb. 22, 1923, was served on resp. At the hearing in the Ct. of Appeal counsel on behalf of the employers took the preliminary objection that the notice of appeal was out of time:—Held: the county ct. judge had no power to extend the time for appeal, & applt., who had delayed to give notice of appeal until after the decision of the House of Lords in Russell v. Rudd, No. 3588, ante, & now raised a case thereunder which was not put forward at the trial, should not be given extension of time for appealing.—CHADBOURNE v. BARBER, WALKER & CO., LTD. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 147, C. A.

3958. All relevant facts must be stated.]—(1) When either party to an award, made upon a state of facts agreed & considered correct by

---

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (a).

f. From time of signing award—Date on award conclusive as to time of signing.]—Re HOOLACHAN, [1917] S. C. 195; 54 Sc. L. R. 174.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (b).

g. Who may grant.]—R. v. MURRAY & CORMIE, ETC., Ex p. THE COMMONWEALTH (1916), 22 C. L. R. 437. —AUS.

h. ——.]—RANKIN v. OLDCROFT (1920), 54 I. L. T. 106.—IR.

both parties at the time of the making of the award, seeks to obtain the setting aside of the award on the ground of mistake as to the state of facts, the ct. will exercise the greatest care & consideration before availing itself of its power to allow an appeal of that nature. An "award" was made in favour of resps., but the county ct. judge died before signing it. Later a further application was made for compensation based on the same facts. This was dismissed on the grounds of res judicata, all parties being under the impression that the original award was valid. An appeal from this was dismissed for the above reasons.

The award of July 29, 1920, referred to in this order which is appealed from was never in fact made, in this sense, that although the county ct. judge had heard the application, & had dismissed it, the formal award had never been drawn up & signed by the judge, & sealed with the seal of the ct. Therefore in law there was no effective award (WARRINGTON, L.J.).

(2) On an application for leave to appeal when the time for appealing has expired, all relevant facts, e.g. that appct. has accepted an ex gratiâ payment of £100 on the understanding that the employers' liability was at an end, must be stated to the ct. by the applt. Leave was granted in this case, but probably would have been refused if the Ct. of Appeal had known of the ex gratiâ payment.—PELLETT v. HOVE CORPN. (1921), 14 B. W. C. C. 213, C. A.

3959. Grounds for granting or refusing—Adverse opinion of legal adviser.]—The fact that the legal adviser of a workman was of opinion that it was impossible in the circumstances successfully to appeal against a certain order made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), is no ground for subsequently extending the time for appealing from the order.—NICHOLSON v. PIPER (1907), 24 T. L. R. 16; 51 Sol. Jo. 823, C. A.

3960. —— Order for security for costs—Subsequent leave to defend in formâ pauperis.]—PERRY & CO., LTD. v. LACEY (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

3961. —— Failure of judge to supply copy of notes.]—Application for extension of time for appeal granted on the ground that the county ct. judge had not furnished appcts. with a copy of his notes within the time given for appealing, although frequently requested to do so.—ROGERS v. HOLBORN METROPOLITAN BOROUGH (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 10, C. A.

3962. —— Application to appeal from original award—After several intervening applications dismissed.]—In Mar. 1909, a county ct. judge awarded an injured workman 6*s.* a week compensation for six months. This being a prospective award, could have been set aside on appeal. No appeal, however, was made, &, the six months having expired, compensation was stopped. In Mar. 1910, the workman applied for a review, but this was dismissed, on the ground that there were no weekly payments to review. Further applications were made in 1912 & 1913; both, however, were dismissed. In 1914 an original application was made, crediting compensation received. This was also dismissed. The workman appealed from this. In appealing he applied for extension of time to appeal from the award of 1909:—Held: the application & appeal must be dismissed.

That was an award that ought not to have been made. I do not regard it as a question of jurisdiction. He ought not to make a prospective award & such an award will be set aside on appeal, but it is not quite accurate to say there is no jurisdiction. There is a difference between a wrong order & an order which a judge has no jurisdiction to make (LORD COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—EVANS v. BARROW HÆMATITE STEEL CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 681, C. A.

3963. —— New point raised.]—CHADBOURNE v. BARBER, WALKER & CO., LTD., No. 3957, ante.

B. Notice of Appeal.

3964. Must state grounds of appeal.]—In your notice of appeal, you have not stated your grounds of appeal (FLETCHER MOULTON, L.J.).—BARTON v. SCOTT & HODGSON (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 15, C. A.

3965. May be withdrawn.]—Employers wished to withdraw a notice of appeal. They had paid the taxed costs of the arbitration. The workman refused except on condition that the employer paid certain further costs. The employers thereupon made an application to the Ct. of Appeal for leave to withdraw:—Held: the employers were entitled to leave to withdraw & the costs of the application. The workman was entitled only to taxed costs up to the time of the employers' notice of withdrawal, such costs to be set off against the costs of the application to withdraw.—STEPHENS v. VICKERS, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 469, C. A.

C. Setting down Appeal.

3966. What must be filed—Three copies of application & answer.]—PRACTICE NOTE, [1907] W. N. 245, C. A.

3967. —— Signed copy of judge's note—Before case appears in list.]—ASTON COAL CO. v. STANCIL (1926), 43 T. L. R. 99; 70 Sol. Jo. 1181, C. A.

D. Security for Costs of Appeal.

See Sect. 21, sub-sect. 2, A., post.

E. Appearance in formâ pauperis.

See, generally, R. S. C., Ord. 16, rr. 22–31 H.

3968. Leave to oppose appeal granted—Without counsel's opinion.]—Resp. to an appeal may in a proper case appear in formâ pauperis. The opinion of counsel need not be obtained to support an application for leave to oppose in formâ pauperis an appeal.—HANDFORD v. CLARKE (GEORGE), LTD., [1907] 1 K. B. 181; 76 L. J. K. B. 76; 96 L. T. 175; 23 T. L. R. 127; 51 Sol. Jo. 100; 9 W. C. C. 136, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Merriman v. Geach, [1913] 1 K. B. 37.

F. Compromise of Appeal.

3969. Where applicants infants—Necessity for approval of Official Solicitor.]—Employers appealed from an award in favour of dependants, some of whom were infants. The appeal was compromised by the parties. The Ct. sent the matter to the Official Solr. for his consideration, & on his report approved the compromise.—COULSON v. DRAPERS' CO. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 136, C. A.

G. Remitting Case to Different Judge.

See R. S. C., Ords. 58, r. 20; 59, r. 10.

3970. Discretion of court to send to another judge.]—JESSOP v. MACLAY & M'INTYRE, No. 3928, ante.

3971. ——.]—SMITH v. HARDMAN & HOLDEN, LTD., No. 3899, ante.

3972. ——.]—SAMBROOK v. NEW SHARLSTON COLLIERIES CO., LTD., No. 3931, ante.

Sect. 23.—Appeals: Sub-sect. 6, G. & H.; sub-sect. 7. Sect. 24: Sub-sect. 1, A.] 3973. ——.]—A workman lost the sight of one eye by accident & it was removed & a glass eye fitted. He was paid full compensation for some six months, when the employers, believing he was capable of resuming his work, applied to review & terminate or diminish the compensation. The workman said that he suffered much pain, & was unable to work. Medical evidence was given on both sides, & the case adjourned. The county ct. judge ultimately dismissed the application, basing his decision on the workman's own account of his symptoms given to the judge alone at an examination in his private room:—Held: there must be a new trial, &, as the learned judge's mind at a re-hearing would necessarily be influenced by his previous unjudicial private examination, it should be before a new judge.—EARLE'S SHIPBUILDING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD. v. WALKER (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 73, C. A.

3974. ——.]—MORPETH v. EYRE SMELTING CO., No. 3926, ante.

3975. ——.]—POSTMASTER-GENERAL v. BUTLER, No. 3922, ante.

3976. ——.] — SLATER v. MACONOCHIE BROTHERS, LTD., No. 3199, ante.

II. Remitting Case heard by Deputy Judge.

3977. Power to direct rehearing by judge.]—On an appeal from an award in an arbn. under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), made in favour of the employer by a deputy county ct. judge, the award was set aside, & a new trial directed between the parties. On the matter coming before the judge of the county ct. he declined jurisdiction on the ground that he had no power to conduct a new trial; that his only power under the Act was to act as arbitrator; & that the Ct. of Appeal could not properly direct him to conduct a new trial or to rehear an arbn. which had been heard by another arbitrator, whose award had been wholly set aside. On a motion to amend the order of the Ct. of Appeal:—Held: the ct. had power to direct a rehearing by the judge, notwithstanding that the arbn. had been originally dealt with by his deputy. The form of the order, however, was inaccurate, & must be amended by directing a rehearing instead of a new trial.—HUNTER v. SIMNER, [1922] 2 K. B. 170; 91 L. J. K. B. 581; 127 L. T. 342; 66 Sol. Jo. 487; 15 B. W. C. C. 91, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—APPEAL FROM COURT OF APPEAL.

3978. Order of House of Lords—May be made order of Court of Appeal.]—HODGSON v. WEST STANLEY COLLIERY (OWNERS) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 392, C. A.

SECT. 24.—COSTS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN COUNTY COURT.

A. Discretion of Judge.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 7 (1).

3979. Whether Court of Appeal will interfere—Exercised upon proper grounds.] — An injured workman, in receipt of 1*s.* per week, applied for a review under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16). The employer denied liability, & in the alternative submitted to an award of 5*s.* weekly. After the opening of the case the 5*s.* was unconditionally offered to appct. & accepted. The county ct. judge held that the terms of resp.'s denial & submission were ambiguous, & therefore ordered resp. to pay all the costs up to & including those of the hearing:—Held: the judge had exercised his discretion in the matter, & the ct. would not interfere with his decision.—NICHOLSON v. THOMAS (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 452, C. A.

3980. —— ——.]—Applt. was a metal polisher & while working for resp. on Mar. 3, 1922, had his right eye injured & was paid compensation by resps. On Apr. 29, 1922, resp.'s doctor reported that applt. had recovered from his injury, but on May 2, applt.'s own doctor told him he would be fit for work in two months' time. No compensation was paid to applt. after May 2, 1922, & on May 22 resps. wrote to him & offered to reinstate him in his old job & to pay him compensation from May 2 if he accepted the work. Applt. did not reply to this letter, & on June 30, 1922, made an application for compensation from May 2 until June 30, 1922. The county ct. judge found as a fact that applt. was fit to work on July 3, 1922, & made an award of compensation in his favour as from May 2 to July 2, 1922, but deprived him of his costs, on the ground that to have made the application for compensation without replying to the offer of resps. to reinstate him was unnecessary, & negligent litigation. On appeal by the workman on the question of costs:—Held: the discretion given of depriving a successful party of his costs must be judicially exercised, so that some ground must be shown for its exercise, but if any ground exist, as it clearly did exist in this case, this ct. would not interfere with such a discretion so exercised.—PITKIN v. SANDERS & FORSTER, LTD. (1923), 128 L. T. 789; 16 B. W. C. C. 5, C. A.

3981. —— ——.]—A workman was paid 35*s.* a week compensation on the basis of total incapacity. On Sept. 17, 1924, the employer applied for a review on the ground that the workman had ceased to be totally incapacitated. The workman having obtained light work at 15*s.* a week on Oct. 10, 1924, by his answer agreed that compensation should be reduced to 13*s.* 6*d.* from that date. The county ct. judge, on the hearing on Dec. 10, made an award of 13*s.* 6*d.* a week from Oct. 10, 1924, until the date of the award & 10*s.* per week thereafter, & ordered the employer

---

PART XIV. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 7.

k. When appeal lies.]—AUSTIN v. COAL CLIFF COLLIERIES, LTD. (1919) 20 S. R. N. S. W. 617; 37 N. S. W. W. N. 46.—AUS.

l. ——.]—In a case where an accident happened after the passing of the Act of 1906, but before it came into operation, & after it had come into operation the sheriff directed a reference to a medical referee:—Held: a subsequent appeal from the award of the sheriff to the Ct. of Session was not a "proceeding consequential on" the report of the medical referee, so as to make the Act of 1906 apply to the case, & give an appeal to the House of Lords from the decision of the Ct. of Session.—MACKAY v. ROSIE (1911), 105 L. T. 682, H. L.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1. —A.

3979 i. Whether Court of Appeal will interfere — Exercised upon proper grounds.]—An arbitrator, on the ground of divided success, found no expense due to or by either party. In an appeal at the instance of the workman, who maintained that, having been successful in obtaining compensation, he was entitled to expenses, held that, as there was no evidence that the arbitrator had failed to exercise his discretion as to expenses judicially & legally, his finding did not fall to be disturbed. — BRESLIN v. BARR & THORNTON, [1923] S. C. 90.—SCOT.

to pay the costs. The employer appealed from the order as to costs on the ground that he was the successful litigant:—Held: costs were in the discretion of the county ct. judge, & as that discretion had not been exercised contrary to any judicial principles the Ct. of Appeal would not interfere.—SWAIN v. CHILDS (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 20, C. A.

3982. —— Not judicially exercised.]—A workgirl met with an accident on Aug 17, 1916, whereby her hand was severely injured. The employers paid compensation up to Jan. 17, 1917. Then, when the doctor reported that she was fit for some kinds of light work, the employers stopped paying compensation. Subsequently her finger had to be amputated, & other minor operations had to be performed. She did not inform her solr. of this, & these matters were not stated in the particulars. But the correspondence showed that resps. were informed that her hand was in a serious condition, & that her own doctor & the infirmary doctor were of opinion that the girl was not able to undertake light work. The county ct. judge awarded for appct., but found that the employers had been misled, & ordered appct. to pay the costs of the county ct. hearing: —Held: the judge's discretion as to costs had not been exercised judicially, & the order as to costs must be set aside.—FAWCETT v. HALEY & SONS (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 381, C. A.

3983. —— Specific reasons not supporting decision—Cannot be upheld on other grounds.]—Where a judge has given specific reasons for depriving a successful litigant of his costs & such reasons do not support his decision, then the decision cannot be upheld upon other grounds.

An award was made in favour of an injured workman on the ground that certain work offered by the employers was not suitable, but the county ct. judge refused to make an order giving the workman costs, stating the following reasons:—(a) that the workman ought to have tried the work offered; (b) that the workman commenced proceedings while a settlement was being negotiated; (c) that compensation was still being paid when proceedings were commenced:—Held: the reasons given showed that the judge had not exercised his discretion as to costs judicially. As to (a) the judge had found the work to be unsuitable & there would have been no use in the workman trying it; as to (b) the employers refused the offer made for settlement; & as to (c) this was admittedly not the fact.—PATTESON v. BIGRIGG MINING CO., LTD. (1915), 9 B. W. C. C. 24, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Temperton v. Fletcher & Fearnall (1924), 132 L. T. 135.

3984. What is proper exercise of discretion—Ordering successful party to pay costs of opponent.]—A county ct. judge has no power to order a successful deft. to pay the costs of pltf.—ANDREW v. GROVE, [1902] 1 K. B. 625; 71 L. J. K. B. 439; 86 L. T. 720; 50 W. R. 524; 18 T. L. R. 455; 46 Sol. Jo. 380, D. C.

3985. —— ——.]—A workman met with an accident, while at work, causing loss of sight in one eye, which had to be removed. Full compensation was paid for six months, when the employers discontinued it, & offered the man suitable work at the same rate of wages as before the accident, as they were advised that the incapacity had ceased. The workman refused to try the work, & made a claim on the basis of total incapacity. The county ct. judge dismissed the claim, holding that he was able to earn the same rate of wages as before the accident, but made a declaration of liability on the ground that such ability was only temporary, depending on the present scarcity of labour. He also awarded costs to the workman. The employers appealed as to costs: —Held: this was not a judicial exercise of discretion as to costs. The employers were successful on the issues raised, & could not be made to pay appct.'s costs.—KLOOSTERMAN v. VICKERS, LTD. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 754; 118 L. T. 795; 11 B. W. C. C. 14, C. A.

3986. —— Incorrect view of result of trial.]—An infant, injured at work on Sept. 23, 1911, claimed compensation on Sept. 10, 1912. The employers admitted liability, & paid into ct. the amount claimed up to July 19, 1912, & stated that they had then offered suitable light work, & that the workman was only entitled to 2*s.* 1½*d.* a week from that date. They paid into ct. 2*s.* 1½*d.* a week to Sept. 10, 1912, & submitted to an award of 2*s.* 1½*d.* a week. The hearing was fixed for Oct. 10, 1912. The county ct. judge made an award of 2*s.* 10*d.* a week from July, 1912, & gave the workman costs up to the date of payment in & the employers costs subsequent to that date. The workman appealed on the ground that, being wholly successful, he was entitled to all the costs. The employers stated, on appeal, that the hearing before the county ct. judge was treated as a review under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. I. (16), by consent between the solrs. & that the 2*s.* 10*d.* a week was awarded on that basis. The solr. for the workman denied this consent:—Held: the case must be remitted for the proper exercise of discretion as to costs according to the correct circumstances. Costs of appeal to be paid by resps., the employers.—WILLIAMS v. CAEPONTHREN COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 122, C. A.

Annotation:—Expld. Haynes v. Aldridge Colliery Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 282.

3987. —— Each party partly successful.]—Workman who sustained permanent injuries to two fingers was awarded full compensation for some months. Afterwards it was reduced to 4*s.* a week, which was continued for two years. The employers then discontinued payments. Six months or more later the workman applied for leave to issue execution on the award, & the employers met this by an application to terminate or reduce the award to 1*d.* a week, as from the date of the last payment on the ground that the incapacity had ceased. The county ct. judge reduced the existing award from 4*s.* to a 1*d.* a week, only as from the date of the arbn., & ordered the workman to pay the costs. The workman appealed as to costs:—Held: each side had partly succeeded & partly failed & this was a judicial exercise of discretion as to costs.—PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY v. WALLACE (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 552, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Turner v. Lee (1925), 133 L. T. 67.

3988. —— ——.]—A workman, who had been suffering from miner's nystagmus, commenced arbn. proceedings in the county ct. for compensation. In the course of the proceedings the representatives of the respective parties entered into a controversial correspondence from which it appeared that each party sought to evade arriving at a clear definition of the issue between them: —i.e. whether the proceedings were based on the footing of partial or total incapacity. The county ct. judge made an award in favour of appct., but made no order as to costs. Appct. appealed:—Held: the county ct. judge, in making no order as to costs, had apparently arrived at the conclusion that the workman was partially incapacitated & that the employers had failed in saying that he was not; while, on the other hand, the workman had spent a great deal of time in trying to prove that he was totally incapacitated & had failed; & the judge had material before him justifying him in exercising his discretion as to costs, & the appeal failed.—HAYNES v. ALDRIDGE COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1923), 130 L. T. 282; 16 B. W. C. C. 183, C. A.

Sect. 24.—Costs: Sub-sect. 1, A., B., C., D. & E.]

Annotation:—Refd. Temperton v. Fletcher & Fearnall (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 165.

—— Party entirely successful.]—See Sub-sect. 1, C., post.

3989. —— Incorrect finding that applicant had misled respondent.]—FAWCETT v. HALEY & SONS, No. 3982, ante.

3990. —— ——.]—(1) On Dec. 10, 1923, a workman, who was a fitter's mate in the employment of resps., fell 15 feet, reaching the ground on his feet & injuring his right foot. He commenced arbn. proceedings on the ground that he was totally incapacitated owing to injury to his right ankle & foot. During the course of the case it became clear that no actual injury existed in the foot, & reliance was placed on the contention that incapacity was due to a neurasthenic condition resultant from the accident & shock. As this was a fresh aspect of the case the judge offered resps. an adjournment, which offer, was however not accepted. Resps. then called evidence to the effect that the man had entirely recovered & was malingering. The county ct. judge, sitting with a medical referee, made an award in favour of appct., but made no order as to costs, on the ground that no indication had been given to resps. that the case for appct. was to be that the disability was due to nervous disorder. Appct. appealed against the order as to costs:—Held: there was no evidence before the county ct. judge that appct. had failed to do anything which he ought to have done, or that he had misled resps. The discretion as to costs had not been judicially exercised, & the appeal must be allowed.

(2) Appct. must state the nature of the injury, but he is not bound to state the effect of the injury. All the workman has to do is to state the nature of the injury (POLLOCK, M.R.).—TEMPERTON v. FLETCHER, SON & FEARNALL, LTD. (1924), 132 L. T. 135; 17 B. W. C. C. 165, C. A.

—— On recording memorandum of redemption.]—See Sub-sect. 1, post.

B. Conduct of Party.

3991. Conduct rendering litigation necessary—Refusal to pay compensation—Where applicant legally entitled.]—CLATWORTHY v. GREEN (R. & H.), LTD., No. 2087, ante.

3992. —— Obstruction to medical examination.]—The employers of an injured workman asked that an order should be made ending weekly payments unless the workman submitted himself to an examination under an anæsthetic.

The learned county ct. judge held that the proper application would have been that the weekly payments should cease unless the workman consented to be examined properly & without obstruction on his part.

Accordingly, the judge dismissed the application; but as he considered the difficulty of examination had arisen solely from the man's own conduct, he refused to make any order for costs:—Held: the question of costs was in the discretion of the county ct. judge.—LOWESTOFT CORPN. v. ALDRIDGE (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 329, C. A.

3993. —— Matter referred to medical referee—Workman re-opening matter.]—On a claim for compensation coming on for hearing the parties agreed to refer the matter to the medical referee & abide by his decision, liability being admitted. The medical referee found partial incapacity. The workman was dissatisfied, the matter was then re-opened, & on a second hearing the county ct. judge made an award in favour of the workman on the basis of total incapacity, but refused to allow the workman the costs of the second hearing on the ground that he could have obtained an award at the first hearing if he had not agreed to abide by the decision of the medical referee. The workman appealed on the question of costs:—Held: the county ct. judge had exercised his discretion judicially.—RADNAGE v. POSTMASTER-GENERAL (1922), 15 B. W. C. C. 125, C. A.

3994. Additional costs occasioned by adjournment.]—CROSS v. WHITEHEAD AIRCRAFT CO., LTD., No. 3374, ante.

Misleading opponent.]—See Nos. 3982, 3990, ante.

C. Of Successful Party.

3995. Primâ facie entitled to costs.]—WILLIAMS v. CAERPONTHREN COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3986, ante.

3996. Cannot be ordered to pay costs—If no misconduct alleged.]—KIERSON v. THOMPSON (JOSEPH L.) & SONS, LTD., No. 4019, post.

3997. ——.]—The only question in dispute at an arbn. was the amount of the weekly compensation. The employers had previously offered 13*s.* 11*d.*, which had been accepted by the workman's solr., subject to a proper memorandum of agreement being filed. The employers objected to the wording of the memorandum put forward by the workman's solr., who thereupon withdrew his acceptance as to the amount & commenced proceedings for £1 a week compensation. The employers wrote saying they intended to submit to an award for 13*s.* 11*d.* At the hearing an award was made for 13*s.* 11*d.*, but the employers were ordered to pay the costs:—Held: the employers having been entirely successful on the only issue raised, the order for them to pay the costs was not a judicial exercise of the judge's discretion as to costs.—GOLBOURN v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (1916), 9 B. W. C. C. 457, C. A.

D. Acts Ending Dispute—Submission to Award, etc.

3998. Tender.]—SMITH v. ABBEY PARK STEAM LAUNDRY CO., LTD., No. 3093, ante.

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1.—C.

3995 i. Primâ facie entitled to costs.]—Where a party has been completely successful an arbitrator ought always to award expenses, unless he has some materials before him upon which he can judicially pronounce that in his opinion the usual rule should not be followed.—FIFE COAL CO., LTD. v. FEENEY, [1918] S. C. 197; [1918] 1 S. L. T. 129.—SCOT.

3995 ii. ——.]—An injured workman was offered compensation at the rate of 13*s.* per week on the basis of partial incapacity; he claimed compensation for total incapacity. The arbitrator found the man was fit for light work offered by the employers & awarded compensation at the rate of 10*s.* a week. He made no order as to costs:—Held: discretion as to costs had not been exercised judicially & the employers being entirely successful were entitled to costs.—MURPHY v. FARME COAL CO., LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 480.—SCOT.

3995 iii. ——.] O'NEILL v. GIFFNOCK COLLIERIES, [1921] S. C. 376.—SCOT.

3995 iv. ——.]—SUMMERS v. BAIRD (WM.) & CO., LTD. (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 714.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1.—D.

3998 i. Tender.]—In the course of arbitration proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the 3999. Payment into court.]—Employers stopped compensation, alleging that the workman was completely recovered. The workman brought proceedings, & the employers paid into ct. a sum representing compensation which they admitted to be due for certain weeks prior to the date of recovery, & had not paid through an oversight. The county ct. judge awarded the workman the sum paid into ct., & found that he was completely recovered at the date when the employers stopped compensation. He ordered the workman to pay the employers' costs:—Held: the judge had jurisdiction so to order.—THOMAS v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., LTD. (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 5, C. A.

4000. —— Sum paid out slightly too small.]—A workman who had been receiving compensation for an injury to his foot was examined by a doctor on behalf of the employers, who certified that he was fit for light work. When the man next came for compensation he was told he could not have it unless he produced a doctor's certificate. He applied again without a certificate, & compensation was refused. An application for arbn. was then filed. The following day the man again applied for compensation, & this time produced a certificate & was promptly paid. The application was not withdrawn, & the employers paid £3 13*s.* into ct., in satisfaction of any claim. The county ct. judge awarded £1 17*s.* 6*d.* in excess of the £3 13*s.*, but made no order as to costs. The workman appealed as to costs on the ground that as he had recovered more than was paid into ct., he was entitled to costs:—Held: the judge had exercised his discretion as to costs judicially.—MANCLARK v. ROTAX MOTOR ACCESSORIES CO., LTD. (1918), 11 B. W. C. C. 46, C. A.

4001. Submission to award.]—A workman met with an accident fracturing his wrist, & was paid compensation. Later he returned to work at 2*d.* an hour less than his old wages. The reduction was due to his injured wrist. This went on for some time until the employers went into voluntary liquidation & discharged him. He thereupon applied for compensation & upon the hearing resps. proved that he was, on account of doing overtime, getting better wages than before the accident. They had paid £10 into ct. to satisfy anything that might be found due to him. The county ct. judge found nothing was due to him, & made no order beyond a declaration of liability, which resps. had offered to submit to, & directed that appt. should pay all the costs of the proceedings. Appt. appealed on the question of costs only:—Held: the judge had exercised his discretion judicially.—BLACKLEY v. THRUPP & MABERLY, LTD. (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 247, C. A.

4002. —— Whether payment into court also necessary.]—On Oct. 14, 1921, appt. met with an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment by resps. & was paid compensation down to Apr. 21, 1922. On June 2, 1922, he filed a request in the Mayor's & City of London Ct. for arbn. claiming compensation of £1 per week from Apr. 21, 1922, & a declaration of liability. On June 22, 1922, resps. filed their answer denying liability, but stating in their particulars (inter alia) that whilst denying that they were liable to any payment of compensation subsequent to Apr. 21, 1922, they were ready & willing to submit to an award for payment of £1 per week from that date up to June 21, 1922. They did not, however, pay any sum into ct. The assistant judge by his award ordered resps. to pay to appt. the sum of £8 13*s.* 4*d.*, being the amount of the weekly payments of £1 per week calculated from Apr. 21 to June 21, 1922, & to pay the costs of the arbn. On an appeal by resps. from so much of the award as ordered them to pay the costs of the arbn. subsequent to the filing of their submission:—Held: (1) the award to which resps. had submitted being in respect of both past & future payments did not fall within either para. (i) or para. (ii) of r. 19 (1) (a) of Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1913–1917, & therefore there was no obligation on resps. to pay the money into ct.; (2) as appt. had not recovered a greater sum than that which resps. had submitted to pay, resps. were only liable under r. 19 (8) to pay the costs of the arbn. up to the date of the filing of their submission & the award must be set aside so far as it ordered them to pay the costs subsequent to that date.—KEMPLEY v. POOLE (H. H.) & CO., [1923] 1 K. B. 195; 92 L. J. K. B. 247; 128 L. T. 241; 15 B. W. C. C. 251, C. A.

4003. Division of compensation among dependants—Employer brought to court.]—RHODES v. SOOTHILL WOOD COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3567, ante.

E. Finding of Partial Incapacity.

4004. Total incapacity set up—Workman cannot be ordered to pay costs.]—An injured workman in receipt of full compensation was offered light work by his employers & compensation was reduced from 19*s.* 7½*d.* to 5*s.* 6*d.* After a trial of a few weeks, the workman gave it up & claimed full compensation. The county ct. judge found that the workman was entitled to full wages for a month during the time he was only receiving 5*s.* 6*d.* & after that date he was entitled to 6*s.*, being fit for light work. He, however, ordered him to pay the employers' costs as he considered the workman had failed in the substantial point of proving he was totally incapacitated:—Held: the judge had no jurisdiction to make a successful appt. pay resp.'s costs. Issues may be separated & costs of one set off against the other at the discretion of the judge.

I think, therefore, that the award, in so far as it deals with the costs, must be set aside, & the matter must be referred back to the learned county ct. judge to make such order as to costs as he in his discretion, & within the proper limits of his discretion, may think fit (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.) —EVANS v. GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY CO., LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 613; 5 B. W. C. C. 443, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Williams v. Caeponthren Colliery Co. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 122. Consd. Haynes v. Aldridge Colliery Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 282.

4005. —— Workman may be allowed costs.]—DONOVAN v. NICHOLSON'S WHARVES, LTD., No. 3222, ante.

4006. —— ——.]—On Sept. 23, 1924, T. made an application for arbn. in respect of an accident met with by her while in the employment of resp. on July 9, 1924. She stated that her average weekly earnings were 18*s.* a week, & made her claim on the basis of total incapacity. Resp. by his answer denied liability, but on Oct. 16, 1924, paid a sum of £9 18*s.* into ct., & on the hearing admitted liability, the only question being the amount of compensation to which T. was entitled.

---

employers renewed orally an offer of compensation made to the workman, & refused by him, prior to the arbitration. The arbitrator awarded compensation at the rate offered by the employers; but found no expenses due to or by either party, his reason for refusing the employers their expenses being that no formal tender of compensation had been made on record:—Held: the arbitrator was bound to award expenses to the employers.—MURPHY v. BAIRD & CO., LTD., [1921] S. C. 891.—SCOT.

Sect. 24.—Costs: Sub-sect. 1, E., F., G., H. & J.]

The county ct. judge found that there was total incapacity up to Sept. 17 &, on the basis of the weekly earnings being 14*s.* a week, awarded 10*s.* 6*d.* a week to that date, & that since then there was partial incapacity, & awarded 3*s.* a week during partial incapacity. The costs were given to T., appct., except the costs of proving the issue of the amount of compensation after the date of the payment made into ct. From that decision as to costs appct. appealed:—Held: it had not been shown that in the circumstances the county ct. judge had not exercised a judicial discretion as to the costs, having regard to the fact that appct. put her case too high, & his discretion as to the costs had accordingly been properly exercised.—TURNER v. LEE (1925), 133 L. T. 67; 18 B. W. C. C. 24, C. A.

F. Declaration of Liability.

4007. Total incapacity set up—Employer cannot be ordered to pay costs.]—A work girl met with an accident & was paid compensation until the employers considered she had ceased to be incapacitated. They then offered her her old work, which she refused. The girl applied for compensation to be continued, on the ground that she was still totally incapacitated. This was the only question in dispute. The county ct. judge found she was not incapacitated, but made a suspensory award of 1*d.* a week. He ordered the employers to pay the costs:—Held: it was not competent to make such order as to costs when the employers had been successful in the only issue raised.—SNELL v. GROSS, SHERWOOD v. HEALD, LTD. (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 242, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgins v. Higgins, [1916] 1 K. B. 640.

4008. —— ——.]—A workman claimed compensation for total incapacity. The employers, by their answer, said incapacity had ceased, but did not submit to a declaration of liability. At the hearing they agreed they were liable to a declaration, which was all the judge gave the workman, but he allowed the workman the costs:—Held: the judge had not exercised his discretion as to costs judicially.—DERBYSHIRE v. HETHERINGTON (JOHN) & SONS, LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 677, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgins v. Higgins, [1916] 1 K. B. 640.

4009. —— ——.]—A workman having met with an accident in consequence of which he was ruptured, his employers admitted liability under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & paid him compensation for thirteen weeks, when they discontinued it on the ground that the incapacity had ceased. The workman applied for arbn., alleging that the question which had arisen was "as to the amount, or duration, of the compensation payable" to him by his employers under the Act of 1906; & he claimed full compensation upon the ground that he was still partially incapacitated & likely to be so for some months. The parties agreed to refer to a medical referee the questions as to his condition & fitness for employment, & whether his incapacity, if any, was due to the accident. The referee reported that the rupture was caused by the accident, but that appct. was fit for his former work if he wore a belt. The employers thereupon filed answers in which they denied incapacity & their liability to pay further compensation. Appct. insisted that his incapacity still continued. The matter came before the county ct. judge, who, at appct.'s request & without objection on the part of the employers granted to appct. a declaration of liability but nothing more, & ordered the employers to pay his costs:—Held: under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II., para. 7, the costs were in the discretion of the arbitrator just in the same way as costs in the High Ct. were in the discretion of the judge; but it was settled that to make this discretion effective there must be materials on which the discretion could be exercised. Here there were no such materials & the employers had been successful throughout so that there had been no judicial exercise of the judge's discretion, & the order on the employers to pay the costs must be discharged.—HIGGINS v. HIGGINS (L.) & Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 640; 85 L. J. K. B. 1224; 114 L. T. 59; 9 B. W. C. C. 122, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Kloosterman v. Vickers (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 754. Consd. Ritter v. Godfrey, [1920] 2 K. B. 47; Haynes v. Aldridge Colliery Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 282; Turner v. Lee (1925), 133 L. T. 67.

4010. —— ——.]—A workman met with an accident while at work, which caused an injury to his hip. He was paid full compensation down to a time when he had so far recovered that he was able to do light work at which he earned as much as before the accident, & compensation was stopped. After working for some time he left to take up other employment elsewhere. He then made a claim on the basis of total incapacity. The employers denied that they were liable, but during the hearing intimated they would not oppose an application for a suspensory award. The county ct. judge held that the claim for compensation failed, & by consent made a declaration of liability, but ordered the employers to pay the costs of the arbn. The employers appealed as to costs:—Held: the employers had succeeded on the only issue raised & could not be ordered to pay appct.'s costs.—FORD v GILBERTSON & CO., LTD. (1919), 12 B. W. C. C. 32, C. A.

4011. —— ——.]—KLOOSTERMAN v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3985, ante.

4012. Partial incapacity set up—Workman may be ordered to pay costs.]—WEBSTER v. HARRISON, TOWNSEND & CO., LTD., No. 3379, ante.

G. Employer's Application for Review.

4013. Reduction of compensation ordered—Reduction less than that claimed—Employer to pay costs.]—An injured workman was in receipt of 10*s.* a week as compensation. On his obtaining work the employers applied to review & diminish to 2*s.* a week. The county ct. judge diminished to 7*s.* 6*d.* a week, & ordered the employers to pay the costs:—Held: the judge had exercised his discretion as to costs in a proper manner.—CONNOR v. MEADS (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 435, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Swain v. Childs (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 20.

4014. —— Workman setting up total incapacity—Workman to pay costs.]—SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR v. WILLOUGHBY, No. 3294, ante.

4015. Reduction of compensation refused—Employer to pay costs.]—A miner in the employment of applts. having obtained from a certifying surgeon a certificate to the effect that he was disabled through miner's nystagmus from earning full wages at his work, was, on Nov. 6, 1924, after arbn. proceedings, awarded full compensation in respect of total incapacity. On Jan. 6, 1925, the employers applied for a reference to a medical referee, averring that the workman was fit for light surface work, & as the result of the reference the medical referee found that the workman was not yet fit for light work at a colliery The workman then lodged a minute craving an award of the expenses incurred by him in the reference proceedings, in respect that the medical referee had sustained his contention. The sheriff-substitute held that he had no warrant to award expenses, but at the request of the workman stated a case for the opinion of the ct.:—Held: the arbn. was still alive, & the costs in respect of which the application was made were costs incidental to the arbn. The arbitrator was therefore entitled, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sched. II. (7), to award to the workman the expenses incurred by him in connection with the reference.—WILLIAM BAIRD & Co., LTD. v. SUMMERS (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 17, H. L.

See, also, Nos. 3981, 3987, ante.

H. Alternative Remedies.

4016. Failure of alternative claim by workman—Under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42)—Whether power to award costs.]—Where all the costs, with one immaterial exception, have been caused by pltf. having brought an unsuccessful action, it is right that he should not receive any costs in respect of the assessment of compensation under above Act, sect. 1 (4).

Qu.: whether there is power to give an unsuccessful pltf. any costs under that sub-sect.—SKEGGS v. KEEN (1899), 1 W. C. C. 35, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Cattermole v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 204.

4017. —— —— Discretion as to costs.]—Where an action is brought under the Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), & dismissed, & the county ct. judge, on an application by pltf. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (4), assesses the compensation payable under that Act, he has power to give pltf. the costs of the proceedings.—CATTERMOLE v. ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., [1902] 1 K. B. 204; 71 L. J. K. B. 173; 85 L. T. 513; 66 J. P. 4; 50 W. R. 129; 18 T. L. R. 102; 46 Sol. Jo. 83; 4 W. C. C. 28, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551. Refd. Burdon v. Gregson (1906), 95 L. T. 45; Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380.

4018. —— At common law—Costs deducted from compensation.]—A workman brought an action against his employers at common law in the High Ct. for damages for injuries caused to him by the alleged negligence of defts. The jury having returned a verdict for defts., pltf. applied to the judge to assess compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37):—Held: an award of compensation should be made, but the costs occasioned by bringing the action would be deducted from the amount payable to the workman.—COHEN v. SEABROOK BROTHERS (1908), 25 T. L. R. 176; 2 B. W. C. C. 155.

J. Recording Memorandum of Redemption.

4019. Application carried to judge—Both parties supporting application.]—A workman who was in receipt of a weekly payment of 13*s.* 5*d.* from his employers as compensation for an accident within the meaning of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), entered into an agreement to accept £100 in satisfaction of the employers' liability. The workman applied to the registrar to have a memorandum of the agreement recorded. The registrar, being dissatisfied as to the amount of the commutation, referred the matter to the judge. Both parties appeared & supported the agreement. The judge overruled the objection as to quantum, & directed the memorandum to be recorded, ordering the employers to pay the costs. The employers appealed from the order as to costs:—Held: assuming that the county ct. judge had a discretion as to costs, it was not a judicial exercise of that discretion to order a party who had been completely successful & against whom no misconduct was alleged to pay the costs of the proceedings.—KIERSON v. THOMPSON (JOSEPH L.) & SONS, LTD., [1913] 1 K. B. 587; 82 L. J. K. B. 920; 108 L. T. 236; 29 T. L. R. 205; 57 Sol. Jo. 226; 6 B. W. C. C. 58, C. A.

4020. —— Workmen's objection overruled.]—The parents of a seaman, drowned at sea, agreed to accept a certain sum in redemption of compensation, but later objected, on the ground of the inadequacy, to a memorandum being recorded. The registrar refused to record, & referred the matter to the judge. The judge overruled the objection, but ordered the employers to pay the costs:—Held: this was not a judicial exercise of discretion as to costs.—REED v. S.S. WYMERIC & Co., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 421, C. A.

4021. —— Workman abrogating agreement.]—A lad who worked as a baker's assistant met with an accident to his hand. He was paid compensation & then went back to his former work. He was nearly eighteen, & liable soon to be called to serve with the colours, & his mother, as next friend, asked his employer to agree to pay a lump sum in settlement of all claims, & this the employer agreed to do & offered £20 down.

The agreement was signed by the boy & his mother, who then applied to have a memorandum of the same recorded. The registrar, however, was not satisfied the £20 was enough, & referred it to the judge. By this time both the boy & his mother had changed their minds about accepting the £20, & appeared before the judge & opposed the application to record. The judge being of opinion that £20 was too little, refused to order the memorandum to be recorded, & ordered the employer to pay all the costs. The employer appealed from the order as to costs:—Held: in ordering the employer to pay the costs in these circumstances, the judge had not exercised his discretion judicially. The order as to costs must be varied, & appt. ordered to pay costs both in county ct. & on appeal.—CAMBRIDGE v. TAYLOR (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 618, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. Scott v. Shilling (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 9.

4022. —— —— —.]—A workman sustained an injury arising out of & in the course of his employment, & was paid compensation for a certain period. An agreement was then come to between the workman & the employers, under which the latter agreed to pay him a lump sum of £40 in addition to the compensation he had already received, in full settlement of the claim. The agreement was drawn up & sent to the registrar, who, however, refused to record it as being

---

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1. —H.

4018 l. Failure of alternative claim by workman—At common law—Costs deducted from compensation.]—Except where special circumstances are shown, a workman who brings an unsuccessful action independently of the Act should have deducted from the compensation awarded him under the Act the costs which he compelled deft. to waste by his improper demand.—PERRY v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO., [1922] 2 W. W. R. 1116; 67 D. L. R. 446; 15 Sask. L. R. 501.—CAN.

m. —— —— Liability for compensation admitted.]—Where after the dismissal of an action for damages, the ct. assesses compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, deft. having filed an admission of liability under the Act, deft. is entitled to the costs of the action, & pltf. to the costs of an undefended proceeding under the Act.—WILSON v. KELLY (1909), 14 B. C. R. 436.—CAN.

Sect. 24.—Costs: Sub-sect. 1, J., K., L., M., N., O. & P.; sub-sect. 2, A. (a) & (b).]

inadequate in amount & referred it to the judge. The workman then went to his solr. & said he should prefer the weekly payments to continue, & when the matter was before the judge he repeated this statement, giving as his reason that he had not been feeling so well lately. The county ct. judge refused to record the agreement, & ordered the employers to pay the costs:—Held: in ordering the employer to pay the costs in these circumstances the judge had not exercised his discretion judicially, & so much of the order as dealt with the costs must be set aside.

I do not accept the proposition that . . . a county ct. judge has no jurisdiction, when he refuses to record an agreement, to give costs, unless there is some sort of malpractice by the party who is asking for the agreement to be recorded (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—SCOTT (JOHN A.), LTD. v. SHILLING (1920), 13 B. W. C. C. 9, C. A.

K. Set-Off.

4023. Costs of appeal—Against costs of arbitration.]—CASE v. COLONIAL WHARVES, LTD. (1905), 53 W. R. 514; 49 Sol. Jo. 515; 8 W. C. C. 114, C. A.

4024. ——— Only if awarded in any event.]—The registrar of the county ct. ordered the employers to answer interrogatories delivered by the workman. The county ct. judge reversed this order. The workman appealed to the Ct. of Appeal, but his appeal was dismissed with costs. The employers then consented to an award being made in the arbn. in favour of the workman. The county ct. judge refused to set off the taxed costs of the employers in the Ct. of Appeal against the costs of the workman in the arbn.:—Held: a county ct. judge has no jurisdiction to set off costs awarded to an employer on an interlocutory appeal by the Ct. of Appeal against the costs of the workman in the subsequent arbitration, unless the Ct. of Appeal order that the costs awarded to the employer on appeal shall be the employer's costs in the arbn. in any event.—SUTTON v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO. (No. 2) (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 160, C. A.

4025. ——— Order made cannot be varied.]—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (No. 2), No. 4062, post.

4026. Costs of separate issues.]—EVANS v. GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 4004, ante.

4027. Costs of successful employer—May be deducted from compensation.]—PORTER v. WHITBREAD & CO., No. 3398, ante.

4028. —— Not recoverable by judge impounding compensation.]—KIRK & RANDALL, LTD. v. BOURKE, No. 3911, ante.

L. Lump Sum.

4029. Whether jurisdiction to award.]—Arbitrator can award a lump sum for costs without taxation.—WELLAND v. GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 297; 2 W. C. C. 145, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Turner v. Kingsbury Collieries, [1921] 3 K. B. 169.

4030. ——.]—Having regard to the words "shall be taxed" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), Sched. II., s. 7, the county ct. judge has no jurisdiction to order payment of a lump sum as the costs of an arbitration under that Act; & the words of sect. 4 of the same Sched. "where" the county ct. judge "makes any order under this Act," render such an order the subject of appeal to the Ct. of Appeal.—BEADLE v. NICHOLAS (OWNERS) (1909), 101 L. T. 586; 3 B. W. C. C. 102, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Golding v. Smith, [1910] 1 K. B. 462.

M. What Costs Allowed.

4031. Medical witness—Called to deny occurrence of accident.]—Where medical witnesses in a case arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), gave evidence which was directly material & was believed, it was held that, having regard to the reasons assigned by the county ct. judge, he did not exercise his discretion judicially in disallowing the costs of those witnesses.—FINLAYSON v. CLINTON (OWNERS) (1914), 111 L. T. 915; 7 B. W. C. C. 710, C. A.

4032. —— Qualifying fee.]—A workman met with an accident & received compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), during incapacity. He found himself unable to resume full work & his solrs. wrote to his employers asking for suitable work & compensation. The latter repudiated liability & the workman filed a request for arbn. After the letter but before the filing of the request appct. was examined by a doctor on behalf of the employers. The doctor gave evidence at the hearing & the judge made an award in favour of the employers & ordered appct. to pay the costs, including the qualifying fee of the doctor. Appct. appealed from the latter part of the order on the ground that the doctor's examination was made before proceedings were commenced & not with a view to giving evidence:—Held: there was no ground for saying that a qualifying fee could not be paid for an examination made before the filing of the request for arbn.; the question was within the discretion of the judge, & on the facts he was right.—JONES v. DAVIES (D.) & SONS, LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 549; 83 L. J. K. B. 1531; 111 L. T. 769; 7 B. W. C. C. 488, C. A.

N. Taxation of Costs.

4033. General order as to taxation—All applications to review to be treated as interlocutory applications.]—A county ct. judge has no jurisdiction to give a general direction to the registrar that the costs of all applications under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sched. I., clause 12, to vary the amount of compensation fixed by award or agreement shall be treated as though the application were a mere interlocutory application in the matter of the arbn., & not an original arbn. or proceeding.—RIGBY & CO. v. COX (No. 2), [1904] 2 K. B. 208; 73 L. J. K. B. 690; 91 L. T. 72; 68 J. P. 385; 20 T. L. R. 461; 6 W. C. C. 161, D. C.

4034. Time for taxation — Immediately after hearing.]—The proper officer of the ct. may tax the costs immediately at the termination of the hearing.—GARDNER v. COX (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 245, C. A.

Necessity for.]—See Sub-sect. 1, L., ante.

O. Appeal as to Costs.

4035. Whether appeal lies—When order part of award.]—BEADLE v. NICHOLAS (OWNERS), No. 4030, ante.

—— When benefit of award taken.]—See Sect. 22, sub-sect. 5, ante.

See, also, Nos. 4000, 4001, 4006, 4010, 4021.

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1.—M.

n. Fee of medical referee.]—ADDIE (ROBERT) & SONS COLLIERIES, LTD. v. M'KAIL, [1926] S. C. 308.—SCOT.

P. Other Cases.

4036. Insured employer may be awarded costs.]—An employer succeeded on an application to terminate an award; his case was conducted by or in the interest of an insurance co. It was contended that the employer was not personally liable for costs, & that therefore they should not be awarded to him. The judge said that there was no evidence that the employer was not liable, but if he was personally liable no doubt he was indemnified by the insurance co. On these facts the judge, in the exercise of his discretion, awarded costs to the employer:—Held: the judge had exercised his discretion in a way that was not contrary to any principle of law.—CORNISH v. LYNCH (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 343, C. A.

4037. No priority for costs in bankruptcy.]—The costs of obtaining an award under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), are not payable in priority to all other debts in a bkpcy.—Re JINKS (1914), 112 L. T. 88; sub nom. Re JINKS, Ex p. THE TRUSTEE, 58 Sol. Jo. 741, D. C.

SUB-SECT. 2.—IN COURT OF APPEAL.

A. Security for Costs.

(a) In General.

See, generally, R. S. C., Ord. 58, rr. 15, 20; PRACTICE.

4038. Ordinary practice of the court followed.]—HALL v. SNOWDEN, HUBBARD & CO., No. 4044, post.

4039. —— Appeal not in nature of motion for new trial.]—An appeal against a decision of a county ct. judge upon an application for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), is not in the nature of a motion for a new trial, & applt. can be ordered to give security for the costs of the appeal.—Re HARWOOD & ABRAHAMS, [1901] 2 K. B. 304; 84 L. T. 857; sub nom. HARWOOD v. ABRAHAMS, 70 L. J. K. B. 746; 3 W. C. C. 205, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Wightwick v. Pope, [1902] 2 K. B. 99.

4040. Previous application to appellant should be made.]—Before applying to the ct. for security for the costs of an appeal under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), upon the ground of applt.'s poverty resp. ought first to apply to applt. for security.—STANLAND v. NORTH-EASTERN STEEL CO., LTD. (1906), 23 T. L. R. 1; 51 Sol. Jo. 12; 9 W. C. C. 133, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Williams v. Ocean Coal Co., [1907] 2 K. B. 422; New Monckton Collieries v. Keeling, [1911] A. C. 648.

4041. Amount of security.] — MCLAUGHLIN v. CLAYTON (1899), 1 W. C. C. 116, C. A.

4042. ——.]—HORLOCK v. COQUET (OWNERS) (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. 939, C. A.

4043. Effect of non-compliance with order—Leave to proceed in formâ pauperis—Order not completed till time for security expired.]—PERRY & CO., LTD. v. LACEY (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 1; C. A.

(b) Reasons for Granting or Refusing.

4044. Poverty of appellant—Unable to pay respondent's costs—If appeal dismissed.]—In an appeal from a county ct. judge to the Ct. of Appeal under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), if it appears that applt. will, if unsuccessful, be unable through poverty to pay resp.'s costs of the appeal, he will, in accordance with the ordinary practice of the Ct. of Appeal, be ordered to give security for such costs.—HALL v. SNOWDON, HUBBARD & CO., [1899] 1 Q. B. 593; 68 L. J. Q. B. 363; 80 L. T. 256; 47 W. R. 322; 15 T. L. R. 244; 43 Sol. Jo. 313; 1 W. C. C. 114, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Wilcox v. Wallis Crown Cork & Syphon Co. (1914), 58 Sol. Jo. 381.

4045. —— —— ——.]—Resps., employers, proved applt.'s want of means to pay costs, in the event of the appeal failing. They applied for security for costs:—Held: resp. to the appeal is entitled to an order for security on satisfying the ct. that applt. would not be in a position to pay the costs, if his appeal should be dismissed.—BRINE v. MAY, ELLIS, GRACE & CO. (1912), 6 B. W. C. C. 460, C. A.

4046. —— Unable to proceed in formâ pauperis.]—Security for the costs of appeal may be ordered where applt., though poor, is not able to make the affidavit required for appeals in formâ pauperis.—REES v. RICHARDS (1899), 1 W. C. C. 118, C. A.

4047. —— —— Poverty due to accident.]—Security for costs will not be ordered where the poverty of applt. is due to the accident, & the affidavit required for leave to appeal in formâ pauperis cannot be made.—SKEGGS v. KEEN (1899), 1 W. C. C. 119.

4048. Stay of execution granted pending appeal.]—Where an award was made in favour of the employers, but execution stayed pending an appeal, the ct. refused to order security for costs.—HUBBALL v. EVERITT & SONS, LTD. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 168; 5 W. C. C. 145, n., C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Shea v. Drolenvaux (1903), 88 L. T. 679.

4049. ——.]—An order for security for the costs of an appeal under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), will be made in a proper case even if the county ct. judge has stayed execution with a view to an appeal.—SHEA v. DROLENVAUX (1903), 88 L. T. 679; 19 T. L. R. 473; 5 W. C. C. 141, C. A.

4050. Appellant's case supported by trade union—Proceedings conducted by union.]—The fact that a case is being run by a trade union does not affect the question of security for costs of appeal.—MCLAUGHLIN v. CLAYTON (1899), 1 W. C. C. 116, C. A.

4051. —— Costs of arbitration paid by union.]—Security for costs of appeal may be ordered, although the costs of the arbn. have been paid

---

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1.—P.

o. Security for costs.]—The object of r. 34 under Workmen's Compensation Act (Rules of 1904) is to make the proceedings under the Act subject to the same rules as an action; & where appct. resides out of the jurisdiction, resp. is entitled to security for costs.—CIZOWSKI v. WEST KOOTENAY POWER & LIGHT CO. (1906), 12 B. C. R. 63; 3 W. L. R. 515.—CAN.

p. ——.]—An application for security for costs in an arbitration under Workmen's Compensation Act should be made to the arbitrator & not to a judge in chambers, & should be made promptly.—KRZUS v. CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., LTD. (1909), 14 B. C. R. 385.—CAN.

q. Workmen's Compensation Board—Position as to costs.]—The Workmen's Compensation Board is a servant or agent of the Crown within Crown Costs Act, s. 2, so that the ct. cannot give costs for or against it—ROSEBERRY SURPRISE MINING CO., LTD. v. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD, CUNNINGHAM v. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD, STANDARD SILVER LEAD MINING CO., LTD. v. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD, (B. C.), [1920] 2 W. W. R. 676; 51 D. L. R. 470.—CAN.

r. Irregular procedure—No power to award costs.]—GLASGOW IRON & STEEL CO., LTD. v. SNEDDON (1925), 18 B. W. C. C. 638.—SCOT.

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 2.—A. (a).

t. Whether security must be given.]—It is contrary to the policy of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, to require security from the workman for the costs of his appeal to the Ct. of Appeal.—HUTCHINSON v. NEW NORTHERN SPINNING & WEAVING CO., LTD. (1914), 7 B. W. C. C. 971.—IR.

Sect. 24.—Costs: Sub-sect. 2, A. (b), & B. Sect. 25: Sub-sect. 1, A.] by a trades union.—HADDOCK v. HUMPHREYS (1899), 1 W. C. C. 117, C. A.

B. Costs of Hearing.

See R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 4.

4052. Unreasonable appeal—By workman—No order.]—A boatman was seriously injured in his right hand. He signed a receipt for compensation for two months, based on average earnings of 30*s.* a week. The employers then stopped compensation on the ground that the man could do his full work. Proceedings were commenced, & the employers paid into ct. £5 5*s.*, with a denial of liability. The county ct. judge found that the man was entitled to £5 compensation, but was otherwise fit for his work. After signing his award, he made a note to the effect that, by inadvertence, he had not included a declaration of liability which he should have given without costs. The employers consented to this declaration, subject to their costs being paid after the time of payment into ct. The workman appealed for a declaration of liability, which was said to have been refused by the county ct. judge, & also attempted to appeal on the grounds that the average weekly earnings had been wrongfully assessed:—Held: the appeal was unreasonable &, as to the average weekly earnings, unfounded. The award should be altered to include a declaration of liability, with no order as to costs.—WEST v. FELLOWES, MORTON & CLAYTON, LTD. (1916), 10 B. W. C. C. 120, C. A.

4053. —— Alteration agreed to below.]—LOCK v. CHATHAM EDUCATION COMMITTEE, No. 3407, ante.

4054. Error by judge in court below—Want of jurisdiction.]—WILLIAMS v. MINISTER OF MUNITIONS, No. 3585, ante.

4055. —— Appeal useful to both sides—No order.]—SALSBURY v. GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. (1923), 16 B. W. C. C. 199, C. A.

4056. Case remitted—Wrong exercise of discretion as to costs below—Appeal allowed with costs.]—EVANS v. GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 4004, ante.

4057. —— —— ——.]—WILLIAMS v. CAEPONTHREN COLLIERY CO., LTD., No. 3986, ante.

4058. —— For new trial—All costs to be costs in second trial.]—TAYLOR v. WARD & CO., WORCESTER, LTD., No. 3934, ante.

4059. Against whom order may be made—Approved society proceeding in workman's name—National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), s. 11 (2).]—CLAPP v. CARTER, No. 2941, ante.

4060. Withdrawal of appeal—Unnecessary opposition.]—STEPHENS v. VICKERS, LTD., No. 3965, ante.

4061. Refusal to withdraw appeal—& vary county court judge's order by consent.]—On an application to review a weekly payment a prospective award was made terminating the payments at a future date, but this was a slip, as such an award was bad. An appeal was lodged, but the solr. for resps. wrote that it was not necessary, & suggested that to save the costs, the appeal should be withdrawn & the matter settled by agreement varying the award of the county ct. judge; applt., however, was advised the only method of varying the award was by a judgment or order of the Ct. of Appeal. On the hearing of the appeal it was claimed that the appeal should be allowed but with no costs:—Held: the appeal must be allowed with the usual consequences, as, having been lodged, the more reasonable course was to proceed with it.—DEAKIN v. WARD (1926), 19 B. W. C. C. 130, C. A.

4062. Jurisdiction to vary order as to costs—Judgment specifically dealing with costs.]—The Ct. of Appeal cannot, after judgment has been given specifically dealing with costs, alter their judgment by ordering that the costs of the appeal shall be costs in an arbn. in the county ct. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), so as to enable the appeal costs to be set off against costs in the arbn.—BARNETT v. PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY (No. 2) (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 918; 108 L. T. 944; 57 Sol. Jo. 577; 6 B. W. C. C. 466, C. A.

SECT. 25.—ALTERNATIVE REMEDIES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—AGAINST EMPLOYER.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 29.

4063. Workman cannot receive double recompense—Compensation & wages.]—A workman engaged at a weekly salary, who has claimed & received compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in respect of partial incapacity for work resulting from injury received by him during the course of his employment, is not entitled to claim his wages during the time for which he has been incapacitated.—ELLIOTT v. LIGGENS, [1902] 2 K. B. 84; 71 L. J. K. B. 483; 87 L. T. 29; 50 W. R. 524; 18 T. L. R. 514; 4 W. C. C. 11, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Warburton v. Co-op. Wholesale Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 663.

4064. —— Customary allowance of coal during incapacity—Not in nature of compensation.]—Pltf. was employed by defts. as a miner in their colliery. There was a custom in collieries in the district that a miner was entitled, in addition to his wages, to a load of allowance coal every twenty-four turns while in work, & a load of allowance coal every five weeks during incapacity caused by accident. Pltf., having been incapacitated for work by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, was awarded a weekly payment during incapacity as compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). In an action to recover the allowance coal for the period since the date of the accident or its value:—Held: the right to the allowance coal under the

---

PART XIV. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

a. Special case.]—Where a special case is stated by an arbitrator under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1902, & determined by a judge of the Supreme Ct., that judge has power, under r. 42, to dispose of the costs of the special case; & these costs were allowed to appel.—Re DARNLEY & CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1910), 15 W. L. R. 179; 12 W. L. R. 67.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

b. Workman cannot receive double recompense.]—MCCOLL v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (1922), 39 T. L. R. 19, P. C.—CAN.

c. ——.]—A workman sustained injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, & was paid compensation by his employers in respect thereof for three years, when he died. His father thereafter, averring that the death was the result of the injury, brought an action of damages for the loss caused to himself by the death of his son against a person other than the employer, by whose fault, he alleged, the accident had been caused:—Held: the action was incompetent, the workman having elected to accept compensation from his employers.—GRAY v. NORTH BRITISH RY. CO. (1914), 8 B. W. C. C. 373.—SCOT.

d. Election—What amounts to.]—ROGERS v. SCHULTZ (1921), 21 S. R.

custom formed one of the terms of pltf.'s contract of employment & was not in the nature of compensation for the injury, & therefore he was not debarred by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (b), from maintaining the action.—SIMMONDS v. STOURBRIDGE GLAZED BRICK & FIRE CLAY CO., LTD., [1910] 2 K. B. 269; 79 L. J. K. B. 997; 102 L. T. 732; 26 T. L. R. 430, D. C.

4065. Election of remedy—What amounts to election—Acceptance of scheme in substitution for statutory provisions.]—A workman who had joined a scheme duly certified by the Registrar of Friendly Societies under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3 (1), received fatal injuries, alleged to have been caused by the personal negligence of his employers, or of some person for whose act or default his employers were responsible. After the workman's death his legal personal representatives brought an action to recover damages under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42):—Held: the contract by the workman that the provisions of the scheme should be substituted for the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), was an exercise of the option given to him by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (2) (b), to claim compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & was a bar to the claim to the recovery by his representatives of damages under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42).—TAYLOR v. HAMSTEAD COLLIERY CO., [1904] 1 K. B. 838; 73 L. J. K. B. 469; 90 L. T. 363; 68 J. P. 300; 52 W. R. 417; 20 T. L. R. 338; 48 Sol. Jo. 328; 6 W. C. C. 34, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551. Refd. Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433; Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674; Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380.

4066. —— —— Claim for compensation withdrawn — Subsequent action for damages.] — A workman injured by accident in the course of his employment claimed compensation from his employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & filed a request for arbn. The employer having filed his answer, the workman gave notice withdrawing his claim for compensation, & subsequently brought an action for damages under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), in respect of the same accident:—Held: the claim made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), was not a bar to the subsequent action for damages under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42).—ROUSE v. DIXON, [1904] 2 K. B. 628; 73 L. J. K. B. 662; 91 L. T. 436; 68 J. P. 406; 53 W. R. 237; 20 T. L. R. 553; 48 Sol. Jo. 508; 6 W. C. C. 44, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551. N.F. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674. Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Refd. Codling v. Mowlem, [1914] 2 K. B. 61.

4067. —— —— Consent to compensation award —By widow on behalf of children.]—Pltf. who was the widow of a workman killed by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, brought an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (c. 93), against defts., who had been his employers, charging them with negligence causing her husband's death. The statement of claim alleged that the deceased workman left as dependants pltf. & six children; that all the dependants except pltf. had claimed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), against defts., & that an award had been made apportioning the total sum of £300 equally between the children. Defts. by their defence, after denying the alleged negligence, pleaded that pltf. had by letters from her solr. made a claim on them on behalf of herself & her children for compensation in respect of the death of her husband; that defts. having by letter admitted liability under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), had paid into the county ct. the maximum amount payable under the Act, namely, £300; that the children by their next friend had applied to the county ct. for an order for the investment & allotment of the sum of £300 between the dependants, & that the county ct. judge by his award had allotted £50 to each of the children & directed that £45 out of each sum of £50 should be invested, & out of the residue the sum of 18*s.* a week together with the interest on the invested money should be paid to pltf. for the benefit of the children; that pltf. throughout was cognisant of the facts & approved of & concurred in the application & attended the hearing & thereat renounced her rights & interest in the sum of £300 in favour of her children, & that the award was made with her consent. The defence stated that defts. would therefore contend that this action was barred & was not maintainable by reason of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (b). It appeared that in the application for allotment the next friend named pltf. as a dependant, but applied for a division among the children only & expressly stated that pltf. did not claim under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). An order having been made in chambers for the decision in the first instance of the point of law raised on the pleadings:—Held: on the facts as stated pltf. had made herself a party to the claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & was therefore precluded by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (b), from claiming damages against the defts. independently of the Act.—CODLING v. MOWLEM (J.) & CO., LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 1055; 83 L. J. K. B. 1727; 111 L. T. 1086; 30 T. L. R. 677; 58 Sol. Jo. 783; 7 B. W. C. C. 786, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674; Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Mentd Anderson v. Equitable Life Assce. Soc. of United States (1926), 134 L. T. 557.

N. S. W. 731; 38 N. S. W. W. N. 229. —AUS.

e. —— ——.]—Where a workman has sustained an injury arising out of & in the course of his employment, & has made an agreement with his employer to accept weekly payments of £3, being compensation as specified in the Workmen's Compensation Acts, such workman has exercised the option given him by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1916, s. 5.—BARKER v. STONEHAM & WILSON, LTD. (1922), 22 S. R. N. S. W. 512; 39 N. S. W. W. N. 183.—AUS.

f. —— —— Claim for damages erroneously disallowed.]—KLUKAS v. THOMPSON (1915), 31 W. L. R. 438; 8 W. W. R. 778.—CAN.

g. —— ——.]—BOWLEY v. BOOTH & CO., LTD., [1918] N. Z. L. R. 77.—N.Z.

h. —— —— ——.]—LITTLE v. MACLELLAN (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 387.—SCOT.

k. —— ——.] — A claim for compensation for accidental injuries brought under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, was refused by the arbitrator on the ground that appct. had been guilty of serious & wilful misconduct; thereafter he brought an action at common law against his employers for damages for personal injuries sustained in the accident:—Held: that having elected to claim compensation under the Act, & having obtained a final judgment upon that claim, he was barred from suing an action of damages at common law.—BURTON v. CHAPEL COAL CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 430; 46 Sc. L. R. 375; [1909] 1 S. L. T. 111; 2 B. W. C. C. 120.—SCOT.

l. —— ——.] — Held: the intimation of a claim for compensation did not constitute a final election by the workman as between his rights under the Act, & independently of it.—KING v. EDINBURGH COLLIERIES CO., [1924] S. C. 167.—SCOT.

m. —— ——.] — Where a party has the choice of one of two remedies & to the knowledge of the persons concerned, does an act which would be justifiable, if he had elected one remedy, & would not be justifiable, if he had elected the other, the fact of his having done such an unequivocal act is deemed to be an election.—

Sect. 25.— Alternative remedies: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.]

4068. —— —— Claim for damages withdrawn — Subsequent claim for compensation.]— A workman employed by a firm of builders, who were doing repairs to certain business premises under a contract with the owners, was injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment. He brought an action in the county ct. against his employers in which he made three alternative claims: (a) for damages under Employers' Liability Act, 1880; (b) for damages for negligence at common law; & (c) for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Acts. He discontinued that action, & then commenced fresh proceedings against his employers for compensation only under Workmen's Compensation Acts:— Held: Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (2) (b), did not debar him from proceeding with his claim for compensation.—BENNETT v. WHITEHEAD (L. & W.), LTD., [1926] 2 K. B. 380; 135 L. T. 329; 42 T. L. R. 598; 19 B. W. C. C. 133, C. A.

4069. —— On behalf of infant—Election not for infant's benefit—Set aside.]—An option to accept compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), instead of damages, exercised on behalf of an infant, will be set aside if it be not for his benefit.—FORD v. WREN & DUNHAM (1903), 5 W. C. C. 48.

4070. —— —— —— Subsequent alternative proceedings not barred.]—A workman who was an infant was injured through the negligence of his employers. He claimed compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & the employers agreed to pay & he agreed to accept the maximum amount payable under the Act during his incapacity for work. The workman subsequently brought an action, by his next friend, to recover damages for negligence:—Held: the agreement to accept compensation was not for the infant workman's benefit, & he was not bound by it, & therefore, he was not debarred from bringing the action for negligence. Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), by including apprentice in the definition of "workman" in sect. 7 (2), does not alter the general law applicable to contracts entered into by infants.—STEPHENS v. DUDBRIDGE IRONWORKS CO., [1904] 2 K. B. 225; 73 L. J. K. B. 739; 90 L. T. 838; 68 J. P. 437; 52 W. R. 644; 20 T. L. R. 492; 48 Sol. Jo. 474; 6 W. C. C. 48, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551.

Compare No. 4071, post.

4071. —— Option binding only in case of success.]—The "option" given to a workman by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (2) (b), either to claim compensation under the Act or take other proceedings cannot be confined to an option binding only in the case of success. The procedure prescribed by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (4), must be strictly followed, & that sub-sect. has no application except when proceedings based on the common law liability of the employer have been commenced within six months from the occurrence of the accident. A workman cannot give the notice required by sect. 2 (1), as a foundation for future proceedings under the Act, in the event of a common law action commenced after the expiration of six months from the occurrence of the accident being unsuccessful.

Pltf., a girl under age, who had been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of her employment, gave notice of the accident & of a claim for compensation within the prescribed time, but took no further proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37); thirteen months after the accident, an unsuccessful action to recover damages against the employers was brought. After the dismissal of this action, an application was made to the county ct. judge, pursuant to the aforesaid notice, for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Acts:—Held: on the construction of sect. 1 (2) (b) & (4), read together, this application for compensation could not now be entertained.—CRIBB v. KYNOCH, LTD. (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551; 77 L. J. K. B. 1001; 99 L. T. 216; 24 T. L. R. 736; 52 Sol. Jo. 581; 1 B. W. C. C. 43, C. A.

Annotations:—Followed. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674. Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Refd. Page v. Burtwell (1908), 77 L. J. K. B. 1060; Codling v. Mowlem, [1914] 2 K. B. 61; King v. Edinburgh Collieries Co. (1923), 17 B. W. C. C. 324.

B. Where Action for Damages Unsuccessful.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 29.

4072. Right to assessment of compensation—Application for assessment—To be made to trial judge — Subsequent arbitration proceedings.] — Where a workman, who has been injured by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, brings an unsuccessful action to recover damages against his employer, & is desirous of having compensation for his injury assessed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), he must follow the procedure prescribed by sect. 1 (4) of that Act, & must apply then & there to the judge trying the action for an assessment of compensation; he cannot at a subsequent date initiate independent proceedings against his employer by a request for arbitration under that Act.—EDWARDS v. GODFREY, [1899]

CHURCHYARD v. REDPATH, BROWN & CO., LTD., [1911] W. L. D. 125.—S. AF.

n. —— ——.] — GWILLIAM v. DURBAN CORPN (1926), 47 N. L. R. 153.—S. AF.

o. —— Binding only in case of success.]—Where an injured workman has the right in respect of an injury sustained by him either to bring an action at law or a claim for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1916, against his employer the only bar to the latter remedy arises if he has recovered a judgment against his employer at law in respect of the injury.—ERICKSON v. AUSTRALIAN STEAMSHIPS, LTD. (1919), 19 N. S. W. L. R. 132; 36 N. S. W. W. N. 54.—AUS.

p. —— ——.] — KING v. KING, [1920] V. L. R. 443.—AUS.

q. —— ——.] — When a workman has proceeded to have compensation for his injuries assessed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897, & is defeated by reason of a ruling that his case does not come within the provisions of the Act, he is not thereby prevented from instituting subsequent proceedings independently of the Act, to enforce any previously existing remedy to which he may have been entitled.—BECKLEY v. SCOTT & CO., [1902] 2 I. R. 504.—IR.

r. —— Right to.] — Pltf. who was injured upon the business premises of his employer on Jan. 23, 1915, which was after the coming into force of Workmen's Compensation Act, brought an action against his employer to recover damages for his injuries:—Held: he had a right of action, his remedy not being confined to an application to the Workmen's Compensation Board under the Act.—GARMENT v. CHARLES AUSTIN CO., LTD. (1915), 9 O. W. N. 47; 34 O. L. R. 417.—CAN.

t. Statement of claim — Must not combine claim for damages & compensation.]—Where a pltf. claiming under Workmen's Compensation Act sought to recover damages for injuries sustained by reason of defect in the condition of the tackle:—Held: the statement of claim was embarrassing as attempting to combine a claim for damages for negligence under Employers' Liability Act with a claim for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act.—BUTTEN v. ANGLO-NFLD DEV'MENT CO. (1911), 9 Nfld. L. R. 487.—NFLD.

2 Q. B. 333; 68 L. J. Q. B. 666; 80 L. T. 672; 47 W. R. 551; 15 T. L. R. 365; 43 Sol. Jo. 491; 1 W. C. C. 32, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Isaacson v. New Grand (Clapham Junction), [1903] 1 K. B. 539; Rouse v. Dixon, [1904] 2 K. B. 628; Taylor v. Hamstead Colliery Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 838. Foll. Neale v. Electric & Ordnance Accessories Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 558. Consd. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551. Foll. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674. Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Refd. Cattermole v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 204; Codling v. Mowlem, [1914] 2 K. B. 61.

4073. —— —— —— —— ——.]— CRIBB v. KYNOCH, LTD. (No. 2), No. 4071, ante.

4074. —— —— ——.]—Where, upon the dismissal of an action brought by a workman under age, by his next friend, against his employers to recover damages in respect of personal injuries occasioned to pltf. by an accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, an application was made to the judge who tried the action to assess compensation to pltf. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (4), & the judge accordingly awarded such compensation:—Held: pltf. was estopped by the election to take such compensation & the award thereupon made from proceeding further with the action, & therefore a subsequent application by him for judgment or a new trial in the action could not be entertained.—NEALE v. ELECTRIC & ORDNANCE ACCESSORIES CO., LTD., [1906] 2 K. B. 558; 75 L. J. K. B. 974; 95 L. T. 592; 22 T. L. R. 732; 8 W. C. C. 6, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Cribb v. Kynoch (No. 2), [1908] 2 K. B. 551. Foll. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674. Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Refd. Codling v. Mowlem, [1914] 2 K. B. 61.

4075. —— —— Whether appeal from dismissal of action barred.]—Where upon the dismissal of an action under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), an application is made under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 1 (4), for an assessment of compensation under that Act, the making of that application does not amount to the exercise of an option on the part of pltf. so as to estop him from appealing against the dismissal of the action under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42), & pltf. is entitled to appeal against both decisions.—ISAACSON v. NEW GRAND (CLAPHAM JUNCTION), LTD., [1903] 1 K. B. 539; 72 L. J. K. B. 227; 88 L. T. 291; 19 T. L. R. 150; 47 Sol. Jo. 222; 5 W. C. C. 35; 67 J. P. Jo. 40, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Neale v. Electric & Ordnance Accessories Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 558. N.F. Harrison v. Wythemoor Colliery Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 674. Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380. Refd. Codling v. Mowlem, [1914] 2 K. B. 61.

4076. —— —— ——.]—Where a workman takes common law or statutory proceedings by way of action against his employer, he elects that remedy & can only obtain compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), by following the exact procedure prescribed in sect. 1 (4) of that Act. The application must be made to a ct. of first instance &, once made, further proceedings in the action are barred; certainly if the application results in a certificate, the fact that it purports to be asked for & made "without prejudice" being immaterial. The case of appct. succeeding in the first ct. & failing on appeal is not provided for by the Act:—Held: (1) pltf. was barred by her election to take the compensation & by the certificate from appealing in the action, a certificate awarding compensation was final & the judge had no jurisdiction to grant it "without prejudice" to pltf.'s right of appeal; (2) the words "determined in such action" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (4), meant determined in the ct. of first instance in which the action was tried.—HARRISON v. WYTHEMOOR COLLIERY CO., [1922] 2 K. B. 674; 91 L. J. K. B. 832; 127 L. T. 629; 38 T. L. R. 694; 66 Sol. Jo. 632; 15 B. W. C. C. 98, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Bennett v. Whitehead, [1926] 2 K. B. 380.

4077. —— Deduction of costs of unsuccessful action—Appeal to Court of Appeal.]—WILLIAMS v. ARMY & NAVY AUXILIARY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LTD., No. 3861, ante.

4078. —— ——.]—COHEN v. SEABROOK BROTHERS, No. 4018, ante.

4079. —— Certificate of award—From what court obtainable.]—HARRISON v. WYTHEMOOR COLLIERY CO., No. 4076, ante.

4080. —— —— Certificate "without prejudice."]—HARRISON v. WYTHEMOOR COLLIERY CO., No. 4076, ante.

4081. —— Unsuccessful proceedings brought more than six months after accident.]—CRIBB v. KYNOCH, LTD. (No. 2), No. 4071, ante.

4082. —— Action brought under Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (c. 93).]—(1) By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (1), "If within the time hereinafter in this Act limited for taking proceedings, an action is brought to recover damages independently of this Act for injury caused by any accident, & it is determined in such action that the injury is one for which the employer is not liable in such action, but that he would have been liable to pay compensation under the provisions of this Act, the action shall be dismissed; but the ct. in which the action is tried shall, if pltf. so choose, proceed to access such compensation":—Held: an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (c. 93), was an action "for injury caused by any accident" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (4).

(2) On Jan. 7, 1913, a workman met with an

PART XIV. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

4074 i. Right to assessment of compensation—Application for assessment—To be made to trial judge.]—QUINN v. BROWN (JOHN) & CO., LTD. (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 855.—SCOT.

a. —— —— —— At time of trial.]—BAIRD v. HIGGINBOTHAM & CO. (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 673.—SCOT.

b. —— —— —— —— .]—M'GOWAN v. SMITH, [1907] S. C. 548.—SCOT.

c. —— —— —— ——.]—PERTH GENERAL STATION COMMITTEE v. STEWART (1924), 17 B. W. C. C. 393.—SCOT.

4075 i. —— —— Whether appeal from dismissal of action barred.]—If on dismissal of an action brought by an employee against his employer for damages for injury alleged to have been sustained through the employer's negligence, the employee applies to have assessed to him damages under Workmen's Compensation Act & such damages are assessed & judgment entered therefor with costs, the employee has thereby elected to take such compensation & is estopped from appealing against the dismissal of his original action.—DALRYMPLE v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (Sask.), [1920] 3 W. W. R. 820.—CAN.

4075 ii. —— —— ——.]—O'DONNELL v. CANADIAN NATIONAL RYS. (Sask.) (1922), 63 D. L. R. 719.—CAN.

4075 iii. —— —— ——.]—GRIGORI v. CANADIAN NATIONAL RYS. (Alta.), [1923] 1 D. L. R. 606; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 190.—CAN.

d. —— Application must be made by plaintiff.]—Held: the privilege of having compensation assessed given by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, is a privilege personal to the pursuer in the action for damages, & other persons, who have not claimed compensation within six months, are not entitled to be sisted as parties to the compensation proceedings.—M'GINTY v. KYLE, [1911] S. C. 589.—SCOT.

e. —— After appeal—Action unsuccessful—Appeal allowed.]—Held: the effect of the reversal of the original judgment was to place the parties back in the position they would have been in at the trial if the trial judge had given the judgment which the Ct. of Appeal held should have been given, when pltfs. would be entitled to ask for an assessment under the Act.—MCCORMICK v. KELLIHER LUMBER CO.

Sect. 25.—Alternative remedies: Sub-sect. 1, B.; sub-sect. 2, A.]

accident through a door falling on his head & causing him to bite his tongue. He immediately reported the matter verbally to the foreman of the works, but stated that he was not severely injured. The accident was also reported to one of the employers who happened to be present at the works at the time. On Jan. 11, the workman was attended by his own doctor, who found that he was suffering from an open discharging wound in the tongue. The doctor continued to attend the workman from time to time. The difficulty of taking food increased, but the workman continued to work until July 14. On July 22, he died of cancer in the tongue resulting from the original injury. No notice of the accident beyond that above stated was given by the workman to the employers. His widow subsequently brought an action against the employers under Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (c. 93), for the benefit of herself & her children. At the trial the jury returned a verdict for the employers on the ground that the deceased man had been guilty of contributory negligence. Application was thereupon made to the judge to assess compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 1 (4):—Held: no "reasonable cause" within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2, had been shown for the failure of the workman to give notice of the accident to his employers, & the widow was therefore not entitled to compensation under the Act.

Semble: the only two grounds which the ct. will accept as evidencing a "reasonable cause" for failure to give the notice of the accident to the employer as required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 2, are either that the injury from the accident was latent or that the accident was of so trivial a nature that it would be unreasonable to expect the workman to give notice of it.—POTTER v. WELCH (JOHN) & SONS, LTD., [1914] 3 K. B. 1020; 83 L. J. K. B. 1852; 112 L. T. 7; 30 T. L. R. 644; 7 B. W. C. C. 738, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AGAINST EMPLOYER AND THIRD PARTY.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 30.

4083. Workman cannot recover double compensation.]—A workman, having been injured in the course of his employment by the negligence of a third person, obtained an award under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), against his employer. He then brought an action against the third person claiming damages for pain & suffering, & the expenses he had been put to, & the balance of his wages:—Held: the action would not lie by virtue of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6.—TONG v. GREAT NORTHERN RY. Co. (1902), 86 L. T. 802; 66 J. P. 677; 18 T. L. R. 566; 4 W. C. C. 40.

4084. ——.]—VIVASH v. GROUNDS & NEWTON (1911), 46 L. Jo. 556.

4085. —— Payment of compensation—Award of damages in respect of capacity other than workman.]—By Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6, "Where the injury for which compensation is payable under this Act was caused under circumstances creating a legal liability in some person other than the employer to pay damages in respect thereof—The workman may take proceedings both against that person to recover damages & against any person liable to pay compensation under this Act for such compensation, but shall not be entitled to recover both damages & compensation."

A workman employed by a colliery co. also carried on the occupation of farming a small farm. Whilst acting in his employment by the colliery co. he was injured by the negligence of the servants of defts., L. & N. W. Ry. Co., in shunting a train. He made a claim for compensation from the colliery co. & received from it thirty-four weekly payments knowing & appreciating that he was receiving compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 37). He subsequently brought an action against defts. to recover damages for the injuries caused by the negligence of defts.' servants. At the trial the jury gave a verdict for pltf. for £275 as damages, of which amount they found that £100 was in respect of the damages which he had suffered as a farmer. For the purposes of the case it was assumed that his earnings as a farmer could not be included in his claim for compensation from his employers:—Held: (1) in the circumstances pltf. had recovered compensation from his employers under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58); (2) having recovered compensation from his employers he was not entitled to recover the £100 damages from defts.

The word "injury" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6, means physical injury or hurt, & is not a translation of the juristic term "injuria."—WOODCOCK v. LONDON & NORTH WESTERN RY. Co., [1913] 3 K. B. 139; 82 L. J. K. B. 921; 109 L. T. 253; 29 T. L. R. 566; 6 B. W. C. C. 471.

4086. What amounts to election of remedy—"Proceedings"—Notice to employer of accident.]—Pltf., a sawyer, who worked for J. Bros., met with an accident caused by the negligence of a servant in the employment of deft. Having given notice of the accident to his employers, J. Bros., they continued to pay pltf. the same wages as before, & no further steps were taken by him to obtain compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37). In a common law action against deft. for damages:—Held: the action was maintainable, because a mere notice of an accident given under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897

(1913), 23 W. L. R. 10; 3 W. W. R. 722; 9 D. L. R. 392; 18 B. C. R. 57. —CAN.

f. —— —— ——.] — LILJA v. GRANBY CONSOLIDATED MINING, ETC. CO. (1915), 8 W. W. R. 690; 9 W. W. R. 662; 21 B. C. R. 384.—CAN.

g. —— —— ——.] — SLAVIN v. TRAIN & TAYLOR, [1912] S. C. 754; 49 Sc. L. R. 93; [1912] 1 S. L. T. 349; 5 B. W. C. C. 525.—SCOT.

h. —— —— Action & appeal unsuccessful — Further appeal to Supreme Court.]—Where upon dismissal of the action in the Appellate Div. pltf. appeals to the Supreme Ct. of Canada, he is not required to apply at once for an assessment under the Act & to have his claim for compensation stand over until the judgment on such appeal or be entertained.—GREEN v. GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RY. (Alta.), [1917] 3 W. W. R. 251.—CAN.

k. —— —— Action successful — Appeal allowed.]—PERRY v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. Co., [1922] 2 W. W. R. 1116; 67 D. L. R. 446; 15 Sask. L. R. 501.—CAN

PART XIV. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 2. —A.

4083 i. Workman cannot recover double compensation.]—Where a workman applies for & obtains compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1922, he cannot maintain an action for damages for the same injury even though deft. is a person other than his employer.—MCCLENAGHAN v. EDMONTON (Alta.), [1926] 1 D. L. R. 1042; [1926] 1 W. W. R. 449.—CAN.

4083 ii. ——.] — GRAY v. NORTH BRITISH RY. Co., [1915] S. C. 211.—SCOT.

(c. 37), s. 2, to the employer was not a "proceeding" against the employer within the meaning of sect. 6 & did not, therefore, preclude pltf. from bringing an action against a person, other than his employer, whose negligence caused the injury. —PERRY v. CLEMENTS (1901), 49 W. R. 669; 17 T. L. R. 525; 45 Sol. Jo. 521; 3 W. C. C. 56.

Annotations:—Refd. Oliver v. Nautilus S.S. Co. (1903), 89 L. T. 318; Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 428.

4087. —— —— Only if resulting in compensation paid.]—(1) Where, as between an employer & his workman who has received personal injuries in the course of his employment, there is a payment of money to & a receipt given by the workman under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), & the receipt is not qualified either in terms or by a consideration of the surrounding circumstances, that is sufficient to bring the case within the operation of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6, & to put the workman in the position of having exercised the option given him by the sect. (of proceeding, either at law for damages against the person legally liable for the injury, or against the employer for compensation under the Act, but not against both) & so to preclude him from suing the person legally liable. Semble: proceedings by a workman against his employer, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6, for compensation for personal injuries, should not be held to irrevocably bind the workman in the exercise of the option given him by the sect. unless they have resulted in some compensation, as such, being paid to & received by the workman in such a manner as to bind both parties.

(2) A workman who had been injured in the course of his employment, gave notice of his injury to his employer, but without formally claiming compensation. The employer, by an agent, then made a first weekly payment, for which the workman, who was then in hospital, signed a receipt stating that the sum paid had been received "on account of compensation which may be or become due to me under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), in respect of the accident which occurred to me on," etc. Upon the employer's agent bringing him the second payment, the workman stipulated that he would only accept that & all future payments "without prejudice." To this the agent assented, whereupon the second & subsequent payments were accepted by the workman, he giving on each occasion a receipt in the same form as before, but not stating in terms that the payment was "without prejudice." Eventually he refused to accept any further payments from his employer, & brought an action for damages against the person legally liable for his injury.—Held: in the circumstances, the reservation of "without prejudice" was applicable to the first as well as to all subsequent payments, so that the first did not irrevocably bind pltf. as an exercise of the option given him by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6, & thus preclude him from bringing his action against the other person & recovering damages.—OLIVER v. NAUTILUS STEAM SHIPPING CO., [1903] 2 K. B. 639; 72 L. J. K. B. 857; 89 L. T. 318; 52 W. R. 200; 19 T. L. R. 607; 47 Sol. Jo. 671; 5 W. C. C. 65; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 436, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Page v. Burtwell, [1908] 2 K. B. 758. Refd. Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433. As to (2) Consd. Page v. Burtwell, [1908] 2 K. B. 758. Apld. Wright v. Lindsay (1911), 5 B. W. C. C. 531. Refd. Huckle v. L. C. C. (1910), 26 T. L. R. 580; Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433. Generally, Refd. Thompson v. North Eastern Marine Engineering Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 428.

4088. —— —— Not confined to legal proceedings actually taken—Claim made & acknowledged.]—(1) "Circumstances creating a legal liability" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), mean, not merely circumstances which in fact create a legal liability, but circumstances which are alleged to create a legal liability, which would be the foundation of an action for negligence.

(2) The meaning of "proceedings" in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6 (1), is not to be confined to legal proceedings actually taken, but is satisfied if a claim is made against some person other than the employer for negligence.

(3) To "recover" compensation does not necessarily mean to recover by means of legal proceedings: it is sufficient if the workman has claimed compensation & received it.

A workman who had been injured in the course of his employment made a claim for compensation against a person other than his employer whom he alleged to be under liability for negligence, & received various payments in satisfaction of his claim without having resort to legal proceedings, though legal liability was not admitted:—Held: the workman was precluded by sect. 6 (1), from obtaining compensation from his employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58).—PAGE v. BURTWELL, [1908] 2 K. B. 758; 77 L. J. K. B. 1060; 99 L. T. 542; 1 B. W. C. C. 267, C. A.

Annotations: As to (3) Consd. Howell v. Bradford (1911), 104 L. T. 433; Tuckwood v. Rotherham Corpn., [1921] 1 K. B. 526.

4089. —— Receipt given for compensation—Receipt "without prejudice."]—OLIVER v. NAUTILUS STEAM SHIPPING CO., No. 4087, ante.

4090. —— —— Receipt not conclusive evidence.] —Pltf., who met with an accident in the course of his employment, owing, as he alleged, to the negligence of defts.' servants, defts. not being pltf.'s employers, accepted several weekly payments from his employers & gave them receipts therefor in the following terms: "Received under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58) . . . the

---

4088 i. What amounts to election of remedy—"Proceedings"—Not confined to legal proceedings actually taken—Claim made & acknowledged.]—An injured workman made a claim for damages at common law against a person other than his employers, &, without having taken legal proceedings, received a payment in settlement of his claim:—Held: he had "proceeded" against a third party, & therefore, he had exercised his option & was barred from claiming compensation against his employers.—MULLIGAN v. DICK & SON (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 126; 41 Sc. L. R. 77; 11 S. L. T. 433.—SCOT.

4089 i. —— Receipt given for compensation—Receipt "without prejudice."]—MURRAY v. NORTH BRITISH RY. (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 54.—SCOT.

4089 ii. —— —— ——.]—A workman was injured by the negligence of third parties. He received compensation from his employers, expressly reserving his rights against third parties. It was understood that, if he succeeded against the third parties, he would repay his employers the compensation he had received from them. He brought an action against the third parties:—Held: the workman had not "recovered" compensation, & the action was not barred.—WRIGHT v. LINDSAY, [1912] S. C. 189; 49 Sc. L. R. 210; [1911] 2 S. L. T. 444; 5 B. W. C. C. 531.—SCOT.

I. —— —— Receipt conclusive.]—An injured workman received weekly payments from his employers. His receipt for the first payment bore that it was "compensation for accident sustained." Nearly a year later the receipts began to reserve claims against third parties. In an action at common law against a third party he averred that at the date of the first payment he was a minor, had no legal advice, & was in ignorance of his legal rights. In the event of success he offered to refund the money received from his employers:—Held: the action was barred in respect that the sum of 12*s.* 8*d.*, being compensation at the rate of one-half my average weekly earnings up to . . . in respect of an accident which occurred to me on or about Apr. 17, 1909." Subsequently pltf. repaid to his employers the amounts he had received from them & then sued defts. for damages. At the trial pltf. stated that he did not understand the nature & terms of the receipts he had signed. The county ct. judge nonsuited pltf. holding as a matter of law that pltf. had recovered compensation within Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6, & that his action was therefore barred: —Held: the county ct. judge was wrong in nonsuiting pltf. as it was a question for the jury whether pltf. understood the nature & effect of the receipts he had signed.—HUCKLE v. LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL (1910), 27 T. L. R. 112; 4 B. W. C. C. 113, C. A.

Sect. 25.—Alternative remedies: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

4091. —— Compensation claimed & received without legal proceedings.]—PAGE v. BURTWELL, No. 4088, ante.

4092. —— —— Ex gratia payment.]—VIVASH v. GROUNDS & NEWTON (1911), 46 L. Jo. 556.

4093. "Circumstances creating legal liability" —What amounts to.]—PAGE v. BURTWELL, No. 4088, ante.

B. Right of Employer to Indemnity.

(a) In General

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 30; Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1926, rr. 25–27.

4094. When indemnity recoverable—Negligence of employer's servants & third party.]—Where an accident, in respect of which an employer has been compelled under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), to pay compensation, was caused by the combined negligence of another person & of his own servants, the employer cannot maintain an action for indemnity against that other person under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6.

A steamer belonging to pltfs. was approaching a staith, which was being used by & under the control of defts., for the purpose of taking a cargo of coal there from defts. Two workmen employed by pltfs. were in attendance on the steamer in a boat for the purpose of taking a rope from the steamer to the staith. In consequence of pltfs.' servants in charge of the steamer complying with a direction given by the staith-master employed by defts., the propeller was set in motion, with the result that the boat was upset, one of the workmen being drowned & the other injured. Pltfs. having been compelled to pay compensation in respect of the accident under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), brought an action against defts. for indemnity under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6. A comr. of assize by whom the action was tried found that both the staith-master & those in charge of the ship had been negligent, the former in giving the direction that he did, & the latter in complying with it, without ascertaining whether it was safe to do so, & that their combined negligence had caused the accident; & upon these findings he held that pltfs. through their servants, having been guilty of negligence which contributed to the accident, could not maintain the action:—Held: the judgment of the comr. was correct.—CORY & SON, LTD. v. FRANCE, FENWICK & CO., LTD., [1911] 1 K. B. 114; 80 L. J. K. B. 341; 103 L. T. 649; 27 T. L. R. 18; 55 Sol. Jo. 10; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 499, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Paul v. G. E. Ry. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 344. Refd. Smith's Dock Co. v. Readhead (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 449; The Molière, [1925] P. 27. Mentd. Re Polemis & Furness, Withy, [1921] 3 K. B. 560.

4095. —— Compensation paid to dependant of workman—Unable to sue under Lord Campbell's Act.]—A workman while working in the employment of pltfs. sustained injuries from which a few days later he died. The injuries were caused by the negligence of defts.' servants. The workman left as his sole dependant an illegitimate daughter. Pltfs. having paid her compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), sued defts. under s. 6 of that Act for an indemnity in respect of the compensation so paid by them. For defts. it was contended that, as no action could be maintained under Lord Campbell's Act for the benefit of the illegitimate daughter, s. 6 did not apply:—Held: (1) the provisions of that sect. did not require that the person recovering the compensation & the person to whom the wrongdoer was liable to pay damages should be the same person; (2) as there was an interval of time between the infliction of the injury & the death of the workman there was during that time a legal liability to pay damages to him; (3) the fact of the liability so created being subsequently abated by his death did not prevent the application of the sect.; & pltfs. were entitled to recover.—SMITH'S DOCK CO. v. READHEAD (JOHN) & SONS, [1912] 2 K. B. 323; 81 L. J. K. B. 808; 106 L. T. 843; 28 T. L. R. 397; 5 B. W. C. C. 449.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apprvd. Tuckwood v. Rotherham Corpn., [1921] 1 K. B. 526.

4096. From whom recoverable—Fellow workman of injured party.]—The doctrine of common employment does not apply as between fellow workmen. Where injury has been caused to a workman by the negligence of fellow workman in committing a breach of statutory regulations imposed for the protection of the workmen, there, if the injured workman has recovered compensation against his employer under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the employer is entitled to be indemnified by the fellow workmen whose breach of the statutory regulations caused the injury.—LEES v. DUNKERLEY BROTHERS, [1911] A. C. 5; 80 L. J. K. B. 135; 103 L. T. 467; 55 Sol. Jo. 44; 4 B. W. C. C. 115, workman had de facto recovered compensation.—ALDIN v. STEWART, [1916] S. C. 13.—SCOT.

---

4091 l. —— Compensation claimed & received without legal proceedings.]—The words "proceed against," in Workers' Compensation for Accident Act, 1900, s. 16, do not mean the taking legal or formal action, or even any isolated step towards such action.—HEATH v. UNION S.S. CO., LTD. (1904), 23 N. Z. L. R. 637.—N.Z.

m. —— Acceptance of compensation—Agreement to refund if damages received from third party.]—An injured workman received from his employers weekly payments based on Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, s. 6 (1), under an agreement with them to refund all sums received, if successful in a claim at common law against a third party:—Held: an action against the third party was not barred, the workman not having de facto recovered compensation.—KELLY v. NORTH BRITISH RY. CO., [1916] S. C. 19.—SCOT.

n. —— —— ——.]—FRAME v. TAYLOR, [1918] S. C. 343.—SCOT.

o. Election withdrawn on terms—Compensation Board subrogated to rights of workman.]—HUTTON v. TORONTO RY. CO. (1919), 45 O. L. R. 550; 49 D. L. R. 216; 16 O. W. N. 236.—CAN.

PART XIV. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 2. —B (a).

p. Action for indemnity — Defences to—Negligence of employer & third party.]—An employer liable under Workmen's Compensation Act & apart from negligence to pay compensation to the dependants of a deceased workman cannot maintain an

H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. GIBSON v. DUNKERLEY BROTHERS, 102 L. T. 587, C. A.

4097. Intention to claim indemnity—Necessity for notice.]—APPLERY v. HORSELEY CO., LTD., No. 3326, ante.

4098. ——— ———.]—Notice of intention to claim indemnity must be served, although the other person be already a resp. in the proceedings.—HOWARD v. DRIVER (1903), 5 W. C. C. 153.

4099. ——— ———.]—Where a workman has recovered compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), from his employer in respect of an accident which was caused by the negligence of a third party, it is not a condition precedent to the employer's right to maintain an action for indemnity against the third party under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6, that he should have filed & served on the third party a formal notice of his claim under Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1907, r. 24.—NETTLEINGHAM & CO. v. POWELL & CO., [1913] 3 K. B. 209; 82 L. J. K. B. 911; 108 L. T. 912; 29 T. L. R. 577; 57 Sol. Jo. 593; 6 B. W. C. C. 478, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Tuckwood v. Rotherham Corpn., [1921] 1 K. B. 526.

4100. Action for indemnity—Defences to—Injury not due to defendant.]—Compensation which is paid after notice of injury, & of a claim for compensation, & under an agreement, a memorandum of which has been duly recorded, is paid under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6.

A person against whom an employer claims indemnity may plead: (a) that the injury was not caused by his fault; (b) that the compensation was not paid under the Act; (c) that the compensation was greater than the amount permitted by the Act; & (d) that the amount paid, though within the limits set by the Act, was not an amount which it was reasonable for the employer to agree to pay.—THOMPSON & SONS v. NORTH EASTERN MARINE ENGINEERING CO., LTD., [1903] 1 K. B. 428; 72 L. J. K. B. 222; 88 L. T. 239; 19 T. L. R. 206; 47 Sol. Jo. 256; 5 W. C. C. 71.

Annotation:—Refd. Howard v. Driver (1903), 5 W. C. C. 153.

4101. ——— ——— Compensation not paid in accordance with Act.]—THOMPSON & SONS v. NORTH EASTERN MARINE ENGINEERING CO., LTD., No. 4100, ante.

4102. ——— ——— Compensation unreasonable.]—THOMPSON & SONS v. NORTH EASTERN MARINE ENGINEERING CO., LTD., No. 4100, ante.

4103. ——— ——— Contributory negligence of workman.]—Pltfs. claimed an indemnity against defts. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 53), s. 6, for the compensation which pltfs. had had to pay to the dependants of a workman who had been killed by the negligence of defts.' servants during shunting operations. Defts. set up the plea of contributory negligence on the part of the deceased workman, & also on the part of pltfs., who had employed deceased workman on defts.' lines during the shunting although he was stone deaf:—Held: with regard to the plea of contributory negligence by defts., under above enactment the question of contributory negligence ought not to receive any different treatment from that which it would receive as between the person causing & the person suffering the injury, & as a legal liability had been established pltfs. were entitled to the indemnity claimed.—PAUL (R. & W.), LTD. v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 344.

4104. ——— Limitation of time.]—Where a workman in the employment of pltf. was injured by an accident caused by the negligence of a servant of deft. corpn. in driving a tramcar on a tramway owned & worked by the corpn., & the workman recovered compensation from pltf., & an action was brought by pltf. against the corpn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6 (2), to recover an indemnity in respect thereof:—Held: Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893 (c. 61), s. 1 (a), did not apply, & therefore the action need not be commenced within six months next after the act, neglect, or default complained of, namely, the act of negligence in driving the tramcar.—TUCKWOOD v. ROTHERHAM CORPN., [1921] 1 K. B. 526; 90 L. J. K. B. 341; 124 L. T. 522; 85 J. P. 101; 19 L. G. R. 69; 13 B. W. C. C. 327, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Venn v. Tedesco, [1926] 2 K. B. 227. Mentd. Huyton & Roby Gas Co. v. Liverpool Corpn., [1926] 1 K. B. 146.

4105. ———.]—Pltfs. employed a man to drive their motor vans. Whilst driving, he collided with one of defts.' motor vans & was killed. Pltfs. paid the widow full compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & then brought an action for indemnity against defts. on the ground of the negligent driving of defts.' servant. On the jury finding the accident was solely caused by the negligence of defts.' servant, judgment was entered for pltfs. for the full amount claimed including all costs.—DAILY NEWS, LTD. v. MCNAMARA & CO., LTD. (1913), 7 B. W. C. C. 11.

4106. What included in indemnity—Compensation awarded—Costs of compensation proceedings.]—Where an employer is entitled, under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 6, to indemnity from a third person in respect of compensation payable to a workman for an injury for which that third person is liable, the indemnity includes the cost of the compensation proceedings as well as the amount of the compensation awarded.—GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO. v. WHITEHEAD & CO., LTD. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 816; 4 W. C. C. 39.

(b) Circumstances Creating a Legal Liability.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 30.

4107. Obligation of defendant to plaintiff—Demise of room with power—Power not fit for purpose.]—Defts., who were the lessees of a factory, demised to pltfs. a room therein & agreed to supply to them power from an engine for working a machine in the room demised at a yearly rent of £100. The engine was under the control & in the possession of defts. While the engine was working the machine, owing to a defect in the governor, it went too fast, with the result that part of the machine in pltfs.' room became heated & broke, & killed a workman employed by pltfs. Pltfs., having paid the widow compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), sued defts. to recover the amount so paid. The jury found that defts. had not supplied power which was reasonably fit for the purpose of working the machine:—Held: apart from the demise of the room, there was a contract by defts. to supply to pltfs. power for working the machine; this was a contract of purchase & sale; there was therefore an obligation to supply power reasonably fit for the purpose; & pltfs. were entitled to action of indemnity against a stranger under sect. 8 of the Act where the combined acts of the employer & stranger if negligent or unlawful are a cause of the accident, giving rise to the claim for compensation.—CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. v. ALBERTA CLAY PRODUCTS (1914), 29 W. L. R. 989; 7 W. W. R. 948.—CAN.

Sect. 25.—Alternative remedies: Sub-sect. 2, B. (b). Sect. 26: Sub-sect. 1, A.] recover.—BENTLEY BROTHERS v. METCALFE & Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 548: 75 L. J. K. B. 891; 95 L. T. 596; 22 T. L. R. 676, C. A.

4108. Accident not direct or natural consequence of defendant's acts.]—The driver of a motor car, when nearing a cart & horse, knowing that his hooter was out of order, slowed down to six miles an hour. When abreast of the cart the horse became frightened & bolted. The driver was thrown & fatally injured. The dependant claimed compensation from the master, who brought in the driver of the motor car as a third party. The county ct. judge found that the damage to the hooter was not the cause of the accident, & that it was not negligence on the part of the driver of the car to continue running on the road with the hooter silent. The widow of the deceased could not therefore have maintained an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (c. 93), against the owner of the motor car for the loss of her husband. Accordingly he dismissed resps.' claim for indemnity:—Held: there was evidence to support the county ct. judge's findings of fact. The mere breach of regulations made under Motor Car Act, 1903 (c. 36), is not necessarily evidence of negligence.—LANKESTER v. MILLER (1910), 4 B. W. C. C. 80, C. A.

4109. ——.]—In the course of his employment a workman was killed by the kick of a horse belonging, not to his employers, but to third parties, by whose servant it was brought upon the employers' premises & left there unattended. Upon a claim by the dependants of the workman for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the employers admitted liability, but claimed contribution against the third parties under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6. The county ct. judge held that the question of scienter on the part of the owners of the horse was immaterial, that the bringing of the horse upon the employers' premises was a trespass, & by reason of negligently leaving it there unattended they were liable to indemnify the employers:—Held: it was not in the ordinary course of things that a horse not known to be vicious should kick a man. Assuming trespass, the damage in the present case did not naturally flow from it; it was too remote. The injury to deceased was not sufficiently connected with the trespass or negligence to be the natural or probable consequence of it. The award against the third parties was therefore wrong.—BRADLEY v. WALLACES, LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 629; 82 L. J. K. B. 1074; 109 L. T. 281; 29 T. L. R. 705; 6 B. W. C. C. 706, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Heath's Garage v. Hodges, [1916] 2 K. B. 370.

4110. ——.]—Pltfs., who were the charterers of a ship from defts., the shipowners, gratuitously removed some hatch beams at the implied request of the shipowners. While the beams were being removed by pltf.'s servants, one of pltf.'s servants engaged in the work was accidentally killed. Pltfs. paid to his dependants compensation in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). Pltfs. claimed to recover the sum paid as compensation from defts. on the ground that defts. had impliedly undertaken to indemnity pltfs. for loss or damage occasioned by the discharge of the cargo:—Held: there was no evidence of an implied undertaking by defts. to indemnify pltfs. The accident was not the direct or natural consequence of doing the discharging of the cargo, but was a consequence of the manner in which the discharging was done.—CORY (W.) & SON, LTD. v. LAMBTON & HETTON COLLIERIES, LTD. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 401; 115 L. T. 738; 10 B. W. C. C. 180; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 530, C. A.

4111. Obligation of third party to workman—Workman a licencee of defendant.]—A painter was employed to do work for the owners on the top story of a dock warehouse, owned by the Corpn. of Hull, & in the occupation of defts. By the corpn. rules all workmen were required, on the sounding of a buzzer at noon, to leave the premises, which were then locked up during the dinner hour & re-opened at 1 p.m. The workman, having heard the buzzer, left off work within a few minutes, put his tools together, & proceeded downstairs, with the intention of leaving. On reaching the ground floor, which had no windows, he found the doors by which he had entered locked & the place in darkness. He endeavoured to find his way in the dark to doors on the other side of the building, &, in doing so, fell down a hatchway, found at the trial to be insufficiently guarded, & was injured. In an action for indemnity by the employer against the occupiers of the warehouse:—Held: the workman was a licencee, whose licence did not expire until he left the premises, for which purpose a reasonable time must be allowed after work ceased at noon, & the occupiers were guilty of a breach of duty towards him (a) in leaving an open hatchway unguarded & in darkness; (b) in locking up the premises without having ascertained that there was no one left inside who might fall into the trap, &, therefore, were liable to indemnify the employer against the compensation paid by him to the workman.—DICKSON v. SCOTT (J. A.), LTD. (1914), 30 T. L. R. 256; 7 B. W. C. C. 1007, C. A.

4112. —— ——.]—In Mar. 1915, a workman was employed by pltfs. as a tallyman to check the cargo being loaded into one of pltfs.' ships lying at a quay in defts.' dock. The work was usually done at the quayside, but as the night of Mar. 16 to 17 was cold & the man had been at work for many hours, he elected to go & work in a warehouse belonging to defts., from which the goods were being taken. While there he fell down the well hole of a lift, & was injured. The workman having obtained an award of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), against pltfs., pltfs. brought this action under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6, against defts., as owners of the premises, claiming to be indemnified on the ground that the accident was attributable to the negligence of defts. in breach of their duty to the workman. The jury, by the answers to questions left to them at the trial, found (inter alia) that persons using the warehouse were not reasonably protected from falling into the lift well, owing to the negligence of defts.' servants, but that the lift well was not a concealed danger at the time of the accident:—Held: the workman was not an invitee to defts.' warehouse, but at most a licencee, &, as there was no concealed danger, defts. had not been guilty of any breach of duty towards the workman, & the action failed.—WILSON SONS & CO., LTD. v. BARRY RY. CO. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 432; 116 L. T. 71; 10 B. W. C. C. 24, C. A.

4113. ——.]—A constable on duty, while entering defts.' private warehouse, was injured by falling into a saw-pit. He was paid compensation by pltfs. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), & the pltfs. claimed under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6 (2), indemnity from the deft.:—Held: deft.

was under no legal obligation towards the constable, & was not liable to indemnify pltfs. in respect of the injury.—GREAT CENTRAL RY. CO. v. BATES, [1921] 3 K. B. 578; 90 L. J. K. B. 1269; 126 L. T. 61; 37 T. L. R. 948; 65 Sol. Jo. 708; 19 L. G. R. 649, D. C.

4114. ——.]—A woman employed as a refreshment bar assistant whilst so employed was coming down some stairs when a large dog owned by the tenant of a flat above the refreshment rooms, but not accompanied by any one, knocked against her leg, causing her to fall & fracture her ankle. She claimed £1 per week compensation from her employer, who admitted liability under Workmen's Compensation Acts, but claimed indemnity against the owner of the dog, whom he joined as a third party. The county ct. judge awarded appct. £1 per week during the total or partial incapacity. There was no evidence as to how the dog escaped on to the stairs, but the county ct. judge held it was the duty of the owner to keep his dog on his own premises & not to let it escape or use the staircase unless it was under control, & therefore appct. had a right of action against the owner, & resp. was entitled to indemnity by the owner: —Held: there was no evidence of any breach of duty or negligence on the part of the owner of the dog, who was accordingly not liable to indemnify the employer.—HINES v. TOUSLEY (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 773; 135 L. T. 296; 70 Sol. Jo. 732; 19 B. W. C. C. 216, C. A.

4115. Negligence of defendant — Question of fact.]—A cattle drover was knocked down & killed by a motor car. His dependant claimed compensation from the employer, & the third party, the motorist, consented to the question of his liability to indemnify the employer being settled by arbn. under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The county ct. judge awarded compensation, &, finding that the negligence of the third party had caused the accident, ordered him to indemnify the employer. The third party appealed on the ground that there was no evidence of negligence:—Held: there was evidence to support the finding.—BATE v. WORSEY (1912), 5 B. W. C. C. 276, C. A.

4116. —— ——.]—A lad employed to attend to a horse & cart was sent to the Hull docks, where he was knocked down by an engine, belonging to the North-Eastern Railway Co., running on a rail along the dockyard road. The employer of the lad admitted the claim under the Act, but joined the railway co. as third parties, claiming indemnity on the grounds of their negligence. By consent of the parties the question of the indemnity was dealt with by arbn. The county ct. judge awarded in favour of the employers, finding that the railway co. were negligent & that the lad was guilty of no contributory negligence:—Held: these were questions of fact, & as they were decided upon by an arbitrator under the Act & there being some evidence to support the findings, the Ct. of Appeal had no jurisdiction to interfere.—CUTSFORTH v. JOHNSON (1913), 108 L. T. 138; 6 B. W. C. C. 28, C. A.

4117. —— ——.]—A workman was killed by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment, while unloading hay from a railway truck in the goods yard of a railway co. The employers paid £300 into ct. & that sum was dealt with by the county ct. judge in favour of the dependants in accordance with Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The employers made the railway co. third parties, alleging that the accident was caused by the negligence of the servants of the railway co. This question was tried by the consent of the parties under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 6 (2). The county ct. judge found on the facts that the negligence of the servants of the railway co. was the effective cause of the injury which caused the workman's death & gave judgment for the employers against the third parties. The third parties appealed to the Ct. of Appeal merely on the question of negligence:—Held: there was evidence to support the award & no misdirection. —SAIES v. BRITISH PETROLEUM CO., LTD. & GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 1289; 124 L. T. 436; 13 B. W. C. C. 253, C. A.

—— Contributory negligence of workman.]—See No. 4103, ante.

Collision between ships.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 115, Nos. 521, 522.

SECT. 26.—CONTRACTING OUT OF ACT.

SUB-SECT. 1. APPROVED SCHEME.

A. In General.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 31.

4118. Meaning of "scheme"—Not arrangement between number of employers & workmen.]—The scheme referred to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3, is one entered into between a particular employer & his workmen & not between a number of employers & workmen in a district.—REES v. OWEN (1907), 9 W. C. C. 35.

4119. Agreement by workman to accept—What amounts to—Writing not necessary.]—A workman applied for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58). The employers contended that by filling up a form & paying one-third of an insurance premium the workman had agreed to accept the benefits of a certified scheme in place of those of the Act. This the workman denied. The judge held that this was the intention of the workman, & that there was a sufficient contract to satisfy the provision of sect. 3. He therefore dismissed the application:—Held: (1) the decision was right; (2) such a contract need not be in writing.—BERRY v. CANTEEN & MESS CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LTD. (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 449, C. A.

4120. Validity of scheme—Rules must be certified.]—MOSS v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., No. 3858, ante.

4121. —— Ousting jurisdiction of court.]—GODWIN v. ADMIRALTY COMRS., No. 4123, post.

4122. Re-certification of scheme — Whether workman bound Necessity for acceptance—Renewal scheme.]—A scheme of compensation was certified in Nov. 1898, by the Registrar of Friendly Societies under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3, as applicable to defts.' workmen, & pltf., who was a workman in defts.' employment, agreed to come in under the scheme. The scheme expired at the end of 1903, & in Dec. 1903, a renewal scheme was certified by the Registrar, & defts. posted up a notice that workmen might enrol under the scheme. The course adopted at defts.' works was that a month's notice should be given if a workman wished to withdraw from the scheme. The workman had not given notice of withdrawal, but he did not enrol under the renewal scheme. Defts. deducted a certain sum from his wages as his contribution under the renewal scheme, upon the ground that the workman was bound by the renewal scheme until he gave notice that he would not be bound by it:—Held: the original scheme having expired, the workman was not bound by the renewal scheme unless defts. proved that the workman had agreed to accept the new scheme. —WILSON v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD., TREHARNE v. OCEAN COAL CO., LTD. (1905), 21 T. L. R. 621; 49 Sol. Jo. 597; 7 W. C. C. 34, C. A.

Sect. 26.—Contracting out of Act: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.; sub-sect. 2.]

Annotation:—Refd. Godwin v. Admiralty Comrs. (1911), 81 L. J. K. B. 532.

4123. —— Necessity for ballot of workmen.]—(1) A scheme of compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), is not bad because it purports to oust the jurisdiction of the arbitrator under the Act, & a workman who has agreed to accept the provisions of a duly certified scheme cannot resort to any of the provisions of the Act.

(2) On re-certification under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 15, of a scheme of compensation which has been certified under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), it is not necessary that a ballot of the workmen shall be taken before the registrar can recertify.—GODWIN v. ADMIRALTY COMRS., [1913] A. C. 638; 82 L. J. K. B. 1126; 109 L. T. 428; 29 T. L. R. 774; 6 B. W. C. C. 788, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Howarth v. Knowles, [1913] 3 K. B. 675.

4124. —— Right of workman to benefits of new rules.]—A contracting-out scheme under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3, was embodied in rules which provided (inter alia) that every workman in case of injury arising out of his employment should while unable to work receive as compensation a specified sum per week. The scheme & rules were duly certified by a certificate of the Registrar of Friendly Societies dated Dec. 18, 1907, which stated that if not renewed they were to expire on June 30, 1913; & these rules were printed in book form. On June 12, 1912, while that scheme & rules were in operation, one of the workmen sustained an injury by an accident which incapacitated him from work, & he thereupon commenced & continued to receive compensation in accordance with these rules. Pursuant to a resolution of the members of the scheme under these rules, a scheme & rules were adopted which were for the most part identical with the original scheme & rules, but differed from them in certain particulars & (inter alia) in providing that every workman should receive compensation on a somewhat higher scale as from the date of the accident. The later scheme & rules were certified by a certificate dated June 30, 1913, which after referring to the original scheme certificate stated that: "The certificate & the foregoing scheme as modified is hereby renewed until June 13, 1918"; & the rules as altered were separately printed in book form. The workman's weekly contributions to the scheme were in fact of the same amount both before & after June 30, 1913:—Held: the scheme & rules which were certified on June 30, 1913, were not a new scheme & rules, but merely a continuation of the original scheme & rules with alterations affecting (inter alia) the scale of compensation, & the workman, although injured by an accident which had happened before that date, was entitled as from that date to be paid compensation on the higher scale under the scheme & rules as altered.—Re BEARD & WEST YORKSHIRE COLLIERIES OF CHARLESWORTH (J. & J.), LTD. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 385; 118 L. T. 83; 10 B. W. C. C. 707, C. A.

4125. Meaning of "accident" in scheme—Application of the Act—Industrial disease.]—LEAF v. FURZE, No. 3800, ante.

B. Effect of Acceptance by Workman.

4126. Whether proceedings can be taken—To determine question of fact under rules.]—Under a scheme of compensation the affairs & the business of a society were to be managed by the officers & a committee of management. The committee were empowered to stop payment of allowances should an injured member fail to go to work when able to do so. One of the rules was as follows:—"In all cases of doubt or difference as to the construction of these rules, & in the event of any circumstance occurring which is not provided for thereby, the decision of the committee shall be conclusive & final, & there shall be no appeal therefrom." After making inquiries & hearing a member in receipt of a weekly allowance, the committee decided that he had failed to go to work when able to do so, & thereupon stopped the allowance:—Held: a court of law had jurisdiction to hear & determine the question of fact whether the member had failed to go to work when able to do so.—HAWORTH v. ANDREW KNOWLES & SONS, LTD. ACCIDENT SOCIETY (1903), 19 T. L. R. 658; sub nom. HOWARTH v. ANDREW KNOWLES & SONS, LTD. ACCIDENT SOCIETY, 5 W. C. C. 57, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Allen v. G. E. Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 243.

4127. —— Under Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (c. 42).]—TAYLOR v. HAMSTEAD COLLIERY CO., No. 4065, ante.

4128. —— Under Workmen's Compensation Acts.]—A workman who has agreed to come under a scheme of compensation which has been certified by the Registrar of Friendly Societies as complying with the conditions required by Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3 (1), is outside the provisions of the Act altogether.

A tinsmith employed in a Govt. dockyard signed a contract by which he agreed to accept the provisions of a duly certified scheme of compensation in substitution for the provisions of the Act. The scheme provided that when it was established to the satisfaction of the Treasury that the death of a workman had resulted from an injury within the provisions of the Act, remuneration according to the scale therein mentioned should be payable to his dependants. The tinsmith died from lead poisoning, & his widow claimed compensation from the Lords Comrs. of the Admlty. They at first denied liability, but on the hearing of an application by her for arbitration under the Act they admitted liability to pay compensation under the scheme. The county ct. judge made an award in favour of appct. for the amount admitted to be due:—Held: deceased had contracted himself out of the Act, the liability of the employers was to be determined by the scheme solely, & consequently the jurisdiction of the county ct. judge was entirely ousted.—HORN v. ADMIRALTY LORDS COMRS., [1911] 1 K. B. 24; 80 L. J. K. B. 278; 103, L. T. 614; 27 T. L. R. 84; 4 B. W. C. C. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Godwin v. Admiralty Comrs., [1913] A. C. 638; Howarth v. Knowles, [1913] 3 K. B. 675. Consd. Leaf v. Furze, [1914] 3 K. B. 1068.

4129. —— ——.]—GODWIN v. ADMIRALTY COMRS., No. 4123, ante.

q. Whether proceedings can be taken].—THOMPSON v. R. (1921), 20 Exch. C. R. 467; 69 D. L. R. 170.—CAN.

4130. —— ——.]—A workman, having entered into an agreement with the Admlty. subjecting himself to the conditions of an authorised scheme for compensation in lieu of the provisions of Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), was injured & awarded compensation under the scheme. He then sought to withdraw from the scheme, & applied for arbn. under the Act. The county ct. judge dismissed the application, on the ground that he had no jurisdiction to hear it: — Held: the decision of the county ct. judge was correct.—BARTON v. ADMIRALTY LORDS COMRS. (1917), 10 B. W. C. C. 314, C. A.

4131. —— —— Invalid scheme.]—MOSS v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., No. 3858, ante.

4132. —— —— Where scheme terminated.]—Where a workman had accepted a scheme of compensation duly certified under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897 (c. 37), s. 3, & had met with an accident in the course of his employment, in respect of which he received weekly payments from 1901 to 1912, when the funds of the society were exhausted, the scheme having been terminated in consequence of not being re-certified under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58):—Held: the workman, having accepted the scheme, was outside the provisions of the Act altogether, & could not successfully claim compensation thereunder.—HOWARTH v. KNOWLES (A.) & SONS, LTD., [1913] 3 K. B. 675; 82 L. J. K. B. 1325; 109 L. T. 278; 29 T. L. R. 667; 57 Sol. Jo. 728; sub nom. HAWORTH v. KNOWLES (ANDREW) & SONS, LTD., 6 B. W. C. C. 596, C. A.

4133. —— —— Workman not heard orally by committee.]—DOWLING v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., No. 4136, post.

4134. —— To recover amount claimed under scheme.]—LEAF v. FURZE, No. 3800, ante.

4135. —— —— Where power to committee to determine all questions.]—Under a scheme formed by deft. co. pursuant to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3, & managed by an accident committee, certain allowances were to be made "in case of the death of a member through an injury arising out of & in the course of his duties in the co.'s service." The scheme (inter alia) provided that "any question with regard to what is an injury within the meaning of that term as used in the scheme, as to who are dependants, as to which dependants are entitled to receive payments due from the fund, & the amount or amounts of such payments, shall be determined by the committee." Further, that "if any question (other than such as the committee, or the board of directors, are hereby expressly empowered to decide) shall arise with respect to the scheme . . . or with respect to the construction or meaning of the scheme, or the rules framed in connection therewith, or any variation or alteration thereof respectively, such question shall be settled by the committee, whose decision shall be final & conclusive."

A workman in the employment of the co., who had become a party to the scheme, met with an accident in the goods depot of the co., & died from his injuries. His widow claimed compensation under the scheme as a dependant, but the committee declined to admit the claim without giving any reasons for their decision. In an action by the widow against the co. & the accident committee claiming a declaration that the death of her husband was caused by an injury arising out of & in the course of his duties in deft. co.'s service, & £195 compensation:—Held: (1) having regard to whole scheme, which was intended to be in substitution for the rights of workmen under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), the committee had power to determine all claims arising under the scheme, & such determination was final; (2) pltf. having failed to obtain an allowance of her claim by the committee, could not sustain the action.—ALLEN v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO., [1914] 2 K. B. 243; 83 L. J. K. B. 898; 110 L. T. 498; 7 B. W. C. C. 986, C. A.

4136. Right of workman to mandamus—Against tribunal appointed under scheme—Where claim improperly determined.]—Where a scheme of compensation for the workmen of an employer has been certified under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3, & therefore substituted for the provisions of the Act, & a particular workman has joined the scheme, the fact that he is not heard orally on a claim by him for compensation under the scheme does not confer any jurisdiction to deal with his case under the Act. His only remedy is in a proper case to apply for mandamus against the tribunal constituted by the scheme to hear & determine his claim in accordance with substantial principles of justice.—DOWLING v. GREAT EASTERN RY. CO. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 380; 120 L. T. 460; 12 B. W. C. C. 12, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CONTRACTING OUT CONTRARY TO ACT.

See Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (c. 84), s. 1 (3).

4137. What amounts to—Penal clause.]—An injured workman made a written agreement with his employers under which he accepted the full compensation due to him under Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), as long as he was totally disabled by the accident. He also agreed that he would submit himself under certain circumstances to the medical referee of the district in the event of any dispute arising as to his fitness for employment, & that if he refused to assist in the application for examination by the medical referee all further rights to compensation in respect to the accident should cease:—Held: the penal clause at the end of the agreement was a contracting out of the Act, contrary to Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 3 (1).—BRITISH & SOUTH AMERICAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. v. NEIL (1910), 3 B. W. C. C. 413, C. A.

—— Agreement to accept lump sum.]—See Sect. 15, sub-sect. 3.

Part XV.—Apprenticeship.

SECT. 1.—THE CONTRACT OF APPRENTICESHIP.

SUB-SECT. 1.—COMPARISON WITH CONTRACT OF SERVICE.

A. Intention of Parties.

4138. Decisive of nature of contract.] — The intention of the parties at the time must decide, whether a contract be in the nature of an apprenticeship or of a hiring & service. They are not convertible.—R. v. LITTLE BOLTON (INHABITANTS) (1783), Cald. Mag. Cas. 367.

Annotations:—Dbtd. R. v. Laindon (1799), 8 Term Rep. 379. Folld. R. v. Eccleston (1802), 2 East, 298. Apld. R. v. Burbach (1813), 1 M. & S. 370. Distd. R. v. Mountsorrell (1814), 2 M. & S. 460. Refd. R. v. Shinfield (1811), 14 East, 541; R. v. St. Margaret's, King's Lynn (1826), 6 B. & C. 97; R. v. Crediton (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 493; R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238; R. v. Great Wishford (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216.

4139. ——.]—Where the pauper agreed with a weaver to serve him for a year & a half & the master was to teach him to weave & the pauper was to have half his earnings & find himself in everything under which contract the pauper served his master for above a year:—Held: he thereby gained a settlement as by hiring & service it being the apparent intention of the parties to create the relation of master & servant & not that of master & apprentice.—R. v. ECCLESTON (INHABITANTS) (1802), 2 East, 298; 102 E. R. 382.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Shinfield (1811), 14 East, 541; R. v. Crediton (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 493; R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238. Dtbd. R. v. Great Wishford (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216.

4140. ——.]—R. v. COMBE (INHABITANTS), No. 4151, post.

4141. —— To be collected from whole instrument.]—(1) Whether a contract be a contract of apprenticeship or of hiring & service must depend on the intention of the parties which is to be collected from the whole of their agreement.

(2) If the relation of master & servant be created by the contract of the parties, though they do not use the very words "master & apprentice" yet if they use words tantamount it is sufficient (LORD KENYON, C.J.).

(3) The first question is . . . on the admissibility of the parol evidence. This parol evidence was not offered to contradict the written agreement, but to ascertain an independent fact [payment of premium to master] & I think it was properly received in evidence (LORD KENYON, C.J.).—R. v. LAINDON (INHABITANTS) (1799), 8 Term Rep. 379; 2 Const. 378; 101 E. R. 1444.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. R. v. Eccleston (1802), 2 East, 298. Refd. R. v. Shinfield (1811), 14 East, 541. As to (2) Refd. Re Bush, Ex p. Fussell (1837), 2 Deac. 158. As to (3) Folld. R. v. Llangunnor (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 616. Apld. R. v. Stoke upon Trent (1843), 5 Q. B. 303.

4142. —— ——.]—R. v. ST. MARGARET'S, KING'S LYNN (INHABITANTS), No. 4159, post.

4143. —— As shown by principal object of agreement.]—An adult contracts to serve a plumber as an articled servant for four years, to learn his trade, at weekly wages; to be considered as an out-apprentice; to do gardening or any other work his master set him about; &, when ill, not to receive wages; the master agreeing to teach him his trade. This is not a contract of hiring & service, but an imperfect contract of apprenticeship.

The master undertook to teach the pauper his trade, so that the learning a trade was clearly one great object of the parties to the contract. There is a provision in the instrument, that if the pauper should be ill the master should not pay him any wages during the time of his illness. That is by no means an improper stipulation in a bargain for an apprenticeship, but in the case of a hiring & service the law imposes on the master the obligation of providing for a servant during illness (BAYLEY, J.).—R. v. TIPTON (INHABITANTS) (1829), 9 B. & C. 888; 4 Man. & Ry. K. B. 703; 2 Man. & Ry. M. C. 415; 8 L. J. O. S. M. C. 52; 109 E. R. 330.

4144. —— ——.]—R. v. GREAT WISHFORD (INHABITANTS), No. 4172, post.

4145. —— ——.]—The justices were quite right in regarding this as a bonâ fide contract of apprenticeship, meaning that the real object of the contract was that he should be taught to be a riding groom, & not merely that he should be employed as a stable-boy for a term of years (LORD ALVERSTONE, C.J.).—HORAN v. HAYHOE, [1904] 1 K. B. 288; 73 L. J. K. B. 133; 90 L. T. 12; 68 J. P. 102; 52 W. R. 231; 20 T. L. R. 118; 48 Sol. Jo. 117, D. C.

4146. —— —— Subordinate service in other capacity.]—K. was "clubbed" with R. for three years at so much per week, & also agreed to do any work that R. set him about. The term "clubbing," signifies, contracting to serve for the purpose of being taught some art or trade, & to have less wages on account of learning it.

There is an hiring & service to give the pauper a settlement. The doubt at the sessions was raised from the agreement's stating that the pauper was hired for a length of time, & was to learn a trade from his master. But the concluding sentence puts it beyond question, that it was intended that he should be an hired servant, & not an apprentice, "for the pauper was to do any work his master put him about" (LORD KENYON, C.J.).—R. v. COLTISHALL (INHABITANTS) (1793), Nolan, 214; 5 Term Rep. 193; 101 E. R. 109.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Laindon (1799), 8 Term Rep. 379. Folld. R. v. Martham (1801), 1 East, 239.

4147. —— —— ——.]—A man who was a carpenter & occupier of land, was applied to by another to permit him to succeed a then apprentice he had. The master said he would take no more apprentices unless they would work on the land as well as at the trade, & that he would take him to do work as a servant. It was agreed, that the pauper should live with the master for three years, & learn the business of a carpenter, & do any other work he required him to do. The master was to pay weekly wages, & for over-work:—Held: this was a defective contract of apprenticeship, & not a contract of hiring & service.—R. v. IGHTHAM (INHABITANTS) (1836), 4 Ad. & El. 937; 2 Har. & W. 7; 6 Nev. & M. K. B. 320; 3 Nev. & M. M. C. 589; 5 L. J. M. C. 105; 111 E. R. 1036.

4148. —— —— Deductions for illness, etc.]—A. clubbed with B., which signifies serving another for the purpose of learning a trade, for three years at a certain rate of weekly wages with a proviso that if he were prevented from working by bad weather, illness or want of employment there should be a proportionate deduction of wages:—Held: A. gained a settlement by serving a year under this agreement though occasional deductions on these accounts were made.—R. v. MARTHAM (INHABITANTS) (1801), 1 East, 239; 102 E. R. 93.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Edgmond (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 107; R. v. Polesworth (1824), 4 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 258.

4149. —— —— Instruction incidental to service.]—R. v. NORTHOWRAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4166, post.

4150. —— Contract void for want of stamp.]—R. v. HIGHNAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4229, post.

B. Instruction the Primary Object.

4151. General rule.]—A pauper was "hired" by his uncle, a carpenter, "to learn his trade," & "was to do any other work as well as that of a carpenter." His uncle was to find him part of his food & clothing, but he was to lodge with his father. Pauper served his uncle on these terms five years. At the end of two years it was proposed to draw up indentures, to exempt pauper from the militia; but none ever were drawn up:—Held: this was not a contract of hiring & service, but an imperfect contract of apprenticeship.

In determining what is the true nature of the contract, the intention of the parties is principally to be regarded (LORD TENTERDEN, C.J.).

The parents proposed to send the pauper out to service; but the uncle suggested that it would be better that he sould go & learn his trade. The object, therefore, clearly, from that moment was to put the pauper with his uncle as a pupil & apprentice, & not as a servant (LORD TENTERDEN, C.J.).—R. v. COMBE (INHABITANTS) (1828), 8 B. & C. 82; 2 Man. & Ry. K. B. 30; 1 Man. & Ry. M. C. 283; 6 L. J. O. S. M. C. 105; 108 E. R. 973.
Annotations:—Folld. R. v. Edingale (1830), 10 B. & C. 739. Refd. R. v. Tipton (1829), 9 B. & C. 888.

4152. ——.]—Where the substantial object of the parties to a contract is to learn, & not to serve, the contract should be deemed one of apprenticeship & not one of hiring & service (BAYLEY, J.).—R. v. EDINGALE (INHABITANTS) (1830), as reported in 10 B. & C. 739; 109 E. R. 624.

4153. ——.]—Where teaching & learning are the principle object of the parties, though there is a service the contract is considered to be one of apprenticeship (TAUNTON, J.).—R. v. CREDITON (INHABITANTS) (1831), as reported in 2 B. & Ad. 493; 109 E. R. 1226.
Annotations:—Folld. R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238. Refd. R. v. Great Wishford (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216.

4154. ——.]—R. v. GREAT WISHFORD (INHABITANTS), No. 4172, post.

4155. ——.]—HORAN v. HAYHOE, No. 4145; ante.

4156. Express contract to teach.]—Where the father agreed with R. that R. should take his son for six years, to teach him the trade of a framework knitter, & he was to allow R. 9*s*. a week for the first three years, for teaching him & his board & lodging:—Held: this was a defective contract of apprenticeship, & therefore the son did not gain a settlement under it.—R. v. MOUNTSORRELL (INHABITANTS) (1814), 2 M. & S. 460; 105 E. R. 452.

4157. ——.]—Where by a parol contract the master agreed to teach the pauper to make stockings during the year, for which he was to receive two guineas, & the pauper was to have his earnings, paying his master for the use of the frame, etc., & the pauper continued in the service a year & a half:—Held: the pauper did not gain a settlement by hiring & service.

The only agreement was that the master should teach the pauper for a year (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—R. v. BILBOROUGH (INHABITANTS) (1817), 1 B. & Ald. 115; 106 E. R. 43.
Annotations:—Folld. R. v. St. Mary, Kidwelly (1824), 2 B. & C. 750; R. v. Crediton (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 493. Refd. R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238.

4158. ——.]—The father of a pauper aged fourteen years agreed by parol to give a shoemaker a guinea for teaching his trade to the pauper for twelve months. The son served the twelve months under the agreement. At the end of that period the father agreed that his son should work for the shoemaker for twelve months making shoes at 3*d*. per pair for the first six months & 4*d*. per pair for the last six months under this latter agreement the pauper served six months only:—Held: this latter service could not be connected with the service of the former year so as to give a settlement inasmuch as the first agreement created the relation of teacher & scholar & not that of master & servant & the whole year's service required to confer a settlement must be under a contract or contracts creating the relation of master & servant.—R. v. ST. MARY, KIDWELLY (INHABITANTS) (1824), 2 B. & C. 750; 4 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 309; 2 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 291; 107 E. R. 562.
Annotation:—Consd. R. v. Crediton (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 493.

4159. ——.]—(1) The question of intention is to be collected from all the circumstances; no particular form of words being necessary to create an apprenticeship.

(2) A premium to the master is not a necessary ingredient; though the giving of a premium may be a strong circumstance to infer an intended apprenticeship.

A shoemaker proposed to the mother of a pauper to take him to learn his business. The boy was to serve four years, was to board & lodge with his mother, & was to have half of what he earned. The mother consented, & the boy served four years upon those terms. No indentures were executed, on account of the poverty of the mother; & no premium was paid:—Held: this was not a contract of hiring & service, but a defective contract of apprenticeship.—R. v. ST. MARGARET'S, KING'S LYNN (INHABITANTS) (1826), 6 B. & C. 97; 9 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 160; 4 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 260; 5 L. J. O. S. M. C. 18; 108 E. R. 388.
Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. R. v. Combe (1828), 8 B. & C. 82; R. v. Edingale (1830), 10 B. & C. 739. Consd. R. v. Great Wishford (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216. Refd. R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238. Generally, Refd. R. v. Ightham (1836), 2 Har. & W. 7.

4160. ——.]—R. v. TIPTON (INHABITANTS), No. 4113, ante.

4161. ——.]—The pauper by an unstamped memorandum, to which his father was a party, hired himself in the service of T. W. to labour at the art & mystery of a cotton weaver for three years; & he promised T. W. that his secrets he would keep, all his lawful commands strictly obey, & serve him faithfully for the said term. By the same memorandum the master undertook, as a reward for pauper's labours, to give him half his just earnings; & further covenanted, as a complete compensation for his industrious services, to instruct him in all the art & mystery of a cotton weaver, to the utmost of his power, in the above term:—Held: the agreement with T. W. was a defective contract of apprenticeship.—R. v. NETHER KNUTSFORD (INHABITANTS) (1831), 1 B. & Ad. 726; 9 L. J. O. S. M. C. 52; 109 E. R. 957.

4162. ——.]—J. S. agreed with a flannel manufacturer for 12 months, to learn the art of weaving flannel, he receiving one-half of what he earned, & finding himself in meat, drink, & lodging, & the master to have the other half for teaching him:—Held: a defective contract of apprenticeship, & not a contract of hiring & service.—R. v. NEWTOWN (INHABITANTS) (1834), 1 Ad. & El.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 1, B., C. & D.; sub-sects. 2 & 3, A., B. & C. (a).]

238; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 306; 2 Nev. & M. M. C. 226; 3 L. J. M. C. 79; 110 E. R. 1196.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Great Wishford (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216.

4163. —— For no fixed period.]—A master workman employed in a trade within 5 Eliz. c. 4, a person who had never before worked in it, under a parol agreement to teach him the business, in consideration of a premium & to pay him weekly wages. This is not an apprenticeship within the statute.

There is no instrument to constitute the relation of master & apprentice; there is no evidence of any term being fixed; & he was to be paid weekly wages from the moment of his being set to work (LORD ELLENBOROUGH).—BEALE v. GEALE (1809), 2 Camp. 1; 170 E. R. 1060, N. P.

4164. —— Terms in contract negativing apprenticeship.]—By an agreement in writing deft. engaged pltf. who was of full age, as an "improver" to the trade of watch repairing, & undertook to teach pltf. or cause him to be taught for two years. Pltf. paid a premium & was paid a weekly wage & undertook to employ himself industriously & to the best of his abilities. The agreement also provided that pltf. should work the weekly standard hours, & that any short time occasioned by pltf. either by sickness or any other cause should be deducted from his weekly wage in proportion to the loss of time, & that any overtime worked should be paid for in the same ratio. Annexed to the agreement were the following terms: "Improvers are required on trial one week. No wages paid during time of trial. Improvers must supply their own tools. If improver's time is completed at or under twenty-one years of age he must be articled as an apprentice, but if his term commences after the age of twenty-one, a written & stamped agreement must be drawn up & duly signed." Pltf. having been dismissed for gross misconduct during the currency of the agreement, sued deft. for damages for breach of contract:—Held: on the construction of the agreement, it was not a contract of apprenticeship, & deft. was entitled to dismiss pltf.—JAMES v. KRAUTH (1910), 26 T. L. R. 240, D. C.

4165. Payment to master in consideration of teaching.]—Where the father of the pauper contracted with J. S. that his son should be with him, & should work with him for two years, & have what he got, & should allow 2*s.* per week out of his gains to J. S. viz. 1*s.* for teaching him the business of a frame-knitter, 9*d.* for the rent of a frame, & 3*d.* for the standing:—Held: this was a contract of hiring & service, & not an apprenticeship.—R. v. BURBACH (INHABITANTS) (1813), 1 M. & S. 370; 105 E. R. 139.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Bilborough (1817), 1 B. & Ald. 115. Refd. R. v. St. Margaret's, King's Lynn (1826), 6 B. & C. 97; R. v. Edingale (1830), 5 Man. & Ry. K. B. 648; R. v. Newtown (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 238.

4166. ——.]—A contract between master & servant is not necessarily a contract of apprenticeship, because it contains a stipulation about the servant being "taught" or "instructed in" his work. By agreement between A., B., & C., A. agreed to hire B. for three years to dress silk, at a certain rate per week in proportion to the work done. There was then a stipulation that C. should receive from A. a sum per week for "superintending & instructing" B. to be a competent workman:—Held: this was a contract of hiring & service.—R. v. NORTHOWRAM (INHABITANTS) (1846), 9 Q. B. 24; 2 New Sess. Cas. 437; 15 L. J. M. C. 140; 7 L. T. O. S. 183; 11 J. P. 4; 10 Jur. 1003; 115 E. R. 1184.

4167. No contract to teach.]—Three months after a pauper, under age, had hired himself generally to a brick maker for a year, they entered into a written contract, unstamped & without seals, whereby the pauper covenanted & agreed to serve his master for three years, to learn to make bricks, etc., on condition of his master finding him in board, lodging, & clothes, & for him to be decently clothed at the end of the three years, on condition of his attending the kiln at nights:—Held: this contract was no proof of an apprenticeship in the contemplation of the parties, but only of a new hiring, for the master did not bind himself to teach him the trade.—R. v. SHINFIELD (INHABITANTS) (1811), 14 East, 541; 104 E. R. 709.

4168. ——.]—The sessions sent up a case to the Ct. of K. B., which found certain facts, & set out this written agreement: "Memorandum, that the undersigned R. L. agrees on behalf of his son R. L. that he shall serve R. M., of etc., in his business of a wheelwright, from this time to May 27, 1830; the said R. M. paying, at the expiration of the said term, £5 to the said R. L. the younger; R. L. to find his son clothes, washing, & all other necessaries, & R. M. meat, drink, & lodging," & the case also stated that resps. proposed to give in evidence, conversations between the parties & at the time of signing the agreement, & also an indorsement on the paper on which the agreement was written, which evidence was rejected, & the case concluded by submitting to the ct., as a distinct question, whether the agreement was an agreement of hiring & service, but not submitting any question as to the admissibility of the evidence:—Held: this agreement was a contract of hiring & service.—R. v. BILLINGHAY (INHABITANTS) (1836), 5 Ad. & El. 676; 2 Har. & W. 419; 1 Nev. & P. K. B. 149; 1 Nev. & P. M. C. 29; 6 L. J. M. C. 38; 111 E. R. 1321.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Northowram (1846), 9 Q. B. 24.

C. Use of Technical Words.

4169. Not essential to contract—"Master" & "apprentice."]—R. v. LAINDON (INHABITANTS), No. 4141, ante.

4170. —— ——.]—A contract under seal, & stamped, to serve another for three years at so much per week, the master agreeing to learn the other a trade, & the latter agreeing if he lost any time to the prejudice of his master to abate so much per day, constitutes an apprenticeship.

No technical words are necessary to constitute relation of master & apprentice, nor is it necessary that there should be any premium given to the master (LORD KENYON, C.J.).—R. v. RAINHAM (INHABITANTS) (1801), 1 East, 531; 2 Const. 383; 102 E. R. 205.

Annotations:—Consd. R. v. Eccleston (1802), 2 East, 298. Refd. R. v. Tipton (1829), 8 L. J. O. S. M. C. 52.

4171. ——.]—R. v. ST. MARGARET'S, KING'S LYNN (INHABITANTS), No. 4159, ante.

4172. —— "Teach" & "learn."]—The true test, whether an agreement is a contract of hiring

---

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

4167 i. No contract to teach.]—The employment of pupil teachers & monitors in National schools in Ireland is an employment within National Insurance Act, 1911 (c. 55), & the Comrs. of National Education are the employers. It is not a contract of apprenticeship, because an essential element of apprenticeship, the right to receive instruction, is absent from the contract.—Re NATIONAL INSURANCE ACT, 1911 (PUPIL TEACHERS & MONITORS), [1913] 1 I. R. 219.—IR.

or of apprenticeship, is the apparent object of the parties, & if that object is for one party to teach & the other to learn, the agreement is a contract of apprenticeship.

It is not necessary that the precise words, to teach or to learn, should occur in the agreement, to constitute it a contract of apprenticeship.—R. v. GREAT WISHFORD (INHABITANTS) (1835), 4 Ad. & El. 216; 1 Har. & W. 489; 5 Nev. & M. K. B. 540; 3 Nev. & M. M. C. 367; 5 L. J. M. C. 25; 111 E. R. 768.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. Ightham (1836), 4 Ad. & El. 937. Mentd. R. v. West Riding of Yorkshire JJ., Tollerton v. Idle (1842), 7 Jur. 15; Ex p. Tollerton Overseers (1842), 3 Q. B. 792.

D. Payment of Premium.

4173. Not essential to contract.]—R. v. RAINHAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4170, ante.

4174. ——.]—R. v. ST. MARGARET'S, KING'S LYNN (INHABITANTS), No. 4159, ante.

4175. Proof of payment—Admission of extrinsic evidence.]—R. v. LAINDON (INHABITANTS), No. 4141, ante.

Return of premium.]—See Sub-sect. 12, B.; Sub-sect. 13, M., post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CAPACITY OF PARTIES.

4176. Who may be master—Infant.]—An apprentice bound to an infant gains settlement under indenture notwithstanding master's infancy.—R. v. ST. PETROX (INHABITANTS) (1791), 4 Term Rep. 196; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 401; 100 E. R. 970.

4177. —— Different persons in succession.]—R. v. LOUTH (INHABITANTS), No. 4230, post.

4178. —— Corporation.]—A contract of apprenticeship is not invalid by reason of the fact that the master to whom the apprentice is bound is a corpn.—BURNLEY EQUITABLE CO-OPERATIVE & INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY v. CASSON, [1891] 1 Q. B. 75; 60 L. J. M. C. 59; 63 L. T. 652; 55 J. P. 166; 39 W. R. 124; 7 T. L. R. 41, D. C.

4179. Who may be apprentice—Adult.]—R. v. TIPTON (INHABITANTS), No. 4143, ante.

4180. —— ——.]—There is nothing which prevents adult persons from binding themselves apprentice if they wish to do so (CHITTY, J.).—LANNER v. PALACE THEATRE, LTD., ECCARIUS & ARMSTRONG (1893), 9 T. L. R. 165.

—— Infant.]—See, generally, Sub-sect. 3, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—CONTRACTS BY INFANTS.

A. When Binding.

See, generally, INFANTS, Vol. XXVIII., pp. 152 et seq.

4181. By custom.]—An infant cannot bind himself apprentice except by special custom.—WHITTINGHAM v. HILL (1618), as reported in Cro. Jac. 494; 79 E. R. 421.

Annotations:—Refd. Walter v. Everard (1891), 65 L. T. 443. Mentd. Corpe v. Overton (1833), 10 Bing. 252.

—— Custom of London.]—See Sub-sect. 3, B., post.

4182. As being for infant's benefit.]—An infant may bind himself apprentice by indenture, because it is for his benefit; &, though he be a pauper in the parish workhouse at the time of the binding, & the parish officers pay the premium, yet it is not necessary that they should sign the indenture, or that the justices should assent thereto, if the apprentice be not a parish apprentice within 43 Eliz. c. 2.—R. v. ARUNDEL (INHABITANTS) (1816), 5 M. & S. 257; 104 E. R. 1045.

4183. ——.]—In an action by the master of an apprentice upon a covenant in the apprenticeship deed by the apprentice, who was an infant at the date of the deed, for the payment of the balance of the premium three years & a half after that date, the jury found that the deed was a provident & proper arrangement for the infant, & necessary if he wished to learn the business to which he was apprenticed, that the premium was fair & reasonable, & that instruction had been given under the deed:—Held: the liability of the infant for necessary instruction duly provided stood upon the same footing as that for ordinary necessaries supplied to him, & consequently the fact that he had entered into a covenant under seal for the payment of the premium did not prevent him from being liable for the amount claimed.—WALTER v. EVERARD, [1891] 2 Q. B. 369; 60 L. J. Q. B. 738; 65 L. T. 443; 55 J. P. 693; 39 W. R. 676; 7 T. L. R. 469, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Gadd v. Thompson, [1911] 1 K. B. 304. Refd. Roberts v. Gray, [1913] 1 K. B. 520.

4184. When contract for infant's benefit—Not manifestly to his prejudice.]—COOPER v. SIMMONS, No. 4348, post.

Contracts not for infant's benefit.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D., post.

B. Custom of London.

See, generally, METROPOLIS.

4185. Capacity of infant to bind himself—Over fourteen.]—CODE v. HOLMES (1623), Palm. 361; 81 E. R. 1124.

4186. —— —— & unmarried.]—An infant unmarried, & above the age of fourteen years, may bind himself apprentice to a freeman of London; & by the custom of that city, the master shall have the same remedies against him on the covenants of the indenture as if he had been of full age.—HORN v. CHANDLER (1670), 1 Mod. Rep. 271; 86 E. R. 874.

4187. Procedure as to enrolment.]—CODE v. HOLMES (1623), Palm. 361; 81 E. R. 1124.

4188. Remedy for non-enrolment by master.]—CODE v. HOLMES (1623), Palm. 361; 81 E. R. 1124.

4189. Liable on covenant—As though of full age.]—By the custom of London an infant apprentice can bind himself by covenant, & be sued thereon as if he were of full age.—STANTON'S CASE (1583), Moore, K. B. 135; 72 E. R. 489.

Annotations:—Mentd. Caudell v. Shaw (1791), 4 Term Rep. 361; Beard v. Webb (1800), 2 Bos. & P. 93.

4190. —— ——.]—WALKER v. NICHOLSON (1599), Cro. Eliz. 652; 78 E. R. 891.

4191. —— —— ——.]—HORN v. CHANDLER, No. 4186, ante.

C. Remedies against Infant for Breach.

(a) Action on Covenant.

4192. Whether action lies—Covenant to serve honestly & faithfully.]—FLEMING v. PITMAN (1623), Win. 63; 124 E. R. 54.

4193. ——.]—(1) Breach of covenant will not lie against an infant apprentice upon his indentures.

(2) If he [the apprentice] misbehave himself, the master may correct him in his service (per

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

4182. As being for infant's benefit.]—A minor may bind himself by a contract of apprenticeship if it be for his benefit.—POLLARD v. ROUSE (1910), I. L. R. 33 Mad. 288.—IND.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (a).

4193 i. Whether action lies.]—NEW-

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 3, C. (a), (b) & (c), D. & E.; sub-sect. 4.]

CUR.).—GYLBERT v. FLETCHER (1629), Cro. Car. 179; 79 E. R. 757.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. De Francesco v. Barnum (1889), 43 Ch. D. 165; De Francesco v. Barnum (No. 2) (1890), 60 L. J. Ch. 63. Distd. Walter v. Everard, [1891] 2 Q. B. 369; Gadd v. Thompson, [1911] 1 K. B. 304. Refd. R. v. Chillesford, R. v. Winslow (1825), 3 L. J. O. S. K. B. 148. As to (2) Refd. Walter v. Everard, [1891] 2 Q. B. 369.

4194. ——.]—LYLLY'S CASE (1702), 7 Mod. Rep. 15; 87 E. R. 1066.

Annotation:—Apld. De Francesco v. Barnum (1889), 43 Ch. D. 165.

4195. —— Covenant to pay premium—Necessary.]—WALTER v. EVERARD, No. 4183, ante.

—— By custom of London.]—See Sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

(b) By Summary Proceedings.

See, generally, Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), ss. 5, 6.

4196. Remedy not available—Where stipulation to prejudice of infant—Proviso for cessation of wages—During turn out—Proviso entitling infant to earn money elsewhere.]—By an apprenticeship deed the master covenanted to find the apprentice fair & reasonable work during the term, & pay him wages at a certain rate during the term. The apprentice, an infant, & his father covenanted that the master should not be liable to pay any wages to the apprentice so long as his business should be interrupted by any turn out, i. the apprentice was expressly authorised by the deed, during any such turn out, to employ himself in any other manner or with any other person for his own benefit. The apprentice absented himself from work, & the master applied, under Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), for an order to compel him to return. The magistrate refused the application:—Held: the magistrate was right, as the deed was invalid, & incapable of being enforced against the infant, by reason of the clause providing for the cessation of wages, which was a stipulation necessarily to the prejudice of the infant. The proviso entitling the infant to earn money elsewhere did not alter the character of the preceding clause so as to make the whole deed equitable or capable of being upheld.—MEAKIN v. MORRIS (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 352; 53 L. J. M. C. 72; 48 J. P. 344; 32 W. R. 661, D. C.

Annotations:—Apprvd. Corn v. Matthews, [1893] 1 Q. B. 310. Dbtd. Green v. Thompson, [1899] 2 Q. B. 1. Consd. Morrison, Fleet v. Fletcher (1900), 17 T. L. R. 95. Refd. Farmers & Cloveland Dairies Co. v. Riley (1893), 9 T. L. R. 260.

4197. —— —— —— During lock out—Liberty to get work elsewhere.]—An infant was apprenticed by a deed containing a provision that the masters should not be liable to pay wages to the apprentice so long as their business should be interrupted or impeded by or in consequence of any turn out, & that the apprentice might during any such turn out, & for such reasonable time thereafter as might be necessary for him to enable him to determine such employment as thereinafter mentioned, employ himself in any other manner or with any other person for his own benefit, & that in case the apprentice should elect so to employ himself the masters should not, during the time he should so employ himself, be bound to teach or instruct him:—Held: this provision was so much to the detriment of the infant that the apprenticeship deed could not be enforced against him under the Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), ss. 5, 6.—CORN v. MATTHEWS, [1893] 1 Q. B. 310; 62 L. J. M. C. 61; 68 L. T. 480; 57 J. P. 407; 41 W. R. 262; 9 T. L. R. 183; 37 Sol. Jo. 190; 4 R. 240, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Clements v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1894] 2 Q. B. 482. Distd. Green v. Thompson, [1899] 2 Q. B. 1. Consd. Bromley v. Smith, [1909] 2 K. B. 235.

4198. —— —— —— During accidental stoppage.]—By a deed of apprenticeship of an infant it was provided that the apprentice should serve for a term of years, excepting the usual holidays & days on which the master's business should be at a standstill through accident beyond the control of the master, & that during the said term, excepting & subject as aforesaid, the master should pay the apprentice wages for her services:—Held: the provision that the master should not be liable to pay wages to the apprentice during the excepted period was not so disadvantageous to her as to render the apprenticeship deed incapable of being enforced against her under Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90).—GREEN v. THOMPSON, [1899] 2 Q. B. 1; 68 L. J. Q. B. 719; 80 L. T. 691; 63 J. P. 486; 48 W. R. 31, D. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Morrison, Fleet v. Fletcher (1900), 17 T. L. R. 95.

(c) Injunction.

4199. Whether contract enforceable by injunction.]—As no action at law will lie on an apprenticeship deed against an infant apprentice, so this ct. will not grant an injunction against an infant apprentice to enforce a negative contract entered into by him in the apprenticeship deed.—DE FRANCESCO v. BARNUM (1889), 43 Ch. D. 165; 59 L. J. Ch. 151; 6 T. L. R. 59; sub nom. FRANCESCO v. BARNUM, 62 L. T. 40; 54 J. P. 420; 38 W. R. 187.

Annotation:—Consd. Evans v. Ware, [1892] 3 Ch. 502.

4200. —— Covenant not to operate till after termination of apprenticeship.]—The rule that an action will not lie to enforce a covenant entered into by an infant in an apprenticeship deed applies only to covenants which it is sought to enforce during the currency of the apprenticeship. A covenant to do or abstain from doing something after the apprenticeship shall have ceased may, provided that the deed as a whole was for the apprentice's benefit, be enforced against him by action.

By a deed of apprenticeship deft., an infant, bound himself apprentice to pltf. in his business as an architect & surveyor for the term of four years. The deed contained a covenant by deft. not to carry on within ten years after the expiration of the term the business of an architect or surveyor within ten miles of the town where the master resided. There was evidence that no architect in the town would accept as an apprentice a person who refused to enter into a similar restrictive covenant:—Held: (1) having regard to the impossibility of deft. obtaining instruction except upon the terms of his entering into the covenant, the covenant was reasonable; (2) as it did not come into operation until after the termination of the apprenticeship it was enforceable against deft. by injunction.—GADD v. THOMPSON, [1911] 1 K. B. 304; 80 L. J. K. B. 272; 103 L. T. 836; 27 T. L. R. 113; 55 Sol. Jo. 156, D. C.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Roberts v. Gray, [1913] 1 K. B. 520.

D. Reasonable Covenants.

4201. Extraordinary & unusual covenant not enforceable.]—By an apprenticeship deed between an infant, her parent, & pltf. the infant was bound apprentice to pltf. for seven years, to be taught stage dancing, upon certain terms, by one of which the infant contracted that she would not accept any professional engagement or contract matrimony during the said term without the consent of her master. The deed also contained mutual covenants by the master & the parent that the master would properly instruct the infant, & make certain payments to her for all dancing engagements in this country, & in foreign or colonial countries; in return for which the infant's services were to be entirely at the disposal of the master. But there was no stipulation that the master should provide engagements for the infant or maintain her while unemployed. There was also a provision that the master might put an end to the apprenticeship if the infant should be found after fair trial unfit for the work of stage dancing, or should break any of the engagements of the deed, or in any way misconduct herself. The infant having made a professional engagement with defendant B. pltf. brought an action against B. the infant, & her parent, to enforce the provisions of the deed & for damages for breach of it:—Held: the provisions of the deed were unreasonable, & could not be enforced against the infant or her parent; & consequently no action would lie against B. for enticing her away from pltf.'s employment.—DE FRANCESCO v. BARNUM (1890), 45 Ch. D. 430; 60 L. J. Ch. 63; 63 L. T. 438; 39 W. R. 5; 6 T. L. R. 463.

Annotations:—Apld. Corn v. Matthews, [1893] 1 Q. B. 310. Consd. Clements v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1894] 2 Q. B. 482. Apprvd. Mackinlay v. Bathurst (1919), 36 T. L. R. 31. Refd. Whitwood Chemical Co. v. Hardman (1891), 39 W. R. 433; Roberts v. Gray, [1913] 1 K. B. 520.

4202. What covenants are reasonable & for benefit of infant—Covenant in restraint of trade.]—GADD v. THOMPSON, No. 4200, ante.

4203. —— Remuneration—Subsequent increase in cost of living.]—DILLINGHAM v. HARRISON, [1917] W. N. 305.

—— Cesser of wages during stoppage.]—See Sub-sect. 3, C. (b), ante.

E. Termination.

4204. Must be for infant's benefit.] — It is a general rule of law that an infant cannot do any act to bind himself unless it be manifestly for his benefit. Binding himself an apprentice has been considered such an act, & therefore it has been held that an infant is competent to make such a contract. If then it is for the benefit of the infant to bind himself an apprentice, it is impossible to say generally, that it is for his benefit to dissolve such a connection; such a position involves a contradiction (ABBOTT, C.J.).—R. v. GREAT WIGSTON, LEICESTER (INHABITANTS) (1824), 3 B. & C. 484; 5 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 339; 2 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 445; 3 L. J. O. S. K. B. 85; 107 E. R. 813.

Annotations:—Consd. Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499. Mentd. Ellen v. Topp (1851), 6 Exch. 424.

4205. —— Repudiation.] — Where an infant bound himself apprentice for seven years by indenture, to which indenture he & his master were the only parties, & after serving some time, in consequence of the master's running away & leaving him, procured the indenture to be given up to him with the master's consent, & afterwards, during the seven years, hired himself as a yearly servant & served a year:—Held: he acquired a settlement by such hiring & service, for it was for the infant's benefit under the circumstances that he & his master should be at liberty to put an end to the indenture.—R. v. MOUNTSORREL (INHABITANTS) (1815), 3 M. & S. 497; 105 E. R. 697.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Great Wigston (1824), 3 B. & C. 484. Mentd. Ellen v. Topp (1850), 15 Jur. 451.

4206. —— ——.]—WATERMAN v. FRYER, No. 4255, post.

4207. Voidable as made to infant's prejudice—Not avoided by running away.]—R. v. EVERED, (1777), Cald. Mag. Cas. 26.

Annotation:—Refd. Gray v. Cookson (1812), 16 East, 13.

4208. —— ——.]—Qu.: whether an indenture of apprenticeship made by an infant, being for his benefit, is voidable by him; but it is not avoided by the act of his leaving his master's service, & going into the service of another.—ASHCROFT v. BERTLES (1796), 6 Term Rep. 652; 101 E. R. 753.

By consent of all parties.]—See Sub-sect. 13, B., post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—FORM OF CONTRACT.

4209. Whether deed necessary.] — A parol binding will not gain a settlement by apprenticeship.—R. v. KINGSWEARE (INHABITANTS) (1776), Burr. S. C. 839.

Annotation:—Mentd. Kirkby v. Taylor (1910), 102 L. T. 184.

4210. ——.]—If A. serve seven years as an apprentice, & there be no indenture, he cannot gain a settlement, either as an apprentice, or a yearly servant.—R. v. MARGRAM (INHABITANTS) (1793), 5 Term Rep. 153; Nolan, 174; 101 E. R. 88.

4211. ——.]—R. v. RAINHAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4170, ante.

4212. ——.]—BEALE v. GEALE, No. 4163, ante.

——.]—See, now, Apprentices Act, 1814 (c. 96), s. 2.

4213. —— Validity of contract not in writing.]—Resp. sold a bottle of a preparation coming within Medicines Stamp Act, 1812 (c. 180), sched., without a stamped label as required by sect. 2 of the Act. Resp.'s father had been a registered chemist, & resp., in pursuance of an oral agreement, became his apprentice & duly served him & was instructed by him for four years, afterwards succeeding to his business. Upon an information against resp. under sect. 2:—Held: in order to constitute an apprenticeship in law the contract must, with certain statutory exceptions, be in writing, & in the absence of such a written contract resp. did not come within the description in the schedule of a chemist who had served a "regular apprenticeship," & could not therefore claim the benefit of the exemption in favour of such persons.—KIRKBY v. TAYLOR, [1910] 1 K. B. 529;

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

4201 i. Extraordinary & unusual covenant not enforceable.]—Articles of apprenticeship which require the apprentice during the term of four years of three hundred & ten working days of ten hours each, to give & devote to a firm, to whom he is apprenticed, ten hours each working day, or such number of hours as may be the regulation of the workshop for the time being, or as special exigencies of the business may require, are unreasonable & cannot be enforced against the infant, nor against a surety for him.—MACGREGOR v. SULLY (1900), 31 O. R. 535.—CAN.

4202 i. What covenants are reasonable & for benefit of infant—Covenant in restraint of trade.]—A covenant by an infant in an indenture of apprenticeship, that he will not carry on a trade within certain limits, is not binding on him.—R. v. HARRIS (1848), 1 All. 100.—CAN.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sects. 4 & 5, A. & B.; sub-sects. 6, 7 & 8, A.] 79 L. J. K. B. 267; 102 L. T. 184; 74 J. P. 143; 26 T. L. R. 246, D. C.

Necessity for writing—As contract for more than a year—Statute of Frauds, s. 4.]—See, generally, CONTRACT, Vol. XII., pp. 118 et seq., Nos. 768 et seq.

Misnomer of apprentice.]—See DEEDS, Vol. XVII., p. 234, No. 494.

SUB-SECT. 5.—EXECUTION OF CONTRACT.

A. In General.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 199 et seq.

4214. By apprentice.]—Covenant between the master & third person, the servant not being party, makes no apprenticeship.—CHESTERFIELD'S CASE (1697), 2 Salk. 479; 91 E. R. 412; sub nom. R. v. CHESTERFIELD (INHABITANTS), 5 Mod. Rep. 329; Skin. 671; sub nom. CHESTERFIELD v. WALTON (HAMLET), Carth. 400; sub nom. WALTON v. CHESTERFIELD (INHABITANTS), Fortes. Rep. 214; sub nom. JERRISON'S CASE, Comb. 445.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. Crediton (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 493. Mentd. Wansworth Parish v. Putney Parish (1739), Sess. Cas. K. B. 219.

4215. ——.]—R. v. CROMFORD (INHABITANTS) (1806), 8 East, 25; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 407; 103 E. R. 253.

Annotation:—Consd. R. v. Arnesby (18 0), 3 B. & Ald. 584.

4216. —— Consent insufficient.]—An indenture binding an adult as an apprentice, which was not executed by herself, but only by her father in law & the master, though with her consent, does not constitute her an apprentice; & consequently no settlement can be gained by her under such indenture.—R. v. RIPON (INHABITANTS) (1808), 9 East, 295; 103 E. R. 586.

Annotation:—Consd. R. v. Arnesby (1820), 3 P. & Ald. 584.

4217. —— Apprentice an infant.]—A father has, at the common law, no authority to bind his infant son apprentice without his assent; & consequently, where an indenture of apprenticeship was executed by the master & the father of the apprentice, but not also by the apprentice himself:—Held: it was invalid, & no settlement could be gained under it.—R. v. ARNESBY (INHABITANTS) (1820), 3 B. & Ald. 584; 106 E. R. 775.

Annotation:—Apld. St. Nicholas, Rochester v. St. Botolph, Bishopsgate (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 645.

4218. By master.]—Settlement may be gained where the apprentice is bound, though the indenture be not executed by the master.—R. v. ST. PETER'S-ON-THE-HILL (1741), 2 Bott. 6th ed. 394.

4219. —— Signature to counterpart.] — An apprentice legally bound shall not be prevented from gaining a settlement under the indentures, from the master not having signed the counterpart.—R. v. FLEET (1777), Cald. Mag. Cas. 31; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 396.

4220. ——.]—Qu.: whether, in order to enable a master to sue on the covenant in an indenture of apprenticeship, it is necessary that he should have executed the deed or a counterpart of it.—MILLERSHIP v. BROOKES (1860), 5 H. & N. 797; 29 L. J. Ex. 369; 157 E. R. 1399.

Annotations:—Mentd. Kidner v. Keith (1863), 15 C. B. N. S. 35; Watkins v. Nash (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 263.

4221. On behalf of illiterate apprentice & parent.]—An indenture having been prepared for binding a boy apprentice, the apprentice & his father, being unable to write, desired a third person to write their names opposite two of the seals, & he did so. The indenture was not read to them. The apprentice immediately afterwards took the indenture to the master & left it with him; & afterwards stated that when he did so he considered himself bound; & he went into service under the indenture:—Held: the indenture was sufficiently executed & delivered.—R. v. LONGNOR (INHABITANTS) (1833), 4 B. & Ad. 647; 1 Nev. & M. K. B. 576; 1 Nev. & M. M. C. 128; 2 L. J. M. C. 62; 110 E. R. 599.

Annotation:—Mentd. Tupper v. Foulkes (1861), 9 C. B. N. S. 797.

4222. After date of indenture.] — A printed indenture of apprenticeship, which is ante dated, is not therefore void, although in the notice required to be given by 5 Geo. 3, c. 46, s. 19, & which is in fact printed under the indenture, it is stated that in such case the indenture will be void.—R. v. HARRINGTON (INHABITANTS) (1836), 4 Ad. & El. 618; 1 Har. & W. 747; 6 Nev. & M. K. B. 165; 3 Nev. & M. M. C. 576; 5 L. J. M. C. 83; 111 E. R. 919.

4223. —— Whether ordered in Chancery.]—In pursuance of an agreement, an indenture of apprenticeship was prepared between pltf. an apprentice, the father of pltf., & deft. a master. The indenture was signed by pltf. & his father, & was left with deft.'s solr. Pltf. went to work with deft., & continued to do so for about seventeen months, when he was discharged for alleged misconduct. On a summons being taken out before the magistrates, requiring deft. to appear & show cause why he refused to teach pltf. his trade, it was found that the indenture was not executed. The magistrates called upon deft. to execute the deed, but he refused, & the summons was dismissed, the magistrates having no jurisdiction. Bill praying that deft. might be ordered to execute the deed, & take pltf. back again into his employ, refused, but without costs.—BROWN v. BANKS (1861), 3 Giff. 190; 4 L. T. 698; 7 Jur. N. S. 1273; 66 E. R. 377.

Parish apprentices.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, post.

B. Proof.

4224. Execution by apprentice — Recital in counterpart.]—An averment in a declaration on 9 Ann. c. 9, against the master of an apprentice for not inserting the true consideration in the indenture, "that B. the apprentice, by a certain indenture executed on, etc., put himself apprentice to deft., etc.," may be proved by the production of that part of the indenture executed by deft., in which it is recited that B. had put himself apprentice, etc.—BURLEIGH v. STIBBS (1793), 5 Term Rep. 465; 101 E. R. 261.

Annotation:—Mentd. Paul v. Meek (1828), 2 Y. & J. 116.

4225. Proof by subscribing witnesses.] — On an indictment against an apprentice for enlisting himself as a soldier, the indentures must be proved by the subscribing witnesses.—R. v. JONES (1777), 1 Leach, 174; 168 E. R. 189.

——.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 203 et seq., Nos. 1769 et seq.

4226. When secondary evidence admissible.]—The examinations, which were sent with an order of removal under Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834 (c. 76), s. 79, made reference to certain indentures of apprenticeship, under which the

a. By parent.]—CONNELL v. OWEN (1854), 3 C. P. 249.—CAN.

b. By one partner only.]—R. v. MCNANEY (1871), 5 P. R. 438.—CAN.

settlement was claimed. It was not stated that the indentures were produced, nor was the evidence of the attesting witness taken, nor his absence accounted for so as to let in secondary evidence :— Held: the magistrates were not justified in receiving secondary evidence as to the indentures, & had no discretion on that point, & the order was bad accordingly.—R. v. LEEDS (INHABITANTS) (1843), 1 L. T. O. S. 107 ; 7 J. P. 255.

——.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 211 et seq., Nos. 1845 et seq.

SUB-SECT. 6.—STAMPS.

See, generally, Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), ss. 1, 25, Sched. I ; EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 262, Nos. 2465 et seq.

4227. Presumption of stamping.]—On parol evidence of existence of an indenture, sessions may presume that indenture was stamped & duty paid. —R. v. BADBY (1772), 1 Bott. 6th ed. 520.

4228. ——.]—The sessions presumed that an indenture of apprenticeship executed thirty years before, & under which the apprentice had regularly served his time for seven years, when the indenture was given up to him, & proved to be lost, & when the parish in which he was settled under such indenture had relieved him for the last twelve years, was properly stamped in proportion to the apprentice fee of £12 received by the master ; although the deputy registrar & comptroller of the Stamp Duties proved that it did not appear in the office that any such indenture had been stamped or enrolled during that period, & the judgment of the justices was confirmed in K. B.—R. v. LONG BUCKBY (INHABITANTS) (1805), 7 East, 45 ; 3 Smith, K. B. 92 ; 103 E. R. 18.

Annotations :—Refd. Marine Investment Co. v. Haviside (1872), L. R. 5 H. L. 624. Mentd. Doe d. Howson v. Waterton (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 149 ; Hart v. Hart (1841), 1 Hare, 1 ; Crowther v. Solomons (1848), 6 C. B. 758.

——.]—See, also, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 272, Nos. 2571–2577.

4229. Effect of omission to stamp.]—Where an apprenticeship is intended, but to save expense an unstamped agreement is entered into, whereby the pauper agrees to serve the master in his business of a carpenter for four years, it is a defective apprenticeship, & not a hiring & service.—R. v. HIGHNAM (INHABITANTS) (1785), 4 Doug. K. B. 238 ; Cald. Mag. Cas. 491 ; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 397 ; 99 E. R. 859.

Annotations :—Consd. R. v. Laindon (1799), 8 Term Rep. 379. Refd. R. v. Eccleston (1802), 2 East, 298 ; R. v. Billinghay (1836), 5 Ad. & El. 676.

4230. One stamp sufficient—Apprenticeship to two successive masters.]—An indenture, by which an apprentice was bound for seven years, to serve A. B. for the first four years, & his own father for the last three, to learn two different trades, is a valid indenture, & requires only one stamp.—R. v. LOUTH (INHABITANTS) (1828), 8 B. & C. 247 ; 2 Man. & Ry. K. B. 273 ; 1 Man. & Ry. M. C. 238 ; 6 L. J. O. S. M. C. 107 ; 108 E. R. 1036.

Exemptions in case of parish apprentices.]—See Sect. 6, post.

SUB-SECT. 7.—BYE-LAWS OF CORPORATIONS.

Validity—Payment of money on enrolling indenture.]—See CORPORATIONS, Vol. XIII., p. 328, No. 650.

—— Restraining number of apprentices of one master.]—See CORPORATIONS, Vol. XIII., p. 331, No. 693.

SUB-SECT. 8.—THE COVENANTS.

A. In General.

4231. Whether covenants of master & apprentice are independent—Breach of covenant to teach & provide—Misconduct of apprentice.]—WINSTONE v. LINN, No. 4267, post.

4232. —— —— ——.] — Covenant by the father of an apprentice against the master for not teaching & providing for the apprentice. Plea, that up to a certain time, deft. did teach, etc., & that then the apprentice, without leave, quitted deft.'s service, & never returned. Replication, that on, etc., deft. refused then or ever, to receive back the apprentice, & thereby discharged him from his service. Rejoinder, that the apprentice enlisted as a soldier, & that pltf. never requested deft. to receive back the apprentice when he was able to return to the service. Surrejoinder, that soon after the apprentice enlisted, deft. refused then, or ever, to take him back, & wholly discharged him from his service : Held: on demurrer, the surrejoinder was bad, not being a sufficient answer to the rejoinder, & the plea was good, as it disclosed a sufficient excuse for non-performance of deft.'s covenant.—HUGHES v. HUMPHREYS (1827), 6 B. & C. 680 ; 9 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 715 ; 4 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 484 ; 5 L. J. O. S. K. B. 270 ; 108 E. R. 601.

Annotation :—Consd. Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499.

4233. —— —— ——.]—ELLEN v. TOPP, No. 4273, post.

4234. —— —— —— .]—PHILLIPS v. CLIFT, No. 4566, post.

4235. —— Dispute as to wages—Apprentice absenting himself.]—WINNIFRITH v. PANKHURST, No. 4405, post.

4236. Where contract void—Covenants unenforceable.]—If the indenture of apprenticeship is void, all the covenants entered into merely to secure performance of that indenture must, a fortiori, be void also (HOTHAM, B.).—GUPPY v. JENNINGS (1791), 1 Anst. 256 ; 145 E. R. 865.

Annotation :—Refd. Smedley v. Gooden (1814), 3 M. & S. 189.

4237. Money payable at end of term — Earlier death of apprentice.]—CHEYNEY v. SELL (1607), 1 Brownl. 97 ; 123 E. R. 689.

Express terms—Override custom.]—See CUSTOM & USAGES, Vol. XVII., p. 73, No. 744.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 8.—A.

c. Whether covenants of master & apprentice are independent.]—In an indenture of apprenticeship the covenant to teach, & the covenant to serve & remain in the service, are so far dependent one on the other, that failure or incompetence of the master to teach during a substantial part of the apprenticeship affords an excuse at law to the apprentice for quitting the service.—FLETCHER v. BUZOLICH (1881), 7 V. L. R. (L.) 348.—AUS.

d. ——.]—Deft. covenanted with pltf. to teach him the trade of a blacksmith, & pltf. covenanted to serve deft. faithfully for five years, & not to absent himself from deft.'s service without leave :—Held: these covenants were mutual & independent.—HUNTER v. GIFFORD (1849), 1 All. 701.—CAN.

e. ——.]—Pltf., an infant, had come from Jersey to Newfoundland under articles of indenture, a covenant of which prevented his marrying. He was dismissed by his employer for breach of the above covenant. In an action for wrongful dismissal :—Held: the covenant was an independent one, & its breach did not dissolve the articles of indenture, & his employers were bound to take him back.—MCKAY v. RENOUF, CLEMENT & CO. (1887), 7 Nfld. L. R. 229.—NFLD.

f. ——.]—The covenants in a deed of apprenticeship of the master to teach & of the apprentice to serve his term are not independent but dependent covenants, &, if the master does not perform his covenant to teach, the father of the apprentice is justified in refusing to allow him to continue his service.—MAUNDER v. TAYLOR (1907), 26 N. Z. L. R. 1091.—N.Z.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 8, B. & C.; sub-sect. 9, A., B. & C.; sub-sect. 10, A., B., C. & D.]

B. Covenant to Teach.

4238. What amounts to breach—Sale of business.]—WHITMORE v. OWEN (1854), 2 W. R. 432.

4239. —— Dissolution of partnership.]—COUCHMAN v. SILLAR, No. 4342, post.

4240. —— Change in business—Not preventing the tuition contracted for.]—By indenture between pltf. & deft., deft. covenanted to teach pltf. the art & mystery of an apothecary. At the time of the indenture being executed deft. kept a shop, making up his own prescriptions & those of other medical men. Deft. subsequently closed his shop & confined his business to that of a general practitioner, making up his own prescriptions, but not those of other medical men:—Held: this did not disqualify deft. from teaching pltf. the art & mystery of an apothecary, so as to entitle the latter to a direction in an action brought by him for breach of the covenant in the indenture.—BATTY v. MONKS (1805), 12 L. T. 832.

4241. Remedy for wrongful refusal—Specific performance not ordered—Nor cancellation of deed.]—(1) This ct. has no jurisdiction to order the cancellation of articles of apprenticeship & the return of a portion of the premium, on the ground of the wrongful refusal of the master to continue to instruct his apprentice in his trade, according to his agreement.

(2) A bill for the specific performance of articles of apprenticeship cannot be maintained.—WEBB v. ENGLAND (1860), 29 Beav. 44; 30 L. J. Ch. 222; 3 L. T. 574; 25 J. P. 292; 7 Jur. N. S. 153; 9 W. R. 183; 54 E. R. 541.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Ferns v. Carr (1885), 54 L. J. Ch. 478. Generally, Mentd. Bush v. Trowbridge Waterworks Co. (1875), 33 L. T. 137.

4242. Defence to action for damages—Apprentice wilfully preventing teaching.]—To an action of covenant against the master for not teaching his apprentice, it is a good plea that the apprentice would not be taught, & by his own wilful acts prevented the master from teaching him.—RAYMOND v. MINTON (1866), L. R. 1 Exch. 244; 4 H. & C. 371; 35 L. J. Ex. 153; 14 L. T. 367; 30 J. P. 424; 12 Jur. N. S. 435; 14 W. R. 675.

Annotations:—Apld. Learoyd v. Brook, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431. Consd. Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499.

4243. Proof of breach — Plaintiff must prove usual course of instruction.]—In an action by an apprentice against his master for neglecting to teach him judgment was entered for deft.; pltf. having giving no evidence as to what the usual & reasonable course of instruction was in the business.—CRIDLAN v. MARLER & BENNETT (1893), 9 T. L. R. 529, C. A.

C. Infants' Covenants.

See Sub-sect. 3, ante.

SUB-SECT. 9.—PERFORMANCE.

A. In General.

4244. "Duly & truly serve"—Employment with another master—With master's consent.]—An apprentice "duly & truly" serves his master if, with that master's consent, he is employed otherwise than actually by that master during the term of apprenticeship.—RICHARDSON v. COLNE FISHERY CO. (1897), 77 L. T. 501.

B. Place of Performance.

4245. Not outside kingdom—Unless sea apprentice.]—COVENTRY v. WOODHALL (1615), Hob. 134; 1 Brownl. 67; 80 E. R. 284.

Annotations:—Consd. Eaton v. Western (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 636. Refd. Baxter v. Burfield (1747), 2 Stra. 1266. Mentd. Somerset v. Stewart (1772), Lofft, 1.

4246. Whether stipulation implied—For performance at place of master's business at time of execution.]—A deed of apprenticeship contained the usual provision that the master should teach the apprentice, but no express provision as to the place where the contract was to be performed by the master:—Held: no stipulation could be implied that it was to be performed at the place where at the time of its execution the master carried on business & the parties to the deed resided.—ROYCE v. CHARLTON (1881), 8 Q. B. D. 1; 45 L. T. 712; 46 J. P. 197; 30 W. R. 274.

Annotation:—Overd. Eaton v. Western (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 636.

4247. —— —— Or within reasonable distance.]—EATON v. WESTERN, No. 4344, post.

Sea apprentices.]—See SHIPPING.

C. Excuses for Non-Performance.

4248. General rule.]—A person has a right to dismiss a servant for misconduct, but has no right to turn away an apprentice because he misbehaves; but the case of a young man seventeen years old, who, under a written agreement not under seal, is placed with a surgeon, as "pupil & assistant," & with whom a premium is paid, is a case between that of apprenticeship & service; & if such a person on some occasions come home intoxicated, this alone will not justify the surgeon in dismissing him. But if the "pupil & assistant" by employing the shop boy to compound the medicines, occasion real danger to the surgeon's practice, this would justify the surgeon in dismissing him.—WISE v. WILSON (1845), 1 Car. & Kir. 662, N. P.

Annotation:—Refd. Phillips v. Clift (1859), 4 H. & N. 168.

4249. Justification of dismissal by master—Gaming—Custom of London.]—By the custom of London, a master may justify turning away his apprentice, if he frequents gaming.—WOODROFFE v. FARNHAM (1693), 2 Vern. 291; 23 E. R. 788.

4250. —— Occasional intoxication.]—WISE v. WILSON, No. 4248, ante.

4251. —— Causing damage to master's practice—Pupil & assistant to surgeon.]—WISE v. WILSON, No. 4248, ante.

4252. —— Loose behaviour.]—LOCK v. BAKER (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 81.

4253. —— Habitual stealing.]—If an apprentice, whose master's business lies in precious articles constantly lying about, is an habitual thief, the master may discharge him; & charges of theft made to his father will be privileged, but the master will be liable in slander for false charges made to third parties.—COX v. MATLEWS (1861), 2 F. & F. 397, N. P.

Annotations:—Folld. Learoyd v. Brook, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431. Mentd. Lewis v. Peacey (1862), 10 W. R. 797.

4254. —— ——.]—LEAROYD v. BROOK, No. 4296, post.

4255. —— Habitual criminal misconduct.]—Applt., an apprentice, an infant, by his conduct

---

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 8.—B.

g. What amounts to breach.]—MOORE v. GELLING (1839), Bluett, 179.—I. of M.

h. —— Change in business.]—BARTER v. JOHNSON (1817), 1 Nfld. L. R. 33.—NFLD.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 9.—C.

k. Justification of dismissal by master—Degree of misconduct necessary.]—In order to justify the determination of an apprenticeship by a master on the ground of misconduct of the apprentice, it must appear that the misconduct was such as to prevent the forced his master to discharge him. The apprentice then sued the master for damages for wrongful dismissal:—Held: a master could not discharge his apprentice except for habitual criminal misconduct, & an infant apprentice could not repudiate his indentures unless to do so would be to his own benefit, & the case must be remitted to the judge for the determination of this question. If the rescission of the contract was for the benefit of pltf., there must be judgment for deft.; if not, there must be judgment for pltf.—WATERMAN v. FRYER, [1922] 1 K. B. 499; 91 L. J. K. B. 315; 126 L. T. 316; 38 T. L. R. 87; 66 Sol. Jo. 108; 20 L. G. R. 691.

4256. —— Habitual neglect of duties.]—To a declaration setting out an agreement by deft. to teach pltf.'s son a trade, & containing the following proviso: "Provided always that he obeys all commands, & gives his service entirely to the business during office hours," & alleging a wrongful dismissal, deft. pleaded justifying the dismissal on the ground that the son had habitually neglected his duties, etc.:—Held: a good plea.—WESTWICK v. THEODOR (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 224; 44 L. J. Q. B. 110; 32 L. T. 696; 39 J. P. 646; 23 W. R. 620.

Annotation:—Refd. James v. Krauth (1910), 26 T. L. R. 240.

4257. Wrongful dismissal—Measure of damages.]—In an action for the unlawful dismissal of an apprentice, the measure of damages is the loss or injury that has been incurred by the apprentice from the time of his dismissal to the time of action brought.—ADDAMS v. CARTER (1862), 6 L. T. 130, N. P.

4258. —— ——.]—By a deed of apprenticeship pltf. bound himself as apprentice to defts. to learn the business of a draper for the term of four years from May, 1887, & defts. covenanted to instruct pltf. & provide him with food & lodging during that term. It was provided by the deed that, if during the term pltf. showed want of interest in his work it should be lawful for defts. to cancel the deed upon giving him a week's notice. In Oct. 1888, defts. summarily & without any notice dismissed pltf., assigning as the reason of his dismissal that he had been guilty of frequent acts of insubordination, & had gone out at night without permission. Pltf. having brought an action for wrongful dismissal in breach of the apprenticeship deed, the jury found that he had not been guilty of the misconduct imputed, & that no grounds existed justifying defts. in dismissing him without notice, but that grounds did exist which would have justified them in dismissing him with a week's notice. On the question of the measure of the damages to which pltf. was entitled under those circumstances, the judge directed the jury that, although they might take into consideration as an element in the case the fact that defts. would have been justified in dismissing pltf. with a week's notice, they were not bound to limit the damages to the value of the week's notice which he had lost:—Held: this was no misdirection.—MAW v. JONES (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 107; 59 L. J. Q. B. 542; 63 L. T. 347; 54 J. P. 727; 38 W. R. 718.

Annotations:—Distd. Baker v. Denkera Ashanti Mining Corpn. (1903), 20 T. L. R. 37; Austwick v. Mid. Ry. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 728. Consd. Addis v. Gramophone Co., [1909] A. C. 488. Refd. Chaplin v. Hicks, [1911] 2 K. B. 786.

SUB-SECT. 10.—BREACHES OF CONTRACT AND REMEDIES THEREFOR.

A. Dismissal of Apprentice.

See Sub-sect. 9, C., ante.

B. Failure to Teach.

See Sub-sect. 7, B., ante.

C. Recovery of Salary by Apprentice.

4259. Right to bring action—Apprentice deserting service.]—Indentured apprentice deserting his service, & entering on board a ship, cannot maintain an action for wages.—BRIGHT v. LUCAS (1797), Peake, Add. Cas. 121; 170 E. R. 216, N. P.

4260. —— Apprentice alone.]—WILKINS v. GRANT (1848), 10 L. T. O. S. 421.

Remedy in rem by sea apprentice.] —See SHIPPING.

D. Apprentice Absenting himself.

4261. What amounts to—Absence through illness.]—There was no voluntary absenting. . . . If you take a young lad who has been used to outdoor work, & keep him in a confined room for several days together, it will have the effect of injuring his health. Pltf. should have been accustomed by degrees to the indoor business. . . . The question is, whether pltf.'s father, when he made all the inquiries into the state of deft.'s affairs, did not intend to say that his son was willing to return (LORD TENTERDEN, C.J.).—KING v. LOW (1829), 3 C. & P. 620.

4262. Will not avoid a voidable contract—Infant's contract.]—R. v. EVERED (1777), Cald. Mag. Cas. 26.

Annotation:—Refd. Gray v. Cookson (1812), 16 East, 13.

4263. ——.]—GRAY v. COOKSON, No. 4320, post.

4264. ——.] — It seems that contracts of apprenticeship which are voidable, are not avoided by the apprentice's absenting himself from the service.—SMEDLEY v. GOODEN (1814), 3 M. & S. 189; 105 E. R. 581.

4265. Action on covenant not to absent himself—Defence of licence.]—(1) If a master licence his apprentice to leave him, he cannot after recall that licence.

(2) If a master bring covenant for leaving his service at such a time, & deft. justifies by virtue of a licence at that time, the master cannot upon that declaration give evidence of a leaving him at another time, for there the time is material, & is not like a transitory matter in trespass.—ANON. (1703), 6 Mod. Rep. 69; 87 E. R. 828, N. P.

4266. —— —— What amounts to licence.]—RUSSELL v. SHINN, No. 4280, post.

---

master from performing his covenant.—COKER v. BROWNE (1890), 7 Q. L. J. 71.—AUS.

4257 i. Wrongful dismissal—Measure of damages.]—The measure of damages in an action upon an apprenticeship deed for wrongful dismissal is the loss actually sustained by the specific breach of covenant complained of up to the time of action brought.—PARKER v. CATHCART (1866), 17 I. C. L. R. 778.—IR.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 10.—C.

1. Right to bring action.] — DUNCAN v. MOORE (JAMES) & SONS PROPRIETARY, LTD., [1917] V. L. R. 240.—AUS.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 10.—D.

4263 i. Will not avoid a voidable contract.]—The absenting of himself from his master's service by an apprentice is not an avoidance of the apprenticeship.—COGHLAN v. CALLAGHAN (1857), 7 I. C. L. R. 291.—IR.

4265 i. Action on covenant not to absent himself—Defence of licence.]—Pltf., in covenant against the father, alleged as a breach that the apprentice unlawfully absented himself on a certain day, & from thence hitherto remained & continued absent from the service of pltf. Plea, as to the absenting, that the apprentice did depart & absent himself by pltf.'s leave & licence:—Held: sufficient.—BLACK v. STEVENSON (1840), 3 U. C. R 160.—CAN.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 10, D., E., F. & G.; sub-sects. 11 & 12, A. & B.]

4267. Action on master's covenant—Defence of absenting—Must be for unreasonable time.]—(1) A tobacconist took a premium with an apprentice, & covenanted to instruct & maintain him. In an action on that covenant the master pleaded, that the apprentice refused to obey his orders, & left his house, saying that he would not return again. To which it was replied, that afterwards the apprentice returned & offered to obey his commands, but the master would not take him:—Held: if the apprentice had, under those circumstances, stopped away an unreasonable time, which ought to have been stated in a rejoinder, the master would have been justified in not taking him back; but he was not at liberty to turn away, or to refuse to admit his apprentice into his house for misconduct, & his absenting himself for a few days; but should have sued him on his covenant.

(2) By the indenture, the master covenants that he will for four years instruct & maintain the apprentice. . . . Such indentures generally contain reciprocal covenants by each party. Those covenants are not dependent, but are mutual & independent, entitling each party to his remedy for a breach of them. The master, therefore, is liable to an action for a breach of the covenant, to instruct & maintain the apprentice during the term agreed upon (BAYLEY, J. .

The master has at common law a complete remedy, if the apprentice misconducts himself, by an action for a breach of the covenants (BEST, J.).—WINSTONE v. LINN (1823), 1 B. & C. 460; 2 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 465; 1 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 327; 1 L. J. O. S. K. B. 126; 107 E. R. 171.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Raymond v. Minton (1866), 12 Jur. N. S. 435. As to (2) Apld. Phillips v. Clift (1859), 4 H. & N. 168; Learoyd v. Brook, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431. Refd. Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499. Generally, Refd. Westwick v. Theodor (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 224.

Summons before magistrate.]—See Sect. 4, post.

Remedy against parent or surety.]—See Sub-sect. 10, F., post.

E. Remedies in Equity.

4268. Specific performance.]—WEBB v. ENGLAND, No. 4241, ante.

4269. Cancellation of articles—On refusal to teach.]—WEBB v. ENGLAND, No. 4241, ante.

—— Ill usage by master.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, B., post.

Order for return of premium.]—See Sub-sect. 12, B., post.

Infants' contracts.]—See Sub-sect. 3, C. (c), ante.

F. Action against Parent or Surety.

4270. Liability of parent.] — In a common indenture of apprenticeship, under 5 Eliz. c. 4, between the father, son, & master, the father is answerable for what is to be performed by the son.—BRANCH v. EWINGTON (1780), 2 Doug. K. B. 518; 99 E. R. 330.

Annotations:—Folld. Cuming v. Hill (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 59. Refd. Hughes v. Humphreys (1827), 6 B. & C. 680.

4271. —— Trivial offence.]—The staying out by an apprentice on a Sunday evening beyond the time allowed him is not such an unlawful absenting of himself as will enable his master to maintain an action of covenant against a person who became bound for the due performance of the indenture. If an apprentice absent himself from his master, & his master take him back, & an action be afterwards brought for such absenting, the taking back, to constitute a defence, must be specially pleaded.—WRIGHT v. GIHON (1829), 3 C. & P. 583, N. P.

4272. Defences—Master in default.]—A surgeon & apothecary having agreed with a father to take his son as an apprentice in consideration of a premium; after the son had served for seven months, the agreement was broken off on account of the refusal of the former to pay the expense of the stamp for the indentures. The master cannot recover damages for breach of the agreement; nor can he recover as for the board & lodging of the son.—KEENE v. PARSONS (1819), 2 Stark. 506, N. P.

4273. —— —— One of master's businesses relinquished.]—By the terms of an indenture of apprenticeship an infant was placed by his father, who was a party to the indenture, as apprentice to a master, described in the indenture as "an auctioneer, appraiser, & corn factor," "to learn his art, & with him after the manner of an apprentice to serve." After the making of the indenture & the commencement of the apprenticeship, the master wholly relinquished the trade of corn factor; whereupon the apprentice absented himself from his master's service:—Held: in an action on the indenture by the master against the father for the desertion of the apprentice, the relinquishment by the master of his trade of corn-factor was a good answer to the action.—ELLEN v. TOPP (1851), 6 Exch. 424; 20 L. J. Ex. 241; 17 L. T. O. S. 52; 15 Jur. 451; 155 E. R. 609.

Annotations:—Refd. Whitmore v. Owen (1854), 2 W. R. 432; Batty v. Monks (1865), 12 L. T. 832; General Billposting Co. v. Atkinson, [1909] A. C. 118. Mentd. Graves v. Legg (1854), 9 Exch. 709; Rolt v. Cozens (1856), 18 C. B. 673; White v. Beeton (1861), 7 H. & N. 42; Behn v. Burness (1863), 2 New Rep. 184; Carter v. Scargill (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 564; Moel Tryvan Ship Co. v. Kruger, [1907] 1 K. B. 809; Wallis & Wells v. Pratt & Haynes, [1911] A. C. 394; Cummings v. Stewart (1912), 30 R. P. C. 1.

4274. —— Claim for absence of apprentice—Master receiving apprentice back.]—An action lies upon a covenant, that an apprentice shall not absent himself from his master's service, although his master receive him after having absented himself.—HAWKINS v. EASTERBROOKE (1754), Say. 115; 96 E. R. 822.

4275. —— —— ——.]—WRIGHT v. GIHON, No. 4271, ante.

4276. —— —— Avoidance on coming of age.]—Covenant upon an indenture of apprenticeship, by the master against the father; breach, that the apprentice absented himself from the service; plea, that the son faithfully served till he came of age, & that he then avoided the indenture:—Held: this was no answer to the action.—CUMING v. HILL (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 59; 106 E. R. 585.

4277. —— —— Due to permanent illness—Notice to master of illness.]—To an action for breach of an apprenticeship deed, deft., the father, pleaded that the apprentice "was & is prevented by the act of God, to wit, by permanent illness, happening & arising after the making of the indenture, from remaining with or serving pltf. during all the said term":—Held: on demurrer, a good plea in excuse of performance, without any averment that pltf. had notice of the illness before the commencement of the action.—BOAST v.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 10.—F.

4270 1. Liability of parent.]—Where a father & his son, a minor, entered into articles, & the son by his father's orders refused to complete his apprenticeship:—Held: covenant against the father on the articles, & not case for enticing away, was the proper remedy.—DILLINGHAM v. WILSON (1841), 6 O. S. 85.—CAN.

FIRTH (1868), L. R. 4 C. P. 1; 38 L. J. C. P. 1; 19 L. T. 264; 17 W. R. 29.

Annotations:—Apld. Robinson v. Davison (1871), L. R. 6 Exch. 269. Refd. Whincup v. Hughes (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78. Mentd. Simeon v. Watson (1877), 46 L. J. Q. B. 679.

4278. —— —— Apprentice's fear of assault—Reasonable grounds for fear.]—To a statement of claim alleging that deft. had become surety on an indenture of apprenticeship for the faithful service of the apprentice, & that the apprentice had not faithfully served, but had absented himself, deft. pleaded that while the apprentice was in pltf.'s service, pltf. assaulted him & inflicted personal injury upon him, & threatened to do him grevious bodily harm, & that the apprentice fearing that grevious bodily harm would be inflicted upon him, left pltf.'s service:—Held: the statement of defence should be amended by adding an allegation that the apprentice had reasonable ground for such fear.—HALLIWELL v. COUNSELL (1878), 38 L. T. 176.

4279. Measure of damages—Loss of service to date of action.]—In an action on an apprenticeship deed, against the father, the breach being that the son absented himself, pltf. can only recover damage for the loss of service up to the time of action.—BERRI v. HOWARD (1861), 2 F. & F. 403, N. P.

4280. —— ——.]—When an apprentice has absented himself, the fact that the master declined to have any trouble taken to find him, & described him as worthless, though it will not sustain a plea of leave & licence, may be material in mitigation of damages, & the jury can only give the real value of his services up to the time of action.

Pltf. cannot recover damages up to the end of the term, but only for the period from the absenting to the bringing of the action. But if pltf. afterwards assented to the absence, you can give no damages from the time of such assent, & in any view you may consider what was the value of the apprentice's services, which might be the difference between his earnings & his keep (BYLES, J.).—RUSSELL v. SHINN (1861), 2 F. & F. 395, N. P.

4281. —— ——.]—An action was brought by the master against the father of an apprentice on an indenture of apprenticeship to serve the master for a period of five years from May 1, 1860, & it was alleged as a breach of covenant that the apprentice unlawfully absented himself from his master's service. It was proved that deft. took his son away from pltf. on Jan. 18, 1862, & the writ in the action issued on Feb. 10, 1862:—Held: pltf. was entitled to recover damages for the absence of his apprentice from Jan. 18 to Feb. 10, & was not entitled to prospective damages for the whole term of the apprenticeship.—LEWIS v. PEACHEY (1862), 1 H. & C. 518; 31 L. J. Ex. 496; 27 J. P. 40; 10 W. R. 797; 158 E. R. 989.

4282. —— Assent of master to absence.]—RUSSELL v. SHINN, No. 4280, ante.

G. Contracts by Infants.

See Sub-sect. 3, C., ante.

SUB-SECT. 11.—ASSIGNMENT.

See, generally, CHOSES IN ACTION, Vol. VIII., pp. 424 et seq.

4283. Not assignable in law.]—Apprentice in law is not assignable.—R. v. AICKLES (INHABITANTS) (1701), 12 Mod. Rep. 553; 88 E. R. 1513; sub nom. CASTOR (INHABITANTS) v. AICLES, 1 Salk. 68; sub nom. CAISTER PARISH v. ECCLES PARISH, 1 Ld. Raym. 683; 1 Const, 580.

Annotations:—Refd. Buckington v. St. Michael Sebington, Somersetshire (1724), 2 Ld. Raym. 1352. Mentd. Silvester & Ashton (1700), Fortes. Rep. 308; R. v. St. George Hanover Square (1734), Sess. Cas. K. B. 176; Mouldsdale v. Birchall (1771), 2 Wm. Bl. 820; Master v. Miller (1791), 4 Term Rep. 320.

4284. —— Except with consent of apprentice.]—A master cannot assign over his apprentice, as he may another chattel, but it must be with his own consent (HOLT, C.J.).—ANON. (1701), 12 Mod. Rep. 441; 88 E. R. 1438.

4285. Assignment by executrix of master—Presumption as to capacity.]—Where J. was bound apprentice by indenture in 1764 in the township of C., & upon the death of his master in 1769 was assigned by the widow by indorsement on the indenture whereby she acquitted & assigned over her apprentice J. for all the remainder of his apprenticeship, & J. served under such assignment in the township of K., which township for the last seven years had regularly relieved the family of J. whilst residing in another parish:—Held: this was evidence from which the sessions ought to have presumed, after such a distance of time, that the widow was extrix. & capable of assigning the apprentice.—R. v. BARNSLEY (INHABITANTS) (1813), 1 M. & S. 377; 105 E. R. 142.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Holme St. Cuthbert (1817), 2 New Mag. Cas. 92.

Award ordering assignment.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 476, No. 1208.

On bankruptcy of master.]—See Bkpcy. Act, 1914 (c. 59), s. 34 (2).

Assignment of parish contract.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 3, post.

Gaining settlement by transfer of service.]—See POOR LAW.

SUB-SECT. 12.—THE PREMIUM.

A. As Indication of Apprenticeship rather than of Service.

See Sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

B. Return on Termination.

4286. When ordered—Ill usage of apprentice.]—LOCKLEY v. ELDRIDGE (1674), Cas. temp. Finch, 124; 23 E. R. 68.

Annotation:—Refd. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

4287. — Death of master.]—The master received £250 with an apprentice, & died within two years; decreed, that the exors. shall pay back the money as a debt upon simple contract after debts on specialties are paid.—SOAM v. BOWDEN (1678), Cas. temp. Finch, 396; 23 E. R. 216.

Annotations:—Refd. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44; Whincup v. Hughes (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78; Ferns v. Carr (1885), 54 L. J. Ch. 478. Mentd. Churchill v. Bertrand (1842), 3 Q. B. 568.

4288. —— ——.]—WHINCUP v. HUGHES, No. 4353, post.

4289. —— Default of master.]—(1) The sessions may discharge an apprentice from his indentures on account of the default & ill-treatment of the master.

(2) The sessions, on discharging an apprentice may order a return of the apprentice fee.—R. v. DUHAMMEL (1683), 2 Show. 289; 89 E. R. 946; sub nom. DU HAMELL'S CASE, Skin. 108.

4290. — — Refusal to instruct apprentice.]—THERMAN v. ABELL (1688), 29 Beav. 58; 2 Vern. 64; 54 E. R. 547, L. C.

Annotations:—N.F. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44. Refd. Hale v. Webb (1786), 2 Bro. C. C. 78. Mentd. Freeland v. Stansfield (1854), 2 Sm. & G. 479.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 12, B. & C.: sub-sect. 13, A., B., C. & D.]

4291. ——— ———.]—WEBB v. ENGLAND, No. 4241, ante.

4292. ——— Apprentice absconding & enlisting—Willingness to return.]—If an apprentice after serving two years of his time & without any misconduct on the part of the master, runs away of his own accord & enlists as a soldier, & afterwards is willing to return, but the master will not receive him again, the master is not compellable to return any part of the apprentice fee.—CUFF v. BROWN (1818), 5 Price, 297; 146 E. R. 613.

Annotations:—Refd. Ex p. Prankerd (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 257; Whincup v. Hughes (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78.

4293. ——— Apprentice absconding—Refusal to take back.]—The ct., in the exercise of its summary jurisdiction over its officers, has authority to order an attorney, who had refused, on the ground of misconduct, to take back an apprentice, who had run away from his service, to return to the parents of such apprentice a reasonable part of the premium received with him.—Ex p. PRANKERD (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 257; 106 E. R. 658; sub nom. Ex p. FISHER, 1 Chit. 694.

Annotations:—Consd. Ferns v. Carr (1885), 28 Ch. D. 409. Refd. St. Pancras, Parish v. Clapham, Parish (1860), 6 Jur. N. S. 700; Whincup v. Hughes (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78.

4294. ——— Bankruptcy of master—How sum returnable calculated.]—An apprentice where his master becomes a bkpt. shall come in as a creditor only upon the remaining sum, after deducting for the time he lived with bkpt.—Ex p. SANDBY (1745), 1 Atk. 149; 26 E. R. 97.

Annotations:—Consd. Ex p. Fussell (1837), 2 Deac. 158. Refd. Hirst v. Tolson (1850), 2 H. & Tw. 359; Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

——— ———.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 479, Nos. 4326–4328; Bkpcy. Act, 1914 (c. 59), s. 31.

4295. ——— Failure of health of apprentice—Special provision in deed.]—A deed of apprenticeship contained a provision that in the event of the failure of the health of the apprentice, so as to incapacitate him from following the profession of a civil engineer, before Apr. 1, 1866, the master should refund to the father £50 of the premium; it being agreed that the production at any time before that day of a certificate signed by two duly qualified medical men, testifying as to the fact, should be conclusive evidence that the health of the apprentice had failed, so as to incapacitate him from following his profession. The health of the apprentice failed, & he died on Aug. 4, 1865. On Mar. 28, 1866, deft., the master, was served with a certificate in the terms of the condition, dated Mar. 24, but referring to the state of health of the apprentice in June, 1865:—Held: the certificate was a sufficient compliance with the condition to entitle the father to recover the £50.—DERBY v. HUMBER (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 247; sub nom. HUMBER v. DERBY, 15 L. T. 538.

4296. ——— Misconduct of apprentice.] — An apprentice was discovered to be an habitual thief, & in consequence was dismissed by his master. On an action brought by the apprentice's guardians against the master for damages for breach of covenant, or alternatively for the return, in whole or in part, of the premium paid by them:—Held: (1) where an apprentice by his misconduct prevents his master from teaching him, such misconduct is a good defence by the master when sued for breach of covenant to keep, teach, & maintain the apprentice; (2) no portion of the premium paid could be recovered, there being no total failure of consideration.—LEAROYD v. BROOK, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431; 60 L. J. Q. B. 373; 64 L. T. 458; 55 J. P. 265; 39 W. R. 480; 7 T. L. R. 236.

Annotation:—As to (1) Distd. Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499.

4297. ——— Dissolution of partnership.]—A. & B. were partners in a firm carrying on business as auctioneers & surveyors. A., without the knowledge or authority of his partner, entered into an agreement with pltfs., a father & son, by which the son was to become an articled pupil to the firm, & an indenture of apprenticeship was drawn up by the terms of which, in consideration of the payment of a premium, the son was to become the pupil of B. The indenture was never signed by A. or B. & B. was ignorant of its existence. The premium was duly paid by pltfs. to A. & by him handed over to B. in bank notes to be paid into the firm's banking account without any statement as to whence it came. B. took the money thinking that it was money due to the firm in connection with some partnership transaction. Subsequently the partnership was dissolved, & the business wound-up. In an action by pltfs. against B. for a return of the premium upon the ground that there had been a total failure of the consideration for which it was paid:—Held: pltfs. were entitled to recover the money.—COVELL v. SCAMELL (1910), 103 L. T. 535, D. C.

——— Articled clerks of solicitors.] — See SOLICITORS.

C. Recovery where Indenture Void.

4298. Recovery by master—Premium secured by note.]—No action can be maintained by pltf. on a note given to him by deft. as an apprentice fee with his son who was to be bound to pltf., if it appear that the indenture executed was void by 8 Ann. c. 9, for want of the insertion of such premium therein, & a proper stamp in respect of the same; although pltf. did in fact maintain the apprentice for some time & until he absconded.—JACKSON v. WARWICK (1797), 7 Term Rep. 121; 101 E. R. 888.

Annotation:—Consd. Westlake v. Adams (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 248.

4299. ——— Premium secured by I.O.U.]—The premium stated in an indenture of apprenticeship was £20, but at the time of execution deft. agreed to give pltf., the master, four I.O.U.'s for £20 more, for which instruments deft., on the application of pltf., who feared that they were void promissory notes, afterwards substituted a single I.O.U. in a proper form; & on that the action was brought. The jury found the deed of apprenticeship, though void, was the very deed which deft. bargained for:—Held: pltf. was entitled to recover.—WESTLAKE v. ADAMS (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 248; 27 L. J. C. P. 271; 31 L. T. O. S. 315; 22 J. P. 674; 4 Jur. N. S. 1021; 141 E. R. 99; previous proceedings, 1 F. & F. 183; 31 L. T. O. S. 101, N. P.

4300. ——— Premium secured by bond.]—Where an apprentice is bound for five years only, & a bond given conditioned for his service; the binding being void under 5 Eliz. as not being for seven years, the bond is also void.—BURNLY v. JENNINGS (1800), 6 Esp. 8; 170 E. R. 813, N. P.

4301. ——— ———.]—To debt on bond deft. pleaded, that the bond was given in pursuance of a corrupt & illegal agreement between the obligee & obligor that the obligee should take the obligor's son as his apprentice to learn the art, mystery, & profession of a surgeon apothecary & man-midwife, for the term of two years only, but that in the articles it should be made to appear that the son had been articled for the full term of five years—in order that by such corrupt contrivance the parties might fraudulently & illegally procure the obligor's son to be admitted to examination for the purpose of practising as an apothecary upon serving an apprenticeship for two years, instead of an apprenticeship for five years, as required by 55 Geo. 3, c. 194, s. 15:—Held: the bond was void, & the plea a sufficient answer to the action.—PROLE v. WIGGINS (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 230; 2 Hodg. 204; 3 Scott, 601; 6 L. J. C. P. 2; 132 E. R. 398.

4302. Recovery by parent—Plaintiff not an innocent party.]—Pltf. executed an indenture of apprenticeship to which was appended a printed notice for the insertion of the premium, etc., under 5 Geo. 3, c. 46, by which she bound her son apprentice to deft., & she paid a premium. The indenture did not contain any statement respecting the premium, & was not stamped. The indenture being void for want of such statement, & not having been stamped within time:—Held: pltf. was not an innocent party, & she could not recover the apprentice fee from deft., though paid without consideration, the indenture being void.—STOKES v. TWITCHEN (1818), 8 Taunt. 492; 2 Moore, C. P. 538; 129 E. R. 475.

Annotations:—Consd. Hirst v. Tolson (1850), 2 H. & Tw. 359; Whincup v. Hughes (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78. Refd. Covell v. Scamell (1910), 103 L. T. 535.

4303. —— Paid by bill.]—In an action by the indorsee of a bill of exchange against the acceptor, the latter proved that his son had been bound apprentice to the drawer in 1827 by indenture, & that a premium of £30 was agreed to be paid, for which the bill in question was given. The indenture had a £1 stamp impressed upon it. The apprentice served his master for five months, & a difference arising between the master & father, & it having been discovered that the stamp was insufficient, the apprentice left his master's service:—Held: as the apprentice was maintained & instructed by his master for five months, & might have compelled him to continue that maintenance & instruction, by causing the indenture to be properly stamped, pursuant to 20 Geo. 2, c. 45, s. 5, there was not a total failure of consideration for the bill, &, therefore, the circumstances would not be an answer to an action by the payee against the acceptor.—MANN v. LENT (1830), 10 B. & C. 877; L. & Welsb. 320; 5 Man. & Ry. K. B. 660; 8 L. J. O. S. K. B. 269; 109 E. R. 674; previous proceedings (1828), Mood. & M. 240, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Henniker v. Henniker (1852), 1 E. & B. 54; Westlake v. Adams (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 248.

SUB-SECT. 13.—TERMINATION.

A. By Infant.

See, generally, Sub-sect. 3, E., ante.

Parish apprentice.]—See Sect. 6, post.

Termination by consent.]—See Sub-sect. 13, B., post.

B. By Consent.

4304. Whether consent discharges indentures—Infant apprentice.]—R. v. NOTTON (INHABITANTS) (1768), Burr. S. C. 629.

4305. —— ——.]—R. v. WEDDINGTON (INHABITANTS) (1774), Burr. S. C. 766.

4306. —— ——.]—The apprenticeship of an infant may be dissolved, with the consent of all parties concerned; & hiring & service for a year will gain a settlement, though part of the service be performed under a prior hiring for less than a year.—R. v. SPAWNTON (INHABITANTS) (1775), Burr. S. C. 801.

4307. —— ——.]—R. v. HINDRINGHAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4328, post.

4308. —— Necessity for cancellation.]—A son of twenty-one years of age was bound an apprentice to his father for seven years & served him for two or three years & they parted by consent; the father discharged his son & delivered him his indenture, but did not cancel it, & he lived as an hired servant in another place; & he was adjudged by the justices to be settled where he was an apprentice.

If the seal had been torn off, he had been discharged (HOLT, C.J.).—WHITLEY & THEERSLEY (INHABITANTS) (1705), Fortes. Rep. 312; 92 E. R. 867.

4309. —— ——.]—R. v. HINDRINGHAM (INHABITANTS), No. 4328, post.

4310. —— —— Indentures with third party.]—(1) Where the mother of an apprentice, whose time had not expired, applied to his master to give him up to her, & the master having consented to it, & all having agreed to part, the apprentice went away; but the indenture, which was in the hands of a third person, was never applied for nor given up: Held: the apprenticeship was not put an end to by this agreement, although the master said he would have given up the indenture if he had had it in his possession at the time, & afterwards refused to take back the apprentice.

(2) Where an unstamped indenture of apprenticeship recited that a premium of £12 had been paid; but added, that it was paid out of a charitable donation fund belonging to the parish, & the master being called, proved that the premium had been paid by the parish officers, who told him at the time of paying it that it was charity money: Held: the fact of payment being proved, the recital in the indenture, & the declarations of the parish officers, were not admissible in evidence, so as to bring the case within the exception in 11 Geo. 3, c. 98, s. 190, & the indenture, being unstamped, was void.—R. v. SKEFFINGTON (INHABITANTS) (1820), 3 B. & Ald. 382; 106 E. R. 702.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. R. v. Llangunnor (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 616.

4311. —— Order of Mayor's Court.]—HALE v. WEBB (1786), 2 Bro. C. C. 78; 29 E. R. 44.

Annotations:—Consd. Hirst v. Tolson (1850), 2 Mac. & G. 134. Refd. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

C. By Money Payment.

4312. Accord & satisfaction—Payment to person in loco parentis.]—WARD v. PRIN (1648), Aleyn, 78; 82 E. R. 925.

4313. —— By apprentice of full age.]—Where a master receives money of an apprentice of full age to vacate his indentures, the relation is dissolved, though the indentures remain uncancelled.—R. v. DEVONSHIRE JJ. (1777), Cald. Mag. Cas. 32.

4314. Agreement for money payment—& discharge of indentures.]—A verbal agreement by a master, "upon being paid £3 to set his apprentice at liberty, & to give him up his indenture," does not discharge the indenture, so as to fix the settlement of the apprentice in the parish where he slept last before the making of such agreement.—R. v. WARDEN (INHABITANTS) (1828), 2 Man. & Ry. K. B. 24; 1 Man. & Ry. M. C. 277; 6 L. J. O. S. M. C. 72.

D. Cancellation of Deed.

4315. What amounts to—Seal torn off.]—WHITLEY & THEERSLEY (INHABITANTS), No. 4308, ante.

4316. —— Statement that indentures burnt.]—An apprentice cannot hire himself as a servant,

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 13, D., E., F., G., H., I., J. & K.]

unless his indentures are legally cancelled; stating the declaration of the master, that they were burned, is not sufficient; but the justices, from this evidence, may find the fact.—ANMY CRUSIS PARISH v. BARNSLY (1722), 11 Mod. Rep. 365; 88 E. R. 1092.

4317. —— Delivery to new master.]—Indentures of apprenticeship are not cancelled by the master becoming a bkpt., or by his delivering the indentures to a person to whom the apprentice hires himself as a yearly servant.—BUCKINGTON PARISH v. SHEPTON BECHAMP PARISH (1724), 8 Mod. Rep. 235; 88 E. R. 169; sub nom. BUCKINGTON (INHABITANTS) v. ST. MICHAEL SEBINGTON (INHABITANTS), 2 Ld. Raym. 1352; 2 Const. 395; sub nom. PUCKINGTON PARISH v. CHEPTON BEENCHAMP PARISH, 1 Stra. 582; sub nom. R. v. PUCKINGTON & SIBINGTON (INHABITANTS), Fortes. Rep. 321; Sess. Cas. K. B. 80; sub nom. R. v. SHIPTON CURRY (INHABITANTS), Cas. Sett. 117.
Annotation:—Refd. R. v. St. George, Hanover Square (1734), Sess. Cas. K. B. 175.

4318. —— Exchange of indentures.]—Exchange of indentures between apprentice's father & master amounts to cancellation & determination of apprenticeship.—R. v. ST. MARY KALLENDAR, WINCHESTER (INHABITANTS) (1748), Burr. S. C. 274; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 433.
Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Weddington (1774), Burr. S. C. 766.

4319. —— ——.]—The delivery-up mutually of the indentures is a sufficient discharge of the apprenticeship without actual cancellation.—R. v. TITCHFIELD (INHABITANTS) (1763), Burr. S. C. 511; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 434.

4320. —— Indorsement on indenture.] — (1) Such indenture [of apprenticeship] cannot be avoided by the mere act of an apprentice absenting himself from his master's service, which is an offence under 20 Geo. 2, c. 19.

(2) Where the master had agreed by indorsement (unstamped) on the indenture to cancel it, "provided the apprentice made no engagement or entered into any person's service in the town of N.":—Held: the apprentice setting up a trade for himself in N. was a breach of the condition, which entitled the master to recall him back into his service.—GRAY v. COOKSON (1812), 16 East, 13; 104 E. R. 994.
Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Grant v. Welchman (1812), 16 East, 207. Refd. R. v. Ickham (1843), 7 J. P. 529. As to (2) Distd. R. v. Barmston (1838), 7 Ad. & El. 858. Generally, Mentd. Brittain v. Kinnaird (1819), 1 Brod. & Bing. 432; Rogers v. Jones (1824), 3 B. & C. 409; Gimbert v. Coyney (1825), 3 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 323; Wickes v. Clutterbuck (1825), 2 Bing. 483; Dingsgale v. Clarke (1829), 8 L. J. O. S. M. C. 137; Hutchinson v. Lowndes (1832), 1 Nev. & M. K. B. 674; Kitchen v. Shaw (1837), 6 Ad. & El. 729; Fuller v. Brown (1849), 13 L. T. O. S. 301.

4321. Cancellation may be conditional.]—GRAY v. COOKSON, No. 4320, ante.

4322. Order for delivery up of indenture—Expiry of apprenticeship.]—BAKER v. SHELBURY (1666), 1 Cas. in Ch. 70; Freem. Ch. 184; 22 E. R. 700, L. C.
Annotation:—Refd. Boyse v. Rossborough (1854), 3 De G. M. & G. 817.

E. Apprentice attaining Majority.

Termination during infancy.]—See Sub-sect. 3, E., ante.

4323. Indentures voidable at election of apprentice.] — An apprentice of seventeen years of age & upwards, bound by indenture, which stated her to be fourteen, for seven years, is entitled to be discharged at twenty-one.

Every indenture of an infant is voidable at his election, & in such cases the master must trust to the covenant of those who engage for the infant (LORD KENYON, C.J.).—Ex p. DAVIS (1794), 5 Term Rep. 715; 101 E. R. 397.
Annotation:—Refd. Ex p. Gill (1806), 7 East, 376; Kirkby v. Taylor (1910), 102 L. T. 184.

4324. ——.]—W., then an infant of twenty years old, applied to be taken as an apprentice by A., & represented that he was of full age, & was bound without any premium for seven years, & received weekly wages. He continued working till two years after he attained majority, & then absented himself without cause:—Held: he was properly convicted under 4 Geo. 4, c. 34, for unlawfully absenting himself, for assuming he could have disaffirmed the contract after majority, he had not done so within a reasonable time.—WRAY v. WEST (1866), 15 L. T. 180; 31 J. P. 37.

4325. —— Right unaffected by Master & Servant Act, 1867 (c. 141).]—MOORE v. SMITH (1875), 39 J. P. Jo. 772.

4326. Necessity for election.]—Where, upon a habeas corpus to bring up the body of an apprentice, the keeper of the house of correction returned, with the body of the party, a regular conviction of him by two magistrates on 20 Geo. 2, c. 19, for a misdemeanor in absenting himself as an apprentice from his master's service; it is no answer to show by affidavit that the party had bound himself when an infant to serve till twenty-five, & that when he came of age he elected to avoid the indentures, after which the offence imputed had been committed; for this was proper matter to be shown to the magistrates below; who, if the matter shown to them were true, acted at their own peril in committing the party; but this ct. has no power to discharge an apprentice from his indentures; & is bound by the return of a regular conviction, where the objection does not appear on the face of the return, to remand the party.—Ex p. GILL (1806), 7 East, 376; 103 E. R. 146; sub nom. R. v. FENWICK, Ex p. GILL, 3 Smith, K. B. 369.

4327. —— Within reasonable time after attaining majority.]—WRAY v. WEST, No. 4324, ante.

4328. What amounts to election—Effect of enlisting—With master's approval.]—Supposing an infant binding himself by indentures of apprentice may avoid them at his election, yet the leaving his master's service & going into the King's service, with his master's approbation is not such an avoidance [if the indentures are not delivered up or cancelled].—R. v. HINDRINGHAM (INHABITANTS) (1796), 6 Term Rep. 557; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 438; 101 E. R. 701.
Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Mountsorrel (1815), 3 M. & S. 497. Refd. Clements v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1894] 2 Q. B. 482.

Liability of parent—On avoidance by apprentice.]—See Sub-sect. 10, F., ante.

Parish apprentices.]—See Sect. 6, post.

F. Marriage of Apprentice.

4329. General rule.]—TOWNSEND'S CASE (1662), 1 Lev. 91; 1 Keb. 458, 470, 659; T. Raym. 92; 1 Sid. 107; 83 E. R. 313.
Annotations:—Mentd. Merchants Adventurers v. Rebow (1686), Comb. 53; R. v. Gray's Inn Benchers (1780), 1 Doug. K. B. 353.

PART XV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 13.—E.

4323 i. Indentures voidable at election of apprentice.]—An apprentice bound by indenture for seven years, while under twenty-one is entitled to put an end to the apprenticeship when he attains that age, but must give to his master reasonable notice of his intention to do so.—COGHLAN v. CALLAGHAN (1857), 7 I. C. L. R. 291.—IR.

4330. ——.]—Marriage is not in itself a dissolution of a contract of service. It has been holden that marriage is not a good cause for discharging an apprentice (per CUR.).—R. v. TARDEBIGG (INHABITANTS) (1753), Say. 100; 96 E. R. 817.

4331. Custom of London.]—If an apprentice in London marries without his master's consent, the master cannot turn him away for that reason, but must sue his covenant. STEPHENSON v. HOULDITCH (1704), 2 Vern. 491: 23 E. R. 915.

G. Dismissal of Apprentice.

See Sub-sect. 10, A., ante.

H. Absence of Apprentice.

Contract not determined.]—See Sub-sect. 10, D., ante.

I. Ill Health of Apprentice.

4332. Contract not determined.]—The master of an apprentice is bound to keep him both in sickness & in health.—R. v. HALES-OWEN (INHABITANTS) (1718), 11 Mod. Rep. 278; 1 Stra. 99; 88 E. R. 1038.

4333. ——.]—KING v. LOW, No. 4261, ante.

4334. ——.]—Actual service is not necessary to show that a person bound as an apprentice is filling that character at a particular time. Accordingly, where an apprentice, being ill, was desired by his master to go to his mother, who lived in another parish, promising to come & agree with her for her son's board & maintenance; & accordingly the apprentice so went, & the master accordingly came there, promised to remunerate the mother, & took him to a medical gentleman for advice; & the pauper resided there eight weeks, but, during that time, did not perform any actual service for his master:—Held: nevertheless, he "inhabited" in the parish in the character of an apprentice.—R. v. LINKINHORNE (INHABITANTS) (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 413; 1 L. J. M. C. 42; 110 E. R. 148.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. Banbury (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 706; R. v. Banbury (1833), 5 B. & Ad. 176; R. v. Sandhurst (1837), 6 Ad. & El. 130; R. v. Bursledon (1839), 11 Ad. & El. 52.

4335. ——.]—A carpenter's apprentice met with an accident, &, with the consent of his master, he went to his father's house, in an adjoining parish, & during the time that he was unable to work at his ordinary trade, & whilst he was residing with his father, his master employed him to sell lottery tickets in the neighbouring villages, in which the prizes were articles manufactured by his master; & the apprentice received 1*s.* for each of the tickets sold; but the master did not, in any other manner, contribute towards his maintenance, although he promised to pay the surgeon's bill:—Held: the relationship of master & apprentice continued.—R. v. SOMERBY (INHABITANTS) (1838), 9 Ad. & El. 310; 1 Per. & Dav. 180; 1 Will. Woll. & H. 697; 2 Jur. 1064; 112 E. R. 1230.

4336. ——.]—PATTEN v. WOOD, No. 4400, post.

J. Bankruptcy of Master.

See, now, Bankruptcy Act, 1914 (c. 59), s. 34.

4337. Whether indentures discharged.] — The failure of the master does not dissolve an apprenticeship.—BUCKINGTON (INHABITANTS) v. ST. MICHAEL SEBINGTON (INHABITANTS) (1724), 2 Ld. Raym. 1352; 92 E. R. 380; sub nom. BUCKINGTON PARISH v. SHEPTON BECHAMP PARISH, 8 Mod. Rep. 235; sub nom. PUCKINGTON PARISH v. CHEPTON BEENCHAMP PARISH, 1 Stra. 582.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. St. George, Hanover Square (1734), Sess. Cas. K. B. 175.

4338. ——— Bankruptcy subsequently annulled.]—A fiat of bkpcy. issued against the master of an apprentice, but was afterwards annulled, by means of a composition between the bkpt. & his creditors:—Held: the indentures of apprenticeship were discharged.—ALLEN v. COSTER (1838), 1 Beav. 274; 48 E. R. 945.

K. Masters in Partnership.

See, generally, PARTNERSHIP.

4339. Effect of death of one partner.]—A. is apprenticed to B. & C. partners. The partnership being dissolved B. removes & A. serves C. & C.'s new partner D. After the death of C., A. continues to serve D. It not being found by the sessions that the service under D. was with the consent of B., this ct. will not refer the service to the apprenticeship. No settlement is therefore gained by A., in the parish in which he served & resided with D.—R. v. ST. MARTIN'S, EXETER (INHABITANTS) (1835), 2 Ad. & El. 655; 1 Har. & W. 69; 4 Nev. & M. K. B. 388; 2 Nev. & M. M. C. 555; 4 L. J. M. C. 51; 111 E. R. 252.

4340. Effect of dissolution—Release of parent.]—Where, to an action of covenant on an indenture of apprenticeship against the father, for breaches by the apprentice, deft. being under terms of pleading issuably, pleaded that pltfs. carried on the business of engineers as co-partners, that the covenants were made with them as such co-partners; & that before any breach of duty, they dissolved partnership:—Held: the plea was an issuable one, & ought not to be set aside.—LLOYD v. BLACKBURN (1842), 9 M. & W. 363; 1 Dowl. N. S. 647; 11 L. J. Ex. 210; 152 E. R. 151.

Annotations:—Consd. Brook v. Dawson (1869), 20 L. T. 611. Refd. Brace v. Calder (1895), 59 J. P. 693.

4341. — Release of apprentice.]—Applt. was, on Apr. 8, 1865, bound apprentice to resp. & J., no premium being paid, for the term of five years. On Dec. 9 in the same year resp. & his partner dissolved partnership, resp. continuing to carry on the business. At the time of the dissolution applt. was told that he would have to serve out his apprenticeship with resp., which he agreed to do, & he continued to serve as such apprentice until Aug. 3, 1868, when he absented himself. Upon a complaint for such misconduct:—Held: by the dissolution of partnership applt. ceased to be under any obligation to continue to serve resp.—BROOK v. DAWSON (1869), 20 L. T. 611; 33 J. P. 726.

4342. ——— Amounts to breach of agreement to teach.]—To an action upon an agreement of apprenticeship against defts., who were partners, for not teaching pltf.'s son, defts. pleaded that they were always ready & willing to perform the agreement, but that pltf.'s son absented himself from the service of defts., & thereby prevented defts. from performing the said agreement on their part, & refused to permit them to do so. Pltf. newly assigned, & defts. pleaded that before the alleged breaches the partnership between defts. was dissolved, & defts. ceased to carry on the business of tea & general colonial brokers in partnership, & the said business was therefoer carried on as before, & as in the agreement in the —A surviving partner is bound by the covenant of himself & his deceased partner to teach an apprentice until the end of the term for which he was apprenticed.—CONNELL v. OWEN (1855), 4 C. P. 113.—CAN.

Sect. 1.—The contract of apprenticeship: Sub-sect. 13, K., L., M. & N. Sect. 2: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.] declaration referred to, by one of defts. alone, & he was always ready & willing to teach & instruct pltf.'s son in the said business, & gave him every facility for acquiring a full knowledge of the same, & in all respects to the utmost of his power helped pltf.'s son to a thorough knowledge of the said business in pursuance of the agreement set out in the declaration:—Held: the plea to the declaration was good, but the plea to the new assignment was bad.—COUCHMAN v. SILLAR (1870), 22 L. T. 480; 18 W. R. 757.

4343. —— Recovery of premium.]—COVELL v. SCAMELL, No. 4297, ante.

4344. Division of business—Business not carried on in its entirety.]—Pltf. was bound apprentice to defts. & their partners & successors in business in the trade of an engineer; & his father covenanted to provide him with board, lodging, & other necessaries. At the date of the indenture the business was carried on by the former defts. in London, where also the father of the apprentice resided, but there was no stipulation in the indenture as to the place where the business should be carried on. Before the term of the apprenticeship expired defts.' partnership was dissolved & two firms established, one in London, consisting of two of defts., & the other at Derby, consisting of the other two, the manufacturing part of the old business being carried on at Derby, & the selling part in London. Defts. called on pltf. to attend at the place of business at Derby:—Held: (1) there was an implied stipulation that the contract was to be performed at the place where the business was carried on & the parties resided at the date of the indenture; & the direction to the apprentice to go to Derby was an unreasonable command which he was not bound to obey; (2) as the business was not carried on in its entirety by either of the two new firms, neither of them was the successor of the original firm, or entitled to the services of the apprentice. Royce v. Charlton, No. 4246, ante, overd.—EATON v. WESTERN (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 636; 52 L. J. Q. B. 41; 47 L. T. 593; 47 J. P. 196; 31 W. R. 313, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Burnley Equitable Co-op. & Industrial Soc. v. Casson (1890), 63 L. T. 652. As to (2) Consd. Burnley Equitable Co-op. & Industrial Soc. v. Casson (1890), 63 L. T. 652.

L. Death.

4345. How far executor of master bound.]—They [exors. of master] ought to see the apprentice taught his trade & if they are not of the same trade, they ought to assign him to another who is of the trade, for that he may be taught according to the covenant (per CUR.).—WALKER v. HULL (1665), 1 Lev. 177; 83 E. R. 357.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Baxter v. Burfield (1747), 2 Stra. 1266. Refd. R. v. Peck (1698), 1 Salk. 65.

4346. ——.]—(1) Order of justices, that exor. shall keep testator's apprentice, quashed.

(2) By custom of London, exor. shall place testator's apprentice to another master of the same trade.—R. v. PECK (1698), 1 Salk. 66; 91 E. R. 61; sub nom. PECK'S CASE, 3 Salk. 41.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. R. v. Eakring (1753), Say. 88.

4347. —— Customs of London.]—R. v. PECK, No. 4346, ante.

4348. —— Covenant extending to representative.]—By indenture, an infant, with the consent of his father, bound himself apprentice to a tradesman "his exors. & administrators, such exors. or administrators carrying on the same trade or business & in the town of W.," & with him & them to serve for the term of seven years; & the master, in consideration of the service of the apprentice, covenanted to teach & instruct him, or cause him to be taught & instructed, during the term:—Held: (1) upon the death of the master, the apprentice was bound to serve his widow, who was his extrix. whilst she carried on the same business in the town of W.; & she was bound to teach the apprentice; (2) it was no answer to an information against the apprentice for absenting himself from the service of the extrix. that he had consulted an attorney, who advised him that the apprenticeship was determined by the death of the master, & that he had acted on the bonâ fide belief that the advice was correct.

(3) Where an infant is bound apprentice, the indenture will not be void merely because it is not manifestly for his benefit, but only where it is manifestly to his prejudice.—COOPER v. SIMMONS (1862), 7 H. & N. 707; 31 L. J. M. C. 138; 5 L. T. 712; 26 J. P. 486; 8 Jur. N. S. 81; 10 W. R. 270; 158 E. R. 654.

Annotations:—Generally, Refd. Walter v. Everard, [1891] 2 Q. B. 369.

4349. How far apprentice bound to executor of master.]—Apprentice is not bound to serve the exor. of the master.—BAXTER v. BURFIELD (1747), 2 Stra. 1266; 1 Bott. 6th ed. 542; 93 E. R. 1172.

Annotations:—Apld. Pearce v. Chamberlain (1750), 2 Ves. Sen. 33. Consd. R. v. Stockland (1779), Cald. Mag. Cas. 60. Apld. Cooper v. Simmons (1862), 7 H. & N. 707.

4350. —— Covenant extending to representative.]—COOPER v. SIMMONS, No. 4348, ante.

4351. Whether death of master determines apprenticeship.]—WADSWORTH v. GYE (1664), 1 Sid. 216; 1 Keb. 820; 82 E. R. 1066.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. Prat (1692), 12 Mod. Rep. 27; R. v. Peck (1698), 1 Salk. 65; Baxter v. Burfield (1747), 2 Stra. 1266.

4352. ——.]—R. v. CHIRK (1774), Burr. S. C. 782.

4353. —— No covenant to serve representatives.]—By an apprenticeship deed A. was to serve B., & B. teach A. for a term of years; there was no provision as to service to B.'s exors. or return of premium; B. died before the expiration of the term:—Held: no action for damages, or for money had & received lay against B.'s exors. for a return of portion of the premium.—WHINCUP v. HUGHES (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 78; 40 L. J. C. P. 104; 24 L. T. 76; 19 W. R. 439.

Annotations:—Apld. Ferns v. Carr (1885), 28 Ch. D. 409. Refd. Learoyd v. Brook, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431; Covell v. Scamell (1910), 103 L. T. 535. Mentd. Cornwall v. Henson, [1899] 2 Ch. 710; Lloyd Royal Belge Soc. Anon. v. Stathatos (1917), 33 T. L. R. 390.

4354. Effect of death of either party.]—An apprenticeship is determined by the death of either master or apprentice.—R. v. EAKRING (INHABITANTS) (1753), Say. 88; 96 E. R. 813.

M. Return of Premium.

See Sub-sect. 12, B., ante.

N. Trading on Own Account.

4355. Custom of London.]—NESSON v. FINCH (1698), 1 Ld. Raym. 382; 91 E. R. 1152.

SECT. 2.—RIGHTS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF MASTER.

SUB-SECT. 1.—RIGHT TO APPRENTICE'S EARNINGS.

4356. General rule.]—Apprentice's master entitled to what apprentice earns.—ANON. (1700), 12 Mod. Rep. 415; 88 E. R. 1419.

Annotation:—Refd. Morison v. Thompson (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 480.

4357. ——.]—Whatever apprentice gains belongs to the master, & he may have action for it. —BARBER v. DENNIS (1703), 1 Salk. 68; 6 Mod. Rep. 69; 91 E. R. 63.

Annotations: Consd. Foster v. Stewart (1814), 3 M. & S. 191; Evans v. Walton (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 615. Refd. St. Nicholas v. St. Peters (1736), Lee temp. Hard. 323; R. v. Closworth (1837), 6 L. J. M. C. 71; Morison v. Thompson (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 480.

4358. ——.]—If an apprentice works for another person who receives the money arising from such work, the master may maintain an action for the money.—AYNSWORTH v. WOOD (1728). Sess. Cas. K. B. 84; 93 E. R. 85; sub nom. AYNESWORTH v. WOOD, 1 Barn. K. B. 312.

4359. ——.]—A master stipulating for 4*d.* out of every 1*s.* of the earnings of his apprentice is no benefit to him within the statute of Anne, for which an additional duty is to be paid; being by law entitled to the whole.—R. v. WANTAGE (INHABITANTS) (1801), 1 East, 601; 102 E. R. 233.

4360. ——.]—The master of an apprentice is by law entitled to the whole of his earnings (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—R. v. BRADFORD (INHABITANTS) (1813), 1 M. & S. 151; 105 E. R. 57.

4361. Though apprentice quits before time.]—Master has a right to earnings of his apprentice who quits him.—MERITON v. HORNSBY (1717), 1 Ves. Sen. 48; 27 E. R. 883.

Annotation: Refd. Hill v. Allen (1718), 1 Dick. 131.

4362. —— ——.]—The ct. will not relieve against a master's legal right to all the earnings of his apprentice who quitted his service before his time.—HILL v. ALLEN (1748), 1 Ves. Sen. 83; 1 Dick. 130; 27 E. R. 906.

4363. —— Though earned on warship.]—The master of an apprentice is entitled to the wages earned by him in a man of war; & may recover them from the captain, although the latter had no notice of the apprenticeship beyond the assertion of the apprentice.—EADES v. VANDEPUT (1781), 1 Doug. K. B. 1; 5 East, 38, n.; 99 E. R. 736.

Annotation: Consd. Foster v. Stewart (1814), 3 M. & S. 191.

4364. Master not entitled to prize money.]—The prize money gained by an apprentice, serving on board a letter of marque ship, does not belong to the master of the apprentice, the usage being proved to be that such money is the property of the apprentice.—CARSAN v. WATTS (1781), 3 Doug. K. B. 350; 99 E. R. 691.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CHASTISEMENT OF APPRENTICES.

4365. Whether moderate chastisement permitted — Improper conduct.]—GYLBERT v. FLETCHER, No. 4193, ante.

4366. —— ——.]—In the simple relation of master & servant, the servant is bound to obey all the lawful commands of his master, & if he commits any unlawful act the master may dismiss him. But if an apprentice misbehaves himself the master has the power of correcting him by personal chastisement, provided it be moderate; & the whole control as regards his morals is also with the master. . . . The apprentice may have taken sweetmeats from a jar, or a shilling from a till, for which offences he might be corrected by personal chastisement or kept in confinement, but the master has no right to dissolve the contract (WATSON, B.).—PHILLIPS v. CLIFT (1859), 4 H. & N. 168; 28 L. J. Ex. 153; 32 L. T. O. S. 282; 23 J. P. 120; 5 Jur. N. S. 74; 7 W. R. 205; 157 E. R. 801.

Annotations: Refd. Westwick v. Theodar (1875), 39 J. P. 616; Learoyd v. Brook, [1891] 1 Q. B. 431; Waterman v. Fryer, [1922] 1 K. B. 499.

4367. ——.]—The girls upon whom the assaults were committed were apprenticed to applt. A book of faults seems to have been kept by him in which entries were made from time to time, & after a certain number of entries were made the apprentice to whom they related was punished. There does not appear to have been punishment which carried any serious pain to the girls in question, but there can be no doubt that applt. had no right to chastise the girls in the way he did, nor has any one who employs apprentices any right to do what applt. claims he could do by way of correction (LORD READING, C.J.).—R. v. JOSEPHSON (1914), 110 L. T. 512; 30 T. L. R. 243; 24 Cox, C. C. 128; 10 Cr. App. Rep. 8; 78 J. P. Jo. 10, C. C. A.

Criminal liability for immoderate chastisement.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 828, No. 9066.

SUB-SECT. 3.—PHYSICAL WELL-BEING OF APPRENTICE.

A. In General.

4368. Provision of board & lodging—No indentures executed Recovery of costs by master—Apprentice dismissed without reason.]—If a person take a lad a month on liking, with the intention of his being bound as an apprentice, if he & the lad suit one another, & the lad stay several months without any indenture being executed. If no fresh agreement were entered into he is not entitled to charge for the board & lodging of the lad whom he employed in his trade, & by consequence he is not entitled to set it off in an action by the lad's father for money lent.—WILKINS v. WELLS (1825), 2 C. & P. 231, N. P.

Annotation: Distd. Earratt v. Burghart (1828), 3 C. & P. 381.

4369. Apprentice dismissed for misconduct.]—If a lad goes on liking with a view to his being bound an apprentice, his intended master cannot charge for his board & lodging for the first month, nor perhaps for so long time as he conducts himself properly. But if he stays for many months, behaving ill after complaints to his father of his misconduct, it will be for the jury to say whether there was any contract, either express or implied, that his father should pay for his board & lodging. EARRATT v. BURGHART (1828), 3 C. & P. 381, N. P.

Annotation: Distd. Harrison v. James (1862), 7 H. & N. 804.

4370. Whether contract implied a question of fact.]—A. placed his son with B., a chemist & druggist, who intended to pass his examination at Apothecaries' Hall, but was delayed in so doing by ill health. It was intended that A.'s son should be apprenticed to B., but he stayed for five years with B., having his board & lodging, & being taught the business of a chemist & druggist, & he then left B., & was never apprenticed to him: Held: (1) to entitle B. to recover for the board, lodging & teaching of A.'s son, the jury must be satisfied that A.'s son was placed with B. upon an agreement or understanding that B. was to be paid for his board & lodging

---

PART XV. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 2.

4367 i. Whether moderate chastisement permitted.]—The master of a ship is entitled to chastise an apprentice, & the ct., on a claim for damages being made on the apprentice's behalf, will not inquire whether the master was right or wrong, provided his act was truly an act of chastisement, & not an act of wanton cruelty.—WIGHTS v. BURNS (1883), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 217; 21 Sc. L. R. 160.—SCOT.

Sect. 2.—Rights, duties and liabilities of master: Sub-sect. 3, A. & B.; sub-sects. 4 & 5. Sect. 3.]

& for teaching him; (2) but if the jury were not so satisfied, or if they thought that A.'s son was not to be paid for till B. had passed his examination at Apothecaries' Hall, & that A.'s son was then to be apprenticed to B. as an apothecary, B. was not entitled to recover anything for the board & lodging & teaching during the five years. —ATTWATERS v. COURTNEY (1841), Car. & M. 51, N. P.

4371. —— —— —— Apprentice removed by father.]—Deft. being desirous of apprenticing his son to pltfs., it was verbally agreed between them, that the son should go on trial for a month, &-if the parties were satisfied, he should be bound apprentice for four years, deft. to pay a premium of £100 by instalments. The son went on trial & remained above sixteen months, when deft. removed him. No deed of apprenticeship was executed, or any part of the premium paid:—Held: pltfs. could not recover for the son's board & lodging during any part of the time he remained with them.—HARRISON v. JAMES (1862), 7 H. & N. 804; 31 L. J. Ex. 248; 158 E. R. 693.

4372. Provision of washing—Subsequent variation of contract.]—The father of an apprentice covenanted in the indenture to provide his son with washing, etc.; after that the master suggested that the father should allow the son £20 a year, & the master supply the son with washing, etc., & the son pay him for it. This was acceded to, & the master accordingly supplied the washing, etc.:—Held: the master could not recover in an action of covenant on the indenture against the father for his not providing the son with washing, etc., if the master provided the washing, etc., by agreement on the credit of either the father or the son; &, in an action on the covenant, a plea of performance by the father was supported by proof of these facts.—BLACKBURNE v. DAVIS (1843), Car. & Kir. 107; 1 L. T. O. S. 647, N. P.

4373. Duty to provide medicines.]—A master is bound during the illness of his apprentice, to provide him with proper medicines.—R. v. SMITH (1837), 8 C. & P. 153.

B. Ill Usage.

4374. Discharge of indenture—Whether ordered by court.]—LOCKLEY v. ELDRIDGE (1674), Cas. temp. Finch, 124; 23 E. R. 68.

Annotation:—Refd. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

4375. —— ——.]—Pltf.'s son was put apprentice to deft. for seven years, but quitted him on being misused, & on deft.'s proceeding at law, on a bond given by pltf., he brings a bill for an injunction, & for the delivery of the bond.

A ct. of equity has no jurisdiction in matters of this nature, but belongs to justices of peace, & therefore pltf. ordered to pay costs at law, & in this ct.

Misuser of an apprentice is not a foundation for coming into equity, for if an action is brought by a master against the father of an apprentice, for a breach of covenant in quitting his service, if misuser appears, this is no breach.—ARGLES v. HEASEMAN (1739), 1 Atk. 518; 26 E. R. 327, L. C.

Annotation:—Apld. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

—— By magistrate.]—See Sect. 4, post.

Criminal liability.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 792, 793, 827, Nos. 8562, 8572, 9049.

SUB-SECT. 4.—RIGHTS AGAINST THIRD PARTIES —REMEDIES FOR HARBOURING APPRENTICE.

4376. Whether action lies.]—VALLEY v. RICHMOND (1603), Noy, 105; 74 E. R. 1071.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Callingwood (1704), 2 Ld. Raym. 1116.

4377. ——.]—Trespass lies for the taking an apprentice.—CHAMBERLAIN v. HARVEY (1696), 1 Ld. Raym. 146; Carth. 396; 5 Mod. Rep. 182; 91 E. R. 994.

Annotation:—Refd. Forbes v. Cochrane (1824), 2 B. & C. 448.

4378. ——.]—An indictment will not lie against a man for enticing an apprentice to leave his master's service; for it is of a private nature, & to the prejudice of a single person only; the remedy is by action on the case.—R. v. DANIELL (1704), 6 Mod. Rep. 99, 182; Holt, K. B. 316; 1 Salk. 380; 3 Salk. 191; 87 E. R. 856, 937.

Annotations:—Expld. R. v. Callingwood (1705), 2 Ld. Raym. 1116. Consd. R. v. Higgins (1801), 2 East, 5. Refd. R. v. Rowlands (1851), 2 Den. 364. Mentd. R. v. Rowed (1842), 11 L. J. M. C. 74; Mogul S.S. Co. v. McGregor, Gow (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 598.

4379. ——.]—(1) The ct. will not, at the prayer of the master, grant a habeas corpus to bring up an apprentice impressed, he being willing to enter into the King's service.

(2) If the party himself, being of competent years of discretion, do not complain, we cannot issue the writ on the prayer of the master, who has his remedy by action if his apprentice has been improperly taken away from him (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—Ex p. LANDSDOWN (1804), 5 East, 38; 102 E. R. 983.

4380. ——.]—Debt upon a contract of Sept. 1834, whereby pltf., in consideration of £7,800 did sell, assign, transfer, & set over all his right, etc., in & to the services & labour of one hundred and fifty-three apprenticed labourers in favour of deft., to the use of his plantations, with a warranty of the quiet possession of the services of such labourers according to law; & deft. engaged to pay pltf. the sum of £7,800 in six instalments, & that in case of failure in any of such instalments, pltf. might reclaim, & the services of the labourers should revert to pltf., deft. remaining liable for such sums as should be then due for the hire of such labour during such period as he should have received the services. Breach assigned: non-payment of the two last instalments.

Plea, that before the expiration of the period of service, & before the instalment was due, pltf. removed the labourers out of the plantations of deft. to his own premises, & deft. ceased to receive their services, & he declined to pay the instalment, & therefore the services reverted to pltf.:—Held: the plea set out what might have given deft. a cross remedy against pltf. for a trespass, but was no defence in this action.—FULLARTON v. MITTELHOLZER (1845), 6 Q. B. 1022; 4 L. T. O. S. 376; 115 E. R. 385, Ex. Ch.

4381. —— Action for loss of service for residue of term—Term not expired.]—Pltf. declared for procuring his apprentice to depart from his service, & for the loss of his service, for the whole residue of the term of his apprenticeship, & the jury assessed damages generally, judgment was arrested, because it appeared that the term was not expired.—HAMILTON v. VERE (1670), 2 Keb. 693, 697; 1 Lev. 299; 84 E. R. 436, 439; sub nom. HAMBLETON v. VEER, cited in 5 Mod. Rep. at p. 287; T. Raym. 200; 2 Wms. Saund. 169.

Annotations:—Refd. Hodsoll v. Stallebrass (1840), 11 Ad. & El. 301. Mentd. Acton v. Eels (1695), 2 Salk. 662; Leveridge v. Hoskins (1709), 11 Mod. Rep. 257; Griffiths v. Lewis (1846), 8 Q. B. 841.

4382. —— Proof of enticing not essential.]—Case for retaining his servant departed without licence.

The action lies without incitement by defts., they having notice that he was the hired servant of another (per CUR.).—FAWCET v. BEAVRES (1672), 2 Lev. 63; 83 E. R. 451.

Annotation:—Refd. Aynesworth v. Wood (1729), 1 Barn. K. B. 312.

4383. ——.]—ASHCROFT v. BEETLES (1796), 6 Term Rep. 652; 101 E. R. 753.

4384. —— Necessity for valid contract of apprenticeship.]—No action can be maintained for harbouring an apprentice as such, if the master to whom he was bound was then not a housekeeper, & of the age of 24 years. Qu.: whether in an action by a master for harbouring his apprentice it is necessary for him to prove that he has made oath that the premium mentioned in the indentures is the whole premium he has received.—GYE v. FELTON (1813), 4 Taunt. 876; 128 E. R. 577.

Annotation:—Refd. Stewart v. Lawton (1823), 1 Bing. 374.

4385. ——.]—No action will lie for enticing away an apprentice, unless there be a valid contract of apprenticeship.—COX v. MUNCEY (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 375; 141 E. R. 502.

4386. ——.]—DE FRANCESCO v. BARNUM. No. 4201, ante.

4387. Habeas corpus.]—R. v. PARKINS (1758), 2 Keny. 295; 96 E. R. 1188.

4388. —— To discharge apprentice from man of war.]—If an apprentice of the age of eighteen voluntarily enter into the sea service, his master is not entitled to sue out a habeas corpus to bring him up.—R. v. REYNOLDS (1795), 6 Term Rep. 497; 101 E. R. 667.

Annotation:—Consd. R. v. Edwards (1798), 7 Term Rep. 745.

4389. ——.]—If an apprentice be impressed into the sea service, the master cannot sue out a habeas corpus to bring him up to be discharged, though the apprentice may. But the Lord Chief Justice may issue a warrant to bring him up on the application either of the master or the apprentice.—R. v. EDWARDS (1798), 7 Term Rep. 745; 101 E. R. 1231.

4390. ——.]—Ex p. LANDSDOWN, No. 4379, ante.

4391. ——.]—Habeas corpus refused, to discharge an apprentice from a king's ship, where the apprentice did not allege that he was detained against his own consent. The master, however, may have a warrant to the commander of the vessel to have the apprentice discharged.—Ex p. GROCOT (1825), 5 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 610; 2 Dow. & Ry. M. C. 594.

4392. Action for harbouring waived—Action for work & labour done by apprentice.]—The master of an apprentice, who has been seduced from his service to work for another person, may waive his action for the tort, & bring an action of indebitatus assumpsit for work & labour done by his apprentice, against the person who tortiously employed him.—LIGHTLY v. CLOUSTON (1808), 1 Taunt. 112; 127 E. R. 774.

Annotations:—Folld. Foster v. Stewart (1814), 3 M. & S. 191. Consd. Phillips v. Homfray (1883), 24 Ch. D. 439.

4393. ——.]—Where pltf.'s apprentice deserted from pltf.'s ship & went on board deft.'s & secreted himself until deft.'s ship sailed, when he discovered himself to deft., who carried him to H., to which place he worked his passage, receiving his food, & during their passage to H. pltf.'s & deft.'s ships were within hail, but deft. did not make known to pltf. that he had the apprentice on board, & on the arrival of deft.'s ship at H. the apprentice wished to leave her, but deft. persuaded him to remain, promising him either wages or clothes & pocket money, under which persuasion the apprentice sailed with him to E. & did duty as one of the crew, but received no wages, or clothes or pocket money:—Held: pltf. was entitled to waive the tort, & bring assumpsit against deft. for the work & labour of his apprentice, & to recover a reasonable compensation for the services of the apprentice from H. to E.—FOSTER v. STEWART (1814), 3 M. & S. 191; 105 E. R. 582.

Annotations:—Refd. Chamberlain v. Hazelwood (1839), 9 L. J. Ex. 87; Cornish v. Abington (1859), 7 W. R. 504: Phillips v. Homfray (1883), 24 Ch. D. 439.

4394. Action for penalties—Under private Act.]—CUTLER'S CO. IN YORKSHIRE v. RUSLIN (1693), Skin. 363; 90 E. R. 161.

Annotations:—Consd. College of Physicians v. Harrison (1829), 9 B. & C. 521. Refd. Plymouth Corpn. v. Werring (1743), Willes, 440.

4395. Injunction.]—RICHARDS v. WHITNEY (1556), cited in 1 Spence 698.

Annotation:—Consd. Webb v. England (1860), 29 Beav. 44.

Whether indictment lies.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XIV., p. 208, No. 1898.

SUB-SECT. 5.—LIABILITIES TO THIRD PARTIES.

4396. Trover—For goods delivered to apprentice.] Trover lies against master for goods delivered to the apprentice.—MEAD v. HAMOND (1722), 1 Stra. 505; 93 E. R. 663.

4397. ——.]—ARMORY v. DELAMIRIE (1722), 1 Stra. 505; 93 E. R. 664.

Annotations: Refd. Ancona v. Marks (1862), 7 H. & N. 686. Mentd. Webb v. Fox (1797), 7 Term Rep. 391; Lupton v. White, White v. Lupton (1808), 15 Ves. 432; Sutton v. Buck (1810), 2 Taunt. 302; Burton v. Hughes (1824), 9 Moore, C. P. 334; Mortimer v. Cradock (1843), 12 L. J. C. P. 166; Taylor v. Haygarth (1841), 8 Jur. 135; Whitehead v. Harrison (1844), 6 Q. B. 423; Bridges v. Hawkesworth (1851), 21 L. J. Q. B. 75; White v. Mullett (1851), 6 Exch. 713; Dean v. Thwaite (1855), 21 Beav. 621; Gray v. Haig, Haig v. Gray (1855), 20 Beav. 219; Broadbent v. Imperial Gas Co. (1857), 7 De G. M. & G. 436; Chowne v. Baylis (1862), 31 Beav. 351; R. v. Gardner (1862), 1 New Rep. 107; Buckley v. Gross (1863), 3 B. & S. 566; Williams v. Williams (1863), 33 Beav. 306; Wentworth v. Lloyd (1864), 10 H. L. Cas. 589; Bourne v. Fosbrooke (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 515; Hammersmith, etc. Ry. v. Brand (1869), L. R. 4 H. L. 171; Taunton Petn. (1869), 21 L. T. 169; Wilson v. Northampton & Banbury Junction Ry. (1874), 43 L. J. Ch. 503; Mussammat Sundar v. Mussammat Parbati (1889), 5 T. L. R. 683; Keighley, Maxsted v. Durant, [1901] A. C. 240; The Winkfield, [1902] P. 42; Plasycoed Collieries Co. v. Partridge Jones (1912), 81 L. J. K. B. 723; Eastern Construction Co. v. National Trust Co. & Schmidt, [1914] A. C. 197; Daniel v. Rogers, [1918] 2 K. B. 228; Coldman v. Hill, [1919] 1 K. B. 443; Smith v. G. W. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 237.

4398. Fraud of apprentice.]—Master liable for fraud of apprentice.—GRAMMAR v. NIXON (1725), 1 Stra. 653; 93 E. R. 761.

Annotations:—Consd. The Druid (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 391. Refd. A.-G. v. Siddon (1830), 1 Tyr. 41; Udell v. Atherton (1861), 7 H. & N. 172.

SECT. 3.—AUTHORITY OF APPRENTICE.

See, generally, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 295 et seq.

4399. To receive payment on behalf of master—Not in usual course of business.]—Semble: a payment made to an apprentice in his master's counting house, not in the usual course of business, but on a collateral transaction, is not a good payment to the master; as, where a deposit is paid by a stakeholder to the apprentice of the party who makes the deposit, at his counting-house.—

Sect. 3.—Authority of apprentice. Sects. 4, 5 & 6: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3.]

SANDERSON v. BELL (1834), 2 Cr. & M. 301; 4 Tyr. 244; 3 L. J. Ex. 66; 149 E. R. 776.

Annotations:—Mentd. Steadman v. Hockley (1846), 10 Jur. 819; Castellain v. Thompson, Thompson v. Castellain (1862), 13 C. B. N. S. 105; Webb v. Smith (1885), 30 Ch. D. 192.

SECT. 4.—PROCEEDINGS BEFORE MAGISTRATES.

See, now, Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), ss. 5-7.

4400. Jurisdiction of magistrates—To order payment of wages—For period of illness.]—P. was by deed apprenticed in 1881 for seven years to W., a plumber, & in the fifth year W. covenanted to pay 14*s.* per week. In that year P. had a tumour in his right hand & was in hospital, & claimed wages while so absent & incapable of work under Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), s. 5:—Held: the magistrate was wrong in refusing to make an order on W. to pay the wages during such illness of P.— PATTEN v. WOOD (1887), 51 J. P. 549, D. C.

—— Infant's contract.]—See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

4401. Former jurisdiction of sessions—Discharge of apprentice—Default & ill treatment of master.]—R. v. DUHAMMEL, No. 4289, ante.

4402. —— - — Must be upon reason assigned.]—R. v. DAVIE (1726), 2 Stra. 704; Sess. Cas. K. B. 81; 93 E. R. 795.

Annotation:—Refd. Arglis v. Heaseman (1735), Lee temp. Hard. 101.

4403. —— —— "Using unkindly" not sufficient.]—The sessions have an original jurisdiction in respect of discharging an apprentice. But an apprentice cannot be discharged without appearance or summons of the master. "Using" the apprentice "unkindly" not a sufficient reason for discharging him.—ARGLIS v. HEASEMAN (1735), Lee temp. Hard. 101; Cunn. 157; 95 E. R. 63; sub nom. R. v. EASMAN, 2 Stra. 1013 sub nom. R. v. HEASMAN, Sess. Cas. K. B. 176; subsequent proceedings (1739), 1 Atk. 518, L. C.

4404. —— Committal of apprentice—Defences—Acting on legal advice.]—COOPER v. SIMMONS, No. 4348, ante.

4405. —— —— —— Breach of covenant by master.]—In an apprentice indenture, a master entered into a covenant to pay wages varying each year of the service, & near the close of the service the apprentice & master differed about the correct sum then payable, according to the indenture, & because the master would not pay what the apprentice claimed, the latter left the service:—Held: as the covenant to pay wages was quite independent of the apprentice's covenant to serve, & there was a remedy against the master for breach of this covenant, the apprentice had no just cause to absent himself & the justices ought to have convicted him.—WINNIFRITH v. PANKHURST (1864), 28 J. P. 823.

4406. —— —— Infant avoiding indenture as prejudicial.]—R. v. EVERED (1777), Cald. Mag. Cas. 26.

Annotation:—Apld. Gray v. Cookson (1812), 16 East, 13.

4407. Effect of order discharging apprentice—Discharge of master's covenants.]—An order of session to discharge an apprentice from his master virtually discharges the master from the covenants of the indenture.—R. v. GATELY (1695), 5 Mod. Rep. 138; Carth. 366; Comb. 353; 2 Salk. 471; Sett. & Rem. 133; 87 E. R. 569.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Bartlet (1734), 2 Barn. K. B. 462.

SECT. 5.—PARTICULAR TRADES AND PROFESSIONS.

4408. Huntsman.]—R. v. WHITCHURCH (INHABITANTS) (1726), 3 Vin. Abr. 31.

Annotation:—Refd. St. Pancras Parish v. Clapham Parish (1860), 6 Jur. N. S. 700.

4409. Housewifery.]—R. v. ST. PETROX (INHABITANTS) (1745), Burr. S. C. 248.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. Barnsley (1813), 1 M. & S. 377; R. v. Barleston (1822), 5 B. & Ald. 780; St. Pancras v. Clapham (1860), 2 E. & E. 742.

4410. Chimney sweeps.]—28 Geo. 3, c. 48, s. 4, makes void all indentures whereby children under eight years of age are bound apprentices to chimney sweepers, & no settlement can be gained by serving under them.—R. v. HIPSWELL (INHABITANTS) (1828), 8 B. & C. 466; 2 Man. & Ry. M. C. 474; 2 Man. & Ry. K. B. 474; 7 L. J. O. S. M. C. 4; 108 E. R. 1116.

Annotations:—Apld. R. v. Gravesend (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 240. Distd. R. v. St. Gregory (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 99. Consd. R. v. Epsom (1855), 4 E. & B. 1003. Mentd. Pearse v. Morrice (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 84.

— — —.]—See, now, Chimney Sweepers & Chimneys Regulation Act, 1840 (c. 85), s. 3.

4411. Watermen.]—By 10 Geo. 2, c. 31, s. 5, any contract to take an apprentice, entered into by such freeman or widow, not being an occupier of some house, etc., or having already two apprentices, was prohibited; &, therefore, where a pauper bound himself by indenture of apprenticeship to serve the widow of a waterman, she not having such house, etc., but it being understood that he was to live at the house of a freeman of the co., which he did, & to serve him conformably to the indenture, he having two other apprentices at the time, such indenture was absolutely void.—R. v. GRAVESEND (INHABITANTS) (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 240; 1 L. J. M. C. 20; 110 E. R. 90.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. St. Gregory (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 99. Refd. R. v. Barmston (1838), 7 Ad. El. 858. Mentd. Pearse v. Morrice (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 84; Cundell v. Dawson (1847), 4 C. B. 376.

Articled clerks to solicitors.]—See SOLICITORS.

SECT. 6.—PARISH APPRENTICES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844 (c. 101), s. 12; Poor Law Apprentices Act, 1851 (c. 11); General Consolidated Order, 1847 (Statutory Rules & Orders Rev., Vol. X., Poor, England, pp. 74 et seq.); General Order (Apprenticeship of Pauper Children) 1898 (Statutory Rules & Orders Rev., Vol. X., Poor, England, p. 233); Relief Regulation Order, 1911, Art. XIV.

4412. Lower age at which apprentice may be bound.]—The person to whom a parish appoint an apprentice is concluded by signing the indenture nor can parol evidence be admitted of any prior informality in such indenture.

Parish apprentice may be appointed at any age beyond that of nurture, except perhaps in case of husbandry.—R. v. SALTREN (1784), Cald. Mag. Cas. 444.

4413. Cannot be bound to serve in foreign parts.]—Binding a poor child to serve as an apprentice in foreign parts is unlawful.—R. v. SWIMMER (1753), Say. 103; 96 E. R. 818.

SUB-SECT. 2.—THE INDENTURE.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 199 et seq.

4414. Compliance with statutory provisions—Local.]—A local statute enacted that certain guardians of the poor should have power to bind children apprentices, "provided such children be not bound for a longer term than until they shall have attained the respective ages following": viz. a boy the age of twenty-two, & a girl that of twenty:—Held: an indenture binding a boy for a longer term than that allowed by the Act was not absolutely void, but only voidable.—R. v. ST. GREGORY (INHABITANTS) (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 99; 2 Nev. & M. M. C. 440; 4 Nev. & M. K. B. 137; 4 L. J. M. C. 9; 111 E. R. 38.

4415. —— ——.]—By a local Act certain revenues were vested in the guardians of the poor of C. in trust for the maintenance & employment of the poor of that city: & the guardians were required to give bond under their common seal, for themselves & their successors, for ever thereafter to provide for, clothe, & maintain sixteen poor boys of the said city, to be called Bluecoat Boys, & cause the said sixteen boys to be instructed, etc., & put them & every of them respectively out apprentices after they & every of them respectively should have attained their respective ages of thirteen years, & before their said ages of fifteen years, etc.:—Held: this gave the guardians no authority to apprentice the boys against their will, or after the age of fifteen; where, therefore, a boy was apprenticed by the guardians at seventeen, but did not execute the indenture.—ST. NICHOLAS, ROCHESTER (CHURCHWARDENS & OVERSEERS) v. ST. BOTOLPH-WITHOUT-BISHOPSGATE (CHURCHWARDENS & OVERSEERS) (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 645; 31 L. J. M. C. 258; 6 L. T. 495; 9 Jur. N. S. 101; 142 E. R. 1296.

4416. —— Regulations of Poor Law Commissioners—Only directory.]—An indenture binding a poor child purported on its face to be signed by the apprentice "without aid or assistance" & there was a certificate of a magistrate at the foot as required by the rules issued by the Poor Law Comrs. for regulating the binding of parish apprentices. There was nothing on the face of the indenture, nor was any evidence adduced, to show whether the indenture had been executed in duplicate or the apprentice or his parents had consented to the binding, nor was any cause of such consent being dispensed with stated in the indenture: Held: these regulations were merely directory, & the omission to comply with them, if established, would not affect the validity of the indenture.—R. v. ST. MARY MAGDALEN (INHABITANTS) (1853), 2 E. & B. 809; 2 C. L. R. 223; 23 L. J. M. C. 1; 22 L. T. O. S. 96; 18 J. P. 21; 17 Jur. 1075; 2 W. R. 35; 118 E. R. 970.

4417. Execution by apprentice As showing consent.]—R. v. ST. NICHOLAS, NOTTINGHAM (INHABITANTS) (1789), 2 Term Rep. 726; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 398; 100 E. R. 391.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. St. George, Exeter (1835), 3 Ad. & El. 373.

4418. —— ——.]—The consent of the apprentice is not requisite in the case of a parish apprenticeship.—R. v. ST. GEORGE, EXETER (INHABITANTS) (1835), 3 Ad. & El. 373; 1 Har. & W. 372; 5 Nev. & M. K. B. 61; 3 Nev. & M. M. C. 208; 4 L. J. M. C. 100; 111 E. R. 455.

4419. Execution by parish officers—Premium paid by parish Apprentice not a parish apprentice.]—R. v. ARUNDEL (INHABITANTS), No. 4182, ante.

4420. Misdescription of parties.]—A local Act incorporated certain persons by the name of "The guardians of the poor within the hundred of Stow, in the county of Suffolk"; there was a power to the body at large to elect directors & acting guardians, for putting the powers of the Act in execution; the directors & acting guardians were empowered to bind out poor children:—Held: such binding should be in the name of the corpn. by its corporate name; & a binding, by deed, by "the directors & acting guardians," to which deed the corporate seal was affixed, was invalid.—R. v. HAUGHLEY (INHABITANTS) (1833), 1 B. & Ad. 650; 1 Nev. & M. K. B. 525; 1 Nev. & M. M. C. 122; 2 L. J. M. C. 56; 110 E. R. 601.

Annotation:—Consd. R. v. Isle of Wight Union Grdns. (1861), 1 New Rep. 92.

4421. —.] By a local Act the "guardians of the poor within the Isle of Wight" were constituted a corpn. with a common seal, & the Act contained provisions for the appointment of certain persons from among the guardians as "directors & acting guardians" who were empowered (inter alia) with the consent of two justices to bind out poor children as apprentices. By an indenture intended to be in pursuance of this Act, & purporting to be made between the guardians of the poor within the Isle of Wight, of the one part, & E. of the other part, it was witnessed that "the directors & acting guardians of the poor within the Isle of Wight, by virtue of the local Act & by & with the consent of two justices" put, placed, & bound S. a poor girl apprentice to the said E. The covenants in the deed were made with the "guardians" & it was executed by the guardians with their common seal:—Held: this indenture was valid by virtue of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 63, s. 2, by which its defects were cured.—R. v. ISLE OF WIGHT UNION GUARDIANS (1861), 1 New Rep. 92; 10 L. T. 370; 28 J. P. 821; 12 W. R. 741.

4422. Admissibility of extrinsic evidence.]—R. v. SALTREN, No. 4412, ante.

4423. Exemption from stamp duty Premium paid out of charity.]—R. v. SKEFFINGTON (INHABITANTS), No. 1310, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ASSIGNMENT.

4424. Whether apprenticeship assignable By master.]—Sessions cannot set aside an assignment & the master of a parish apprentice may assign him over as well as any other (PARKER, C.J.).

R. v. BARNES (1717), 1 Sess. Cas. K. B. 34; 1 Stra. 48; 93 E. R. 31.

4425. —— —.]—R. v. ST. PETROX (INHABITANTS) (1745), Burr. S. C. 218.

Annotations:—Consd. R. v. Barleston (1822), 5 B. & Ald. 780. Refd. R. v. Barnsley (1812), 1 M. & S. 377. Mentd. St. Pancras v. Clapham (1360), 2 E. & E. 742.

4426. —— — — Execution by master.]—To constitute a valid assignment of a parish apprentice, under 32 Geo. 3, c. 57, there must be, at least, an express authority, by the original master to another person, authorising him to assign the apprentice. Qu.: whether the master must himself execute the assignment.

Accordingly, where the master of a parish apprentice resided, permanently, abroad, his steward, having the general management of his estate, executed, in the master's name, an assignment of such apprentice, & charged the expenses in his accounts, which were subsequently allowed by the master; but the master had given no previous direction on the subject: Held: whether the execution by the master was necessary or not,

Sect. 6.—Parish apprentices: Sub-sects. 3 & 4. Sect. 7.]

this was not a valid assignment by the master. —R. v. SPREYTON (INHABITANTS) (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 818; 1 L. J. M. C. 79; 110 E. R. 300.

4427. Misnomer in assignment.]—The assignment & acceptance of a parish apprentice, in one instrument, were in the following words:—"Thomas Melhuish does hereby assign the said Elizabeth Matthews, & M. P. doth hereby agree to accept the said Elizabeth Melhuish:—Held: the misnomer did not vitiate the acceptance.—R. v. EXMINSTER (INHABITANTS) (1837), 6 Ad. & El. 598; 1 Nev. & P. K. B. 603; Nev. & P. M. C. 253; Will. Woll. & Dav. 244; 6 L. J. M. C. 82; 1 J. P. 103; 112 E. R. 229.

Consent of guardians.]—See General Consolidated Order, 1847 (Statutory Rules & Orders Rev., Vol. X., Poor, England, p. 81).

4428. Exemption from stamp duty.]—An unstamped assignment of a parish apprentice stated that D., the new master, in consideration of £3 10*s.* paid him by H., the old master, agreed to accept the apprentice, etc.:—Held: (1) parol evidence was admissible to show that the money paid on the assignment of the apprentice was parish money; (2) the instrument did not require a stamp.—R. v. LLANGUNNOR (INHABITANTS) (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 616; 9 L. J. O. S. M. C. 90; 109 E. R. 1272.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. R. v. Billinghay (1836), 5 Ad. & El. 676.

4429. —— What funds within exemption.]—J., in 1720, devised property to trustees, who were to employ the proceeds in apprenticing, at stated intervals, a certain number of boys of his wife's family; &, failing that family, to make up the number from among the inhabitants of a certain parish & two wards; &, failing those, out of the neighbouring parishes. No failure occurred in the family named by testator, & boys of that family were apprenticed, according to the will, with premiums from the devised funds. Qu.: whether the indentures were free from stamp duty under the clause of 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, Sched. Part I., Title Apprenticeship, which exempts indentures for apprenticing poor children at the sole charge of any public charity?

A boy was apprenticed as above to a tinman for seven years, the master binding himself to teach the apprentice, & to pay his father a weekly sum during the term. At the end of three years the master, at the boy's desire, consented that he should serve the rest of his time with his own brother, a plumber & glazier; & agreed "to give the brother £6 as part of the premium on the binding of the apprentice, for taking him." There was no contract in writing, & the trustees under the will were not parties to the agreement. The £6 were paid, & the boy went to, & served, his brother:—Held: this transfer did not come within the second part of the above exempting clause as an assignment of such poor apprentice without valuable consideration given to the new master or mistress, "other than what may have been or shall be given by any parish or township, or by any public charity."—R. v. FAKENHAM (INHABITANTS) (1835), 2 Ad. & El. 528; 1 Har. & W. 222; 4 Nev. & M. K. B. 553; 3 Nev. & M. M. C. 50; 4 L. J. M. C. 77; 111 E. R. 204.

4430. —— Admission of extrinsic evidence.]—R. v. LLANGUNNOR (INHABITANTS), No. 4428, ante.

See, also, Sect. 1, sub-sect. 12, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—TERMINATION OF APPRENTICESHIP.

4431. By agreement of apprentice & master—Infant apprentice—Consent of guardians.]—R. v. AUSTREY (INHABITANTS) (1758), Burr. S. C. 441; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 446.

Annotations:—Folld. R. v. Langham (1781), Cald. Mag. Cas. 126. Refd. R. v. Crediton (1800), 1 East, 59.

4432. —— —— ——.]—Infant parish apprentice & his master cannot by themselves vacate their indenture.—R. v. LANGHAM (INHABITANTS) (1781), Cald. Mag. Cas. 126.

4433. —— —— ——.]—Being a minor he [the apprentice] could not agree to the discharge of the indentures without the consent of the parish officers (WILLES, J.).—R. v. SANDFORD (INHABITANTS) (1786), 1 Term Rep. 281; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 153; 99 E. R. 1095.

Annotations:—Consd. R. v. Holy Trinity (1790), 3 Term Rep. 605. Refd. R. v. Brightholmston (1793), 5 Term Rep. 188; R. v. Chipping Warden (1799), 8 Term Rep. 108.

4434. —— —— ——.]—Qu.: whether a parish apprentice under age is capable of assenting to the cancellation of his indenture of apprenticeship.—R. v. GWINEAR (INHABITANTS) (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 152; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 297; 2 Nev. & M. M. C. 216; 110 E. R. 1165.

—— —— ——.]—See, now, General Consolidated Order, 1847 (Statutory Rules & Orders, Rev., Vol. X., Poor, England, p. 81, Art. 72).

4435. —— Apprentice of full age.]—Parish apprentice may agree with his master to cancel his indentures at twenty-one, though bound till twenty-four, without the consent of the parish. —ECCLESAL BIERLOW v. WARSLOW (1766), 1 Wm. Bl. 592; 96 E. R. 342; sub nom. R. v. ECCLESAL BIERLOW, Burr. S. C. 562; 2 Bott. 6th. ed. 434.

4436. —— ——.]—The assent of authorities is not necessary to cancelling parish indentures after apprentice atttained twenty-one; & if therefore after that age apprentice purchase of the master the remainder of his time the apprenticeship is dissolved, though indentures neither given up nor cancelled.—R. v. HARBERTON (INHABITANTS) (1786), 1 Term Rep. 139; 2 Bott. 6th ed. 436; 99 E. R. 1017.

Annotations:—Distd. R. v. Gwinear (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 152. Refd. R. v. Foulness (1817), 6 M. & S. 351; Ellen v. Topp' 1851), 6 Exch. 424.

SECT. 7.—AGREEMENTS CONTEMPLATING APPRENTICESHIP.

4437. Contract may be terminated by consent—Unless proposed apprentice prejudiced.]—In consideration of £100 paid by pltf.'s father to A., the latter covenanted to maintain & apprentice pltf. & that he should take a specified interest in all the real & personal estate which A. should possess at his death; the conditions in life of pltf. not having been altered, & no expectation on his part having been defeated:—Held: this contract might be put an end to by agreement between pltf.'s father & A.

Semble: if there had been part performance of the agreement altering the condition in life of pltf., then the ct. would not have permitted the father to take him back to his prejudice, & would have compelled a complete performance in his favour.—HILL v. GOMME (1839), 1 Beav. 540; 8 L. J. Ch. 350; 3 Jur. 744; 48 E. R. 1050; affd., 5 My. & Cr. 250, L. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. Green v. Paterson (1886), 32 Ch. D. 95.

4438. Liability of master—Improper refusal to bind.]—Deft. agreed with pltf.'s father to receive pltf., who was a minor, into his service on trial, & to take him as apprentice if approved of. Pltf. went into the service, & worked for deft. nearly two years. After several applications made during that time by the father, deft. told the father that pltf. should serve out the two years, & then be bound, the father paying deft. £10. This was agreed to, but deft. shortly after quarrelled with pltf., & told him to go home about his business. Pltf. went home, & on the father applying to deft. for an explanation, the latter told him to go & do his worst. The father then caused a letter to be written to deft. by his attorney, requiring him either to take pltf. as his apprentice, or recompense him for his work; but no satisfactory answer was given, & pltf., by his next friend, brought an action to recover compensation for his service. The judge put it to the jury on these facts, whether or not deft.'s conduct was such as warranted the father in considering the contract for an apprenticeship as rescinded; & he further stated, that if they thought it was, they were to give pltf. such compensation for his work as they thought proper. The jury found a verdict for pltf., with damages by way of compensation for his services:—Held: the direction was right, & the verdict not to be disturbed.—PHILLIPS v. JONES (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 333; 110 E. R. 1233.

Annotation:—Mentd. Hopkins v. Richardson (1841), 14 L. J. Q. B. 80.

4439. Liability of parent—If master ready & willing to execute—Whether notice of readiness necessary.]—The declaration stated that it was agreed between A., pltf., & B., deft., that A., B. & C. should, at the expiration of a reasonable time, execute an indenture binding C. as an apprentice to A., & that B. should pay to A. a premium of £60, £5 on the execution of the indenture, & the residue by certain bills, to be drawn by pltf. & accepted by deft.; averment, that, although a reasonable time for B. & C. to execute the indenture, & for B. to pay the £5, & to accept the bills, had elapsed, & although A. had always been ready & willing to execute such indenture, & to receive C. as such apprentice, & although A., at the expiration of such reasonable time, requested B. to execute such indenture, & to pay the £5 & accept & deliver to him the said bills, yet B. did not nor would execute the indenture or pay the £5, or accept, & deliver to A., the said bills, but wholly refused so to do, & then wholly exonerated & discharged A. from tendering such indenture for execution, & such bills for acceptance, etc. Plea, that B. did not exonerate & discharge A. from tendering the indenture to him for execution, or the bills for acceptance. The issue having been found for deft.:—Held: upon motion for judgment non obstante veredicto, the declaration would have been clearly bad without the averment of dispensation; & therefore the issue taken thereon was not an immaterial one, though, by reason of the want of an averment that B. had notice of A.'s readiness & willingness to execute the indenture, the declaration would be insufficient to support a judgment for pltf.—DOGGOOD v. ROSE (1850), 9 C. B. 132; 19 L. J. C. P. 246; 14 L. T. O. S. 350; 137 E. R. 842.

Annotation:—Mentd. Cobbold v. Peto (1872), 27 L. T. 130.

MASTER OF THE SUPREME COURT.

See COURTS.

MATRIMONIAL CAUSES.

See HUSBAND AND WIFE.

MAYOR.

See ELECTIONS; LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

MAYOR'S AND CITY OF LONDON COURT.

PAGE

PART I. THE COURT 527

PART II. JURISDICTION 527

SECT. 1. CUSTOMARY JURISDICTION 527

SUB-SECT. 1. LEGAL JURISDICTION 527

SUB-SECT. 2. EQUITABLE JURISDICTION 528

SECT. 2. FOREIGN ATTACHMENT 528

SECT. 3. STATUTORY JURISDICTION 529

SUB-SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 529

SUB-SECT. 2. "DWELLING OR CARRYING ON BUSINESS WITHIN CITY" . . . 529

SUB-SECT. 3. "WHOLE OR PART OF CAUSE OF ACTION ARISING WITHIN CITY" . 529

A. In General 529

B. Account Stated within City 530

C. Actions on Negotiable Instruments 530

D. Sale of Goods 530

SUB-SECT. 4. MODE OF OBJECTION TO JURISDICTION 531

SUB-SECT. 5. COUNTERCLAIMS 532

PART III. PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE 532

SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 532

SECT. 2. BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS 532

SECT. 3. JUDGMENT 532

SECT. 4. ENFORCEMENT OF JUDGMENTS 533

SECT. 5. COSTS 533

PART IV. APPEALS 534

SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 534

SECT. 2. IN MAYOR'S AND CITY OF LONDON COURT 534

SECT. 3. TO HIGH COURT 534

SECT. 4. TO COURT OF APPEAL 535

PART V. REMOVAL OF ACTIONS—CERTIORARI 536

SECT. 1. WHETHER AS OF RIGHT OR DISCRETIONARY 536

SECT. 2. THE APPLICATION FOR REMOVAL 536

SECT. 3. GROUNDS FOR REMOVAL 536

SECT. 4. REMOVALS FROM EQUITY SIDE OF COURT 536

SECT. 5. PROCEEDINGS AFTER REMOVAL 537

SECT. 6. COSTS 537

PART VI. PROHIBITION 537

Action . . . See ACTION.
Admiralty . . . ,, ADMIRALTY.
Arbitration . . ,, ARBITRATION.
Attachment of Debts . ,, EXECUTION.
Bankruptcy . . ,, BANKRUPTCY.
City of London . . ,, METROPOLIS.
Contempt of Court . ,, CONTEMPT OF COURT.
County Courts . . ,, COUNTY COURTS.
Courts generally . . ,, COURTS.
Crown Practice . . ,, CROWN PRACTICE.
Damages . . . See DAMAGES.
Evidence . . . ,, EVIDENCE.
Local Courts . . ,, COURTS.
Lord Mayor of London ,, METROPOLIS.
Metropolis . . ,, METROPOLIS.
Sheriffs and Bailiffs . ,, SHERIFFS AND BAILIFFS.
Summary Jurisdiction, Courts of . . MAGISTRATES.

Part I.—The Court.

See Mayor's & City of London Court Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), ss. 1, 6, 12.

1. Inferior court.]—The Lord Mayor's Ct. is an inferior ct., within Solicitors Act, 1843 (c. 73), s. 27, notwithstanding its peculiar customs & jurisdiction.

Every attorney duly qualified is entitled to be admitted an attorney therein, although there is not & never has been a roll of the attorneys of that ct.—R. v. LONDON CORPN. (1847), 13 Q. B. 1; 2 New Pract. Cas. 52; 16 L. J. Q. B. 185; 8 L. T. O. S. 536; 11 Jur. 867; 116 E. R. 1163; revsd. on other grounds, sub nom. LONDON CORPN. v. R. (1848), 13 Q. B. 30; 17 L. J. Q. B. 330; 13 J. P. 3; 13 Jur. 33; sub nom. LONDON CORPN. v. ASHURST, 11 L. T. O. S. 271, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Consd. London Corpn. v. Cox (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239. Refd. Morris v. Lautour (1864), 9 L. T. 767; Cooke v. Gill (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 107. Mentd. Skelton v. Rushby (1849), 4 Exch. 545; R. v. S. E. Ry. (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 471.

2. ——.]—The Lord Mayor's Ct. is a ct. of record, but it is an inferior ct., & its jurisdiction may be questioned (MONTAGUE SMITH, J.). MATTHEY v. WISEMAN (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 657; 34 L. J. C. P. 216; 12 L. T. 816; 11 Jur. N. S. 603; 13 W. R. 914; 144 E. R. 603.

Annotations:—Refd. London Corpn. v. Cox (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239; Cooke v. Gill (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 107.

3. ——.]—LONDON CORPN. v. COX, No. 48, post.

4. ——.]—COOKE v. GILL, No. 9, post.

5. Court of record.]—MATTHEY v. WISEMAN, No. 2, ante.

Judges.]—See Mayor's & City of London Court Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), ss. 2, 3, 4, 12 (1); Local Government Act, 1888 (c. 41), s. 42 (14).

Officers.]—See Mayor's & City of London Court Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), s. 5; Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 41; Mayor's Court of London Rules, 1892, Ord. 10, r. 3; Common Law Procedure Act, 1852 (c. 76), s. 91, &, generally, PRACTICE.

Sittings.]—See Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), s. 4; Statutory Rules & Orders Rev., Vol. IV., p. 971.

Part II.—Jurisdiction.

SECT. 1.—CUSTOMARY JURISDICTION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—LEGAL JURISDICTION.

See Mayor's & City of London Court Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), ss. 8, 9; &, generally, COURTS, Vol. XVI., pp. 104 et seq.

6. General rule—Whole cause of action must arise within city.]—No agreement of counsel to abstain from making the objection can alter the law of the land, which says that an inferior ct. can only hold plea where the cause of action arises within the local limits to which its jurisdiction by charter or custom is confined (LORD CAMPBELL, C.J.).—DE HABER v. PORTUGAL (QUEEN) (1851), 17 Q. B. 196; 8 State Tr. N. S. 53; 20 L. J. Q. B. 488; 16 Jur. 164; 117 E. R. 1246; sub nom. R. v. LONDON (LORD MAYOR), Re WORDSWORTH v. SPAIN (QUEEN), DE HABER v. PORTUGAL (QUEEN), 18 L. T. O. S. 39.

Annotations:—Consd. London Corpn. v. Cox (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239. Refd. Westoby v. Day (1853), 2 E. & B. 605; Frith v. Guppy (1866), L. R. 2 C. P. 32; Cooke v. Gill (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 107; Whinney v. Schmidt (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 118; Worthington v. Jeffries (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 379. Mentd. Portsmouth & Partridge v. Inclosure Comrs. (1861), 3 L. T. 779; Kingsford v. G. W. Ry. (1864), 10 Jur. N. S. 804; The Charkieh (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 59; The Parlement Belge (1880), 5 P. D. 197; Mighell v. Johore, [1894] 1 Q. B. 149; The Broadmayne, [1916] 1 P. 64.

7. —— ——.]—While an action was pending in the Ct. of Common Pleas for a cause of action which arose out of the City of London, pltfs. commenced an action for the same cause of action in the Mayor's Ct., & attached moneys of defts. in the hands of their attorneys, who carried on business in the City of London:—Held: as the cause of action did not arise within the City of London, the Mayor's Ct. had no jurisdiction, & the proceedings in that ct. were therefore vexatious, & a rule was made absolute to stay the action in this ct. unless pltfs. within a week elected to abandon the proceedings in the Mayor's Ct.—FRITH v. GUPPY (1866), L. R. 2 C. P. 32; 36 L. J. C. P. 45; 15 L. T. 616; 12 Jur. N. S. 1011; 15 W. R. 280.

8. —— ——.]—LONDON CORPN. v. COX, No. 48, post.

9. —— ——.] The Mayor's Ct. of London being an inferior ct., the whole cause of action must arise within its jurisdiction, & therefore, where a material fact necessary to be proved in order to sustain pltf.'s case occurs out of the jurisdiction of such ct., the garnishee against whom process of foreign attachment has been issued to attach moneys owing by him to deft., is entitled to a prohibition against such ct. proceeding with the suit.—COOKE v. GILL (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 107; 42 L. J. C. P. 98; 28 L. T. 32; 21 W. R. 334.

Annotations: Followed. Broad v. Perkins (1888), 4 T. L. R. 515; Johnstone v. Benham (1888), 4 T. L. R. 313. Refd. Whinney v. Schmidt (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 118; Quartly v. Timmins (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 416; Jacobs v. Britt (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1; Cowan v. O'Connor (1888), 57 L. J. Q. B. 401; Read v. Brown (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 128; Whitehead v. Butt (1891), 7 T. L. R. 609; Northey Stone Co. v. Gidney (1893), 42 W. R. 99; Payne v. Hogg, [1900] 2 Q. B. 43. Mentd. Coburn v. Colledge (1897), 66 L. J. Q. B. 462; Isaacs v. Salbstein, [1916] 2 K. B. 139; Goldrei, Foucard v. Sinclair & Russian Chamber of Commerce in London, [1918] 1 K. B. 180; Cheshire County Council v. Hopley (1923), 130 L. T. 123; The Koursk, [1924] P. 140; Venn v. Tedesco, [1926] 2 K. B. 227.

10. —— ——.]—An action having been brought in the Mayor's Ct., London, upon a guarantee given by defts. for an attorney's bill, upon showing cause against a rule for a prohibition obtained before declaration on the ground that the whole of pltf.'s cause of action did not arise within the City of London, certain of the charges in the bill being for attendances at Westminster, pltf. consenting altogether to abandon his claim in respect of those items. The ct. discharged the rule, but without costs.—ELLIS v. FLEMING (1876), 1 C. P. D. 237; 45 L. J. Q. B. 512.

Sect. 1.—Customary jurisdiction: Sub-sects. 1 & 2. Sects. 2 & 3: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A.] 11. —— ——.]—JOHNSTONE v. BENHAM (1888), 4 T. L. R. 313.

Annotation:—Refd. Cowan v. O'Connor (1888), 57 L. J. Q. B. 401.

12. —— ——.]—BROAD v. PERKINS (1888), 4 T. L. R. 545, C. A.

See, also, Nos. 18, 19, post, & compare Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, B., post.

13. When cause of action arises within City—Goods ordered from abroad—From merchant residing within City—Shipped outside City.]—If a merchant abroad orders goods of a shopkeeper residing within the City of London, to be put on board a ship lying beyond the limits of the City & the shopkeeper sends them from his shop to be shipped in pursuance of the order, the price of the goods may be sued for in the Mayor's Ct. as a debt arising within the City.—HUXHAM v. SMITH (1809), 2 Camp. 19; 170 E. R. 1067, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Crosby v. Hetherington (1843), 4 Man. & G. 933; Westoby v. Day (1853), 2 E. & B. 605; Borthwick v. Walton (1855), 15 C. B. 501; Cooke v. Gill (1873), 42 L. J. C. P. 98. Mentd. Magrath v. Hardy (1838), 4 Bing. N. C. 782.

14. —— Debtor entering debt in deed of arrangement—Affidavit within City that schedule correct—Whether account stated within City.]—Money in the hands of an army agent belonging to L., was attached by C., who had sued L. in the Lord Mayor's Ct., under a foreign attachment issuing out of that ct. It was subsequently attached under a garnishee order made by a judge of a superior ct., on the application of M., a judgment creditor of L. The debt from L. to C. was not contracted within the limits of the City of London, & both C. & the garnishee resided out of the city. L. had become bkpt. in London, & had signed & filed in the Ct. of Bkpcy. in London a schedule of his debts, including C.'s debt, & the proceedings in bkpcy. had been signed by C. as a creditor. It was contended that this was a statement of account within the city sufficient to give the Lord Mayor's Ct. jurisdiction:—Held: without deciding the question whether the Lord Mayor's Ct. had jurisdiction to attach money in the hands of a garnishee residing out of the City, where the cause of action arose within the City, there was no sufficient evidence of a statement of account within the city to support the action in the Lord Mayor's Ct., &, therefore, the attachment from that ct. was overridden by the judge's order.—MORRIS v. LANTOUR (1864), 3 New Rep. 475; 9 L. T. 767.

15. —— Freight payable within City—Effect of delivery of cargo within City.]—Where process had issued out of the Lord Mayor's Ct. against garnishees, &, on cause being shown against a rule for a prohibition, it appeared that the claim against the original defts. was for extra freight due on a charterparty in respect of a voyage from the Chincha Islands to the Victoria Docks, not within the City of London, & that neither defts. nor the garnishees resided within the City of London:—Held: the prohibition must issue, although, by the terms of the charterparty, payment of the freight was to be made within the City of London.

Semble: if the cargo had been delivered within the City of London, it would have made no difference.—BYRNE v. GUANO CONSIGNMENT CO. (1872), 25 L. T. 935; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 196.

16. —— Judgment of superior court—Signed within City.]—All the proceedings in an action at law in one of the superior cts. are deemed to be taken before the ct. itself; & although the master's office of the Q. B. is situate in the City of London, yet a judgment signed thereat is in contemplation of law a step in a suit taken before the ct. itself sitting at Westminster; therefore a judgment of that ct. does not create a cause of action within the City of London, upon which a suit in the Mayor's Ct. can be founded.—TAPP v. JONES (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 418; 43 L. J. C. P. 250; 30 L. T. 499; 22 W. R. 632.

17. —— Action for libel—Letter written within City—To person outside City.]—BROAD v. PERKINS (1888), 4 T. L. R. 545, C. A.

Cause of action—Definition of.]—See ACTION, Vol. I., p. 13, Nos. 104–108.

Actions on negotiable instruments.]—See BILLS OF EXCHANGE, Vol. VI., pp. 461, 462, Nos. 2948–2951.

Contracts made through post or by telegram.]—See CONTRACT, Vol. XII., pp. 75, 76, Nos. 435, 436.

Issue of judgment summons.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. V., p. 1032, Nos. 8440, 8441.

SUB-SECT. 2.—EQUITABLE JURISDICTION.

18. General rule—Whole cause of action must arise within City.]—(1) The Mayor's Ct., London, has no equitable jurisdiction, unless the whole cause of action has arisen within its jurisdiction.

(2) Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12, does not apply to a suit on the equity side of that ct.—R. v. LONDON CORPN. (1892), 61 L. J. Q. B. 329; 8 T. L. R. 298, D. C.

19. —— ——.]—Pltf. brought an action on the equity side of the Mayor's Ct. of London for specific performance of an agreement to transfer to him a certain number of shares in a co. to be formed, or in the alternative for damages exceeding £50. The bill of complaint alleged the formation of the co., which, as appeared by the affidavits, had been registered in Scotland:—Held: proof of the formation of the co. being a material part of the claim both for specific performance & for damages, the whole cause of action did not arise within the jurisdiction, & defts. were entitled to a prohibition.—BOWLER v. BARBERTON DEVELOPMENT SYNDICATE, [1897] 1 Q. B. 164; 66 L. J. Q. B. 144; 75 L. T. 620; 45 W. R. 162; 13 T. L. R. 106; 41 Sol. Jo. 126, C. A.

See, also, Nos. 7–12, ante.

20. Proceedings in nature of discovery.]—R. v. PORSON, R. v. COSTER (1843), 2 L. T. O. S. 213.

21. Not affected by Mayor's Court Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.]—R. v. LONDON CORPN., No. 18, ante.

SECT. 2.—FOREIGN ATTACHMENT.

Attachment of debts, generally.]—See EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 617 et seq.

22. Process personal—Not applicable to corporation aggregate.]—(1) The process against a garnishee, to enforce obedience to the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor's Ct. in foreign attachment, is personal, & cannot be applied to a corpn. aggregate. Where, therefore, a corpn. aggregate was cited, as garnishee, to appear in the Lord Mayor's Ct., it was held entitled to maintain prohibition.

(2) The suit of foreign attachment is founded upon ancient custom, & in itself is perfectly valid. The process by which it is sought to be enforced must be strictly pursued according to the custom. Fictitious summonses & returns will render the suit invalid.—LONDON CORPN. v. LONDON JOINT

STOCK BANK (1881), 6 App. Cas. 393 ; 50 L. J. Q. B. 594 ; 45 L. T. 81 ; 29 W. R. 870, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. LONDON JOINT STOCK BANK v. LONDON CORPN. (1880), 5 C. P. D. 494, C. A. ; & affg. (1875), 1 C. P. D. 1.

Annotations :—As to (2) Refd. Re Price, Ex p. Scar (1881), 17 Ch. D. 74 ; Martin v. Nadel, [1906] 2 K. B. 26. Generally, Mentd. St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, Grdns. v. Franklin (1878), 47 L. J. Q. B. 727 ; Vickers v. Stevens & La Conception Gold Mining Co. (1881), 44 L. T. 679 ; R. v. Tyler & International Commercial Co., [1891] 2 Q. B. 588 ; Robson v. Smith (1895), 72 L. T. 559.

23. Must be pursued strictly according to custom —Suit rendered invalid by fictitious summonses & returns.]—LONDON CORPN. v. LONDON JOINT STOCK BANK, No. 22, ante.

NOTE.—The effect of the above decision has been to render the process of foreign attachment practically obsolete. Cases on foreign attachment decided prior to 1881 have therefore been omitted.

SECT. 3.—STATUTORY JURISDICTION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.

24. Effect of Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 12, 15—Extension of jurisdiction—Claim of fifty pounds or under.] —(1) Deft. for valuable consideration indorsed to pltf. a cheque for £10, payable at a bank in the City of London ; the cheque was dishonoured upon presentation ; the indorsement was at S. in Yorkshire. Pltf. having sued in the Mayor's Ct., London, to recover the amount of the cheque, deft.'s attorney applied to this ct. for a prohibition : —Held : the dishonour of the cheque within the City of London did not give the Mayor's Ct. jurisdiction, a prohibition ought to issue & appet. for the same was entitled to costs.

(2) The circumstance of the debt or damage being under £50 does not prevent this ct. from issuing a prohibition to the Lord Mayor's Ct. where the cause of action arose without its jurisdiction. ROBINSON v. EMANUEL (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 414 ; 43 L. J. C. P. 244 ; 30 L. T. 500.

Annotations : As to (1) Consd. Hawes v. Paveley (1876), 46 L. J. Q. B. 18. Generally, Refd. Evans v. Nicholson (1) (1875), 32 L. T. 664. Mentd. R. v. County of London J.J. & L. C. C., [1894] 1 Q. B. 453.

25. ——— ——— ———.]—(1) The effect of above sects. is to extend the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct. in cases within sect. 12, & consequently a prohibition cannot be granted to prohibit an action in the Mayor's Ct. for a sum of less than £50, deft. carrying on business, & part of the cause of action having arisen, within the City.

(2) The effect of above sect. (sect. 15) I have already held, after very careful consideration, to be that deft. must, if he object in the Mayor's Ct. to the jurisdiction, do it by way of plea, & not in any other way (JESSEL, M.R.).

(3) If there is no jurisdiction, then there must be express words taking away the right of prohibiting from the superior ct., or it will remain (MELLISH, L.J.).—HAWES v. PAVELEY (1876), 1 C. P. D. 418 ; 46 L. J. Q. B. 18 ; 34 L. T. 836 ; 24 W. R. 895, C. A.

26. ——— ——— ———.] — WILLIAMSON v. COTTERELL (1880), 70 L. T. Jo. 24, C. A.

27. ——— ——— ———.]—If pltf. had claimed £50 or less he would not have had to show that the whole cause of action arose within the City (LINDLEY, L.J.).—BROAD v. PERKINS (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 533 ; 57 L. J. Q. B. 638 ; 60 L. T. 8 ; 53 J. P. 39 ; 37 W. R. 44 ; 4 T. L. R. 775, C. A.

Annotations :— Mentd. Farquharson v. Morgan, [1894] 1 Q. B. 552 ; R. v. Speyer, R. v. Cassel, [1916] 1 K. B. 595.

28. ——— ——— Not applicable to suit on equity side.]—R. v. LONDON CORPN., No. 18, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—"DWELLING OR CARRYING ON BUSINESS WITHIN CITY."

29. "Carry on business"—Meaning of—General superintendence & management.]—The place where a railway co. carries on its business within Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12, is where the general superintendence & management of the business takes place. Where, therefore, it appeared that defts. had a chief office, which was also a terminal station, in London, but that their business was managed at Victoria Station, which was not within the City : Held : they carried on their business at Victoria Station, & not within the City.—ROGERS v. LONDON, CHATHAM, & DOVER RY. CO. (1877), 26 W. R. 192.

30. ——— ——— Principal office & substantial business conducted outside City.]—The South Eastern Ry. Co. have a station in Cannon Street, City, where a considerable portion of their business is transacted. Their principal station, where the meetings of the directors are held & the general & substantial business of the co. is conducted, is without the City :—Held : the co. do not "carry on business" within the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct., within Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.—LE TAILLEUR v. SOUTH EASTERN RY. CO. (1877), 3 C. P. D. 18.

Annotations :— Refd. Re Bowie, Ex p. Breull (1880), 50 L. J. Ch. 381 ; Graham v. Lewis (1888), 57 L. J. Q. B. 376.

31. ——— ——— Persons carrying on trade—Clerk employed in solicitor's office.]—A clerk employed by a solr. at offices in the City of London does not "carry on business" there within Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12, so as to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct.

I am of opinion, looking at this Act of Parliament, that we ought to give the words their primary business sense, already well known in the City, namely, the carrying on of business by the person whose business it is. The Act meant to extend the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct. to persons who carry on some trade—not to persons who merely obey orders (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—GRAHAM v. LEWIS (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 1 ; 58 L. J. Q. B. 117 ; 53 J. P. 166 ; 5 T. L. R. 21 ; sub nom. LEWIS v. GRAHAM, 37 W. R. 73, C. A.

Annotation :— Mentd. Re Clark, Ex p. Pope & Owles, [1914] 3 K. B. 1095.

See, also, COUNTY COURTS, Vol. XIII., pp. 458 et seq.

"Dwell" — Meaning of.] — See, generally, COUNTY COURTS, Vol. XIII., pp. 457 et seq.

SUB-SECT. 3.—"WHOLE OR PART OF CAUSE OF ACTION ARISING WITHIN CITY."

A. In General.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.

32. Sale of lease, goodwill & fixtures—One counterpart signed by defendant outside City—Other subsequently signed by plaintiff within City.] —The terms of a sale of the lease, goodwill & fixtures of a business carried on in Surrey having been agreed upon orally, two counterpart documents were drawn up, embodying such terms. One of these was signed by the purchaser at Bow in the county of Middlesex. The other was subsequently signed by the vendor in the City of London. The two documents were then exchanged between the parties, & the deposit was paid at the office of the purchaser's solr. in the City of London. The sum of £50, part of the purchase-money, being unpaid, the vendor sued for the same in the Mayor's Ct.:—Held: the cause of action did not in part arise within the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct., & therefore a writ of prohibition must issue.—ALDERTON v. ARCHER (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 1; 54 L. J. Q. B. 12; 51 L. T. 661; 33 W. R. 136.

Sect. 3.—Statutory jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 3, A., B., C. & D.; sub-sect. 4.]

33. Assignment of debt—Made within City.]—The assignment of a debt in accordance with Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 25 (6), is a part of the cause of the assignee's action for its recovery within Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12, & such an assignment therefore within the City of London or the liberties thereof is sufficient to found the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct.—READ v. BROWN (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 128; 58 L. J. Q. B. 120; 60 L. T. 250; 37 W. R. 131; 5 T. L. R. 97, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Bennett v. White, [1910] 2 K. B. 643. Mentd. Whitehead v. Butt (1891), 7 T. L. R. 609; Coburn v. Colledge, [1897] 1 Q. B. 702; Goldrei, Foucard & Son v. Sinclair & Russian Chamber of Commerce in London, [1918] 1 K. B. 180; Re Pain, Gustavson v. Havilland, [1919] 1 Ch. 38; Cheshire County Council v. Hopley (1923), 130 L. T. 123; The Koursk, [1924] P. 140; Venn v. Tedesco, [1926] 2 K. B. 227.

B. Account Stated within City.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.

34. Letter received within City—Posted outside City.]—Deft. in an action in the Mayor's Ct., had written a letter addressed to & received by pltf. in the City, but posted out of the City, in which there was a distinct admission of the debt afterwards sued for.

A rule nisi having been obtained for a prohibition to the Mayor's Ct., it was held that upon a claim on an account stated the prohibition could not issue, as the Mayor's Ct. had jurisdiction; that by the receipt of the letter in the City an account was stated in the jurisdiction, &, therefore, a complete cause of action arose there:—Held: the statement of an account is analogous to the acceptance of a contract, & an account was here stated by deft. at the moment when he posted the letter, but the statement was continuous until it reached pltf., at which time it was an account stated to him at the place where he received it.—EVANS v. NICHOLSON (1875), 45 L. J. C. P. 111, n.; 32 L. T. 778; previous proceedings, 32 L. T. 664.

Annotations:—Apld. Taylor v. Jones (1875), 1 C. P. D. 87. Folld. Taylor v. Nicholls (1876), 1 C. P. D. 242. Apld. R. v. Rogers (1877), 3 Q. B. D. 28. Folld. Bennett v. Cosgriff (1878), 38 L. T. 177; Grundy v. Townsend (1888), 36 W. R. 531. Refd. Wallace v. Allen (1875), 32 L. T. 830.

35. —— ——.]—R. v. LONDON (LORD MAYOR) (1886), 30 Sol. Jo. 538 D. C.

36. —— ——.]—Pltf.'s solr., who carried on business within the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct. of London, wrote to deft. demanding payment of £7 6*s.* 6*d.* for goods sold & delivered by pltf. to deft. Neither of the parties resided or carried on business, nor was the contract entered into, within the jurisdiction. Deft., in a letter written to pltf.'s solr., posted outside, but received within, the jurisdiction, admitted that he owed £5 6*s.* 6*d.* to pltf. Pltf. having brought an action in the Mayor's Ct. to recover £7 6*s.* 6*d.* for goods sold & delivered, deft. obtained a writ of prohibition staying proceedings therein. Pltf. then brought a second action to recover £5 6*s.* 6*d.* on an account stated, & deft. obtained a second writ of prohibition:—Held: the admission of deft. & the bringing of the second action amounted to an account stated; the account was stated within the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct.; pltf.'s solr. was his agent to receive the admission & to state the account; &, therefore, the Mayor's Ct. had jurisdiction to try the action.—GRUNDY v. TOWNSEND (1888), 36 W. R. 531; 4 T. L. R. 402, C. A.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. R. v. LONDON CORPN. & TOWNSEND, 4 T. L. R. 208, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Warwick v. Warwick (1918), 34 T. L. R. 475.

37. —— Written outside City.]—A superior ct. is not bound to prohibit an action in the Lord Mayor's Ct. unless it is satisfied that no one entire cause of action arose within the jurisdiction; & it makes no difference in law whether the application for such a prohibition be made before or after verdict. A sale had been effected & the goods delivered outside the jurisdiction; but a promise to pay for them, written outside, had been received by pltf. within the jurisdiction. The ct. refused to prohibit an action brought for goods sold & delivered & on accounts stated, since it was not clear that the Mayor's Ct. had not jurisdiction to hear & determine the concessit solvere.—TAYLOR v. NICHOLLS (1876), 1 C. P. D. 242; 45 L. J. Q. B. 455; 24 W. R. 673.

Annotations:—Folld. Grundy v. Townsend (1888), 36 W. R. 531. Refd. Rennie v. Ratcliff (1877), 35 L. T. 833; Davis v. Flagstaff Mining Co. (1878), 3 C. P. D. 228; Hall v. Launspach, [1898] 1 Q. B. 513.

C. Actions on Negotiable Instruments.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12; &, generally, BILLS OF EXCHANGE, Vol. VI., pp. 461 et seq.

38. Drawn within City—Indorsed within City—Payable outside City.]—Pltf. sued deft. in the Mayor's Ct., London as drawer of two cheques upon the Huddersfield branch of the Midland Banking co. In answer to a rule for a prohibition it was sworn that the cheques were drawn & indorsed by the payee to pltf. in London, that the drawer had no effects in the hands of the Midland Banking co. & that he had long since had notice from the bank that cheques drawn by him would not be paid unless previously provided for:—Held: there being no obligation on pltf. to prove presentment & dishonour, there was no ground for a prohibition.—WIRTH v. AUSTIN (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 689; 32 L. T. 669.

Annotation:—Refd. Re Bethell, Bethell v. Bethell (1887), 34 Ch. D. 561.

39. —— Defendant residing outside City.]—HAWKINS v. JEFFREYS (1876), 34 L. T. 837 C. A.

40. Drawn outside City—Discounted within City.]—R. v. LONDON CORPN. & LEWIS (1887), 3 T. L. R. 648, D. C.

41. Indorsed outside City—Dishonoured within City.]—ROBINSON v. EMANUEL, No. 24, ante.

42. Delivered to indorsee within City—Drawn & accepted outside City.]—WILLIAMSON v. COTTERELL (1880), 70 L. T. Jo. 24, C. A.

See, also, No. 53, post.

D. Sale of Goods.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 12.

43. Goods ordered outside City—Delivered to carrier named by buyer—Partly within & partly without City.]—Orders were given for goods at Poplar to be delivered to a carrier named by the buyer, & to be paid by him. The goods were received by the carrier, on delivery orders handed to him by the seller in the City of London, partly within & partly without the City. An action having been brought for the price in the Lord Mayor's Ct. :—Held : part of the cause of action arose out of the jurisdiction of the Ct., & therefore deft. was entitled to a prohibition.—GOLD v. TURNER (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 149 ; 23 W. R. 732.

Annotations :—Refd. Evans v. Nicholson (1875), 32 L. T. 664 ; Ellis v. Fleming (1876), 1 C. P. D. 237 ; Hawes v. Paveley (1876), 46 L. J. Q. B. 18 ; R. v. London Corpn. (1892), 61 L. J. Q. B. 329.

Compare No. 25, ante.

44. — — Order received at place of business within City.]—In an action brought in the Lord Mayor's Ct. for the price of goods sold, it was sworn that part of the goods for the price of which pltf. sued were ordered by a letter posted in Liverpool, & received by the deft. at his house of business in London.

Rule for a prohibition discharged, on the ground that the latter was a continuing order, & spoke in the place where it was received, & therefore that part of the cause of action arose within the jurisdiction.—BENNETT v. COSGRIFF (1878), 38 L. T. 177, D. C.

45. —— Sent from within City.]—SPARGOE v. HUGHES (1887), 3 T. L. R. 515, D. C.

46. Goods ordered from outside City—By person carrying on business within City—Delivery within City.]—Deft., who carried on business in the City of London, posted a letter there containing an order for goods, addressed to pltf. in Surrey. No letter was sent accepting the offer ; but the goods were taken by a servant of pltf. & delivered to deft. in London :—Held : the whole cause of action arose in the City.—TAYLOR v. JONES (1875), 1 C. P. D. 87 ; 45 L. J. Q. B. 110 ; 34 L. T. 131.

Annotations : Refd. Bennett v. Cosgriff (1878), 38 L. T. 177 ; Pletts v. Beattie, [1896] 1 Q. B. 519.

SUB-SECT. 4.—MODE OF OBJECTION TO JURISDICTION.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 15.

47. By plea within court—Whether right to prohibition barred.]—Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 15, enacts that "no deft. shall be permitted to object to the jurisdiction of the ct. in or by any proceeding whatsoever, except by plea." An ordinary action of debt having been commenced in the ct. to which deft. did not appear, a foreign attachment was issued at the instance of pltfs. Deft. having obtained a rule nisi for a prohibition, upon the ground that the cause of action did not arise within the jurisdiction of the ct., which the affidavits in support of the motion primâ facie showed was the case :—Held : under sect. 15, objection to the jurisdiction could be taken only by pleading to the action, & the rule must be discharged.

Qu. : whether, independently of the enactment above a prohibition at the instance of a deft. would be granted before appearance.—MANNING v. FARQUHARSON (1860), 30 L. J. Q. B. 22 ; 6 Jur. N. S. 1300 ; sub nom. Re MANNING, MANNING v. FARQUHARSON, 3 L. T. 378 ; sub nom. Ex p. FARQUHARSON, 9 W. R. 107.

Annotations :—Consd. London Corpn. v. Cox (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239. Dbtd. Quartly v. Timmins (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 416, n. N.F. Jacobs v. Brett (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1 ; Oram v. Brearey (1877), 2 Ex. D. 346. Refd. Frith v. Guppy (1866), 36 L. J. C. P. 45 ; Bridge v. Branch (1876), 1 C. P. D. 633 ; Hawes v. Pavely (1876), 34 L. T. 836.

48. —— ——.]—(1) The Lord Mayor's Ct. in London is an inferior ct.

(2) Where an inferior ct. proceeds in a cause properly within its jurisdiction, no prohibition can be awarded till the pleadings raise some issue which the ct. is incompetent to try. But where the foundation for the jurisdiction is itself defective, a prohibition may be applied for at once. When, therefore, process had issued out of that ct. against C. as a garnishee, & he declared in prohibition, a plea which set up the custom of foreign attachment, but did not allege, & the fact did not warrant any such allegation, that the original debt, or the debt alleged to be due from the garnishee to deft., arose within the City, or that any one of the parties to the suit was a citizen, or was resident within the City, the plea was held insufficient to show the existence of jurisdiction, & consequently the garnishee was at liberty in such a case to proceed in prohibition without first putting in a plea in the Lord Mayor's Court setting forth the facts which showed the want of jurisdiction.

Where the defect is not apparent & depends upon some fact in the knowledge of appct., which he had an opportunity of bringing forward in the ct. below & he has thought proper without excuse to allow that ct. to proceed to judgment without setting up the objection & without moving for a prohibition in the first instance, considering that the writ though of right is not of course the ct. would decline to interfere except perhaps upon an irresistible case & an excuse for the delay such as disability, malpractice or matter newly come to knowledge of appct. (WILLES, J.).—LONDON CORPN. v. COX (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239 ; 36 L. J. Ex. 225 ; 16 W. R. 41, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. COX v. LONDON CORPN. (1863), 2 H. & C. 401, Ex. Ch. ; (1862), 1 H. & C. 338.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Appleford v. Judkins (1878), 3 C. P. D. 489. As to (2) Apld. Banque de Credit Commercial v. De Gas (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 142 ; Byrne v. Guano Consignment Co. (1872), 25 L. T. 935. Consd. Cooke v. Gill (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 107 ; Jacobs v. Brett (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1. Distd. Hawes v. Paveley (1876), 1 C. P. D. 418. Consd. London Corpn. v. London Joint Stock Bank (1881), 6 App. Cas. 393 ; Combe v. De la Bere (1882), 22 Ch. D. 316. Apld. Broad v. Perkins (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 533. Consd. Farquharson v. Morgan, [1894] 1 Q. B. 552 ; McIntosh v. Simpkins (1901), 84 L. T. 21. Refd. Shea v. United Sick & Burial Soc. of St. Patrick (1867), 17 L. T. 176 ; Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1870), L. R. 5 Exch. 221 ; Quartly v. Timmins (1871), L. R. 9 C. P. 416 ; Chambers v. Green (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 552 ; Wirth v. Austen (1875), 32 L. T. 669 ; Worthington v. Jeffries (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 379 ; Bridge v. Branch (1876), 1 C. P. D. 633 ; Oram v. Brearey (1877), 2 Ex. D. 346 ; Serjeant v. Dale (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 558 ; Chadwick v. Ball (1885), 14 Q. B. D. 855 ; R. v. Shropshire County Court Judge (1887), 20 Q. B. D. 242 ; Read v. Brown (1888), 59 L. T. 605 ; Moore v. Gamgee (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 244 ; Payne v. Hogg (1900), 82 L. T. 584 ; R. v. Tristram, [1902] 1 K. B. 816 ; Re Cundall & Vavasour (1906), 95 L. T. 483 ; Re Clifford & O'Sullivan, [1921] 2 A. C. 570. Generally, Mentd. Webster v. Webster (1862), 8 Jur. N. S. 1017 ; Morris v. Lantour (1864), 3 New Rep. 475 ; Frith v. Guppy (1866), L. R. 2 C. P. 32 ; Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342 ; British South Africa Co. v. Companhia de Moçambique, [1893] A. C. 602 ; Watson v. Pletts (No. 2), [1899] 1 Q. B. 430 ; Falkingham v. Victorian Rys. Comr., [1900] A. C. 452 ; Norwich Corpn. v. Norwich Electric Tram. Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 119 ; Board v. Board, [1919] A. C. 956 ; St. Magnus, etc. Parochial Church Council v. London Diocese Chancellor, [1923] P. 38.

49. —— —.]—Deft., wishing to object to the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct., must do so by plea, & not by application for a writ of prohibition.—BRENAN v. CRADLEY (1868), 17 L. T. 549 ; 16 W. R. 754.

50. —— ——.]—Deft. in an action in the Lord Mayor's Ct. may obtain a writ of prohibition, notwithstanding Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 15, the real effect of that sect. being only to limit the modes of objecting within the Lord Mayor's Ct. to the jurisdiction.—JACOBS v. BRETT (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1; 44 L. J. Ch. 377; 32 L. T. 522; 23 W. R. 556.

Sect. 3.—Statutory jurisdiction: Sub-sects. 4 & 5. Part III. Sects. 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5.]

Annotations:—Followed. Bridge v. Branch (1876), 1 C. P. D. 633; Oram v. Brearey (1877), 2 Ex. D. 346. Refd. London Joint Stock Bank v. London Corpn. (1875), 1 C. P. D. 1; Hawes v. Paveley (1876), 46 L. J. Q. B. 18. Mentd. Re Macleay (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 186.

51. —— ——.]—HAWES v. PAVELEY, No. 25, ante.

52. —— —— Defendant undertaking to plead to issue.]—MALLETT v. MILLWALL DOCK CO. (1871), 6 L. J. N. C. 106.

See, also, COURTS, Vol. XVI., pp. 202, 203, Nos. 1113–1115.

53. Effect of plea to jurisdiction—In action on bill of exchange.]—A plea to the jurisdiction in an action by concessit solvere in the Lord Mayor's Ct., London, by the indorsee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange made payable at a banker's in London, but not specially, admits the drawing, acceptance, indorsement, & dishonour of the bill, but not that either of them took place within the City of London.—SEWELL v. CHEETHAM (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 420; 43 L. J. C. P. 239; 38 J. P. 696; 22 W. R. 695.

SUB-SECT. 5.—COUNTERCLAIMS.

See Jud. Acts, 1873 (c. 66), ss. 88, 90; 1884 (c. 61), s. 18.

54. Cause of action arising within jurisdiction—Counterclaim founded on claim arising outside jurisdiction—In excess of statutory amount.]—Under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), ss. 89, 90, inferior cts., when pltf.'s cause of action arises within the jurisdiction, have power to entertain a counterclaim by deft., founded on a claim arising out of their jurisdiction locally, & in excess of the amount to which that jurisdiction extends, but they can entertain such counterclaim only so far as it constitutes an answer to pltf.'s claim.

Pltf. brought his action in the Mayor's Ct. on a cause of action arising within the jurisdiction. Deft. set up a counterclaim, founded on a claim arising out of the jurisdiction, & in excess of the amount to which the jurisdiction extended. The Ct. of Appeal refused to prohibit the Mayor's Ct. from entertaining the claim.—DAVIS v. FLAGSTAFF SILVER MINING CO. OF UTAH (1878), 3 C. P. D. 228; 47 L. J. Q. B. 503; 38 L. T. 769; 26 W. R. 431, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Webster v. Armstrong (1885), 1 T. L. R. 213.

Procedure in counterclaim.]—See Mayor's & City of London Court Rules, 1921, Sched. I., Ord. 3, rr. 6–12.

Part III.—Practice and Procedure.

SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Mayor's & City of London Court Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), ss. 8, 9; Mayor's & City of London Court Rules, 1921.

55. Rules of Judicature Acts—Not applicable to Mayor's Court.]—PRYOR v. CITY OFFICES CO., No. 58, post.

SECT. 2.—BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS.

See Mayor's & City of London Court Rules, 1921, Ord. 4; &, generally, BARRISTERS, Vol. III., pp. 319, 320; SOLICITORS.

56. Admission of solicitors.]—R. v. LONDON CORPN., No. 1, ante.

57. Liability of solicitors—Negligent conduct of proceeding.]—An attorney, before he takes upon himself to sue out a writ in a ct. of peculiar constitution, is bound to ascertain that the ct. has machinery to carry out the object of the action.

Deft. having insured in London goods on a voyage to Calcutta, & the goods having been damaged on the voyage, deft. instructed pltf., an attorney, to take steps to obtain compensation from the underwriters. Pltf. wrote letters to them demanding payment, & this being ineffectual, took out writs against them in the Mayor's Ct., &, after issue joined, applied for a commission to examine witnesses in India, which that Ct. had no power to grant, & the actions were accordingly discontinued. Pltf. having sued deft. for his costs:—Held: pltf., from the nature of deft.'s claim, must or ought to have known that it would be necessary to take the evidence of witnesses in India, & was bound to have ascertained before suing there that the Mayor's Ct. could issue a commission, & he was therefore guilty of such negligence as disentitled him from recovering his costs in the actions.—COX v. LEECH (1857), 1 C. B. N. S. 617; 26 L. J. C. P. 125; 28 L. T. O. S. 370; 3 Jur. N. S. 442; 5 W. R. 199; 140 E. R. 254.

SECT. 3.—JUDGMENT.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 51.

58. Under R. S. C., Ord. 40, r. 10—On motion for new trial—Judge not entitled to direct.]—The judge of the Mayor's Ct., London, has no power, on a motion before that Ct. for a new trial, to direct judgment to be entered for either of the parties in the action, as a judge of the High Ct. can do under above rule, no rules having been made for applying the rules of Jud. Acts to that Ct., & no such power being given to an inferior ct. by Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 89. Where, notwithstanding such want of power, the judge of the Mayor's Ct. has acted as if he had such power, an appeal will lie to the Ct. of Appeal in respect of his having so erroneously acted.—PRYOR v. CITY OFFICES CO. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 504; 52 L. J. Q. B. 362; 48 L. T. 698; 31 W. R. 777, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Darlow v. Shuttleworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 721. Mentd. Speers v. Daggers (1885), Cab. & El. 503; R. v. Selfe, [1908] 2 K. B. 121.

59. Must be entered in accordance with finding of jury—Trial of issue of fact.]—ROBERTS v. BANCROFT (1895), Glyn & Jackson's, Mayor's Court Practice, 3rd ed. pp. 139, 153, C. A.

60. Variation or alteration of judgment.]—The judge of the City of London Ct. having given judgment in a case has no power subsequently to vary or alter his judgment.—THE RECEPTA, as reported in, [1893] P. 255; 42 W. R. 73; 1 R. 644, C. A.; sub nom. THE RECEPTA, GORDON v. FRANCIS, 9 T. L. R. 535.

Annotations:—Apld. Re London Scottish Permanent Bldg. Soc. (1893), 63 L. J. Q. B. 112. Refd. Mowlem v. Dunne (1912), 106 L. T. 611.

61. ——.]—In the winding-up of a building society under Building Societies Act, 1874 (c. 42), under the supervision of the City of London Ct., the judge, without the consent & against the wishes of both parties to the application before him, ordered the reference of an issue to a layman, imposed terms as a condition precedent to the hearing of such reference, & subsequently discharged his own order of reference altogether owing to the refusal of either party to comply with the condition:—Held: inasmuch as the judge of the City of London Ct., acting under Building Societies Act, 1874 (c. 42), had no power to order a reference without the consent of parties, & also as he could not of his own motion vary or discharge any final order of his own, the judge had acted in excess of jurisdiction, & a writ of prohibition ought to issue.—Re LONDON SCOTTISH PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY (1893), 63 L. J. Q. B. 112; 42 W. R. 464; 38 Sol. Jo. 43, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. North, Ex p. Oakey (1926), 43 T. L. R. 60.

62. Effect of judgment as estoppel—Same proceedings with different object.]—To oust the jurisdiction of the Ct. of Ch., it must be shown that, according to the custom of the City of London, the judgment of the Lord Mayor's Ct. in a suit between the same persons as are parties in the suit in this Ct., is conclusive. Semble: If the proceedings in this ct. be the same & between the same parties as in the Lord Mayor's Ct., but the object different, the proceedings in Lord Mayor's Ct. are not conclusive. BEHRENS v. SIEVEKING (1837), 2 My. & Cr. 602; 40 E. R. 769; sub nom. SIEVEKING v. BEHRENS, 1 Jur. 329, L. C.

Annotations:—Refd. Bainbrigge v. Baddeley (1847), 2 Ph. 705. Mentd. Osborne v. Eales (1861), 2 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 125.

See, generally, ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., pp. 159 et seq.

Effect of nonsuit—When bar to subsequent action.]—See COUNTY COURTS, Vol. XIII., p. 506, No. 564.

Seal of court—Judicial notice.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 158, Nos. 1347, 1348.

SECT. 4.—ENFORCEMENT OF JUDGMENTS.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 8, 10, 48; Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), s. 6; &, generally, JUDGMENTS, Vol. XXX., pp. 166 et seq.

63. Removal of judgment into superior court For purposes of issuing execution.]—Under Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 48, pltf. who has recovered a judgment, in an action in the Mayor's Ct., against deft. having goods within the jurisdiction of that ct., is entitled, as of right, to remove such judgment into one of the superior cts., & to issue execution thereout against the goods of deft.; & such execution will not be set aside as an abuse of the process of the ct., notwithstanding that execution could have been issued out of the Mayor's Ct. with as full effect as out of the superior ct., & that the only object of removing the judgment into the superior ct. may have been to obtain the increased costs of such execution.—HAYWOOD v. SAINT (1875), 32 L. T. 566.

64. ——.]—By the Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 48, execution might be issued in a superior ct. upon a judgment obtained in the Mayor's Ct. By the Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), s. 6, where final judgment has been obtained in any local ct. for a sum not exceeding £20, "such ct. shall be at liberty to send a writ or precept for the recovery of the same to the registrar of any county ct. within the jurisdiction of which deft. may possess any goods or chattels . . . . & thereupon the high bailiff of such county ct. shall execute the same in the same manner as if such writ or precept had been issued out of such county ct.":—Held: the two statutes were not inconsistent, & Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 48, had not been repealed by the Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), s. 6; & notwithstanding the latter statute execution might be issued in the High Ct. of Justice upon a judgment for a sum not exceeding £20 obtained in the Mayor's Ct.—PAINE v. SLATER (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 120; 52 L. J. Q. B. 282; 31 W. R. 941, C. A.; sub nom. PAYNE v. SLATER, 48 L. T. 623.

65. —— Jurisdiction of superior court to set aside—Want of jurisdiction of inferior court.]—Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 48, enacts that a judgment removed from that ct. to a superior ct. shall have the same force & effect as a judgment recovered in the superior ct.:—Held: it was competent to the ct. to which such judgment is so removed to set it aside, if satisfied that it was obtained in a matter over which the inferior ct. had no jurisdiction.—BRIDGE v. BRANCH (1876), 1 C. P. D. 633; 34 L. T. 905.

66. Attachment of debts—Process to compel appearance—Operation of garnishee order not affected.]—The operation of a garnishee order made under the C. L. P. Act, 1854 (c. 125), is not suspended by the existence of an attachment in the Lord Mayor's Ct., the former being a process of execution, the latter merely a process to compel an appearance.—RICHTER v. LAXTON (1878), 48 L. J. Q. B. 184; 39 L. T. 499; 27 W. R. 214.

Annotation:—Apld. Levy v. Lovell (1880), 14 Ch. D. 234.

——See, generally, EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 617 et seq.

67. Notice of bankruptcy petition—To sergeant-at-mace.]—The "officer charged with the execution of process," included by Bkpcy. Act, 1883 (c. 52), s. 168, in the term "sheriff" is the officer analogous to the sheriff so charged by the constitution of cts. other than the High Ct. to whom notice of a bkpcy. petition must be given under sect. 46 (2) upon a sale under an execution for more than £20.

In a Mayor's Ct. action, the notice should be given at the office of the sergeant-at-mace to him or his representative; & a notice to sheriff's officers in possession of the debtor's goods under previous High Ct. writs to whom the sergeant-at-mace had entrusted the execution of his writ, given after they had paid over the proceeds to the sergeant-at-mace, was held insufficient.—Re HOLLAND, Ex p. WARREN (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 48; 54 L. J. Q. B. 320; 53 L. T. 68; 33 W. R. 572; 1 T. L. R. 430; 2 Morr. 142, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Bellyse v. M'Glinn, [1891] 2 Q. B. 227.

As to notice of act of bankruptcy generally, see BANKRUPTCY, Vol. V., pp. 919 et seq.

Enforcement of judgment & orders—By & against corporations.]—See, generally, CORPORATIONS, Vol. XIII., pp. 426 et seq.

SECT. 5.—COSTS.

See Mayor's & City of London Ct. Rules, 1921, Ord. 5, Sched. I, Ord. 19.

68. Taxation according to usage of court—Registrar's discretion to allow items & amounts—Subject to review by judge on appeal.]—The

Sect. 5.—Costs. Part IV. Sects. 1, 2, 3 & 4.]

Judge of the Mayor's Ct. has jurisdiction to give judgment for costs to be taxed according to the usage in that ct., which is to give the registrar discretion as to the items & amounts to be allowed on taxation, subject to review on appeal to the judge of that ct.—SMITHERS & SONS v. DEVEREUX (1890), 6 T. L. R. 249.

Review of taxation.]—See Mayor's Ct. of London Rules (Fees & Costs), 1890, r. 1.

69. Where no scale provided by rules—Inherent jurisdiction of court to order—Action for libel where less than five pounds recovered—Costs beyond court fees & witnesses' allowances.]—The fact that in a particular case no scale of costs is provided by the Mayor's Ct. of London Rules, 1890, is not in itself sufficient to show that that Ct. has no inherent jurisdiction to order costs in the cases not specifically provided for.

Semble: in actions for libel tried in the Mayor's Ct. of London, in which less than £5 is recovered, the Ct. has jurisdiction to order costs to be paid to pltf.; beyond ct. fees & allowances to witnesses, although no scale is provided by the rules for such a case.—HALL v. LAUNSPACH, [1898] 1 Q. B. 513; 67 L. J. Q. B. 372; 78 L. T. 243; 14 T. L. R. 215; 42 Sol. Jo. 251, C. A.

70. Certificate by judge for costs on higher scale—Costs of unsuccessful party taxed on higher scale.]—Where in an action in the Mayor's Ct. for £40 pltf. succeeded, & the judge, under Mayor's Ct. Rules, 1890, r. 13, certified for costs on the Mayor's Ct. scale applicable to cases in which an amount of or exceeding £50 has been recovered:—Held: upon taxation of the bill delivered by defts.' solicitors in respect of their costs in the action as between them & defts.' under Solicitors Act, 1843 (c. 73), the master was right in taxing upon the same scale.—Re BRIGGS (JAMES) & SON, [1903] 2 K. B. 156; 72 L. J. K. B. 644; 89 L. T. 7; 51 W. R. 577; 19 T. L. R. 501; 47 Sol. Jo. 535, C. A.

71. Recovery of costs by solicitor—Suit within month from delivery of bill of costs—Whether leave of High Court essential.]—Re DUCKERS (1906), 50 Sol. Jo. 441.

Part IV.—Appeals.

SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

72. From what decisions—Decision on trial—Not from interlocutory order.]—BERIRO v. THALHEIM (1891), 36 Sol. Jo. 44, D. J.

SECT. 2.—IN MAYOR'S AND CITY OF LONDON COURT.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 10, 12, 41; C. L. P. Act, 1854 (c. 125), s. 33.

73. Application for new trial—Power of judge to grant—Verdict against weight of evidence.]—Upon a rule for a mandamus to compel the Lord Mayor's Ct. to enter judgment for pltf., that ct. having granted a new trial on the ground that the verdict found for him was against the weight of evidence.

The Ct. of Q. B. expressed an opinion that the Lord Mayor's Ct. had power to grant a new trial on such ground, but, not being clear about the matter, they made absolute the rule for a writ to issue.—R. v. LONDON (LORD MAYOR), Re ROUX v. MERTON (1872), 27 L. T. 61.

74. —— —— Previous rule for nonsuit in superior court.]—Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 10, enables either party to a suit in that ct., if leave be given to him by the judge on the trial, to move in any of the superior cts. to enter a verdict or nonsuit, as the case may be, & gives the superior ct. power to make such order therein as it may think proper, & directs judgment to be entered accordingly:—Held: the disposal by the superior ct. of a rule to enter a nonsuit moved for under sect. 10, does not take away the jurisdiction of the judge of the Mayor's Ct. to entertain an application for a new trial.—LEBEAU v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 129; 42 L. J. C. P. 76; 21 W. R. 358.

—— No power to enter judgment under R. S. C., Ord. 40, r. 10.]—See No. 58, ante.

SECT. 3.—TO HIGH COURT.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 8, 9, &, generally, County Courts, Vol. XIII., pp. 525 et seq.

75. Right of appeal—R. S. C., Ord. 60, rr. 10–17.]—An appeal from any inferior ct. of record of civil jurisdiction, when there is no statute regulating the appeal, can now be brought to the K. B. Div. under above rules.—DARLOW v. SHUTTLEWORTH, [1902] 1 K. B. 721; 71 L. J. K. B. 460; 86 L. T. 524; 66 J. P. 516; 50 W. R. 668; 18 T. L. R. 419, D. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Wiltshire JJ., Ex p. Jay (1912), 81 L. J. K. B. 518.

76. Leave to appeal—Whether essential—Claim over twenty pounds—R. S. C., Ord. 59, r. 10.]—By the Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, an appeal from the Mayor's Ct. to the superior cts. is given where the sum sought to be recovered exceeds £20, & by s. 9 such appeal is to be by special case. By s. 10 the parties in any case in the Mayor's Ct. may, if the judge grants leave, move in the superior cts. to set aside the verdict:—Held: above rule, which provides that all appeals from inferior cts. shall be by notice of motion, does not make it necessary where the sum sought to be recovered in the Mayor's Ct. exceeds £20, & a motion to set aside the verdict & judgment on the ground of misdirection is made in the High Ct., that the leave of the judge of the Mayor's Ct. should be obtained.—EDER v. LEVY (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 210; 56 L. J. Q. B. 650; 3 T. L. R. 623, D. C.

Annotation:—Reld. Darlow v. Shuttleworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 721.

77. —— Granted "upon trial of any issue"—Within reasonable time of trial—Two days.]—Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 9, 10, provides that in certain cases a party may appeal, if he give notice within two days of the decision, & give security; & that "if upon the trial" the judge gives him leave to move in a superior ct., he may move within the time limited for like motions in such ct. At the conclusion, on a Thursday, of a trial in the Lord Mayor's Ct., the judge refused to give pltf., who was nonsuited, leave to move, but on the ensuing Monday on application made to him granted such leave:—Held: he had no power to do so, because, even if there had been no refusal, the leave must be given within a reasonable time, & that would be two days.—FOLKARD v. METROPOLITAN RY. CO. (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 470; 42 L. J. C. P. 162; 29 L. T. 101; 21 W. R. 736.

78. ——— Appellant confined to leave reserved.]—In an action in the Mayor's Ct., the recorder directed a verdict for pltfs., with leave to deft. to move, for misdirection: Held: deft. was confined to the leave reserved, & was not entitled to insist on a new trial upon the ground that his own evidence had been improperly excluded.—ELLIS v. MARRIOTT (1860), 8 W. R. 192.

79. —— Right to proceed under—Where leave previously exhausted in Mayor's Court.]—Where a rule has been obtained to enter a nonsuit or for a new trial in the Mayor's Ct., London, under Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 22, it is not competent to the unsuccessful party afterwards, even with the leave of the judge, to move the Div. Ct. under sect. 10.—MEARS v. CHITTICK (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 35, D. C.

80. Mode of appeal—By notice of motion.]—EDER v. LEVY, No. 76, ante.

81. ——— ———.]—DARLOW v. SHUTTLEWORTH, No. 75, ante.

82. Notice of appeal—Time for entering in Crown Office list.]—Where a rule is obtained on a motion by way of appeal from an inferior ct. the appeal must be entered in the list at the Crown Office of the Q. B. Div. under R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 19, before the day mentioned in the notice to show cause.—DONOVAN v. BROWN (1879), 4 Ex. D. 148; 48 L. J. Q. B. 156; 12 L. T. 30; 27 W. R. 648, D. C.

83. ——— Time for giving Cross appeal.]—WILLIAMS v. TAPERELL (1892), 27 L. J. N. C. 16; 92 L. T. Jo. 213; 8 T. L. R. 241, D. C.

84. ——— ——— Within two days—Jurisdiction to extend time.]—The provision in Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, that a party desiring to appeal shall, within two days of the determination or direction against which he appeals, give notice of appeal to the other party, is a condition precedent to the appeal, & the High Ct. has no power, under R. S. C., Ord. 69, r. 16, to extend the time for giving such notice.—KIRBY v. NORTH BRITISH & MERCANTILE INSURANCE CO., [1896] 2 Q. B. 99; 65 L. J. Q. B. 527; 74 L. T. 723; 60 J. P. 549; 44 W. R. 529; 12 T. L. R. 445, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Darlow v. Shuttleworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 721; Newman v. Klausner, [1922] 1 K. B. 228.

85. ——— ——— ———.] An appeal from the Mayor's & City of London Ct. in an "original Mayor's Ct. action" must still be brought within two days as required by Mayor's Ct. of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, which is not affected in this respect by the Mayor's & City of London Ct. Act, 1920 (c. cxxxiv), & the rules made thereunder. The High Ct. has no jurisdiction to extend the time.—NEWMAN v. KLAUSNER, [1922] 1 K. B. 228; 91 L. J. K. B. 125; 126 L. T. 288; 38 T. L. R. 53, D. C.

86. ——— ——— ——— Sunday excluded.]—By Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, notice of appeal from the determination or direction of the Ct. in point of law or upon the admission or rejection of any evidence shall be given "within two days after such determination or direction":—Held: if the period of two days expires on a Sunday the notice of appeal may be given on the following Monday.—MILCH v. FRANKAU & CO., [1909] 2 K. B. 100; 78 L. J. K. B. 560; 100 L. T. 1002; 25 T. L. R. 498; 53 Sol. Jo. 577, D. C.

87. Security for costs—Necessity for—Effect of R. S. C., Ord. 69, rr. 10–17.]—Mayor's Ct. of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, is not repealed by above rules, & security for costs has to be given before an appeal from the Mayor's Ct. in an action to recover more than £20 can be heard by the Div. Ct.—MORGAN v. BOWLES, [1894] 1 Q. B. 236; 63 L. J. Q. B. 84; 42 W. R. 269; 38 Sol. Jo. 43; 10 R. 62, D. C.

Annotations:—Apld. Kirby v. North British & Mercantile Insce., [1896] 2 Q. B. 99. Refd. Darlow v. Shuttleworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 721.

88. ——— Extent of—Limited to costs of appeal.]—Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 8, provides that in case of an appeal the party appealing shall give security within such time or times as the ct. shall direct for the costs of the appeal, whatever be the event of the appeal, & for the amount of the judgment if the party appealing be deft. & the appeal be dismissed. On an appeal by an unsuccessful pltf. in the Mayor's Ct., the judge directed that he should give security for the costs of the appeal & also for the costs of deft. at the trial:—Held: (1) the judge had no jurisdiction under the sect. to direct pltf. to give security for deft.'s costs in the trial in addition to giving security for the costs of the appeal; (2) the mere fact of pltf. giving security for deft.'s costs under the sect. does not operate as a stay of proceedings.—GREEN v. ISAACS (1906), 96 L. T. 122, D. C.

89. —— Effect of—Proceedings not stayed.]—GREEN v. ISAACS, No. 88, ante.

90. Costs of appeal—Abide event.]—In all cases of appeal from the Lord Mayor's Ct., the costs will go to the party in whose favour the ct. decide, unless the ct. make an exception to the contrary.—GREEN v. SICHEL (1860), 7 C. B. N. S. 747; 29 L. J. C. P. 213; 2 L. T. 715; 6 Jur. N. S. 827; 8 W. R. 663; 141 E. R. 1009.

SECT. 4.—TO COURT OF APPEAL.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 4; C. L. P. Acts, 1852 (c. 76), ss. 146–167, 1854 (c. 125), ss. 32, 41, 1860 (c. 126), ss. 4–11.

91. From Mayor's Court—When appeal lies—Error on face of record.]—The Ct. of Appeal from inferior cts. has no jurisdiction to hear & determine questions of law arising upon the records of the Mayor's Ct., London; the proper tribunal to entertain them is the Ct. of Appeal, under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 18 (4).—LE BLANCH v. REUTER'S TELEGRAM CO. (1876), 1 Ex. D. 408; 25 W. R. 115; sub nom. MORS LE BLANCHE v. REUTER'S TELEGRAM CO., LTD., 34 L. T. 691, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Darlow v. Shuttleworth, [1902] 1 K. B. 721.

92. ——— ——— ———.]—PRYOR v. CITY OFFICES CO., No. 58, ante.

93. ——— ——— ———.]—ROBERTS v. BANCROFT (1895), Glyn. & Jackson's Mayor's Court Practice, 3rd ed. pp. 139, 153, C. A.

94. From Divisional Court—Necessity for special leave—Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 45.]—The Mayor's Ct. is an inferior ct. within above sect. & no appeal lies to the Ct. of Appeal from the decision of a Div. Ct. on appeal from the Mayor's Ct., unless special leave to appeal has been given under that sect.—APPLEFORD v. JUDKINS (1878), 3 C. P. D. 489; 47 L. J. Q. B. 615; 38 L. T. 801; 26 W. R. 731, C. A.

Part V.—Removal of Actions—Certiorari.

SECT. 1.—WHETHER AS OF RIGHT OR DISCRETIONARY.

Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), sched. r. 12; Statutory Rules & Orders, Rev. Vol. IV., 971.

95. Discretion of judge.]—An action brought in the Mayor's Ct. to recover more than £50 cannot be removed as a matter of right by writ of certiorari into the Q. B. Div., but it is a matter of discretion.—HOPE v. HUME-WEBSTER (1886), 2 T. L. R. 415.

96. —— "Fit to be tried"—Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), sched. r. 12.]—A party to an action in the Mayor's Ct. is not entitled as of right to remove the action by writ of certiorari into the High Ct., but can only do so by leave of a Judge of the High Ct. in a case where it shall appear to him that the action is one which is fit to be tried there.—CHERRY v. ENDEAN (1886), 55 L. J. Q. B. 292; 54 L. T. 763; 34 W. R. 458.

Annotations:—Apld. Simpson v. Shaw (1886), 56 L. J. Q. B. 92. Consd. Banks v. Hollingsworth, [1893] 1 Q. B. 442.

97. —— —— ——.]—Pltf. brought an action in the Lord Mayor's Ct. against deft., a stock broker, for alleged misconduct in connection with the purchase of certain shares, & claimed £110 as damages:—Held: the action was one which was "fit to be tried" in the superior cts., & deft. was accordingly entitled to a w it of certiorari.—SIMPSON v. SHAW (1886), 56 L. J. Q. B. 92; 56 L. T. 24; 3 T. L. R. 120.

Annotations:—Distd. Boize v. Edwards (1889), 5 T. L. R. 311. Consd. Banks v. Hollingsworth (1893), 41 W. R. 225.

98. —— —— ——.]—BOIZE v. EDWARDS (1889), 5 T. L. R. 341.

99. ——.] Held: Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), sched. r. 12, imposed a limitation on the previous right of deft. to have an action removed into the superior ct. under Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), & gave power to the judge in the exercise of his discretion to order the removal of any such action, but subject to the condition precedent that the judge should first be satisfied that the action was fit to be tried in the superior ct.

(2) The expression "case fit to be tried in the superior cts." must be taken to mean a case which "ought" to be tried there, or which is "more fit" to be tried there than in an inferior ct.—BANKS v. HOLLINGSWORTH, [1893] 1 Q. B. 442; 62 L. J. Q. B. 239; 68 L. T. 477; 57 J. P. 436; 41 W. R. 225; 37 Sol. Jo. 190; 4 R. 228, C. A.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BANKS v. BARCLAY (1892), 67 L. T. 861, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Donkin v. Pearson, [1911] 2 K. B. 112. Expld. Direct Photo Engraving Co. v. Martin, [1921] 2 K. B. 187. Refd. Perry v. London General Omnibus Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 335.

100. Whether matter of right.]—Any action brought in the Mayor's Ct. to recover more than £50 may, as a matter of right, be removed by writ of certiorari into the Q. B. Div.—LILLEY v. DORIN (1885), 1 T. L. R. 455.

Annotation:—Consd. Cherry v. Endean (1886), 55 L. J. Q. B. 292.

SECT. 2.—THE APPLICATION FOR REMOVAL.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 17.

101. Time for making—Within one month of service of plaint—Or before action entered.]—With respect to actions in the Mayor's Ct. of London, Borough & Local Courts of Record Act, 1872 (c. 86), sched. r. 12, does not override Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 17, under which the writ of certiorari removing the cause into a superior ct. must be lodged within one month after the service of the plaint, or before the action shall have been entered for trial, & does not substitute the discretion of a judge for the strict limit of time imposed by that sect.—PRICE v. SHAW (1888), 59 L. T. 480.

102. —— —— ——.] — Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 17, gives alternative periods for lodging the writ & deft. can avail himself of whichever is the longer period.—PRIM v. SMITH (1880), 20 Q. B. D. 643; 57 L. J. Q. B. 336; 58 L. T. 606; 36 W. R. 530, C. A.

103. To whom application should be made—Whether to master of King's Bench.]—Qu.: whether an application for a writ of certiorari to remove a case from the Mayor's Ct. into the High Ct. can be made to a master of the K. B. Div.—DIRECT PHOTO ENGRAVING CO. v. MARTIN, [1921] 2 K. B. 187; 90 L. J. K. B. 727; 125 L. T. 284.

How made.]—See Nos. 106, 108, post, &, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 446 et seq., Nos. 3131 et seq.

SECT. 3.—GROUNDS FOR REMOVAL.

104. Privilege of solicitor—To be sued in High Court.]—A solr. of the High Ct. who had also been admitted a solr. in the Mayor's Ct., was sued in the latter ct.:—Held: he was not entitled to have the action removed into the High Ct. on the ground of the privilege of a solr. of the High Ct. to be sued in that ct. only.—DAY v. WARD (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 703; 55 L. J. Q. B. 494; 55 L. T. 518; 35 W. R. 59.

Action "fit to be tried" in High Court.]—See Sect. 1, ante; Sect. 4, post.

SECT. 4.—REMOVALS FROM EQUITY SIDE OF COURT.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), s. 20; Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), ss. 16, 34; &, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 446 et seq.

105. Application for removal—May be made ex parte.]—JONES v. HEY, HEY v. BATE (1869), 17 W. R. 996, L. C. & V. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Tracy v. Open Stock Exchange (1871), L. R. 11 Eq. 556.

106. —— —— ——.]—Where a suit brought in the Mayor's Ct. was removed by writ of certiorari into the Ct. of Ch., & where it appeared upon the face of the bill in the Mayor's Ct. that some of pltfs. were out of the jurisdiction of that ct., an order was made ex p., without further evidence, that the suit in the Mayor's Ct. be retained in this ct. An order was also made in the suit from the Mayor's Ct. that the registrar of that ct. might be at liberty to pay over to the credit of the cause in this ct. the money paid into the Mayor's Ct.—TRACY v. OPEN STOCK EXCHANGE (1871), L. R. 11 Eq. 556 ; 40 L. J. Ch. 159 ; 19 W. R. 379.

——.]—See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 446, 447, Nos. 3131 et seq.

107. Grounds for removal—Want of jurisdiction.]—A writ of certiorari will be issued to remove a suit out of the equity side of the Lord Mayor's Ct. into the Ct. of Ch. on a bill being filed for the purpose, & evidence being given that neither pltf. nor deft., not the subject-matter of the suit, were within the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor's Ct., & that the cause of action did not arise there.—DAVIES v. MAC-HENRY (1867), 3 Ch. App. 200 ; 17 L. T. 307, L. C.

Annotations :—Folld. Jones v. Hey, Hey v. Bate (1869), 17 W. R. 996. Refd. R. v. Woodhouse, etc., Leeds JJ. (1906), 75 L. J. K. B. 745.

108. ——.]—JONES v. HEY, HEY v. BATE (1869), 17 W. R. 996, L. C. & V. C.

Annotation :—Folld. Tracy v. Open Stock Exchange (1871), L. R. 11 Eq. 556.

109. —— Plaintiffs outside jurisdiction.]—TRACY v. OPEN STOCK EXCHANGE, No. 106, ante.

110. —— Action not "fit to be tried" in Mayor's Court.]—Action in Lord Mayor's Ct. against two defts., one of whom was a corpn. aggregate. Application by deft. corpn. to have the action transferred to the Ch. Div. of the High Ct. on the grounds, (a) that accounts were required from persons who were not within the jurisdiction of the Mayor's Ct. ; (b) that it would be necessary to bring several persons into the action as third parties, which could not be effectually done if action remained in the Mayor's Ct. ; (c) that, according to recent decisions, a corpn. aggregate could not be made defts. in an action in the Mayor's Ct. :—Held : under these circumstances, it was "fit" that the whole proceeding be transferred from the inferior ct. to the High Ct.—VICKERS v. STEVENS & LA CONCEPTION GOLD MINING CO., LTD. (1881), 44 L. T. 679 ; 29 W. R. 562.

111. ——.]—Re SUIT DEPENDING IN MAYOR'S COURT, LONDON, BETWEEN FOSTER & MUTUAL RESERVE FUND LIFE ASSOCN. (1900), 44 Sol. Jo. 689.

SECT. 5.—PROCEEDINGS AFTER REMOVAL.

See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 448, 449, Nos. 3166–3175.

112. Writ of precedendo—Matters not in dispute in Mayor's Court.]—RICE v. JAQUIS (1663), 1 Cas. in Ch. 31 ; 22 E. R. 678 ; sub nom. RICH v. JAQUES, 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 80 ; Freem. Ch. 174, L. C.

113. —— Discretion of court.]—If upon a certiorari bill the cause is brought on to hearing the ct., if they think fit, may make a decree or send it back to the Mayor's Ct. to be determined there & sometimes the ct. sends it back after publication passed & a subpœna served to bear judgment & before the hearing.—STEPHENSON v. HOULDITCH (1704), 2 Vern. 491 ; 23 E. R. 915.

SECT. 6.—COSTS.

See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 450 et seq.

114. Action removed by defendant · Whether plaintiff entitled to costs.]—Deft. who has removed a cause from the Lord Mayor's Ct. of London into one of the superior cts., is yet entitled to the benefit of 39 & 40 Geo. 3, c. 104, to deprive pltf. of his costs, if he recover less than £5.—COPLAND v. JACOBS (1830), 8 L. J. O. S. K. B. 321.

115. —— —— County Courts Act, 1867 (c. 142), s. 5.] Pltf. commenced an action in detinue in the Lord Mayor's Ct. At the instance of deft., it was removed by certiorari into the Ct. of Q. B., where pltf. recovered £3. The judge who tried the cause refused to certify under above sect. to give pltf. his costs : —Held : he was not entitled to his costs of the action.—PELLAS v. BRESLAUER (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 438 ; 40 L. J. Q. B. 161 ; 24 L. T. 762 ; 19 W. R. 779.

Annotation :—Refd. Flitters v. Allfrey (2) (1874), 31 L. T. 881.

Part VI.—Prohibition.

See Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857 (c. clvii), ss. 12, 15, &, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 372 et seq.

116. Who may apply · Stranger to suit.]—The Ct., at the instance of a stranger, made a rule absolute for a prohibition to the Lord Mayor's Ct., London, after verdict for pltf. notwithstanding that the claim was below £50, & that consequently there could be no plea to the jurisdiction.—QUARTLY v. TIMMINS (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 416 ; 22 W. R. 488.

Annotations :—Folld. Robinson v. Emanuel (1871), L. R. 9 C. P. 414. Refd. Sewell v. Cheetham (1874), 22 W. R. 695 ; Jacobs v. Brett (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1 ; Hawes v. Pavely (1876), 46 L. J. Q. B. 18 ; R. v. London County JJ. & L. C. C., [1894] 1 Q. B. 153.

117. —— Defendant.]—Deft. in the suit in the Lord Mayor's Ct. cannot move for a writ of prohibition to stay the proceedings in a foreign attachment.—BAKER v. CLARK (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 121.

Annotations :—Consd. Jacobs v. Brett (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 1. Expld. Bridge v. Branch (1876), 1 C. P. D. 633. Refd. Hawes v. Pavely (1876), 34 L. T. 836.

118. ——.]—JACOBS v. BRETT, No. 50, ante.

——.]—See, further, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 390, 391 ; Nos. 2327–2337.

Nature of writ Whether grantable ex debito justitiæ.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 372–374, Nos. 2101–2119.

Mode of application By defendant in person.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., p. 392.

Affidavit in support of application.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 392, 393, Nos. 2352–2368.

Pleadings.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., p. 394 ; Nos. 2376, 2377.

Costs.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 396, 397, Nos. 2403, 2413–2415.

119. Stage of proceedings at which writ granted—Whether after judgment.]—QUARTLY v. TIMMINS, No. 116, ante.

—— Want of jurisdiction apparent on record.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., p. 385, Nos. 2224–2245.

—— —— Want of jurisdiction not apparent on record.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., p. 386, Nos. 2257–2281.

——.]—See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 383, 384 ; Nos. 2206–2216.

120. Grounds of prohibition — Attachment of shares —Attachment preventing registration of transfer.]—The ct. will not grant a writ of prohibition to restrain the Lord Mayor's Ct. from proceeding upon an attachment of shares in a mining co., worked on the cost-book principle, upon the suggestion that such shares are not "goods & effects."—TREDINNICK v. OLIVER (1860), 5 H. & N. 780; 157 E. R. 1392; sub nom. TREDINNICK v. OLIVER, Ex p. BILL, 29 L. J. Ex. 466.

——.]—See CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 376 et seq.

121. Loss of right to prohibition—Whether by waiver or acquiescence—Submission to jurisdiction—Applicant's knowledge of want of jurisdiction.]—LONDON CORPN. v. COX, No. 48, ante.

122. —— —— Defendant obtaining time to plead—On terms to plead issuably.]—MALLETT v. MILLWALL DOCK CO. (1871), 6 L. J. N. C. 106.

——.]—See, further, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 389, 390.

123. Statutory exclusion of prohibition—Necessity for express words.]—HAWES v. PAVELEY, No. 25, ante.

MEADOW AND ANCIENT PASTURE.

See AGRICULTURE.

MEASURE.

See MARKETS AND FAIRS; WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

MEASURE OF DAMAGES.

See DAMAGES.

MEAT.

See FOOD AND DRUGS; SALE OF GOODS.

MECHANICS.

See FACTORIES AND SHOPS; MASTER AND SERVANT; TRADE AND TRADE UNIONS; WORK AND LABOUR.

MEDICAL MEN AND MEDICAL OFFICERS.

See FACTORIES AND SHOPS; LOCAL GOVERNMENT; MASTER AND SERVANT; MEDICINE AND PHARMACY; PUBLIC HEALTH AND LOCAL ADMINISTRATION.

MEDICINE AND PHARMACY.

PAGE

PART I. PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS 541

SECT. 1. PHYSICIANS 541

SUB-SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 541

SUB-SECT. 2. THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS 541

A. In General 541

B. Grant of Licences, etc. 541

C. Officers and Fellows of the College 542

SECT. 2. SURGEONS 542

SUB-SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 542

SUB-SECT. 2. THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS 543

PART II. THE GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL AND SIMILAR BODIES IN THE DOMINIONS 543

SECT. 1. THE GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL 543

SUB-SECT. 1. CONSTITUTION 543

SUB-SECT. 2. FUNCTIONS AND POWERS 543

A. The Medical Register 543

B. Disciplinary Powers 543

(a) Erasure of Name from Register for Misconduct 543

i. Nature of Misconduct 543

ii. Discretion of Council 544

iii. Notice of Intention to Erase 545

(b) Who May Take Part in Disciplinary Proceedings 545

(c) Procedure on and after Disciplinary Inquiry 545

(d) Restoration of Name to Register 545

C. The British Pharmacopœia 545

SECT. 2. SIMILAR BODIES IN THE DOMINIONS 545

PART III. MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS 546

SECT. 1. QUALIFICATIONS 546

SUB-SECT. 1. EXAMINATION FOR QUALIFICATIONS 546

SUB-SECT. 2. PROOF OF QUALIFICATIONS 546

SUB-SECT. 3. COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PRACTITIONERS 546

SUB-SECT. 4. ADMISSION OF WOMEN 546

SECT. 2. WHO MAY PRACTISE 547

SECT. 3. RESPONSIBILITY 547

SUB-SECT. 1. CIVIL RESPONSIBILITY 547

A. Implied Undertaking as to Possession of Knowledge and Skill 547

B. Degree of Skill or Knowledge Required 548

C. Liability for Negligence 548

D. Who May Sue 549

E. Essentials of Liability 549

F. Responsibility in Cases of Lunatics 549

G. Responsibility in Case of Operations 549

H. Liability of Hospitals and Public Institutions 550

SUB-SECT. 2. CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY 550

PAGE

SECT. 4. RECOVERY OF CHARGES 550
SUB-SECT. 1. REGISTRATION AS CONDITION PRECEDENT TO RIGHT TO SUE . . 550
SUB-SECT. 2. REGISTERED PRACTITIONERS 551
A. In General 551
B. Gratuitous Services 552
C. Services by Unqualified Assistant 552
SUB-SECT. 3. UNREGISTERED PRACTITIONERS 552
SUB-SECT. 4. APOTHECARIES 552
SECT. 5. PRIVILEGES AND EXEMPTIONS 552
SECT. 6. THE PRACTICE OF ANATOMY 553
SECT. 7. UNQUALIFIED PERSONS 553
SUB-SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 553
SUB-SECT. 2. PROCEEDINGS AGAINST UNQUALIFIED PERSONS 553
A. In General 553
B. Wilfully and Falsely Pretending, etc. 554
(a) Question of Law or Fact 554
(b) Wilful and False Pretence 554
(c) Assumption of Title of Doctor 555
(d) Assumption of Title of Surgeon 555
SUB-SECT. 3. RECOVERY OF CHARGES BY UNQUALIFIED PERSONS 555
SECT. 8. NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE ACTS. See WORK AND LABOUR.

PART IV. APOTHECARIES 556
SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 556
SECT. 2. CERTIFICATE OF QUALIFICATION 556
SECT. 3. RECOVERY OF CHARGES 557
SECT. 4. PROCEEDINGS AGAINST UNQUALIFIED PERSONS 558
SUB-SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 558
SUB-SECT. 2. WHAT CONSTITUTES PRACTISING AS APOTHECARY 558

PART V. CHEMISTS AND DRUGGISTS 559
SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 559
SECT. 2. THE PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY 559
SECT. 3. CIVIL RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES 560
SECT. 4. OFFENCES 560
SECT. 5. PROCEEDINGS AGAINST UNREGISTERED PERSONS 560

PART VI. DENTISTS 561
SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 561
SECT. 2. THE DENTISTS' REGISTER 561
SECT. 3. STATUTORY OFFENCES 562
SECT. 4. RECOVERY OF CHARGES 564

PART VII. MIDWIVES. 564

PART VIII. VETERINARY SURGEONS 566

PART IX. DRUGS 567
SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 567
SECT. 2. SALE OF PROPRIETARY MEDICINES 567

PART X. POISONS 568
SECT. 1. IN GENERAL 568
SECT. 2. RESTRICTIONS ON SALE 568
SECT. 3. EXEMPTIONS FROM RESTRICTIONS 570
SECT. 4. POWERS OF PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY 570

Abortion	See CRIMINAL LAW.
Adulteration	,, FOOD AND DRUGS.
Animals	,, AGRICULTURE; ANIMALS.
Births, Registration of	,, REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.
Burial and Cremation	,, BURIAL.
Coroners	,, CORONERS.
Criminal Law	,, CRIMINAL LAW.
Deaths, Registration of	,, REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.
Drugs, Adulteration of	,, FOOD AND DRUGS.
Factories and Shops	,, FACTORIES AND SHOPS.
Food	,, FOODS AND DRUGS.
Goodwill	,, PARTNERSHIP; PERSONAL PROPERTY; SALE OF GOODS.
Hospitals	,, CHARITIES; PUBLIC HEALTH.
Husband and Wife	,, HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Inquests	See CORONERS.
Lunatics	,, LUNATICS.
Medical Officers of Health	,, LOCAL GOVERNMENT; PUBLIC HEALTH.
Merchandise Marks	,, TRADE MARKS.
Mines and Quarries	,, MINES.
Partnership	,, PARTNERSHIP.
Paupers	,, POOR LAW.
Public Health	,, PUBLIC HEALTH.
Public Officers' Protection	,, LIMITATION OF ACTIONS; PUBLIC AUTHORITIES.
Restrictive Covenants	,, TRADE AND TRADE UNIONS.
Servants	,, MASTER AND SERVANT.
Trade Unions	,, TRADE AND TRADE UNIONS.
Weights and Measures	,, WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Part I.—Physicians and Surgeons.

SECT. 1.—PHYSICIANS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

Who may practise as physician.]—See, now, Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 2, 6.

1. Practising without licence — Whether indictable offence.]—ANON. (1654), Sty. 433; 82 E. R. 839.

Right to sue for fees.]—See Part III., Sect. 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS.

A. In General.

2. Power to make bye-laws regulating admission of fellows.]—A doctor of physic, who has been licenced by the College of Physicians to practise physic in London & within seven miles, cannot claim as a matter of right to be examined by the College in order to his being admitted a fellow of the College. The College, who have power by their charter, confirmed by Act of Parliament, to make bye-laws, have made bye-laws respecting the qualifications of persons to be admitted into the College; by them it is ordained that no person shall be admitted into the class of candidates for admission into the College, unless he has taken a degree of M.D. at Oxford, Cambridge, or Dublin; except in two cases; in one of those cases, the president may propose, once in every other year, a doctor of physic of a certain standing, & if he be approved by the College he may be admitted a fellow; in the other, any fellow may propose a doctor of physic of a certain age & standing, & if approved at certain meetings he may be admitted a fellow:—Held: these were reasonable bye-laws. R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS (1797), 7 Term Rep. 282; 101 E. R. 976.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Saddlers' Co. (1863), 10 H. L. Cas. 404.

Power to relax bye-laws.]—See No. 6, post.

3. Books not liable to inspection — By non-members.]—R. v. WEST (circa 1748), cited in 1 Wils. at p. 240; 95 E. R. 596.

Right to sue in corporate name.]—See CORPORATIONS, Vol. XI., p. 280, Nos. 107, 112.

B. Grant of Licences, etc.

4. Power to grant licences.]—ANON. (1701), 12 Mod. Rep. 602; 88 E. R. 1518.

5. —— Grounds for granting.]—The College of Physicians are obliged, in conformity to the trust & confidence placed in them by the Crown & the public, to admit all that are fit; & to reject all that are unfit. For under the reason & spirit, & true construction of this charter & this Act of Parliament, no person ought to be suffered to practise physic, but such only as have skill & ability, & have diligently applied themselves to the study, & are well grounded in the knowledge of it: &, on the other hand, all persons who are so qualified, & have bestowed their time & money & labour, in the proper studies that tend to such qualifications, have a right to be admitted to exercise & practise their profession; & the public have also a right to the assistance of such a person, who has by his labour & studies rendered himself capable of serving the public by giving a. Restoration of name to college roll.]—Applt. having learned there was dissatisfaction among miners at a certain place with regard to their physician, wrote to a miner previously known to him if he could get the recognition of the union as their physician, offering his friend some remuneration in case of success:—Held: this did not warrant erasure of applt.'s name from college roll, & his name was ordered to be reinstated thereon.—Re BECHTEL (1909), 10 W. L. R. 473.—CAN.

---

PART I. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 1.

b. College of Physicians — Power to grant degrees.]—The charter of the College of Physicians empowered the President & Fellows to make such statutes, decrees, & ordinances for the regulation of the faculty of physic as to them might seem necessary, & to grant testimonials to all candidates presenting themselves for examination, as they might deem entitled to receive them:—Held: this did not imply the power to grant degrees.—A.-G. v. KING & QUEEN'S COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS IN IRELAND (1863), 16 Ir. Jur. 362.—IR.

Sect. 1.—Physicians: Sub-sect. 2, B. & C. Sect. 2: Sub-sects. 1 & 2. Part II. Sect. 1: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A. & B. (a) i.]

them proper advice & directions. It is true, that the judgment & discretion of determining upon this skill, ability, learning, & sufficiency to exercise & practise this profession is trusted to the College of Physicians; & this ct. will not take it from them, nor interrupt them in the due & proper exercise of it. But their conduct in the exercise of this trust thus committed to them ought to be fair, candid, & unprejudiced; not arbitrary, capricious, or biassed; much less, warped by resentment, or personal dislike. . . . Objections to persons applying for licences to practise physic may be grounded on a variety of reasons; & the ct. are to judge of such objections & the reasons of them. If they are insufficient, the ct. may grant a mandamus (LORD MANSFIELD, C.J.).—R. v. ASKEW (1768), 4 Burr. 2186; 98 E. R. 139.

Annotations:—Refd. R. v. College of Physicians (1797), 7 Term Rep. 282. Mentd. Rutter v. Chapman (1841), 8 M. & W. 1.

6. —— To compound medicines prescribed.]—The College of Physicians having, under their charter & divers Acts of Parliament, power to grant licences for the practice of physic, passed bye-laws restraining the licentiates of the college from selling medicines. Afterwards the Society of Apothecaries was established, & by an Act of Parliament passed in 1815, the right of supplying medicines in medical cases was vested exclusively in the Society of Apothecaries, & persons qualified by them, saving the rights of the College of Physicians. The College of Physicians having afterwards resolved to grant licences to practise physic to persons who should not be restricted by any bye-law from supplying medicines to their patients, an information was filed at the relation of the Society of Apothecaries to restrain them:—Held: the information could not be sustained, it being too doubtful whether the Act of 1815 had taken away the power of the College to relax its bye-laws in that respect, & it being clear that Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), had not done so.—A.-G. v. ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS (1861), 1 John. & H. 561; 30 L. J. Ch. 757; 4 L. T. 356; 7 Jur. N. S. 511; 9 W. R. 590; 70 E. R. 868.

Annotation:—Mentd. Kennedy v. Broun (1863), 13 C. B. N. S. 677.

Right to licence—Mandamus.]—See No. 5, ante.

7. Power to grant diplomas in physic — Including surgery, medicine, & midwifery.]—The Royal College of Physicians of London is, & was at the passing of Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), a medical corpn. qualified to grant independent diplomas in physic, including therein the practice of medicine, surgery, & midwifery.—ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS v. GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL (1893), 62 L. J. Q. B. 329; 68 L. T. 496; 57 J. P. 519; 9 T. L. R. 330; 37 Sol. Jo. 342; 5 R. 323.

C. Officers and Fellows of the College.

8. Presidency of College — Perpetuity of.]—The successor to the President of the College of Physicians may sue out a sci. fa. on a judgment recovered by his predecessor.—ATKINS v. GARDENER (1607), Cro. Jac. 159; 1 Roll. Abr. 515; 79 E. R. 140.

9. Fellowship of College — Admission to—Mandamus.]—A mandamus will not lie to the College of Physicians to admit an honorary fellow of the College.

No mandamus lies, for it is no place of profit, no way advantageous to him, nor in the least relating to the Govt. It is a thing spontaneously raised among themselves, & like to the Inns of Court, which are voluntary societies (PEMBERTON, C.J.).—R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS (1681), 2 Show. 178; 89 E. R. 874.

10. —— —— Who entitled.]—R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS (1771), 5 Burr. 2740; 98 E. R. 437.

11. —— —— ——.]—R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS (1797), No. 2, ante.

12. —— Restoration to—Mandamus.]—GODDARD'S CASE (1660), 1 Lev. 19; 1 Sid. 29; 83 E. R. 276.

Annotations:—Refd. Stamp's Case (1661), 1 Sid. 40; Middleton's Case (1663), 1 Sid. 169.

See, generally, CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., pp. 276 et seq.

13. Treasurer of College—Right to sue—Proof of appointment.]—In an action on 14 Geo. 3, c. 49, by the Treasurer of the College of Physicians, to prove his right to sue in that capacity, it is enough to put in the annals of the comitia majora recording his appointment, & to show that he afterwards acted as treasurer, without calling anyone who was present at the election.—BUDD v. FOULKS (1813), 3 Camp. 404; 170 E. R. 1426, N. P.

SECT. 2.—SURGEONS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, now, Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48).

14. Meaning of "surgeon."]—(1) A person having a certificate from the College of Surgeons cannot charge for attending a patient in a fever, unless he have also a certificate from the Apothecaries' co.

(2) An apothecary is not merely to make up medicines, he is to have a certain portion of competent skill for the administering of them (PARK, J.).

(3) A chemist may prepare & vend but not prescribe or administer medicine (BEST, C.J.).

(4) The business of a surgeon is, properly speaking, with external ailments & injuries of the limbs (BEST, C.J.).—ALLISON v. HAYDON (1828), 4 Bing. 619; 3 C. & P. 246; 1 Moo. & P. 588; 6 L. J. O. S. C. P. 144; 130 E. R. 907.

15. Person acting as surgeon—In position of salaried assistant to surgeon—Whether carrying on profession of surgeon.]—M. became assistant to H. & P., surgeons at N., & entered into a bond which recited that he was taken into their employment on the terms "that he should not at any time set up or carry on the business or profession of a surgeon" in N., or within ten miles thereof. The condition of the bond was that M. "shall not at any time here-after directly or indirectly, & either alone or in partnership with or as assistant to any other person or persons carry on the profession or business of a surgeon" in N. or within ten miles thereof. The partnership having been dissolved, both partners continued to practise in N., & H. engaged M. as his assistant at a salary. P. brought his action to restrain M. from acting as such:—Held: there had been a breach, for that

---

PART I. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 1.

c. Faculty of Physicians & Surgeons of Glasgow—Disciplinary powers.]—GLASGOW UNIVERSITY v. FACULTY OF SURGEONS (1840), 7 Cl. & Fin. 958.—SCOT.

d. College of Physicians & Surgeons of Alberta—Status.]—The College of Physicians & Surgeons of Alberta is at least a quasi-public institution, not brought into existence exclusively for the protection of its members to their professional capacity, but also indirectly as a safeguard to the health & welfare of the people of the province generally.—PALMER SCHOOL & INFIRMARY OF CHIROPRACTIC v. EDMONTON CITY, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 6.—CAN.

a person acting as a surgeon was carrying on the profession of a surgeon, although he only acted as salaried assistant to a surgeon who carried it on for his own benefit.—PALMER v. MALLET (1887), 36 Ch. D. 411; 57 L. J. Ch. 226; 58 L. T. 64; 36 W. R. 460; 3 T. L. R. 760, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Robertson v. Willmott (1909), 25 T. L. R. 681.

Whether a "trader" within Bankruptcy Acts.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., pp. 22, 23, Nos. 158–161.

Right to sue for fees.]—See Part III., Sect. 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.

16. Objects of the College.]—The College has two main objects, each of great importance, in fact, it would be difficult to say which of the two main functions imposed on & discharged by the College is the more important. Neither can be considered as merely subsidiary to the other. The one may be shortly described as the promotion of the science of surgery. The other is the promotion & encouragement of the practice of surgery, including the promotion of the interests of those practising, or about to practise, surgery as a profession, & also including the examination of students & others to qualify for practice or honours in surgery or kindred subjects (ROMER, L.J.).—Re ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND, [1899] 1 Q. B. 871; 68 L. J. Q. B. 613; 80 L. T. 611; 47 W. R. 452; 15 T. L. R. 317; 43 Sol. Jo. 416; sub nom. ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND v. INLAND REVENUE COMRS., 4 Tax Cas. 344, C. A.

17. Diploma of College—Whether a public document.]—Semble: a diploma of the College of Surgeons is not a public document.—R. v. HODGSON (1856), Dears. & B. 3; 25 L. J. M. C. 78; 27 L. T. O. S. 144; 20 J. P. 309; 2 Jur. N. S. 453; 4 W. R. 509; 7 Cox, C. C. 122; 169 E. R. 891, C. C. R.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Moah (1858), Dears. & B. 550.

18. Licentiate of College—Right to practise as surgeon.]—APOTHECARIES CO. v. RYAN (1834), cited in 4 Tyr. at p. 327.

Annotation:—Refd. Simpson v. Ralfe (1834), 4 Tyr. 325.

See, now, Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), s. 2.

Part II.—The General Medical Council and Similar Bodies in the Dominions.

SECT. 1.—THE GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL.

SUB-SECT. 1.—CONSTITUTION.

Membership.]—See Medical Acts, 1858 (c. 90), ss. 3, 8, 47, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 7, 8, 10; Medical Council Act, 1862 (c. 91), s. 1.

Meetings & committees.]—See Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 9, 12.

Officers.]—See Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 9, 10.

Expenses.]—See Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 13.

Branch councils.]—See Medical Acts, 1858 (c. 90), ss. 6, 10, 11, 27; 1886 (c. 48), s. 8 (2).

SUB-SECT. 2.—FUNCTIONS AND POWERS.

A. The Medical Register.

See, generally, Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), ss. 10, 11, 14, 15, 16, 25, 26, 27, 30, 45, sched. D.

19. Copy of register—Admissibility in evidence—Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 27.]—Semble: a book purporting to be a copy of the "Medical Register" pursuant to above act, & professing to be "published & sold at the office of the General Council of Medical Education & Registration," is admissible under above sect.—PEDGRIFT v. CHEVALLIER (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 246; 29 L. J. M. C. 225; 2 L. T. 360; 25 J. P. 181; 6 Jur. N. S. 1341; 141 E. R. 1160.

20. Entry on register—Right of qualified person to be entered.]—R. v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION, No. 23, post.

21. Erasure of entries fraudulently or incorrectly made—Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 26.]—R. v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION, No. 23, post.

Erasure of names—Powers of Council.]—See Nos. 22–24, post; Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29.

B. Disciplinary Powers.

(a) Erasure of Name from Register for Misconduct.

i. Nature of Misconduct.

See, generally, Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29.

22. Misconduct occurring before registration.]—O., a medical practitioner, having previously practised in the service of charitable institutions, applied after the passing of Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), to have his name entered in the register, sending as voucher a foreign diploma, & his name was duly entered. Afterwards on information sent to the general council, as to previous misconduct on O.'s part in reference to the diploma, notice was sent him, that his name would be struck out of the register on a given day, which was next day, & O. had no opportunity of showing cause. On application for a mandamus to restore his name: Held: he was entitled to reasonable notice so as to show cause against his name being erased, & rule absolute accordingly.—Ex p. ORGAN (1860), 24 J. P. 309; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. R. v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION (1861), 3 E. & E. 525.

23. ----.]—(1) Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 26, applies to cases in which the registration has taken place under the dispensing power conferred on the council by sect. 46, as well as to the registration by the registrar under sect. 15.

(2) Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29, extends to conduct of which the practitioner has been guilty before registration.

(3) Under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 15, it appears that any duly qualified person is entitled to be registered without regard to his character if he pays the proper fee & produces to the registrar sufficient evidence of his qualification (CROMPTON, J.).—R. v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION (1861), 3 E. & E. 525; 30 L. J. Q. B. 201; 3 L. T. 692; 25 J. P. 693; 7 Jur. N. S. 798; 9 W. R. 413; 121 E. R. 539.

Sect. 1.—The general medical council: Sub-sect. 2, B. (a) i., ii. & iii., (b), (c) & (d), & C. Sect. 2.]

24. What amounts to "infamous" conduct.]—(1) If it is shown that a medical man, in the pursuit of his profession, has done something with regard to it which would be reasonably regarded as disgraceful or dishonourable by his professional brethren of good repute & competency, then it is open to the General Medical Council to say that he has been "guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect," within Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29.

(2) A complaint against a medical practitioner was made by the Medical Defence Union. P. was a member of this union, & was afterwards, on May 3, elected a member of the General Medical Council, under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90). On the same day he sent a notice of his resignation as member of the Medical Defence Union, but by the articles of that union, the resignation did not take effect until two months afterwards. The inquiry into the complaint against the medical practitioner was held on May 28, at which P. took part as a member of the General Medical Council:—Held: P. was not disqualified from taking part in the inquiry.—ALLINSON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, [1894] 1 Q. B. 750; 63 L. J. Q. B. 534; 70 L. T. 471; 58 J. P. 542; 42 W. R. 289; 10 T. L. R. 304; 9 R. 217, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Pratt v. British Medical Assocn., [1919] 1 K. B. 244. Refd Hill v. Clifford, Clifford v. Timms, Clifford v. Phillips, [1907] 2 Ch. 236; Re A Solicitor, Ex p. Law Soc., [1912] 1 K. B. 302. As to (2) Refd. R. v. Burton, Ex p. Young, [1897] 2 Q. B. 468; R. v. London County JJ., Ex p. South Metropolitan Gas Co. (1907), 98 L. T. 519; Law v. Chartered Institute of Patent Agents, [1919] 2 Ch. 276. Generally, Mentd. R. v. Howard, [1902] 2 K. B. 363; R. v. Bath Compensation Authority, [1925] 1 K. B. 685.

ii. Discretion of Council.

See, generally, Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29.

25. Sole discretion of Council.]—By Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29, if a medical practitioner shall, after due inquiry, be judged by the General Council of Medical Education & Registration of the United Kingdom to have been "guilty of infamous conduct in any professional respect," they may, if they see fit, erase his name from the register. Where a medical officer has been so adjudged guilty by the General Council, & his name erased from the register, a mandamus will not lie to restore it.—Ex p. LA MERT (1863), 4 B. & S. 582; 3 New Rep. 120; 33 L. J. Q. B. 69; 9 L. T. 410; 12 W. R. 201; 122 E. R. 578.

Annotation:—Apprvd. Allbutt v. General Council of Medical Education & Registration (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 400.

26. ——.]—ALLBUTT v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 28, post.

27. Proper exercise of discretion — Whether mandamus to restore will lie.]—Ex p. LA MERT, No. 25, ante.

28. —— ——.]—(1) If the Council, acting bonâ fide & after due inquiry, have adjudged a medical practitioner to have been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect, the ct. has no jurisdiction to review their decision by granting a mandamus to restore the erasure.

(2) The publication of the minutes of the Council, containing a report of their proceedings, comprising a statement that the name of a specified medical practitioner has been removed from the register on the ground that, in the opinion of the Council, he has been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect, is, if the report be accurate, & published bonâ fide & without malice, privileged.—ALLBUTT v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 400; 58 L. J. Q. B. 606; 61 L. T. 585; 54 J. P. 36; 37 W. R. 771; 5 T. L. R. 651, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Partridge v. General Council of Medical Education & Registration (1892), 57 J. P. 4; Pratt v. British Medical Assocn., [1919] 1 K. B. 244. Generally, Mentd. Macdougall v. Knight (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 1; Mangena v. Wright, [1909] 2 K. B. 958.

29. —— ——.]—Ex p. BYNOE (1900), Times, June 21, D. C.

30. —— Injunction to restrain erasure.]—(1) The General Council of Medical Education & Registration, acting under the powers of Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), held an inquiry in which they adjudged a medical practitioner to be guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect, & removed his name from the register of medical practitioners. The proceedings were instituted by the managing body of a co. called the Medical Defence Union, whose object was to protect the characters of medical practitioners & to suppress & prosecute unauthorised practitioners. Two out of twenty-nine persons who held the inquiry were members of the Medical Defence Union, but not of the managing body of the Union. In an action to restrain the erasure & publication of the resolutions relating to pltf.'s conduct:—Held: the two members had not such an interest in the matter in question as to disqualify them from taking part in the inquiry; & the ct. refused to interfere with the decision of the Council.

(2) The General Medical Council cannot, strictly speaking, take evidence. They cannot take evidence on oath. They cannot take evidence which we as lawyers have to consider as evidence. They have statements made before them in support of any complaint which is made, & also they have statements made on the other side by the medical man against whom the complaint is made; & if it is once established that the complaint made before them does involve a matter in respect of which they can exercise the jurisdiction given to them by Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29, then I think we ought not to look at the evidence, or in any way consider whether they have arrived at a right conclusion (COTTON, L.J.).

(3) The only thing which the cts. can investigate when proceedings of the General Medical Council of this character are brought before them is whether the domestic forum has acted honestly within its jurisdiction (BOWEN, L.J.).

(4) I trust that in future the General Medical Council will think it reasonable advice that those who sit on these inquiries should cease to occupy a position of subscribers to a society which brings them before the council (BOWEN, L.J.).—LEESON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION (1889), 43 Ch. D. 366; 59 L. J. Ch. 233; 61 L. T. 849; 38 W. R. 303, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Partridge v. General Council of Medical Education & Registration (1892), 57 J. P. 4; Allinson v. General Council of Medical Education & Registration, [1894] 1 Q. B. 750. Refd. R. v. Gaisford, [1892] 1 Q. B. 381; R. v. L. C. C., Ex p. Akkersdyk, Ex p. Fermenia, [1892] 1 Q. B. 190; R. v. L. C. C., Re Empire Theatre (1894), 71 L. T. 638; R. v. Burton, etc. Tunbridge Wells JJ. & Incorporated Law Soc., Ex p. Young (1897), 61 J. P. 727; R. v. London JJ., Ex p. South Metropolitan Gas Co. (1908), 98 L. T. 519; Law v. Chartered Institute of Patent Agents, [1919] 2 Ch. 276; Pratt v. British Medical Assocn., [1919] 1 K. B. 244; Thompson v. British Medical Assocn., New South Wales Branch, [1924] A. C. 764; Frome United Breweries Co. v. Bath JJ., [1926] A. C. 586. As to (2) & (3) Consd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1921] 1 A. C. 631. Generally, Mentd. Ex p. Hopkins (1891), 61 L. J. Q. B. 240; R. v. McKenzie, [1892] 2 Q. B. 519; R. v. Fraser (1893), 9 T. L. R. 613; R. v. Huggins (1895), 43 W. R. 329; R. v. Howard, [1902] 2 K. B. 363.

31. Erroneous exercise of discretion—Liability to action—Mala fides.]—Pltf.'s name had been entered on the dentists' register in respect of a diploma in dental surgery conferred upon him by the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland. Such diploma was afterwards withdrawn on the ground that pltf. had advertised in connection with his profession in breach of an undertaking not to do so given by him when his diploma was granted. Defts., the General Council, on being informed of such withdrawal, & its cause, without calling on pltf. for explanation, directed the registrar to remove pltf.'s name from the dentists' register. On an application for a mandamus to restore his name, it was held that the defts. had acted erroneously, & that his name must be restored. Pltf. then brought his action for wrongfully removing his name from the register:—Held: the functions exercised by the General Council under Dentists Act, 1878 (c. 33), ss. 11, 13, respectively being discretionary, not merely ministerial, whether they acted under sect. 13 or under sect. 11, sub-sect. 5, only, they were not liable to an action for the erroneous exercise of their discretion in the absence of mala fides—PARTRIDGE v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION OF UNITED KINGDOM (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 90; 59 L. J. Q. B. 475; 62 L. T. 787; 55 J. P. 4; 38 W. R. 729; 6 T. L. R. 313, C. A.; subsequent proceedings (1892), 57 J.P. 4, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1921] 1 A. C. 631.

iii. Notice of Intention to Erase.

See, generally, Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 29.

32. Right of practitioner to notice.]—Ex p. ORGAN, No. 22, ante.

33. Erasure without notice — Whether mandamus to restore will lie.]—Ex p. ORGAN, No. 22, ante.

(b) Who May Take Part in Disciplinary Proceedings.

34. Subscriber to society conducting prosecution.]—LEESON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 30, ante.

35. Member of society conducting prosecution.]—LEESON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 30, ante.

36. ——.]—ALLINSON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 24, ante.

(c) Procedure on and after Disciplinary Inquiry.

See, generally, Standing Orders of the General Medical Council, 1908, ch. xiv.

37. Publication of grounds for erasure of name from register—Privilege.]—ALLBUTT v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 28, ante.

—— Whether restrained.]—See No. 30, ante.

38. Power of Council to take evidence—On oath.]—LEESON v. GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION & REGISTRATION, No. 30, ante.

39. Rehearing—Discretion of Council.]—Ex p. BYNOE (1900), Times, June 21, D. C.

Notice of intention to erase name—Right of practitioner to.]—See No. 22, ante.

(d) Restoration of Name to Register.

Mandamus to restore.]—See Nos. 22, 25, 29, ante.

C. The British Pharmacopœia.

Publication.]—See Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 54; Medical Act, 1862 (c. 91), ss. 2, 3.

As to compounding medicines otherwise than in accordance with Pharmacopœia, see FOOD & DRUGS, Vol. XXV., p. 90, Nos. 158-161.

SECT. 2.—SIMILAR BODIES IN THE DOMINIONS.

See Cases infra.

PART II. SECT. 2.

e. Erasure of name from register—Notice of intention to erase—Erasure without notice—Whether mandamus to restore will lie.]—R. v. MEDICAL BOARD OF VICTORIA (1867), 4 W. W. & A'B. 139.—AUS.

f. —— —— —— ——.]—R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF ONTARIO, Re MCCONNELL (1879), 44 U. C. R. 146.—CAN.

g. —— Nature of misconduct — Fraud.]—Ex p. BOURCHIER (1892), 13 N. S. W. L. R. 105; 8 N. S. W. W. N. 137.—AUS.

h. —— —— What amounts to disgraceful conduct.]—Re WASHINGTON (1893), 23 O. R. 299.—CAN.

k. —— —— ——.]—Re CRICHTON (1906), 8 O. W. R. 841; 13 O. L. R. 271.—CAN.

l. —— —— ——.]—Re CHERNIAK & COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF ONTARIO (1920), 46 O. L. R. 435; 51 D. L. R. 522; 33 Can. Crim. Cas. 43; 17 O. W. N. 239.—CAN.

m. —— —— ——.]—HUNT v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF SASKATCHEWAN, [1925] 4 D. L. R. 834; [1925] 3 W. W. R. 758.—CAN.

n. —— —— ——.]—The fact that a physician made use of the Abrams machine in the diagnosis & treatment of disease held not to render him guilty of unbecoming or improper conduct within Medical Profession Act, R. S. S., 1920, s. 40.—Re MEDICAL PROFESSION ACT, Re CAREFOOT, [1926] 1 D. L. R. 236; [1926] 1 W. W. R. 49; 45 Can. Crim. Cas. 52; 20 Sask. L. R. 202.—CAN.

o. —— ——.]—Re TELFORD (1905), 11 B. C. R. 355; 2 W. L. R. 405.—CAN.

p. ——.]—Re DYAS (1908), 5 E. L. R. 545.—CAN.

q. Entry on register — Right of qualified person to be entered.]—PETERSON v. HARDING (1860), 9 N. B. R. (4 All.) 583.—CAN.

r. —— ——.]—Re SINCLAIR (1904), 7 Terr. L. R. 178.—CAN.

t. —— —— Discretion of Registrar-General.]—Re MCKINNON, [1918] N. Z. L. R. 566.—N.Z.

a. Disciplinary powers — Whether mandamus will lie to compel exercise.]—Under Medical Act, 1898, s. 36, the council may hold an inquiry into a charge of unprofessional conduct made against a registered medical practitioner:—Held: mandamus did not lie to compel the council to hold an inquiry.—Re MEDICAL ACT, Ex p. INVERARITY (1903), 10 B. C. R. 268.—CAN.

b. —— Appeal — Duty of appellate court.]—Where a tribunal such as is constituted by the Medical Act, after full inquiry, absolves the accused, an appellate tribunal should not reverse that decision unless the findings of fact are clearly wrong, or unless, the facts being clear, the tribunal of first instance has applied a standard of conduct which, as between the profession & the public, should not be recognised by the cts.—Re HANINGTON (1907), 6 W. L. R. 37.—CAN.

c. —— Proceedings on inquiry.]—Re STINSON & COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF ONTARIO (1912), 27 O. L. R. 565; 4 O. W. N. 627; 10 D. L. R. 699.—CAN.

d. —— ——.]—In deciding whether a member is guilty of unbecoming or improper conduct, the Medical Council must act as a ct. should act in the exercise of a judicial discretion, that is, not according to private opinion, but on the evidence & according to the principles of reason & justice.—HUNT v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF SASKATCHEWAN, [1925] 4 D. L. R. 834; [1925] 3 W. W. R. 758.—CAN.

aa. —— ——.]—Re MEDICAL PROFESSION ACT, Re CAREFOOT, [1926] 1 D. L. R. 236; [1926] 1 W. W. R. 49; 45 Can. Crim. Cas. 52; 20 Sask. L. R. 202.—CAN.

bb. Erasure of qualification from register—Proper exercise of discretion—Whether mandamus to restore will lie.]—When the registrar of the Branch Medical Council inserts in, & afterwards, by order of such Branch Council, & without notice to the party registered, strikes out of the register the description of a qualification, which the evidence produced to the registrar by the claimant did not show that he had obtained; the ct. will not, by mandamus, compel the registrar to reinsert such description.—R. v. STEELE (1861), 13 I. C. L. R. 398.—IR.

Part III.—Medical Practitioners.

SECT. 1.—QUALIFICATIONS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—EXAMINATION FOR QUALIFICATIONS.

See Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), ss. 19, 20, 21, 22; Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 2, 3, 4, 5, 19.

40. Who entitled to act as examining body—Royal College of Physicians.]—ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS v. GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL, No. 7, ante.

——.]—See, also, Medical Act, 1886, c. 48, s. 3 (1).

SUB-SECT. 2.—PROOF OF QUALIFICATIONS.

41. Proof of University diploma—Sufficiency.]—The mere production in ct. of a diploma of Doctor of Physic under the seal of one of the Universities is not in itself evidence to show that the party named in the diploma is entitled to that degree.—MOISES v. THORNTON (1799), 8 Term Rep. 303; 3 Esp. 4; 101 E. R. 1402.

Annotations:—Distd. Smith v. Taylor (1805), 1 Bos. & P. N. R. 196; Walmsley v. Abbott (1824), 5 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 62. Refd. Henry v. Adey (1803), 3 East, 221; R. v. Bathwick (1831), 9 L. J. O. S. M. C. 103; Cannell v. Curtis (1835), 2 Bing. N. C. 228.

42. —— ——.]—A document was produced in evidence, purporting to be a diploma from the University of St. Andrews, & a witness was called, who stated that he went to a place which he was told was St. Andrews, taking with him the diploma, where he had seen three persons, whom, he was informed, were three of the professors, one of whom was the librarian, who acknowledged their signatures to that diploma. He was also shown, by the librarian, the Book of Acts, in which was an entry, of which he produced an examined copy, conferring the degree of M.D. on pltf., as also the seal of the University, corresponding with that on the diploma:—Held: that was sufficient evidence of the conferring of the degree by the University of St. Andrews.—COLLINS v. CARNEGIE (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 695; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 703; 3 L. J. K. B. 196; 110 E. R. 1373.

Annotation:—Expld. M'Gahey v. Alston (1836), Tyr. & Gr. 981.

SUB-SECT. 3.—COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PRACTITIONERS.

See Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), ss. 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17; Standing Orders of the General Medical Council, 1908, ch. xiii. (4).

43. Holder of foreign diploma—Practising under title "M.D."—Criminal liability.]—A., a druggist, had attended a patient in the capacity of a medical man, & sent in to him a bill for such attendances, headed, "Mr. P. to Thomas Andrews, M.D.," setting out a variety of charges for attendance & medicine, etc. He subsequently wrote a letter signed, "Thomas Andrews, M.D.," threatening legal proceedings unless the bill were paid, & he gave a receipt for the bill when paid, signing it in the same way. There was a coloured lamp over his shop door, on three sides of which the words & letters "Thomas Andrews, M.D." were painted. It appeared that he had obtained by the payment of a sum of money a diploma of doctor of medicine from the University of Philadelphia in the United States of America, but that he had never been in America, or studied, or passed any examination, for such degree, & he was not registered under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90). On appeal, from a conviction by justices under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40, for having unlawfully, wilfully, & falsely taken & used the name, title, description & addition of "M.D.," & "thereby implying that he was then registered under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), whereas he was not so registered," etc.:—Held: the conviction was right, & must be affirmed.—ANDREWS v. STYRAP (1872), 26 L. T. 704.

Annotation:—Consd. Hunter v. Clare, [1899] 1 Q. B. 635.

44. —— Whether a "practitioner"—Within Vaccination Act, 1867 (c. 84), s. 16.]—CROMACK v. BRENNAND (1873), 37 J. P. Jo. 276.

SUB-SECT. 4.—ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

See Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 15; Medical Act, 1876 (c. 41), s. 1.

PART III. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 1.

g. Whether mandamus will lie to compel examination.]—The censors, etc., of the College of Surgeons having refused to examine a candidate, upon the ground that the person to whom he served his apprenticeship was not a regularly educated surgeon, as he had only received a diploma from the college of Glasgow, & had kept an apothecary's shop, the ct. refused to grant a mandamus to compel the examination of the candidate, the censors, etc., not having acted capriciously, partially, or on false principles in his rejection.—R. v. ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND (1828), 1 Hud. & B. 475; 1 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 211.—IR.

PART III. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 2.

h. Evidence of acting as doctor—Sufficiency.]—Where in an action for libel, pltf. set out with an inducement of character as "a physician & surgeon, licensed to practise according to the laws of the Province":—Held: proof that he acted as such was insufficient without showing a license.—HAMILTON v. BURWELL (1832), 2 O. S. 339.—CAN.

k. Certificate of college registrar.]—Held: pltf. had sufficiently proved his status as a registered medical practitioner by the production of a certificate under the hand of the registrar of the College of Physicians & Surgeons of Saskatchewan, which expressly stated that he was registered, & by the production by the registrar of the de facto register of the college, upon which pltf.'s name appeared.—SANDWITH v. COWPER & GARRIOCH (1911), 17 W. L. R. 1; 4 Sask. L. R. 12.—CAN.

l. Entry in medical register.]—In an action for libel brought by a medical practitioner against defts. for publishing a statement that he had no claim to the title of "Dr.," not having a doctor's degree:—Held: the entry of pltf.'s name & degree in the register kept under Medical Practitioners Registration Act, 1860, was sufficient evidence that pltf. held the degree.—MIRBACH v. MCHARDY (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 248.—N.Z.

m. Parol evidence.]—A medical practitioner, suing for his fees, gave evidence that he was a duly licensed medical practitioner:—Held: oral evidence did not amount to the proof that he was duly licensed. He must either produce the licence itself or the certificate referred to in Act 34 of 1891, s. 56.—NQUMBELA v. CULLIGAN (1903), 20 S. C. 269; 13 C. T. R. 489.—S. AF.

PART III. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.

n. Right to practise outside Province in which licenced.]—Held: pltf., who had a diploma from Lower Canada, was entitled to practise in the Upper Province, subject to any local laws respecting the profession there.—SHAVER v. LINTON (1862), 22 U. C. R. 177.—CAN.

o. Registration in Great Britain—Necessity for registration in colony—Whether mandamus to register will issue.]—A medical practitioner, registered in England under the Imperial Medical Act, is entitled, without examination, to practise in Ontario, on payment of the proper fees; & a mandamus will therefore be granted to the proper authorities to admit him to registration on payment of such fees.—R. v. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS OF ONTARIO, Re MALLORY (1879), 44 U. C. R. 564.—CAN.

p. —— ——.]—A medical practitioner registered in Great Britain, to entitle him to practise in this Province, must be registered under R. S. O. 1877, s. 21.—SKIRVING v. ROSS (1880), 31 C. P. 423.—CAN.

SECT. 2.—WHO MAY PRACTISE.

See Part I., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 1, Sect. 2, sub-sect. 2; Part III., Sect. 1, ante.

SECT. 3.—RESPONSIBILITY.

SUB-SECT. 1.—CIVIL RESPONSIBILITY.

A. Implied Undertaking as to Possession of Knowledge and Skill.

45. Qualified practitioner.]—An action on the case lies against a surgeon for gross ignorance & want of skill in his profession as well as for negligence & carelessness to the detriment of a patient; though if the evidence be of negligence only; which was properly left to the jury & negatived by them; the ct. will not grant a new trial because the jury were directed that want of skill alone would not sustain the action.

A surgeon would be liable for crassa ignorantia, & would be justly responsible in damages for having rashly adventured upon the exercise of a profession without the ordinary qualification of skill, to the injury of a patient: yet the question did not arise upon the evidence in this case; for no want of skill was imputed to deft.; & therefore the opinion of the learned judge upon that point does not affect the merits of the verdict upon the evidence in the cause (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—SEARE v. PRENTICE (1807), 8 East, 347; 103 E. R. 376.

Annotation:—Refd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1920] 3 K. B. 163.

46. ——.]—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS, No. 57, post.

47. ——.]—A medical practitioner who undertakes the treatment of a patient owes a duty to the patient to use a fair & reasonable standard of care & competence in administering the treatment.—R. v. BATEMAN (1925), 94 L. J. K. B. 791; 133 L. T. 730; 89 J. P. 162; 41 T. L. R. 557; 69 Sol. Jo. 622; 28 Cox, C. C. 33; 19 Cr. App. Rep. 8, C. C. A.

48. —— Attending for reward.]—If a man applies to a surgeon to attend him in a disorder for reward, & the person treats him improperly, there is gross negligence & the surgeon is liable to an action; & the surgeon would also be liable for such negligence, if he undertook gratis to attend a sick person, because his situation implies skill in surgery; but if the patient applies to a man, of a different employment or occupation, for his gratuitous assistance, who either does not exert all his skill, or administers improper remedies to the best of his ability, such person is not liable. It would be attended with injurious consequences, if a gratuitous undertaking of this sort should subject the person who made it, & who acted to the best of his knowledge, to an action (HEATH, J.).—SHIELLS v. BLACKBURNE (1789), 1 Hy. Bl. 158; 126 E. R. 94.

Annotations:—Refd. Fish v. Kelly (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 194; Everett v. Griffiths, [1920] 3 K. B. 163. Mentd. Bourne v. Diggles (1814), 2 Chit. 311; Doorman v. Jenkins (1834), 2 Ad. & El. 256; Giblin v. McMullen (1869), 21 L. T. 214; Banbury v. Bank of Montreal, [1918] A. C. 626.

49. —— —— ——.]—HARMER v. CORNELIUS, No. 58, post.

50. —— Attending gratis.]—SHIELLS v. BLACKBURNE, No. 48, ante.

51. —— Implied undertaking to cure.]—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS, No. 57, post.

52. Unqualified person—Attending gratis.]—SHIELLS v. BLACKBURNE, No. 48, ante.

53. —— Acting as medical practitioner.]—A person not qualified, as not being a regular medical practitioner, but assuming to be, or to practise as such, & undertaking to treat another for a disease, is liable for injury caused by ignorant & improper treatment, e.g. giving an improper medicine, mercury, by which the patient is rendered worse instead of better, & is injured by the use of improper medicine.—RUDDOCK v. LOWE (1865), 4 F. & F. 519.

Annotation:—Refd. Jones v. Fay (1865), 4 F. & F. 525.

54. —— Druggist.]—If a person acts as medical practitioner he is liable as such although he is only a chemist.

In an action against a chemist & druggist upon an alleged retainer as a surgeon & apothecary to treat pltf. for a certain disorder, for which mercurial treatment was improper, the breach being negligent & ignorant treatment, by mercury:—Held: if deft. assumed to act as "a surgeon or apothecary," he was liable as such; but those words were immaterial, & might be rejected, the substance of the declaration being, that he undertook to treat pltf. for his disorder, & did so negligently or ignorantly; & mercurial treatment, in a case for which it was wholly unfit, was such negligence or ignorance as would sustain the action.—JONES v. FAY (1865), 4 F. & F. 525.

55. Want of proper skill in assistant—Liability of surgeon—Unqualified apprentice.]—(1) A surgeon is responsible for an injury done to a patient through the want of proper skill in his apprentice; but, in an action against him, pltf. must show that the injury was produced by such want of skill, & it is not to be inferred.

(2) If, from some accident or some variation in the frame of a particular individual, an injury happens, it is not a fault in the medical man (TINDAL, C.J.).—HANCKE v. HOOPER (1835), 7 C. & P. 81.

56. —— —— Nurse.]—In an action by a person, who had been a patient at a hospital, for maltreatment there by defts., two of the surgeons, it appearing that the alleged maltreatment was in the administration of a hot bath, which they had ordered, but which it was no part of their ordinary duty personally to direct & superintend, & at the actual administration of which they were not present:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to expect more than the usual & ordinary degree of care & attention at the hands of the surgeons, & if they were not personally cognisant of the alleged ill-usage, they were not liable.

It was indispensable that such matters [placing pltf. in bath ordered by defts.] should be left to nurses. . . . Defts. would not be liable for the negligence of the nurses unless near enough to be aware of it & to prevent it. . . . A verdict was not to be given against defts. unless they were personally responsible for [the way the nurses placed pltf. in the bath]. The statement of pltf. on that point was not supported. . . . No doubt, persons who went as patients into hospitals were not to be treated with negligence; but on the other hand, medical gentlemen who gave their services gratuitously were not to be made liable for negligence for which they were not personally

---

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

45 i. Qualified practitioner.]—Deft., a chiropractor, was held liable in damages for failure correctly to diagnose the ailment from which a child taken to him was suffering, & for applying his method of treatment which on the evidence was held not to be the proper treatment in the case in question. It was held that, under the law as it stood at the times in question, a person who held himself out as a chiropractor held himself out as having a reasonable degree of knowledge & skill to diagnose disease.—GIBBONS v. HARRIS (Alta.), [1924] 1 D. L. R. 923; [1924] 1 W. W. R. 674.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Responsibility : Sub-sect. 1, A., B., C., D., E., F. & G.]

responsible (COCKBURN, C.J.).—PERIONOWSKY v. FREEMAN (1866), 4 F. & F. 977.

B. Degree of Skill or Knowledge Required.

57. Reasonable skill.]—Every person who enters into a learned profession undertakes to bring to the exercise of it a reasonable degree of care & skill; he does not, if he is an attorney, undertake at all events to gain the cause; nor does a surgeon undertake that he will perform a cure; nor does the latter undertake to use the highest possible degree of skill, as there may be persons of higher education & greater advantages than himself; but he undertakes to bring a fair, reasonable, & competent degree of skill; & in an action against him by a patient, the question for the jury is, whether the injury complained of must be referred to the want of a proper degree of skill & care in deft., or not.—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS (1838), 8 C. & P. 475.

Annotation :—Refd. Steljes v. Ingram (1903), 19 T. L. R. 534.

58. ——.]—The public profession of an art is a representation & undertaking to all the world that the professor possesses the requisite skill & ability. When a skilled labourer, artizan, or artist is employed, there is on his part an implied warranty that he is of skill reasonably competent to the task he undertakes.

Thus if an apothecary, a watchmaker or an attorney be employed for reward, they each impliedly undertake to possess & exercise reasonable skill in their several arts (WILLES, J.).—HARMER v. CORNELIUS (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 236; 28 L. J. C. P. 85; 32 L. T. O. S. 62; 22 J. P. 724; 4 Jur. N. S. 1110; 6 W. R. 749; 141 E. R. 94.

Annotations :—Refd. Cuckson v. Stones (1858), 28 L. J. Q. B. 25; Andrews v. Garstin (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 444.

59. ——.]—To render a medical man liable, even civilly, for negligence, or want of due care or skill, it is not enough that there has been a less degree of skill than some other medical men might have shown, or a less degree of care than even he himself might have bestowed; nor is it enough that he himself acknowledges some degree of want of care; there must have been a want of competent & ordinary care & skill, & to such a degree as to have led to a bad result.

A medical man is bound to have that degree of skill which cannot be defined, but which, in the opinion of the jury, is a competent degree of skill & knowledge (ERLE, C.J.).—RICH v. PIERPONT (1862), 3 F. & F. 35.

60. ——.]—R. v. BATEMAN, No. 47, ante.

61. —— Want of—Question for jury.]—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS, No. 57, ante.

62. —— —— ——.]—RICH v. PIERPONT, No. 59, ante.

63. Not highest possible degree of skill.]—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS, No. 57, ante.

64. Less degree than might have been shown by others.]—RICH v. PIERPONT, No. 59, ante.

65. Less than defendant might have exercised.]—RICH v. PIERPONT, No. 59, ante.

66. Competent & ordinary skill.]—RICH v. PIERPONT, No. 59, ante.

C. Liability for Negligence.

67. Whether action lies.]—SEARE v. PRENTICE, No. 45, ante.

68. ——.]—RUDDOCK v. LOWE, No. 53, ante.

69. ——.]—JONES v. FAY, No. 54, ante.

70. Evidence of negligence—Question for jury.]—SEARE v. PRENTICE, No. 45, ante.

71. Duty must be owed to patient.]—Deft., a surgeon, having been employed by a railway co. to examine pltf., one of their passengers, who had sustained an injury in a collision on their line, & deft. having, so far as he could see or judge, on pltf.'s statement of his injuries, told pltf. that they were so slight, that pltf. accepted a small sum in compensation :—Held : even assuming that pltf.'s injuries were greater than deft. had advised, there was no ground of action by pltf. for negligence.—PIMM v. ROPER (1862), 2 F. & F. 783.

Annotation :—Refd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1920] 3 K. B. 163.

72. ——.]—A man could not be sued for negligence unless there was a duty imposed upon him to take care. . . . In the present case, the wife, & daughter, & son of pltf. were frightened about pltf.'s conduct. The wife went to the relieving officer. The relieving officer desired to have the opinion of the medical man. The wife went to deft. & obtained what was called a certificate. It was in reality merely the written opinion of deft. The wife did not go to deft. to get advice & treatment for pltf. She only went to get his opinion for the relieving officer. . . . Therefore there was no duty imposed upon deft. towards pltf. as a patient, to exercise ordinary care & skill, there was no other duty imposed upon him beyond that imposed upon any other person. There was therefore . . . no negligence (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—THOMPSON v. SCHMIDT (1891), 56 J. P. 212; 8 T. L. R. 120, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1921] 1 A. C. 631; Harnett v. Fisher (1926), 135 L. T. 724.

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

57 i. Reasonable skill.]—ZIRKLER v. ROBERTSON (1897), 30 N. S. R. 61.—CAN.

57 ii. ——.]—A physician or surgeon is bound to bring to the exercise of his profession a reasonable degree of care & skill.—DANGERFIELD v. DAVID (Sask.) (1911), 17 W. L. R. 249.—CAN.

57 iii. ——.]—A medical man, while he does not in law undertake to perform a cure or to treat his patient with the utmost skill & competency, is liable for negligence or unskilfulness in his treatment; for, holding himself out as a professional man, he undertakes to perform the service required of him with reasonable skill & ability.—COPPEN v. IMPEY, [1916] C. P. D. 309.—S. AF.

63 i. Not highest possible degree of skill.]—A medical practitioner is not expected to bring to bear on a case entrusted to him the highest possible degree of professional skill but is bound to employ reasonable skill & care & is liable for the consequences if he does not.—MITCHELL v. DIXON, [1914] App. D.—S. AF.

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—C.

67 i. Whether action lies.]—STAMPER v. RHINDRESS (1906), 2 E. L. R. 186; 41 N. S. R. 45.—CAN.

67 ii. ——.]—TURRIFF v. KING (1913), 23 W. L. R. 149; 3 W. W. R. 802; 6 Sask. L. R. 37; 9 D. L. R. 676.—CAN.

67 iii. ——.]—SMITH v. RAE (1920), 46 O. L. R. 518; 51 D. L. R. 323; 17 O. W. N. 253.—CAN.

67 iv. ——.]—URQUHART v. GRIGOR (1864), 3 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 283.—SCOT.

67 v. ——.]—FARQUHAR v. MURRAY (1901), 38 Sc. L. R. 642.—SCOT.

70 i. Evidence of negligence—Question for jury.]—FAWCETT v. MOTHERSELL (1864), 14 C. P. 104.—CAN.

70 ii. —— ——.]—Where the evidence in an action against a surgeon for malpractice is as consistent with the absence as with the existence of negligence, the case should not be left to the jury.—JACKSON v. HYDE (1869), 28 U. C. R. 294.—CAN.

70 iii. —— ——.]—VAN MERE v. FAREWELL (1886), 12 O. R. 285.—CAN.

70 iv. —— ——.]—JAMES v. CROCKETT (1898), 34 N. B. R. 540.—CAN.

70 v. —— ——.]—In action against a surgeon for malpractice, pltf. has the right to a decision by a jury of a fact in controversy.—MCNULTY v. MORRIS (1901), 21 C. L. T. 591; 2 O. L. R. 656.—CAN.

70 vi. —— ——.]—RICHARDSON v. NUGENT (1918), 45 N. B. R. 331; 40 D. L. R. 700.—CAN.

73. Degree of care required—Competent & ordinary care.]—RICH v. PIERPONT, No. 59, ante.

See, also, Sub-sect. 1, A., B., ante.

Negligence of nurse—Gratuitous medical services.]—See No. 56, ante.

D. Who May Sue.

74. Person employing practitioner.]—EVERARD v. HOPKINS (1615), 2 Bulst. 332; 1 Roll. Rep. 124; 80 E. R. 1164.

Annotations:—Mentd. Longmeid v. Holliday (1851), 6 Exch. 761; Hadley v. Baxendale (1854), 9 Exch. 341; Alton v. Mid. Ry. (1865), 19 C. B. N. S. 213; Horne v. Mid. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 583.

75. ——.]—(1) The only person who can properly sustain an action for damages for an injury done to the person of the patient is the patient himself, for damages could not be given on that account to any other person though the surgeon may have been retained & employed by him to undertake the case. The party employing the surgeon can have nothing to do with the action (RICHARDS, C.B.).

(2) Deft., being a surgeon, undertakes to the public, to cure wounds & other ailments of the human system, & professes himself ready to be employed by any one for that purpose. The declaration states that he was as a surgeon employed for a reasonable reward, to attend & cure his patient, that he entered on the treatment, etc. It is, therefore, I think, sufficiently stated that deft. undertook the cure (RICHARDS, C.B.).—PIPPIN v. SHEPPARD (1822), 11 Price, 400; 147 E. R. 512.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Gladwell v. Steggall (1839), 8 Scott, 60. Consd. Everett v. Griffiths, [1920] 3 K. B. 163. Generally, Mentd. Longmeid v. Holliday (1851), 6 Exch. 761; Marshall v. York, Newcastle & Berwick Ry. (1851), 11 C. B. 655; Dalyell v. Tyrer (1858), E. B. & E. 899.

76. Patient.] — EVERARD v. HOPKINS (1615), 2 Bulst. 332; 1 Roll. Rep. 124; 80 E. R. 1164.

Annotations:—Mentd. Longmeid v. Holliday (1851), 6 Exch. 761; Hadley v. Baxendale (1854), 9 Exch. 341; Alton v. Mid. Ry. (1865), 19 C. B. N. S. 213; Horne v. Mid. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 583.

77. ——.]—PIPPIN v. SHEPPARD, No. 75, ante.

78. ——.]—GLADWELL v. STEGGALL, No. 80, post.

E. Essentials of Liability.

79. Proof of employment.]—PIPPIN v. SHEPPARD, No. 75, ante.

80. ——.]—A declaration in case stated that pltf., an infant, had employed deft., a surgeon to cure her, & then claimed damages for a misfeasance:—Plea, that pltf. did not employ deft.:—Held: (1) it was immaterial by whom deft. was employed; or if material, pltf.'s submitting to deft.'s treatment was sufficient proof of the allegation of employment by her.

(2) The question really at issue is, as to the breach of duty, not as to the party by whom deft. was employed, & pltf. is the only person who can maintain the action.—GLADWELL v. STEGGALL (1839), 5 Bing. N. C. 733; 8 Scott, 60; 8 L. J. C. P. 361; 3 Jur. 535; 132 E. R. 1283.

Annotations:—Generally, Mentd. Longmeid v. Holliday (1851), 6 Exch. 761; Dalyell v. Tyrer (1858), E. B. & E. 899; Playford v. United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Co. (1867), 17 L. T. 243.

81. Injury directly caused by lack of skill.]—HANCKE v. HOOPER, No. 55, ante.

82. ——.]—LANPHIER v. PHIPOS, No. 57, ante.

F. Responsibility in Cases of Lunatics.

See LUNATICS, Vol. XXXIII., pp. 265–267, 271, 272, Nos. 1850–1856, 1893–1896.

G. Responsibility in Case of Operations.

83. Experiment with new instrument.]—(1) It appears from the evidence of the surgeons that it was improper to disunite the callous without consent, this is the usage & law of surgeons; then it was ignorance & unskilfulness in that very particular, to do contrary to the rule of the profession, what no surgeon ought to have done; & indeed it is reasonable that a patient should be told what is about to be done to him, that he may take courage & put himself in such a situation as to enable him to undergo the operation (per CUR.).

(2) For any thing that appears to the ct. this was the first experiment made with this new instrument, & if it was, it was a rash action, & he who acts rashly acts ignorantly; & although defts. in general may be as skilful in their respective professions as any two gentlemen in England, yet the ct. cannot help saying that in this particular case they have acted ignorantly & unskilfully, contrary to the known rule & usage of surgeons (per CUR.).—SLATER v. BAKER (1767), 2 Wils. 359; 95 E. R. 860.

Annotation:—Mentd. Scott v. Shepherd (1773), 3 Wils. 403.

84. Necessity for consent of patient.]—SLATER v. BAKER, No. 83, ante.

85. —— Whether consent communicated — Question for jury.]—BEATTY v. CULLINGWORTH (1896), as reported in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XX., p. 333.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Camelleri, [1922] 2 K. B. 122.

---

73 i. Degree of care required—Competent & ordinary care.]—FIELDS v. RUTHERFORD (1878), 29 C. P. 113.—CAN.

q. Limitation of action.] — An action for malpractice was brought within one year from the time when the alleged ill-effects of the treatment developed, but more than a year from the date when the professional services terminated:—Held: the action was barred under Ontario Medical Act, R. S. O. 1887, s. 40.—MILLER v. RYERSON (1892), 22 O. R. 369.—CAN.

r. ——.]—TOWN v. ARCHER (1902), 22 C. L. T. 258; 4 O. L. R. 383; 1 O. W. R. 391.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—D.

76 i. Patient.] — The ground of action in a claim of damages against a medical man for unskilful treatment is breach of his duty to his patient & not breach of his contract with his employer; &, accordingly:—Held: a married woman had a title to sue such an action, although the medical man had been employed to attend to her by her husband & not by herself.—EDGAR v. LAMONT, [1914] S. C. 277.—SCOT.

t. Negligent treatment of wife—Action by husband.]—SMITH v. CARDER (1853), 11 U. C. R. 77.—CAN.

a. —— ——.]—HUNTER v. OGDEN (1871), 31 U. C. R. 132.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—E.

81 i. Injury directly caused by lack of skill.]—In an action against a medical practitioner for malpractice pltf. must prove not only that there was negligence or want of skill on the part of deft., but also that pltf. was injured thereby.—MCQUAY v. EASTWOOD (1886), 12 O. R. 402.—CAN.

81 ii. ——.]—HODGINS v. BANTING (1906), 12 O. L. R. 117; 7 O. W. R. 707.—CAN.

81 iii. ——.]—BENNETT v. C—— (1908), 7 W. L. R. 740.—CAN.

81 iv. ——.]—In an action against a medical practitioner for negligent & unskilful treatment, pltf. must show that there was negligence or want of skill or carefulness on the part of deft.; & that pltf. has been injured, & that the injury is the result of the negligence & want of skill of deft.—HAMPTON v. MACADAM (1912), 22 W. L. R. 31; 7 D. L. R. 880.—CAN.

b. Intention immaterial.]—The declaration in an action against a surgeon for negligence stated that deft., wrongfully intending to injure pltf., did not use proper care, etc.:—Held: negligence being the gist of the action, deft.'s intent was immaterial.—KELLY v. DOW (1860), 9 N. B. R. (4 All.) 435.—CAN.

c. ——.] — SHERIDAN v. PIGEON (1886), 10 O. R. 632.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—G.

83 i. Experiment with new instrument.]—BAILLS v. BOULANGER (Alta.), [1924] 4 D. L. R. 1083.—CAN.

84 i. Necessity for consent of patient.] —STOFFBERG v. ELLIOT, [1923] C. P. D. 148.—S. AF.

Sect. 3.—Responsibility: Sub-sect. 1, H.; sub-sect. 2. Sect. 4: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.]

H. Liability of Hospitals and Public Institutions.

86. Negligence of professional staff — Care exercised in selection of staff.]—Defts., a local authority, acting under the provisions of Public Health Act, 1875 (c. 55), provided for the use of the inhabitants of their district a hospital for the reception of persons suffering from infectious diseases. A visiting physician, who was a competent medical practitioner, was appointed to the hospital, & acted under the general directions of the hospitals committee of defts., the rules providing (inter alia) that he should be responsible for "the treatment of the patients from the beginning to the end of their stay, & also for their freedom from infection when discharged." A son of pltf. was treated in the hospital while suffering from a mild attack of scarlet fever, & was ultimately discharged by the visiting physician while still in an infectious condition, & under circumstances which a jury found to amount to a want of reasonable skill & care on his part in & about the discharge; after the boy had returned home, he communicated the disease to three other children of pltf. Pltf. then sued defts. to recover the expense to which he had been put in regard to the illness of his other children owing to the premature discharge of his son from the hospital by the visiting physician:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to recover, for the legal obligation of defts. extended only to the provision of reasonably skilled & competent medical attendance for the patients, which they had discharged, & there was no absolute undertaking or obligation on their part that no patient should be discharged by the visiting physician while still in a condition which might cause infection.—EVANS v. LIVERPOOL CORPN., [1906] 1 K. B. 160; 74 L. J. K. B. 742; 69 J. P. 263; 21 T. L. R. 558; 3 L. G. R. 868.

Annotations:—Apprvd. Hillyer v. St. Bartholomew's Hospital, [1909] 2 K. B. 820. Mentd. Smith v. Martin & Kingston-upon-Hull Corpn., [1911] 2 K. B. 775; University of London Press v. University Tutorial Press, [1916] 2 Ch. 601.

87. —— ——.]—The only duty undertaken by the governors of a public hospital towards a patient who is treated in the hospital is to use due care & skill in selecting their medical staff. The relationship of master & servant does not exist between the governors & the physicians & surgeons who give their services at the hospital, & the nurses & other attendants assisting at an operation cease for the time being to be the servants of the governors, inasmuch as they take their orders during that period from the operating surgeon alone & not from the hospital authorities.

Pltf. brought an action against the governors of a hospital for damages for injuries alleged to have been caused to him during an operation by the negligence of some member of the hospital staff:—Held: the action was not maintainable.

I see no ground for holding it to be a right legal inference from the circumstances of the relation of hospital & patient that the hospital authority makes itself liable in damages, if members of its professional staff, of whose competence there is no question, act negligently towards the patient in some matter of professional care or skill, or neglect to use or use negligently in his treatment the apparatus or appliances which are at their disposal (KENNEDY, L.J.).—HILLYER v. ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL (GOVERNORS), [1909] 2 K. B. 820; 78 L. J. K. B. 958; 25 T. L. R. 762; 53 Sol. Jo. 714; sub nom. HILLYER v. LONDON CORPN. ETC. (GOVERNORS OF ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL), 101 L. T. 368; 73 J. P. 501, C. A.

Annotations:—Reid. Scottish Insce. Comrs. v. Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh (1913), 6 B. W. C. C. N. 120. Mentd. Shrimpton v. Hertfordshire County Council (1910), 74 J. P. 305; Smith v. Martin & Kingston-upon-Hull Corpn., [1911] 2 K. B. 775.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Who may be liable—Qualified persons.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 800–802, Nos. 8665–8672, 8674–8677, 8680, 8683–8685, 8688.

—— Unqualified persons.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 801, 802, Nos. 8673–8683, 8685.

Extent of liability—Death occasioned by negligence.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 800, 801, Nos. 8665–8683.

—— Error of judgment.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 801, Nos. 8684–8688.

—— Assault.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 826, Nos. 9028, 9029.

—— False statements in certificate of death.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 695, No. 7485.

SECT. 4.—RECOVERY OF CHARGES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—REGISTRATION AS CONDITION PRECEDENT TO RIGHT TO SUE.

88. At what time practitioner must be registered.]—It is sufficient for a person suing for medical attendance to show that he is on the Medical Registry at the time of the trial, without proving that he was registered when he did the work for which he claims payment.—TURNER v. REYNALL (1863), 14 C. B. N. S. 328; 2 New Rep. 78; 32 L. J. C. P. 164; 8 L. T. 281; 9 Jur. N. S. 1077; 11 W. R. 700; 143 E. R. 472.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Howarth v. Brearley (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 303. Reid. Leman v. Fletcher (1873), 28 L. T. 499; Leman v. Housley (1874), 31 L. T. 833.

89. ——.]—Under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), ss. 31, 32, & Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 21, in order to recover for medicines & attendance as an apothecary, it is necessary that the practitioner should have been qualified & registered at the time of the services rendered, & it is not

---

PART III. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.—H.

86 i. Negligence of professional staff —Care exercised in selection of staff.]—In an action for damages brought by pltf. against the Hobart Public Hospitals Board:—Held: under the Hospitals Act, 1918, the Board's sole duty with regard to medicine & surgery was to use as much care as was necessary to see that its medical officers were so qualified by their skill & trustworthy by their character as to fit them for their respective offices.—CUMMINS v. HOBART PUBLIC HOSPITALS BOARD (1923), 19 Tas. L. R. 18.—AUS.

86 ii. —— ——.]—THOMPSON v. COLUMBIA COAST MISSION (1914), 20 B. C. R. 115.—CAN.

86 iii. —— ——.]—Apart from special contract the managers of a public hospital are not responsible to the patients whom they receive, whether paying or non-paying, for unskilful or negligent medical treatment, provided they have exercised due care in the selection of a competent staff.—FOOTE v. SHAW STEWART, [1912] S. C. 69.—SCOT.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 1.

88 i. At what time practitioner must be registered.]—The proof of registration required by Medical Act, s. 32, by which medical men are precluded from recovering for professional services, without proof of registry, is proof that pltf. is registered at the time he tenders such proof in evidence.—HAFFIELD v. MACKENZIE (1860), 10 I. C. L. R. 289.—IR.

88 ii. ——.]—A medical practitioner cannot recover fees for medical attendance unless he was registered under Medical Practitioners' Registration Act, 1869, at the time the services were rendered.—RUSSELL v. SIMS (1900), 18 N. Z. L. R. 773.—N.Z.

d. Registration abroad — Services rendered abroad.]—WILMOT v. SHAW (1881), 14 N. S. R. (2 R. & G.) 343; 2 C. L. T. 96.—CAN.

e. Registration of locum tenens.]—Where plaintiff, admittedly a registered sufficient that he produce at the trial a certificate of registration obtained after action brought.

It is obvious that the qualification & registration ought to exist at the time the services are rendered, & not merely at the time of trial (BLACKBURN, J.). —LEMAN v. HOUSELEY (1874), L. R. 10 Q. B. 66; 44 L. J. Q. B. 22; 31 L. T. 833; 39 J. P. 182; 23 W. R. 235.

Annotation :— Refd. Howarth v. Brearley (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 303.

90. ——.] — (1) Under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 32, a duly qualified & registered medical practitioner is not entitled to recover charges for medicines supplied or medical services rendered by an unqualified & unregistered assistant, where such services have been wholly rendered by the unqualified assistant, & where no part of such services has been rendered by the qualified practitioner himself.

(2) Semble : to entitle a medical practitioner to recover charges for such services, it is necessary that he should have been qualified & registered at the time of rendering such services, as well as at the trial.—HOWARTH v. BREARLEY (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 303; 56 L. J. Q. B. 543; 56 L. T. 743; 51 J. P. 440; 36 W. R. 302; 3 T. L. R. 680, D. C.

SUB-SECT. 2.—REGISTERED PRACTITIONERS.

A. In General.

See, now, Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48).

NOTE.—Cases prior to Medical Act, 1886 (c. 48), which deal solely with the right of a physician to recover fees or of a surgeon to recover fees for work done as physician, have been omitted as obsolete.

91. Amount recoverable—Where no agreement—Quantum meruit—Question for jury.]—I was of opinion, that fees to physicians or lawyers, were by the civil law merely honorary, & were not to be demanded, or recovered; but supposing they were recoverable at common law, it must be upon a quantum meruit, to be settled by a jury, which must depend upon the eminence of the physician (SIR GEORGE LEE).—VON SOLENDAHL v. HAMPE (1752), 1 Lee, 102; 161 E. R. 38.

92. —— —— Reasonable charge—Question for jury.]—A surgeon & apothecary may, besides his charges for medicine, recover such charges for attendances, as the jury shall consider to be fair & reasonable.—HANDEY v. HENSON (1830), 4 C. & P. 110, N.P.

93. —— Attendance—Amount left blank in bill.]—If a surgeon furnishes a bill to his patient & he leaves a blank for his charge for attendances; if the patient pays a certain sum on that account, as the surgeon made no specific charge, he is bound by the sum so paid, & can recover no more. —TUSON v. BATTING (1800), 3 Esp. 192; 170 E. R. 584, N. P.

94. Attendance under expectation of legacy—No legacy given—Whether practitioners entitled.]—A surgeon forbore to send in his bill for medicines & attendance to a deceased patient in her lifetime, under the expectation of a legacy. On her death, finding she had left him nothing, he made a claim on her exors. :—Held : he was entitled to recover, no proof having been given of any understanding between the parties that he was to be paid only by a legacy.—BAXTER v. GRAY (1842), 3 Man. & G. 771; 4 Scott, N. R. 374; 11 L. J. C. P. 63; 133 E. R. 1349.

Annotations :—Consd. Hulse v. Hulse (1856), 17 C. B. 711. Refd. The Joseph Dexter (1869), 20 L. T. 820.

95. —— —— Disallowance of payment by executor.]—A physician attended B. during several of the last years of his life without any payment being made to him, but upon some understanding that remuneration was to be made by a legacy, which was not done. The exor. paid to the physician £100, as a remuneration for the services performed, which the Master disallowed. Upon exceptions to the report :—Held : there was nothing to raise an implied contract; the exor. had placed himself in the situation of the physician, & was not entitled to have the payment allowed.—SHALLCROSS v. WRIGHT (1850), 12 Beav. 558; 19 L. J. Ch. 443; 16 L. T. O. S. 257; 14 Jur. 1037; 50 E. R. 1174.

Annotation :—Mentd. Re Rownson, Field v. White (1885), 29 Ch. D. 358.

96. Negligence as defence to action — By apothecary—Acting under direction of qualified practitioner.]—It is a good defence in an action by an apothecary that he treated the patient ignorantly or improperly. Aliter if the medicines were administered under the direction of a physician.

In a case where the demand is compounded of skill & things administered, if the skill, which is a principal part is wanting the action fails. . . . If the medicines applied had been given under the direction of a physician, however improper they might be, the action should be supported, because the skill would not in that case be the ground of medical practitioner, sued for fees for professional services rendered partly by himself & partly by his locum tenens & produced the certificate of registration of his locum tenens :— Held : such production was sufficient evidence of registration.—KATZ v. DREW (1914), W. R. 751.—S. AF.

---

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

t. Amount recoverable — Where no agreement—Quantum meruit.]—ROSS v. LONDON (1911), 18 O. W. R. 82; 2 O. W. N. 583; 23 O. L. R. 74.—CAN.

g. —— —— Reasonable charge.]—Action for medical services rendered deft.'s wife. As to the proper scale of fees the reasonable rule is to pay the charges current in the locality where the services were rendered.—BISSET v. STEWART (N. S.) (1910), 8 E. L. R. 82.—CAN.

h. —— —— ——.]—MARIEN v. LUSSIER, 22 C. L. T. 418.—CAN.

k. —— —— ——.]—Where a doctor's account appears, according to medical usage & the custom of the place, to be excessive, the ct., without necessarily taxing each separate item, will reduce it to what, on a general view of the case, seems fair & reasonable under the circumstances.—VEI MAAK v. ROUSSEAU, [1907] E. D. C. 123.—S. AF.

l. —— Special remuneration.]—The performing of a major operation is one of those special duties of a medical man which is entitled to special remuneration, not only for the actual time & labour employed, but also for the special degree of professional training & skill necessary to perform such an operation.—RANDALL v. ORR (1908), 18 C. T. R. 462.—S. AF.

m. —— ——.]—PHILLIPS v. STEYN, [1918] C. P. D. 247.—S. AF.

n. Who may be liable—Patient in hospital.]—Held : although the hospital was primarily an eleemosynary institution, yet as there was no bye-law prohibiting the house surgeon from charging for services rendered to patients able to pay, & who resorted to the institution for the sake of better attendance, plff. could recover on an implied assumpsit.—FARRELL v. MCLAREN (1878), 12 N. S. R. (3 R. & C.) 75.—CAN.

o. —— ——.]—GALT HOSPITAL v. LYNN (Alta.) (1922), 69 D. L. R. 715. —CAN.

p. —— ——.]—HOYES v. M'HUGH (1900), 34 I. L. T. 181.—IR.

q. —— Municipality.]—A municipality is liable for the expenses of a medical practitioner engaged by a duly constituted board of health to attend cases of smallpox, but not for his wrongful dismissal.—MCKAY v. CAPE BRETON MUNICIPALITY (1889), 21 N. S. R. 492; 18 S. C. R. 639.—CAN.

r. —— Crown.]—MOLONY v. COLONIAL GOVERNMENT (1894), 4 C. T. R. 166.—S. AF.

t. Who may recover—Qualified assistant—Patient must agree to employment.]—LINDSAY v. FREDA, [1923] 2 D. L. R. 1180; 56 N. S. R. 210.—CAN.

a. —— —— ——.]—ORR v.

Sect. 4.—Recovery of charges: Sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C.; sub-sects. 3 & 4. Sects. 5, 6 & 7: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.]

the action (LORD KENYON).—KANNEN v. M'MULLEN (1791), Peake, 83; 170 E. R. 87, N. P.

97. Who may be liable—Attendance on pauper—Stranger.]—A deputy overseer, or even a mere stranger, directing a surgeon to attend a poor man, is liable to pay the surgeon.—WATLING v. WALTERS (1823), 1 C. & P. 132, N. P.

98. —— —— Overseer.]—WATLING v. WALTERS, No. 97, ante.

—— Attendance on lunatic.]—See LUNATICS, Vol. XXXIII., p. 167, No. 535.

—— Attendance on servant.]—See MASTER & SERVANT, p. 115, Nos. 862–867, ante.

B. Gratuitous Services.

99. Practitioner not practising for profit.] — Attendance by a medical man on the deceased, held, under the circumstances, to have been gratuitous, & his demand, as a debt against the assets, was rejected.

Pltf. was on sick furlough. He was entitled to practice for profit but he did not do so; he prescribed & attended patients for his father & brother, but never took fees or sent in a bill. He did so also for other persons, but only as an amateur & friend, & took no fees (ROMILLY, M.R.). —PACKMAN v. VIVIAN (1857), 24 Beav. 290; 53 E. R. 369.

100. Attendance on family of deceased medical man—Custom.]—Although there is not a binding custom, there is a very general practice among medical men not to charge the widow & children of a deceased medical man for attendance. If, therefore, a doctor intends to charge in such a case he must say so, & thus give the patient the opportunity of declining his services & of going to another doctor who will not charge.—CORBIN v. STEWART (1911), 28 T. L. R. 99.

C. Services by Unqualified Assistant.

101. Whether fees recoverable.]—HOWARTH v. BREARLEY, No. 90, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—UNREGISTERED PRACTITIONERS.

102. Right to sue for fees — Action against patient.]—If a medical practitioner passes himself off as a physician, although he has no diploma & no right to assume that character, he cannot maintain an action for his fees.—LIPSCOMBE v. HOLMES (1810), 2 Camp. 441; 170 E. R. 1211, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Shearwood v. Hay, Wills v. Langridge (1836), 5 Ad. & El. 383; Veitch v. Russell (1842), Car. & M. 362.

103. —— —— Employment induced by fraud.] —One who professes to cure disorders within a specific time by means of sovereign medicines, & induces another to employ him by false & fraudulent professions of his skill, cannot recover for medicines or attendance.—HUPE v. PHELPS (1819), 2 Stark. 480, N. P.

104. —— Action against qualified practitioner—Employer of plaintiff.]—(1) Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 32, which prohibits an unregistered practitioner from recovering for advice, attendance, or medicines supplied, is not confined to cases in which the patient is sued. (2) Though an unregistered assistant may sue a registered practitioner for salary, an unregistered practitioner cannot sue a registered practitioner for medicines supplied to or attendance upon the patients of the latter at his request.

A medical officer of a Peruvian vessel of war lying in the Thames engaged pltf., an unregistered practitioner, to attend the crew & troops, partly on board the vessel & partly on shore, during his temporary absence. In an action against the Peruvian officer for the services thus rendered: —Held: Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 32, precluded pltf. from recovering.—DE LA ROSA v. PRIETO (1864), 16 C. B. N. S. 578; 4 New Rep. 463; 33 L. J. C. P. 262; 10 L. T. 757; 10 Jur. N. S. 851; 12 W. R. 1029; 2 Mar. L. C. 67; 143 E. R. 1253.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Howarth v. Brearley (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 303.

105. —— Osteopath—Holding foreign diploma—Treatment not within Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 32.] —HALL v. TROTTER (1921), 38 T. L. R. 30, D. C.

106. —— —— —— ——.]—MACNAGHTEN v. DOUGLAS, [1927] W. N. 156.

Registration as condition precedent to right to sue.]—See Sub-sect. 1, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—APOTHECARIES.

See Part IV., Sect. 3, post.

SECT. 5.—PRIVILEGES AND EXEMPTIONS.

Whether exempted from performance of public duties.]—See, generally, Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 35.

—— Jury service.]—See Juries Act, 1870 (c. 77), s. 9, sched.

—— Service in militia.]—See Territorial Army & Militia Act, 1921 (c. 37), s. 4 (1), sched. II.

107. Medical witness—Whether bound to disclose confidential communications.]—There is no privilege . . . in the case of a medical man (BEST, C.J.).—BROAD v. PITT (1828), 3 C. & P. 518; Mood. & M. 233, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Greenough v. Gaskell (1833), 1 My. & K. 98. Mentd. Herring v. Clobery (1842), 1 Ph. 91; Dwyer v. Collins (1852), 21 L. J. Ex. 225.

108. —— ——.]—The foundation of this rule is not difficult to discover. It is not, as has sometimes been said, on account of any particular importance which the law attributes to the business of legal professors, or any particular disposition to afford them protection, though certainly it may not be very easy to discover why a like privilege has been refused to others, & especially to medical advisers (LORD BROUGHAM, C.).—GREENHOUGH v. GASKELL (1833), 1 My. & K. 98; Coop. temp. Brough. 96; 47 E. R. 35, L. C.

Annotations:—Mentd. Moore v. Terrell (1833), 4 B. & Ad. 870; Bland v. Wainwright (1835), 4 L. J. Ex. Eq. 19; Meath (Bp.) v. Winchester (1836), 10 Bli. N. S. 330; Storey v. Lennox (1836), 1 Keen, 341; Turquand v. Knight (1836), 2 M. & W. 98; Desborough v. Rawlins

---

STEVENSON (1908), 25 S. C. 199; 18 C. T. R. 219.—S. AF.

b. —— Consultant.]—In the absence of a special agreement, any person calling in a second physician as a consultant of his ordinary physician, must be taken to agree to pay the ordinary fees chargeable for consultations.—(GREATHEAD & CHEW v. STANTON (1895), 9 E. D. C. 189.—S. AF.

PART III. SECT. 5.

107 i. Medical witness — Whether bound to disclose confidential communications.] — Held: a witness is absolutely privileged in respect of statements made in giving his evidence if pertinent to the matter at issue; but this privilege does not extend to statements made in precognition.—A. B. v. C. D., [1904] 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 72.—SCOT.

(1838), 3 My. & Cr. 515; Mackenzie v. Yeo (1841), 2 Curt. 866; Horring v. Clobery (1842), 1 Ph. 91; Llewellyn v. Baddeley (1842), 11 L. J. Ch. 310; Walsingham v. Goodricke (1843), 3 Hare, 122; Weeks v. Argent (1847), 16 M. & W. 817; Chant v. Brown (1849), 7 Hare, 79; Glyn v. Caulfield (1851), 3 Mac. & G. 463; Russell v. Jackson (1851), 9 Hare, 387; Warde v. Warde (1851), 3 Mac. & G. 365; Re Columbine, Ex p. Allen (1853), 1 Bankr. & Ins. R. 43; Brown v. Foster (1857), 1 H. & N. 736; Ford v. Tennant (No. 2) (1863), 32 Beav. 162; Ramsbotham v. Senior (1869), L. R. 8 Eq. 575; Ross v. Gibbs, Gibbs v. Ross (1869), L. R. 8 Eq. 522; Wilson v. Northampton & Banbury Junction Ry. (1872), L. R. 14 Eq. 477; Smith v. Daniell (1874), L. R. 18 Eq. 649; Anderson v. Bank of British Columbia (1876), 2 Ch. D. 644; R. v. Cox & Railton (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 153; Re Strachan, [1895] 1 Ch. 439; Ainsworth v. Wilding, [1900] 2 Ch. 315; O'Rourke v. Darbishire, [1920] A. C. 581.

—— ——.] —See, further, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 419, 420, Nos. 4299–4306.

—— Right to compensation for loss of time.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 410, Nos. 4570–4572.

—— Right to fees at coroner's inquest.]—See CORONERS, Vol. XIII., p. 246, Nos. 184, 185.

Medical reports of accidents—When privileged.]—See DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., pp. 139–142, Nos. 892–906.

Diplomatic privilege—Ambassador's retainer.]—See CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, Vol. XI., p. 510, No. 434.

SECT. 6.—THE PRACTICE OF ANATOMY.

See, generally, Anatomy Act, 1832 (c. 75).

Exhumation & disposal of bodies an indictable offence.]—See BURIAL, Vol. VII., pp. 521, 559, Nos. 3, 4, 352.

Burial of remains.]—See Anatomy Act, 1832 (c. 75), s. 13; Anatomy Act, 1871 (c. 16), s. 2; Anatomy (England & Wales) Order, 1916.

SECT. 7.—UNQUALIFIED PERSONS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

109. Agreement with qualified practitioner—Service as assistant—Legality—Effect of personal abstention from practice.]—Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), prohibiting medical practice by unqualified persons is not repealed by implication by Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90).

Deft., a duly qualified medical practitioner, agreed with pltf., a medical practitioner not duly qualified, but who was described in the agreement as "medical practitioner," to serve pltf. as assistant in his profession as a medical practitioner, & not to practise at R. within five years after the close of the engagement. Pltf. applied for an injunction to prevent deft. from practising at R. in breach of this agreement.

The judge held that the Medical Act of 1858 did not prohibit unqualified persons from practising medicine, its object being only to enable the public to distinguish between qualified & unqualified practitioners, that the use by an unqualified person in a private agreement with another medical man, of any of the titles for the wilful use of which by an unqualified person, for the purpose of deceiving the public, penalties were imposed by sect. 40 of the Act, was not an offence within that sect., that the agreement therefore was not illegal, & that pltf. could enforce its terms, & was entitled to an injunction.

Deft. appealed, & on appeal showed that pltf. had given various certificates of cause of death, which showed that pltf. had attended deceased persons during their last illness, & from which it was to be inferred that he attended patients in the way in which a medical practitioner ordinarily attends, & in fact personally acted as an apothecary:—Held: his doing so was made illegal by Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 14, the agreement therefore was to assist pltf. in carrying on a business which he could not lawfully carry on, & the agreement was illegal & could not be enforced. Semble: if pltf. had carried on his business by means of duly qualified assistants, without personally acting as a physician, surgeon, or apothecary, the agreement might have been legal.—DAVIES v. MAKUNA (1885), 29 Ch. D. 596; 54 L. J. Ch. 1148; 53 L. T. 314; 50 J. P. 5; 33 W. R. 668; 1 T. L. R. 420, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Bellerby v. Heyworth, [1909] 2 Ch 23.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PROCEEDINGS AGAINST UNQUALIFIED PERSONS.

A. In General.

See Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 14; Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), Preamble, ss. 40–43; Venereal Diseases Act, 1917 (c. 21), s. 1.

PART III. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

c. Effect of Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90)—Who may institute proceedings.]—Any member of the public may institute proceedings under sect. 40 of above Act.—CLARKE v. M'GUIRE, [1909] 2 I. R. 681.—IR.

d. Representation as to qualification—What amounts to.]—STEPHENS v. JAYASINGA (1913), 15 W. A. L. R. 55.—AUS.

e. —— ——.]—R. v. TEFFT (1880), 45 U. C. R. 144.—CAN.

f. —— Conviction — Appeal.]—Applt. having been convicted before justices of having pretended to be a physician, appealed to the quarter sessions & was found guilty:—Held: the sessions had no power to reserve a case for the opinion of the ct.—POMEROY v. WILSON (1866), 26 U. C. R. 45.—CAN.

g. —— Onus of proof.]—R. v. KINGSTON (1904), 24 N. Z. L. R. 431.—N.Z.

h. —— Question for jury.]—R. v. SEARBY (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 690.—N.Z.

k. Unregistered practitioner—Practising—What amounts to.]—STEPHENS v. TAUFIK RAAD (No. 2) (1914), 16 W. A. L. R. 136.—AUS.

l. —— —— ——.]—R. v. HALL (1885), 8 O. R. 407.—CAN.

m. —— —— ——.]—PROVINCIAL MEDICAL BOARD v. WASHINGTON (1886), 19 N. S. R. (7 R. & C.) 470; 8 C. L. T. 16.—CAN.

n. —— —— ——.]—Deft. attended a couple of sick persons for which he received payment, but he neither prescribed nor administered any medicine, nor gave any advice, his treatment consisting of merely sitting still & fixing his eyes on the patient:—Held: this was not a practising of medicine.—R. v. STEWART (1889), 17 O. R. 4.—CAN.

o. —— —— ——.]—PROVINCIAL MEDICAL BOARD v. BOND (1890), 22 N. S. R. 153.—CAN.

p. —— —— ——.]—R. v. HOWARTH (1894), 24 O. R. 561.—CAN.

q. —— —— ——.]—Deft., with the object of making sales of medicines professed by him to be specifics for certain diseases, held public meetings, invited proposed purchasers to declare their symptoms, & publicly examined them & applied the remedy:—Held: this was practising medicine for gain or hope of reward.—R. v. BARNFIELD (alias SEQUAH) (1895), 4 B. C. R. 305.—CAN.

r. —— —— ——.]—R. v. COULSON (1896), 27 O. R. 59.—CAN.

t. —— —— ——.]—Diagnosing only, or professing to diagnose, without prescribing a remedy or medicine, is not a practising of medicine.—R. v. VALLEAU, 20 C. L. T. 310.—CAN.

a. —— —— ——.]—R. v. RONDEAU (1903), 5 Terr. L. R. 478.—CAN.

b. —— —— ——.]—It is unlawful under Medical Act, R. S. M. 1902, s. 62, for a person not registered under the Act to practise as an electro-therapeutist for hire, gain, or hope of reward.—BEROMAN v. BOND (1904), 24 C. L. T. 152; 14 Man. L. R. 503.—CAN.

aa. —— —— ——.]—Re ONTARIO MEDICAL ACT (1906), 8 O. W. R. 766; 13 O. L. R. 501.—CAN.

bb. —— —— ——.]—R. v. RAFFENBERG (No. 1) (1909), 12 W. L. R. 419.—CAN.

Sect. 7.—Unqualified persons: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. (a), (b), (c) & (d); sub-sect. 3. Sect. 8.]

110. No indictment lies at common law.]—ANON. (1654), Sty. 433; 82 E. R. 839.

111. Effect of Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90)—Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 14, not repealed.]—DAVIES v. MARUNA, No. 109, ante.

B. Wilfully and Falsely Pretending, etc.

(a) Question of Law or Fact.

112. Question of fact.]—LADD v. GOULD, No. 130, post.

113. ——.]—K., who was legally qualified as a surgeon & apothecary, & registered as such under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), was, before the time of passing of that Act, possessed of a German medical diploma, & called himself Doctor K. He continued to use that description after the passing of the Act, though not registered as doctor of medicine:—Held: no evidence that he had wilfully & falsely pretended to be, or taken or used the name & title of a doctor of medicine so as to render him liable to a penalty under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40.

It is a matter of fact for magistrates only to decide, not one of law to be reserved for the opinion of this ct. as decided in Ladd v. Gould, No. 130, post (WILDE, B.).—ELLIS v. KELLY (1860), 6 H. & N. 222; 30 L. J. M. C. 35; 3 L. T. 331; 25 J. P. 279; 6 Jur. N. S. 1119; 9 W. R. 56; 158 E. R. 92.

Annotations:—Consd. R. v. Bak r, etc. JJ. & Clarke (1891), 66 L. T. 416; Steel v. Ormsby (1894), 10 T. L. R. 483; Hunter v. Clare, [1899] 1 Q. B. 635. Refd. Carpenter v. Hamilton (1877), 41 J. P. 615; R. v. Lewis (1896), 40 Sol. Jo. 515; Brindley v. Shelton Iron, Steel & Coal Co. (1923), 128 L. T. 783. Mentd. Leman v. Fletcher (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 319.

114. ——.]—Resp. kept a shop, where he dispensed medicine & gave advice; he had a diploma in the window, in which he was described as "John Hamilton, Doctor of Medicine of the Metropolitan Medical College of New York," & he so held himself out to the world; & the magistrate reported that it was not satisfactorily proved that resp. was not entitled so to describe himself. He was not registered, & held no qualifications which would entitle him to be registered under the Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90). The magistrate having dismissed a complaint brought against resp. under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40:—Held: the decision of the magistrate was right, as the only evidence of any false pretence was, that resp. pretended to be what he really was; & also it was a question of fact for the magistrate's decision rather than one of law for the ct.—CARPENTER v. HAMILTON (1877), 37 L. T. 157; 41 J. P. 615, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Lewis (1896), 40 Sol. Jo. 515.

115. ——.]—Resps., Frickhart & Bridgwater, were charged with wilfully & falsely pretending to be respectively doctors of medicine, contrary to Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40. In Frickhart's case, the only proof of the charge offered was a copy of the Medical Register for the year, in which her name did not appear, & the evidence of the informant, a retired doctor of medicine, to whom she gave a medical certificate signed with the letters M.D. after her name. She had a degree of M.D., University Zurich, 1877, in respect of which she had at one time been registered. In Bridgwater's case, the only proof was a copy of the Medical Register for the year, in which Bridgwater's name did not appear, & the evidence of the same informant, who had twice consulted Bridgwater & received from him, for payment, medical advice & medicine, & an unsigned certificate. In Bridgwater's handbills, & on the window blinds of his place of business, he was described as "Dr. Bridgwater, M.D., U.S.A.," & in his consulting room was hung up what purported to be a diploma of some American university. The magistrate dismissed the summons in either case, on the ground that there was no proof of any wilful & false pretence:—Held: the magistrate could not be called upon to state a case, as his determination had proceeded solely on a question of fact. Whether a person having a non-registrable title & knowing it to be such, by using the title M.D., commits an offence against the statute, & how far the question is a question of fact or a question of law, is doubtful.—R. v. LEWIS (STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE) & FRICKHART, R. v. LEWIS (STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE) & BRIDGWATER (1896), 60 J. P. 392; 12 T. L. R. 415, 433; 40 Sol. Jo. 515, D. C.

(b) Wilful and False Pretence.

116. Necessity for proof.]—ELLIS v. KELLY, No. 113, ante.

117. ——.]—PEDGRIFT v. CHEVALLIER, No. 129, post.

118. ——.]—STEEL v. ORMSBY (1894), 10 T. L. R. 483, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Lewis & Frickhart, R. v. Lewis & Bridgwater (1896), 60 J. P. 392.

119. ——.]—A licentiate of the Society of the Apothecaries of London under a diploma granted by that body since 1886, although duly registered as a medical practitioner under Medical Acts & entitled to practise medicine, surgery & midwifery, is not entitled to describe himself as a physician; but such a description, though incorrect, does not subject him to the penalty imposed by Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40, unless it be also made wilfully & falsely.—HUNTER v. CLARE, [1899] 1 Q. B. 635; 68 L. J. Q. B. 278; 80 L. T. 197; 63 J. P. 308; 47 W. R. 394; 15 T. L. R. 161; 43 Sol. Jo. 367, D. C.

---

e. —— —— ——.]—R. (BURROWS) v. EVANS (1916), 23 B. C. R. 128.—CAN.

f. —— —— ——.]—R. v. MCSLOY, [1917] 1 W. W. R. 112.—CAN.

g. —— —— ——.]—To enable a proprietor of a bath to come within the exception in the proviso to sect. 63 of the Medical Act, the primary object of the establishment must be the bath, & any treatment given must be incidental thereto.—R. v. TELFORD, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 255; 58 D. L. R. 593.—CAN.

h. —— —— ——.]—R. v. O'MALLEY (Alta.), [1924] 3 D. L. R. 430; [1924] 2 W. W. R. 652.—CAN.

k. —— —— ——.]—R. v. HANNAH, [1913] App. D. 48.—S. AF.

l. —— —— ——.]—R. v. BEZINDEAHOUT, [1922] App. D. 206.—S. AF.

m. —— —— Form of conviction.]—R. v. HESSEL (1878), 44 U. C. R. 51.—CAN.

n. —— —— ——.]—A conviction under Ontario Medical Act, 1877, for practising without being registered, was quashed, because, in default of payment of the fine imposed, distress was also awarded.—R. v. SPARHAM (1885), 8 O. R. 570.—CAN.

o. —— —— ——.]—A conviction under Ontario Medical Act, 1887, for practising medicine for hire:—Held: bad for uncertainty in not specifying the particular act or acts which constituted the practising.—R. v. COULSON (1893), 24 O. R. 246.—CAN.

p. —— —— ——.]—Re WAGNER (1916), 33 W. L. R. 415; 9 W. W. R. 1000.—CAN.

q. —— —— Who may be liable.]—Deft., an unenfranchised treaty Indian, residing on a reserve, was convicted for having practised medicine for hire, in Ontario, but not upon the reserve, without being registered under Ontario Medical Act, 1897:—Held: deft. was subject to the provisions of the Medical Act, & was properly convicted.—R. v. HILL (1907), 15 O. L. R. 406; 11 O. W. R. 20.—CAN.

(c) Assumption of Title of Doctor.

120. By person qualified as surgeon.]—ELLIS v. KELLY, No. 113, ante.

121. By person with foreign qualification.]—ANDREWS v. STYRAP, No. 43, ante.

122. ——.]—A medical practitioner registered as Licentiate of the Society of Apothecaries London 1885, but not qualified to be registered as M.D. physician, or surgeon, under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), placed "M.D." after his name on vaccination certificates, & in other ways described himself to the public as M.D., as "physician & surgeon," in some cases with the further addition of "legally registered practitioner":—Held: he could be convicted of wilfully & falsely pretending to be a doctor of medicine, physician, & surgeon, contrary to Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40.

Deft. says he is in possession of a degree of "M.D.," not of any of the universities mentioned in the Act, but of some institute at Indianapolis, in America. If he were not claiming to practise & to take privileges under the Act, he would have a perfect right to put "M.D." after his name, & it would not be necessary for him to add anything to show that it was not a degree conferred by Edinburgh, London, Dublin, or any other place but Indianapolis. . . . A person who may be an excellent doctor of medicine may be an absolutely incompetent surgeon & if he put surgeon after his name when he was M.D. only he would be misleading people (LORD COLERIDGE, C.J.).—R. v. BAKER, ETC., JJ. & CLARKE (1891), 60 L. T. 416; 56 J. P. 406; 17 Cox, C. C. 575; sub nom. R. v. ASTON, BIRMINGHAM, JJ., 8 T. L. R. 123, D. C.

Annotation:—Distd. Hunter v. Clare, [1899] 1 Q. B. 635.

123. —— When foreign qualification disclosed.]—CARPENTER v. HAMILTON, No. 114, ante.

124. —— ——.]—R. v. LEWIS (STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE) & FRICKHART, R. v. LEWIS (STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE) & BRIDGWATER, No. 115, ante.

125. —— ——.]—R. v. FERDINAND (1896), 12 T. L. R. 135.

126. By member of botanic college.]—STEEL v. ORMSBY (1894), 10 T. L. R. 483, D. C.

Annotation:—Reid. R. v. Lewis & Frickhart, R. v. Lewis & Bridgwater (1896), 60 J. P. 392.

127. By licentiate of Society of Apothecaries.]—R. v. BAKER, ETC., JJ. & CLARKE, No. 122, ante.

128. ——.]—HUNTER v. CLARE, No. 119, ante.

(d) Assumption of Title of Surgeon.

129. By person not on medical register.]—The mere fact that a person, whose name did not appear in the medical register, represented himself to be a surgeon, is not sufficient to warrant a conviction under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 40.

To warrant a conviction under Medical Act, 1858 (c. 90), s. 42, for acting as or pretending to be a surgeon, there must be unequivocal evidence that the party has so acted or pretended; it is not enough that he is so called by persons whom he has attended professionally, in the absence of evidence to show that he has done so on his own account & for his own profit.—PEDGRIFT v. CHEVALLIER (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 240; 29 L. J. M. C. 225; 2 L. T. 360; 25 J. P. 181; 6 Jur. N. S. 1341; 8 W. R. 500; 141 E. R. 1157.

130. By dentist.]—G. kept a chemist's shop, & on the door were the words "surgeon & mechanical dentist." He treated a woman for a bruised arm, & gave her a liniment. G. was summoned before the justices for falsely pretending to be a surgeon, but the justices declined to convict:—Held: the justices were right, & it was a question of fact for them to say whether G. used the word "surgeon" in connection with 'dentist" merely to show what branch of the latter business he carried on.—LADD v. GOULD (1860), 1 L. T. 325; 24 J. P. 357.

Annotations:—Reid. Ellis v. Kelly (1860), 6 H. & N. 222; Carpenter v. Hamilton (1877), 41 J. P. 615; Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons v. Robinson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 557; Brown v. Whitlock (1903), 67 J. P. 451.

131. By doctor of medicine.]—A person who signed a medical certificate of death described himself botanic surgeon, & on his door was the word "surgeon," with the word "anti-registered" in very small letters above it:—Held: there was no evidence in the above facts to sustain a conviction of his falsely pretending to be a registered surgeon.—STEELE v. HAMILTON (1860), 3 L. T. 322; 25 J. P. 643.

132. By botanic surgeon.]—R. v. BAKER, ETC., JJ. & CLARKE, No. 122, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—RECOVERY OF CHARGES BY UNQUALIFIED PERSONS.

See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

SECT. 8.—NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE ACTS.

See WORK & LABOUR.

PART III. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (c).

r. By unqualified person.]—Ex p. WATSON (1920), 20 S. R. N. S. W. 361; 37 N. S. W. W. N. 105.—AUS.

t. ——.]—EASTBURN v. ROBERTSON (1893), 1 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 14; 30 Sc. L. R. 67; 6 S. L. T. 193 (J.).—SCOT.

Part IV.—Apothecaries.

SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194); Apothecaries Act, 1907 (c. xxii).

133. Scope & development of functions.]—Where deft. was sued for a penalty under Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 20, & contended that he was within the exception, as having, prior to Aug. 1, 1815, actually practised as an apothecary:—Held: it was proper, in summing up to the jury, for the judge to refer to Apothecaries Act, 1815 (c. 194), s. 5, as describing the duty of an apothecary to be to make up the prescriptions of physicians; & it appearing that deft. never had, or could have done so, prior to Aug. 1, 1815, such total incapacity was cogent evidence to be left to the jury, & they did right to find that he had never practised as an apothecary, although, in fact, he had on many occasions administered medicines to various patients prior to that period.

Formerly, I believe, the only duty of an apothecary was to make up the prescriptions of physicians. In more modern times, however, they have been in the habit of attending patients, & administering medicines upon their own judgment. But still it has always continued to be a most important branch of their duty to make up the prescriptions of others (BEST, J.).—APOTHECARIES' CO. v. WARBURTON (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 40; 106 E. R. 578.

Annotations:—Refd. Apothecaries' Co. v. Allen (1833), 4 B. & Ad. 625; Batty v. Monks (1865), 12 L. T. 832.

134. ——.]—If in an action for an apothecary's bill, it appear that pltf., on & prior to Aug. 1, 1815, was a curer of certain local complaints, but did not keep any shop or make up the prescriptions of physicians, he will not be entitled to recover the amount of his bill.

